U.S. FLAG AND RELIGION HIT IN RED HEARING

Witnesses Say Revolution Will End Capitalistic Domination in United States

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The American flag, property rights and religion were attacked yesterday by witnesses who told the special House communist investigating committee that a revolution would end capitalist domination of the United States.

Some of the titular heads of the labor union in the United States, William J. Foster, vice a candidate for president, said communists believe in government confiscation of the necessities of life and that religion was an opiate.

After lengthy questioning by Chairman Fish he added that the more advanced workers of this country look upon the soviet union as their country.

"They have but one flag—the red flag," he testified. "The other flags are flags of the capitalists and we owe no allegiance to them."

Foster previously has declined to name directors of communist activities in the United States. Later he said he would "prefer not to name" the Moscow head of the American section of the communist international.

"No happen, to be a native born American worker," Foster testified.

Barthou To Form French Ministry

PARIS, Dec. 6—(AP)—Louis Barthou today accepted the invitation of Edouard Doumergue to form a ministry in succession to the defeated government of Andrew Tardieu, radical socialist. The former minister of justice on leaving the palace after a half hour's talk with the president told newspapermen he accepted the task in principle and would try to organize with political leaders, presidents of the Chambers of Deputies and Senate. Poincaré, Briand and Tardieu will be the first statements consulted, he said. It is expected to report his "program" to the president tomorrow. Barthou has been backed by the most influential elements of his party as the man most likely to clear up the recent banking scandals and place the Bourges once more on a firm footing.

MARYLAND SOLON STATES DRY LAW IS FLAT FAILURE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—A call from three prominent Democrats for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was sounded last night before a gathering of the women's organization for national prohibition reform. Senator Tydings of Maryland joined with Representative Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, and Mrs. Carroll Miller of Pittsburgh, Democratic national committee woman from Pennsylvania, in contending that prohibition had failed and in forecasting its early abolition.

Tydings who led a fight last summer against passing of alcohol by the government said he believed in the repeal of the death knell was sounded to 10 years of barbarism.

"The wet," the Marylander added, "are not opposed to law and order, and do not believe that legislative acts, even if apparently inequitable, should be ignored, but they do not believe that 531 persons sitting on Capitol Hill should regulate the individual lives of persons, in every hamlet and city of the country."

"If congress is to take over all local affairs there would be no use in having state governments," he asserted.

Mrs. Miller announced "we are in this fight until the Eighteenth Amendment is abolished."

Representative Norton added that "a fairly good start toward repeal" already had been made and would be completed after the next election.

Mrs. Norton urged support for her own resolution to provide a constitutional prohibition referendum, and said "surely the most ardent dry will not deny us the right of expressing our convictions on that which so intimately concerns ourselves and our children."

In a statement issued from his office, however, Ernest H. Christenson, secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, said: "The women are saying opposed any such move, saying they would meet the dry at least $25,000,000 and that from a practical standpoint a referendum presented problems which were 'positive.'" Mrs. Keith-Miller To Go For Plane Today

MIAMI, Dec. 6—(AP)—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, said last night she hoped to fly today to Andrews island to get the plane which she said she was forced to "pancake" when she was on a week ago during an attempted Havana-Miami flight.

She was brought here yesterday by airplane from the island. Accompanying her were her flying instructor, Capt. W. N. Lancaster, and John Leggett III, Pittsburgh, one of the backers of a round trip she was to make from Pittsburgh to Havana.

"Weather permitting, I will leave here in a chartered plane tomorrow to return to Miami tonight," she said. "After that, I propose to stay in Miami over the week-end to catch up on sleep."

She said she probably would leave for Pittsburgh the first of the week to complete her round trip from that city to Havana.

ENGINEERS IN SOVIET TRIAL PLEA FOR LIFE

Speeches Follow Vitriolic Denunciation of Them Spoken By Russian Prosecutor

MOSCOW, Dec. 6—(AP)—Eight engineers plotting overthrow of the soviet government by foreign intervention last night made personal pleas for their lives before the four supreme court judges in whose hands rest their fate.

Only a few hours previously, the eight men had listened to Prosecutor Kilenko in a vitriolic address demanding the death sentence for all of them as enemies of the communist state.

Professor Leonid Hamsin, indicted as the leader of the conspiracy, was the first to take the stand. "I realize this last word of mine will really be my last," he said. "Now, a few hours before the end, I do not have time to wish to add a few words openly and sincerely."

"The prosecutor made the colors too dense. We really are not such demons as he painted. It reminds me of the villains and heroes of English novels."

"Money was not the motive for my joining the industrial party. There were two paths before me, the extremely difficult one to the heights of socialism and the other to the right which led to Paris and counter-revolution. I followed the second."

"I realize my mistakes, but only too late. I wished to do as much as possible and did this by disclosure." (Continued On Page Six)

Evidence Gotten By 3rd Degree Method Held Inadmissible

DENVER, Dec. 6—(AP)—Judge Henley A. Calvert ruled yesterday that any admissions Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin may have made in the course of proceedings in an agricultural way and appearing on production of food-stuffs to a point that may well alarm the economists of other nations.

He emphasized that his views were purely personal. He described a matter offered by unparallelled man enthusiasm, making "promissory, almost fulsome" progress in an agricultural way and appearing on production of food-stuffs to a point that may well alarm the economists of other nations.

With much of his evidence thus swept away, District Attorney Wetengel proceeded to call witnesses attacking Mrs. O'Loughlin's guilt. Defense attorneys were prepared to ask for an instructed verdict of acquittal after the state had rested.

Mrs. O'Loughlin, who broke down last night under the strain of testifying, resumed the stand. She related her experience in repeated long grillings, saying people tried to get her to admit she was responsible for the death of Leonard O'Loughlin whose body was found Oct. 17 in Berkeley park lake.

Judge Calvert held Mrs. O'Loughlin had been subjected to undue pressure in five days and nights of questioning.

Captain of Detectives Clark who directed the questioning of Mrs. O'Loughlin, was to have been the state's chief witness, but the court's ruling barred him from the stand. Mrs. O'Loughlin's arrest followed announcement of Captain Clark that he had obtained from her admission that she would take responsibility for the slaying.

SCIENTIST SEES SELECTIONS FOR MUCH PROGRESS MADE BY RUSSIA CUBAN CABINET CAUSE SURPRISE

Declares U.S. Exports Will Have To Have Quality To Compete

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 6—(AP)—To the question what Russia's high speed agricultural development will mean to the United States, a young American scientist offered an answer based on nine months inspection of soviet farming.

"Our exports in the future will have to be of a high quality on a limited scale."

Dr. J. H. Dickson of the University of Wisconsin in the scientist, just returned from a trip sponsored by the United States department of agriculture to study the soviet.

He emphasized that his views were purely personal. He described a matter offered by unparallelled man enthusiasm, making "promissory, almost fulsome" progress in an agricultural way and appearing on production of food-stuffs to a point that may well alarm the economists of other nations.

Political observers regard the new cabinet appointments as being more or less temporary. It is believed that some of them will be replaced in the near future.

Night Club Owner Two Illicit Lovers Are Charged With Murdering Woman

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(AP)—Bellevue Livingstone plea guilty yesterday in allegations of felony prohibition agents, who indicated their belief that her "salon" should be spelled with a double "O."

Miss Livingstone, an eight employes were arrested in a raid Thursday night on the Fifty-eighth Street club, where she dispensed "swill, culture and luncheon." The raiders said all they could find was 40 bottles of assorted liquor.

It was La Belle's third encounter with the law in recent months and she described the raid as "most chic."

"They showed respect to the guests and to myself, those agents," she said. "Every one of them came in evening dress, and they were good looking."

But the night in a jail cell was not so chic. "I suppose that mattress thought she was just doing her duty," she explained charitably. "But I thought she was awfully crabbed. Why, she got me up at six o'clock in the morning!"

Miss Livingstone said she was a former actress and gave her age as 26. She was released in $2000 bail on charges of maintaining a nuisance, for hearing Dec. 12.

100 Men, Women and In Jail After Trial With Hollywood Cup

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 6—(AP)—Five hundred men fought the policemen here early today when the officers raided an alleged immoral dance hall and the spectators turned upon the raiders.

More than 100 men and women were jailed in Hollywood and Los Angeles on vagrancy charges when 14 policemen attempted to place the performers and the audience under arrest. A pitched battle resulted in every available officer in four divisions being called.

Several were injured in the fighting that followed. The women who were arrested and charged with performing the dances said their clothing had been torn from them by intoxicated spectators.

RAILROADS ARE STILL NEEDED STATES I. C. C.

Commission's Report Also Declares That Public Policy Can Support Them

The country still needs it, in laws and can support them," the Interstate Commerce Commission observes as a cheering word in an annual report chiefly illustrated by statistics of declining business for various last year.

By July, the number of railroad workers was 3,531,711, which was 213,185 or 6.22 per cent less than those employed the corresponding month of 1929.

Operating records of the Class One lines, those which incorporate more than 90 per cent of the country's total rail mileage, showed a reduction of freight (train miles, freight car miles, and gross yard-ton miles).

These are the best known forms of registering freight business. The entire showing was attributed to the "heavy decline in gross and net earnings as a result of the economic depression began in 1929."

"If railway finances were suffering only from the fact that a recession in business is being experienced as in other industries of this country and of the world, it might be sufficient to point out that in judging of railway income one should in fairness consider the good and bad together," the commission continues.

"But a different and more serious situation exists when a recession in business is being experienced as in other industries of this country and of the world, it might be sufficient to point out that in judging of railway income one should in fairness consider the good and bad together," the commission continues.

Lloyd George Raps Ramsey MacDonald Baldwin And U. S.

LONDON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Unfavorable fog from the British political atmosphere was cleared away yesterday by David Lloyd George, who outlined certain conditions under which a general election may be avoided for two more years.

In a speech at the National Liberal club, he showered picturesque epigrams and trenchant criticism alike at Ramsey MacDonald's labor government and Stanley Baldwin's conservative opposition and also took a few stabs at the United States.

He made it evident that his handful of liberal followers in the House of Commons, who can vote the labor government out of office any day, would have done so long ago but for the fact that the conservatives are pledged to protect tariff reform.

"The Tories want a free hand in the national cupboard," he said. "Our business is to keep the tariff out of a way from the people's regard."

He also assailed the American debt settlement made by the former Baldwin government.

"The mischief of the Baldwin debt settlement," continued to spread, he said. "We are assured that by American finance. We are only beginning to realize what that terrible debt settlement means. That gold standard settlement was premature and ill thought out. We have been dragged over the course by the wild horses of Wall Street."

Mother Drowns Two Children In Bathtub

CHESTER, Pa., Dec. 6—(AP)—Carrying two of her four small children from cribs as they slept to dress, a mother, believed to have been drunk, drowned them in a bathtub late tonight. The woman, Ida Twad, 48, is in a hospital under police guard awaiting a hearing.

Her 60-year-old husband, Lafayette, is in the same hospital suffering from shock. The children were two years and two months old respectively. An attempt to drown another child four years old failed when the younger escaped its mother's grasp and screamed. The woman said she thought them "better, off dead" because she was unable to educate them.

Poisoned Fog Lifts After Taking Toll Of Over 60 Persons

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 6—(AP)—Slowly as it had come a suffocating pall of poisoned fog which has choked life out of more than three score dwellers in the Meuse Valley began to disappear today as the sun bored through the mist. If it had gone, however, it had taken the secret of its mysterious menace. Doctors in a dozen villages were too busy answering frantic calls to confer with authorities seeking an answer to the riddle. They knew only that when the fog rolled in the victims coughed, choked, and died.

No more deaths were reported today as reports came in from the stricken districts and it began to appear that the terror had passed. Government medical authorities began their investigation. Simple folk, who find their village homes in public or remained behind locked doors, could not be reassured, however, and persisted in the conviction that this death had come on the waves of poisoned gas whose origin they didn't attempt to explain.

Many domestic animals also have fallen as victims. For 72 hours an extremely heavy fog has hung over the valley. (Continued on Page Four)

VICKERY ACCUSED BY GRAND JURY IN SLAYING OF BEAL

Grand Jury's Report Singular For Only 1 Recommendation

Finding that J. M. Vickery's "unlawful, and from a premeditated design to effect the death of Sam W. Beal, did kill the said Sam W. Beal by shooting him with a pistol," the Seminole County grand jury this morning, just before handing in its final report, returned an indictment against Vickery charging him with murder in the first degree. After a conference with Judge Wallace W. Wright and State's Attorney Mildred Smith concerning an early trial of the case, E. F. Housholder, representing Mr. Vickery, agreed to begin the hearing on Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

A venire of 48 was then drawn from the jury box and will be subpoenaed for jury duty that day.

The grand jury also returned an indictment against Edward Williams charging him with "maliciously shooting into a dwelling." He will be arraigned on Monday morning.

After the members of the grand jury had presented its final report, Judge Wright thanked the members for their speedy and efficient investigations and returned them to the room. The final report was very short and contained only one recommendation, it being that a writ be placed to the grand jury room. The jury reported that it had visited the county poor farm, convict camp, jail, and had examined the Beal house, finding these places to be in good condition, under usual, careful management.

Monday morning at 10 o'clock, Monday night will begin the trial of persons mentioned in the indictments returned by the grand jury. He will also sentence two of them who pleaded guilty to the charges against them. The case of Louis Lovel and Jefferson Livingston, negro youths charged with "robbery by persons armed," is expected to be disposed of first.

The following were drawn for petit jury duty on Monday morning and were subpoenaed yesterday: J. D. Davison, John Riley, J. C. Cain, E. H. Limes, G. E. Parker, H. E. Kent, C. E. Christopher, W. F. Lewis, R. E. Hurdon, F. R. Hall, T. S. Runkle, A. G. Haines, A. H. Stone, Edward Higgins, Alfred Erickson, H. E. Ward, S. M. Lloyd, J. J. Carver, A. G. Hall, A. B. Morgan, H. R. Murphy, F. W. Levine, Cleared Of Charges, Quits City Of Vienna In Plane

VIENNA, Dec. 6—(AP)—Austrian authorities today reported they had decided to drop charges of counterfeiting against Charles A. Levine, first American transatlantic passenger on an airplane, who was arrested Nov. 17 after he had arranged to make matras for French coins or small denominations. Levine explained that his wish for the matras was to cure ailments with his own and his wife's. He also admitted taking the products to America for distribution. Since he is understood to be wealthy in his own country, the charges of intent to manufacture French francs were discounted by everyone except authorities who held to the letter of the law. After a week's imprisonment he was finally released under $10,000 bail. He left Vienna today by airplane as soon as he was cleared of charges.

Impenetrable Fog In Europe Now Lifting

LONDON, Dec. 6—(AP)—England and the continental seaboard began to emerge today from an impenetrable fog which has turned the past two days into nights. Several hundred ships at British, French and Belgian ports turned their noses cautiously about ready to move to sea. In Belgium 15 deaths were attributed to the fog apart from more than three score victims of a mysterious epidemic in the Meuse Valley.

ATORS ARE PUT THROUGH THEIR FINAL PRACTICE DRILL

Long Session Staged Upon Eve Of Battle With Tennesseans

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Dec. 5.—Varsity football practice at the University of Florida is a thing of the past as far as the year 1930 is concerned. Coach Bachman put his gridiron through their last actual practice of the season Thursday afternoon. Only a light signal drill and blackboard lecture Friday remained on the 1930 program.

The drill Thursday afternoon, a final workout for the Tennessee game Saturday, was a practice in the gridiron will long remember. It began early and the moon had come out from behind the hills when Coach Bachman finally blew the closing whistle.

The Gator mentor worked his players so late Thursday that tonight he had had them running signals without the ball as it was too dark to see the signals.

The Gators got a little of everything in Thursday's workout. While they did not have the aid of Coach Higgins' assistants, they had plenty of opposition from the "rat" element in the dummy scrimmage and shadow drill.

The emblems already have signified for the season, and have been in their uniform. Coach Higgins' men, who have been the best horse of the varsity this year, are now a matter of history. They are just another set of heroes, who are through with a daily scrambling at the hands of the first stringers.

Coach Bachman was rather dissatisfied with the showing of his men against the Tennessee passing attack. The freshmen, with Buck Davis passing, completed practically every one of their drives in spite of the best defense that the varsity could offer.

Coach Bachman called for the same play over and over again in order that his men might have better opportunity to solve it, even after the same formation had been run a number of times. It was evident that the Gators are going to have trouble breaking up the Vol's aerials Saturday.

What it is about the Volunteer passing attack, that makes it so important to the Gator effort at breaking it up is puzzling to Florida coaching staff. Not only that the Orange and Blue has not this year had presented a passing setup that the Gators couldn't unravel. Even Alabama was not able to make much headway via the aerial route.

The Tennessee pass formations that Florida scouts have brought in from the four games which they have studied, are a veritable thorn in the side of the Gator mentors. Nearly all of the plays are wide and passes for 20 yards or more. A number of them are complicated with lateral from one back to another before the main pass.

Florida's new defensive to be tried out against the Vols, is devised mainly to prevent the excessive line play of the Tennessee backs. It is not planned especially for the aerials of Coach Neyland's eleven.

The Florida offensive that has been revised somewhat for the benefit of the Vols seems to have been whipped into good shape during the past few days. The Gators look every bit as good as they did in the practices immediately before the Tech game, which ended so overwhelmingly in Florida's favor.

CHASE PLAYERS DEFEAT GROCERS AT DIAMOND BALL

Game Is Filled With Thrills, Errors And Comedy Features

By E. H. CULLUM

In a game that was full of thrills, errors and comedy plays, Chase & Company defeated Piggy Wiggly last night 18 to 12.

The Chase team got off to a flying start in the first inning, putting over five runs and were never in danger thereafter. Anderson, first man up, hit to deep right for a home run; Stineccher popped out; Hodge doubled; McCrone got a home run, scoring Hodge; Smith flew out; Dennis scored; Smith flew out; Dennis scored; Smith flew out; Dennis scored.

Colter had a perfect night at bat, getting three hits out of three times up, two doubles and a single.

Johnny Hodge was on the mound for Chase, and for three innings the Piggy-Wiggly boys could do nothing with his slants. However, they got next to him in the fourth inning, putting over four runs in this inning. Miles and Moss shared honors in the hitting for the Grocers, each getting 3 out of four times up, and each being credited with two singles and a home run. Cordell also hit for the circuit in the sixth inning.

Paul Perold started in the box for Piggy Wiggly and lasted only 1-3 innings, when he was relieved by Palmer. However, Palmer fared little better than Paul.

Walsma was called out in the fourth lining for leaving the bag too soon; McCrone also was out in this inning for stealing bases while the pitcher was holding the ball in the box. Some day the players will wake up to the fact that this cannot be done in Diamond ball.

Ben Austin, playing center for Chase let two flies get away from him which accounted for five of the runs made by Piggy Wiggly.

The only double play of the game was pulled in the second lining when Hodge hit to Miles, who tossed to Moss, doubling Anderson at first.

Paul Perold in attempting to get back to first after trying to steal second, fell flat and was an easy out.

The game was greatly enjoyed by the small crowd present, who were continually rooting for their favorites.

The game tonight will be between the Truck Growers and Atlantic Coast Line. We now have 'he bleacher' back, with the result that we can take care of as many as will come so come on out and enjoy yourselves.

copies being established "relative to valuation and the like," the commission added:

"We are inclined to the opinion that these practical objections outweigh the theoretical advantages of receipture, and that the wiser course to pursue is to repeal the receipture provisions in their entirety, rather than attempt to improve them by amendment. Certainly this is a matter which is deserving of the most careful consideration by the Congress."

Consideration should be given in this connection to the earlier recommendations for new methods of valuation, the commission said.

Intense competition and rate cutting by freight forwarding companies have created a "phantom" that surrounding railroad rates a quarter of a century ago, the commission said. Concessions are widely granted and even cash payments to industrial traffic managers are not unknown.

It asked for legislation to regulate these companies.

In the police station here, Chief Register said, Barrieka has asked every wanderer he saw, for information about his supposed wife, repeating the description given him by Miami police. The chief said Barrieka told him he had traced the woman as far as Brunswick.

Tuesday night, Register said, Barrieka, left next to Jim Cooper of Berkeley, Va., a hitch hiker who was given lodging at the city jail, and asked for his wife.

Cooper, the chief said, recalled a woman answering that description whom he met last Friday night at his sister's home in Wilmington, N. C. He said he knew the woman as Polly Smith and she came from Norfolk and Petersburg.

FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS DESCRIBED AS GREAT BENEFIT TO MANKIND

Thousands of children are maimed annually by the juggernaut of tuberculosis.

Why do we permit this?

When a drunken driver plows his way ruthlessly through a group of children playing in a street, the law is quick to step in and act.

Tuberculosis is just as ruthless. With no regard for social position or station, it rides over children and lays them low. Horrible as it is, and still more horrible when we know that most of this loss can be prevented.

Tuberculosis can be considered a children's disease, or to put it in another way, it usually begins in childhood. From contact with those who have tuberculosis either an immunity is acquired, or the beginning of actual disease itself. If the contact is casual, infrequent and not very close, the chances are that the child will grow up infected with tuberculosis but immune to severe disease attacks. If, on the other hand, the child lives in a home where there is tuberculosis present in an older member of the family and the contact is daily and reasonably intimate, the child's immunity breaks down and disease becomes active. The child has received a series of large doses of massive infection and serious consequences are apt to follow.

TELEGRAM OF FATHER POSTPONES WEDDING

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A Virginia belle who came to New York to wed a radio musician, abandoned her plans yesterday when a detective sent by her father intercepted the couple at the marriage license bureau.

Miss S. Ferguson, 16, of Richmond, Va., who was invited to a party at a friend's home to get in touch with the famous singer, was an official in a tobacco company.

After a long distance telephone call, the musician decided could wait until January, when the father promised the pair a big wedding down South.

SEEK ANCIENT RUINS

SPORT BRIEFS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Notre Dame gridiron greats were dropped into the unusual role of short-enders in the betting odds of 10 to 8 here Thursday with their football frolic with the University of Southern California only two days away.

Reports from Tucson, Ariz., where the Ramblers held secret practice that Larry Mullins, fullback, might not be able to start the game was given as the basis for the shift of favoritism to the Trojans.

Strengthening this trend was the apparent certainty that Coach Howard Jones' chief absentee, Ralph Wilcox, left end, would be able to start the game.

The Trojan board of strategy, lent no ear to the tidings of word from Notre Dame as they put the men of Troy through another snappy session on defense.

Notre Dame's stars in offense galloped on the defense against Southern California teams out less effectively than before. The Trojans frankly expect Mullins to pop out upon the field against them Saturday.

Notre Dame's team will leave Tucson at 3-a. m. Friday and will arrive here at 4:15 p. m.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Duke University, of Durham, N. C., is the only newcomer on the University of Tennessee's 1931 football schedule announced Thursday. Centre college, of Danville, Ky., was dropped to make room for the Blue Devils. Several Southern conference games are on the schedule.

Negotiations, officials said, have not been completed for a game with Florida in 1931.

The schedule:

Sept. 26, Maryville college here; Oct. 3, Clemson here; Oct. 17, Alabama here; Oct. 24, North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Oct. 31, Duke here; Nov. 7, Caran Newman here; Nov. 14, Vanderbilt here; Nov. 20, Kentucky at Lexington. Dec. 6, open.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Dec. 5.— Charles Bachman, head football coach at the University of Florida, yesterday confirmed the report that the Gators have arranged an intercollegiate game with Syracuse university for 1931, but Athletic Director Edgar Jones refused to comment on next year's Florida grid schedule. Syracuse displaces the University of Chicago on the Gator schedule. Coach Bachman failed to reveal whether the game is to be played in New York or at Gainesville.

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Clemson college athletic authorities were hopeful Thursday that Jack Cody would withdraw his resignation as head football and basketball coach.

After a session of the athletic council, at which the resignation was discussed, Cody gave out the following statement:

"The board of trustees through the athletic council has done everything within reason. That could be expected. I do not expect to be able to give a definite answer in less than 10 days."

Cody announced his resignation Thanksgiving day after Clemson won the state football championship by defeating Furman. He gave no explanation, and declared he had made no plans for the future.

VOLS TO BE NEAR FULL STRENGTH IN GATOR BATTLE

Tennessee All Primed To Do Their Stuff In Game Tomorrow

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 5.—Wildcats may be behind them, but Gators yawn in front of them, and all in all the week-end promises to be full of thrills for the Tennessee Volunteers. Thursday afternoon, they left for Jacksonville where they will meet the University of Florida team in the final game of the season.

For the first time this year, Tennessee will have somewhere near its full strength to use against a conference opponent and the Gators can use any strength that is offered to them. Their stories that come out of the south are to be believed. Although it is not to be expected that the recent cripples will play as they would have played if they had been treated right at the beginning of the season by opponents who seemed to have no respect for their persons, they will yet give the fans of both sides something to write home about. The Gators will have to be as tough as the proverbial alligator skins to keep themselves from knowing that they have lost in a football game when they get from the hills of Tennessee get through making them jump through hoops.

Fritz Brandt and Paul Hug, who romped through the season and through all opponents last year to land berths on the mythical all-Southern, will be back on the field. After their long period of bench-warming they will be "rarin' to go" and we beside the Gator that tries to stop them. Quinn Decker, regular fullback, may not see service. Decker being one of the crippled Vols who has chafed and fumed on the sidelines since one of the early games of the season. Bill Cox, reserve fullback, who still has his knee in a cast, is definitely out of the game.

In Charlie Kohlhaas, who up until quite recently has been looked upon as a mighty line fullback to have in readiness, will step out with the squad when the whistle blows. If he does his stuff to the tune that he played against the Kentucky Wildcats, there will be much snapping of jaws among the Gators and some little speculation as to how he got that way.

President Gives Huge Reception For Diplomats

line formed in the corridor of the main floor.

At 9 o'clock President and Mrs. Hoover took their places in the big room, where, since the days of John Adams, the presidents have received on all formal occasions. The line moved through the state dining room, the red room, and the past President and Mrs. Hoover. The president's military and naval aides worked in relay introducing each guest to the president.

Then, the line moved through the green room and into the great east room where another band furnished music for dancing.

In the east room the assembly discarded formality for gaiety and conversation in most of the languages of the earth competed with the music.

Last night's brilliant function was the first reception that Mr. and Mrs. Hoover have given for the entire diplomatic corps. Last year the event had to be cancelled because of the period of mourning for the late Secretary Good.

The Return Of The Big Stick

In feudal times the lord of the land was generally the man who could wield the cleverest sword, who could ride the wildest horse and who could go into battle and bring home the most bacon. Customs gradually changed and it became a practice to allow the people a chance to name whom they wished to be their leader. Physical prowess gave way to brains, at least, the best fighter no longer ruled.

History repeats itself and if events of the past few years mean anything it looks as though we are headed back to those good old days when there was a premium on brawn. Mussolini has shown the way in Italy. Backed by his army he snatched that country out of the hands of every one else and now, when he cracks the whip, there is no voice to oppose him. Pilsudski wields the big stick over Poland. Spain had its Primavera and more recently its Berenguer. Russia is ruled by force. In South America there is a strong tendency to let the man with the army run things.

We have a peculiar situation in the United States. There is no military leader seeking to force his will upon the people, but there is another menace in the form of gunmen who are doing their best to line this country up with the others where the bark of a machine gun carries more weight than the ballot.

Only the other day a Chicago election candidate blamed his defeat on the guns of gangland and demanded a congressional investigation. He declared that officials knew of the conspiracy to defeat him but were unable to stop it and that, although police with machine guns were sent into a few districts, the gangsters were out all day and night forcing officials to change straight Democratic tickets. His incidentally mentioned that the brother of his victorious opponent was a secretary of Al Capone.

How long it will take for gangdom to gain full control is a matter of conjecture but at any rate it appears that Chicago has a good start and it may not be far off before Al Capone will be sitting in the mayor's chair and the police department supplanted by his henchmen, and the war cry, "to make the world safe for democracy", will have gone into the archives of forgotten slogans, a vain and useless thing.

What Is Depression?

Our attention was drawn the other evening to a little group of bedraggled individuals walking along the streets. It was composed of an old man and two young boys, all three displaying signs of utter poverty. Victims of depression, we thought. A short time later we noticed a man drive past in a car, a cheap one by the way, but it carried him along in good style. He used to drive a Packard. Another victim of depression. What is depression?

"The question is asked," says the New York Herald Tribune, "by a reader who lives in the pure and pine-filled air of the Adirondacks. He is in the middle stage of life, a brilliant university scholar, who went on to be a successful teacher of the next generation. His career seemed definitely fixed; he not only commanded the respect of his associates, but enjoyed a degree of affection which rarely comes to a man. Then he was hurried off to the mountains, and there he has been for five years—two years in bed, at an economic standstill.

"His question is 'What is depression?' He asks whether the man who was caught in the Wall Street squeeze was a victim of 'depression'. He wants to know whether the man who has lost his job is a victim of 'depression'. His questions are searching, devastating in part to those of us who grumble and find fault with this and that leader, with this and that policy.

"Fate has decreed that our reader should be put to the severest test. Perhaps fate picked him to teach us a great lesson, to define to us the real meaning of the words relative, to serve as an example at a time when courage is a prime essential. He has been a fierce, exhausting battle, and it is not yet finished, but he draws on his supply of courage and faith to send us a message of cheer and hopefulness. It occurs to us that he has something to contribute to the future of this land more valuable than a palliative in the form of some millions for emergency work. His message is the sort which must rally even defeatists. He wants us to know that the mind, and especially the heart, can win glorious victories even after strength has left our limbs. To him 'depression' is a relative term, and he would have all his countrymen agree with him.

WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

A London newspaper recently asked Sir Arthur Keith, the great scientist and president of the British Association, to set forth his beliefs concerning God, man and the universe. Sir Arthur replied frankly that he did not believe in immortality, which he rightly called the root of the Christian faith. He even thought the longing for immortality a vice which should be cured because it hampers human beings to make the best of life. He became convinced that the course of human history is determined, not by what happens, invisibly, in the skies, but by what takes place in the hearts of men.

The new reading book compiled and published by the Italian Government for the use of the primary schools are now on sale. This is the first time that a government has concerned itself directly with the public education of small children, giving a definite trend to the formation of their minds from which it is not permitted to deviate, though teachers have scope for developing instruction on the lines laid down.

Jane Repouard did so a few years ago, but she gave it up and returned to the stage. The latest recruit is Jenny Dolly, who is half of the Dolly Sisters. She gave a party last week to celebrate the opening of her new establishment in the Avenue des Champs Elysees and to show the general public that she was the owner of the new establishment.

After Taking Toll Of Over 60

Through the fog, clouds of mist, have died in sudden and terrible realization. As first it was believed the epidemic was caused by the choking mists...

Authorities are working frantically to determine the cause. Preliminary post-mortem examinations are being made...

The village of Engle appears to be the center of the extraordinary epidemic, with 14 deaths reported...

Among the other fatalities reported are eight at Ft. Little, four at Ft. Pierce...

Most of the terrified inhabitants are convinced that buried stores of German war gas, remnants of the supply dumps...

Physicians who made preliminary investigations were inclined to attribute the deaths rather to the intensely cold, wet fog...

The fog extends over a wide area of Belgium, but it is only in the Liege district that casualties of this nature have been reported.

One theory, that the tragedy was caused by fumes from also works in the neighborhood of Liege, failed because the plants have been closed...

A prominent physician of Liege yesterday discarded the poison gas hypothesis and recalled a similar mysterious epidemic in 1911...

LONDON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The startling suggestion that the mysterious epidemic which has taken 60 lives in the fog-bound Meuse valley of Belgium is "something like the black death" was made last night by Professor J. B. S. Haldane...

"I don't believe the epidemic can have been caused by war gas," he said, "because deaths have occurred in different villages. They have been having floods in that district lately and it is possible that may have something to do with it."

The "black death" was the name given in the middle ages to a mysterious plague which raged in the Fourteenth Century and caused deaths which some historians say amounted to a third of the population of Western Europe.

The Daily Herald prints a telephone interview with the mayor of the village of Engle, which is in the heart of the affected area.

The mayor explained that he himself was ill with the mysterious disease and had got up from his bed to answer the paper's call.

"The 600 inhabitants of my little town are terror-stricken," he said the Daily Herald. "Nobody knows what the cause is but it is associated in the popular mind with the fog which has lain over the valley the past few days."

"We have 16 dead here already and about 60 in the hospital. Besides there are hundreds suffering from the disease but not badly enough to go to a hospital. The symptoms are pains in the throat and chest with a severe dry cough that gives no rest."

"I don't think the theory of German poison gas, having been buried in the neighborhood and corroding the air, is sound. The fog is so small and so apparent that my doctor has advanced the theory that the cause is the bacteria but remains of the opinion that the affair is entirely mysterious."

DIG THREE OF CONGRESS INSPECT MODEL

Minority Leader John N. Garner, Speaker of the House Nicholas Longworth and Representative Isaac Bachrach of the House Office Building committee examine the model of the new House Office Building now under construction on Capitol Hill at Washington.

RAILROADS ARE STILL NEEDED STATES I. C. C.

The passenger revenue of 1929 was over $414,000,000 less than that of 1920. It is true that the freight revenue was $498,000,000 greater in 1929 than in 1920, but the prospect of a continued expansion in freight business to offset the further loss in passenger business is darkened by the competition of water lines, pipe lines, and trucks, and by changes that may check the growth in demand...

for ton-mileage, such as economy in the use of coal, changes in the location of industry, and the relatively slower growth of population. "However, the country still needs its railways and can support them. With the traffic of 1929, the railways were as a whole enjoying a comfortable degree of prosperity even though they did not reach the full return upon their prosperity which we think would be reasonable. Fortunately for their financial position, their capitalization in recent years has not kept pace with their investment, and the relation of their net income, after interest charges and all taxes, to their capital stock was never better in their history than it was in 1929."

The commission invited the attention of Congress to the statute provided for the re-capture by the government of excess earnings from railroads, and in a qualified way, proposed its repeal. "We are inclined to the opinion that these practical objections outweigh the theoretical advantages of re-capture," the report said, "and that the wiser course to pursue is to repeal the re-capture provisions in their entirety, rather than to attempt to improve them by amendment."

The commission confined mention of railroad consolidation to a report of the last December announcement of its plan for putting all rail properties into 21 systems. No action has been taken.

"Put them to work for the first time in their lives," Amter replied. The purchase of 400 army airplane motors from the United States war department for use by the Amter Trading Corporation, was described by Henry A. Heeney of Brooklyn. He said the motors were rebuilt and overhauled until they were "better than new" and then shipped to Russia.

Afterward, he said, he talked with an Amter official who said he saw "about 250 of those engines in the air—the sky was just black with them."

Foster said he was born in Taunton, Mass., of Irish and English parentage. He was a member of the American Federation of Labor until expelled less than a year ago.

The passage of wet legislation by the Maryland Legislature last night, which would repeal the Eighteenth Amendment, was hailed as a "flat failure" by the Maryland State Bar Association, which opposes the repeal of the prohibition law.

In his speech upon the repeal of the prohibition law, the Maryland State Bar Association said that the repeal would be a "flat failure" because it would deprive the State of a source of revenue which is essential for the support of the State Government.

"The repeal of the prohibition law is a flat failure," said the State Bar Association. "It will deprive the State of a source of revenue which is essential for the support of the State Government. It will also deprive the State of a source of revenue which is essential for the support of the State Government."
