THE SANFORD-TITUSVILLE CANAL and Cross Florida-Barge Canal, proposed for the State of Florida, form an important part of discussions regarding the proposed Docks and Terminals project as engineers are interviewed by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

Two Firms To Submit Feasibility Report Proposals To City

Proposals will be submitted to the City of Sanford by two engineering organizations for the furnishing of feasibility reports on the proposed Docks and Terminals project.

At an adjourned meeting last night, the Board of Sanford City Commissioners interviewed representatives of Smith and Gillespie of Jacksonville and Gee and Jensen of West Palm Beach.

D. H. Brady, representing Gee and Jensen, told the commissioners that his firm is aware "the problems of other projects for which we are engineers are similar to yours."

"We are engineers for Canaveral, Cocoa, St. Augustine Beach and recreation area, Sanford Titusville Canal, and the Cross Florida Barge Canal," said Brady. The engineering firm representative pointed out that a feasibility report which they would submit would include economic, engineering, location, and program surveys as well as potential traffic surveys at of now and with the two canals completed, a survey of commerce you could expect, and suggested changes.

"Two things will determine the amount of waterborne traffic you will have," said Brady, "the Sanford-Titusville Canal and the Cross Florida Barge Canal, and these two go through it is quite possible that Sanford would be the hub of Central Florida Distribution."

"You're in an ideal position," Brady told the Board of Commissioners. Speaking of the alignment of highways, he said "That would be just one of those stopping (Continued on Page 4)

F. Scisnoe Chosen To Attend Officers Candidate School

Fred O. Scisnoe, aviation fire-controlman first class, USN, of Box 25, Lake Monroe, has been selected to attend the Officer Candidate School at Naval Station Newport, R. I.

Scisnoe, who entered the Navy in May 1947, has been stationed with Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven, VAH-11, at NAS Sanford, since April, 1955. He worked in the squadron ASB shop maintaining the intricate bombing gear installed in the aircraft.

The fleet integration program, (unofficially the "seaman to admiral" program) for which Scisnoe has been selected is designed to train enlisted men of outstanding character and ability for promotion to the officer ranks of the U.S. Navy.

CDR J. H. Bear, Commanding Officer of VAH-11, cited Scisnoe as having a "distinguished record in the squadron, and the type of person of whom the Navy can be proud."

Upon completion of the OCS course Scisnoe will receive a commission as an Ensign, USN, and report to the USS MITSCHER (DC-2) for further duty.

Appropriations Group Gets Pay Raise Issue

Joint Meet Discusses Bill Today

TALLAHASSEE 28 — The teacher pay raise issue, rapidly becoming the "hottest potato" before the 1957 Legislature, goes before the Joint House-Senate appropriations committee for more debate today.

Tuesday members of the Senate Education Committee put on perhaps the hottest display of temper and bad feelings of the Session.

A vote on the Florida Education Assn. demand for an $1,100 across-the-board pay raise and Gov. LeRoy Collins' lesser merit pay raise plan was staved off by Chairman L. K. Edwards and Vice Chairman Wilson Carraway.

Edwards told the committee it would be foolish to vote until after today's joint meeting. He forced his point by refusing to hear a motion from Sen. Harvie Belsler of Bonifay that the committee approve the FEA increase.

After a bitter exchange with Edwards, Belsler said, "All you've done is rule against me. I'm not obligated to the appropriations committee. I am obligated to the teachers to support their proposal."

Then he strode out of the room. Carraway, who is also chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, promised that the education committee would still get first crack at voting on the issue. He said he will ask his committee to delay a vote until after the education committee takes final action at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

The House Education Committee has sidestepped the problem by approving both the FEA and Collins plans and sending it up to the full house to decide.

Named by the committee are: M. L. Raborn Jr., president; Harry Cannel Jr., 1st vice president; Thomas S. McDonald, 2nd vice president; William Lockard, secretary; and Robert Bratzel, treasurer.

One other director will be nominated from the floor at Thursday's meeting to replace one of those named but could not accept because of business reasons.

Scrapbooks are being readied by the Jaycees. These will be entered in State Jaycee competition and will be judged prior to the State Convention beginning on May 9. The schedule for work on the scrapbooks will be tonight 7:00 p.m. at the Yacht Club; Thursday night, 7:30 p.m. at the Celery Crawl; Friday night, 7:30 p.m. Monday night and Tuesday night at the Yacht Club.

Corporation Ready To Start Subdivision

Representatives of the Wefor Corporation of Miami Beach appeared before the Board of Sanford City Commissioners last night to announce the beginning of the construction of homes on a tract of land near the entrance to the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Announcement of the subdivision plans was made in Sanford on Jan. 1 by the president of the corporation, A. Licht.

Licht, last night, told the Board of Commissioners at an adjourned meeting "We want to begin to build."

"Definitely, we are not going into lot development," said Licht, "but we want to build homes."

He explained that the development would be composed of the "cheaper type of nice homes."

The first phase of home building will be a 140 home subdivision. However, original plans call for the development of 377 acres which will include a shopping center.

"The corporation will put up the money to extend a water main to the property," said Licht as he explained that the expansion of the water system would not cost the City of Sanford "one cent."

"The deposit, which is estimated at near $4,300, would be returned to the Wefor Corporation on the basis of $35 per water tap as (Continued on Page Four)

"With the campaign slated to get underway next weekend," stated Mrs. Chapman, "there is an opportunity for all citizens to translate their awareness of this most urgent health problem into action. . . and action should take the form of giving generously the dollar needed so that your mental health association can bring urgently needed help to hospitalized mental patients and to their families. The mentally ill can come back, if we help them."

Band Parents Assn. Schedules Drive For New Uniforms

Thirty members of the Seminole High School Band Association turned out last night for their monthly meeting in the band hall.

Final plans for the barbecue to be held Saturday, Apr. 27 at the Elks Club were made and it was decided that the barbecue will be the high-spot for the campaign to raise funds for the purchasing of new uniforms for the band.

Uniforms for the band will cost approximately $70 each and 80 uniforms are to be purchased. The need for new uniforms was pointed up at the District Contest when the band was graded down because of the condition of the present uniforms which will greet their 10th year of use during the next school year.

The band will provide music at the barbecue Saturday. Tickets may be purchased at H. L. Perkins and Son and at Western Auto in downtown Sanford or at the barbecue.

Home deliveries of the barbecue will be made and in order to have sufficient quantities to go around, officials of the association have requested that those wishing to order deliveries of the dinner should call Bandmaster Ernest Cowley at FA 2-3717 no later than Thursday and by purchasing an advance ticket.

Carl Brumbaugh, barbecue chairman, announced this morning that a large number of tickets have already been sold and that a big crowd is expected.

Serving will start at 6 p. m. and will continue until 7:30. Following the meeting last night refreshments were served by Mrs. Ray Heron.

Fringe Residents Issue Comeback

A meeting of the Sanford Fringe Area Taxpayers Association will be held on Monday, Apr. 29th, at 8 p.m. at the Pinecrest School Auditorium, instead of the meeting previously scheduled for the Farmers Auction Market tomorrow evening. The officers and directors of the association appeal to fringe taxpayers to come out and attend the meeting, and stressed that "this means those residing on the West and East of Sanford as well as those on the South," and stated "we hope all the members and those eligible for membership will attend."

The committee met last evening in a regularly scheduled session, during which matters pertaining to the forthcoming meeting were discussed. Talk also centered about the efforts of two city officials to "discredit" the recently circulated release signed by the members of the temporary committee, as published in The Sanford Herald the past two nights.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the committee issued the following statement:

"Published reports in The Sanford Herald the past two nights indicate that two of our town's officials believe that we have departed from the truth in our recently issued leaflet. We wish to say that we checked our information with both the city manager's office and the city clerk's office before we published this information. As to facts and figures quoted, we believe we are correct, for we took figures furnished us by the city manager's office. We regret that the city manager was too busy to talk to us, but we did talk with the city clerk, who was most courteous and polite," the statement read.

"We were assured by both offices that the information contained in the city manager's report of two years ago was still the same as to tax rates, etc. as (Continued on Page Four)

SNAS Bank Facility To Be Dedicated Friday

The new banking facility is presently being called "The biggest little bank in Central Florida," said the NAS Commanding Officer, "and it is expected to provide adequate banking services for personnel on the base."

Little Venice Has Much To Offer

By Virginia Conn

Each day I spend several hours before this window, as I think and write. In Little Venice, being a daydreamer has some compensations, as the view is worth the time. At this writing there are six houses under construction on the end of Lake View Drive. Wellborn Phillips, who has developed both Loch Arbor and Little Venice is once again on the move in the Sanford area. Mr. Phillips is well known as one of the foremost builders of central Florida homes.

Here in Little Venice, we do not think of ourselves as living in a development—but rather in an exclusive neighborhood, where most of us plan to retire and live permanently. A drive through Loch Arbor and Little Venice will convince you of the eventual beauty of this area, with its wide, curved streets, canals and lakes. I say eventual beauty, because in a few years, when all the houses have been built, and the carefully tended gardens are a full growth this will be the most desirable spot in Sanford. Because of its proximity to the golf course, with plans to build a new and handsome building, Loch Arbor will never be allowed to fall into the overgrown and neglected category. In the coming years this property will be better than ever. The temperature is at least ten degrees cooler out here than in town—there is always a breeze scented by the orange and magnolia blossoms.

The quiet is broken only by insects, an occasional hammering, the shouts of children. And this is the place for children. Where else could they ride their bicycles over several miles of safe roads, and find ten thousand things to do outside? The canal sets, an occasional hammering, and lakes are wonderful for fishing—there is much land for roaming, and one of the finest things anyone can ever do for a child is to teach them to enjoy the water. They have to learn respect, yes, but after that comes sheer pleasure in swimming, boating and fishing.

Now that we have attempted to show you the setting, with the addition of pine trees and oaks, lets look in the homes. I'm not trying to describe construction, because no man would ever believe me, but I can tell about the features most women are interested in. At this time the houses have not yet been painted, but they will be in jewel green, silver gray, light yellow, and white. There are awning windows throughout, those wonderful windows that take no upkeep, can stay open during many rain storms, and are easy to keep clean. Also, they do not leak air, which makes your house warmer in the winter.

As you enter the front door, you will notice the vinyl tile floors done in shades of cork; these are simple to keep and a joy to behold. The doors are made of dutch cedar throughout the house. In the kitchen the natural finish cabinets are in knotty pine, mahogany or birch. There is a G. E. range, refrigerator and hot water heater, a double sink and exhaust fan. The counters are of formica, and each kitchen has a window over the sink that looks at something, not the blank wall of the garage, or your neighbors kitchen. For one thing in Little Venice, there are no adjoining backyards. You may have neighbors on either side of you, but there are none behind, which for the most part, gives one a great deal of privacy. In addition, there are at least thirty five feet between the homes, which means more room for outdoor living, and less hearing what the neighbors said to each other last night.

These houses have all the features found in the better type of construction, tile window sills, large bedrooms, spacemaster folding doors in bedroom closets, and separate Florida rooms, ideal for guest room, T. V. dining and many other things.

Colored paints is used inside, and while it may sound odd for me to stick that in, many houses are painted only in cream—and sometimes that can be very dull. If your furniture is also neutral the utility rooms are large, and there is ample storage space. All the lots are large enough—one hundred feet across the front, and many much wider on the canal—so that adding another carport or building an extra room is no problem as far as space is concerned.

Sitting in the little green office on the hill by Adelaide Moses, ready to answer all questions and show you around, and after you move in let you keep on his shoulder, if that is ever necessary. Money is always interesting to women, so perhaps the girls might like to know that with the community water system out in Little Venice, water is much cheaper than in town, taxes are lower, and we have virtually no door to door salesmen. And no one can tell me that's not saving money. As far as the trip into town is concerned, it grows shorter every day, and we have learned to budget our trips, which probably makes our running around simpler than that of town residents. Also we do not hear the air traffic. But come see for yourself. Half the fun of buying a house is the looking.

The six homes now under construction (and almost finished) are priced from $11,600 to $16,000, with VA (GI), Inservice, and

Don't Clutter Cabinet With Old Useless Drugs

By NEWMAN N. BUNDESIN, M.D.

I'VE repeatedly urged you to get rid of all the old medicines you may have about the house, for it is important that you do. Some drugs become stronger with age, others lose much or all of their potency.

But, chances are, many of you are holding on to those assorted bottles stuffed in your medicine chest while trying to remember just how long you have had them.

Get Rid of It

If you don't remember when you got a specific medicine, get rid of it right away.

But if you are wondering whether a fairly recent purchase might have lost its effectiveness, there are a few ways of determining how potent it is simply by its appearance.

Tablets which have started to crumble should be tossed out. Salves and ointments are ready for the ashcan when they become dark, separate or acquire watery spots.

Keep solutions only as long as they remain clear. Get rid of them when they change color or you can see residue in the bottle. You should, of course, consult some germicidal disinfectants retain their strength as long as the bottle lasts; other types deteriorate each time the bottle is opened.

But whether a certain drug looks good or not, if there is no label on the bottle or container, throw it away. Don't trust your memory.

While you're cleaning out the medicine cabinet, I suggest you disinfect it at the same time. You can clean and disinfect in a single operation by using a mixture of 2½ tablespoons of a germicidal disinfectant, such as Iycol, in one gallon of water.

One more thing before you leave the medicine cabinet. On the inside of the door tape the name, address and phone number of your doctor and your druggist. Then they'll always be handy when you need them.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

V. L. W.: Could an allergy be the cause for pus in the stool?

Answer: It is unlikely that an allergy would be responsible for this condition. It is more apt to be due to the presence of some infection.

You should, of course, consult a physician about this matter.

Correct Posture Means Efficiency

CORRECT POSTURE WEEK

MAY 1-7

With the present generations demand for efficiency in industrial production, the value of correct posture among production personnel has become virtually axiomatic. Dr. A. W. Woodall said today, in announcing the observance of Correct Posture Week, May 1 to 7, sponsored annually by the Chiropractic Profession of America.

"The man at his machine, the stenographer at her typewriter, the operator at his or her computer, and yes, the soldier in training camp—all are taught at the beginning that there is a correct position in which to carry the body for maximum efficiency with a minimum of fatigue and discomfort," said Dr. Woodall.

"The body that is maintained in correct postural alignment for a given task moves faster with greater ease, and because there is a minimum of distraction from tiring muscles, there is greater concentration of thought upon the task at hand."

Because of the recognized importance of correct posture to national health, which in turn, is the key to national production, a week in which to stress that importance nationally was inaugurated by the chiropractic profession. It is duly recognized by Congress and by official proclamations by governors and mayors.

Through the offices of its sponsors, correct posture literature is distributed to industrial personnel and among the nation's school children, while postural examinations are urged as being of special importance.

TFW NOTEBOOK

By BUD JENNINGS & JIM BURKETT
We have noticed that the average person on the prowl for a new TV set has more than a fair knowledge of TV receivers in general. He is a pretty good judge of basic electronics and gives more than passing thought to cabinet design, ease of tuning and, of course, dollar value. However, we have noticed that the same party who does a rather shrewd job of choosing a receiver is the same individual who turns around and harnesses the set to a totally inadequate antenna. Let's be logical. You can spend a fair bundle of currency on a set which is designed to give—and will give—sparkling performance if it is not harnessed to an accessory item not entirely capable of making this fine performance available.

It seems reasonable, then, to investigate ways and means of exacting not 90% or 95%, but a full 100% performance from your new set. BENNETT'S TV SALES & SERVICE, 409 West First St., has been around the electronics field long enough to know how you can consistently get peak performance from a top-notch set—such as a Dumont. Have us demonstrate this fine set and see for yourself how you can expect unsurpassed performance from a Dumont.

Sen. Byrd's Analysis Of Economy Needs Appears In Today's Column

Senator Harry S. Byrd, Chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, is known as the nation's top man on national finances and the government's budget.

A well-rounded analysis of the imperative need for economy was expressed in a talk which he delivered at a Top Strategy Meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce. At this same meeting he also suggested ways in which spending can be curtailed without destroying essential functions of the Federal Government.

Senator Byrd's talk will be incorporated in these columns in three portions, the first of which appears today;

THE FEDERAL DEBT. From 1933 to 1958, the federal debt increased from $16 billion to $280 billion. We have increased our contingent liability—those things the Government has guaranteed—by $250 billion from practically nothing in 1933.

In the brief space of 25 years, we have increased the federal appropriations from $4 billion to $80 billion. We have increased the direct taxes collected from the people from $3 billion to $75 billion.

Prior to the Roosevelt administration, the Government had operated practically on a pay-as-you-go basis. For 140 years, we had frugality and thrift that laid the foundation for our present prosperity. Had we not been frugal in the first 150 years of our Republic, we could not have been the Nation that we are today.

RECENT BUDGET GROWTH. When Mr. Eisenhower took office in January, 1953, he was confronted with a budget for fiscal '54 prepared by Mr. Truman, the outgoing President. This budget was $78.6 billion. Mr. Eisenhower reduced the budget to $67.8 billion, and the next year made a further reduction to $64.6 billion and stated that his goal was to reduce it to $60 billion.

In fiscal 1956, an increase of $2 billion was made. In other words, the low point of Mr. Eisenhower's budgets was in fiscal 1955.

There are two kinds of budgets—the appropriation budget and the expenditure budget. You have to pay attention to both of them. The expenditure budget is the one that determines whether we shall have a deficit or a surplus. In 1955, that budget was $64.6 billion. In fiscal 1956, the next year, Mr. Eisenhower increased it by $2 billion. In fiscal 1957, he made another increase of $5 billion.

The statement that the increase is $3 billion is not correct, because road expenditures were taken out of the regular budget and put in a trust fund, so that the budget this year is $5 billion more than the budget last year.

And this is an increase of $9 billion above the 1955 budget!

THREE PERILS. There are three perils, as I see it, in the 1958 budget:

First: It is the largest peacetime budget in the history of our country.

Second: It makes available a number of new avenues for spending. It has 13 aids to states in federal grants. It opens up, for example, a Pandora's box in building school buildings. We know that when the Federal Government starts to build the public school system all through the United States, no one can foretell the end of it.

Third: The budget is not soundly based on a balance of revenue, because it has two unpredictables:

(1) It anticipates an increase in postal rates that the Congress has not yet approved.

(2) It anticipates an increase in the national income of 6 per cent in 1957. I think businessmen will agree with me that is a very dangerous basis on which to balance the present budget.

A LUXURY BUDGET. Why was this budget increased by $9 billion as compared to just three years ago? Only $2 billion goes to the military out of this $9 billion. Five hundred million more goes to foreign aid and $6 billion goes to domestic spending.

There is no justification for increasing the domestic spending as compared to 1955 by $6 billion. There is no depression. We are prosperous. This budget continues entrenched spending and opens up new federal programs. It is a luxury padded budget.

We must realize that many things are desirable for public expenditures, but they are not necessary. Why should the Federal Government undertake to do everything that the people back home should do? That the states should do? That the counties should do?

Since 1933 we have been operating on the assumption that a state can come to Washington and get funds out of the federal treasury, and it is a gift. The money comes from the people back in the states. It is sent to Washington, and then the cost of operating the bureau takes 15 to 20 per cent out of the taxes that come from the people, and the balance is sent back to the states. Then the states are told how to spend the entire amount, although they match the federal grants in many instances.

On 1933, we had only one state grant. That was for roads, and was for $250 million. We will have 57 state grants, if the present budget is adopted, and, including the roads, we have increased the $250 million to $5.4 billion.

Power always follows the purse.

Whenever you get removed from the people, there is much greater waste and extravagance.

That is the trend that must be stopped if we are to preserve the future solvency of this country.

Tomorrow, Senator Byrd's address will concern the problem of unexpended balances.

Home Mortgage Loans Take Sharp Rise This Year

Home mortgage lending by Florida's 14 savings and loan associations rose sharply during the first quarter of this year to a total of $118,700,140. This represented an increase of 18% over the $100,600,000 loaned on homes in the first quarter of 1956.

Construction financing in the amount of $88,500,730 provided for 6,333 new dwellings, representing a 20% increase over the 5,200 new homes financed by these institutions during the first quarter last year. Over 80% of the increased lending volume was channeled into new home construction.

The First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. in Sanford, according to George Touhy, Executive Vice President, will show an increase of over 15% in savings in the first quarter of this year as compared to 1956. However, the first part of the year saw heavy withdrawals for unusual expenses for which savings had been set aside. The net gain for the three month period spurred in the last 40 days of the quarter, Touhy said.

Demand for the funds has been so heavy that the supply of mortgage money has not been able to keep abreast of it, the association officer said, but at the present time a peak of housing construction commitments tops any previous experience reported by the local lending agency.

Savings have shown a marked step-up in rate in the last 30 days, Touhy said, and every indication is that the gap between demand and supply may be closed considerably in this second quarter of the year.

The outlook for continued growth in construction is quite favorable, he added.

"Primarily responsible for this rise in available funds for financing new homes," said Florida Savings and Loan League president, Leroy E. Northrup "was the continued increase in the flow of savings into Florida's savings and loan associations. In the first three months of this year savings in these institutions increased by $12,082,864 compared with a $9,878,713 increase for the first quarter last year." Mr. Northrup is also executive vice president of stones in a project of this magnitude.

Commissioners, in questioning both of the engineering firm representatives, repeatedly referred to the Docks and Terminals proposal as "small." Commissioner F. D. Scott, in addressing B. F. Borden of Smith and Gillespie, said "We are contemplating building a Docks and Terminals on a small scale and we want a feasibility report."

Borden told the commissioners that his firm prepared a report in 1946 that declared the Docks and Terminals feasible and brought the report up to date in 1950.

"I don't know of any place which has the unique combination of facilities you have here," said Borden as he referred to rail, truck and water facilities. "The intangible benefits are much more than those you would recognize as such," he said as he spoke at length on the profits derived from a terminal such as the one proposed for Sanford.

"I think that is all we can look for," Commissioner Merle Warner said. And Borden added "Indirectly there is a great profit from the Docks and Terminals project."

"There is no argument about your market for you are in the center of an accelerated growth," said Borden, "and eventually it is bound to happen."

Commissioners requested both engineering firm representatives to include in their feasibility reports, should they be selected as engineers for the project, a report as to whether the proposed Docks and Terminal should be Municipal, County, Municipal and County, or Port Authority controlled.

are in effect at this time, with the exception of the percentage of actual value as a basis for assessed valuation." It further stated "This percentage as presently used was given as 62 1/2%, and this is the amount we liquidated. The millage remains the same, and it is our understanding that we are correct about the preparation used for debt service (interest on bonds) and that used by the city running expenses."

"We have read the statements appearing in The Sanford Herald very carefully and nowhere can we find that the city has refused one single thing or proven one single thing in our letter to be a falsehood, with the exception perhaps, that it may not be in the minutes that the $5 tax was first proposed for docks and terminals. We got this impression from reading in the issue of The Sanford Herald for April 9th, 1957, regarding the proposed bill to the legislature to provide for the auto use tax, for following quotation: "Commissioner Warner also stated at last night's meeting that this bill would open the way to financing the docks and terminals project." If our committee erred, we hereby apologize to the city on this one point. We think that such harsh branding of our statements as untrue was unjustified and uncalled for," the statement continued.

"We are of the opinion that it is axiomatic to confuse people with a lot of figures that can be twisted to prove very little. Mr. Knowles is an expert at this, and we fully expect his letter, when it is finally received by the fringe area residents, to contain a lot of misleading figures to try to back up what he feels can be "saved" by living in the city. Remember, these so-called "savings" will not appear on your city tax bills, with the exception of the water bill. Here is what you will save, as far as we are able to determine:

1. You will save the 30 per cent surcharge on your water bill.
2. You will save a little on your fire insurance. This will be a reflection on your fire insurance rate, however.
3. You will save the $5 to the city, plus $3 on your insurance protection should you have signed up to have the city fire department answer your call in case you have a fire.
4. You will save your library fee of $1 a year."

The statement then read "On the other hand, this is what you will have to pay extra if you join the city:

1. Property tax.
2. Ten per cent per month on all your utility bills (light, gas, telephone and water).
3. Sewer tax when sewers run near your property.
4. Builders permit costs, including having plans drawn.

homes are built in the subdivision area.

Questioned by Commissioners on the possibilities of lower water pressure, City Manager Warren E. Knowles said "I do not look for any material pressure drop in the south section of the city."

Commissioner F. D. Scott, acting Mayor at last night's meeting, told Licht "I see no reason why we cannot cooperate with you and make you welcome here."

City Attorney William C. Hutchison was instructed to prepare a resolution for the proposed water main extension for presentation at the next regular meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

Licht told the city fathers "You are very fortunate here. At Miami Beach each resident pays $6 a month for sewer services and $4 a month for water services as a fee over and above the bill for water."

He said "As we begin the construction of homes in the subdivision we expect to employ only local people."

Challenge For Dr. Mays

A new novel by ELIZABETH SEIFERT.

SYNOPSIS
A group of doctors in the Midwest, suburb of Durham try to establish a free screening clinic despite lack of money and opposition from the County Hospital. Dr. John Blandin, a strong supporter of the project, returns from a meeting and tells his wife Helen that enough money has been donated by the wealthy Mrs. Alice Milburn to set up the clinic. Mrs. Milburn donates the money to spite the Women's Club because they opposed helping the project. Dr. Chad Mays, brilliant but eccentric young medical administrator is hired to organize the clinic. He meets opposition, led by influential Dr. Charles Wilkins-Smith, head of the Hospital. Dr. Mays prefers to remain unidentified until he can investigate Chad Mays, who is brought to the clinic. Dr. Mays meets a young man, a newspaper reporter, and his wife, Rita. He promises Rita a good story soon. Meanwhile, two young interns from County Hospital tell Dr. Blandin they support Dr. Wilkins-Smith of malpractice. They ask Dr. Blandin to present their case and charges to the Policy and Practice Committee of the Medical Society. Dr. Blandin agrees.

CHAPTER 9
THE Policy and Practice Board of the County Medical Society was made up of ten doctors. That evening, seven were present, which was about average. They met in a private dining room of the Red Coach Inn. John Blandin was the last doctor to come in, and the other men commented upon that fact. John, the secretary of the Board, was a stickler for punctuality at meetings. This evening he merely took his chair beside the Chairman and said, "Why not get on with it now?"
Dr. Gaskins, across from John, glanced obliquely down the table at F. Moore, the youngest man on the Board. "I still think," Moore said defiantly, "that it's primarily a matter for the Clinic Board."
John stifled. He had been considering a means to tell this group about his visitors. "What's that about the clinic?" he asked alertly.
"We're getting a good many adverse comments about your Dr. Mays!" said Dr. Sanders. "Oh? Comments, Sanders? Or actual charges?"
"The man's a screwball," said Dr. Lackey with definiteness.
"A very smart young man," demurred Dr. Gaskins.
"What's smart about him? I mean, what does he do? I can put in a whole afternoon at the clinic, and never see the man. I see come out—and there he is."

sprawled on a bench over in Tiraley Park."
"Sure," agreed Moore, after a nod from John. "But I maintain that we know he was—well—an individualist—when we agreed to the Clinic Board's hiring him. He works in his own way, that was understood, and only results will determine his value to the clinic."
"Have you had any of those results yet?" asked Dr. Sanders. Dr. Gaskins, who was chairman of the Clinic Board, got as red as a turkey gobble's wattles. "Sanders, you've needled us on the clinic from the first mention of the project! You—"
"I've been lukewarm," agreed Dr. Sanders. "I agreed to serve my turn with it when the Society endorsed it. I pay my assessment toward it—but I still defend my right to question the bad manners, the less than professional appearance and the behavior of the man brought in to organize the thing."
John nodded. "I agree that any member of the Medical Society has a right to discuss the clinic with our Board," he said thoughtfully. "It's because very much of our project. I'd hope for you all to come to accept what is my personal feeling about Chad, that he works much harder than appears on the surface."
"Has something happened, John?" asked Dr. McCaffrey.
"No—well, yes, something did. Now let me see—perhaps I'd better think for a minute how I want to present this. It isn't on the agenda."
"Neither was Dr. Mays," said Gaskins. "Has this to do with the clinic, John?"
"Well, somewhat. But it most certainly concerns the Medical Society. I'm afraid it amounts to a grave charge against a member."
"Is that what you wanted to discuss, John?" asked the Chairman.
"Not primarily. But I did want to establish the fact that the clinic is meeting with a unique lack of cooperation from County Hospital, and I wanted to suggest an inquiry into the reason for that."
"All right; we'll discuss it later. What was the primary thing?"
John smiled. "I had a couple of visitors this evening," he said quietly. "Their call made your secretary a few minutes late. I'd like to repeat our conversation to you, gentlemen, in your official capacity as members of this important Board."

As he talked, his eyes circled the table, his gaze holding in turn upon the face of each doctor. None of these doctors interrupted John. As he talked, he could judge the degree of their belief—and their surprise. He hoped he was doing a better job of containing his own feelings than they were, but he guessed not.
He'd scarcely finished when a storm of comment broke upon him.
"Typical intra gripes . . . No proof . . . Wouldn't touch it with a ten-foot pole . . . His jaw knotted, John waited until the voices ceased. Then McCaffrey smiled at him. "Did you believe their story, Blandin?"
"I—uh. What's more, I think any one of you in my place would have believed it."
"You think the Society should investigate Wilkins-Smith?" asked Gaskins, in an awed tone.
"If he's doing what his interns claim he's doing, we're morally bound to do more than investigate him."
"Why'd they come to you?"
"Because I'm on this Board, and on the Clinic Board, too. They hinted that Dr. Wilkins-Smith has personal reasons for fighting the clinic."
"I say, let the clinic make its own investigation," said Sanders. "And we'll wait to act on its findings."
"I say," cried Lackey, "to table the whole matter. I so move."
"But," protested John, "if the Society is worth a dime to the community . . ."
"There's a motion before the Chair, Doctor."
Helpless, John saw his discussion tabled, and he was faced with the Board's decision not to touch the young doctor's charges. But when the meeting adjourned, he could not do more than protest to each member.
In various ways they all advised him to keep clear of the thing. He knew such a matter led only to grief—embarrassment—possibly real harm to his professional standing.
John Blandin drove home, knowing that he was not going to sleep well that night.

State Republican Finance Committee Chairman Named

G. Harold Alexander, Ft. Myers, Chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee of Florida, announced the appointment today of Loren M. Berry, prominent business man of Miami Beach, as chairman of the Republican Finance Committee of Florida. Mr. Berry has business interests in Florida and other southern states. His Florida office is at 3833, Neptune, Tampa. Alexander said that Berry has been active in Republican political affairs for many years, with emphasis on fund raising. He was a member of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee and Chairman of the Montgomery County (Ohio) Finance Committee for a number of years.
In accepting the Chairmanship Berry said, "I am a free enterprise man and I believe it is important to the country that all citizens, whether or not they are in business, take an active interest in politics because we have been in a crucial period for a good many years and such activity is more necessary these days than ever before. I have had business interests in Florida for many years and have watched the rapid strides our State has been making toward a two-party system with keen interest. I feel furthermore, that Florida is going to be a Republican State, and should be, and I want to do all I can to help when Florida leads the way it will have an important effect on the rest of the Southern States. The entire South would be much better off with two-party government."

Family Can Aid Arthritic

By HERMAN M. BUNDLISIN, M.D.
FAMILY attitude can go a long way in making things easier for an arthritic patient.
A victim of rheumatoid arthritis must remain on an even emotional keel. If a member of your family suffers this often disabling disease, you must see he has as little cause for anxiety, worry or anger as possible.
Family Problems
Be sure to keep all family problems and squabbles hidden from him. He'll have enough problems of his own.
If one of your loved ones has arthritis you know how easy it is for him to become discouraged. While you should be sympathetic toward the patient, it is your duty to bolster his spirits as much as possible.
Although proper and continued medical treatment might well mean the victim will have an active and useful life, there is as yet no complete cure for rheumatoid arthritis. And chances are the patient knows this.
Household Chores
It's a good idea, if not downright essential, to relieve the patient of all active household chores. Still, making him believe that he can't do anything at all might make his condition even worse.
You've got to help him accept the fact that it will take a long hard fight to regain his health. His determination to conquer his illness will be a great help in the battle.
Occasional Sympathy
You've got to teach him to accept setbacks philosophically. And you've got to help him understand that he must follow the doctor's recommendations to the letter.
Exercise and massage, when advised, generally should be carried out at the beginning by a physical therapist. But you or some other member of the family can take over these duties eventually after getting the proper instruction.
QUESTION AND ANSWER
P. T. P.: I am sixteen years of age and have had difficulty gaining weight, although I eat heartily at mealtimes. Would the fact that I smoke a great deal interfere with my gaining weight?
Answer: Cautin has been used quite successfully in many cases as an aid in increasing weight. These injections must, of course, be administered by a physician. It is possible that if you reduced the amount of smoking you do, or eliminated it entirely, you might gain some weight.

What's Average Weight And Height For Child?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PARENTS always seem to be wondering how their child compares with the average youngster in height and weight.

I've pointed out in the past that each child is an individual case and should not be compared with the kid next door. But so sadly those of you who insist on some sort of average figure, here are a few I think most physicians will agree upon.

Average Height
At birth, the average baby is about 20 inches in height. He gains some 10 inches during the first year so that at the age of one he is 30 inches tall.

You can determine the average height between the ages of 2 to 14 by using a simple formula—height equals 2½ times the age, plus 30. Thus, for a 10-year-old youngster, take 2½ times 10 and add 30. This gives you an average height of 55 inches, or 4 feet 7 inches.

The average weight of a baby at birth is about 7.4 pounds.

Between 3 months and one year, the weight in pounds equals the age in months plus 11. For a four-month-old baby, it would be 4 plus 11, or 15 pounds.

At 30 months, the average child weighs 30 pounds. And at 3½ years, he weighs 35 pounds.

From the age of 4 to 8 you can figure average weights by multiplying the age by 8 and adding 12. Incidentally, at the age of about 5½, both the height and weight are approximately the same—44.4.

From 8 to 12, the weight equals 7 times the age, plus 5.

Again let me remind you that all children can't be expected to be the same height and weight at the same age. But this should give you an indication of the average.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
W. L.: What would cause a sensation of numbness in the hands?
Answer: Numbness in the hands may be due to a number of different conditions: poor circulation, disturbance in the blood vessels in the hands—as in Raynaud's disease—disturbance in the nerves supplying the affected parts.

Good Massage Helps Tone The Body In Many Ways

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ARE you keyed up? Are your nerves in a knot? Then have a massage.

My job is not to promote business for massage salons. But it is my purpose to help keep you in good health, both mental and physical.

Relaxing and Soothing
And what could be more relaxing and soothing than a good rubdown?

Spend about 20 minutes having a good brisk rub and then another five minutes or so of gentle patting and you will probably feel a lot better than you did before.

A good massage, you see, helps your body in many ways.

How It Helps
It stimulates the glands of the skin and improves circulation. At the same time, it tones up the blood vessels and helps your body get rid of waste products.

But probably most important, it relaxes tense muscles. In fact, it relaxes you all over and is good for your nerves.

You tend to forget your business problems on the massage table. And once you are through, I'll bet things will look a lot brighter, no matter what your problems are.

You will get a much better massage if you have it done by a professional masseur or masseuse, as the case may be, but if your spouse is cooperative you may have him or her rub your back briskly for ten or fifteen minutes tonight before you go to sleep.

I'm pretty sure you will find it relaxes you so you will get a good night's sleep.

The only trouble is that you may have to reciprocate the favor and wake up to give your spouse the same treatment.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. P. D.: What is the cause of complete fatigue?
Answer: Fatigue may be due simply to improper health habits, such as overwork.

The common cause is an infection somewhere in the body, such as in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses or gall bladder. Disturbances of the glands of internal secretion may be responsible. A thorough examination by the physician is necessary to find the cause of the trouble.

The modern three-lane highway over the seas to Key West, Florida which was completed in 1944 was built on many of the remnants of the old railroad foundations which were laid in 1896.

City Manager Says No Need To Aggravate Fringe Area Situation

Top News In Brief

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower conferred with secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell and then called on congress today for new legislation to eliminate labor racketeering. The President called racketeering in the labor movement "an abomination which must be eliminated."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Information subcommittee asked the nation's leading editors and publishers today for help in its fight against Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's information orders. The action was the latest round in the subcommittee's long quarrel with Wilson over his department's practices on release of information not involving national security.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland today suggested Congress may cut taxes in January. Knowland was the latest congressional leader to suggest the possibility of a tax cut the first of next year.

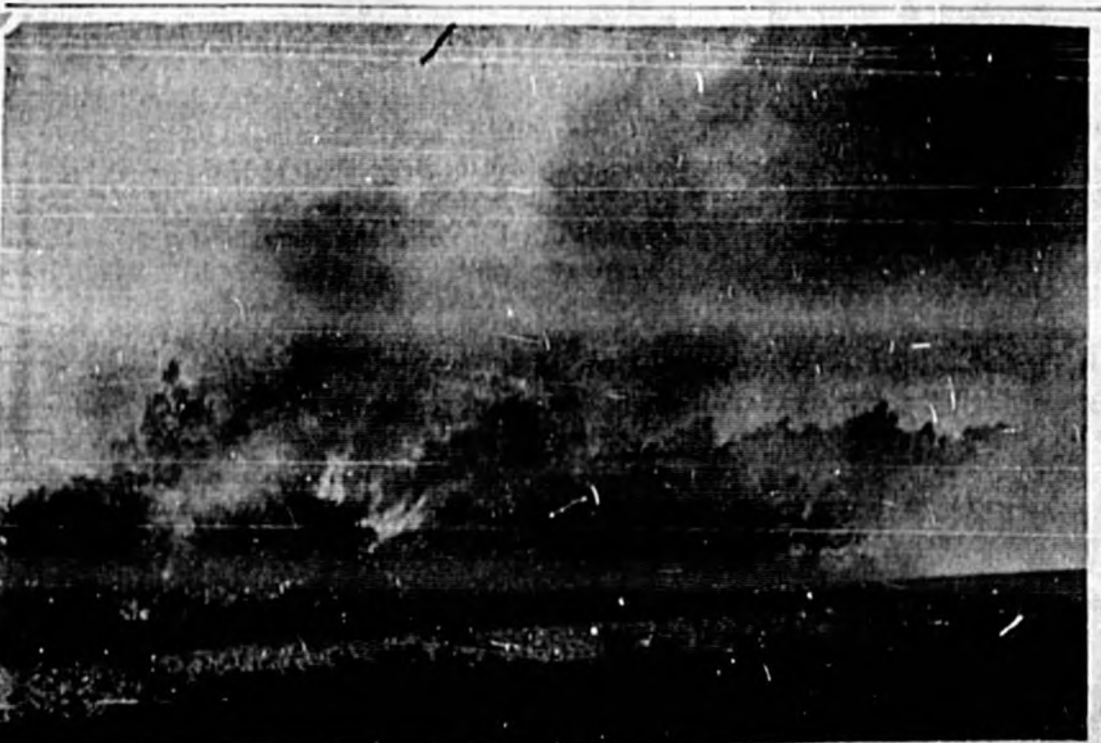

Books On Mental Health Are Placed In Local Library

Mental Health Week, which for eight years has served to give people the facts about mental illness, this year will aim at mobilizing an enlightened public for effective action, according to George Touhy, president of the Mental Health Association of Seminole County.

A "Bell Ringers March," headed by Mrs. E. Chapman, and members of the Pilot Club, will highlight the fourth annual Mental Health Campaign which begins on Apr. 28 and continues through May 4. During that week hundreds of Sanford women will participate in the drive by calling on their neighbors and friends to "Ring the Bell for Mental Health" through voluntary contributions.

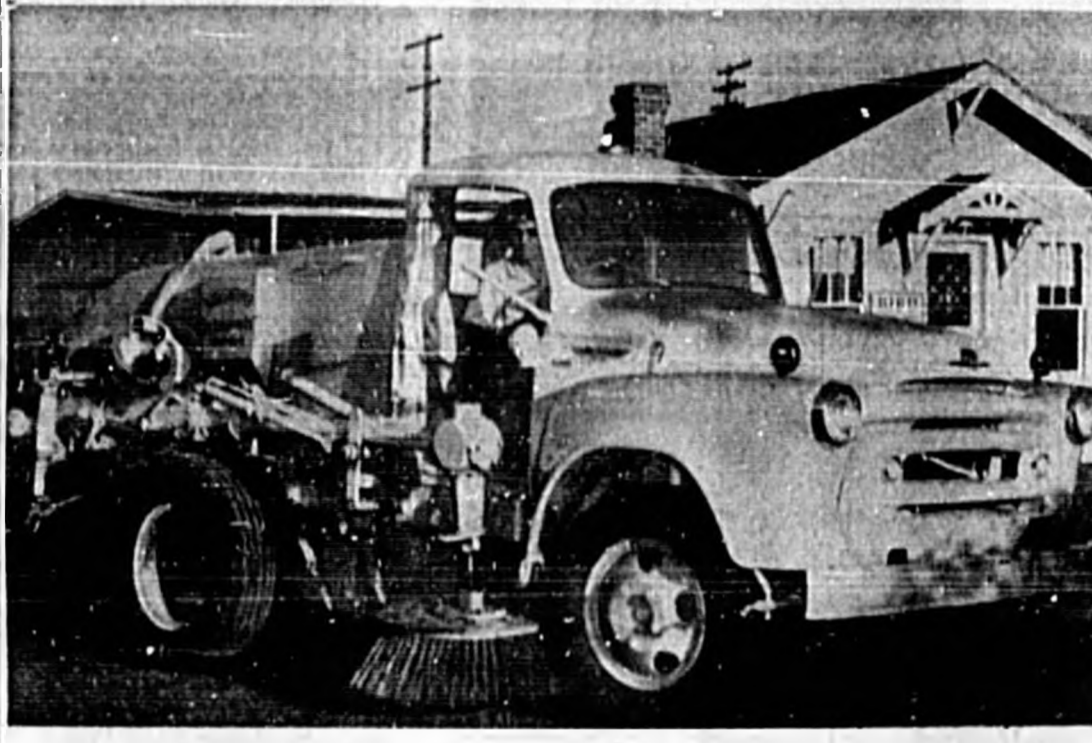

The Bell Ringers March, Mrs. Chapman pointed out, takes its name from the symbol of the National Association for Mental Health, a bell cast in 1953 from chains and shackles once used to restrain mental patients. The 1957 campaign, under the auspices of 500 state and local organizations, will have as its slogan, "The Mentally Ill CAN Come Back-Give Them the Chances You'd Want for Yourself."

Mrs. Chapman urges the public to read themselves of the books which have been placed in the local library under the auspices of the Mental Health Society. They include, "The Mentally Ill in America" by Albert Deutsch; "Mental Health Planning for Social Action" by George S. Stevenson, M.D., S.C.D.; "A Mind That Found Itself" by Clifford W. Beers; and "The Human Mind" by Karl A. Menninger, M.D. Mrs. C. L. Park Sr. was chairman of the committee to select the books.

A FURIOUS WOODS AND BRUSH fire swept into Lake Mary area late yesterday afternoon as flames were fed by gusts of wind. Fire licked high into the air throwing clouds of smoke into the air to hide the bright sun. Automobiles lined a smoke-shrouded highway as passengers were forced to turn on headlights to travel. A number of acres were burned over before the fire burned out. (Staff Photo)

Bennett Says State Needs Adoption Placement Program

JACKSONVILLE — "Florida needs immediately and urgently an adoption placement program as a part of the Florida Department of Public Welfare," was the comment of U. S. Representative Charles E. Bennett, speaking today at noon to the Annual Meeting of the Children's Home Society of Florida in the George Washington Hotel, Bennett said.

"This is despite the fact that the Children's Home Society of Florida has done the best job in the United States as a private, charitable institution working in the field of adoption placements. I hope such private charities can continue to do everything they are now doing and increase and improve their services. Whether they do or not will depend on the charitable inclinations of people throughout our State. But whether they do or not, there will still be a great unmet need," Bennett said.

The Sanford Boat and Ski Club will meet tonight to complete its plans for the cruise to Silver Springs on Sunday.

All members are urged to attend and take part in the discussions.

Social Security Rep To Be Here

This service is made available to those who wish to apply for Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits, social security account numbers, or obtain information about the Social Security program.

6th Fleet Ordered Into Eastern Med

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, keeping a worried eye on the crisis in Jordan, ordered its 6th Fleet today into the eastern Mediterranean in what was initially described as a "precautionary move."

The fleet, which includes the carrier USS Forrestal and its far-ranging planes, is the major U. S. military force near the Middle East.

A Navy spokesman said orders to the fleet were secret but that it is "reasonable to assume" that all its warships had been sent back to the eastern Mediterranean.

Besides the Forrestal, the 6th Fleet now includes the carrier USS Lake Champlain, the battleship USS Wisconsin, heavy cruisers USS Salem and USS Moines, 18 destroyers, two attack transports, one high speed transport, two landing ships docks and two LSTs.

With its reinforced battalion of Marines numbering about 1,800, it is capable of a small scale amphibious landing.

The fleet, which only recently left the eastern Mediterranean, has been split up in various French and Italian ports for the past 10 days.

It would be the first to be ordered into action should American forces be called upon to intervene in Jordan under the Eisenhower Doctrine.

There has been no indication as yet, however, that such intervention will be requested by Jordan, and officials here, although concerned, were viewing developments calmly.

Kiwanians Hear Talk

"I am not against schools—not against progress—I merely want to bring you some facts," said Mrs. Mary Elsie Walker, Seminole County Tax Assessor, in an address before the Sanford Kiwanis Club at their noon luncheon meeting yesterday.

"During the past year, new items and editorials in the local paper (The Sanford Herald) state 1913-16 valuations were used for present day valuations," she said.

"Where did this information come from?" asked Mrs. Walker. "Certainly not from the County Tax Assessor's office—not from the assessment books—I am at a loss as to the source of this information," she said.

Mrs. Walker reported a comparison of the assessed values of the county taken from the actual public records. She began with 1913 (the year Seminole County became a separate government).

In 1913 the valuation was $2,476,537; 1916 $4,084,500; 1923 $5,072,297; 1931 $7,000,758; 1943 $30,206,768; 1953 $45,882,325; and 1956 $53,741,779.

She then compared the 1913 valuations on individual properties on seven Sanford buildings and homes with the valuations of 1956 and five individual properties in the outlying districts of Longwood, Altamonte Springs and Oviedo. In the outlying areas Mrs. Walker gave the 1913 valuation, the 1916 valuation, and the valuation for 1956.

Mrs. Walker stated that "Groves are valued as high as $800 an acre while the best tilled farm land is valued as high as $200 an acre." "The figures," said Mrs. Walker, "reflect the general trend in agricultural property."

Senator Gives Views On FEA Proposals

"I want to acknowledge receipt of more than one thousand communications I have received from Howard and Seminole Counties relating to the proposals of the Florida Education Association," Senator Douglas Stenstrom told the Sanford Herald today.

"I sincerely hope all who have contacted me will accept my apologies for not being able to reply to each one individually," Senator Stenstrom said.

"The telegrams, letters, and postcards reflect a deep concern on the part of our people for the needs of our public school system," he said.

Stenstrom explained "Having two children in school and having worked closely with the public schools as a juvenile judge for six years and as a member of the legislature for two and a half years, I assure each one that I share this concern now as I have in the past."

Commenting on his stand in regard to the bills before the Senate, Senator Stenstrom said "I shall certainly give every consideration to the proposals of the Florida Education Association and the State Department of Education, as well as the many others relating to the betterment of our public schools."

"I am sincerely hopeful that the legislature will provide sufficient monies to make possible much needed salary increases for our teachers, particularly those who have been in the profession for long periods of time, and will adopt legislation which will improve and strengthen the public schools of the respective counties."

Senator Stenstrom added "My interest and efforts shall continue to be in this direction to the very best of my ability."

CofC Head Gives Monthly Report At Coffee Club

Clifford McKibbin, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, reported on the achievements of the organization during the past month at this morning's Coffee Club meeting.

Summarizing the important events of April, McKibbin said "the announcement by the Navy of a continuous expansion within its present boundaries, at the Sanford Naval Air Station is not what we wanted so we have decided to continue our efforts to stabilize the base here."

McKibbin paid tribute to Congressman A. S. "Syd" Harling for his efforts in behalf of Sanford and Seminole County.

"We will have a concrete platform included in the planning for the rebuilding of the Sanford State Farmers' Market," the Chamber of Commerce president reported to the Coffee Club.

Reporting on the Sanford-Titusville Canal hearing, McKibbin reminded the Chamber of Commerce members that "This is the first time recreational boating has been recognized by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers as an economic value."

In order to bolster the activities of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and its activities reported to the Coffee Club, McKibbin suggested that we make ourselves individual membership chairmen, in effect, to bring additional financial support for the worthwhile projects that we have programmed throughout the year," said McKibbin.
