Lake Mary Woods will get its sewer system

LAKE MARY ---More than 100 residents of Lake Mary Woods went home happy July 21 when the city commission lowered household assessments for a new sewer system by about 50 percent.

"Thank you very, very much," said Meryem Stanek, president of the Lake Marv Woods Homeowners Association.

Staff provided five options to the commission that assessed how much residents would pay for the $3.27 million sewer and reclaimed water project.

City shelves offender ordinance

SANFORD - What started out as a possible city ordinance restricting where certain sex offenders can live, will soon branch out to a countywide ordinance that also restricts where they can go.

Monday afternoon, Sanford City Commissioners listened to a presentation from Seminole County Sheriff's Office Chief Deputy Steve Harriett.

County measure reflects state law and is therefore more defensible

The original ordinance in the city of Sanford was postponed following the first reading after word from Police Chief Brian Tooley that the county was looking at a similar ordinance.

The city of Oviedo passed an ordinance last month that restricts where sex offenders can live, and Sanford almost passed a similar ordinance that would have restricted sex offenders, whose crimes were against children under the age of 16 from living within 2,500 feet of locations where children congregate (schools, parks, daycares, playgrounds, churches and libraries).

The countywide ordinance present- See Offender, Page 3A

ed by Harriett on Monday kept a residency restriction, but scaled it back to 1,000 feet from where children congregate, to mirror it with the state law.

One commissioner had concerns about the distance, and asked why it could not be 2,500 feet restrictions.

"There's no place to live in Sanford," Harriett told the commissioners.

Staff recommended the middle option that would have cost each household $1,047.83 annually over 10 years.

Residents argued that the septic systems shouldn't have been approved in the first place when the subdivision was founded. Even though the current commissioners were not in charge back then, residents still wanted some relief from years of overflowing septic tanks that leak sewage into yards, sidewalks and streets because of the low ground level.

'Our position is that the city erred when it approved homes in Lake Mary Woods," Rosalyn Curenton told the commission.

"I feel that these folks have an impact above and beyond the project," Greene said. After a break, he suggested an assessment of $5,243.90. The commission approved the amount by a vote of 4-

SANFORD — Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings and her Cross Creek neighbor Dessie Smith motored their jon boat into Sanford on a Sunday morning sometime in the 1930s.

They had put in at Puzzle Lake days before, and now had reached the southem-most point for large river vessels. The two women just wanted to get away from their daily struggles, much to the chagrin of men who balked at two women traveling alone on the St. Johns.

In her 1942 non-fiction book, "Cross Creek," Rawlings dedicates a whole chapter to the river journey.

Now, nearly 70 years later, a pair of contemporary Florida women plan to retrace the trip for a PBS documentary to be produced by Sanford resident Bill Belleville and his filmmaking partner Bob Giguere.

"What I write about is nature and how nature influences a sense of place," Belleville said in his Sanford home where he also keeps an office. He has produced six documentaries and written numerous articles and books, much of which discusses people's links with the natural systems.

"It's important for folks to be aware should how they are influenced by geography." and Belleville formed Equinox Documentaries and their new project is titled, "In Marjorie's Wake." They are in the process of finding funding and hope to video the journey in the spring. They have collected about $80,000 of the $130,000 budgeted of these places and for the film.

"We're pretty far along," he said. "We've even done some filming."

Leslie Poole, a Rawlings devotee, a writer and an environmental studies professor at Rollins College will recreate the journey with Jennifer Chase of Jacksonville. Chase is an educator, musician and playwright.

A Miami PBS station has agreed to present the documentary for national distribution.

"Hopefully people will get a sense of their own lives and how that fits into this larger place called Florida,"

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Hazy Days of Summer

YMCA staff members honored

Seminole County Government Emergency Management Services and the American Heart Association honored Central Florida YMCA employees Wendy Highland and Madelene Aponte with a Life Saver Award on Thursday, July 21, for their effort in saving the life of a member of the J. Douglas Williams YMCA Family Center on June 15.

"This Association prides itself on being safe," said Jim Ferber, president and CEO. "We take the necessary steps to ensure that our employees will have the training and knowledge to handle these kinds of situations, and our members feel confident that our staff is readily able to respond, should a situation arise."

Martha Greenlee, 23, suffered a seizure and subsequent heart failure while working out on the treadmill at the YMCA Family Center. After seeing that the victim was not breathing, Highland and Aponte began to administer CPR and use an Automated External Defibrillator (AED), a small portable device used to send an electronic shock through the chest wall to the heart and restore heart rhythm to normal levels. Greenlee was breathing when paramedics arrived.

"I was surprise," said Highland. "When you go to trainings, the dummies are so cooperative. She was sweaty and it was a lot harder than I ever thought it would be. If I didn't have the training, I wouldn't have been prepared."

The Central Florida YMCA realizes the importance of training in CPR and AED techniques. All YMCA staff members, from accounting executives to lifeguards, are trained in these techniques in care of emergencies such as this.

The hazy days of summer could be enhanced by the arrival of a desert storm from the Sahara. This dust storm is arriving this week and should make the sunrise and sunsets more vivid and colorful as the rays are filtered through the dust, which could also appear as a reddish dust on vehicles. The sand is lifted from the Sahara and is carried across the Atlantic by recent tropical waves.

Central Florida Freedom School's 2005 Summer Program is history.

A five-week program of commitment, involvement and increased awareness of helping our children share in the true meaning of the words The Children's Defense Fund Freedom School theme for 2005 -"I can and Must Make a Difference! In my Self in my Family, in my Community, in my Country, in my world". Central Florida Freedom

School in Sanford was held June 20 to July 22 at the site of Tajari Arts School of Performing Arts and Academics.

Another success story for over 50 children who had the opportunity of a direct service model of the Black Community Crusade for Children (BCCC) coordinated nationally by CCDF, the BCCC is a massive effort to mobilize the African American Commu8nity on behalf of black children and families. The BCCC's mission is to ensure that no child is left behind and that every child has a healthy start, a head start, a fair start, a safe start and a moral start in life.

Children are exposed to young, tangible community role models who work with the children daily, and they also benefit from programs that include parental involvement, which is instrumental in helping children reach their full potential.

The Central Florida Freedom School presented its grand finale celebration Thursday evening, July 21, at the Salvation Army facility.

Mistress of ceremonies for the evening was Dr. Mia Coleman, Seminole County educator. Premusic was rendered by Jeremy George, Level III servant leader, a sophomore at FAMU. Words of welcome were extended by Cynthia K. Oliver, community leader.

The CFFS Parents presented a play written by parent Sheryl Boykin entitled "Key to Success". Included were Sheryl Snell, Rosa Cobin, Kim Davis, Carolyn Cohen, Sheryl Moore, Chantel Baker, Chenita Reynolds, Marvette Christopher, Joyce McKnight and Annette McKinnon.

Jones said.

Harriett also said that when they started drawing circumferences on a map there was no real difference in 2,500 feet and 1,000 feet, and the 1,000 feet is less arbitrary and more defensible.

"Twenty-five hundred feet is good with me. Don't misunderstand me. We just think it's more defensible," Harriett said.

He said that they want to make the ordinance as strong, up front, as they can so that it can be a tool for law enforcement and the community.

In that tool belt, aside from living restrictions, certain sex offenders will not be allowed to frequent places where children congregate either. In the proposed ordinance, law enforcement officers would be able to question any suspicious person found near places like parks, daycares, libraries, and schools. This will not prevent sex offenders from doing legitimate business at these locations, such as attending church service or a school play of a family member.

'It's another tool in our tool belt." Harriett said.

District 2 Commissioner Velma Williams, again related the possible ordinance to a hypothetical situation. She asked that if she lived next door to a school and one of her sons was a sex offender, would they need permission for him to come and visit. The answer is no, because her sons would have legitimate reasons for being there, Harriett said.

"The commission doesn't like the banner," Mayor Linda Kuhn said. "That is not the image we want for the banner."

"It makes a lot more sense now," Commissioner Williams said of the proposed law. "Regarding where sex offenders can go."

Harriett said that there is a 40 percent chance of sex offenders to end up back in the system from crimes varying to misdemeanors to other sex offenses. He also said that the Sheriff's office has some offenders in the system, who would most likely not be part of the 40 percent recidivism rate to reoffend, which was why they needed to make sure they were not stepping on any constitutional rights and that they had some place to live in the county.

District 1 Commissioner Art Woodruff asked Harriett what the turnover was for this proposed ordinance.

"We don't have anybody affected by this," Harriett said. This is in part because all of the affected and registered sex offenders in Sanford are already in compliance with the 1,000-foot buffer.

Woodruff said that the 2.500foot buffer didn't make sense to him, and he was curious why they would institute the ordinance if it didn't affect the 70some registered sex offenders in Sanford.

"But, it would look good in the newspapers, wouldn't it?" Woodruff asked.

Police Chief Tooley responded, "This is more of an ordinance for the future."

The Chief said that the part of the ordinance restricting where offenders can travel is for right now.

Chief Harriett also discussed how the Sheriff's office would be able to track the sex offenders who are under supervision with electronic monitoring bracelets. This would be another tool that would come into play when the Jessica Lunsford Act goes into effect.

Law enforcement officers would be notified if a sex offender stepped out of their "bubble".

Harriett told commissioners that this ordinance as a whole was a unanimous decision made by local law enforcement.

Harriett also explained that the County was hoping to have this ordinance used as a template that each individual city sign, so that each city police group can enforce it in their own city.

But, they have not ruled out making it a county ordinance, instead.

The Seminole County Commissioners were scheduled to discuss this ordinance at their meeting Tuesday night, as The Herald was going to press.

According to Miller, putting strict criteria on candidates helped narrow down the field of applicants.

He also said in last week's Friday letter that he had to twist some arms to obtain applicants. "Some persons are happy where they are and it took some serious marketing of the future of Sanford to obtain favorable responses," Miller said.

The next step in the process will be a review and investigation into the candidates.

"That depends on what you are coming for," he replied. His crew helped the two women purchase some gas for their motor.

They continued up the river back to Cross Creek. The journey took about 10 days. Rawlings writes at the end of the chapter: "Because I had known intimately a river, the earth pulsed under me."

The Pulitzer-prize winning author of "The Yearling" had a better appreciation for her place in Cross Creek. She described Cross Creek as her "rightful place on earth."

The Creek satisfies a thing that had gone hungry and unfed since childhood," she wrote, deciding finally: "I do not understand how a person can live without a place of enchantment to turn to."

Through this project, maybe folks who see it will have a better sense of their own place of enchantment.

Safehouse facility will protect victims

By Steve Paradis Herald Staff

SANFORD — The groundbreaking for the new emergency and transitional housing for Safehouse of Seminole was good news for the county's domestic abuse victims, but also served as a sad commentary the society.

Jeanne Gold, executive director of Safehouse of Seminole, moderated a 30minute groundbreaking ceremony at noon Tuesday in front of the Seminole County Services Building. The location of the new 15,000 square foot facility for domestic abuse victims was kept secret, but dirt from the the event.

Carlton Henley, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, said he had added.

Henley cited statistics, including that 2,285 domestic violence crimes were reported in Seminole County in 2004. The county was second in the state in domestic violence deaths with 14 last year. Only Miami-Dade County had more domestic violence murders with 26. Gold accepted a check for more than $2 million from Seminole County as well as checks from Central Florida Regional Hospital and SERCO.

Former Safehouse resident Patricia Mordecai also addressed those gathered at the event.

"I represent those who property was brought in for have survived domestic abuse," Mordecai said. She is now a career counselor in Lake Mary, but not long ago her life was much different.

Please remember that you are not alone."

Safehouse shelters victims and their children, Gold said. During their stay, residents receive food, clothing, safe shelter, safety planning sessions, individual crisis counseling support groups and case management.

Residents can also receive referrals to community resources, child assessments, children's healing programs and personal advocacy.

The shelter provides a 24hour crisis hotline, which is tied to law enforcement 911 response.

The hotline number is 407-330-3933.

Dirt from the secret location of the new facility was brought in for the ceremony.

From Staff Reports

The 2005 regular season for the Florida Collegiate Summer League wrapped up last week in spectacular fashion.

Playoff seeds were up in the air through the very last game of the weekend and have now been awarded.

The Winter Park Diamond Dawgs claimed the top seed, with a three game sweep of Winter Haven to secure their spot.

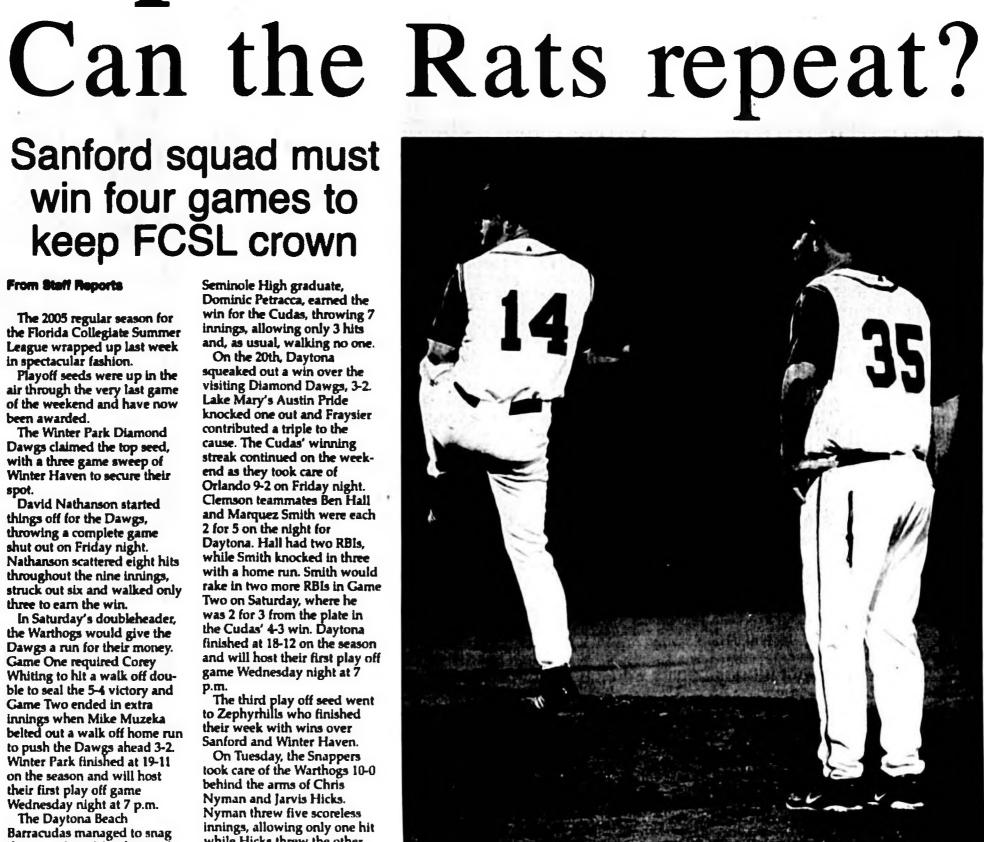

David Nathanson started things off for the Dawgs, throwing a complete game shut out on Friday night. Nathanson scattered eight hits throughout the nine innings, struck out six and walked only three to earn the win.

In Saturday's doubleheader, the Warthogs would give the Dawgs a run for their money. Game One required Corey Whiting to hit a walk off double to seal the 5-4 victory and Game Two ended in extra innings when Mike Muzeka belted out a walk off home run to push the Dawgs ahead 3-2. Winter Park finished at 19-11 on the season and will host their first play off game Wednesday night at 7 p.m.

The Daytona Beach Barracudas managed to snag Seminole High graduate, Dominic Petracca, earned the win for the Cudas, throwing 7 innings, allowing only 3 hits and, as usual, walking no one.

On the 20th, Daytona squeaked out a win over the visiting Diamond Dawgs, 3-2. Lake Mary's Austin Pride knocked one out and Fraysier contributed a triple to the cause. The Cudas' winning streak continued on the weekend as they took care of Orlando 9-2 on Friday night. Clemson teammates Ben Hall and Marquez Smith were each 2 for 5 on the night for Daytona. Hall had two RBIs, while Smith knocked in three with a home run. Smith would rake in two more RBIs in Game Two on Saturday, where he was 2 for 3 from the plate in the Cudas' 4-3 win. Daytona finished at 18-12 on the season and will host their first play off game Wednesday night at 7 p.m.

The third play off seed went to Zephyrhills who finished their week with wins over Sanford and Winter Haven. On Tuesday, the Snappers took care of the Warthogs 10-0 behind the arms of Chris Nyman and Jarvis Hicks. Nyman threw five scoreless innings, allowing only one hit while Hicks threw the four, again allowing the Warthogs only one hit. Kevin Gaston, Lee Cruz, Corey Brown, and Adam Younger all had two RBIs in this offensive display.

Goodyear Challenge Late Model 100 scheduled for New Smyrna

Special to the Herald

This Saturday, July 30th, New Smyrna Speedway proudly showcases the Goodyear Challenge Late Model 100 with the "best of the best" Late Model drivers in the state.

This race will have plenty of action for these drivers since they have seen two consecutive races rained out on their schedule.

Points are very tight in the Top 10 of the Goodyear Challenge and this race is definitely important to those 10.

Jerry Artuso leads the Goodyear Challenge with 345 points followed by Sam Watts with 302. Watts is the top ranking rookie thus far this year and recently got two consecutive wins at New Smyrna Speedway in the Late Model division. Bill Ostriker is third in points but A.J. Curreli is not giving him much room for mistakes as he is only two points behind Ostriker in fourth.

Curreli has very little room either to make a mistake with Joe Winchell on his heels. Winchell is only three points behind Curreli. But then Winchell has Greg Kaouk only six points behind him in sixth.

Rich Clouser stands seventh and only ten points behind Winchell with Chuck Burkhalter in eights and only one points behind Clouser. This makes it for a very exciting race. Charles Kopach and rookie Frank Welch round out the Top 10.

These guys put on a very good show and fans will be more than happy with their efforts.

Along with the Goodyear Challenge Late Model 100 will be the Pro Trucks, Quick Kids, Modifieds, Sportsman and Super Stock. Plenty of action for the avid race fan on a Saturday night.

Grandstands will open at 6 p.m. with general admission $15, students and seniors $10, children 11 and under FREE. Qualifying for the Goodyear Challenge Late Model 100 will be at 6:30 p.m.

New Smyrna Speedway is located between SR 44 and SR 415 between I-4 and I-95 eight miles west of New Smyrna Beach in beautiful Samsula.

In the weekend series against visiting Sanford, the Snappers held on to the Friday night game, winning 8-4 despite two River Rats' home runs (Courtney Propst and Jon Lozada). Paul Cruz was 2 for 4 at the plate for Zephyrhills with 3 RBIs and Lee Cruz added 3 RBIs of his own with a home run.

On Saturday, Lee Cruz again proved why he was this year's recipient of the League's Most Valuable Player Award. Teammate Timmy Russell was 3 for 3 against the Cudas, scoring three runs and batting in another.

The playoffs began on Tuesday with "play-in" games with the No. 6 seed Orlando playing at the No. 3 seed Zephyrhills and the No. 5 seed Winter Haven playing at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium against the No. 4 seed Sanford.

The winners of Tuesday's games advance to the double elimination tournament on Wednesday. On Wednesday, Winter Park seed will host the lower seeded team remaining and Daytona Beach will host the higher seeded team still alive.

The tournament moves to Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium on Thursday with the Loser's of Wednesday's games playing at 5 p.m. and the win-ner's from Thursday playing at 8 p.m.

The winner of Thursday's 8 p.m. game will automatically advance to Sunday's Championship Game, while the winner of the 5 p.m. game and the loser of the 8 p.m. game will meet in an elimination game on Friday in Sanford at 7 p.m.

The final two teams will meet in the FCSL Championship Game on Sunday at 5 p.m. at Tropicana Field in St. Petersburg.

The game will follow the Major League game between the Devil Rays and Kansas City Royals.
