Tito Responds To Treatment For New Digestive Problems

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Government sources said today President Josip Broz Tito, 67, is apparently responding to medical treatment for kidney and digestive problems that developed after his left leg was amputated to save his life.

Soviets Need Conquests?

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — Pakistan or Yugoslavia might be the next countries to be invaded by the Soviet Union, former Yugoslav vice-president Milovan Djilas said in an article published by Belgian daily Le Soir today.

Djilas said the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan was not a consequence of the rivalry between the Soviet Union and the United States but only of the Soviet desire to conquer.

"The weakening of the power and influence of the Americans certainly has encouraged the Soviets to take Afghanistan," he wrote. "But chasing the Americans was not the prime objective of the Soviet action."

"It is the desire of conquest, the necessity to conquer. The Soviet Union has accumulated immense quantities of arms. So it is not surprising that it uses them."

Leftists Plan Long Hold

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Leftists holding the Spanish ambassador and five other hostages say they will retain the captives "for months" if their demands are not met by the government.

A spokesman for the leftist 28 Popular Leagues said in a telephone interview they would remain in the Spanish Embassy with their six hostages until the government agrees to their demands.

"If they don't either release our comrades or tell us where their bodies are buried we will be here for months," the spokesman said.

Bani-Sadr Escalates Feud With Students

By United Press International
Iran's President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr, warning "I will not accept such behavior," accused the militant holding 50 American hostages at the U.S. Embassy for 100 days of issuing orders without his permission and meddling in government affairs.

The 100th day of the Americans' detention by the militants coincided with the first anniversary of the Islamic revolution that overthrew Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi and ushered in the revolutionary government of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Afghan Prisoners Disappear

By United Press International
Thousands of opponents to the Moscow-backed Kabul regime have been executed or tortured since Soviet troops invaded Afghanistan, a rebel leader and reports reaching the West said today.

On the battlefield, rebel resistance reportedly was crumbling, with Soviet troops gaining firm control of all parts of Afghanistan except for the mountainous northeast. Amin Wakman, secretary general of the rebel Afghan Mellat Party, charged that at least 200 members of his party disappeared from the Pulacharki prison in Kabul since the government of Babrak Karmal was installed during the Soviet invasion.

"We have given up hope of seeing them alive," Wakman said in New Delhi. "We assume they disappeared with the thousands of others the government claims it released."

"We have told their families not to hope any longer," he said. Indian reporters today said the prison was empty following the release of 3,000 political prisoners in January.

A Western traveler to India reported that a luxurious house in Kabul, used as a "reception center" for questioning and torture under the previous regime, was still in service last month.

"I don't know what they do in there. But trucks pull up and let five to 10 people at a time—maybe 30 or 40 a night," he said. "I'm not saying they all died, but I have not seen any walk out."

Another traveler said he saw one man whose "his fingernails had been ripped out." Diplomatic sources said they do not know where the prisoners from Pulacharki Prison have gone.

"They may be in other prisons," said one diplomat. "But I can't think why the government would have gone to the trouble or expense when other solutions were easier."

In a related development, an American journalist who toured guerrilla camps in southeastern Afghanistan today characterized rebel operations as "primitive to the point of being ineffective."

Iranians prepared a "grand military parade" to celebrate the anniversary, but Khomeini, architect of the revolution, was too weak to take part in the proceedings, Tehran Radio, monitored by the BBC in London, announced.

Khomeini's office said because of cold weather and the 70-year-old leader's health, it was canceling plans for a march past the Tehran hospital where he is being treated for a heart condition, the report reported.

But a parade showing military muscle, including a display of revolutionary guards and revolutionary committees, was to march down Tehran streets.

Saying that Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh told him the militants were issuing instructions and orders to foreign embassies without his knowledge, he warned: "I will not accept such behavior, which I consider a government within the legitimate government."

"In my capacity as president of this government, I call on students to put an end to this behavior and to unify their opinions and actions with the government's opinion."

In the telephone interview, the militant spokesman replied indirectly to Bani-Sadr's attacks, saying the "only thing that I can say, we and Bani-Sadr... want to help our people but... two ways. But just one of them is right. We think that the people can decide which one is right."

Asked if "people" meant Khomeini, the spokesman replied: "You know that Imam Khomeini has said he speaks (for) what the people want."

Asked if the militants would release the 50 hostages if so ordered by the ruling Revolutionary Council, the spokesman replied: "Yes, we will do that."

The spokesman added the militants were in daily contact with Khomeini and "we think Ayatollah Khomeini will not say because we are working in the line of him."

Asked if rumors were true about a deal for the imminent release of the captives, he said, "Is the only and easiest way, if the U.S. wants the hostages alive, is for the U.S. to return the shah. The time is not important for us."

Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat flew into Tehran today to attend the commemorative ceremonies, Tehran Radio said.

Bani-Sadr accused the militants of intruding in government affairs by inviting 49 Americans to visit Iran without official clearance, Tehran Radio reported in a dispatch from the official Pars news agency.

Bani-Sadr has heaped criticism on the free-wheeling militants ever since winning, by a large margin, the election as Iran's first president.

Anti-Drinking Drug Causes Serious Side Effects: Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A widely used drug that has proven effective in keeping alcoholics from drinking can cause some serious side effects, says The Medical Letter, a non-profit publication.

The drug, disulfiram, known commercially as Antabuse, reacts with alcohol to make a drinker ill. The severity of the reaction varies with the individual, the dose of disulfiram taken and the amount of alcohol consumed.

The newsletter said a study last year found that mildly unpleasant reactions can occur with as little as half a liter of 100 proof alcohol, or one tablespoon of some cough remedies, mouthwashes and other preparations containing alcohol.

Reactions with alcohol can occur up to 14 days after a single dose.

'Grapes' Gets School Wrath

KANAWHA, Iowa (UPI) — The Kanawha school board is considering banning John Steinbeck's classic, "The Grapes of Wrath," because it is working in the line of a school officials met tonight to decide whether to allow a 10th grade English teacher to use the book, which contains language that some parents have complained about.

The book tells the story of poor white Oklahomans, uprooted from their land during the Great Depression of the 1930s. The tenant Oklahoma farmers packed up their meager belongings and moved to California where many found jobs picking vegetables in the fields.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Hazardous Waste Disposal Tops Legislative Slate

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — House members this week will pick up where they left off last month and continue debate on hazardous waste disposal.

The waste disposal proposal is the pet bill of House Natural Resources Chairman John Votg, D-Cocoa Beach.

Last month Department of Environmental Regulation Secretary Jake Varn told lawmakers that failure to pass the waste disposal bill could "bring Florida to its knees" because of potential pollution damage to the water supply.

Florida is the only state in the southeast without hazardous waste legislation and the bill backed by Lewis, D-Jacksonville, seeks to create "cradle to grave" monitoring by setting licensing standards for the transport and burial of chemicals and other dangerous industrial by-products.

Nixons Visit Bebe Rebozo

KEY LARGO, Fla. (UPI) — Some of the things former President Richard M. Nixon likes best about southeast Florida — a luxurious privacy — were being supplied in good measure today.

The weatherman also promised some sunshine today after a cloudy, damp and windy Sunday, the first full day of a brief Florida vacation for Nixon and his wife Pat.

The Nixons flew from California Saturday evening aboard a commercial jet liner. Without stopping for a word with waiting reporters or onlookers, they were whisked off to join old friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Hamner Won't Head Bar

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Reginald T. Hamner, executive director of the Alabama Bar, said Sunday he has turned down his appointment as executive director of the Florida Bar.

Hamner had accepted the offer to serve as administrator of the Florida attorney's association, but he said after analyzing the circumstances of his new job he decided to remain with the Alabama lawyers group instead.

"As carry as it might sound, there comes a time when you purely change your mind," he said. "I came to the conclusion it was not in my best interest to make the move."

Famous Doctor Saver Dead

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI) — Private funeral services are planned for Dr. Louis W. Sauer, an internationally known pediatrician who invented the first practical vaccine against whooping cough.

Sauer, 84, died Sunday at a South Miami hospital of pneumonia and congestive heart failure.

He also developed in 1938 the combined inoculation to immunize children against pertussis, whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus. He received the Royal Society of London Fellowship Award for his work in 1968.

Blank Checks On Taxpayer's Account

People who sign blank checks lose control of their bank accounts. The simple truth tells more about the condition of the U.S. government than all the numbers in the budget President Carter sent to Congress.

Blank checks signed by Uncle Sam will be filled in to the tune of $468 billion in the next fiscal year. Fully three-fourths of the total federal budget. That presumes the rather optimistic forecasts of the president's economic advisers hold true. The betting on Capitol Hill is that the figure is too low.

The blank-check items in the budget are now referred to in Washington as "uncontrollable" — a political euphemism for federal programs which neither the president nor Congress is willing to control. They range from such stalwarts as Social Security, unemployment compensation, and Food Stamps through a massive catalog of grant programs to interest on the national debt.

The plea that they are uncontrollable rests on the fact that their expenditures are determined by previous acts of Congress, including laws which create "entitlement benefits" to certain groups and peg the amount to changes in the cost of living. The plea is hollow, however, because any previous act of Congress is subject to revision or repeal by a new act of Congress today, tomorrow or next year.

The Food Stamp program which began in 1964 as a modest gesture toward better nutrition for the poor is expected to cost $10 billion next year — "uncontrollable" because of language in the law fixing who is eligible for stamps and tying their value to the price of food. This will make Food Stamps the most costly runaway from the welfare stable, exceeding even the cost of Aid to Families with Dependent Children, heretofore the biggest welfare program.

Yet the Food Stamp program, like so many others, defies reform. Challenges to the "uncontrollable" are beaten back by cries from congressional defenders and special interest lobbyists who claim that disturbing these entitlements means that someone will starve — or go without medical care, or a decent place to live, or an adequate education, or will suffer some other hardship.

Hardship should indeed concern our government. There is nothing wrong with America's social goals. But the cost of social programs must somehow be controlled or the blank-check effect on the federal budget will be ruinous. The solution requires political courage in Washington — the courage to question the very structure of many programs and the way they attempt to treat hardship and need.

There are 20 million Americans — nearly one out of 10 of our people — now drawing Food Stamps. Are all of them really so strapped that they can't pay for their own groceries? Are all of them really so poor that they need government employment checks sincerely looking for work? These checks are a $15.6 billion "uncontrollable" in the current budget. Are all of the operations being performed under the $16 billion Medicaid program really necessary? Do our schools and colleges need $18 billion in federal grants over and above what we pay for education with our state and local taxes?

The failure of the president and Congress to ask such questions, accept an honest answer and pursue organic reform of open-ended social programs is why the federal budget and its deficits are out of control. Ironically, the resulting inflation and drag on economic growth is felt most acutely by the people the government thinks it is helping — the poor.

The government has been operating in the red and sinking deeper into debt every year since 1969. All we hear from the people elected to manage it is that three-fourths of the expenses are out of their control. Since when? In the real world, a management team with an answer like that would be fired.

VIEWPOINT One Serious Problem

By ROBERT WALTERS
 WASHINGTON (NEA) — Republican presidential hopeful George Bush has at least one skeleton in his closet: He accepted more than $100,000 in untaxed campaign contributions from President Richard M. Nixon's political operations in 1970.

That previously unreported episode is noteworthy because a spate of recent Bush profiles, hastily assembled by various newspapers and magazines, have suggested that there were vitally no enemies or derogatory information in the candidate's past.

Bush aides at least two other contenders in the campaign for the Republican presidential nomination — former Texas Gov. John B. Connally and Sen. Howard J. Baker of Tennessee, are working quietly to disseminate the information as widely as possible.

The embarrassing record of financial transactions occurred 10 years ago, when Bush was the unsuccessful Republican nominee for a Senate seat from Texas.

Nixon's senior political advisers devised a scheme to secretly funnel millions of dollars in unreported donations into 1970 GOP campaigns throughout the country.

The principal White House liaison for the project was Harry S. Dent Sr., then special counsel to the president. In mid-1970, Jack A. Gleason left Dent's staff and secretly opened an office in the basement of a townhouse in downtown Washington.

Nixon's leading fund-raiser, Herbert W. Kalmbach, covertly collected at least $3 million from the basement of a townhouse in downtown Washington.

Allocation of the funds to various candidates was decided upon by high-ranking members of the White House staff, but Gleason was in charge of implementing what became known as the "Townhouse Operation."

He collected Kalmbach's pledges, then disbursed the money to approximately 30 Republican campaigns, including 18 for Senate seats, three for House seats and eight for governorships.

The recipients were seeking office in at least 15 states, including Maryland, Connecticut, Vermont, Georgia, Tennessee, Florida, Texas, Pennsylvania, Minnesota and New Mexico. Contributions to individual candidates ranged from nominal donations of $5,000 to major gifts of up to $25,000.

Most must have been apparently failed to report on the public financial-disclosure statements required at the time — a total of $108,000 from the Townhouse Operation.

Bush undoubtedly will survive disclosure of the decade-old episode, but it demonstrates that he — like every other contender for the presidency — is susceptible.

The score is school board - 2, teachers - 1, in this year's rounds of court hearings between the district and the Seminole Education Association (SEA).

The union has won one victory, forcing the district to provide back-pay to a school librarian. Circuit Judge Robert McGregor upheld a 1977 arbitrator's decision on the case. But the SEA lost a federal discrimination case charging a teacher was fired because she was female, and a suit demanding the board pay about $400,000 in insurance claims by district employees left unemployed when the company went into receivership. The insurance case, thrown out Friday, was also before McGregor.

So far, there is only one other court clash between the two groups scheduled in the near future. In two weeks, a circuit court judge will decide whether a grievance brought by the teachers on a regular class day and turn the vacation day into a work day for teachers alone.

In one action, calling the board's decision a violation of contract, the district is claiming the matter should not be decided by an arbitrator, and is going to court to prove it.

SEA officials say the district has tried to block arbitration on three other occasions and lost each time.

The current score of 3-1 may be changed by the end of the year without another point going up on the board.

Currently, the SEA and the board are debating whether to appeal any of the decisions made this year.

School board attorney Ned Julian Jr. said he is pleased with the record so far. "I'm winning cases right and left," he said.

SEA Executive Director Bill Moore takes a more bitter attitude to the proceedings. The district and union have had to go to court "over a lot of matters which should be worked out" at the negotiating table," he said.

But despite costs, both sides seem prepared to continue going to court on matters where they feel they were wronged.

VIEWPOINT Keep Money Coming

By DON GRAFF
 The state of the American economy may have Americans concerned, but somebody out there still has faith in it.

Make that somebody — a growing list of companies from other countries whose investments in U.S. industry set another all-time record in 1979.

The Conference Board's annual survey of investment trends shows a total of $77 billion entered into U.S. operations for the year, up from $54 in 1978. Incomplete information on dollars involved indicates at least $4.9 billion pumped into the U.S. economy.

Two aspects of the 1979 figures are of particular interest. There is an evident trend among foreign investors away from acquiring established U.S. firms and toward building new plants in U.S. sites — 54 percent of the year's investments as compared with 49 percent the previous year.

Also, three countries — West Germany, Britain and Canada, in that order — continue to account for the bulk of foreign investment, more than half in 1979. But the New York-based economic research organization's count also shows a jump in U.S. activity by firms from several other countries. Most significantly, Japan is beginning to close in on the leaders.

What that suggests is that repeated words to the effect that Japan is "stealing" jobs from the U.S. may be proving self-defeating. It may be that the Japanese are coming to see the U.S. as a market for their goods.

The inflow of foreign investment is not only a sign of long-term faith in the American economy but one with a self-fulfilling aspect. It is one way of putting to work at home the dollars accumulating abroad as a consequence of the perennial U.S. balance of payments deficit. It means American jobs maintained and created in the process of continuing to supply American consumers with the products of foreign origin of which they have become so fond.

Of course, it also means increased competition for American industry on its own turf. But a little of that is likely to be good for what ails it — the loss of innovative and competitive edge that has led to not only foreign but domestic markets.

At least one of the reasons for the current concern over the deficit is the fact that the deficit is growing. The deficit is growing because of the fact that the deficit is growing. The deficit is growing because of the fact that the deficit is growing.

The deficit is growing because of the fact that the deficit is growing. The deficit is growing because of the fact that the deficit is growing. The deficit is growing because of the fact that the deficit is growing.

VIEWPOINT The Mighty Continue To Fall In College's Top 20

By United Press International
 Certain teams ranked in the top 20 have been bouncing up and down faster than a double deuce this season.

No. 1 DePaul remains constant in its ability to win — although Ray Meyer's squad got the scare of its life Saturday in a 65-63 squeaker over Dayton — but three other teams railed among the top 20 in the country were stunned. And all by teams that have been on and off the elite themselves.

Fifth-ranked Maryland dropped an 80-81 decision to Clemson, missing a chance for a product of its volume to Americans at the Conference championship; North Carolina State stopped No. 9 Notre Dame 63-55, halting the Irish's 15-game streak, and Iowa scored a surprisingly easy upset over No. 10 Purdue 74-59 in a Big Ten battle.

The Terrapins, who jumped to their lofty No. 3 position a week ago after beating Duke, fell victim to the homecourt jinx. It was the Tigers' fourth homecourt win over a top 10 team at Littlejohn Coliseum this season, and gives them a 10th straight record of 15-0.

At South Bend, Ind., forward Charles "Hawkeye" Whitney scored 23 points, grabbed 11 rebounds and had 5 assists and 6 steals to lead the Wolfpack past Notre Dame, which led 22-20 after one half.

The Bolshermakers, who skyrocketed from 20th to 19th place last week, will undoubtedly drop back down after shooting only 37 percent from the field in a lopsided loss to Big Ten rival Iowa.

Kenny Arnold scored 20 points and Steve Krasnick contributed 10 for the Hawkeyes, who also held Purdue's standout center Joe Barry Carroll to 17 points. Arnette Hallinan paced Purdue with 16 points.

While the prognosticators are figuring out how to interpret those surprises, they might also consider the future of the No. 1 team.

DePaul looked like a Division II club for 20 minutes Saturday night, trailing 19-0 and Hovevell Houle scored 19 points and Isaac Hoyt Dayton added 15 as Syracuse breezed to its 21st victory in 22 games. Eddie Moss set a Syracuse school record with 14 assists.

Wiley Howard scored 24 points and Derek Smith added 20 as Louisville held a late-widening rally for the Cardinals' 14th straight victory.

Oregon State, 22-2, held off Arizona behind a 28-point performance by Steve Johnson to upset the Pac-10 standings with a 12-1 conference mark.

Kyle Macy scored 20 points to rally Kentucky over Alabama as the Wildcats boosted their SEC record to 11-3.

DeWayne Scars and Ethan Martin combined for 54 points to help LSU grab a 6-4 SEC lead with Kentucky.

Bean Bags Hawaiian Open Title

HONOLULU (UPI) — "I thought I could catch one of the two big guys, but I could never catch both of them."

That was Lee Trevino's observation after the third round of the $25,000 Hawaii Open Saturday. And the two big guys he was referring to were Andy Bean (64, 210-pounds) and George Burns (63, 210).

Burns and Bean were deadlocked for the tournament lead after both the second and third rounds and when they came out to play Sunday, they were the ones everyone focused on. That is until Trevino, a startlsh man at 57 and 180 pounds, snatched making things happen.

Trevino shot 66 in the final round, the same score Bean had, while Burns, who played so well last week in winning the Crosby and was a top challenger here through three rounds, finished with a disappointing 71.

So Bean, who birdied all four par fives in the Waialae Country Club course in the final round, took the title and won cash each one of the two big guys, but I could never catch both of them."

Borg Bounces Gerulaitis For Whopping $150,000

BOCA RATON, Fla. (UPI) — Bjorn Borg says his domination of Vilas Gerulaitis cannot go on forever, but it shows no signs of ending just yet.

Borg won his fourth Grand Slam of Tennis Sunday by defeating Gerulaitis 6-1, 7-6, 6-3 in a three-set match at the world's highest prize in tennis.

He destroyed his friend Fred Brodsky in the first and third sets, although Gerulaitis got hot in the second to delay what proved to be his inevitable.

It was Borg's 16th straight win over Gerulaitis, but he said he would not be the world's highest paid athlete.

After the match, Gerulaitis denied he can be "psyched out" by Borg.

"It's a little frustrating, but he's the best player in the world right now," he said. "You just got to play steady against him—you can't make too many mistakes."

And that, said the 25-year-old sometimes playboy, was the difference in the three sets Sunday.

But suddenly things turned around again in the first game of the third set. Gerulaitis went down with a groin injury and although he denied it later, the injury hampered his play, Borg had it all to himself after that.

Who Really Wrote Poem?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR READERS: Recently I published a poem sent to me by the participants of the Long Beach, Calif., Senior Day Center.

The author was unknown, worthy of sharing with my readers. The essence, and closing lines, are: "Just give me one flower today, pink or white or red. I'd rather have one blossom now, than a truckload when I'm dead."

Chemical PCB Threatens Town

TRIANA, Ala. (UPI) — Besides known DDT contamination, the government suspects residents in this small town now face the threat of suspected cancer-causing residue from the chemical PCB found in the town's main food supply.
The doctor said the PCB tests indicate increased secretions of a protein in the livers of Triana residents, similar to increased secretions found in heavy drinkers.
This means the liver is acting much like it would if alcohol or tranquilizers were present," Dr. Krebs said.
Another CDC scientist said officials have not identified the source of the PCB residue in Triana's contaminated Indian Creek. Fish samples from the creek contained no traces of the chemical, he said.
Blood samples of 60 Triana residents the CDC tested had from 10 times to as much as 60 times the normal amount of DDT found in humans. PCB testing, which is still unfinished, indicated contamination was five times higher than normal.
CDC officials said it is known PCBs cause skin diseases and "learn by doing" activities.

2 Arrested In Pot Bust

STUART, Fla. (UPI) — Two persons were arrested and a plane and a camper truck seized along with more than 750 pounds of marijuana by Marion County sheriff's deputies Sunday.
Sheriff's spokesman Jesse Taylor identified those arrested as John Clifford Glenn, 23, of Hialeah, and Doreen S. Sacco, 28, also known as Doreen Sager, of North Palm Beach. Both were charged with possession of more than 100 pounds of marijuana. The two were released under $50,000 bond each.
Taylor said the two were arrested Sunday in the camper truck laden with 750 pounds of marijuana on State Road 714, just beyond the Sunshine State Parkway overpass five miles west of Stuart.
The twin-engine Aero Commander plane was abandoned at a grass air strip near Naked Lady ranch.
Taylor said the marijuana buds were marked to indicate weights of 15 to 20 pounds but only weighed 25 to 30 pounds each.
Marion County Sheriff James Holt said, "Unless the weights are some sort of code, someone has been ripped off."

Blood Pressure Up? Stop Using The Pill

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm very concerned and need your help. I am 33 years old and after the birth of my last child in 1963, my doctor put me on birth control pills. Two years ago my psychiatrist frightened me by saying I was practically signing my death certificate by continuing to take the pill for so many years considering my age. I talked to my doctor about this. Since I cannot afford a tubular ligation and my husband refuses to have a vasectomy and my doctor says founns and diaphragms are very unreliable, I continued on the pill.

A few days ago I went to the hospital for a suspected heart attack and a new doctor who practices with my family doctor said my blood pressure was high, 158 over 95. He pointed out that as I had gained weight, my blood pressure had been climbing for you. Finally, at age 33 you must be very near to the end of the time that you'd be able to have children. The oldest delivery on record is that reliable is 57 years of age.

You will want information on the menopause so I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-12. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101.

I should think the first thing that should be done is to discontinue all forms of birth control — and, of course, abstain from sex during the trial — and let your doctor find out if you're even ovulating. If you're not, there's a lot of fuss about nothing. My final recommendation would be to decide who you want to have as a physician and let him take charge of your case. Medicine is a lot like cooking and many cooks can, indeed, spoil things.

DEAR READER — I think you're a classic example of too much advice and no one being in charge. In the first place, you can't tell what a person's blood pressure is by one determination, particularly in the emergency room. Under such conditions, the blood pressure may not better player South is, the more likely he is to fall for the illusion that West can set up.

Alan: "West starts with the ace of clubs and receives the discouraging three from his partner. It should be apparent to West that a diamond shift is indicated. South surely has only three minor suit cards."

Oswald: "Most West lead the diamond deuce. The illusion leads the king and continues with the deuce. East is in with the ace and leads his diamond five. What should South do?"

Alan: "South must play West for a doubt diamond suit and ruff high. This play can only cost him if Trumps break 4-1, but that is the way they break and expert South bites the bull."

Oswald: "We keep getting questions about whether a player is legally entitled to pass his partner's forcing bid."

Alan: "Of course, he is! He does so at the risk of losing a trick, but he is not violating any law."

Sanford Adopts Hiring Plan

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

An affirmative action plan in which equal employment opportunity will be assured by Sanford, was adopted unanimously by the city commission Monday night.

Creation of the plan was one of the requirements set down by the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) two years ago in settling out-of-court complaints which had been filed against the city charging discrimination in hiring and employment practices.

Francie Wynalda, equal employment opportunity officer, noted in the plan that the city has set up a five-year program to reach the goal of giving special consideration to minorities in hiring and promotion within the city.

"Measures have been initiated to insure that members of the affected groups who are qualified to perform the job are included within the pool of persons from which city officials make the employment or promotion selection," she said. "We have provided a systematic effort to counsel employees in career advancement and training, both in the classroom and on the job."

City Manager Warren Knowles told commissioners that copies of the 55-page affirmative action plan have been distributed to city supervisors and department heads to be used as policy on the job. A copy of the report is also being forwarded to the EEOC office in Miami.

In other business, the city commission, on the recommendation of Mayor Lee Moore and Knowles, approved the payment of $7,846.27 into the state retirement system to benefit the family of Jake Fortier, a 27-year veteran city employee who retired on medical disability in December and died recently.

Knowles said the Fortier family will be matching the city's share with an identical amount to provide Mrs. Fortier with an income benefit of $233 monthly for the rest of her life.

Knowles told commissioners that the city offered all city employees the option of "purchasing past service" benefits when the city discontinued its retirement program in favor of the state retirement system. The employees, in most cases, authorized their city retirement fund refunds to be paid to the state with a match amount contributed by the city.

Fortier declined to participate.

Unless the past service benefits are authorized, the state retirement fund refunds to be paid to the state with a match amount contributed by the city.

The commission unanimously approved the payment, contingent upon the Fortier family paying its share.

The commission received a report from Knowles that the county housing authority is proceeding with applying to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for financing to construct 74 public housing units in the county.

Tom Wilson, III, executive director of both the Seminole County Housing Authority and the Sanford Housing Authority, said today no site has been selected as yet for the units. He added, however, the units will probably be built in the north end of the county, but some distance away from the city of Sanford.

Wilson said it will be at least one year after HUD approves financing for the units before construction can begin.

Coal-Oil Mixture Plant To Be Ready By Mid-April

The 'Oil' mixture plant is under construction at Florida Power & Light Company's Sanford station and company officials now believe it will be ready for a mid-April test burn.

The plant is a coal-oil mixture the company will be testing for the first time in an attempt to find an efficient way to use coal to reduce oil usage. The coal, however is expected to increase air pollution.

Buzz Barrow, FPL assistant manager of environmental affairs, said the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation has granted an air quality standards variance for the test, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is expected to do so soon.

The EPA will issue a Prevention of Significant Deterioration certificate, which means FPL will not be allowed to exceed ambient air quality standards.

Although the looks of Col smoke are unknown, Barrow said the particulate matter added to the air from the coal will not exceed federal or state standards.

Coal is considered a dirtier fuel than oil, but FPL officials believe if Col is successful they can install air-protection equipment at plants that use it. For the experiment, however, the devices are too expensive, they say.

Justice Searching For Leaks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. attorney is taking charge of an intense Justice Department hunt for the sources of leaks to the news media about the FBI's undercover "Abacorn" investigation.

Department officials are concerned the leaks could damage the chances of successful prosecutions stemming from the controversial and unprecedented probe of political corruption that has implicated eight members of Congress.

Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti announced Monday he is naming Richard Blumenthal, U.S. attorney for Connecticut, to take over the internal probe, which will focus on leaks to the New York Times, NBC and the Long Island newspaper Newsday before the FBI investigation was completed.

Civiletti also sought to quiet reports the scandal still is widening.

"Other than the unfortunate, regrettable and inexcusable leaks that have endangered (presumably) innocent persons by identifying them specifically, there are no other senators or congressmen to my knowledge in any way related to the Abacorn investigation," he said.

Asked if the leaks could allow defense lawyers to raise a serious defense of unwarranted pre-trial publicity, one department official said, "absolutely."

Longwood Seeks Grant For Bike Paths

By DAVID M. HAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

The Longwood City Commission voted Monday night to seek federal grants on two recreational programs, plus seek other grants to aid in the paving of streets.

On advice from City Administrator David Chacey, the commission voted to submit a request for matching funds to construct the first two phases of a series of separate blacktop bike paths along roadways lacking sidewalks.

The first phase would run along Range Line Road to State Road 434 and the second from 434 to the post office on County Road 47.

But Chacey told the commissioners he believes the city is more likely to get $7,000 in matching funds to improve its services to senior citizens. The grant request includes plans for a variety of services including education programs and meals on wheels. The city's $3,000 share of the grant will be funded through the recreation budget.

In other action:

— The commissioners presented their "Three-day of the Year" award to Scott Underwood, 12, of 1500 Markham Woods Rd.

Underwood received the prize for winning the Foster Motor Co. Post, Pass and Kick competition at the Super Bowl this year. He took the award after competing in five levels of regional competition plus the national event during halftime in Pasadena.

— Residents living on Wayman Avenue will be bearing 45 percent of the paving costs when their street is paved this year for the first time.

The commissioners voted to assess each resident 45 percent of paving the street directly in front of their property, a cost estimated at 99 per square-foot, payable over 10 years. The city will pay 10 percent of the costs.

— The city's three revival committee will hold its first meeting March 14. Deputy Mayor June Lormann said she did not expect any major changes in the charter to be proposed, since the current city charter was only written last year.

U.S. Rejects Iran 'Guilt' Demand

Washington has rejected a formula for the release of the 50 American hostages that would require the United States to admit guilt for "a quarter of a century" worth of crimes.

The plan, outlined by Iran's President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr in an interview published in the Paris newspaper Le Monde, did not call for the return of the shah and his fortune, a condition insisted upon by Moslem militants holding the hostages for 101 days.

In Tehran, Iran's Foreign Minister Sadeq Ghotbzadeh said today an international commission of inquiry would begin meeting in the Iranian capital within a week and said the commission's work would be the hostages' ticket to freedom.

But Ghotbzadeh, interviewed by ABC-TV, refused to give a timetable for the release of the Americans. He said once the commission begins its probe, "diplomacy will have its dynamism to solve the problem."

In another predication on when the hostages at the besieged U.S. Embassy would be released, ABC correspondent Barbara Walters reported an informed Arab source at the United Nations said the hostages could be released within "three weeks."

The source, quoted as saying negotiations for their liberation were "extremely delicate," said part of the discussions concerned an international commission to investigate the shah's human rights violations.

He said associates of the dead man said he also had domestic and job pressures.

Kuppers was found dead in his bed Sunday with one bullet wound in his head. The medical examiner and Harvey called it an apparently self-inflicted wound, but Harvey said the investigation was continuing.

Kuppers testified for the defense in the trial last year in which Bundy was sentenced to die for the murders of two Florida State University security women. He also sat at the defense table last week in Bundy's trial for killing Kimberly Diane Leach, 12.

Defense Psychologist For Bundy Kills Self

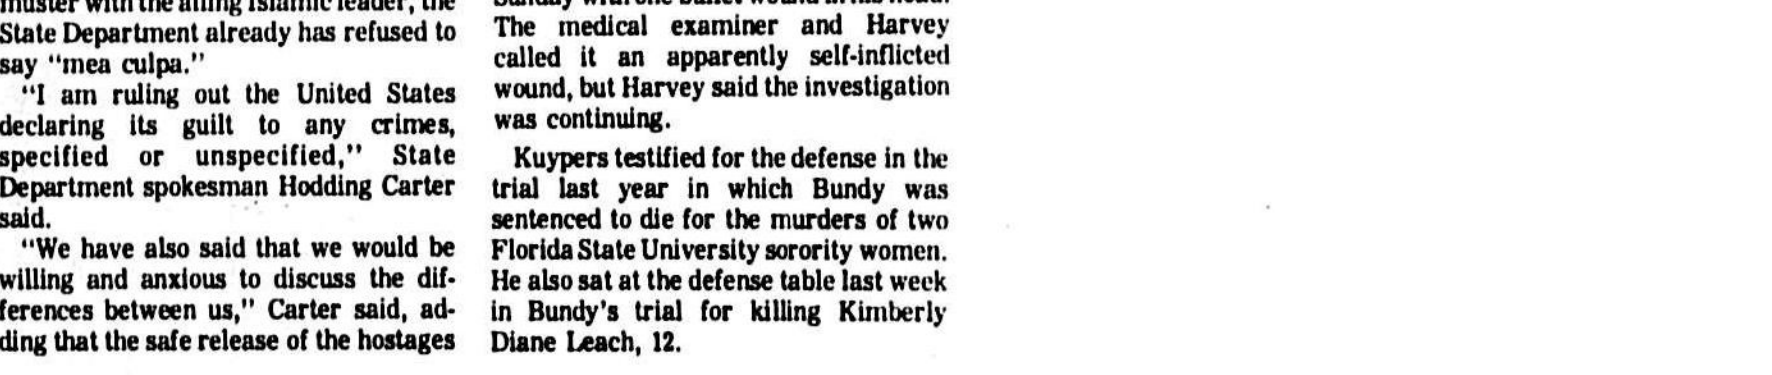

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — A clinical psychologist who apparently killed himself in a boat in the Gulf of Mexico was dependent over the conviction of Theodore Bundy for the kidnapping of a Lake City school girl, Wakulla County Sheriff David Harvey said today.

Harvey said the wife of David S. Kuppers, 48, Tallahassee, told him Kuppers "was upset over the verdict."

He said associates of the dead man said he also had domestic and job pressures.

Chamber Starts Membership Drive

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce kicked off its three-day membership drive this morning with a breakfast attended by about 75 volunteers.

Over the next three days, teams of chamber members, led by former organization presidents, will be competing to bring in the most new and renewed memberships by the time the drive ends with a barbecue Thursday afternoon.

Members are invited to the barbecue at 11 a.m. at the Chamber office where the winning team will be announced.

Former chamber president Tom Hunt, sales manager for Southern Bell, gave a pep talk to the 75 persons gathered for the breakfast, followed by presentations by Martha and Ned Yancey, the chamber's full-time "goodwill ambassadors."
