WE ARE THANKFUL

It seems to us that on this Thanksgiving the American people have more to be thankful for than at any other time in their history. The Pilgrims on their first Thanksgiving were thankful that their crops had been plentiful and that the specter of starvation had been banished from their door. We today can be thankful for that and for many other things as well.

More thanks-worthy than anything else is the fact that while millions of other people throughout the world are at war with one another, or are in the imminent shadow of war, we are as far remote from it as it is possible to get. For nowhere else in the world is any country so well situated, either geographically or economically, to avoid the devastating effects of war.

We can be thankful that while German boys are going down to the sea in submarines to risk their lives in the hazardous undertaking of sinking belligerent ships, our boys are playing football on American gridirons, or preparing themselves for happy useful lives. And while British boys are machine-gunning German bases, our boys are largely confining their flying to commercial planes.

We can be thankful that while starvation strikes at large parts of the population in numerous foreign countries, our granaries are overflowing with wheat and corn, and our only problem is what to do with the surplus. While other countries ration their food supplies sparingly to a hungry population, we have to limit production to keep from glutting the market.

We can be thankful that while in almost every other country in the world freedom of speech and the press has been completely destroyed and that nobody, except the ruling powers, can say what he thinks or believes, we still have the right in this country to say what we think, to worship God as we choose, and to elect our public officials, and have no fears that every friend is a government spy.

We can be thankful that after ten long years of depression and unemployment, business is improving, new jobs are being created, and the general outlook is better than it has been in years.

German-Americans

There are 25,000,000 Germans, or Americans of German descent, living in the United States. If these Germans were more loyal to "The Fatherland" than to Uncle Sam they could cause this country a lot of trouble. But as a matter of fact no class of Americans is more loyal to American traditions and ideals. At no time has Fritz Kuhn been able to claim more than 200,000 American Nazis in his German-American Bund.

These facts are revealed in last week's issue of Life magazine which goes on to say that among the 25,000,000 German-Americans are such familiar figures as Herbert Hoover, William E. Borah, "Babe" Ruth, Gen. Pershing, John D. Rockefeller, Vincent Astor, Clark Gable, Senator Robert Wagner, who was himself born in Germany, and Walter P. Chrysler who makes Plymouth automobiles when the CIO will let him.

Most German-Americans believe as little in Hitlerism as most Americans of French and British descent. They remember the persecutions of a century or two ago which drove them to this country. They remember the compulsory military training and constant warfare under Frederick the Great, or Bismark, which caused their emigration from Germany.

They remember, too, that it was a German publisher, John Peter Zenger, who won the first trial in America involving the freedom of the press, and that like most other Germans came to this country in the first place to escape the very thing so typically exemplified by everything that Hitler does.

"German immigrants," concludes Life, "have shaped the whole culture and character of great, conservative American cities like St. Louis, Cincinnati, and especially Milwaukee. Germans formed the bulk of America's first symphony orchestras, and their Moravian choral society in Bethlehem, Pa., gives one of the nation's most famous music festivals.

"Their abilities in science, technology, industry, banking, farming and scholarship, plus their introduction of such institutions as kindergartens, Christmas trees, hot dogs and beer, have woven great and colorful German strands inextricably into the pattern of America."

Death-Defying Stunts Will Be Seen At Airport

Bob Nolan and his Hollywood Daredevils and Air Aces will invade Sanford Sunday for a performance of many thrilling stunts and exhibitions at the Municipal airport beginning at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The show will be sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Included in the stunts will be death-defying air feats and crashes through walls and other spectacular stunts with autos.

Mr. Nolan, the star of the show, has gained much fame and not a little experience doing stunts before the cameras of Hollywood. His most dangerous assignments for the movies, which he carried off without a hitch, he said, was the jumping of a 60 foot chasm with a car, and from that he has been thrilling audiences in all corners of the globe with his dangerous feats in auto.

In all, the troupe consists of seven men and one woman in addition to the air-circus personnel. Among the stunts to be seen Sunday will be Chuck Peares doing the suicide slide; Bob Nolan doing auto, crane, and slide, human bedazzling man, the ride of flaming death, crashing a solid brick wall and rolling a car over and over at a mile a minute.

THE BEST WAY—With the appointment of a man to fill Justice Butler's place on the United States Supreme Court President Roosevelt will have accomplished his objectives as set forth in the well-known "Supreme Court Bill," but not in the dangerous manner in which he proposed to do it. Mr. Roosevelt has already appointed four members and of course I assume that he knew them to be liberals. Now he will have the appointment of a fifth member which will give him a majority in the Court and at the same time a number of the other four are not strictly conservative but have rendered liberal opinions. You will recall at the time this bill was before Congress that I opposed it, not because I felt that the President was wrong in wanting a liberal Court but because I thought the method used would endanger democracy in this country and that there were other methods which would be safer.

RECIPROCAL TRADE AGREEMENTS—As I recall, the entire Florida delegation voted against the authorization of reciprocal trade agreements because of the fact that while such agreements might have served to benefit some sections of the country, they would certainly damage Florida. At this particular moment it seems that the whole plan may be endangered. The possibility however is that, if right center continues abroad, the United States may have to limit its own production more by strict laws, put artificial floors under sagging prices, content itself with a closed economy. That is why there is a note of desperation these days in the arguments made by Administration officials in favor of reciprocal trade pacts. They foresee the possibility that may be forced on the United States if other nations persist in managing, controlling and restricting their imports, juggling, surpluses, using the power of the state to dump goods abroad. Ahead is a difficult period in which American officials must decide whether to introduce this kind of economy in the United States, as a defense measure, or trust that when war ends other nations will get back to free trade.

THEY ADMIT—The Navy freely admits that 18 destroyers of the new Adamant class, each weighing about 1,600 tons, were found to lack sufficient stability after launching. Sixty to 100 tons had been added to original weight, but armor and the like would not do it.

Mrs. J. M. Edenfield Talks To Music Group

Mrs. J. M. Edenfield of Jacksonville, featured speaker yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Woman's Club Music Department, gave an interesting talk on "Lyric Religion or the Romance of Immortal Firms" before a club house filled to capacity.

The club rooms and stage were decorated with poinsettias and malvaiscus. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. C. R. Dawson and Mrs. C. F. Proctor with the refreshment committee of Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. E. Compton, and Mrs. J. B. Cogburn.

The honor guests were presented white ribbon book marks with music score in red, for the first night was written in red to show height of notes. Printed in gold on the book marks were the words, "Bless Be The Tie That Binds."

A short business meeting was held preceding the talk. Dr. Elizabeth Tracy introduced Mrs. E. D. Brownlee, program chairman, with Mrs. H. H. McCaslin, who in turn introduced Mrs. Edenfield, Mrs. G. Bruce Fudger and Mrs. Richard Skinner, entertainers for the afternoon.

In Mrs. Edenfield's talk, the use of music or hymns in the churches was traced back to the time before Christ. She pointed out that music is a means of expressing profound religious emotions and is therefore valuable to any church. She pointed out that music is a means of expressing profound religious emotions and is therefore valuable to any church. She pointed out that music is a means of expressing profound religious emotions and is therefore valuable to any church.

Mrs. Edenfield also stressed the responsibility of those in charge of music as "the uncountable vehicles of expression" and cited from her many experiences in various churches throughout the country, adding that the people of different creeds may differ in doctrine, in dogma and in their interpretation of the sacraments, but that there is one service in which all may join wholeheartedly, the sacred service of music.

In regard to individual countries, Germany was found to have made the largest number of contributions to the hymn books, namely 10,000 compositions.

In speaking of the interpretations of hymns by music, Mrs. Edenfield stated that there is no surer test of musicianship than hymn playing. She added that many people playing hymns add improvisations of their own which take away the sacred import of the music and detract from the message it is to give.

Mrs. Edenfield expressed the opinion that the greatest hymn of all time is "Oh, God, Our Help In Ages Past."

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served to club members and their guests.

Celery Feds To Tackle Leesburg Tonight In Last Game

Yellow Jackets Favored Over Feds; Coach Sauls' Team Won Last Year 6-0

Sanford To Put Lineup Intact Into Fray As Leesburg Appears In Fine Physical Condition

Coach Leonard L. McLucas sent his Celery Feds through a light but snappy workout yesterday in their last drill for the Leesburg game tonight.

Definitely not satisfied with the manner in which the squad was responding, McLucas cut the drill short and sent the team to the showers after their last practice of the year. After tonight the Sanford squad can hang up its spikes for 1939.

The Feds will go into the game with the Leesburg team favored slightly. Coach Ed Sauls' squad shows considerable improvement after a poor start and can be expected to exert every effort to down the Feds.

Most of the Leesburg players are reported to be in good condition and ready to play. All of

Rollins To Play Stetson Second Contest Of Year

WINTER PARK, Nov. 23.—When the Rollins College Tars face the Stetson Hatters at Tucker Field Friday night in their last Florida appearance of the 1938 season, six leading Tars will be making their final local gridiron stand, two of whom, Paul Bouton, center, and Al Swan, guard, are former Lakeland High School luminaries who have performed brilliantly during their collegiate football careers.

Only the brilliant work of Don Ogilvie, Swan's guard partner, has kept Swan off of the covered first string All-State post.

Bouton, in the opinion of Coach Jack McDowell, is one of the most improved members of the Rollins team. A mediocre tackle his freshman season and sophomore year, Bouton was shifted to center his junior season and became an understudy to All-State Dick Turk that year.

Team 6 Takes Lead In Bowling Tourney By Winning Three Games

Team 6 took the league lead in the bowling tournament sponsored by the Sanford Bowling Club by defeating Team 1 three straight games this past week.

Team 6 has a two game lead with 7 wins and two losses. Team 5 took the lead for high in a single game and high for three games with 1000 for a single game and 2885 total for three games.

Roy Holler moved into first place in individual averages with 177. H. Cobb moved up to second place with an average of 172.1 and C. Uhrig dropped from first to third place with an average of 171.5.

T. Holly rolled a 210 to register a high single game by beating Fred Holly's 234 that he rolled the previous week.

The schedule for this week is as follows:

Monday Team 2 vs. 5
Tuesday Team 3 vs. 6
Wednesday Team 4 vs. 1
Thursday Team 1 vs. 4

Any interested in joining the bowling club may contact one of the captains and an effort will be made to place the new member.

SELECT SELECTIONS

The United States is the only nation that celebrates Thanksgiving Day. And this year it is about the only nation that has much cause to give thanks.

You, sir. While human beings in other parts of the world are worrying about U-boats and air raids, the big worry in the land of the free is what team will make what bowl.

On this Thanksgiving, the original and Mr. Frank's five undefeated elephas will put their records and post season hopes on the line in the 11 big games scheduled.

They are Tennessee, Texas A. and M., U. C. L., Rutgers and San Jose State. All are picked to pull through except Rutgers, which has almost a fifty-fifty chance.

The selections:

Auburn over Florida. Comparative showings in four common games point to a touchdown margin for the Tigers. It is possible that Florida's fighting spirit will nullify that advantage. But indications are that Auburn also will be on edge. Following all the comparisons, etc. we'll say Auburn; by 7 to 0.

Tennessee over Kentucky. The Wildcats are ready and should put up their best fight of the year. So will the powerful Vols, who are smarting under verbal lashings since the comparative poor showing against Vandy. Expecting a thrilling battle, it looks like Tennessee by two touchdowns, maybe three.

Texas A. and M. over Texas. Although no cinch with Jack Crain running around, the great Aggie eleven outclasses Texas on attack and defense. A fairly easy triumph is predicted to end a fine, unblemished season, following which will come a Sugar Bowl invite.

U. C. L. A. over Washington State. Unbeaten but three-ided Bruins by a nice score.

Brown over Rutgers. Pretty even. Brown plays a shade better football, but Rutgers' unlicked

CHALKING 'EM UP

Random Roundups

Coach McDowell of Rollins breaks all kinds of precedent by naming an all-state football team. Rare for a coach to do that. Meet coaches when the light of public proclamation as a bat about the sunshine. But it's a fine squad McDowell has selected. Don't see how another could be named except for a couple of selections in the line. Brad Byrd, the Old Gator scrub, who now is living in Seminole County, broke into Sam Butz' column in the Times-Union yesterday. But was one of the faithful at the Tech game last Saturday. He says that while Tech played a great game and fully deserved to win, that the Gators have nothing to be ashamed of. Miss Dot Fowell played a fine game of badminton the other night and won the city singles title for women. Sanford now has a couple of players fully capable of matching any Orlando has in our estimation. Our opinion for the most dependable players on the Celery Fed squad work-in and work-out: John Angel in the backfield and Jim Riser in the line. Neither have played the flashiest ball nor perhaps the best but both are capable and always do a good job. Hope this weather will let up soon so we can see these three young ladies in action with the Florida Power and Light team. Wonder if Bill Rutledge can manage them as well as his predecessors. Don't forget to follow the Feds tonight to Leesburg. They'll put up a good game in all probability. We'll pick Sanford 7-Leesburg 7. We'll take Florida over Auburn 7 to 6.

Miami Faces Two More Hard Games

CORAL GABLES, Nov. 23.—Having had their last two opponents come to life after indifferent seasons and play their best games of the year, the University of Miami Hurricanes are looking with trepidation toward their next two rivals on the gridiron: North Carolina State which plays here the night of Dec. 1 and the University of Florida which comes to the Orange Bowl a week later. Both are potentially strong elephas which have not performed as yet this year.

Two weeks ago it was the University of Florida which played what Coach Josh Cody termed its outstanding game of the year to trip favored Miami 13-0 and then last week South Carolina, which had done the same thing in 1936 and 1937—caught fire long enough to eke out a 7-6 triumph.

Miami was favored to win both games but the deficits hid fair to find a season which looked as it would be quite successful into a losing one. Miami now has an even break in eight games and will be the underdog in both coming contests.
