Colombia Bleacher Collapse

Kills At Least 130 People

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) - Wooden bleachers at an amateur bullfight in Sincelejo collapsed into a splintered wreckage Sunday, killing at least 130 spectators and injuring 500 others. A hospital official in the city in northern Sucre state on the Caribbean coast said the death toll could reach Radio reports said 130 bodies had been counted at hospitals in the area and that 200 people had been severely injured. At least 300 others were treated for minor injuries. Many of the victims were children trampled by panic-stricken spectators.

Tito 'Good' After Surgery

BELGRADE (UPI) - A medical bulletin today reported President Josip Broz Tito, 87, was in "good" condition following amputation of his gangrenous left leg in an attempt to save his life.

"President Tito, who was operated on yesterday at the Clinical Center in Ljubljana, passed the night peacefully," the bulletin said. "Temperature, blood pressure and pulse are within the limits of normal."

Gold Still Strong Abroad

LONDON (UPI) — Gold opened today at $825 an ounce on Zurich exchanges, down $15 from Friday's close, and a record $840 in London, up $5. The dollar closed marginally up on most European exchanges. Following Friday's panic spree of gold buying, speculators eased back somewhat. Market sources said no new international news developments occurred during the weekend to influence today's session. In Hong Kong, gold closed at $827 on ounce in steady trading.

Bahamas Sets 3 Hangings

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI) - The first triple execution in modern Bahamas history is scheduled for

John Paul Raps Divisions

VATICAN CITY (UPI) - Pope John Paul II says divisions among Roman Catholics, Protestants and Orthodox are a "scandal to the world" because they openly contradict Christ's will.

At his weekly blessing in St. Peter's Square, the pope said "Christian unity is ever more urgent in our times so the church can carry out its mission more efficiently and give testimony of faith to the Lord and proclaim the Gospel.

"The divisions noted by the Vatican Council document on ecumenism openly contradict the will of Christ and are a scandal to the world," he said.

Student Legislators Care About Issues

By JANE CASSELBERRY Herald Staff Writer

The Legislature is in session and the senators are debating the issue of gun control. The scene is not in Tallahassee, but in Seminole County at Lake Brantley High Five political science classes taught by Desta Horner are holding their annual mock legislature and the three-week session is scheduled to adjourn today.

Students worked in pairs on the bills, which they wanted to introduce. They had to make their decision by Nov. 1, and then on their own time began the job of researching and writing the idea of two of the political science their bills. Their efforts culminated with the actual introduction and debate of the proposed legislation.

Each class elected its own presiding officer - the senate president - and a clerk and legislative debate procedures and terminology were followed. One hour was allowed for debate and a new bill was introduced each day.

Miss Horner said the students often became so involved in the debate they did not want to get up and leave when the bell rang for the end of the class.

"Although I explained to them their grade would not be based on whether the bill actually passed or failed," she said, "having their bill pass often became more important to them than the grade. They would be crushed if it was defeated."

For help in researching and preparing their bills, the students turned to State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-34th district, State Rep. Bob Hattaway, D-33rd district, State Rep. Toni Richard Kelly, R-5th District.

"Brantley and his staff were particularly perience." helpful," said Miss Horner. "The students were so impressed with the cooperation they said Karen Krampe," and you get very received. Congress To Study New Foreign Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan has changed the immediate emphasis of the 96th Congress from politically potent domestic issues to foreign and military affairs. When Congress recessed in December, the new session promised lots of politics with much talk on energy, the economy and taxes. Now, when the 96th begins its second session Tuesday, such issues as military aid to Pakistan and increased spending for new weapons may receive more attention than some usually important domestic issues.

With congressional deliberation on SALT II postponed, plans already are under way in Congress for a searching look at U.S. policy in the Persian Gulf and southwest Asia, an area that has never received much attention in the Senate and House. Hearings are set to begin almost immediately after Congress convenes on foreign policy and military aspects of the new situation. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and military leaders have been summoned to Capitol Hill. Major increases in spending for new weaponry - highly unpopular in Congress since the Vietnam war — are certain to have a better chance now. Congress could well vote for a supersonic bomber such as the previously rejected B-1, or a more advanced model; and go for a rapid deployment force and order more ships, with less concern for cost than any time in the past 15 years. A push for renewal of the draft, or possibly for draft registration, should get stronger.

Congress also may become more receptive to military aid or Pakistan, which was cut off because of that country's refusal to abide by the nuclear non-proliferation treaty, and Turkey, which until last year was denied arms aid because of its adventures on Cyprus. International events also will affect domestic debates. Agriculture committees in the House and Senate plan immediate hearings on Carter's embargo of grain shipments to the Soviet Union. In addition, there may emerge a major debate on whether a grain embargo is an acceptable and workable sanction in an Afghanistan-type situation.

Hattaway On Right Bicycle Course

Fortunately for everyone involved State Rep. Bob Hattaway saw the futility of a proposal requiring bicyclists to ride against traffic. Such legislation would have been one of the more dangerous proposals to hit the Florida Legislature in years.

Soon after Hattaway got started on research for the proposed legislation - sought by Sanford police and a couple Florida Highway Patrolmen - the word got out to the state Department of Highway Safety and other national organizations dealing with highway safety and bicycling. They swamped Hattaway with letters of protest and provided him with literature showing such a proposal would endanger the lives of bicyclists beyond belief.

Why the Sanford Police Department, or anyone else for that matter, would have suggested such a proposal in the first place is difficult to understand.

Armed with nothing more than personal feeling - there never was any solid evidence produced to support the proposal - Hattaway was asked to for the 41-year-old Brown who four years ago, prepare the legislation with the claim it would as a late entrant in the race for the "save lives."

A Sanford police sergeant said despite various public safety programs in the schools and elsewhere to educate bicyclists on proper riding contest early, proclaiming more than two habits, too many-cyclists are killed annually in months ago that he would base a nationwide traffic mishaps and one main reason is they need campaign on three fundamental principles: to ride against traffic. This, even though many of those killed in such tragedies were riding against traffic, according to national safety reports.

Now, here's what it boils down to, according to those reports. Too many of us, law enforcement officials as well, regard bicyclists as pedestrians. They are not. Not by any stretch of the magination.

Bicycles are vehicles and that has both legal and practical implications. The bicycle shares most attributes of other vehicles. It goes fairly quickly, can only turn a corner so tightly, needs smooth pavement underneath to function and requires considerable distance to stop; more serious challenger to both Carter and Kendistance than a car traveling at the same speed, according to safety reports.

Moreover, bicycles are supposed to be properly equipped to maximize their safety and minimize now are struggling to sustain a modest grassthe danger. That means a bicycle, if used after roots organization that is no match for the dark, should have necessary lights. And all safety elaborate political operations financed by his features normally checked in cars should also be opponents. checked in bicycles. Proper clothing also is a must, especially at night. And, above all, California, where the State Supreme Court bicyclists are required to follow all traffic laws or recently ruled on the issue of whether face a citation, possible court appearance and Republican Lt. Gov. Mike Curb can assume maybe have their bikes impounded as penalty on the governor's powers when Brown is camconviction. That is, if law enforcement were doing paigning out of the state. its job and enforcing those laws.

The Sanford police sergeant asking bike riders place under those circumstances, but the be made to ride against traffic said enforcing governor has the power to rescind any action those laws is difficult because of added manpower that has not been fully consummated by the needed, extra cost to process violations and the criticism police may be exposed to from parents who might wonder if police didn't have anything firmation, because that process is a relatively better to do.

There are many states in the country where legislature while the governor is absent. traffic laws are vigorously enforced and it's coupled with extensive public education safety tender because this year's campaign evenprograms. Often the added costs of enforcing tually could be, as he suggests, "as unthose laws against violating bicyclists are offset predictable and volatile as any in recent by a minimal annual registration fee for bicycles memory." But right now, he's not a serious as well as fines payable automatically at police threat to the other contenders. departments when violators would rather not risk a court appearance.

Hattaway says now he'll research legislation to seek ways of combining education and enforcement of state bicycle laws to ease the problem. Go to it, Mr. Hattaway. It's the proper course.

Sanford and Seminole County motorists for too long have been plagued by some bicyclists, young the National Security Council considering the and old, who have a complete disregard for their Soviet invasion of Afghanistan have centered, own safety and the safety of others. They flood since the beginning, on the key question: Will busy highways such as U.S. 17-92, state Road 436 the Russians try to gobble up Pakistan as and 434 often wearing dark clothing at night and with no safety equipment on their vehicles. It's time to bring this to a halt, and for law enforcement to treat it as seriously as it treats other intentions. Some feel the Soviets were simply traffic violations.

Brown No Serious Threat--Yet

By ROBERT WALTERS CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa - For California Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown, these carly months of the 1980 presidential campaign are emerging as the winter of his discontent.

Nothing seems to be going right these days Democratic presidential nomination, surprised most political observers by winning a string of primaries.

This time around, Brown entered the "Protect the earth, serve the people and explore the universe."

Brown initially planned to ignore Iowa's precinct caucuses, but was forced to mount a belated effort in this state in order to qualify LIGHTER SIDE for inclusion in the scheduled debate with the two other contenders for the nomination, President Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Probably the most glib and facile of all the candidates, Republican and Democratic, in the current race for the presidency, Brown was relying heavily upon the nationally televised debate to propel himself from a distant third in the Democratic contest to a

VIEWPOINT Russia, U.S.: Much To Lose

By DON GRAFF

Soviet-American relations have gone through so many ups and downs since World War II that they might almost have been conducted in an elevator rather than through prentional channels of diplomacy.

Not, as it happens, that those channels have always been so conventional - or, in fact, have always been used. Sometimes the mode of communication between the two superpowers has been brute force, or the threat of saine.

That's the way it was in the very beginning. in what might be termed the "sub-basement" postwar phase. The force was Soviet, entrenched in the northernmost provinces of Iran where Moscow gave every indication of remaining. The threat was American, backed by the military machine the war had established as the world's greatest, and it! compelled Soviet withdrawal.

That early confrontation set the pattern for vears to come - challenge, usually Soviet with the show or implication of force, and response. American and usually effective.

The late '40s and the '50s are studded with! the crises and countermeasures that are the andmarks of the period's history. A perceived threat to Greece and Turkey produced the Truman Doctrine. That seminal event int American foreign policy committed the United States to aid actual and potential targets of Communist expansion and evolved into the Marshall Plan, the stunningly suc-! cessful reconstruction of Western Europe as a bulwark against Soviet advance.

One after another came the Berlin Blockade and airlift, the establishment of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Korean war, the East German uprising. Hungary.

With the death of Stalin in 1953, however, a process of change began, slowly at first, but more rapidly as the pragmatic if erratic Nikita Khrushchev consolidate his position as the despot's successor.

This, in comparison with what had gone before, was a definite up period. It brought four-power summit conferences, tentative moves toward nuclear control and arms. limitation, prospects of expanded economic and cultural contact, the visit of Khrushchev himself to the United States. But if it had its ups, there were also plenty of downs. The period also brought the shooting down of the American U-2 spy plane, the threat that the Communist sytem would not only overtake the West but bury it, the Cuban missile crisis.

Valentine's Day

Dear

Abby

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my husband and I have an argument we can't seem to settle, he says, "Write to Abby," so I'm writing. On what holidays do the nation's florists do the biggest business? I say that the biggest day is Mother's Day. My husband says it's Valentine's Day.

Also, is more money spent on flowers for funerals or weddings? Orchids to you for any help you can give us. THE BATTLING BRIGHAMS DEAR BRIGHAMS: No
