Victim-Witness again praised

SANFORD — Honors continue to be bestowed on Seminole-Brevard County State Attorney Norm Wolfinger's Victim-Witness Service Program.

Tuesday, Gov. Lawton Chiles and the state Cabinet approved a resolution recognizing the program begun by Wolfinger shortly after he took office. The program strives to place a higher focus on victims of crime, instead of concentrating solely on perpetrators.

The resolution, in part, states the governor and Cabinet "recognize and commend" staff of the program "for their dedication and leadership in serving victims and witnesses of crime."

The program has a staff of eight in Wolfinger's Sanford office and a total of 27 employees throughout Wolfinger's four offices. An additional 26 volunteers currently participate in the program. The program contacts each crime victim and offers counseling and other support services. The program also offers similar support to crime witnesses.

Beth Roseman-Otto is the program's director. Linda Kuhn is the Sanford office coordinator.

Last month, the program was recognized nationally by the Public Employees Roundtable by receiving the 1992 State Public Service Excellence Award. The trade association, which represents organizations having a total of 950,000 members, selected the program from state and regional programs throughout the country.

Radioactive contamination

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — A nuclear-armed B-36 bomber crashed near Albuquerque in 1956, a government report has disclosed. The report suggests the crash site may be contaminated with radioactivity.

The study suggests plutonium, enriched uranium or tritium might be present at the crash site near Kirtland Air Force Base, but doesn't say how much, the Albuquerque Journal reported today.

Schools lack millions

Officials begin ax sharpening today

By VICKI B. BOWMAN

SANFORD — The Seminole County school district today begins figuring out how to cut $11,964,451 to meet the expected revenue shortfall from the state.

The district expects to have $190,342,603 to spend during the 1992-93 fiscal year; at the same time, their estimated expenditures amount to $202,307,054, according to budget documents released on Wednesday.

"That's a big difference," said John Pavelchak, director of the school district's finance department. "The amount of money we are getting from the state is much less per weighted FTE."

Students are assigned a weighted value (Weighted FTE) based on the amount it should cost to educate them. Special education and high risk students, for example, cost more to educate and are, thus, assigned a higher weight.

Last year, Pavelchak reported, the district received $3,067.68 per Weighted FTE. Gov. Lawton Chiles, who is wielding a veto-ax over the Legislature's proposed budget — including money for education — calls for the state to spend only $2,924.64 per weighted FTE.

"With about $143 less per student to spend," Pavelchak said, "We're having to take a hard look at the budget."

Scared little girl rescued by Sanford parks worker

By NICK PFEIFFER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Eric Luce's mother is proud of him. She considers him a hero for helping a little girl.

Eric considers it as "just something that needed to be done at the time."

According to Sally Luce, her son Eric, 22, an employee of the Sanford Parks and Recreation Department, was driving from one job site to another several days ago, when he heard a young girl screaming and crying for help. A large dog was near her, playfully barking and pouncing at her, although not apparently causing any serious threat.

Mrs. Luce said, "He stopped his truck and chased the dog away, then tried to assure the girl that the dog was not going to harm her." She added, "He suggested she sit on the porch of a friend to wait for the school bus."

Luce commented, "I'm relatively sure the dog didn't mean her any harm, but it had her frightened." He said the incident happened last Friday morning near the intersection of 2nd Street and Holly Avenue.

He commented that he had never done anything like that, "but it was the first time I thought I was looking at a problem that I could help remedy," he said, "so I did what I think anyone would."

Luce has been employed by the Parks Department in the Grounds Maintenance Division since August, 1989. His father, Douglas Luce, is a Lieutenant with the See Rescue, Page 4A

Students' courtesy busing cut

By VICKI B. BOWMAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Students across Seminole County who are the beneficiaries of the courtesy busing services will be coming home with a letter on Friday afternoon that transportation chief Jerry Klein thinks parents will want to read.

"We are facing a $616,000 budgetary shortfall this year," Klein said yesterday.

The letter explains that due to necessary budget cutbacks throughout the district, courtesy busing will probably need to be discontinued in many areas after this academic year ends.

Courtesy busing is provided to about 5,000 students in Seminole County who would not normally be eligible for such a service, but who are given special dispensation to ride the bus because walking would mean traversing dangerous or heavily traveled areas.

The district is reimbursed for some of the cost of transporting students who live more than two miles from their zoned school. Those who are bused despite living closer to the school do not generate any income for the district.

Proposed impact fee aids schools

By J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — The Seminole County commission will consider the adoption of the county's first residential construction impact fee for schools in July.

Wednesday, commissioners unanimously agreed to move ahead with the adoption of the countywide fee, sought by school board members to round out a $166 million construction program during the next five years. If approved, the fee will be imposed in October. The fee is expected to generate about $44.4 million during the next five years.

About 75 percent of the money for the school construction program will come from state appropriations and the 2-mil school construction tax. School board officials decided to supplement state

Home builders balk at pledge

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida has reneged on a commitment to contribute supplies and materials for Seminole County "one-stop permitting" center in the County Services Building.

The county had hoped to save $12,000 to $15,000 from the $64,000 cost of the renovations — money it will now have to spend. Work is expected to begin in about a week.

"We've got enough money for it," said County Manager Ron Rabun. "It would've been a little extra gravy to have the HBA supplies."

At a Feb. 11 county work session, Beth McGee, regulatory affairs specialist for the HBA, committed to providing electrical supplies for the permitting office, to be located in the former county commission chambers. The room was to be subdivided into several sections to house staff to perform the various permit review functions.

Rabun said the pledge came as a last-minute offer, so the county still appropriated enough money to pay for all the materials.

But County Building Official David Beitz said McGee told him Monday that the HBA will be unable to honor the commitment.

McGee said this morning an HBA subcommittee believed in January they could obtain the materials, but subsequently found they could not. McGee said much of the materials were to be obtained from suppliers, but the contractors on the subcommittee were unable to obtain the materials from them.

"I think they're still out there beating the bushes though," McGee said.

The permitting office has been sought by the HBA for several years.

Between 1987 and 1990, the county accumulated $250,000 in permit fee collections above expenses of operating the county development review fund. The HBA labeled the money "excess fees" and successfully lobbied commissioners to have the money allocated towards the permitting office renovations. County officials had sought to have the money placed in a reserve fund in case of a slowdown in construction.

The construction was delayed when estimates for the work surpassed $300,000.

When the construction slowdown soon followed by mid-1990, commissioners used the renovation fund to offset operations of the Building Department and other development review offices. But at the time, commissioners assured HBA officials they would restore financing for the project during the upcoming fiscal year. Ten employees were laid off later that year when the downturn continued.

Formation of the commission was recommended by Pauline Stevens, a Lake Mary resident who serves as a member of Florida's Silver Hair Legislature, and is chairman of the Emeritus Advisory Coalition.

'Missing' woman found

GAINESVILLE — A missing 22-year-old Gainesville woman, apparently upset over personal problems, has been found in Tennessee, authorities said.

Kelly Denise Page "left on her own free will," Spencer Mann, a spokesman for the Alachua County Sheriff's Office said Wednesday. "She had some personal problems in her life and she felt she had to get away."

Word on Tuesday that Mrs. Page had disappeared reignited fears in this university city where a 21-year-old student was found slain last month and seven others have been murdered over the past two years.

Mrs. Page's husband, Dan, reported her and her car missing Tuesday afternoon. Their townhouse apartment was in disarray and the door was left open.

Senate tries again to agree

TALLAHASSEE — State senators today confronted a last-ditch effort at compromise on legislative redistricting maps, which has eluded them for weeks as state and federal courts prepare to take over.

The 40-member Senate, meeting off and on for some 14 hours Wednesday, finally cobbled together a draft of the new district boundaries that stood some chance of passage instead of hitting another 20-20 deadlock.

"The first sincere, good-faith effort was made this afternoon," said Sen. Malcolm Beard, R-Seffner, on Wednesday.

The latest proposal, which the Senate was scheduled to consider today, would appear to keep Democrats in the majority, giving them 27 seats.

Now, Democrats hold an effective 21-19 advantage, but eight Republicans are elected from Democratic-majority districts.

Chiles signs joint venture bill

By JACKIE HALLIFAX
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Florida will reduce the number of unnecessary medical procedures and hold down health care costs with a ban on physicians making referrals to centers they have invested in, Gov. Lawton Chiles said.

Although many doctors are ethical, joint ventures still "offer a unique opportunity for abuse," the governor said Wednesday as he signed the ban into law.

"A healthy bottom line is not the final measure of a good doctor," he said.

The new law is based on a state-ordered study that found tests and procedures were more expensive and numerous in certain medical centers owned by doctors.

A study paid for by the bill's supporters later estimated the excess charges from such joint ventures amount to $500 million each year statewide, a figure one of the authors of the state study said was probably on target.

The legislation bans self-referrals in physical therapy centers; clinical laboratories; diagnostic imaging centers, which is where X-rays and CAT scans are done; and radiation therapy centers, where cancer patients are treated.

The bill goes further than laws in any other state, according to Dr. James Todd, chief executive officer of the American Medical Association.

"I think Florida is on the cutting edge," Todd said from Chicago. "We've been watching this... very closely."

The legislation (CS-SB 2284) was one of the most widely debated of the 1992 session, with more than one lawmaker remarking on the unusually intense lobbying behind the scenes as testimony dragged on in packed committee rooms.

The Florida Medical Association opposed the bill; business groups such as Associated Industries of Florida and the Florida Chamber of Commerce supported it.

Under the new law, doctors have until October 1995 to divest. After that, a violation of the law could be punishable by a $100,000 general fine or a $15,000 fine for each single referral.

Rep. Charlie Roberts, who sponsored the House bill, said his office has gotten calls from lawmakers and officials in half a dozen states wanting a copy of Florida's law.

Panel drops income tax

By BILL BERGSTROM
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — A tax review panel said it won't ask Floridians to erase a ban on a personal income tax from the state Constitution.

"I just don't think we should beat a dead horse, we should try to sugar coat it, we should try to cram it down people's throat — it's not going to work," state Tax & Budget Reform Commission member Steven Uhlfelder said Wednesday.

Some members complained that the panel authorized by voters in 1988 to look at Florida's revenue options was wasting a unique opportunity.

"Are we going to do the same thing we've criticized the Legislature for doing, which is avoid the tough issues on taxation because they're not politically popular to do?" said member Allan Katz of Tallahassee. "I think for us not to put it before the people is irresponsible."

"We rely on the sales tax which is regressive," said member Martha Barnett of Tallahassee. "I believe a state personal income tax has merit."

At least the question was debated, said Rep. Art Simon, D-Miami, who had proposed forming the commission and joined the audience as it began voting on constitutional proposals.

"The Senate is now meeting, unable to reach a decision on a reapportionment plan, and debating issues of whether to have even or odd numbered districts," Simon said.

TaxWatch: Consider raising property taxes

By JACKIE HALLIFAX
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Voter-approved property taxes could be the way to get schools more money, Florida TaxWatch said.

But Education Commissioner Betty Castor and a school board lobbyist don't think much of the idea.

"Funding of schools really should be primarily a state function," Castor said Wednesday after TaxWatch, a non-profit, business-backed government watchdog center, announced its idea.

Property taxes are levied by local governments. Under Florida's school funding formula, state taxes, primarily the 6-cent sales tax, pay for about 70 percent of the cost of running Florida's schools. Local property taxes pay about 30 percent.

State lawmakers plan to return to the Capitol next month for a special session to write a budget for the fiscal year that starts in July. Gov. Lawton Chiles vetoed the plan they came up with this spring, which would have cut public education funding by almost $100 per student statewide.

TaxWatch officials on Wednesday suggested that school districts that think they need more money turn to their constitutional authority to ask voters to approve more taxes for a two-year period.

"The bottom line is... let the people decide," said Neil Crispo, director of research and operations at TaxWatch.

Club discrimination legislation to become a Florida law July 1

By BRENT KALLESTAD
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — A civil rights bill that toughens penalties for discrimination and requires some private clubs to open doors to minorities will become law July 1 in Florida.

The legislation, signed Wednesday by Gov. Lawton Chiles, provides unlimited compensatory damages to victims of discrimination and punitive damages up to $100,000. It extends the statute of limitations to one year for victims to file claims, doubling the previous limit of 180 days.

"This law is one of the surest forms of defense we have against the prejudice and hatred that tear the seams of our unity," Chiles said. "We all know that it's not our neighbors' skin color, sex, national origin, marital status or any other special consideration that's important. It's how they use what they have to make a difference."

Chiles last year, at the request of business interests, vetoed a similar bill that would have allowed unlimited punitive damages.

However, this year's measure, (CS-SB 1368), again won easy passage in the House and Senate and was acceptable to the governor.

Black and Jewish groups also supported the bill, and the American Civil Liberties Union officially backed the measure despite criticizing it for not being tough enough.

"The only thing historic about it is it continues the trend that women have to fight for their rights an inch at a time," said Charlene Carres, lobbyist for the ACLU. She also said the new Florida statute doesn't provide victims with the same levels of protection as federal law.

"At the same time it treats the business community fairly in that it's not overburdensome in terms of the punitive damages," said Rep. Willie Logan, D-Opa-Locka. "There is reasonable opportunity to settle before going to court."

The legislation would allow punitive damages in civil rights suits but limit them to $100,000. It also would prohibit golf, yacht and other private clubs where business is transacted from discriminating against women and minority group members.

Gangster artifacts

Capone's Miami home items go on auction

By MARIO FOX
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO — Al Capone's guns or brass knuckles are not available, but much of the notorious gangster's personal property from his palatial Miami home is going on auction soon.

And it's fitting that the artifacts will be sold on April 15 — tax day — because it was receipts for some of these items that helped put him in prison for income tax evasion in 1931.

"We've gotten a lot of interest from collectors from all over the country and even internationally, especially from England." Gary M. Platton, who will handle the auction for Leslie Hindman Auctioneers, said Wednesday night.

Capone's furniture and personal items were obtained by the auction house from retired Ohio businessman Thomas Warren Miller. He purchased the Chicago gangster's home on Palm Island from Capone's wife in 1952, said Maron E. Matz, spokeswoman for the auctioneers.

"There is furniture, everyday household effects like china and glassware, a stuffed sailfish that's mounted and has a plaque reading: 'Caught by Al Capone, 1929,'" Matz said. "There is a glass water pitcher with the initials A.C. on it; a Christmas card 'To Frank and Joe, from Al Capone.'" Matz said it would be hard to guess how much money the auction will bring in.

"An Al Clark pitcher would bring $10, but Al Capone? Who knows," she said. "We don't want to discourage any bidding, but we are expecting top dollar and a lot of people."

Hindman last year auctioned off a Vincent Van Gogh painting discovered in a Milwaukee attic for $1.23 million, and it was the same Chicago auction house that sold the estate of the late comic John Belushi.

POLICE BRIEFS

Drug arrest made

Keith William Derr, 22, 2412 S. Stevens Ave., Sanford, was arrested by Seminole County deputies Monday at Lake Jesup Park on South Sanford Avenue.

According to arrest reports, a deputy stopped Derr near the park after he noticed one of the brake lights on Derr's vehicle was not functioning. When Derr acted nervous and the deputy asked to search the vehicle, he refused, the deputy reported. A K-9 search of the vehicle revealed marijuana and paraphernalia, reports state.

Derr was charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Crimes reported to authorities

The following crimes have been reported to Seminole County deputies and Sanford police:

• $1,500 in Oriental furniture and a $100 rental television were reported taken from the offices of the Central Florida Auto Auction sometime between 5:20 p.m. Friday and 8:40 a.m. Saturday.

• a $287 television was reported stolen from a home in the 4800 block of Orange Boulevard sometime between 3 and 5 p.m. Monday.

• a television and two shotguns, valued at $340, were reported taken from a home in the 5700 block of Michelle Lane sometime between 9 a.m. Sunday and 6 p.m. Monday.

• a $5,000 laser and two $800 concrete saws were reported taken from an equipment trailer at Sanford's Site 10 wastewater disposal site near Geneva sometime between noon Friday and 6:30 a.m. Monday.

• a 1988 Lincoln reported stolen from a Chapman Drive home Sunday was reported found burned near Titusville.

• $200 worth of possessions were reported taken from a Medical Drive business sometime between 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. Monday.

• a 72-year-old Youngstown, Fla. woman reported she was pushed and her purse was stolen by two men Monday at 9:30 p.m. in the parking lot of an Orlando Drive hotel. The purse contained about $50 in money orders, the woman reported.

Burglary investigation brings arrests

Seminole County Sheriff's deputies have arrested two men in connection with a residential burglary. William Edward Roberts, 21, of 2855 Midway Drive, Sanford, and David Wayne Carver, 20, of 742 St. Johns River Place in Sanford have been charged with burglary and grand theft. Deputies report the incident took place on March 10, at 5180 Sunnyside Avenue in Sanford, as one of the men talked with one of the home's occupants, while the other removed items from the storage shed. Items said to have been taken include electric power tools and an air compressor with a total value in excess of $300.

Drug charges made

Gerald Lee Thornton, 25, of 2547 S. Myrtle Avenue in Sanford, was arrested by Seminole County Sheriff's deputies Tuesday at his home. Deputies said an earlier undercover drug purchase on March 27 indicated the drugs were obtained from Thornton's residence. With a search warrant, deputies railed the home and discovered substance that was later proven to be marijuana. He has been charged with possession of a controlled substance, possession of drug paraphernalia, and sale and delivery of a controlled substance.

Steps OK'd for new airport office

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Bids will be called for to refurbish a new administrative office for the Sanford Airport Authority. The Authority may be able to move in by this fall.

The new headquarters will be in building 439, near the airport's main terminal area. Part of it recently was used by a truck driving school.

The matter was approved during the Authority's April meeting that was held on Tuesday.

The present administrative office, in Building 1, was originally built during World War 2, when the airfield was used as a Naval Air Station. Prior to the base closing in 1968, the structure was the office area for the base commander.

Airport Director Steve Cooke explained,

"Our present building is just getting old and in need of a great deal of repairing."

The Authority also agreed to submit an application for a grant from the Florida Department of Transportation to help pay for approximately 50 percent of the costs involved, Cooke said. "We would have to pay for all of the project first, but if the grant is approved, the FDOT would send us about half of the cost within a few months."

Authority Chairman A.K. Shoemaker observed, "We have about $70,000 budgeted for this refurbishing project this year, but we don't believe it will cost quite that much."

Cooke said the work would involve relocating some of the present walls, recovering other walls, installation of some lighting and carpeting. "The garage area on the west end of the building will also be closed," he said, "and part of that will be used for our accounting section."

The present bids will only be for the first phase of the refurbishing. The second phase, planned for next year, is expected to have $46,000 budgeted, to cover exterior painting and repairs on the building.

Seminole County has already started using part of building 439, in a joint agreement with the Authority. It is being used as a training school for emergency medical units, Cooke observed. "They only need the facility a few days a week, so this won't cause them any problems when the work starts."

Cooke expects the deadline for bidding on the project will probably be prior to the end of May, with work to start soon afterward. "We have hopes to have it finished and be able to move in by this August or September," Cooke said.

Reservations needed now for Friends' cruise

SANFORD — Friends of the St. Johns will hold their annual meeting next Wednesday. "Reservations for the event are needed now," said President Bill MacLaughlin.

The event is being held in conjunction with a scenic sunset cruise on the St. Johns River, leaving Sanford at 5 p.m.

Special guest for the meeting is R. Bruce Stephenson, who will give a presentation on the rehabilitation and restoration of rivers. Stephenson is assistant professor of Environmental Studies at Rollins College.

"He has recently done an extensive comparative study on the Willamette River in Oregon," MacLaughlin said, "and will be comparing it to the St. Johns River." He added, "Mr. Stephenson believes it will be of value to us to understand the methods they used in Oregon to improve and preserve that river."

The Friends of the St. Johns organization is also calling for votes on its new list of officers and board members who will be nominated this year. Complete listings of those recommended by the Nominating Committee are available.

The outing next Wednesday will include hotdogs, hamburgers, assorted drinks and snacks. The cost is $15 per person. Reservations must be received by this weekend at the latest. Contact Bill MacLaughlin at 322-6768.

NASA to replace shuttle Endeavour's main engines

SPACE CENTER, Houston — NASA says all three main engines of the new space shuttle Endeavour need to be replaced, but the task is not expected to delay the ship's maiden voyage next month.

The repairs were prompted by worn bearings and pressure buildup that occurred during a 22-second test-firing Monday, the space agency said Wednesday.

Neither problem would have jeopardized safety and the engines probably would have operated fine if Endeavour had lifted off, NASA spokesman James Hartfield said. NASA decided to replace the engines as a precaution, he said. NASA still is aiming for a May 5 launch on a mission to put a wayward communications satellite into the right orbit.

Dollar bills altered

Sanford Police arrested Virgil L. Tomkins, 34, of 128 Bethune Circle Wednesday morning. He reportedly attempted to pass two $1 bills, altered to appear as $10 bills, at a store at 17th Street and Highway 17-92. Police reported locating him 100 yards from the store. He was subsequently identified by the store clerk. Tomkins has been charged with forgery and altering forged bills.

Attempted murder charged

Gloria Dean Jefferson, 34, of 1006 W. 10th Street in Sanford, was arrested Tuesday by Sanford Police. Police report she struck Nelson Lewis of 804 E. 8th Street twice with a knife, hitting him in the left shoulder and left arm, during an argument at 6th Street and Cypress Avenue. Lewis was taken to the Central Florida Regional Hospital for treatment of his wounds. Jefferson has been charged with attempted murder and aggravated battery.

Dog finds drugs

John Daniel Fryar, 32, of 1133 E. 7th Street, was arrested by Sanford Police Tuesday. The police report indicates officers were called regarding a complaint of drug dealings near 516 Cypress Avenue. Fryar was interrogated, but refused to allow a search of his van. When a K-9 drug-sniffing dog arrived, he reportedly indicated drugs were in the vehicle. Officers then checked and discovered six plastic bags containing what later tested positive as crack cocaine. Fryar was charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Fingers broken in fight consensus from the Commission last month to have a resolution creating the Commission prepared by the City Staff. City Clerk Carol Foster has now written the resolution for the City, and it is presently scheduled to be brought up for approval by the City Commission during the April 16th meeting.

"The Commission would act in an advisory capacity for the City Commission," Stevens observed. "We would make suggestions on matters that involve seniors in their dealings with the City or its various boards and committees." She added, "We will also help the seniors in educational and informational matters wherever possible."
 Although the recommendation made by Stevens to the City requested a seven member Commission, specifics on the proposed resolution have not been revealed.

"We're very proud of Eric," said Parks and Recreation Director Mike Kirby. "He's always been a very good employee, and I'm very pleased to hear this about him, but I'm not surprised. He's that kind of a person."

In commenting about Eric's action, his mother said, "So often these days, we hear how children are molested and abused in some way. Well, I would like our community to hear some good news for a change."
 She added, "I'm proud of him, you see, he's my boy."

More homes OK'd in Lake Mary

By INGE PFEIFER
 Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Permits taken out for new homes in Lake Mary during March continued to indicate a good year. The City reported eleven permits in January, nine in February, and ten in March.

The total value of the 10 new homes is $727,871, compared to a value of slightly over $1.1 million for the nine homes in February.

Five of the proposed new homes have been permitted for the Timacuan area. Two are in Crystal Lake Estates, and one each for Meadowbrook, Sun Oaks, and Hills of Lake Mary Phase II.

If the present average of 10 per month in single family residential building permits continues in Lake Mary, the total number may double the number taken out during 1991, which was reported at 60.

The City of Sanford had only two single family residential permits taken out in March, the same as during February. The estimated value of the two homes is $79,260. Sanford also reported one two-family building permit approved in March.

Lake Mary reported only one commercial building permit issued in March, but the value was listed as over $1.8 million. The permit is to construct a 99,949 square foot warehouse and office addition at Calibron, 2950 Lake Emma Road.

Sanford reported one industrial permit for Safety-Kleen, at 800 Central Park Drive, valued at $850,000. It also issued a permit for a new business, Tire Kingdom, at 3504

Orlando Drive, valued at $145,000.

For the entire month of March, Sanford issued 10 permits which ranged from homes and businesses, to the addition of a garage or carport. The total value of all Sanford permits was $1,138,978.

For the same time period in the City of Lake Mary, a total of 47 permits were issued, with a total value of $2,809,774. Lake Mary's listing of permits however, includes those for installation of irrigation, signs, billboards and swimming pools.

Sanford's published listings show actual structures such as residential, commercial, schools and outbuildings, but not modifications. It does, however, include permits for the demolition of homes, which during March had one permit issued.

It will address the concerns of schools in western Seminole County. Those schools are Bear Lake Elementary, Forest City Elementary, Goldsboro Elementary, Greenwood Lakes Middle, Hamilton Elementary, Heathrow Elementary, Idylwilde Elemen-

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Saccharin may not cause human cancer

LOS ANGELES — A study indicates saccharin's ability to cause cancer may be limited to rats, suggesting there is no need for the warning label on the sugar substitute.

"It would appear that saccharin is an example of a chemical that can cause cancer in rats but not in mice and not in humans," said the study's chief author, Dr. Sam Cohen, vice chairman of pathology and microbiology at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.

His research was funded by the National Cancer Institute and the International Life Sciences Institute, which represents food and beverage companies, including saccharin manufacturers. Nevertheless, Cohen's research and integrity were praised by other scientists.

Beer bellies explained

BOSTON — A study found that booze makes the body burn fat more slowly, which helps explain those beer bellies, saddlebags and spare tires on heavy drinkers.

The study, published in today's New England Journal of Medicine, tackled the question of alcohol's effect on the way the body uses different nutrients. Its conclusion: Alcohol throws off the body's normal disposal of fat.

Any fat that is not burned is stored. That means flab in the belly, the behind and thighs — anywhere people tend to put on weight.

"If somebody wants to drink at a party and avoid weight gain, he has to reduce his fat intake," said Dr. Paolo M. Suter of the University of Zurich, the study's principal author.

From Associated Press reports

Economic recovery surviving

By MARTIN CRUTINGER
AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON — Wholesale prices edged up a tiny 0.2 percent in March as a big drop in food costs offset the largest increase in energy prices in five months, the government reported today.

The gain in the Labor Department's Producer Price Index was identical to a 0.2 percent February increase and left wholesale inflation so far this year running at an annual rate of just 0.7 percent.

Meanwhile, another report showed that the number of newly laid off workers making trips to unemployment offices totaled 432,000 for the last week in March. The drop of 24,000 from the previous week was bigger than had been expected.

In a third report, the Commerce Department said that businesses planned only a modest 4.6 percent increase this year in spending for new plants and equipment.

The spending projections, if carried out, would represent a rebound from last year when recession-weary companies actually cut spending by 0.6 percent, but today's estimate marked a downward revision from a 5.4 percent projected increase in capital investment made three months ago.

Still, economists said the various reports pointed to an economy that is finally beginning to mount a sustained recovery following a lengthy recession while managing to keep inflation under control.

Many analysts believe that wholesale prices for the entire year will rise by around 2.5 percent, up only slightly from last year's

¶ We are forecasting good inflation news lasting probably until 1994. ¶

-David Wyss, economist

2.1 percent advance, and that consumer prices will remain docile as well.

The slight 0.2 percent increase in wholesale prices in March reflected a 0.5 percent drop in food costs as the price of vegetables retreated following a huge surge in February that was caused by floods in Texas and California that destroyed winter vegetable crops.

The drop in food prices was partially offset by a 1.2 percent rise in energy costs, the biggest gain since an identical October rise.

The government was scheduled to report on the March consumer price performance on Friday and analysts were looking for a moderate increase similar to the gain in wholesale prices.

For the year, analysts said they believed consumer prices will rise by between 3 percent and 3.5 percent, little changed from last year's 3.1 percent advance.

"We are forecasting good inflation news lasting probably until 1994," said David Wyss, an economist at DRI-McGraw Hill, an economic consulting firm in Lexington, Mass.

The big drop in initial claims for unemployment benefits followed two straight weekly increases. The improvement was led by Michigan, which reported unemployment claims fell by 7,500 as a result of fewer layoffs in the auto industry.

In addition to a 2.1 percent drop in vegetable prices, which followed a 26 percent surge in February, fruit prices were down 3.8 percent last month with prices also falling for eggs, beef and turkey.

The increase in energy prices reflected the fact that gasoline costs were up 1.1 percent, electricity prices climbed 1.2 percent and natural gas and home heating oil rose by smaller amounts.

Excluding the volatile food and energy sectors, wholesale prices posted a 0.2 percent increase, reflecting the fact that underlying inflationary pressures remained modest as well, analysts said.

Car prices rose 0.6 percent while tobacco prices were up 0.7 percent. Higher prices were also registered for light trucks, shoes and prescription drugs.

The various changes left the Producer Price Index, before adjusting for seasonal variations, at 122.0 in March, compared to 120.9 in February. That meant that a market basket of goods that cost $122.00 last month would have sold for $120.90 a year ago.

Many economists, including those inside the administration, believe that the economic rebound is for real this year, unlike last year. They point to encouraging signs such as a jump in retail sales in January and February, increases in housing construction and improving consumer and business confidence.

Spectacular tomb to reopen for scholars

By NIMI MANN
Associated Press Writer

LUXOR, Egypt — Nefertari's tomb, an unmatched netherworld of splendor, is reopening after being closed to the public for a half-century, but officials are unsure how wide to open its portal.

The 3,200-year-old tomb of the woman renowned for her beauty, boldness and kindness is among the most fabulous of Egypt's archaeological treasures but also one of its most fragile.

A painstaking restoration project lasting six years and costing $4 million is complete and Prime Minister Atef Sidki on Saturday is to declare the tomb open.

For the immediate future — and maybe forever — that means open to scholars and scientists only.

Tourists, however benign their intent, can be harmful to a tomb. Even if they heed the "don't touch" instructions, they still sweat; that raises the humidity in the tomb and speeds the peeling of ancient paint.

When restoration of Nefertari's tomb began in 1986, some 20 percent of its wall paintings had disappeared and another 20 percent hung precariously or had fallen onto dirt floors.

Some thought the monument, closed since 1940, was doomed.

The challenge of reversing the decline joined expertise from the J. Paul Getty Conservation Institute of Marina del Rey, Calif., and the Egyptian Antiquities Organization. They used satellite technology, scientific expertise from four continents and the fingertips of two renowned conservators.

Saving Nefertari's tomb has been an elusive dream since Italian excavator Ernesto Schiaparelli discovered it in 1904. Looted in antiquity, the tomb contained only a few small relics, a sarcophagus lid and the knees and lower legs of a mummy.

Its treasure was of another sort. Wondrous paintings covered the walls and ceilings of all seven chambers of the 5,200-square-foot tomb.

Nefertari, whose titles included "Rich of Praise," "Lady of Charm" and "Beautiful of Face," was the chief wife of warrior Pharaoh Ramses II.

No other Egyptian queen except Hatshepsut, who became a pharaoh, wielded such power.

She accompanied her husband on battle marches and at major state occasions. At her temple at Abu Simbel, she is portrayed as urging Ramses to be merciful to his captives.

In her tomb, the day's best artists painted masterpieces on plastered rock: Nefertari beneath a star-filled sky, forever young, garbed in the finest gowns, adorned in rich jewelry. Her almond-shaped eyes and gentle smile are crowned by golden headdresses featuring the regal cobra.

Peru's president earned nickname 'The Emperor'

By MONTE HAYES
Associated Press Writer

LIMA, Peru — President Alberto Fujimori's decision to dissolve Congress and impose a military-backed government did not surprise those who have followed his 20 months in office closely.

Fujimori, the son of Japanese immigrants, had already earned the nickname "The Emperor" for his authoritarian style of governing.

Fujimori ran as a political outsider in Peru's 1990 presidential election, defeating novelist Mario Vargas Llosa in an upset.

He cultivated a campaign image of a moderate populist. There were fears he was unprepared to govern a nation bordering on anarchy. Coup predictions were common.

But once in office he moved quickly to impose his authority.

Lacking an organized party and a majority in Congress, he forged a close alliance with the army and began to govern with decrees.

"What do they expect of Peru — that the disorder, the chaos, the social indiscipline continue? Or do they want a government that really governs, that defends order," he said of his critics in the early months of his administration.

On Sunday, Fujimori suspended the constitution and accused legislators of sabotaging his free-market reforms and shaking his campaign against leftist rebels and cocaine traffickers.

He said lawmakers and judges were corrupt and represented special interests to the detriment of national interests.

Since taking office he has battled frequently with Peru's bloated bureaucracy and warred with Congress.

Fujimori once said his election resulted from the same desperation that gave rise to Peru's fanatical Shining Path guerrillas. He said his supporters voted with "enormous and burning anger."

"My government is the product of rejection, of being fed up with Peru because of the frivolity, corruption and non-functioning of the traditional political class and bureaucracy," he said.

His patience apparently reached its limit in recent weeks when judges appointed by the previous left-leaning government of President Alan Garcia declared some key economic decrees unconstitutional.

Fujimori was also frustrated by congressional insistence on its right to oversight of the military in the war against the Shining Path.

International human rights groups have harshly criticized Peru's military, describing it as one of the world's most brutal.

Despite the flood of protests by foreign governments and Peru's political parties for his decision to restrict political liberties, most Peruvians clearly share Fujimori's contempt for Congress and the judicial branch and approve his decision to reorganize them.

A poll last year showed 95 percent of the respondents had little or no trust in the corruption-ridden courts. Congress fared only slightly better.

Ross Perot

You don't have to look far or think hard to understand why Ross Perot has received more than a million phone calls urging him to run for president as an independent. The voters' anger and frustration are palpable, and Perot's aphoristic messages are simple and direct:

Washington has become a town filled with sound bites, shell games, handlers, media stuntmen who posture, create images and talk...but don't ever accomplish anything...What we have now is a system where if you have potholes in your city, all the politicians hold conferences on potholes. If and when I ever have to do this job we're going to get hot asphalt, get a shovel...move on to the next one and skip the press conferences.

Overhaul the tax system, which is like "an old inner tube with a thousand patches."

Get rid of the government's fleet of 1,200 planes and let Washington bigwigs get a little taste of how the rest of us travel. "Keep an airplane for the president if you want to, but downsize it..."

None of that adds up to a platform. Perot, self-made Texas billionaire, swashbuckling producer of privately financed hostage-rescue operations, often-criticized champion of "no-pass, no-play" school sports policies in Texas, says he wants to take away Congress' authority to raise taxes without popular approval; give the president the line-item veto; cap (or tax) Social Security for wealthy people and adopt strategies for each industry. Plus gun control, plus the right to abortion.

Some of those measures are contradictory and none has been elaborated with any detail. Perot says he would run national "town meetings" with voters to discuss the issues after he's elected.

And there are questions about Perot himself. He has never run for, much less held, office; never had to deal or compromise among legitimate claims on government; never had to work with Congress.

All of those things commend him as an outsider — and one far less strident and far more credible than Jerry Brown or Pat Buchanan — but give no clue about performance when there are good arguments on both sides of an issue.

There are few reasons not to fill potholes, but there may be as many reasons against building a dam as there are for it. Men on horseback are not always dangerous, but they are rarely capable of living up to expectations.

Perot has said he will enter the fall campaign only if volunteers in all 50 states petition to put his name on the ballot. If his candidacy takes root in the fertile soil of protest politics, it could become a decisive factor in some close states in November. For now, his sudden emergence as a serious presidential contender should serve as ample warning that Americans are more than fed up with the political status quo.

In part, the frustration is with the establishment, but in part it's also frustration with ourselves: We cheered the leaders who brought the nation to this point and we — as Medicare recipients, farmers, students, taxpayers, environmentalists — lobbied against, and sometimes shouted down, the most obvious of reforms.

If Perot's candidacy can help the nation to understand that much, it won't matter whether he's elected.

Conservative movement splitting?

I owe my readers an apology, and this is as good a time as any to make it.

Back about a year or so ago, various political observers began predicting, now that the Cold War was over, that the huge American conservative movement would begin to split. The idea was that anti-communism had been "the glue that held the movement together," and that without that glue its component parts would start quarreling among themselves.

Now there is nothing exceptional about a mature and highly successful political movement splitting. On the contrary, it's almost inevitable. The mighty Roosevelt coalition lost one large bloc of left-wing supporters in 1947 when the Cold War began and Truman faced off with Stalin, and lost an even larger bloc of right-wing supporters almost simultaneously when the national Democratic Party broke with its powerful Southern wing over the issue of civil rights for blacks.

So there has never been anything in the least perpetual about the conservative movement, which is a broad coalition of economic and social conservatives with very different concerns and priorities. But I demurred from the prediction mentioned above because (as I explained in a column at the time) communism wasn't the only "glue" holding the conservative movement together. There was also liberalism, which all components of the coalition detested equally. As long as liberalism hung on as a serious political force in the United States, I argued, conservatives would stick together to oppose it.

The trouble is that liberalism in America today, if not totally dead (and it would be almost impossible to extirpate altogether its basic components of irrational sentimentalism and class envy), is so moribund that nobody is particularly worried about it. Even the Democrats, though they have failed to find any viable replacement for it as an ideology, are careful to avoid being tagged with it if possible, and the Democratic presidential hopefuls most closely identified with it were all forced out of the race early on.

So a great many conservative leaders and spokesmen, looking around for new worlds to conquer, are paying more attention these days to the issues that divide them from one another.

At the moment the largest fissure is the one opening between what has hitherto been the main line of the conservative movement (including, but not limited to, its neoconservative wing) and a bloc that is content to call itself the "paleoconservatives." This group is composed of a not altogether internally consistent array of libertarians, protectionists, nativists (i.e., people opposed to present immigration policies) and isolationists (or, as they prefer to put it, "America Firsters"). They regard their policies as deeply rooted in American history, which is true, and some of them subscribe to a demology in which their predecessors — the avatars of the True Faith — had the conservative label and cause wrongfully wrested from them by William Buckley, Irving Kristol and various other later-arriving malefactors with very different agendas.

In case you are wondering, Pat Buchanan is the current political idol of this bloc, and he undoubtedly addresses many of its themes in his public statements. But he is understandably a bit cautious about swallowing its platform wholesale, if only because some parts of it contradict others. (True libertarians, for example, are the sworn enemies of protectionism.)

Liberalism today is so moribund that nobody is worried.

Flat tax needs better advocate

I've figured out a novel way to kill a good idea: You get a dippy politician to hold it steady while imperceptive pundits pour poison down its throat.

That's about what is happening to the revolutionary concept of a flat-rate tax system. Quirky Jerry Brown has proposed something that he says is a flat tax but in fact is a strange mixture of ground baloney suspended in snake oil. His critics are having a high time as they smash Dr. Brown's bottles and flush the contents down the drain.

Jerry says he can abolish the existing tax system and finance the government with a flat 13 percent tax on income and a 13 percent "value added tax" on goods and services — in essence a national sales tax. He would do away with most deductions and abolish the Social Security tax altogether.

Because it emanates from the mouth of a character who sounds like he has overdosed on his own elixir, the flat tax is being panned as a noxious notion by critics, many of whom clearly haven't researched what they reprove.

The flat tax is "hideously regressive," says Washington Post columnist Lou Cannon. It's a "dippy" idea, says his Post colleague Mary McGrory. It would be the "greatest single rip-off of American working people in this nation's history," says New York Daily News columnist Lars-Erik Nelson.

That is bull. To be more accurate it is half bull: The generic idea of a flat tax is brilliant; but Jerry Brown's version of a flat tax is stupid, and it is a monstrous shame that it is being blown out of the water by the Sheik of Fluke.

The most grievous shortcoming of Jerry's plan is the complete absence of personal allowances. In Brown's world, everybody pays. The destitute be damned — you got income, you pay. This does indeed render the tax terribly regressive.

The second most grievous thing about Jerry's plan is that the burden of taxation falls almost completely on the middle class. He says working people would benefit because his value-added tax would be levied against business. But what business wouldn't pass it through? In fact, workers would end up paying a 26 percent tax — 13 percent of their wages and another 13 percent of everything they buy in the form of a sales tax.

The third most grievous thing about Jerry's plan is that it would abolish the Social Security system. What's the point of eliminating the world's most successful social insurance plan? Reform it, yes; demolish it, no.

Fix those glaring problems and you've got an idea whose time has come. For example, if you permit personal allowances of, say, $5,000 per family member, then a family of four making $25,000 would be paying taxes on only $5,000 of its income. If the flat rate is 17 percent, their tax would be $850, or 3.4 percent of income. A $50,000 family would pay taxes on $30,000, which at 17 percent would come to $5,100, or 10.2 percent of income. In other words, the system would be mildly progressive.

It doesn't take a genius to see that the percentage of income paid in taxes for families of four would max out at $5,020,000 and that those who make more can keep more.

Frankly, I'm not worried that quintillionaires who pay $850,000 in taxes on their first $5 million are going to be able to keep most of what they make in excess of that amount. Especially not if you attach the same 17 percent tax on business income — as distinct from wages — which would eliminate loopholes for the rich.

So here is the truth you are not getting in the current debate: A flat-rate system that allows personal allowances and taxes business income as well as wages would be simple, efficient and fair.

And that's not even the best part, which is this: Tax lawyers and accountants would have to find productive work for a change; the Internal Revenue Service would be a little-bitty bureau; and Congress could adjourn on July 4 every year.

All that, and Brown is blowing it.

The generic idea of a flat tax is brilliant; but Brown's version is stupid.

MARTIN SCHRAM

Will H. Ross Perot catch our fancy?

He can take Texas from Houston's own George Bush and snatch the South from Arkansas' own Bill Clinton. He can be bigger than Teddy Roosevelt's Bull Moose.

Or he can be a bantam bust, a billionaire blip that once flashed across our screens, then vanished into the vapors of our video age.

H. Ross Perot can become a man of Great American Firsts — the first independent candidate to finish first on a first Tuesday of November. Or he can become a mere footnote, a fascination for political scientists, a stumper for Trivial Pursuits.

He has already achieved something major: He has turned on a turned-off nation. He has caught the attention — and may catch the fancy — of people who've been telling pollsters no candidate for president has given them a reason to come out and vote this year. Now they are coming out to "Perot for President" rallies, like one in Charlottesville, Va., where a couple hundred folks raised hands to indicate they were a mix of Republicans, Democrats and Independents.

They volunteered to help elect a president whose policies aren't yet defined, and whose ideas surely won't please all of his people all of the time.

Perot is an economic conservative, a social liberal, a geopolitical maverick. He's for getting government off the backs of industries (like the computer info industry that made him so rich). He is pro-choice on abortion, pro-gun-control (and unlike most polls today, he's not afraid to say so). He favors ending Social Security and Medicare benefits for rich people (because they don't need it). He is a patriot who did all he could for the Vietnam War, and all he could to oppose the Persian Gulf War. When he talks about the issues, he sounds like Paul Tsongas and even Mario Cuomo — with a twang. He also sounds a lot like Jack Kemp.

Perot's presidential odyssey began, apparently by accident, on Feb. 20, when people who'd tuned out George Bush/Pat Buchanan/Bill Clinton/Jerry Brown/Paul Tsongas tuned into Larry King on CNN and discovered a billionaire populist who knows where the buck must stop. King asked if Perot wanted to run for president; no, said Perot. So King, a super interviewer who takes "no" for no-answer-yet, kept on asking: "Wasn't there any scenario in which Perot might run? No, said Perot. C'mon, no scenario at all? Well, said Perot, if people in all 50 states spontaneously showed they wanted him to run....

Shazam! Phones started ringing down home in Perotland. Gigs on "60 Minutes" and C-Span and "Donahue" forced him to commandeer the Home Shopping Network's 1,200-line switchboard, as 6,000 calls a day jumped to 500,000.

This is not a media-driven campaign; the news media followed the phone banks. Nor is it an issue-driven campaign. It is, if anything, a vacuum-driven campaign. These people were calling not so much because they liked Perot's answers — indeed, he doesn't have many yet — but because they are desperately seeking a leader who knows how to point the way, tell it straight and get us from here to there — without a pollster.

Hard truths — that is Ross Perot's long suit. He's mastered a special leaderlike language: Actionese. He spoke in this political tongue on ABC News' "This Week With David Brinkley"; he answered every question by making it sound as though he'd act on whatchamacallit — pronto! Virtually every answer began with: "Step one ... Step one ... You start, on day one.... Number one ... On day one...."

He has already achieved something major.

Roofers halt work

Contractor Joe Giliberti, owner of Aesthetic Home Improvements, Oklawaha, waits Wednesday for Seminole County clerks to issue five permits to perform roofing repairs in southern areas of the county. County Building Official David Beltz said the two recent hail storms have led to a deluge of hundreds of applications for roof repair permits. At times Wednesday, more than a dozen people were waiting for permits, said Beltz. "The recession is over for roofers, at least in my case," said Giliberti.

Fee

revenues with the impact fee.

County commissioners had been reluctant to pursue a school fee request last year because school board members hadn't drafted a plan to spend the money. School officials said Wednesday the money would be used to build six elementary schools, two middle schools and one high school with the revenues. One of the proposed elementary schools would be located in The Cromings near Lake Mary.

The fee proposal would apply a $1,384 fee to each new home, $639 to each apartment or condominium and $655 to each mobile home. The fees are about the same or lower than other Central Florida counties that have either adopted school fees or have proposed them, school officials said.

Under the proposal, the county will collect the fee from developers of unincorporated land when they are issued building permits. After taking from 3 percent to $250 from each fee for administrative purposes, the fees are transferred to the school district four times per year.

ceasing, pass the fees on to the county who transfers them to the district. No county administrative fee will be collected from the city-collected fees.

If any cities decide to "opt out" of the fee collection, the county will collect the fees directly from city developers.

School planner Dianne Kramer said the revenues projections did not include a reduction for the administrative fee, which could trim up to $1.3 million from fee income. When commissioner Larry Furlong questioned the fee projections, Kramer answered "We didn't include the interest from depositing the fees, so it could be a wash."

The discussion between county commissioners and school board members started a debate on which undeveloped housing projects should be "vested" with an exemption from paying the fees. County Attorney Bob McMillan said all unincorporated developments approved after 1987 either include requirements to pay all impact fees in existence at the time construction commences or have some other provision that would exempt them from school fees.

But McMillan said many development agreements prior to 1987 don't address impact fees because none existed then. The county has exempted those developments from paying impact fees, said McMillan, although the county can legally require them to pay the fees. About a third of the 37 development agreements signed before 1987 don't mention impact fees or schools, said Pam Hastings, county capital planner.

School officials had included a provision in their proposed ordinance drafted for the county that if developers' agreements are silent as to impact fees, the county would impose them.

Commissioners Fred Streetman and Bob Sturm said the provision concerned them because it amounted to breaking a contract with the developers.

"We had a written agreement with those people," said Streetman.

"Why should we go in a reopen a contract," asked Sturm.

Despite school and Furlong's opposition, commissioners Streetman, Sturm, Jennifer Kelley and Pat Warren called for a revision in the ordinance wording exempting the older developments from paying the fee. School officials said the revision will be made prior to the county's first adoption hearing July 14.

Budget

If the school district kept spending to the current level, it would still need to spend $191,200,425. That is $857,822 less than it has.

The district hopes to make

$2,178,261 in cuts at the district level and $6,440,153 in the schools. The school board began reviewing the budget at 10 a.m. in the administrative offices, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford. The meeting is open to the public. The budget reduction plan released Wednesday by the superintendent's office identifies areas that could be cut. They include:

- $36,603.36 in savings by bringing in a chief negotiator (to replace former negotiator Ernie Cowley) with only two years experience. That office also plans $22,382 in non-specified cuts.

The business and finance office believes they can save $63,204.96 in salaries and benefits by eliminating the positions of Finance Specialist I, Supervisor of Employee Benefits and Insurance Specialist II. They also plan $59,843 in non-specified cuts.

The division of administrative services believes that $141,365.90 in salaries and benefits can be saved by doing away with the positions of Coordinator of Staff Development, Junior Programmer, a 12-month executive secretary, an executive secretary and a 12-month secretary. They are looking at an additional $98,016 in non-specified cuts.

The division of instructional services hopes to save $670,550.89 in salaries and benefits by eliminating the Curriculum Specialist, Resource Coordinator, two coordinators of curriculum positions, three district-level teaching jobs, two resource teachers, a part-time teacher, a social worker, a technical assistant, an instructional assistant, a bus driver and a psychologist. Another $25,061 in non-specified cuts is planned.

The facilities planning division hopes to save $50,814.95 in salaries and benefits by eliminating the positions of Maintenance Supervisor, apprentice mechanic, two mechanics, assistant supervisor of operations, two area supervisors, a secretary and an executive secretary. Eight positions in the maintenance department are also being targeted. The division is also looking at an additional $512,483 in non-specified cuts.

High schools hope to save $1,661,634.04 by making $276,939.01 in cuts in salaries and benefits at each of the six schools.

Each school is looking at the possibility of eliminating the positions of one guidance counselor, the media specialist, the occupational specialist, an assistant principal, the athletic trainer, two custodians and three clerical assistants.

the elimination of the position of a custodian, three instructional assistants and a curriculum specialist.

Additionally the district is looking at the possibilities of eliminating the positions of supervisor of personnel ($66,000), the director of business services ($70,815), the coordinator of career education ($30,000), the coordinator of community relations and the community relations specialist ($60,000), one Exceptional Student Education zone coordinator ($30,000), the director of planning and evaluation and one secretary from that department ($70,000), the administrative assistant to the superintendent ($118,000), the Director of facilities planning and supervisor of construction to capital outlay funds ($140,000), three curriculum coordinators ($195,000), two secretarial positions ($40,000), text book manager ($35,000) and downgrading the position of director of curriculum to coordinator of curriculum ($10,000).

An additional $80,000 could be saved by shutting down operations on the vocational assessment center.

"There is a lot of work to be done," Pavalchak said. "This is only the very preliminary stage. We have much more work to do before we get to the actual budget that the board will approve."

Weger at top of TAAC

DeLAND — Stetson Hatter shortstop and team captain Wes Weger has moved into a tie for the batting leadership in the Trans America Athletic Conference, according to the weekly statistical report released on Tuesday by the TAAC office.

Weger, a graduate of Lake Mary High School, has 50 hits in 133 plate appearances this season for an average of .375, tying him with Troy Melancon of Southeastern Louisiana. Weger's 50 hits is the second highest total in the league behind the 54 hits of Centenary's David Wynn.

The 50 hits boosts Weger's career total to 269, leaving him eight shy of setting the Stetson record for career hits, which is currently held by Mike Sempeles (276). Weger's current career batting average of .348 is eight points better than the current four-year career high of .340 set by Sempeles.

In other TAAC statistics, Weger and junior centerfielder Aaron Iatarola (another Lake Mary graduate) are tied for fourth place in triples with three each. Iatarola is also third in the league with 14 stolen bases.

ANAHEIM, Calif. — Sanford's Tim Raines scored the go-ahead run on a single by Robin Ventura in the eighth inning as the Chicago White Sox beat the error-prone California Angels 4-3 on Wednesday night.

Raines led off the eighth with a single against Jim Abbott (0-1), and advanced on a sacrifice by Steve Sax, who scored two of Chicago's runs.

Ventura then lined a 1-1 pitch to center field, making a winner of starter Greg Hibbard (1-0). Seminole Community College graduate Bobby Thigpen, the fourth Chicago pitcher, worked the ninth for his first save.

Setting up the showdown

Braden pitches Seminole into SAC title contest

BILL KERNS
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Thus ends the prelude as the battle comes to a head.

Seminole High School's varsity baseball team beat Lake Howell 6-3 in a must-win Seminole Athletic Conference game Wednesday afternoon at Seminole Field, tying Lake Brantley for the conference lead with a 7-2 record.

This sets up what Seminole head coach Mike Powers terms "the big conference challenge" for the SAC championship Friday night at Lake Brantley starting at 7 p.m. It will be the final conference contest for both teams. Seminole is the state's No. 6-ranked 3A team, but the other five county schools belong to Class 4A.

"We'll have to be ready for Lake Brantley," said Powers. "Because I imagine they're pumped. They'll have about 500 fans and their best pitcher going for them. So any Seminole fans hoping to see the game will have to come early."

Starting pitcher Todd Braden, who went 6-0 in helping Seminole (20-3) to an 18-0 start before falling to reach the fourth inning in his last two starts, picked up his seventh win in hurling a complete game. He struck out five, walked three and allowed five hits.

Dave Eckstein went 3-for-3 with an RBI and one run scored to pace Seminole's offense. Also contributing were Demy Beamon and Matt Freeman (2-for-3, one RBI, one run each), Phillip King (2-for-3, one run), John Lugerling (1-for-2, one RBI).

After getting off to a 6-0 start, Seminole sophomore Todd Braden struggled in his last two starts, not lasting past the fourth inning either time. But on Wednesday, Braden threw a complete game to beat hot-hitting Lake Howell.

Anthony Roberts (1-for-3, double, one RBI, one run), and Matt Diemer (1-for-3, one RBI).

Seminole scored five runs in the first inning on singles by Eckstein, Chunal, Freeman, Beamon and Lugerling, and a double by Roberts. Seminole added one run in the fourth when Eckstein singled home King.

"We busted out for five runs and that showed we were ready," said Powers. "We're used to playing three games per week and this is our first of the week. Then we had rain yesterday, so we couldn't practice. But we weren't flat."

Braden shut out Lake Howell until the sixth inning, when Paul Giambalvo and Jason Schwiegerath walked and scored on a Mervyl Melendez single. Giambalvo, who went 2-for-2, singled in Robert Andino in the seventh for Lake Howell's final run.

Rob Stanton and Erik Weiner also singled in the game for the Silver Hawks.

Brian Gomes (4-6) went the distance for Lake Howell (7-14, 3-6 in the conference), striking out four without a walk. Seminole picked up 13 hits, six coming in the first inning and two in the fourth.

Lions tip Greyhounds in ninth

From Staff Reports

OVIEDO — Edgar Aviles singled home Eric Jordan to give Oviedo a 3-2 nine-inning win over Lyman in Seminole Athletic Conference baseball action Wednesday at Oviedo High School.

The winning rally started when Todd Bellhorn led off the ninth inning with an infield single. With Bellhorn running, Jordan bounced to the pitcher, who threw late to second. When Lee Reynolds squared to bunt, Bellhorn and Jordan executed a double steal.

Reynolds was then walked intentionally to load the bases. It looked like the strategy would pay off for Lyman as Adam Coleman hit into a pitcher-to-catcher-to-first double play. But Aviles followed with a single to score Jordan from third.

Oviedo improves to 16-8 overall, 6-3 in the conference while Lyman, losing for the third game in a row falls to 11-13, 2-7 in the SAC.

"Even though it was an extra-inning game, it was kind of sloppy," said Oviedo coach Mike Ferrell.

"Both teams had a lot of opportunities to score. If either team had taken advantage of their opportunities, it wouldn't have been such a close game."

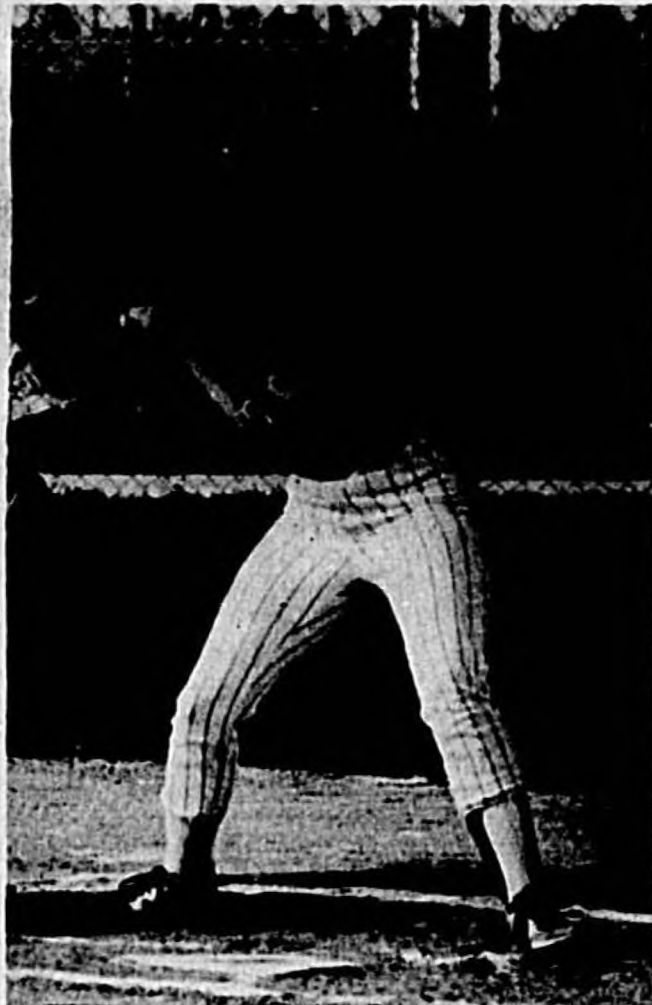

Lyman scored in the top of the first inning as Kevin Stuckey and scored on Nakia Roberts' double. Oviedo equalized in the bottom half of the frame when Kevin Twigg singled home Rick Werner.

The Lions went on top 2-1 in the third. Bellhorn and Jordan opened the inning with singles. Chris Stokes then hit into a fielder's choice. Bellhorn scoring when the throw went awry.

Lyman forced extra innings when Roberts doubled to score Donny Bazler in seventh.

Wasted were outstanding efforts by both starting pitchers. Lyman's Jason Goodpastor fanned six without a walk while Werner struck out seven and walked two.

Oviedo will wrap up its SAC schedule at home against Lake Mary Friday night at 7 p.m. while Lyman closes out its conference schedule at Lake Howell in a 4 p.m. game Friday afternoon.

Val Wilks was 2-for-3 with an RBI on offense and contributed several key catches on defense to help Seminole knock off Eustis Wednesday afternoon.

Improved defense, four-rally boosts Tribe over Eustis

From staff reports

EUSTIS — Seminole High School's varsity softball team employed an improved defensive and a four-run sixth inning to break a 4-4 tie and down Eustis 9-4 Wednesday afternoon at Eustis High School.

The win improves the Tribe's record to 12-12 heading into this afternoon's 4 p.m. Seminole Athletic Conference clash with Lake Brantley (16-9) at Fort Mellon Park.

Seminole upset the Patriots 7-3 in their first meeting of the season, but Coach Greg Register says the Seminoles will have to perform better on offense if they want to sweep the season series with Lake Brantley.

"We're fielding much better," said Register. "Val Wilks and Rita Frison caught a couple of key line drives. We did score four in the sixth, but we always wait too late to start scoring. We need at least 10 runs every game to be competitive."

"We need to get our bats going or we'll be in big trouble against Lake Brantley."

Leading Seminole offensively against Eustis were Nakia Riggins (2-for-4, two RBI), Wilks (2-for-3, one RBI), Frison (2-for-4, one RBI), Tina Rathbun (2-for-4), Sam Lively (1-for-2), Latrece Turner and Carey Dryden (1-for-3, one RBI apiece), and Lisa RICHARDE (1-for-1).

Daylight savings time? Babe Ruth game suspended by darkness

From staff reports

SANFORD — Wednesday night's Sanford Recreation Department Babe Ruth game at Sanford Memorial Stadium between the Knights of Columbus Cardinals and the Moose Lodge Pirates was suspended by darkness in the bottom of the fifth inning with the score tied 6-6.

James Field was on third base and Brad Bender was on first with two outs for the Pirates when action was suspended. Both teams are 1-0.

League play resumes this evening at 5:45 p.m. at the stadium when the Hungry Howie Cubs (0-1) take on the Templeton Roofing Expos (0-1).

While starting pitcher Craig Stevens and the other Cardinal pitchers have no-hitter going against the Pirates, they have been hurt by their own wildness, walking 13 batters and hitting a 14th. They've also thrown four wild pitches.

Leading the Cardinals in hitting were Cornell Davis (2-for-2, two runs scored, one RBI), Stevens (2-for-3, one RBI), Robert Randle (1-for-1, one run scored), Richard Badger (1-for-2, double, one run scored), Terrell Jackson (1-for-3, one RBI), and Lloyd Dixon and Nicholas Barnes (one run scored apiece).

Mike Wagner has scored two runs for the Pirates while Gregg Lienbach, Shawn Green, Ryan Colegate and Alex Acosta have each scored one run.

The Cardinals took the early lead with two runs in the top of the first. Daniels and Dixon both walked and advanced a base on a wild pitch. After Daniels scored on and Dixon took third on a Pirate error, Stevens delivered Dixon with a run-scoring single.

In the bottom of the second, the Pirates took the lead as Wagner, Lienbach and Green all drew walks and scored. After Wagner came in on a wild pitch, Marcus Beasley walked to reload the bases. An out later, Lienbach and Green scored when Pat Clode and George Beasley each drew a bases-loaded walk.

The Cardinals tied the score with a run in the third when Jackson singled home Barnes. But the Pirates went right back in front as Colgate and Wagner both scored in the third inning.

Colgate walked and stole second before Wagner walked. After two then executed a double steal, Colgate scored on a wild pitch. Walks to Fields and Tony Quanciale loaded the bases for Jack Crumpton, who drove in Wagner when he was hit by a pitch.

The two teams traded runs on wild pitches in the fourth inning. Badger doubled and scored for the Cardinals while Acosta walked and scored for the Pirates. Robert Randall and Daniels both singled and scored in the fifth inning for the Cardinals to tie the game.

Purvis scores first Winston All-Pro victory

Special to the Herald

BARBERVILLE — Jeff Purvis of Clarksville, Tenn., held on for his first NASCAR win as he took home the winner's share of the $36,000 purse in the Fred Bondesen Spring 200 this past Saturday at Volusia County Speedway.

The Bondesen Spring 200, the second race in the NASCAR Winston All-Pro Series, was a barnburner to the finish as Purvis — driving the Vinyl Tech/Phoenix Construction Chevrolet Lumina — battled defending Series champion Jody Ridley nose to tail for the final five laps.

Hal Goodson (Darlington, S.C.) took the early lead in the 200-lap event with Purvis running a close second. Purvis continued to run strong, challenging for the lead until losing his right rear tire on lap 20.

By the 30th lap, Rick Crawford (Mobile, Ala.) had taken the lead from Goodson. But Crawford didn't hang on to it for long as Ridley (Chatsworth, Ga.), in the Ford Motorsports Sportswear Ford Thunderbird, came charging to the front on lap 40. Ridley continued to hang on as Bobby Gill (Venice) moved up and challenged him on the inside.

On lap 51, Gill took the lead and held on to it for the next 50 or so laps. Just past the halfway point, however, Ridley regained the lead and was running strong until a caution flag on the 111th lap brought all the leaders into the pits.

Electing to stay out on the track and take the lead was defending Fred Bondesen Spring 200 champion Gary Bradberry (Chelsea, Ala.), who looked like he was on his way to another Volusia County Speedway victory until attrition took its toll on his tires and he began to drop back until Purvis went back in front on lap 134.

Purvis began to pull away until the 174th lap. Running in second was Ridley, who also had worked his way back up to the front. Giving it his all, Ridley made several bids to pass Purvis during the closing laps but couldn't quite get past him.

The 20-lap Higgs Auto Parts Street Stock main event saw Eddie Campbell (Plymouth) charge to the front until Mike Ponder (DeLand) made an inside challenge for the top spot. The two went door-to-door for a lap

Women ask husband for more than he's supposed to deliver

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been out delivering concert tickets that were sold by telephone solicitations.

He has come home laughing the last two days, saying that he was propositioned by three women — young, and quite good-looking. He said, "It's a good thing I am not that kind of a guy."

Abby, what gets me is my husband will be 60 years old on his next birthday. He is just a typical, middle-aged, balding, short, not real handsome married man.

One young wife of a college student answered the door in her bathrobe that wasn't very well secured and sort of hanging open. She proceeded to tell my husband that her husband wouldn't be home for an hour or more.

Another woman asked him if he wanted to come in and have a drink — or something.

I might add that my husband and I have been married for 40 years, have four married daughters and six grandchildren, and we still enjoy sex.

With all the publicity about AIDS and other venereal disease, we are just dumbfounded. What can those women be thinking?

DUMBFOUNDED
DEAR DUMBFOUNDED: They are either thinking it can't happen to them, or they're just not thinking.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can help me. My in-laws refuse to put poison (Raid, dog spray, Drano, etc.) up out of reach of our 2-year-old. (We also have a little girl who will be crawling very soon.)

Abby, I realize that it is their home, but I don't think I'm asking too much of them.

My husband and I have both mentioned it to them several times. Recently, I put a note on the can of bug spray that said the kids could die if it was ingested. Well, my mother-in-law tore the note up and threw it away, and put the can back down under the kitchen sink! She said they never had to put anything out of reach of their other grandchildren. (The other grandchildren live 400 miles away, and our kids are there all the time.) she says, "Well, you will just have to watch them."

I must not be Supermom because I can't watch every single move they make. This whole situation is getting very depressing.

CONCERNED MOM IN PESOTUM, ILL.

DEAR CONCERNED: According to the American Association of Poison Control Centers, an estimated 5 million children were victims of accidental poisonings in 1990, the last year for which figures were available. Sixty-two percent of those children were under the age of 5. It is adults who must bear the responsibility.

If your in-laws feel that rearranging their cupboards in order to keep dangerous chemicals out of the reach of the toddlers is too much trouble, ask if they would mind if you and your husband did the child-proofing. If that doesn't suit them, the children's visits with the grandparents should take place at your house.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know your opinion concerning my current relationship with a gentleman from Portugal. I met him last summer here in the States, and we became instant friends. He asked me to go back to Portugal with him when he left in August, and I willingly accepted his invitation. I spent the best three weeks of my life with him in his country. Naturally, our friendship turned into a deeper relationship, and he came to the States to visit me again for five weeks.

We are now back to being 3,000 miles apart — writing to each other every week. The phone bills are incredible, but he splits mine with me to help me out.

My problem is that now he wants me to come to Portugal over spring break, and again this summer. Money is the only thing causing me to hesitate. He has offered to pay for my trips, but I can't accept that kind of money from him. He has told me that he will accept any reason but money for my refusing to come.

He figures there's no difference in his paying to come here, or paying for me to go there. Either way, we will be together.

Should I force myself to accept his offer to pay my way? Or should I insist that he come here?

IN LOVE AND IN DOUBT

DEAR IN LOVE: Obviously you are a student, but you don't say how old you are (or how old he is). You are wise to refuse to accept a costly gift from your Portuguese friend at this stage of your relationship. Your instincts and judgment appear to be sound. Don't deviate.

Stop headaches before they stop you

DEAR DR. GOTT: I suffer from muscle contraction headaches treated with 800 mg Motrin daily. My doctor has not given me an explanation of my condition. Would you, please?

DEAR READER: Muscle contraction headaches are one of the most prevalent symptoms seen in a general medical practice. They are often caused by stress or prolonged sitting, which makes the muscles of the shoulders and neck tight and stiff. Pretty soon, the scalp muscles join in the fun and a headache ensues. This type of headache is usually described as "pulling"; it frequently involves the back of the head and is not "pounding," as migraine headaches are.

Everybody gets muscle contraction headaches once in a while. In fact, I've been sitting here writing for more than an hour, and I can feel my neck and shoulders painfully tensing - not from stress but from sitting in the same position. So I rub my neck and rotate my head, hoping to relieve muscle spasm before it works its way up to my scalp. And this is pretty good therapy for early muscle contraction headache: so is heat and massage. Exercise, too, is generally beneficial.

Once the headache itself starts, medicine such as Motrin is usually effective. But, obviously, at this point, prevention is impossible.

I recommend you investigate ways of preventing your headaches. In addition to the suggestions I made, you might consider stress counseling or myotherapy (special massage). If this is successful, you could eliminate your daily Motrin and use it only when needed.

Because muscle contraction headaches may be related to high blood pressure in some people, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Hypertension" as well as a free copy of my Health Report "Headaches." Other people who would like copies should send $1.25 for each report plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

A beginner is taught that when in a no-trump contract, he should count his top tricks before playing from the dummy at trick one. And when he is in a suit contract, he should count his losers. Sound advice, but it is even better - if he can do it without taking too long - to count losers and winners, especially when in a suit contract.

Cover the East-West hands in the diagram. Against your four-spade contract, West leads the club king, followed by the club ace. How do you plan the play?

The bidding made it obvious that North-South didn't have a club stopper. In this situation, a strong 5-2 fit is often the best contract - as long as declarer knows about trump control.

South ruffed the second club and drew three rounds of trumps, getting the bad news.

Too late he switched to diamonds. But East won with the ace and led the club queen, forcing South's last trump. Declarer could take only nine tricks (five spades, two hearts and two diamonds) before East ruffed in and the defenders cashed two more club tricks.

Declarer appears to have just two losers, but he has only nine top tricks: five spades and four hearts. At trick three, South should play a diamond. If he wins the trick, he runs for home. But if East wins with the ace and leads the club queen, South discards a red-suit winner. The next club can be ruffed in the dummy, trumps drawn and the contract made.

When you are short of trumps, concentrate on keeping control.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Cool
YOUR BIRTHDAY
April 10, 1992

Earnings from more than one source are likely in the year ahead. In fact, something that starts out as a side venture might turn out to be the tail that wags the dog.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your intuition and your logic are both fine-tuned today. These could prove to be very valuable assets in situations of a commercial nature. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Send for Aries' Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You might not be an original thinker today, but chances are you'll be involved with two people who are. You'll know how to use their ideas - if they don't.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Situations that call for financial risks aren't apt to work out too well for you today. But you could do better than usual in involvements where you've earned what you receive.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you don't expect too much for a social connection you recently established, you won't be disappointed. Some things you'll discuss may never be fulfilled.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's best not to make any late changes today in an important matter you're trying to finalize. Things should work out as you anticipate, perhaps even a bit better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your best advisor today might not be a friend whom you frequently go to when you need counsel. Before seeking suggestions from outsiders, discuss critical matters with your mate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In matters that directly affect your career, don't underestimate your competition today. But, by the same token, don't envision your adversary as being stronger than you are. You have the edge.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

You might be influenced to change your mind today regarding something about which you feel very strongly. You'll do it reluctantly, yet it will turn out to be a wise decision.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You might be in for a pleasant surprise today when new life is breathed into an endeavor you were about to write off. The shift in conditions will produce new advantages.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Take advantage of an opportunity you'll have today to make a big fuss over an old friend you haven't been very attentive to lately. It will be worth it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Follow your instincts today in situations that are important to your career. End advice could get you off course, but your smarts won't.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There is a strong possibility you will learn a very valuable lesson today through a personal experience. The wisdom you'll garner will be used later to further your self-interests.
