The German Press

The life of a newspaper editor under a dictatorship is sad. The primary function of a newspaper is to publish the news, but the primary necessity of a dictatorship is to suppress the news. Dictatorships thrive on the ignorance of the people. Newspapers thrive in direct proportion to the amount of enlightenment which they can furnish the people.

That this is so is shown by the fatal results of Hitlerism on the German press. During the first twelve months of Chancellor Hitler's rule over Germany, more than one thousand newspapers have been deliberately suppressed by the government, and 350 more have voluntarily closed their doors.

Among the deceased are such notable journals as the "Hartungische Zeitung," of Koenigsberg, founded in 1640, and the "Vossische Zeitung" of Berlin, which has a record of 230 years of public service. Such suppressions are no less significant than if the New York Times or the Atlanta Constitution were to be suddenly closed in this country.

Speaking of the suspension of the "Vossische Zeitung," Editor and Publisher says, "One of the able journals of the world was thus sunk without a trace by Hitler. Even its editorial valedictory was in muffled tones, for the editor might go to prison for a last offense, but the wretch did manage to say that 'the pendulum has swung from unbridled freedom of expression to occasional overdiscipline,' and that 'it did not seem necessary to us to keep from the German reader news that he could read in foreign newspapers, at times in the grossest exaggeration and misrepresentation.'"

"But if that once famed newspaper had dared speak its mind it would have said, what is so patently true, that Hitlerism and honest candor are inimical, the dictator's strength lying in a confused or intimidated public opinion. The logical deduction is that Hitler's government isn't good enough to bear the light of day. Nazi control, destructive of every principle of democracy, will continue until it is found out by a sufficient number of Germans. When that day dawns, we hope, the famous Vossische Zeitung will live again to serve the cause of democracy and truth."

In addition to these newspapers which have actually been forced to suspend publication, practically all of them have suffered seriously in the loss of circulation. The "Berliner Morgenpost," we read, once had a circulation of 700,000, but is now read by only 340,000. The "Berliner Tageblatt" has seen its circulation dwindle from 250,000 to 70,000 since Hitler came into power. And so it goes with the rest of them.

Meanwhile foreign newspapers, published in London, Paris, and Switzerland particularly, are smuggled in and widely read. The London Times now gets out a special issue for Germany and has exactly doubled its circulation there in the past year. The Swiss paper, "Neuer Zurcher Zeitung" is read everywhere throughout Germany and is said to have a larger circulation than any newspaper published in Germany.

The reason for this peculiar situation is not hard to find. The people want to know what is going on. The German dictatorship will not allow the German newspapers to tell the people. So they, of necessity, turn to the foreign press.

The Fight Against Crime

The federal government is making elaborate preparations to deal with a crime situation which has been the plague of this country for more than ten years. New laws are being passed by Congress which will give the department of justice all the legal ammunition it will need to put a stop to kidnaping, racketeering, and other gangster activities which have developed into a national disgrace. It is expected that a nation-wide drive against criminals will be undertaken immediately after the new laws are enacted.

Here is a list prepared by Joseph R. Keenan, assistant attorney general, summarizing individual laws asked of Congress to complete the department's proposed criminal code.

1. Anyone destroying goods in interstate commerce, hindering its movement, or attempting to extort money will be liable to imprisonment for from one to 20 years, and to a fine at least commensurate with the unlawful gain.
2. Anyone moving stolen property across state lines will be liable to a maximum of 10 years imprisonment, or a $10,000 fine, or both. Receivers of such stolen goods will be liable for the same penalties.
3. Anyone using the telephone, telegraph, radio or oral message to threaten injury or to extort money will be liable to a prison term within the discretion of the court.
4. Anyone hiding in another state to avoid prosecution or giving testimony will be liable to a prison term, a fine, or both.
5. Anyone transporting from one state to another a person held against his wishes will be liable to a prison term. Federal officers may enter the case three days after a person is missing.
6. Anyone robbing a bank will be liable to a maximum of 10 years imprisonment or a $5000 fine, or both. More extreme punishment is set for those who use violence or a dangerous weapon in bank robbery.
7. Anyone killing, assaulting or resisting a federal employe on duty will be liable to punishments varying from three years to a death sentence.
8. Anyone aiding in riots at federal penal institutions or in escapes will be liable to a maximum term of ten years.
9. Anyone manufacturing, importing or selling small firearms or machine guns must register by July 1, annually, and pay a tax.
10. Possessors of firearms must be identified in purchasing them by filing an order blank which will hold the name, address and fingerprints. The order with the tax stamp will accompany the firearm on any subsequent transfer.
11. Two or more states may enter into pacts to aid in prevention of crime.

MIAMIANS SEEK EFFECTS OF BIG SEASON ON DEBT

Answer Must Be Found Before Real Estate Sales Will Pick Up

MIAMI, Apr. 10.—Brilliant though Miami's winter season has been, practical men are beginning to ask the effect upon the city's affairs, and upon its bonded debt, largest in the state. These must be answered before real estate begins again to invite real money here.

During the past four months, Miami has held a daily average of from 200,000 to 250,000 visitors, trebling its normal population. In 90 days of the season, checkers at the entrances counted 170,000 automobiles bearing 440,000 passengers coming into the Miami city limits, practically 100 percent more than the same period last year. Entries by train, airplane, steamship and on foot exceeded even the day of the boom.

Result on Mar. 31, city tax collections were 19.1 percent of the 1933-34 full months ahead of the intake of last year. The bond debt of $29,124,000 has been reduced since August by $1,300,000 in bonds exchanged for tax revenues and bonds.

Refunding of the whole debt, now in the hands of a New York committee with $25,000,000 of Miami bonds pledged to their program, is going forward. The city since August has paid $900,000 to the committee for 1931 interest. All back interest will be refunded by certificate due in 1941. Until 1935 the current interest will be 3 percent instead of 4 percent.

Cost of running the city this winter was $11,000,000 more than for the same time last year. A police radio cost $100,000, federal case, including $11,000, publicity, $83,761. Because the state hiked the price of milk from 8 to 13 cents, the city hospital's milk bills have been boosted $1,000 a month. Miami has come down off its high horse of 1927, when it cost $7,000,000 a year to nurse the boom.

All are anxious to see it completed.

nothing," Johnston said. Johnston said under the NRA order, the basic daily rates in Alabama were increased from $3.40 to $4.60, while Pennsylvania rates were jumped only 40 cents and Indiana rates not increased at all.

He said that with the competition from natural gas and hydroelectric power and especially in view of the government's Tennessee valley development, increased production costs would wreck the coal industry of the state.

MARTIN 218 W. 1st ST.

There is some question today about Miami raising the interest required to keep its refunding plan alive in a city where $25,000,000 was borrowed on a 6 percent and does in 30 days this winter, and where property has started to sell against the collection of sufficient taxes to operate the city depend upon the frame of mind of the property owners. They have the money, if they want to turn it loose.

The people have nearly forgotten the loss of $30,000,000 in closed banks, they have forgotten the awful whip of two hurricanes, even the 1929 stock market crash is growing dim. For here, the sun also rises, and the new light is showing millions of Americans that they must have a slice of Florida land, and preferably a slice of Miami land, to make the winter bearable. If that feeling persists, next winter Miami may have forgotten her bond troubles in a new building boom, this time for keeps.

"I made no such statement," Johnston replied.

"You implied it," said Lewis. "I did not."

"Then withdraw it," Lewis said. "I implied nothing and withdrew nothing."

(Continued From Page One) recovery act and the code by ordering the industry without a hearing to put into effect higher wages and shorter hours.

The new schedules, put into effect Apr. 1 by an order of the recovery administrator, established a seven-hour day, increased wages generally and greatly reduced the wage differentials accorded southern coal regions.

Strikes and shut-downs have followed the promulgation of the order in many sections. Johnston said it had thrown the Alabama coal industry into "unrecoverable chaos" and had resulted in throwing 15,000 miners out of employment in the state.

Johnston was followed by representatives of Tennessee and Kentucky operators, who insisted that lowering of the wage differential between their coal fields and the North would wreck the South industrially and return it to a pre-civil war agricultural state.

Johnston's appearance was marked by a sharp clash with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

The Alabama said union representatives, during conferences with the operators leading to a wage contract, had assured the operators they had no intention of instituting another wage increase.

Lewis interrupted with a question as to whether Johnston meant to imply the union had a secret understanding with the operators apart from the contract.

"I made no such statement," Johnston replied. "You implied it," said Lewis. "I did not."

"Then withdraw it," Lewis said. "I implied nothing and withdrew nothing."

More than an hour was taken up discussing the situation brought about during the past few days by a declining citrus market.

SENATE VOTES DOWN PLAN TO BOOST TAXES

One Bill Brings End To Plan of Adding 10 Percent to Individual Income Returns

WASHINGTON, Apr. 11.—(AP)—By 46 to 44, the Senate yesterday refused to levy an additional one-year emergency tax of 10 percent on all individual income tax returns in 1935.

It also rejected without a roll call a proposal to boost surtaxes beyond the Finance Committee rates which already are higher than existing levies.

The 10 percent emergency tax, proposed by Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, would have raised an estimated $55,000,000. The higher surtaxes, suggested by Senator King, Democrat, Utah, would have yielded another $40,000,000.

There still was conceded to be a chance of adopting higher inheritance levies which would bring in an additional $92,000,000. Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, will propose such an amendment.

Chairman Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, of the Finance Committee swung the decision against the Couzens amendment. He previously had announced he would accept the proposal and let it go to conference with the House, but explained, "considerable opposition" had arisen and since he was speaking only for himself and the committee had not recommended the proposition he elected to stand by the committee. House Administration leaders also had expressed opposition to the proposal.

The vote was so close that a re-vote was ordered. It disclosed a tie, 46 to 46, which was sufficient to defeat it. But Couzens withdrew from the vote to "move consideration. He expects to seek another vote later.

Couzens argued it was "cowardly" to refuse to adopt higher income taxes to help pay the expenses of the huge recovery program. He contended the 10 percent, which would have meant a tax return of $110 on a $100 tax due, would have hit the higher income and meant no increase over existing taxes until net incomes of $3000 were reached.

LaFollette supported the amendment, saying the "actual additional burden is a very reasonable requirement in times like these."

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, thought the added 10 percent would bear too heavily on the small taxpayer and would discourage investment in small businesses, but voted for it on the ground of emergency needs.

Orlando Trade Body Seeks To Put End To Bad Publicity

ORLANDO, Apr. 11.—Spurred to action by adverse publicity appearing in the northern press against Orlando and Orange counties and emanating from winter visitors who charge that they were held in the county jail for minor traffic violations, the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce yesterday voted to dig down to the bottom of the matter in an effort to have more courtesy and consideration shown to visitors.

An article appearing in the lead column in the Meyersdale Republican, a paper published in that town, was said to be a small but highly venomous attack against the county, and contained a tirade against the county officers and Orange county in general, precipitated the action of directors. The article was said to be the work of Perry Burkett, an Orlando winter visitor, who charged that he had been held in the county jail for 10 days, after being arrested on a minor traffic violation.

Plans were rushed for the rescue of the 50 remaining marooned, imperilled on a cracking floe. Twenty two persons were taken to safety last night by the Russian fliers Kaminin, Molokov, and Slepnev in three separate planes. Kaminin and Molokov picked up 11 more men today.

Citrus Body Secretary Says Pro-Ration Of Fruit Aided Industry

ORLANDO, Apr. 11.—O. G. Strauss, secretary of the Florida citrus control committee, said yesterday that charges that too much citrus has been pro-rated to auction markets and that the control program had actually stimulated shipments were "ridiculous."

Strauss said the amount of citrus pro-rated this year has been considerably less than that at the auction markets in a corresponding period.

Francis Mason, state director of the Federal Home Loan Association was the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce held in new quarters on the lake front last night.

He announced that preliminary steps were taken yesterday looking toward the organization of an association in Seminole County, and that application had gone to Washington requesting such an organization here.

HOPE OF PEACE IN AUTOMOTIVE LINES MOUNTS

Tool, Die Makers Meet With Employers To Consider Demands For Higher Wages

NEW YORK, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Hopes for peace in the giant automotive industry now in the midst of its highest production program in nearly four years grew last night as tool and die makers and their employers planned a conference to consider demands for a 20 percent wage increase and a five-day week of 36 hours.

The conference is set for today, a little more than 24 hours before the deadline fixed for a walk-out by the Mechanics Educational Society, the tool and die makers organization. An offer was formulated last night by the Automotive Tool and Die Manufacturers Association.

Sixty-two job shops are members of the association. Union officials have claimed that 18,000 men would obey a strike call.

Violence broke out anew in the strike at the plant of the Detroit Michigan stove works when strikers, workers and police engaged in a 20-minute battle in front of the gates at the noon lunch hour.

After order had been restored police reported only minor damage had been done, although fifty sticks and stones flew freely. Three men were arrested.

Charged by the settlement of a Motor Products Corporation strike that resulted in the return yesterday of 1000 strikers, 4000 other employees of that factory and 18,000 workers in the Hudson Motor Car Co. plant, federal mediation agencies were concentrating on the tool and die makers controversy.

Hopes on the labor side for a solution of the tool and die work controversy was based to some extent on the announcement that eight tool and die manufacturing plants not identified with the manufacturers' association had agreed to meet the demand for a 30-hour week and 20 percent increases.

Labor Federation In State Proposes To Enlist All Teachers

His proposal did not advocate the teacher organization dropping its identity, but it was said affiliation would bring mutual gains for each group.

Bethlehem Steel Expects Full Earning On Preferred Stock During This Quarter

NEW YORK, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Stockholders of a leading steel company and three trunk line railroads were informed of expanding profits and brighter dividend prospects at annual meetings yesterday.

Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, at the annual meeting held in New York, N. J., said business for the current quarter should go a long way toward earning the preferred dividend, and in reply to a stockholder's question, said "the disposition will be to resume payment on the preferred as soon as possible."

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation has not earned its preferred dividend in full since the first quarter of 1931, and has not paid preferred dividends for the past two years.

Stockholders of the Pennsylvania railroad, meeting in Philadelphia, were informed by A. J. County, vice president in charge of finance, that as business conditions improve, further dividends would be paid. A 50-cent payment (Continued on Page Two)

Grim Undertone Is Prevalent In Meet- On Disarmament

GENEVA, Apr. 11.—(AP)—A grim undertone, including an indication that Russia will disarm only if Japan does and emphasizing the possibilities of armament races of war, characterized speeches during a short meeting yesterday of the disarmament conference steering committee.

Boris Stein, soviet spokesman declared Russia will sign a disarmament convention but only on the condition it is universally accepted by all neighbors of Russia.

Captain Anthony Eden, British lord privy seal and leading arms expert, emphasized that a substantial reduction in war materials remains for Great Britain a "fundamental condition to her agreement on any arms convention," thus giving the impression that England expects French arms reductions in return for British security guarantees.

Delegates noticed that Rene Maagill of France did not reveal his government's eventual attitude but confined himself to the statement that the "armament of Germany" changed the entire problem and that this course was incompatible with the disarmament of other nations.

Lynch Denied Charges Made By Governor

NRA COUNSEL RIDICULES REVOLT TALK

Richberg Claims Not Slightest Danger If 'We Preserve Our National Sanity'

NEW YORK, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Donald Richberg, general counsel to the NRA, said last night that the United States "is not in the slightest danger of a political revolution so long as we preserve our national sanity."

Addressing the Forum on the Legal Aspects of the National Industrial Recovery Act by long distance telephone from Florida, where he went to consult with President Roosevelt, Richberg said:

"We cannot possibly escape from an economic revolution because that is in process through the inevitable product of the industrial revolution.

"The only present menace to our national sanity and consequent danger of a political upheaval lies in the spread of that insanity which animates the 'League of Stuffed Shirts'—that fears of brains that have already exposed the incompetence of their past war leadership, brains that will always oppose their return to power, and brains that are seeking to establish a new morality for the conduct of public and private affairs in order to prevent those irresponsible uses of economic power for private gain that destroy the economic and political security of the people."

Richberg described a "class of business men of bankers and politicians who have begun to conspire a 'mythical trust'—as the group who seemed to be organizing when he called the 'League of Stuffed Shirts'."

He also told the Forum, conducted by the Trade and Commerce Bar Association, that the "League" probably will enroll "most of the discredited economists and financial writers and oracles of editorial wisdom who helped inflate the bubble prosperity that burst in 1929."

"When all the warped minds in the country rally round the knowledge-doing school of politicians and demand a brainless government," said Richberg, "it will be interesting to find out how many of the American people are afraid to trust their government to men who are accused of having brains and of desiring to devote them to public service."

State NRA Board Anxious To Please

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 11.—(AP)—The State Pardon Board, taking note of shafts of criticism from newspaper editors, decided today to invite a committee of newspapermen to its next semi-annual meeting, and allow them to see at first hand how and why clemency is granted to prisoners.

Joe L. Earman of Vero Beach, Chief Personal Property Tax Assessor for Florida, told Tax Collector Jno. D. Jenkins and Assistant Tax Assessor Sanford Doudney yesterday that Comptroller J. M. Lee expects all taxes, real or personal, to be paid this year, and that unless they are paid, the limit of the law will be invoked against delinquents.

Mr. Earman came to Sanford to find out what has been done here in gathering returns on personal property, both tangible and intangible, and to advise local officials as to the campaign which is to be pursued in forcing tax collections this year.

He learned that delinquencies are not as great as in past years but that there has been only spasmodic answer to personal letters from Collector Jenkins who has reminded many taxpayers that they are delinquent and that they should make an effort at payment at once.

Mr. Earman indicated the Comptroller Lee is expecting a record of efficient collection from all of his collectors and assessors

Mrs. Roosevelt At Issue With Dr. Wirt Over 'Communism'

JAMESON SPENT OVER $170,000 IN ATTACK ON SMITH

WASHINGTON, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Testimony that Edwin Jameson, New York insurance executive, contributed $172,800 in 1928 to aid in defeating Alfred Smith for President was given a jury today in the trial of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Southern Methodist churchman, and Miss Ada Burroughs, on trial in District of Columbia Supreme Court on a charge of conspiracy to violate the federal corrupt practices act by failing to report all of the $65,300 reported received from Jameson.

Reports made to the Congressional committee and read into the court record showed that Jameson also collected and contributed many thousands to various other anti-Smith causes.

Robert H. McNeill, chief of defense counsel, told the jury he expected to show that the bishop "took the money and spent it and distributed it in accordance with the great desire of the contributor."

The contributor himself, took the witness stand for the prosecution shortly after this opening statement of the defense.

Jameson, in the two hours he was on the stand, told the court and defense counsel agreed that he gave Bishop Cannon $58,000 before the election of 1928 to "support a campaign of anti-Smith Democrats."

McNeill asked if he gave any instructions as to the disposition of his contribution.

"I assumed," Jameson replied, "that Bishop Cannon would spend the money for legal objects and would comply with the law."

"Have you," continued McNeill, "ever complained of how Bishop Cannon spent the money?"

"I had no knowledge; I was only the contributor," Jameson answered.

Representatives Okey Air Base Improvement

WASHINGTON, Apr. 11.—(AP)—A top in a Navy plans to persuade convinced two members of the House Naval Committee, Representatives Barden of Virginia and Zanecheck of Washington, both Democrats, that there is a need for permanent improvements at the Navy Air School there.

Representative Caldwell, whose district the station is located, naturally is in favor of the improvements, and he is a third member of the committee.

Drastic Action Promised Against All Persons Failing To Pay Tax This Year

Joe L. Earman of Vero Beach, Chief Personal Property Tax Assessor for Florida, told Tax Collector Jno. D. Jenkins and Assistant Tax Assessor Sanford Doudney yesterday that Comptroller J. M. Lee expects all taxes, real or personal, to be paid this year, and that unless they are paid, the limit of the law will be invoked against delinquents.

Mr. Earman came to Sanford to find out what has been done here in gathering returns on personal property, both tangible and intangible, and to advise local officials as to the campaign which is to be pursued in forcing tax collections this year.

He learned that delinquencies are not as great as in past years but that there has been only spasmodic answer to personal letters from Collector Jenkins who has reminded many taxpayers that they are delinquent and that they should make an effort at payment at once.

First Lady Contradicts Educator's Charge Against Homestead Project In South

WASHINGTON, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today contradicted contentions of Dr. William Wirt that a subsistence homestead project at Reedsville, W. Va., is a "Communist effort."

The wife of the President gave these views at a White House conference with newspaperwomen.

A while before, Dr. Wirt, on a visit to the capitol, had been told that the House Investigation Committee desired no further testimony from him, and he was free to return to his Gary, Ind., home.

The inquiry will resume next Tuesday with the appearance of the six persons named by Wirt as having attended a September dinner in Virginia at which he testified he heard talk of revolutionary plotting.

Mrs. Roosevelt said, "Never in this country to my knowledge has it been considered communitarian for the opportunity to be given to people to earn their own living and own their houses."

She added that while it is a fact that the government will provide for initial capital for this particular project, any private enterprise that wishes to do so may establish the same sort of communities.

The six persons who attended the dinner party, will tell a House committee about it next Tuesday but all indications last night were the inquiry would end right there.

Wirt made it plain he felt Rexford G. Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, was the leader in a movement to undermine the constitution. But the three Democratic committee members did not express great concern after the hearing.

Persevering profusely and standing on tiptoes in his excitement, Wirt referred to Tugwell as "him and again. He also wanted the committee to call Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, and William I. Westervelt, former AAA official, to see if they would substantiate his charges.

Once the committee room that was crowded with celebrities and plain citizens emptied, the members talked it over and decided the three men and three women at the Virginia dinner would appear next week—and that was all.
