Diplomat Asks Why Newspapers Are Gloomy, Declares He Is Optimistic

Nipponese Army, Navy Are Ready Eastern Armed Forces Said To Be Set For Any Eventualities

The Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura voiced optimism today over the chances for a settlement of the Japanese-American difficulties.

Arriving at the State Department for a conference with Secretary Hull, Nomura asked reporters: "Why are the newspapers here all so gloomy? We are very hopeful."

In the Far East, Japan's premier Tojo declared, "the Japanese army is ready for any eventuality." And Navy Minister Shimada said, "the navy has completed all preparations to meet any change in the situation."

The United States may offer Japan the status of an ally instead of foe as the basis for settlement of critical Japanese-American differences, usually considered impossible, according to a report from a Japanese diplomat who has just returned from a visit to Washington.

Secretary Kurusu, Japan's ambassador here, yesterday turned a scheduled 30-minute "secretary call" on President Roosevelt into an hour's discussion of fundamental issues, according to a Japanese diplomat who has just returned from a visit to Washington.

The Administration is willing to come to an agreement with Japan and avert a possible war in the Pacific, but only if the Tokyo government is ready to do its share in its foreign policy, it was said. Whether or not that position has as yet been made clear to the Japanese is not known, but it will soon be stated bluntly, according to sources.

Nazis Thrown Back 8 Miles Russians Say

Germans Retreating In Panicky Rout At Tula And Are Poorly Equipped

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A German bombardment has forced the Russians to evacuate the southern part of Leningrad. A military spokesman said today, but they did not claim that the Germans had left their trenches to occupy any part of the city.

The Soviets announced today that the Germans were thrown back eight miles by counter-attacks in the Tula area.

The Germans are properly equipped for winter fighting. The Russians also claimed further successes at the Leningrad front, claiming recapture of positions held by the Germans for two months.

In the Crimea, the Germans claimed "devastating blows" to fortifications and port facilities at Sevastopol, the Russian Black Sea naval base, while the infantry reported fighting before the city's outer defenses.

The Germans also said their troops were advancing further into the Danube river basin in the Ukraine.

Hitler's long gray columns appeared last night to have surrounded the western Caucasus, but it was equally apparent that his armies of the north and center were hard put to hold their own upon harsh and frozen battlefields where the word "retreat" was being heard.

While the Germans were attempting the capture of Karpis, the "extreme eastern" German port separated from Caucasus by a strait at one point only two miles wide, the Russians were proclaiming that the weary invader was in retreat in three sectors about Moscow and before Leningrad had been driven out of positions which he had held for two months.

In one of the three Moscow theaters—that of Tula, about 100 miles south of the capital—the retreat was described in Soviet papers as a "ludicrous flight of eight miles."

There, the official Soviet news agency declared, the Nazis were thrown "into a panic-stricken rout" in some cases leaving behind their unexploded shells and in the southern outskirts of Tula "running down the frosty streets in their underwear."

Extraordinary quantities of war materials were declared to have fallen into Soviet hands.

About Kallina, 95 miles north-west of Moscow, and Moshalka, 65 miles to the west, less precipitate German retreats were reported. In the former sector the Russians were said to have recaptured three settlements on the west bank of the Volga River in a continuing advance, and at the latter they claimed to have forced the Protra river to the west.

Airline Tells Of Financial Set-Up

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Seaboard Airways, Inc., told a Civil Aeronautics board hearing yesterday of its financial set-up following its separation from the Seaboard Airline Railway, whose application for a north-south air route the new company took over.

Harry B. Lake, senior partner of Seaboard, told the board that his firm was backing the always company and held 45,000 shares of the outstanding 120,000 shares of common stock.

Submitting a list of other stockholders, Lake said $40,000 had been raised to promote the air route, which would extend from Boston to terminals at Miami and New Orleans, and this was an addition to $75,000 originally put up by receivers of the Seaboard railway.

Pennsylvania, West Virginia, And Alabama Mines Affected By Walk-Outs

Home Guardsmen Are Mobilized

UMW Calls Out Membership In Captive Coal Mines

DETROIT, Nov. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today called on the C. I. O. to cooperate in the production of steel without interruption.

In a message to C. I. O. annual convention, Roosevelt said: "We need more steel, more planes, more ships, more tanks, more ships without delay and without interruption, and the American people and their government are determined that we shall have them."

Labor disorders, including the shooting of two men, broke out at the strike-affected captive mines in West Virginia and Pennsylvania today as President Roosevelt was reported ready to exert full powers of the government to get production resumed.

United Mine workers called out its membership in the captive mines, owned by steel companies which use coal, yesterday.

Roosevelt has said coal must be mined to keep the vital steel mills in operation or armaments in Alabama, Governor Frank Dixon ordered home guardsmen to be mobilized, due to the situation created by the strike by 8,000 miners and the threatened strike in the Fairfield plant of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co.

About 300 home guardsmen moved into the Birmingham area, center of the state's steel industry.

Two negroes were wounded in disorders at the U. S. Coal & Coke Co. at Gary, W. Va. Labor legislation was discussed at the President's weekly meeting with congressional leaders but there was no indication when there might be action or what type of legislation might be viewed favorably by the Administration.

The President moved in another field to avert a threatened strike of railroad employees by inviting leaders of both management and labor, to a White House conference today.

Crash Is Fatal To Marine Corps Pilot

Naval officers said his parachute was partly opened when they found his body about six miles west of the city, after a long search. It was flying alone. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Vander Heyden, of Los Angeles, Calif.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THERE IS AN INNER WORLD THAT NO MAN HAS FULLY MASTERED. HERE IS A CHALLENGE TO GREAT ADVENTURE: He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit, than he that taketh a city.—Proverbs 16:32.

SEA LEVEL

(From The Christian Science Monitor)
Having come to the edge of water, here at last we broke fast, gathered seaweed, dug for clams, packed stones, covered them each against each, stole from the crescent beach delicious fish, striking a match to flame, striking a match to flame. Forests that trailed behind us, that interlaced ready to catch a waist, exploding beyond a copper line of shore, troubled no more, roses that tripped, leaves on the darker ground, sank, without sound, were one with the past. Here was a stretch of sea for company. Having come to the edge of water, through leaning grasses, spoke of bayberry, beach-plum in savory matters, having pushed ankle-deep into sunburned foam, we were home.

Lex Green is going to run for Congressman-at-large, all right. In a Tampa speech he threw cold water on the ship canal.—Fort Myers News-Press. — And after all these years?

Senator Tydings of Maryland says he would not follow a general who did not keep discipline in his supply lines. That's the way some people feel about President Roosevelt and the labor situation.

Gov. Holland is really going after gambling in Dade (Miami) county. He is holding the sheriff there directly responsible for law violations. And the sheriff says he can, and will, put a stop to gambling.

The Tampa Times suggests that if American soldiers are to be sent to Iceland, and other points north, south, east and west, they should act as American ambassadors of good-will and show the world what American democracy can do for youth.

The Herald hears that the 75-year-old camellia bush at the Country Club is being steadily weakened to pieces by over-enthusiastic gardeners seeking cuttings to root. The City should take immediate steps to protect this bush as it is one of the oldest and finest specimens of Alba Plana in the United States and is probably worth $500 or $1,000 in anybody's money. Incidentally not more than one out of ten who try to root cuttings, knowing nothing about it, succeed.

The Wage Hour administration has just ruled that country newspapers and job shops are exempt from the minimum wage law. They allow print letter carriers and such letter heads to find their way across state lines. The administration also has ruled that the 45-hour week and the 48-hour week are not covered by the law.

The Coal Strike

The strike of coal miners in the captive mines has stopped the work of over fifty thousand defense workers, slowed down the flow of coal to the steel industries to a mere trickle and left them with less than two weeks' supply on hand. Upon steel depends the production of tanks, artillery, rifles, machine guns, trucks, warships of all kinds and virtually everything needed for the defense of this country.

The issue between John L. Lewis and the steel men is over the closed shop. Mr. Lewis contends that no one should be employed in the coal mines which the steel companies own and operate solely for their own use except miners who belong to Mr. Lewis' union. The steel men insist that if more miners are needed for the production of coal and the CIO union is unable to furnish them, they should be recruited from the ranks of unorganized labor.

This issue has been taken before the Defense Mediation Board and decided in favor of the steel men. The Board held the view that it or the government had no right to deny to anyone the privilege of working in the mines simply because he didn't belong to Mr. Lewis' union. President Roosevelt joined the Board in publicly going on record against the closed shop principle in the captive mines.

Throughout his entire life the President has shown his great sympathy for organized labor. During the nine years of his Administration more progressive labor legislation has been enacted into law than during all the previous administrations in the country's history. No one since the United States became a nation has done more for labor. There are those among his political supporters, as well as among his enemies, who have felt he has been entirely too indulgent toward labor.

Be that as it may, to most impartial observers it now looks as if Mr. Lewis were biting the hand that fed him. Mr. Lewis has reached his present dictatorial stature largely through the legislation enacted under the Roosevelt Administration. Prior to the enactment of the Wagner Labor Relations Act, Mr. Lewis was practically unknown outside his own bailiwick.

That and similar labor legislation made possible the rebellion of the UMW from the American Federation of Labor and the creation of Mr. Lewis' own CIO. Apparently the government in its desire to make labor strong enough to secure for itself a square deal has created a Frankenstein which now threatens to devour the government.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Lewis will probably tell you that it is President Roosevelt who is now biting the hand that fed him. Didn't Mr. Lewis personally contribute some $500,000 out of UMW funds to Mr. Roosevelt's 1936 presidential campaign? Haven't the miners in particular and labor in general been among Mr. Roosevelt's most ardent supporters at the polls in three elections?

A delicate situation is created by this coal strike in the midst of defense preparations. Taking over the coal mines with the Army may not be as simple as it has been where factories have been closed by strikes. It might easily lead to bloodshed. It might precipitate sympathy strikes among other miners and in other industries. It might hopelessly divide the country at a time when unity is essential.

It may be that Congress will speedily enact laws which will make the calling of defense strikes a criminal act. In that case the government would be in a position to deal with Mr. Lewis personally.

Cow Capital Casualties

Two more Arcadians made contacts with Florida cows on Florida highways during the past week, and came out second best in the encounter.

P. P. Sheer, city recorder, while enroute to Bay St. Louis, Miss., where his father is seriously ill, collided with a cow on the highway near Dade City Friday night. The station wagon he was driving rolled over the ditch several times, but none of the party was seriously injured. Neither was the cow, but the station wagon was badly damaged.

Then David Daimwood discovered that one of P. W. Harvard's cows could not be brushed off the highway even with a 1941 model automobile. The discovery, made enroute to Punta Gorda, resulted in the wrecking of the car, and injuries to the cow that made it necessary to kill it. None of the car passengers were more than bruised, however.—The Arcadia Arcadian.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

Speaking before the Florida Press Association at Ocala last week, H. I. Moschberger, director of the Florida Research Foundation, told newspaper folks an interesting story of the work being done in uncovering facts and information regarding the rich, unknown, and untapped resources of our state. He exhibited a plastic material, now in use, made from Florida peat or marsh soil, explaining that a manufacturer of lawn sprinklers, finding his supply of metal cut off, developed an even better substitute from plain old Florida peat.

Turning next to diamonds, Moschberger told of the research work done in establishing beyond question the feasibility of commercially growing this plant on soils of little value for other purposes, for the production of starch and for use in the manufacture of an excellent cattle feed. He told of the work already being done by the United States Sugar Corporation of Cuba in this direction, and called attention to the fact that the organization has just decided to establish a million dollar laboratory to further research in this direction and to see what can be done with a variety of other peat-like crops such as sorghum, buckwheat, and others.

Now, the peat and other peat-like crops are being grown in Florida, and the fact that they can be grown in this state is a big thing. It means that we can have a source of raw materials for our industries, and that we can have a source of food for our livestock. It means that we can have a source of energy for our power plants, and that we can have a source of raw materials for our paper mills. It means that we can have a source of raw materials for our chemical industry, and that we can have a source of raw materials for our textile industry. It means that we can have a source of raw materials for our food processing industry, and that we can have a source of raw materials for our pharmaceutical industry. It means that we can have a source of raw materials for our construction industry, and that we can have a source of raw materials for our transportation industry. It means that we can have a source of raw materials for our defense industry, and that we can have a source of raw materials for our space program.

Blanding Boys To Get Big Meal On Thanksgiving Day

CAMP BLANDING, Nov. 18.—(Special)—Trees at Camp Blanding will eat their most expensive and sumptuous meal of the month on Thanksgiving.

The average cost is about 40 cents but on Thursday, November 20, the day's cost will be $1.23 cents—$01.23 for each 100 men. Breakfast will consist of bananas, cornflakes, milk, hot cereal, syrup, butter and coffee and supper will be pressed ham, macaroni and cheese, cucumber pickles, bread and butter, canned prunes and peaches. The day's big meal is dinner which will be:

Fruit cocktail, celery, olives and pickles, roast turkey with oyster dressing, candied sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, waldorf salad, parker house rolls, pumpkin and mince pie, plum pudding and coffee. Seventy pounds of turkey for each hundred men will be used for the mid-day repast and each plate will be placed on a tray and the letter 'B' will be enclosed in wrapper bearing the words "Camp Blanding, Happy Thanksgiving" on the order may have a souvenir.

The War Department at Washington said 750 tons of turkey will be used on the holiday to feed some 1,500,000 soldiers in the armed forces.

"There's a lot of waste land in Florida but in truth there isn't a square inch of land that isn't being used to produce tons of starch. Other soils can grow maize, others sorghum and sweet potatoes.

So try to visualize these so-called "waste" lands in terms of millions of bushels of cotton, rice, maize, tobacco, peanuts, flax, soy beans and the like, and perhaps then you will begin to get the vision of what lies ahead if we are just smart enough and energetic enough to take advantage of the God-given opportunities that are ours.

In the United States more peat is dug up than in any other country in the world.

German Troops Gaining Again, Nazis Claim

Crushing Of Attacks On Defenses North, South Of Moscow Reported By Soviets

British Acting Against Finns

Japs Tell Of Killing Red Soldier In Border Outbreak

Russian's Ukraine armies are reported to have inflicted a crushing defeat on German troops caught in a trap near Novocherkassk, 25 miles northwest of Rostov-on-Don, while the German high command declared Axis invasion forces opened a new large-scale offensive.

The Germans announced that their armies are driving forward once again on the eastern front during the week and successful attacks today while the Russians declared that they had crushed the Nazi attempts to pierce defenses north and south of the Moscow defense area.

A German spokesman said Nazi bombers raided Moscow and Leningrad and left spreading fires in the latter city. A bulletin from Hitler's headquarters claimed the capture of 10,000 Soviet prisoners and 171 tanks destroyed in the past three days but gave no details.

In the Crimea the Germans announced that heavy bombing attacks were made on Sevastopol, the Russian Black sea naval base, while the Russians said they had captured a number of villages and advanced from four to 12 miles.

Authoritative London quarters disclosed the British are taking military and naval action against Finland, Rumania and Hungary. Informal sources said, referring mainly to the British blockade.

Along the Manchurian Japanese news in the Far East a Japanese news agency said that one Russian soldier was killed and two captured in another border outbreak near Manchuria.

The Red armies of Soviet Russia were reported to be pressing the German invaders steadily back west and northward from Moscow but acknowledged a withdrawal in the Crimea and inferentially confirmed other dispatches describing a new Nazi offensive about 200 miles south of Moscow.

The scenes of Russian success, as broadcast by the Moscow radio, 65 miles northwest of the capital, and Moshkoff, 57 miles west.

Tremendous German pressure in the south and a Russian withdrawal toward the Caucasus in the Kerch peninsula of the Crimean were admitted, dovetailing with British information that the Nazi command was striving with all available strength to strike into the oil-rich Caucasus by both these routes.

Kiwanis Club Hears Address By Mr. Lehman

Manager Of Farmers' Market Tells Of Business Volume

About $700,000 worth of business was transacted at the Sanford State Farmers' Market last year, H. J. Lehman, market manager, told members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon meeting today at the Vables Hotel.

Describing the function of the market and the benefits derived by farmers, and the citizens of the city and county, Mr. Lehman pointed out the need for more diversified crops in this section.

Two songs, "Stand By America" and "Our Flag," written by Harry Weston of Lake Mary and Willard Connolly of Sanford, were sung by Martin Stinesipher and the members paid tribute to the two writers of the patriotic songs.

Dr. G. H. Putnam reported on his visit to the Kiwanis Club at Winter Park at the time of a joint meeting between that club and the one of DeLand and declared the members of the neighboring clubs exhibited unusual enthusiasm in Kiwanis activities through their participation in the activities.

The Winter Park club is collecting the names of all winter visitors. The Lake Mary and DeLand clubs are in the midst of a membership campaign and are holding a contest between them to see which club can enlist the most members.

Frank Shames invited all members of the Kiwanis between the ages of 18 and 81 to attend the Little Theater Club meeting to be held at 8:00 o'clock on Tuesday evening at the Woman's Club.

Club Formed By Local Women To Boost Sanford

New Group Will Work To Help Entertain Winter Visitors

Local women who are interested in the advancement of Sanford held a meeting at the Tourist Center yesterday at 3:00 P. M. Mrs. Mayme M. Hodgkin said today. Because of short notice and previous engagements only 12 persons were present, she stated, but telephone and personal calls already indicate that the list of those who wish to take an active part in the winter entertainment of the tourists who come to Sanford has reached 40.

The preliminary meeting was to formulate plans for later activities, so no officers were appointed except a chairman, which is being filled temporarily by Mrs. Hodgkin. A name for the group was discussed and the suggestion of Mrs. W. A. Leffler of "Forward Sanford Club" was adopted.

"It is the intention of the Forward Sanford Club to show our winter visitors what real southern hospitality means," Mrs. Hodgkin said. "They will put forth every effort to provide interesting entertainment throughout the whole season, and express our welcome in a manner that will make them remember Sanford as a city of friendly and hospitable people."

"This is not an organization of a select few," she said, "but is open to every woman in Sanford and Seminole County who has a real and earnest desire to promote our city and county and become a useful citizen and worthy of the name. Anyone who wishes to participate in this fine and necessary work is urgently requested to attend the next meeting which will be held on the last Tuesday of each month at 10:00 A. M. at the Tourist Center, beginning with Tuesday, Nov. 19."

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Reports from well-informed sources said today General Maxime Weygand has been or is about to be ousted as the Vichy's proconsul in North Africa, while Pierre Laval, former vice premier, will again be made a cabinet member.

Great Britain drastically shook up her army today, according to Sir Alan Brooke, 54-year-old commander-in-chief of the home forces, a technical expert and advocate of an army on wheels, to the rank of chief of the imperial general staff. Maj. Gen. Archibald Edward Nye, 46, who rose in the ranks from a World War private, was made vice chief of staff.

Sir John Dill, chief of the imperial general staff, who accompanied Prime Minister Churchill to the Atlantic conference with President Roosevelt, relinquishes that post to go to India to govern the army of that country.

The whole shake-up was designed to bring to the front young, vigorous leaders versed in up-to-the-minute tactics and strategy.

Dill relinquishes the post he held since May, 1940, when he reached the retirement age of 60 on Dec. 25, the year of his birth. Brooke is 58.
