Five Runs Are Scored In Sixth To Give Celerymen Victory

Many days have passed since a ball game has been played here such as the one seen on the local diamond Thursday afternoon. There was good and bad pitching mixed in with some solid base hits and sparkling play in the field. The game ended, 9 to 5, with the Tarpons on the short end of the score and Willie Fergus on the pleasing side of victory.

Cecil "Pa" Frisbie and "Rip" Dunbar were the heroes of the day for it was Dunbar who tied the score with his thrilling theft of home, while in the sixth with Dunbar again on base Frisbie knocked the ball so far over Holder's head on right that he was able to score standing up. It was a powerful hit and one of the longest ever seen here.

Frisbie and Crowe were the fielding stars of the game with several good plays to their credit, while "Mutt" Riddle looked the part of a big leaguer behind the bat, the fifth inning he made a beautiful throw to second the catch Burley, who was attempting to steal.

Sanford tallied once in the first when Hoke Beazley singled through, short going to second on a passed ball and scoring on Myers single to center. The count was tied in the fourth when Bailey crossed up the Tarpons' infield by laying down a pretty bunt and beating the ball to first. Dunbar tripled to left when Kirkwood misplayed the ball and Bailey scored. After Frisbie's nifty fiddle had gone out Manager Crowe gave the signal for the theft of home and as Fitzpatrick started to wind up Dunbar acted like an express train, startling the pitcher so badly that he threw high to Adams and Dunbar scored. It was a beautiful piece of strategy.

The sixth was Sanford's big inning the Feds scoring five runs. Dunbar was safe on Burley's error after Bailey was out. Frisbie scored both Dunbar and himself with his long home run to right. Martin then was called to relieve Fitzpatrick. Riddle struck out, but Fergus singled, and went to third as Beazley singled. Beazley stole second. Myers singled to right, scoring Fergus and Beazley. Myers went to second on the throw. Allen walked and stole second and Myers scored as Salvatz fumbled the ball. Crowe ended the rally by another in the eighth when Riddle walked and went to second on Myers bunt, scoring when Allen singled to left.

In the first inning the visitors counted twice when Kirkwood walked, and was advanced by Burke's sacrifice. Holder singled to center to score Kirkwood and went to second on the throw to the plate. Cecil singled to short, Frisbie making a great stop, holding Holder on third. Manush singled to right, and Holder scored.

In the third the visitors counted again when Cecil singled and

PAULINO LOSES TO DELANEY ON A FOUL IN 7TH

Referee Awards Fight To Jack Delaney After Repeated Warning Spanish Puglist

By Davis Walsh.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The rosie ball player, when told to go out and play right field, naturally asked to be directed to the position as he had never been in that particular ball park before and, judging by the vintage of Dunbar allowed to left and right, he was here about 50 years too soon. In this day and age, he could have been a referee of prize fights with nothing to do but wonder where the foul line was.

Of course, such high estate is reserved for only a favored few but in the event that he failed to quite come home on Salvat's double, here Fergus relieved Withrow and retired the side. Their last two runs were given to them by the Celery Feds in the seventh. Salvatz walked, Burley singled to left and Dunbar allowed the ball to get through him and Salvatz continued to third, but as Burley was runner who received the ball in time to make the play on Burley. However, going to second Allen threw to Myrtle two men jockeyed around the base, and finally when Burley touched the sack he was called safe by Umpire Adams. This precipitated an argument in which the entire Sanford ball club took part and the two men on bases were completely forgotten.

Burley went to third, no attempt being made to make a play on either Salvat or Myers. Salvat scored from third under of them. After the argument, Adams singled to center to score Burley. Crowe then made a beautiful one-handed stop of Martin's line drive to end the trouble.

by, the noble profession of newspaper critic no longer attend these functions of the fist for the purpose of commenting on the merits of the contest; he must bend his gaze upon the performers and, when all is suddenly over and the sudden! the pug is being pushed out of there, he must render his verdict as he saw it, if at all.

Pair or foul?

Yes, we have another seething controversy with us as this morning as a result of the Paulino-Delaney match at the Yankee stadium last night. Referee Jimmy Crowley said the fight ended in Delaney's favor on a foul in the seventh round and today a lot of the critics were saying that it didn't. This, by the way, is the only matter of three short weeks since another referee declared that Dempsey won from Sharkey on a knock-out in the seventh round and the critics said that he lost on a foul.

However, it goes as read when he referee say sit, Dempsey won by a knockout, Delaney won on a foul and you can prove it by the record book when it comes out next year. Meantime, it may be possible to forget the incident and turn our attention to something important.

The incident last night, of course, had its element of importance to both Delaney and Paulino and, since the questionable blow scored in the writer's vision, he will venture to state that it was a right punch that bruised Delaney's right eye severely. Paulino had been warned at least twice before about just such a lack of a accuracy but, at that the greatest pain seemed to have been suffered by a referee's sense of decorum.

Otherwise, the matter very well could have been overlooked with little to all and favor toward money and a fairly terrible fight allowed to proceed to an uneventful conclusion. What there was of it was very bad; in fact, the only contest by Mr. Crowley himself.

"Leggo," he began shouting with the opening bell and it was the first word he said before he sent Paulino to his corner. The count around in question was issued for the benefit of Paulino exclusively and, as a benefit, it was a great handicap. Unless the Barque is allowed to get in close for his body attack, he has no more chance with a rat-bonzo. Paulino took a well-earned sneering all the way.

Penny Leonard, sitting with the water, apparently saw no foul and seemed to discredit his own hearing when Crowley gave low punching as his reason. Benjamin and thought that the action was taken because Paulino failed to "break out of the clinch" when ordered. For the boy with the biceps had finally decided to disregard these instructions whenever he had both hands free and, through the last two rounds, persisted in what he called the "old-fashioned punch" on the chin in the sixth round. But it was to referee's chin.

After it was all over, Pete Reilly, manager of Delaney, sprang into action with the latter's pug in his hand. How it got there so quickly possibly never can be explained, now that Harry Houbert is dead. Quite so, Watson; the pug had a dent and one man's evidence is as good as another's as to whether it was an old dent or a new one.

The fight? pardon my glove; it almost slipped my mind. Well, maybe there was one, at that, but I didn't see it. With infighting virtually barred, Delaney stood off, stabbed the basque with his left, and ever and anon crossed his right to the body and head. He won every round well off by himself and son had Paulino bleeding from the eyes and mouth. The latter landed just twice, as far as actual execution was concerned—a hard right to the body and a looping right to the jaw.

That was all. And it was too much.

Tagging All Bases

By International News

Although the Chicago Cubs lead the Pittsburgh Pirates by four and one half games today, the National League pennant race is still very much "in the wood" as the bawls say. Hurlers of the four leading teams yesterday turned in sparkling performances of a world's series brand, indicating that they are in tip-top shape for the hard drive down the stretch.

Charlie Root, Grover Alexander, Vic Aldridge and Virgil Barnes, aces of the pitching staffs of the four contending teams, all twirled low-hit games. Root chatted up his 21st victory in winning a 2 to 0 duel from Adolfo Luque of the Reds. Heathcote's triple with two on won the game for the Cubs.

Home runs featured the Cardinals' 2 to 1 win over the Pirates, in which Alexander and Aldridge each followed only four hits. A homer by Sunny Jim Bottomley with Frisch on base was all Alex needed to win, as sprout Warner's homer was the only casualty suffered.

Dazzy Vance lost his first game of the season to the Giants, 3 to 2 when his support faltered. He yielded only five hits and fanned six batters, bringing his total number of strikeouts for the season to 137. Jackson hit a homer.

The Giants are still three games behind the Cardinals, who trail the Pirates by only one game.

Hugh McQuillan, who has been a total loss to with the Braves, pitched a batted his way to a 5 to 4 victory over the Phillies, with the aid of Greenfield's relief pitching. The Yankees lost to the Red Sox, 3 to 2, when Koenig broke a 2 to 2 tie with a wild pitch in the eleventh. Combs made three hits, Lisencue and Piperno, besides both, were the pitchers.

Howard Ehnke is the shutout victory this season. He blanked the Red Sox, 4 to 0, in the nightcap Slim Harris of Sox whitewashed his former team 2 to 0.

Lefty Miller of Cleveland won a 2 to 1 duel from Alphonse Trammell of the White Sox when Falk lost a fly in the sun in the tenth inning.

Marty McManus, formerly of Browns, willed a wicked win as the Thrax plastered the Browns 6 to 2. Marty's three hits figured in the scoring of four runs.

Brass Tacks

Under the caption of "With No Apologies," the Lakeland Ledger, situated in an environment evidently very similar to our own, gives expression to some thoughts which are entirely wrong while here.

"The directors of the chamber of commerce," says the Ledger, "are making no apologies for curtailing the operations of that organization to fit the finances in hand or in prospect."

That is the situation here. We have been keeping up appearances as long as we were able. We hated to admit that Sanford too was somewhat affected by the boom.

And it is no disgrace to economize. As the Lakeland Ledger infers, we need offer no apologies for it.

No, Sanford is not going to the dogs, far from it. We are just getting down to earth again. It is like going back to work again after a long vacation.

It was with a great deal of interest and amusement that we read a few days ago a story that told of the organization of an Alimony Club in Chicago.

According to the story, the club members are to devote their money and energies to combatting "gold digging" and "profiteering" in divorce courts.

Some of the stories told by the divorce club members are pitiful. They are of the type that would awaken sympathy in the hardest-boiled traffic cop.

We are of the opinion that the campaign of the Alimony Club will get nowhere with great rapidity.

Conducting a newspaper is hard work. Yet there now and then enter into it features which make it amusing.

One of them was from a minister—a Protestant minister—who wanted to express his appreciation of an "excellent editorial which appeared in The Times" of the Saturday before.

The amusing feature of making a newspaper which we have in mind at the moment is the various letters that come in from time to time—from pleased and displeased readers.

One of them was from a minister—a Protestant minister—who wanted to express his appreciation of an "excellent editorial which appeared in The Times" of the Saturday before.

The other was from one whom we take to be not a Christian, for he said after calling us an "Old rock-ribbed cracker" and accusing us of trying to run our religious ideas down somebody.

It is a novel thing for The Times to be accused of pandering to the Christians. One of the stock-in-trade objections to it from certain quarters is that it is the mouthpiece of the other element.

We are frank to say that if "the Christians" like our "pulpit editorials" we are pleased. Counting the worthy and unworthy "Christians," and most of them are worthy, you have a decided majority in Tampa as elsewhere in this country.

SANFORD FORUM

Editor, Sanford Herald: You will undoubtedly recall that I spent the winter of 1920 and 1921, and the winter of 1921 and 1922 with my yachts the "Dawn" and "New Era" at Sanford.

I made a formal report of this trip to the Sanford Chamber of Commerce where you will find I am well known.

I am writing again regarding this matter from the fact that I have heard that the project is again under discussion, and consideration, and that I wish to express my conviction that this is one of the most important developments that can be made in the State of Florida.

In contradistinction to this, Florida is handicapped in relation to rail transportation. Being a long, narrow peninsula she is compelled to develop her land transportation entirely from her own resources.

The results of this is that local Florida rail rates are of necessity higher than other states, and will continue to remain so.

Might I point out further that the richest agricultural land always follows the water course, and is found adjacent thereto.

ALABAMA'S GOOD EXAMPLE LAKELAN LEDGER

For the first time in the history of Alabama two men who kidnaped and flogged a man have been convicted and sentenced to from eight to ten years in prison; and five of their companions, seeing the handwriting on the wall, threw up the sponge, admitted their guilt and hurried themselves on the mercy of the court, being fined $500 each and sentenced to six months in jail—also for the first time in the history of Alabama.

The courts have at last put the fear of the law into the hearts of men who have been guilty of outrageous violation of the law and of the very foundation principles of American liberty and principle. Scores of persons, men and women, white and black, have been brutally beaten by self-appointed guardians of society, and not one has ever before been called to account for his deed.

The City Manager declared the cutting knife had been wielded with the utmost consideration of circumstances and that the reduction represented a substantial limit of expense slashing unless efficiency of the various departments is impaired. PRINCE IS JUST ONE OF THE BOYS AT HIS "RAWNCH" kept on slinging gravel into the ranch cart, while explanations, protests, suggestions and requests were being hurled hither and yon between the correspondent and the Prince's staff. As the explanations proceeded the royal ranchers ceased shovelling and sat down on the ground to wipe away the perspiration and await developments.

Within the ranch clearing all was at peace. Gravel shovelling and haying had occupied the Prince's attention all morning. The keynote of speed provided by the last two weeks of travel and functions had disappeared. The Prince of Wales said today that the difference between a "rawnch" and a "ranch" is that the latter pays, and a "rawnch" without the old country accent. Since he drove in the E. P. front gate, the heir to the British throne hasn't done a thing but work -- and "razz his kid brother," as one of the cowboys from the bar U. next door, put it.

The outside world has been banned since the prince came home. Cowboys and farmhands from the adjoining ranches, are welcome, but the effete man and his lady are not wanted at the E. P. last night there was a blowout around the bunkhouse and the ranch home for the riders from the E. P. and the bar U. It lasted until it was almost time to go to work again—but it was a cowboy party and nobody else. The only guest from the outside has been Senator Dan Riley of high river, an old timer, who came to the foothills when there was nothing there but the hills and the open range.

S. O. Russell and family of Sarasota stopped in Sanford on Friday enroute to Florence, S. C., where they went to attend the funeral of Mrs. S. O. Russell's brother W. W. Register, who died there Friday from a broken neck after diving in a shallow swimming pool. While in Sanford they were the guests of T. W. Russell and O. G. Russell.

REDS' FRIENDS WORRIED OVER THEIR HEALTH

Webster Thayer's denial of a new trial and of supreme court Judge George A. Sanderson's denial of a writ of error, both motions centered around the alleged "prejudice and contempt" of Judge Thayer. Failure in the state court would mean another appeal to the United States court, although two previous attempts by that avenue of the United States district court failed, Judge George W. Anderson and Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States Supreme Court having denied applications for writs of habeas corpus on the grounds that they could not interfere with the state court. Sacco and Vanzetti sympathizers appeared in two camps today. From the old headquarters down on Hanover Street in the north end came an appeal to sympathizers to again march to Boston in protest against the execution and to come at least before Aug. 22nd. Plans were also announced for a mass meeting on Boston Common tomorrow in spite of the fact that last Sunday's meeting there was broken up by police. Another wing of Sacco and Vanzetti sympathizers opened headquarters on Beacon Hill in a hotel and centered their efforts in petitions for an extension of the present respite or commutation to life imprisonment. Governor Fuller, still under guard was pursued by sickness in his family. His ten-year-old son Alvin Jr., was discharged from a Boston hospital after an operation for appendicitis. The lad had just arrived at the Rye Beach, new Hampshire summer home of the chief executive, when his two sisters, Lydia and Mary, became sick. Doctors stated that their tonics must be removed on Monday. Defense lawyers, it was learned today, have discovered a new eye witness to the South Braintree shooting and were said to have interviewed the man in Framingham.

Yacht Owners Urge Canal Construction

Inland Waterways Of Major Importance

You will undoubtedly recall that I spent the winters of 1920 and 1921, and the winter of 1921 and 1922 with my yachts the "Dawn" and "New Era" at Sanford, and that in the winter of 1921 and 1922 I organized a party and made a trip up the St. Johns River and across the divide to Titusville to investigate the possibility and practicability of a canal to connect the St. Johns River with the Indian River.

I made a formal report of this trip to the Sanford Chamber of Commerce where you find I am well known. I am writing again regarding this matter from the fact that I have heard that the project is again under discussion, and consideration, and that I wish to express my conviction that this is one of the most important developments that can be made in the State of Florida.

For an intensive agricultural development Florida is the most favorably located of our great commonwealth. In contradistinction to this, Florida is handicapped in relation to rail transportation. Being a long, narrow peninsula she is compelled to develop her land transportation entirely from her own resources, that is, she cannot have the aid of the so-called transcontinental lines.

The result of this is that local Florida rail rates are of necessity higher than other states, and will continue to remain so. For this reason which is fundamental and uncontrollable, it is absolutely necessary for Florida to develop interior water transportation to the greatest degree possible, and for this development Florida is more advantageously situated geographically than any other state in the Union.

Might I point out further that the richest agricultural land always follows the water course, and is found adjacent thereto. When we look over the world for comparisons of intensive and successful development, what do we find?

The most prosperous country in Europe over a long period of years is Holland, and when we make an intensive and careful study to discover the reason of this, what do we find? Eighty-five percent of the transportation, both export and import, of the Netherlands is handled on her interior waterways with the result that Holland exports more agricultural value per acre than any country in the world.

To make another comparison, the British Isles have as their principal sea-port Liverpool, and their principal manufacturing city, Manchester only thirty four miles away.

By the expenditure of $80,000,000.00 a waterway or ship canal was opened up to Manchester. The maximum possibility from this waterway was to save the difference in water and land transportation for a distance of sixty eight miles. After many years, what is the final result? It is embodied in this statement—that England finds that $80,000,000.00 invested in this waterway as one of the most profitable in the history of her development.

Florida has many fine harbors, but to develop them and to make them of service in the worlds' commerce they must have adequate transportation connection to the interior of the state, and this connection must be such as to gather and distribute interior and exterior articles of commerce at the lowest possible cost.

The development of rivers and canals with adequate facilities is the first essential in the economic progress and development of the state of Florida.

Visitors and tourists may bring money and enjoy your climate, but the wealth of a state must come from her soil.

Yours sincerely,
WILLIAM T. DONNELLY.
