

All Weather Fighting Planes With Electronic Eyes Are Being Pushed

Associated Press Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The Air Force is beginning to build toward a new interceptor fleet in which all fighter planes instead of only a few will have electronic eyes for hunting down enemy bombers in any kind of weather, day or night.

Discussing the trend toward the "all-weather" fighter force, one official commented today that it didn't seem to make sense to have interceptor planes which can work only in daylight and in good visual conditions.

Back of his comment was the fact that the best conditions for a modern bomber force, equipped with radar bomb sight, is in the blanketing protection of darkness and clouds.

The move toward a complete all-weather force started some time ago, but now is being accelerated in the USAF's new aircraft procurement program. Quantities of all-weather fighters are on order to add to planes already delivered.

Revision of estimates during the last two years of Russia's strategic bombing capabilities have given urgency to an effort to provide the Air Force with interceptors capable of operating at any time under any conditions. Russia has added large numbers of long range bombers, based on the American B-29 design, to her strategic force and has demonstrated she now has the atomic bomb.

Strategists assume that if Russia's navigation radar equipment has progressed at the pace of the Soviet bomber and jet fighter progress, Red airmen would be able to make a surprise strike aimed at bringing the bombers in over the United States under cover of darkness and, if possible, in cloud cover.

An alert from the radar warning net, construction of which is nearing completion, therefore might be flashed at night. What ever the flying conditions, the interceptor force would have to go into action instantly.

The Soviet Air Force reported by its press that it has at least one type of all-weather fighter to bolster Russia's defense against attack—twins—the Lavochkin night fighter. Also, in recent months, there has been some indication that the day-fighter MIG-15 are using at least some airborne radar equipment in working against American B-29s and jet fighters.

The U. S. Air Force now has in operation three types of all-weather fighters, two of them equipped with the P-4C and Northrop F-8D, and the piston-engine, twin Mustang North American F-4U, an older plane outclassed by the jets' speed.

Currently, the F-4C and North American F-8D Sabre, the day fighter which has had the most frequent duels with Soviet MIG-15's over Korea, are being tried as night fighters. Radar equipment has been fitted into the nose of the new series, designated as F-8D.

war or killing them to force death, (2) killing or injuring 14,500 North Korean civilians in bomb raids, and (3) shipping out 1,000 Korean and Chinese Red for use in atomic tests.

A U. N. command spokesman called the atom story "pure fabrication." Simultaneously top level Reds made an abrupt switch in their true aims.

Red radios gave no indication whether Communist armistice negotiators would advance this new pattern when truce talks resume at Panmunjom at 11 A. M. Wednesday (9 P. M. Tuesday, EST).

The new high level Red statements could set truce talks back to where they were when they started four months ago. The North Korean foreign minister proposed injecting punishment for war crimes—against Koreans. Red China's foreign minister endorsed the truce plan of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky including an immediate ceasefire, a buffer zone along the 38th parallel and immediate withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea.

U. N. command negotiators have turned all these points down and indicated they would do so again unless the truce plan, Communist negotiators themselves long since abandoned these points and switched to talking about a ceasefire along the battle line.

Realistic Dream Of Child Keeps Dad From Sleep

By HAL HOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Notebook jottings by a pavement painter: One of the saddest aspects of the weird times we live in is the unexpected impact they have on the minds of our young.

The other night a father woke up to hear his small son crying bitterly in the dark. He arose and went into the boy's room to find out what was wrong.

"I forgot the Lord's Prayer, daddy," sobbed his son. "But you said it just before you went to bed," said the father. "I know," replied the child. "But I dreamed I was talking to a scientist, and he told me all the air was escaping from the earth, and everybody in the world would soon be dead. And I tried to say the Lord's Prayer, and I couldn't remember it."

The father soothed his fears and said, "Of course, you remember it, son. Let's say it together." And they chanted, "Our Father, who art in heaven..."

Soon the small boy was sound asleep again. But the father stayed awake for a long, long time.

Manhattan snapshot: An old lady, out walking her dog, paused at a first avenue doorway in which a dirty-whiskered bum lay curled, his eyes closed, majestically at peace.

"You're a bad boy, that's what you are—a bad boy," she said, shaking her head.

The elderly dretzel got up and muttered belligerently: "Whass that you said? I heard you."

"I said you're a bad boy," pulled the old lady sternly, pulling back her dog.

"Thass right, thass right," agreed the bum, lying back contentedly. "You zeta sixth sense, lady."

To members of the Worry-of-the-Month Club: Get ready now to wrinkle your brows over our December selection: What to do about old vests?

We feel that this should be perhaps our most popular worry-of-the-month during 1951. Many men complain their closets are bulging with old vests they no longer wear. They refuse to throw them away, however, and wives say they can't use them to make skirts.

What will be done with all the nation's old vests? Don't wait until December. Start worrying about this problem now. It serves your best anxiety.

Seatrains To Run From New York To Savannah Nov. 30

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Seatrains Service—the carrying of loaded freight cars by ship—will begin between the port of the New York and Savannah, Ga., on Nov. 30.

The first seatrain for Savannah will leave on that date from Edgewater, N. J., across the Hudson River from Manhattan, Seatrain Lines, Inc., announced today. The seatrain will leave Savannah for Edgewater the following Tuesday.

Thereafter there will be one round trip each week, leaving Savannah each Tuesday afternoon. The run will be made by the seatrain "Havana" now in operation between New York and New Orleans and Texas City, Tex.

She will be re-christened the "Savannah" on her arrival in Savannah on Dec. 1.

She will be replaced on the New York-Gulf Coast run by a new 563-foot seatrain, the "Louisiana," which was launched in October at Dover, Pa.

Seatrains will be on their regular steamship service between Savannah and New York was interrupted in 1942 by the war and never resumed.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, in granting the line temporary authority Nov. 13 to operate on that run, found that there was "an immediate and urgent need" for the service. The line has an application pending to operate the service permanently.

Each seatrain is capable of carrying about 100 loaded freight cars. The cars are driven out a pier alongside the seatrain and are hoisted with their contents into the ship.

The cars are stowed on three decks and a superstructure. They are packed in such a way that no weight rests on their wheels or springs and so they will remain steady during the voyage.

A powerful crane lifts them out and sets them on railroad tracks at their destination.

Seatrains said it already had completed construction of a terminal at the Central of Georgia Railroad piers in Savannah in anticipation of approval of this service by the ICC.

The lines said seatrain and the Central of Georgia each spent $400,000 on the terminal project. The Edgewater piers connect with the Susquehanna and Western lines.

Seatrains said its service would carry general cargo including textiles, liquor, asphalt, iron and steel products, lumber, fiber, board, candy and numerous other articles.

Seatrains said it was possible some law enforcement agency might, on learning of his projected trip, take action to keep him in this vicinity as a possible witness.

The New York City Anti-Crime Committee is headed by Spruille Braden, former U.S. Ambassador to Argentina, and was formed to combat local crime on the pattern of the Senate crime committee.

The committee spokesman said Anastasia was slated to accompany himself to Joe's Restaurant in Cliffside Park on Oct. 4 and was slated for death along with Martelli.

Anastasia apparently was tipped off regarding possible trouble and went, instead, to a hospital for X-ray treatment, the spokesman said.

He indicated the underworld later decided to give Anastasia the chance to go to the Mid-West.

Anastasia has a painful home at Fort Lee, N.J., across the Hudson from New York, and reputedly has been ordered by the underworld to close it up, the spokesman said.

OCALA, Nov. 20.—(AP)—A 29-year-old Plant City man, James J. Perry, was fatally injured last night while enroute to the National Forest to join a hunting party when he failed to make a curve in the highway just east of Silver Springs and crashed his 1950 pickup truck into a tree.

According to patrolman A. E. Reddick, who investigated, the accident occurred at 9:25. Perry died at 12:20 at Munroe Memorial hospital of internal and head injuries.

He was riding alone, and had several hunting dogs in the back of the truck.

TODAY'S HEADLINE

If riches are an end in themselves we are beaten before we start. We must find a way to have money collecting itself. We must have up riches and know them not who shall gather them.—Ps. 39:6

There has to be a certain amount of love at first sight because some people don't have second sight.

The average home is said to contain about eight thousand pounds of iron and steel. In some cases that would equal the weight of the mortgage.

A vaccine which will be effective against infantile paralysis is in prospect for the immediate future, says Basil O'Connor, head of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation. "That we will have a vaccine and immunization process seems certain," he says. "Exactly when that will be, I don't know. I believe we very surely will see its benefits."

Senator Taft says he wouldn't mind having a States Rights vice president on his ticket. And that could mean Senator Byrd of Virginia, or Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina. Asked how a ticket of Taft and Byrd would do in an election, Taft says, "It would win." As between a ticket of Taft and Byrd, or Eisenhower and Warren (of California), whom would the South support?

Rep. Syd Helgson returning to Washington from a recent tour of his Florida district says he is convinced the public is against any new taxes, and he will vote against them in the next session. An astute observation: High taxes are breaking the backs of everyone who pays them, everyone who works, that is, the only ones who benefit from high taxes are the political spenders.

President Truman charges that special interests will try to buy the 1952 presidential election. No doubt they will. All those who have been eating out of the public feed trough, who have been profiting from political pay, who have been gutting all the body politic, will certainly do everything they can to remain in power without regard for decency or public morals.

The Medical Research Council of England says its investigations support previous research conducted in this country that lung cancer is related to the habit of smoking. Of some comfort to those who enjoy their package or two a day, or perhaps their after-dinner cigar, is the further conclusion that "smoking, important though it seems to be, is not the only cause of cancer of the lungs."

Unification of the armed services has not completely eliminated all differences of opinion. Vice Admiral Gerald Bogan, for instance, insists, "A 140 group Air Force cannot be justified. Air power has its limitations. If you get all your eggs in one basket, you're going to suffer. You've got to get your supplies to where the fighting is and you can't do that with airplanes." And if you put all your eggs in one basket, you are apt to have scrambled eggs for supper.

In sentencing a basketball player and five college players to jail, a New York judge says the "commercialism and over-emphasis in intercollegiate football and basketball are rampant throughout the country." The judge is described as "a cool, calculating and cunning woe-weaver on the public and the athletes." What has brought this athletics to this low state of degeneracy? Gambling. The professional gamblers have been in anything but a sound state of mind. It is estimated that one of the "big boys" of the American gambling racket, who has been in it for a very long time, has lost in his very rottenness.

Controlled Farming

There might not be sufficient evidence to support a conclusion that farmers in general are becoming less enthusiastic about the program of federal farm price supports, but those who are opposed seem at least to be gaining more attention. The National Milk Producers Federation in its recent annual convention recommended the elimination of the federal program and substitution of a co-operative system for dealing with crop surplus. The Illinois Agricultural Association adopted a resolution calling for the end of price supports, subsidies and acreage controls. Some of the other large farm groups from time to time have similarly asked for abandonment of the federal farm program.

It may be guessed that the thing which turns farmers against the program of subsidies and supports is usually the federal control which accompanies federal funds. Farmers who want to be eligible for subsidies and market support must comply with planting and marketing rules laid down by the government. The traditional individuality of the farmer has suffered from this need to comply with controls and also from a sense of dependence on government which attends the persistent acceptance of federal checks.

It could not be said with certainty how the majority of farmers now feel about the subsidy program; perhaps they still favor it. But the reactions of some of the substantial farm organizations should not be missed by other population groups which may think that it would be nice to drop their economic problems on the shoulders of Uncle Sam. When people give their problems to the government, they also give up freedom of action.

Tax Collection Probe

The investigation of apparent irregularities in the collection of federal taxes and in the prosecution of tax evaders has the possibility of tremendous popularity among the people. The average citizen pays his proper taxes, although not altogether happily. He wants everyone else to pay his proper taxes, too.

The tax collection probe also has extraordinary possibilities for good work in improving the general tone of the conduct of public office and government activities. At least in the opening phases there has seemed to be willing co-operation and singleness of purpose between representatives of the two parties in Congress and between Congress and the administration. Under such circumstances, both a complete and a fair job of finding and eliminating faults should be possible.

Apparently there is wide recognition in Washington of the basic importance of fairness, equity and blamelessness in the collection of taxes. The tax office is the one through which the greatest number of citizens have direct contact with their government. If it is not above reproach, the people will sooner or later discover the fact, and the people are likely to judge the entire government by their most frequent contact with it. If the tax office can be kept on a high ethical level, the example might inspire greater efforts to raise the ethical level of all government.

Somber Parade

Statistics on traffic fatalities sometimes fail to impress people because they regard the columns of figures as they would a problem in arithmetic. It is hard to remember that every fatality listed is a dead human being.

To make such statistics have real meaning for people a civic group in Muncie, Germany, staged a macabre procession in which a man robed and masked as death rode at the head of a line of 200 marchers dressed in black hoods and carrying crosses. Each marcher stood for one person killed in a traffic accident last year. The group hoped that the spectacle might have a sobering effect on drivers.

Most drivers who take unnecessary chances do so without ever considering the possible consequences to themselves or others. Perhaps some of those who watched the grim parade in Munich will remember the ghostly marchers when they are tempted to take a chance. It may be that some similar demonstration in our own cities might produce good effects.

distribution center for five oil companies. He asked why Sanford had lost this advantage.

Mr. Higgins explained the difficulties of water transportation at that time due to the 8-foot channel (as compared with the present 12-foot channel) and the resulting rounding of barges during low water, but pointed out that the rate differential was lost because the barge at that time met the competition and lowered their rates. He added that this might happen again if a terminal were constructed here.

Mr. Pitts read telegrams from C. G. Willis of the Willis Barge Lines, expressing an interest in the Sanford terminal and declaring that freight for barge lines is now in excess of previous years, and from Otto Caldwell of the Florida John River Line also showing his interest in the project and declaring that his company always made money on the river up to the time the line was abandoned during the war on account of labor difficulties and a fire in the warehouse.

Henry Simpson, who has just returned from a meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce in West Palm Beach, where he accompanied Forrest Beckwith, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, said that every indication at the meeting pointed to increasing industrial growth for Florida.

"If you know of the many big outside industries which are looking for locations in Florida, you would think more seriously about the terminal project," he said. "In fact, we are now in a position to have a new terminal in an excellent location, and in order to obtain it we must have industrial growth in the area around the terminal."

Other speakers at the meeting were Al Lee, John Mack, Arthur Conroy, and Miss Dorothy Powell.

Taxi Horse-Sense

By GEORGE PECK
In Link-Belt News

The average taxi-driver is gifted and able. The stupid and mediocre, being unable to think for themselves, become the tools of political racketeers who take over and ruin things for everyone—sometimes even musicians. And further, he possesses the unusual gift of being able to express his thoughts in simple, salty language. How does the taxi-driver win that way? There are two signals controlling factors that make him an interesting combination of a keen appraiser of events, past, present and to come.

First, as he piles his trade, he has in that chariot of his, a signal containing factors that are not original with the taxi-driver, but original or not, it expressed his views of the situation that transpires at Washington. It comes my long-ago arrived-at opinion that the average cabbie is a sound economist.

If it is not your habit to chat with the driver as you taxi, I respectfully suggest that when next you trust life and limb to his tender mercies, you give him an opening. You'll be pleasantly astounded at the horse-sense that will come drifting back your way.

With Fuller Warren's lease to a mansion in Tallahassee running out in about a year from now, it appears that a lot of prospective tenants are preparing to stampede the landlord for a chance to take over the day that Fuller moves out.

The way things have started out it appears that between now and next May, the landlord will get an awful and no foolin'.

Dan McCarty of Ft. Pierce, who had hoped to get the lease three years ago, has been making a fuss over the owner of the property and whispering in his ear at every opportunity. Dan's friends, and he has a lot of 'em, have been putting in a good word for him, too.

Up in Tallahassee, former Justice of the Supreme Court, Al Adams has had his eagle eyes on the property for some time. Considering the fact that Fuller is coming up the place, and Adams is right on the ground, he has decided to get with the landlord and see if he can't persuade him to make a deal for the next four years. Millard Caldwell, who spent a few years there awhile back, has been telling Al that a nice comfortable place it is, so he is mighty anxious to move in.

While he was serving in the legislature, J. Bralley Odham of Sanford used to walk by the place frequently and it seems that he has also taken a real fancy to it. He is sure that he can convince the landlord that he would make an excellent tenant and is promising to clean the place up and keep it nice and tidy if given the opportunity. He claims there are a lot of skeletons in the closet that ought to be gotten rid of and he is just itching to do a first-class job of house-cleaning.

Bill Hendrix of Tallahassee, head of the Ku Klux, has been sore ever since the present occupant called him and his followers a bunch of "Jukes." Bill would like nothing better than to move in himself and burn a nice big cross on the front lawn. He admits, however, that he isn't on very good terms with the landlord and doubts if he would be given much consideration.

for the better and of genuine benefit to the landlord.

A Tampan named Bruce Stevens has also started ping-pong the owner's doorbell and is telling what an excellent tenant he would make. At St. Petersburg, friends of Henry S. Hayward have been trying to get him to appeal for the place. They think Henry would prove a most desirable tenant and advised him that if he didn't have the rent money they would scout around and help him dig it up. They figure they could have a lot of fun and throw some swell parties there if Hank Hayward was in possession of the key. But Hayward knows his way around, and after giving the proposition a lot of careful consideration he finally decided that life in St. Petersburg would be a lot pleasanter than in Tallahassee, so he says he is going to pass up the idea.

When the matter of the lease was up for consideration three years ago, the boys interested in it at the time sure did entertain the landlord in bang up style. No one actually knows how much was spent on entertainment, but it was into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

While the boys may have to keep track of their expenditures a little closer this time and some of them may find their style cramped a bit, there are always ways and means and you can rest assured that the landlord will be well taken care of and entertained royally.

Of course after one of them wins out and the new lease is signed, sealed and delivered nobody pays much attention to the landlord for the next few years, but from all indications he is in for a high old time from now until election rolls around.

If you haven't gotten a ringside seat you better be getting one for this promising to be a knock-down, drag-out contest there ever was one. Bralley Odham has already come in swinging and when you get 'em all in the ring slugging and slapping you can look for some bloody noses and some gorgeous black eyes.

De Bary Dairies

Of all our holidays, none is more typically American than Thanksgiving Day. We all know how it was inaugurated by a small band of grateful people who, after enduring many hardships, were nevertheless ready to give thanks to God for the crops they were able to raise, for the meat and fish they had found in woods and streams and for the friendly Indians who had shown them how to live in this land of long, stern winters. The Red Indians, whom they feared and distrusted, were the ones who first brought them the turkeys and cranberries which helped to make the feast.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

True Thanksgiving, resulting from answered prayer evidenced by healing and regeneration, is the theme of services to be held in all Christian Science churches on Thanksgiving Day. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "THANKSGIVING." One of David's Psalms of rejoicing provides the Golden Text: "Who have welcomed us and made us feel at home; for the churches which have opened their doors to us; for the doctors and nurses who have administered to our sick and who have on many occasions answered our calls in emergencies and saved precious lives. For all of these we thank God."

"It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High." (Psalms 92:1)

Included in the Bible citations is the following from John (14:12 to 13): "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also;" Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "Jesus taught the way of Life by demonstration, that we may understand how this divine Principle heals the sick casts out error, and triumphs over death. We must go and do likewise, else we are but imitating the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us." (p. 25).

Large cities are supposed to be heartless but we know that in New York City there was never a hospital, orphanage, prison, derelict "hotel," newsboy's club or poor neighbor, but had an invitation to a special dinner or found a basket full of food on the doorstep the day before Thanksgiving. You who have come from other large cities all over the country will recognize the picture and say "We did those things too." That is the American way of life. The residents of DeBary find themselves for the most part far from home on this Thanksgiving Day in 1951. We have adopted Florida as our new home and we would like to put into the hands of some of the things for which we are especially thankful. For the many good neighbors and friends we have acquired in our new community; for the Floridians

Sanford Grid Squad Meets Leesburg In Final Season Game

Yellow Jackets Play Host To Favored Feds Tonight; 3 Elected Captain

Sanford's Colery Feds wind up their regular football season tonight when they journey to Leesburg to play a Thanksgiving Eve game with the Yellow Jackets.

It will be a Leesburg homecoming spectacle with the kickoff scheduled for 8:00 P.M. Seminoles senior Jim Fleming will have a whole fleet of backs to throw into the fray against the Jackets.

Vito (Babe) Parilli's aerial exploits at Kentucky have been making headlines for three years. Coach Paul (Cletor) Bryant calls Parilli the finest passer and greatest quarterback in football, pro or collegiate.

The 22-year-old Rochester, Pa., flinger already has established four national passing records. They are: Most passing passes in one season, 23 in 1950; most yards gained by passing in three-year period, 4,172; most passes completed over three-year period, 216; and most touchdown passes in three years, 50.

Lauricella has thrown 43 passes and completed 20 for four touchdowns and 318 net yards. His kicking average for the season is 38.5 yards, one yard short of Parilli's.

Statistically, Lauricella's record is hardly as imposing as Parilli's. But Lauricella's value to Tennessee and his single wing system cannot be measured in the statistical column.

He's the chief runner, passer, kicker and field general for Tennessee, the nation's No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll.

The slender New Orleans sprinter has carried the ball 720 yards in 82 runs from scrimmage for eight touchdowns and an 8.8-yard average.

What ever the outcome of the Lauricella-Parilli duel Saturday, Lauricella will hold the edge on Parilli over the three-year span. In 1949, he directed Tennessee to its 60 victory over Kentucky after Parilli was intercepted.

Parilli was intercepted by Seminoles coach Ed Gordon. He threw a 25-yard touchdown pass to Capt. Bert Reichebar. Vol wingback, for Tennessee's 7-0 decision in the battle of the blizzards.

Best Backs From South Battle In Lexington Game

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 21.—The South's best running back versus the South's best passer—this is a side dish the Kentucky-Tennessee football game offers Saturday at Lexington, Ky.

Hank Lauricella, Tennessee's talented triple-threat fullback, generally is conceded to be the finest runner developed in the South since 1946 when Charlie Tripp won All-America honors at Georgia.

Gay 90's Editor Was Bothered By Football Emphasis

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The hue and cry about the over-emphasis of college football is nothing new—Editors were taking on the subject 27 years ago.

"This over-emphasis has been largely due to the desire to become 'champions' over all other important teams," said an editorial in The Nation, New York, Nov. 2, 1929. Said the editor:

"The defeat of the Yale and Princeton football teams by those of Columbia and Cornell, hitherto considered by the older colleges as an event of great importance to the future of inter-collegiate athletics.

"It marks the end of the 'championship' idea in that branch of sport just as the baseball teams of Dartmouth, Georgetown and Brown and other colleges have made it impossible in past years to decide which nine was superior to all the others throughout the country.

"The value of the resulting state of affairs can be estimated only by those familiar with the false and utterly disproportionate place athletics have had in the college curriculum and the minds of the undergraduates hitherto.

"This over-emphasis has been largely due to the desire to become 'champions' over all other teams, and the impracticability of accomplishing this now paves the way for contests between neighbors and across the continent in which less emphasis will be laid upon success than upon playing games in a manly, honest, straightforward and gentlemanly way, for the sake of the sport and exercise.

"We shall hear very little of charges of professionalism and unfair play in the minute the undergraduate begins to take this attitude toward intercollegiate contests. The defeats of Saturday, furthermore, are not as critical as expected, as both Yale and Princeton narrowly escaped similar ones last year.

"They are the result of better methods of training in the smaller colleges, taught by graduates of the teams of Yale, Harvard and Princeton, and are not due to any sudden attendance of physically superior students, as the critics are wont to make for a better game, under better rules and under less dangerous conditions, and bring more players in each college to take heedful of outside criticism."

"They are to be on hand in 'Dutch' Kirkland, of Miami, who played with the Lake City team opposite Fred Fotts. The two have remained friends through the years and often appear together at football dinners.

TERRIFIC TIGER By Alan Maver

DICK KAZMAIER, HE'S MADE IT EASY FOR THE ALL-AMERICA PICKERS, THEY ONLY HAVE TO CHOOSE 10 MEN, NOW!

WHEN CORNELL SHOWS UP HE SEES (BAB) RED - DICK HIT ON IS OF IT PASSES 3 FOR TOUCHDOWN, AND SCORES A WIN HIMSELF THIS YEAR - AND IN 1950 COMPLETED 70 3-4, SCORED TWICE AND GAINED 5-TIMES AS MUCH AS THEIR WHOLE TEAM ON THE GROUND.

Princeton's Dick Kazmaier, in line for a bushel of honors, is virtually assured of becoming the first eastern football player to win the major-college total offense title.

Kazmaier, 20th in total defense a month ago, tops the field with 1,707 yards gained by rushing and passing—118 more than runner-up Klosterman of Loyola of California.

Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski, fifth with 1,451 yards and Babe Parilli of the Kentucky Wildcats are ninth with 1,274.

Kazmaier also leads in touchdown responsibility with 29. He has scored nine and one-half for more. He also is tops in pass completion percentage with 61 per cent and average gains per offense play, 6.9 yards.

Klosterman is second in total offense with 1,580 yards, of which 652 have resulted from passing minus 34 from rushing.

The Loyola star, who has gained the most yards via the air lines set season records, for passes attempted and completed last week when he connected on 16 out of 26 tries against Lincoln-Simpson. He has completed 155 passes out of 268 attempts to wipe out Wash.

Conch Joe McMullen hopes to have all his men in shape for the game with the possible exception of Fulmer Armstrong, who suffered an ankle injury in the Wolford game.

1910 Gridders To See Stetson Meet Livingston

DELAND, Nov. 21.—(Special)—Five surviving members of the 1910 Stetson football team which defeated the Florida Agricultural College at the Jacksonville fair to usher in intercollegiate athletics in Florida, have been invited to attend the Stetson-Livingston football game here Saturday night.

Tennessee Given 13 Point Margin In Kentucky Tilt

Prognosticator Sees Cal Knocking Off Unbeaten Stanford

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

LEASBURG, Ky., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Trying to pick football winners with one eye on the performance charts of the various teams with the other watching from cigarette factories to colts' coops to turkey.

So, under a handicap, here are Saturday's victors: Tennessee over Kentucky: a total of 13 points was scored in the two-way meeting of these dixie giants, all by Tennessee. The Vols may not be able to shutout the Wildcats for a third straight year but Tennessee has the horses to outscore Kentucky.

California over Stanford: Stanford to taste defeat for the first time this year. Michigan State over Colorado: the blue and white team in the country smacks down the No. 2 team in the Big Seven Conference.

Princeton over Dartmouth: Dick Kazmaier, Princeton's candidate for all-anything honors, says farewell to the home folk. Maryland over West Virginia: it is as simple as this—Maryland defeated Washington & Lee, 54 to 14; Washington & Lee, in turn, trounced West Virginia, 34 to 0. By comparative scores it should be 38 to 14.

Illinois over Northwestern: the Illini counter their jinx team and get plane tickets for the Rose Bowl game all in one rugged afternoon. Wisconsin over Minnesota and Purdue over Indiana: Wisconsin and Purdue finish their Big Ten schedules with victories but will windup in that order behind Illinois on the conference standings.

Rice over Texas Christian and Baylor over Southern Methodist: Rice and Baylor will win to set the stage for their clash at Fort Worth with the conference title at stake on December 1. Georgia Tech over Davidson: Tech leads Darrell Crawford's Wildcats in wins by a wide margin over the game with Georgia a week later.

Stamford over the rest in a hurry: Saturday, St. Joseph's over Colorado A&M; Princeton's Don Heinrich's mark of 341 completions and Holy Cross' Chuck K. Boy's mark of 242 attempts.

Parilli is second to Klosterman in forward passing with 121 completions but leads in touchdowns scored with 19. Parilli tossed three playoff passes Saturday to boost his career total to 59, a record, surpassing the previous high of 48 thrown by Hardin-Simmons' own Ford.

Bratkowski is sixth with 99 completions for yardage of 1,383. Six were touchdown passes. Vanderbilt's Bill Wade holds the eighth spot, with 92 completions including 11 touchdown passes.

In other departments, Ollie Matson of San Francisco leads in rushing with 1,414 yards, Hugh McPherson of Washington in scoring with 118 points. Frank Sade, Hardin-Simmons in number carries, 227 and Buck McPhail, Hardin-Simmons in yards-per-carry, 9.0.

Alabama Backs Put On Offensive Show As Tide Preps For Gators

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Alabama halfbacks put on an offensive show as the Crimson Tide worked yesterday to get ready to give the Florida Gators a warm welcome Saturday.

Luke McCain and Bobby Luna were impressive against B-team defense, breaking loose for several steady with well aimed passes. The 'Bama' defensive varsity logged a good day's work, too.

Freshman Tackle Ed Culpepper eluded through to throw ball carriers for losses, and junior End Harte Ivy was alert in stopping plays run at his side of the line.

The Gators were just as busy. Coach Bob Woodruff keeping these scrimmages going full blast. Linebacker Arlen Jumper and Hill Webster were particularly effective as the varsity defensive line bottled up the B-team running game. Tackle Charles LaPrade and Jim Reeves slammed down the ball carriers consistently.

Buford Long and J. Hall worked on punt returns, taking the booming kicks of Rich Casares, who has a 50.5 yard average. Auburn began to get a little life back into things after two bad weekends, with Charles Hataway and Billy Conn sparking the scrimmages. Vince Dooley handed quarterback chores evenly, tossing two touchdown passes. The Tigers play Cessan Saturday.

Georgia, Mississippi and Mississippi State look it easy: Neither has a game scheduled this weekend. Georgia Tech, which doesn't look for any serious trouble from Davidson, continued to let the regulars take a rest. Linemen worked in sweatsuits, but reserves were ordered to a rough scrimmage today. Coach Bobby Dodd elevated former Rome High star Bobby Gilliland from the B team to the varsity. Gilliland is a 150-pound, 8-foot 1-inch halfback.

Jim Demain replaced crippled Bill Wade in Vanderbilt's No. 1 quarterback slot. Wade's injured knee is improved but he probably won't play against Memphis State. Commodore Coach Bill Edwards said Vandy "may not throw a single pass" Saturday depending on the day's performance.

Utah over Idaho, Virginia Military over Virginia Tech, Washington & Lee over Richmond, Wichita over Detroit, Xavier over Toledo. Friday night: College of Pacific over San Jose State, Louisville over Mississippi Southern.

Saturday: Eastern University over Syracuse, Yale over Harvard, Cornell over Penn. Forham over New York University, Holy Cross over Temple, Pittsburgh over Penn State.

South Alabama over Florida, Clemson over Auburn, Duke over North Carolina. Florida State over Bradley, the Citadel over East Carolina, Tulane over Southeast Louisiana, Vanderbilt over Mississippi State, Villanova over Louisiana State, Virginia over William & Mary, Wake Forest over South Carolina.

Middle West: Notre Dame over Iowa, Ohio State over Michigan, Oklahoma over Nebraska. Southwest: Hardin-Simmons over Arizona. Far West: Oregon State over Oregon, Washington State over Washington.

Sunday: Marquette over Santa Clara, San Francisco over Loyola (Los Angeles).

Week's Top Linemen Both Western Stars

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A guard from the Pacific Conference and a tackle from the Southwest Conference were picked today as the linemen of the week in the Associated Press poll.

Norman Manogian of Stanford's unbeatens Rose Bowl team carried the nod on the offensive side as the week's best offensive star. Big Bill Foraster of Southern Methodist won defensive honors.

Foraster's feat was unusual in that he shifted to fullback on offense and in that position lugged the ball over for two touchdowns against Arkansas.

On defense, at tackle, however, turned in what his coach, H. Russell, termed one of the best games of the season. Manogian was the key man on front in Stanford's victory over Oregon State.

So many linemen played a whole of a game on both sides in the mercenary Ohio State-Illinois game on Columbus, O. that there was no outstanding individual.

Bucknell Receives Tangerine Bowl Bid

ORLANDO, Nov. 21.—Bucknell University has been invited to play in the Tangerine Bowl football game, officials said last night.

No opponent will be named until an answer from the Lewisburg, Pa., school is obtained. Bucknell was rated 8th in the nation in the weekly Associated Press poll Monday.

OPS Grants Price Hikes For Meats, Beer Next On List

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(AP)—The prices of hot dogs, bologna, and some pork sausage will go up somewhere around two cents a pound, effective Monday, under new rules issued today by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS).

OPS said new rules governing prices of fresh and semi-dry sausage containing beef, hot dogs and bologna for example—were revised to pass on to processors higher material costs.

An announcement said the increase will compensate processors for a hike in the permissible price for beef at wholesale which is ordered in mid-September.

Officials estimated the increase in both cases will average about two cents a pound at retail shops. Meanwhile, OPS was at work on another order which will permit the price of beer for home consumption to increase about a cent a bottle.

Officials are aiming for a target date of Dec. 1, but the order may be delayed somewhat beyond that date.

Increased labor and packaging costs were said by officials to be the reason for the forthcoming order, which will affect the nation's 350 breweries, some of whom sell more than 250,000 beer bottles.

The actual price increase may be less than one cent. But coupled with the recent tax increase on ten cents on a standard bottle of beer, it will permit retailers to charge a full penny more.

My New York

NEW YORK—I met Bunny Johnson this morning and later, when I sat down to write about her, I thought I would start off by calling her a brave person. But that didn't seem strong enough.

Bunny is a honey-haired girl from Stratford, Conn., who a few years ago came down to New York to become one of John Robert Powers' best models. She worked at it for about a year and then she dropped out of sight, in a way, it was understandable. She had been knocked flat on her back by arthritis.

It's tough to see anyone with arthritis—I have an uncle who is the salt of the earth and has had it for 30 years; I have sat at his bedside and thought darkly of at least 15 persons who should have had it instead of him—but to see someone as young and pretty as Bunny racked by it isn't pleasant.

There were two items, however, to brighten the day. We were sitting in one of the offices of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, in the Billmore—Bunny spends as much of her spare time as possible trying to help the foundation's campaign-fund drive—and she told me, calmly and undramatically, how she had fought for years now against the ailment. She seems to be winning.

She spent all night, night after night, weeping after work, just pressing down on her paralyzed knees in a special set of dynamic tension exercises, and now she has the use of her knees. The arthritis has settled in her hip area now and it looks as if an operation is next in line. She has given herself almost unmercifully in her fight against it. Whether she will win the fight is anyone's guess—but when you talk to her, you don't see how she can miss.

The other bright item: Bunny lives by herself in a little apartment near Columbia University—and there, friends are forever dropping in to cheer her, amuse her, argue with her, and cook, too, some delicious, and now she has the use of her knees. The arthritis has settled in her hip area now and it looks as if an operation is next in line. She has given herself almost unmercifully in her fight against it. Whether she will win the fight is anyone's guess—but when you talk to her, you don't see how she can miss.

THEY OPENED A NEW EAST SIDE RESTAURANT the other evening, a small, intimate, luxurious little place on upper Broadway called Mac's Club. And I was happy to notice, among the assorted socialites, breakfast broadcasting teams and other free-lancers who turned up for the opening, the small, elegant man named Michael Arlen.

It could be that since the death of James J. Walker, once seen never forgotten, the debonair Mr. Arlen is the man who best illustrates that old, exotic, foolishly absorbing cafe society way of life in Manhattan.

The amiable Michael is a very busy man for such and the untangling of her tangled entanglements; this is something like obtaining the Good Housekeeping seal of approval.

These must be difficult times for Mr. Arlen. Not because he no longer is writing much of anything. After he was such a literary lion of the Twenties, with his glittering The Green Hat and its most wonderful of all heroines, Irish March, he quite candidly admitted that writing as such didn't intrigue him. "Turning out two books a year, all alike, is my idea of decay and desperation," he said with obvious dislike.

No—Mr. Arlen must be having a hard time because elegance is disappearing from the scene everywhere. He goes to the best restaurants and supper clubs in town and tries to keep up the pretense, but there is a casual air and informality these days about life, even in New York, that must depress him. Like Mr. Menjou, of whom we spoke recently, Mr. Arlen has a very hard time for such and the untangling of her tangled entanglements; this is something like obtaining the Good Housekeeping seal of approval.

It's a hell of a shock to have a newspaper reporter call you six weeks after it has happened and tell you your daughter is on the way to prison," declared the father, maritime service Lt. John H. Morton, in a telephone call to the Associated Press yesterday.

The Army announced Saturday Sgt. Grace L. Morton and five other WAC sergeants were convicted November 8 of assault and battery and ordered dishonorably discharged. They were demoted to privates, pending a review of Christmas gifts from her subjects?

Answers: (1) During the days of Oliver Cromwell in the Puritan-dominated 17th century. (2) No, because it wasn't written until 1822. (3) Prancer, Dancer, Donder, Biltzen, Comet, Cupid, Dasher, Vixen. (4) 'Tis said the first Christmas card originated in England during the reign of Queen Victoria. (5) In Teutonic times Hertha, goddess of the hearth and home, was supposed to descend through the smoke of burning fir boughs. Santa Claus was later identified in the same way. (6) Queen Elizabeth stipulated that her subjects give her Christmas presents.

War Wives Headed Toward U. S. With Soldier Husbands

TOKYO, Nov. 21—(AP)—Eleven shy and excited Asiatic war wives left tonight for strange new homes in the United States with the American soldiers they married in war-battered Korea. Ten are Korean nationals. The other is Chinese, born in Peiping but a resident of Seoul since 1946. Korean-American babies accompanied three.

The 11 families left on a military air transport plane for a 30-hour flight via Honolulu to San Francisco. The wives and their husbands had spent 12 awesome hours in this bustling city. They came from Korea by boat and train. In Korea the wives left war, hardship and bitter memories. Some had been caught behind Communist lines in the war. One was pulled for a time as a spy. The parents of one were killed in the fighting. The parents of another soldier father of still another are missing.

Today the wives were shyly hopeful of the future. They wore dresses in new tailored suits and bouffant hairstyles. When Ok Brychel, wife of Sgt. Adam C. Brychel, of Chicago, voiced their common view: "I want very much to see the big stores, the movie theaters, all the cars and the big hotels my husband has told me about."

"But most of all, I am very anxious to meet my husband's family and I am praying that they will like me."

Missing Plane

(Continued from Page One) ed seeing the plane Monday near both the Hungarian and Romanian borders, far off its scheduled route. Belief was expressed here that the pilot mistook the Drava River for the Sava River, which it was supposed to follow.

The U. S. embassy here said the pilot probably realized he was off course when he was fired on, and then turned back westward. He last reported to his base near Munich, Germany, was that he was low on fuel and unsure whether he could make Venice for an emergency landing.

A search was also directed over the northern Adriatic Sea, on the possibility the pilot may have come down in the sea.

United Nations

(Continued from Page One) showed willingness to make concessions. The group—made up of representatives of the United States, France and Turkey—now is drafting a report of its failure to the General Assembly. It then will be up to the assembly to decide whether the commission should be liquidated or continued in existence.

Russia put before the United Nations a demand for a general amnesty in Greece, "an end to U. S. rule in Greece," and establishment of diplomatic relations between Greece and Communist Bulgaria and Albania.

Semen Tarapkin, deputy Russian delegation leader, introduced his resolution in the special political committee after a bitter attack on the present Greek government. He said it had turned Greece into "an American monopoly, operated from overseas."

U.S. Observes Holiday Of Thanksgiving

Truman At Key West Is Host To Chief Justice Vinson And Stanley Woodward

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Like the Pilgrim Fathers of 1621, Americans pause to savor the hardwon liberties of freedom in a troubled world on this Thanksgiving Day today.

Half at war, striving for peace, the nation plans to observe the holiday with the traditional brown-roasted turkey and all the trimmings. Sparkling cold, clear weather is forecast generally, with snow in some areas.

Even on the far-off Korean battle-front, many American combat troops could heap their mess kits with turkey-day fare calculated to make the eyes of their rice-fed Communist enemies pop out.

At one West President Truman played Thanksgiving host to the man many believe he would like to have step into his shoes if he should die next to run again.

Chief Justice Vinson, chief of the United States, and Mrs. Vinson, were guests of President and Mrs. Truman at the white cottage with the spacious lawn where the chief executive now regularly spends his winter vacations.

They planned a trip to the beach, a walk around the naval submarine station, and most of all, a shopping big turkey dinner at 2 P.M.

There has been no word from the President whether he will seek re-election in 1952. Nor has there been any indication whatsoever that Vinson plans to step down from the Supreme Court.

But there has been speculation that should Mr. Truman decide against running he would rather see Vinson succeed him than any Democrat he knows.

He consults the Chief Justice frequently when major decisions are pending. And they are such close cronies that they get together on occasion for poker playing with friends.

The President has said he will not announce whether he will run again in 1952 until some time after he submits his three major messages to Congress in January.

Thieves Ransack 2 Homes In Sanford

Police are on the alert to capture a streak thief who last night entered and ransacked two Sanford homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wright, residing in their home at Twenty-sixth Street and French Avenue last night, surprised an intruder who fled out the back door as they entered the front door, they told Sgt. W. A. Horn, investigating officer, that they did not get a look at the man. At the time, they reported nothing was stolen, but later told police that a rebuilt Singer sewing machine was missing.

At 10:10 o'clock last night, Sgt. Horn and Capt. Roy Tillis were called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Steele, 806 Escambia Drive, which had been entered and robbed.

Entry had been made by the breaking of a hook on a window in the rear of the house. Bureau drawers had been ransacked and about $12 in a pocket book and another $15 in dimes in a piggy bank had been stolen. Two pairs of pants taken by the thief were found outside a window.

Valued at more than one million dollars, the library of the late General Henry S. Sanford, founder of Sanford, is in the home at Derby, Conn. Mrs. Carolina Dow, daughter of General Sanford, now living in the home at Derby, has the collection including books, bric-a-brac and furniture, providing a fireproof building is built here to house it. The collection represents gifts to General Sanford from foreign countries. The Sallie Harrison Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will display some of the 10th century furniture which has been given to the Seminole County Museum at the Sanford Women's Club, next Wednesday afternoon and evening. Mrs. Miriam Russell has charge of the program. The D. A. R. is promoting a program to finance the building of a library here to house the collection.

Three Senators Oppose Further Aid For Europe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(AP)—Three Democratic Senators reacted with no enthusiasm today to reports that the State Department may ask Congress early next year for more foreign aid funds for France, Britain and perhaps other countries.

"Congress will be pretty slow in responding to requests for more foreign aid," Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) told a reporter, turning to the language of a western cattleman, he added: "The hearing season is on and we expect to hear the calves do a lot of howling. It's a heart-breaking sound, but the time has now arrived."

Senators Gillette (D-Iowa) and Maybank (D-NC) generally agreed. State Department sources earlier this week forecast an urgent request from France for a sum of additional dollar aid and indicated such a bid would be favorably received by this government. The amount France would ask was estimated at from $200,000,000 to $400,000,000.

Great Britain, also troubled with a dollar shortage, is also expected to submit a request for new U. S. economic aid, and informed State Department officials said others of this country's European allies are also in financial difficulties.

Before it adjourned in October, Congress voted a foreign aid program totaling $7,428,000,000, the great bulk of it for arms aid. Congress cut by almost $100,000,000 the administration's request for economic aid funds.

In a separate interview, Senator Maybank, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee and a member of the Appropriations Committee, said:

"I don't know where they are going to get additional dollars to spend on more war."

Egyptian Delegate Urges Immediate Atomic Bomb Ban

PAISIS, Nov. 22—(AP)—Egypt called today for immediate prohibition of the atomic bomb as the first step to world disarmament. She was the first non-Communist country to support the Russian stand on arms reduction before the United Nations General Assembly's political committee.

Andry Andraos, the Nile kingdom's ambassador to Greece, said his country believes the atomic weapon should be barred just as poison gas has been outlawed.

The western Big Three proposals for disarmament by stages, Andraos declared, seem to have been carefully thought out but his country does not like their delaying control of atomic weapons until the last step.

Andraos spoke in advance of British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd.

The Egyptian viewpoint today appeared to be a sharp change in the country's stand. As a member of the Security Council until two years ago, Egypt's representative on the council's Atomic Energy Commission had favored the Western majority position on atomic control.

This stand—based on the U. S. proposed Baruch plan—called for future international control of atomic energy.

Fine Books, Beautiful Antiques Mark Library Of General Sanford

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an account of the life and treasures of General Henry S. Sanford, founder of Sanford and former U. S. minister to Belgium, whose efforts in behalf of this community will be memorialized by a museum to house his magnificent library if plans of the Sanford Women's Club and the Sallie Harrison Chapter of the D. A. R. are fulfilled:

DERBY (CONN.)—A BENTONEL. One of Derby's landmarks is "The Homestead," a rambling, frame structure of 18 rooms, with spacious and well kept garden attached, located at the corner of Caroline and Fourth Streets and since 1830, the year which it was built, the home of the Sanford family.

The wing of the house was added in 1871 as a library which has become a museum in itself, with its many old paintings, exquisite furniture of other periods, numerous objects, d'arts, books, curios and mementos, most of them gifts and all collected during the life of the Hon. Henry Shelton Sanford, who as plenipotentiary minister to Belgium, was an outstanding diplomat of the middle and last part of the last century and a world figure in his day.

The wing was designed by Richard Hunt, designer of the Metropolitan Museum of Fine Arts in New York City, an intimate friend of the family. Some years later, Mrs. Sanford, wife of Minister Sanford, had an addition built above the library wing for household purposes.

Colonial furniture dominates this old and historically interesting dwelling, one of the first to be built in Smithville, as West Derby was originally called when it was settled in 1833 by Sheldon Smith. Throughout the house there are numerous pieces of furniture of other periods and from Belgium and other parts of Europe.

The dining room contains a set of rare furniture in black walnut from Belgium, some pieces imported in large, all magnificently carved, and probably a masterpiece of workmanship of those days when impressively large units were the custom in household furnishings.

19 Rescued From Sinking Haitian Ship Near Miami

MIAMI, Nov. 22—(AP)—The captain and 18 crewmen of the Haitian cutter Toussaint Louverture were brought here early today by the Coast Guard which rescued them from their battered and leaking craft about 15 miles off the Florida coast.

Three members of the Haitian ship's crew were missing, but the captain said it was believed they had made shore, probably on some lonely beach south of Miami.

The Haitian vessel, a Coast Guard cutter 111 feet long, was on its way from Port Au Prince to Miami when it began leaking in rough, heavy seas.

Its captain, Jack Salgado of Port Au Prince, said one of the three missing men was Nicolas Bonassour, the ship's executive officer. Salgado said the Toussaint Louverture carried no radio and that the executive officer set out with two crewmen for the Florida shore to seek aid. Flares meanwhile led the Coast Guard to the stricken vessel.

A strong tide was running, and the men, in a stout dingy, were believed to have made land without much trouble.

Salgado said the Toussaint Louverture left Port Au Prince Monday and that for 48 hours it had been pitching in heavy seas. When the boat began shipping water faster than the pumps could take it out, he said, the men tried halting with buckets, but finally gave up and signaled for help.

It was then, he added, that Bonassour set out with the two crewmen forty minutes later, the Coast Guard was at the scene, off Fowey Lighthouse.

Salgado said the ship was now anchored and that he hoped it could be salvaged. It was on its (Continued on Page Three)

Agreement Nears On "Armistice By Christmas" Plan

Acheson Denies Soviet Charges Of Subversion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(AP)—The State Department, rejecting a Russian assertion that the U. S. is promoting subversive activities behind the Iron Curtain, says that charge comes with "complete disregard" from Moscow.

The Soviet regime, the department said in a statement made public last night, has consistently supported "subversive activity against the U. S. and other nations of the free world."

The Russian protest, made in a note handed to the U. S. embassy on Tuesday, said the U. S. was guilty of "new aggression" against the Soviet Union.

Russia also accused the U. S. of violating the Yalta-Roosevelt agreement of 1945 which sets forth diplomatic relations between Russia and the U. S. The agreement pledged that neither nation would interfere in the other's internal affairs.

The State Department said the contents of the Mutual Security Act to which Moscow referred are designed to provide assistance to victims of Soviet Communist oppression when such assistance is determined to contribute to the defense of the North Atlantic area.

It said the act is in conformity with the charter of the United Nations and is designed for defense only.

Russia's note, the department statement continued, is "another of many attempts to distort particular aspects of the defense effort of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for propaganda purposes."

"It is also interesting to note," the department said, "that the (Continued on Page Two)

Archbishop Stepinac, now in Lepoglava prison, has served five years of a 10-year sentence on charges including wartime collaboration with the Axis powers.

MARCH DELAYED
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 22—(AP)—Bad weather again kept search planes from Yugoslavia's skies today in their hunt for a missing U. S. air force C-47 transport. The transport, with four men aboard, disappeared Monday.

The U. S. embassy plane here and a Yugoslav civilian plane at Belgrade both were grounded by poor visibility. Twelve U. S. planes were ready at Treviso, in northeastern Italy, and eight more in Rome should the clouds and fog break up.
