

Our Costly Mail Service Is Still Slow

COPLEY NEWS

In terms of our inflation-battered pocket-books, the 25 per cent increase in the cost of mailing a letter is like hitting a man when he's down. The pain is all the greater when we consider the high hopes raised three years ago that the semi-autonomous U.S. Postal Service would bring new speed, reliability and efficiency to the mails and relieve taxpayers of the scandalous cost of subsidizing the old politically dominated U.S. Post Office.

The new 10-cent rate for first class letters and other increases will add about $1.5 billion to the public's postage bill this year, most of it to cover wage increases won by postal unions in negotiations last year. Since the Cost of Living Council demanded that the postal rate increase originally scheduled for Jan. 1 be delayed until now, the postal corporation is coming up $236 million short in its budget. It is asking Congress for the money, and will probably get it.

So, it looks like we are back where we started, with a mail service under constant criticism that is costing too much, whether figured in terms of postage rates or subsidies. Credit should go where credit is due, however, and the new corporation has made headway in reducing the overblown size of the postal work force and has inaugurated some promising new services. Christmas mail was handled relatively well last year compared with the disastrous foul-ups of 1972. Since Postmaster General E.T. Klassen gives major credit to the public for mailing cards and packages earlier than usual, it might be deduced that people are simply resigned to the fact that the mail is going to move more slowly than it used to.

Congressmen are beginning to complain that the law taking postal management out of politics is frustrating when they continue to receive complaints from disgruntled mail-users. Rep. B.F. Sisk, a Democrat from Fresno, wants to scrap the whole experiment and go back to the old system of direct congressional control.

We would hope that such an admission of defeat is premature, but we remain confident as a public agency. While the corporation's board is trying mightily to apply streamlined business methods to the system, it is doing so with government subsidies that have totaled nearly $5 billion in three years. Its budget is now under new pressure from increased costs of fuel for mail trucks.

If the goal of an efficient self-supporting postal system, mandated by Congress in 1970, keeps receding, with both higher postage rates and continued federal subsidies necessary to keep the mail moving, how long can we justify continuing this $9 billion a year operation with only a thin line of accountability to Congress and the public?

The postal corporation has been on trial for nearly three years, and if the jury were polled today, we doubt if the verdict would go in its favor. Considering how Congress turned the Post Office into a bureaucratic behemoth under the old system, our mail service now seems caught between the devil and the deep blue sea.

The House of Representatives can impeach President Nixon for almost any reason it chooses. In early American impeachments, in fact, the articles were not prepared until after impeachment had been voted on.

But political reality being what it is in this 1974 election year, when all members of the House must face gravenly concerned voters and explain their actions, Congress most certainly must decide some theory constitutional questions before a majority will likely be willing to vote yea or nay on indicting the President of the United States.

These are the problems: Can a president be charged for the actions of his subordinates? James Madison argues yes, it would, Madison said "...subject him to impeachment himself if he suffers them to perpetrate with impunity high crimes or misdemeanors against the United States, or neglect to superintend their conduct, so as to check their excesses." Bill Ehrlichman, another member of the Constitution, disagreed, arguing subordinate officers should bear their own responsibility.

Can a president be removed from office because he has, in the minds of the majority of the House and two-thirds of the Senate, exhibited such "habitual disregard of the public interest and the rights of the people" that his actions have cost him the confidence of the nation to such a degree he can no longer govern effectively? Time and again, in the 13 instances in which U.S. officials have been impeached, this charge has been made and do not vote for a prime minister but for a collectively parliamentary candidates running in a voter's particular constituency. The leader of the party winning the majority of parliamentary seats automatically becomes the prime minister.

Thus, it has been pointed out, the British cannot find themselves in the situation that so often happens in this country where the president is of one party and the Congress is controlled by the opposition party, with the result that administration programs are stymied in Congress or, conversely, congressional legislation is subjected to presidential veto.

Furthermore, our curious system of presidential elections, who are elected by the people of the several states, not infrequently gives us a President Andrew Johnson was charged with having failed to respect the prerogatives of Congress in removing Edwin M. Stanton as secretary of war; the issue was whether the President or Congress should have the constitutional and military power to make and enforce Reconstruction policy in the South.

In British history, where the impeachment article in the U.S. constitution has its roots, impeachment "was" used regularly to increase the power of Parliament and to clip the power of the King.

The implication was that his lawyers were really to blame for claiming the controversial—and probably illegal—$75,000 tax deduction for the gift of the Nixon papers to the government.

Documents now in the hands of the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, however, prove that the President was not at all removed from the preparation of his returns. On the contrary, he pulled every possible string to increase his tax deductions.

Ehrlichman relayed the President's wishes to Edward Morgan, the White House aide who handled the President's taxes. For example, an Ehrlichman memo, dated June 18, 1973, asked Morgan: "The President proposes to personally pay Julie for her work in the White House this summer and deduct it as a business expense. Would you please determine whether he can properly do this..."

Morgan took the problem up with the Internal Revenue Service's Deputy Chief Counsel Roger Darby who served as political impresario for Julie and Tricia Nixon during the 1968 campaign and is now the Nixon man inside the IRS.

Barth responded a month later with a memo, carefully stamped "Confidential," advising: "Legally we must justify deduction as a business expense for a salary paid to Julie as a tour guide this summer. However, for the following reasons, I MOST strongly recommend that this should not be done: "(A) The amount involved is rather small; "(B) This is always a factual question which could be raised on audit of whether she is necessary to the taxpayer's business; "(C) In addition to federal withholding data which would go into the files at the IRS, information would have to be given to the (state) tax authorities and to the Social Security people. There are too many entities involved for this to be kept confidential; "(D) The newspapers have made much of the fact that she has been acting as a 'volunteer.' I think the risk of exposure of a business deduction attempt is too great..."

Barth advised instead that the President should "make a gift at the end of the summer to Julie. Although it would not be deductible to him, it would be tax-free to her."

The President apparently heeded this advice, for the White House press office lets us that the President never put Julie on salary.

In another memo, Ehrlichman asked Morgan: "The President intends to use the San Clemente house for official visits, and he intends to use his den as an office for presidential activities. What write-offs are available to him?" Barth was also approached on this question. He advised that "a deduction would be permitted for depreciation and maintenance expenses."

Ehrlichman also wanted to know about "the tax consequences of permitting others to use the Florida and California houses." Barth responded: "We would have to establish the business purpose for the President with regard to each person invited to use the homes."

On the question of deductions for wedding gifts, funeral sprays and the like, Ehrlichman noted: "The President holds the view that a public man does very little of a personal nature. Virtually all of his entertainment and activity is related to his 'business.'"

Agreed Barth: "I personally agree with the idea that much of the President's expense is related to his 'business.' As with the business use of his residence, a careful system must be established for keeping track of business expenses."

Small gifts by the President, which are related to his "business," would be deductible. Note however, that we must give thought to distinguishing between activities and gifts related to "being a President" and those related to running for reelection.

Richard Nixon, as we now know, took every available legal deduction and at least one $578,000 write-off whose legality is questionable.

Jack Anderson Nixon Seeks All Tax Breaks

WASHINGTON—Confidential White House documents show that President Nixon, contrary to the statements put out in his name, has taken an intense personal interest in wangling every possible tax deduction he could get away with.

The President also wanted a tax break for using the den at his San Clemente estate for a "volunteer."

He thought he should be permitted to charge off wedding gifts, funeral sprays and similar items, because he felt these were "business expenses" for a politician. Most of his entertaining, he also contended, should be deductible. "He wants to be sure," instructed aide John Ehrlichman in a confidential memo, "that his business deductions include all allowable items."

This differs with the picture the White House has tried to portray of a President too busy to bother with the details of his tax returns. Press spokesman Gerald Warren has implied Nixon was so preoccupied with the presidency that he left the preparation of his returns entirely to his lawyers.

He hoped his amendment to the proposed Federal Energy Administration bill would remove the uncertainty over gasoline shortages for summer travelers.

"By removing the uncertainty, it is hoped that more persons will realize they can travel this summer and now make plans to do so," Gunter said Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Gunter said that he hopes his amendment to the proposed Federal Energy Administration bill would remove the uncertainty over gasoline shortages for summer travelers.

Green said the purpose of the reception was to get Gunter "acquainted with lobbyists, the national press and people who give money to campaigns," he said. "I don't need to know in the Senate."

A Hunting We Will Go, A Hunt... Off To Jail We Go, Off To Jail...

By MARK WENZT
Herald Staff Writer

Flinding nearly $10,000 while rabbit hunting may prove to be a mixed blessing for Raymond Ellis Gaines of 622 E. Eighth St., Sanford.

It brought him a new automobile — and two days in Belle Glade jail. And, he now finds himself charged with reckless driving, possessing of marijuana and, for a time, a suspect in the Feb. 23 kidnaping of George Jackson Jr.

Gaines said Tuesday at his home he has not been charged in connection with the kidnaping. "I didn't know anything about the kidnaping. All I knew was I found some money and when you find money you are supposed to spend it," Gaines said. "What would you do?" Gaines said he and a friend, whom he declined to identify, found $9,000 in the brush near Ninth Street. "It was the biggest rabbit I ever caught," he quipped.

Gaines said his share of the find was about $6,000, but did not explain why the money was not divided evenly.

After he found the money

Gaines said he purchased a "brand new car" in Lakeland, then drove to Belle Glade, where he remained for nearly two days before police charged him with reckless driving and possessing marijuana.

"I was not driving reckless and I did not have any marijuana and I think they just put those charges on me to hold me for questioning," Gaines explained calmly.

Authorities now claim to have recovered or accounted for $18,000 of the $30,000 ransom money, including $10,000 found in a Sanford house the day three men were arrested and charged with kidnaping and extortion.

Jackson was abducted at gunpoint from his Southern Shortening plant by two masked men Feb. 23. He was held captive until the ransom was dropped, as ordered by the kidnapers, in a Maitland orange grove.

Gaines said at the time he found the money he did not know many of the details about the kidnaping.

"I didn't tell police about the money because I did not want to get involved with them," Gaines said.

"I didn't know there was anything special about the money and I didn't know they (police) thought this was the kidnap money until the Sanford police showed up in Belle Glade and told me," Gaines said as he stretched his long legs.

"Later that day, Sunday, at about midnight, I was driving to the store to buy some cigarettes when the police pulled me over and arrested me," he said.

"They found Larry Clark's driver's license in the console; I never gave it to them and said I was Clark," Gaines said.

"They took me in, charged me, and as soon as they fingerprinted me they pulled out a card with some fingerprints on it and said, 'you are Raymond Gaines,'" he said.

Gaines said Clark had been driving the car before the driver to Belle Glade and had left his license in the car.

"It was a real ordeal, but it sure was fun spending the money," Gaines said. "What a rabbit hunt," he sighed.

Auto Train To Open Kentucky Run

By JEAN PATTERSON
Herald Staff Writer

Auto Train service between Louisville, Ky., and Sanford should begin before the summer vacation season, according to Washington Auto Train officials Rich Church.

Auto Train president Eugene S. Garfield announced today that the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) Tuesday authorized the new service after withdrawal of an Amtrak protest.

Garfield called the new service "a significant milestone in Auto Train's short history and in passenger rail service in the United States." He said capacity loads of tourists had been enjoying the "luxuries and energy saving advantages" of the Lorton, Va., (near Washington D.C.) to Sanford run, and he expected the new Louisville-Sanford run to prove equally popular.

The service will start with one train a day, and fares are expected to be similar to those on the Lorton-Sanford run — $198 for two persons and an auto, and $25 extra for each additional passenger to the legal limit of the auto.

Louisville was selected as the northern terminus because it lies at the bottom of the funnel from Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis and other large Midwest population areas. A expected to take between 20 and 22 hours compared with 15 1/2 for the east coast run.

Marketing studies determined there was a great market for an auto-ferry service in the Midwest than the East, said Church. As high as 50 per cent more tourists-bearing autos to Florida came from the Midwest than from the east coast.

Louisville was selected as the northern terminus because it lies at the bottom of the funnel from Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis and other large Midwest population areas. A terminus south of Ohio was desired because that state sends more tourists to Florida than any other state, except Georgia.

Church said the present east coast run has a maximum capacity of 160 autos — which means 300 to 400 persons per run. Although the train size for the Louisville run has not yet been determined, it should bring a similar number of tourists to Sanford each day, said Church.

He added at present there are vacancies on the northbound train from Lorton, but the northbound trains are booked to capacity.

There are presently two trains on a daily run, the other operates every other day. In all, 16 or 17 trains arrive and depart each week.

Auto Train had plans to expand its service long before the gasoline crisis, said Church. However, inquiries about Auto Train services have increased sharply since the gasoline crisis began and the situation is expected to increase use of the Louisville-Sanford service once it is in operation.

In other business, City Atty. Joe Davis said federal court in Orlando has declared unconstitutional a section in the city's anti-litter law, noting the "Citizens News," a weekly delivered without charge to city residents, is a newspaper and protected by the U.S. Constitution.

The newspaper filed the suit last year when city officials ordered it to stop unsolicited deliveries.

International Paper, which said an antitrust suit against it had been dropped, rose 1/4 to 49 1/2.

On Tuesday the market wavered indecisively while awaiting developments on the oil front. The Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.33 to 887.12, but gains narrowly outpaced losses in moderately active trading on the Big Board.

Experimental Bomb May Be Built

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., says the Atomic Energy Commission perhaps should assign the building of a crude atomic bomb to find out how easily this could be done with stolen fissionable material.

Ribicoff, chairman of a Senate subcommittee assessing nuclear safeguards, voiced the suggestion Tuesday after a nuclear physicist said such a crude A-bomb could be constructed in a matter of weeks.

The SCIENTIST, Dr. Theodore B. Taylor, told the panel that one terrorist with a metallurgical supply of plutonium could build a bomb small enough to be transported in a car but powerful enough to kill tens of thousands of persons.

Taylor, board chairman of International Research and Technology Corp., said information regarding construction materials and equipment required to design the bomb are readily available. He said there is no evidence that plutonium has been stolen but noted there have been unexplained disappearances of the material.

Ribicoff suggested it would be wise for the AEC to commission Taylor or some other expert to build such a crude A-bomb, just to prove it could be done.

ALTIMONTE SPRINGS—Councilmen Tuesday night ordered advertisement throughout Central Florida for an administrative assistant for Mayor Norman Floyd at a salary not to exceed $12,000.

The job will also include responsibilities as personnel manager and civic center director.

Strongly opposing the action were Councilmen Helen Keyser and Don Myers, both insisting that a full-time person to operate the civic center is needed first.

"Too many people are running in and out of the building every day," Myers said, with Mrs. Keyser adding that city employees were mixing orange juice in a large plastic container recently for a group using the facility rather than doing the work they are paid to do.

Comptroller Denver Baxter assured Mrs. Keyser an audit on civic center receipts is underway and should be completed by next week. Last week Baxter said he received checks dated two months ago which were paid for civic center use, prompting Mrs. Keyser to call for the audit.

Councilman Dan Dorfman said a man with triple responsibility should be hired. Myers predicted that one-third man for each job will not be enough.

Floyd cast the tie-breaking vote.

In other business, City Atty. Joe Davis said federal court in Orlando has declared unconstitutional a section in the city's anti-litter law, noting the "Citizens News," a weekly delivered without charge to city residents, is a newspaper and protected by the U.S. Constitution.

The newspaper filed the suit last year when city officials ordered it to stop unsolicited deliveries.

Speaking About Umps

Speaking about ump, both Casselberry and Sanford have said their biggest need is for umpires. Now, wide the dust of your glasses, take a look at that 1948 rule book you have lying around the house somewhere and give the gentlemen involved a call. Seriously, if you'd like to help out, the departments would surely like to have it. Just one word of advice. Buy a lot of cotton for your ears.

Now That We're Asking Dept.

Now that we're asking for things, we might as well get the whole list off our shoulders. Casselberry would like a couple of donated refrigerators for the recreation department. If you'd like to fork over a couple of the frost makers, call Holt at his home, 821-2089 or Johnny Reddick at city hall.

Altamonte Rec News

Altamonte Springs recreation office called to let us know the forming women's softball league will be holding its organization meeting March 20 at 8 p.m. at the city park office on Magnolia Drive. It's to decide playing times and schedules, so if you don't attend, you don't have a prize coming when you find out it's a choice between playing or watching little Johnny or Susie play in their leagues. That's telling them.

Lazy Summer Daze

No wonder Floridians consider themselves blessed. They are the first, chosen by baseball to witness the embryonic beginnings of another 162-game march into baseball history. Actually the pace here is a comfortable stroll, as say compared with the hectic Boston, New York or California summer.

Here we see greets and nobodies taking it all in. The first true hints of summer. The Florida spring weather, the sunshine and some baseballs popping around like Mexican jumping beans that went to sleep for the winter. They start off slowly and nobody seems to mind if the favorites don't hop to the tune of September. Now's the chance to see it all before it begins. To see the coming agencies and elations of baseball season. It's such a comfortable, relaxing game. That's why baseball takes such a long time to play. No one is in very much of a hurry, and why should they be?

It's a time to take a few hours off from the job and sneak down to the park to munch hot dogs and popcorn and remember when you were a kid and that used to be heaven. And it still is. Even if the team is away, no big thing. Just go to work to be a high school and "railbird" with old friends watching the new crop of struggling athletes try to make that double play you saw yesterday at Tinker Field.

The ball players are much more relaxed here than in their permanent regular season stomping grounds. Those who have it made, that is. See the tension lines on the young rookie's face as he concentrates on every little slip in scooping up the infield bopper? He's the one who five years from now, if he makes it that is, who will be lounging quietly in the shade taking it easy. He knows what's in store all too soon as the team heads north. Good old Grapefruit League. It's good to have you back again.

If Costantine fails at the plate it will be up to Terry Bachman. He is hitting at the .312 mark and owns a .941 fielding average. Costantine has hurt the team with his glove with a .600 fielding average.

The leading hitter has been shortstop Bob Costantine. The griddle turned baseballer has a .315 clip and is .578 in the slugging department. He has been the only person to collect an extra base hit this year. Costantine has two doubles and one homer.

Sports Spotlight

By J Richards
Herald Sports Editor

Come on guys, I know each and every one of you who got that Super Stars application form from the Chamber of Commerce to help out at Seminole High is going to sit right down and fill it out and reach into your hide pocket for a fiver to help out Seminole High School. Because, if you don't I'll print the names of all those who don't enter with aside adlets about their 10 to 200 pushups, run a four-minute mile, shoot 10-of-10 baskets from 40 feet and all those other impossible feats you'll be asked to do for good cause. Actually, you'll probably have more fun than the fans.

Sanford Recreation Department

Sanford Recreation Department is urging parents to keep in communication with the department, especially the early registration for youth baseball leagues that will be starting soon. The earlier you either call down or visit the recreation office on Lake Monroe to get your son or daughter involved in the host of baseball or softball activities, the easier it will be on everyone.

By the way, look for seven-days-a-week softball and baseball activity because there aren't enough fields to go around. Recreation director Jim Jernigan, who says he's also short-handed but would rather have a new softball diamond than a new staffer, says will all the scheduling he's had to do, it looks like he'll be Saturday and Sunday afternoon softball games. Many things are on the agenda of the department, including a few surprises that many of us have talked and maybe even prayed for every once in a while, but never seemed to materialize. Look for work on some new developments later.

Casselberry Recreation Notes

While Tom Holt of the Casselberry recreation office doesn't have Sanford's 30 total baseball and softball teams to handle, his number is growing by leaps and bounds with action starting in boys and girls softball in the very near future. With eight girls and four boys teams already champing at the bit to start, Tom has found a gem of an idea in holding an umpire's clinic with former Florida State League and Appalachian League ump Joe Shapiro, now manager of the Casselberry Zayre store, as the honcho. Moe, Tom says, is a graduate of the famous Bill McGowan School for Umpires in Daytona Beach, and played ball in the Dodger organization from 1937-41. The action will be at Summerfield number two and Secret Lake Park for the boys and girls, and lights are going to begin up at Summerfest soon.

The recreation department will be hosting a covered-dish picnic for all players and families Sunday at Summerfest from 1 p.m. on. Tom says bring your own food and the department will supply the sodas.

Tribe Feels Crunch Of DeLand Hurler

when Tim Cooper led off with a walk, Robert Smith, singled moving Cooper to third. Joe Benton walked to load the bases and the Tribe looked like they might be on the warpath. Williams used a big bending curve to strikeout Tommy Robare. With the bases full and one out, Shaun O'Brien laid down a perfect squeeze bunt scoring the already moving Cooper from third and beat out the grass tap for a single.

Senior righthander David Bernosky turned in a gusty "never say die" complete game on the mound for the Seminoles and gave up only two earned runs. This is the second outing in a row for Bernosky who has turned in commendable pitching performances, only to come up on the short end.

Bernosky handled the top of the Bulldog order well enough, but it was a pesky bottom of the order from DeLand that chipped away for three runs. In the second with one out, Bulldog rightfielder Mike McCarthy singled. Bernosky got the next man to pop up before serving up the lone gopher ball of the day to Williams that cleared Seminole High's extremely short center field fence.

The Tribe cut the 2-0 lead in half in the bottom of the third fourth, and in the sixth used one hit, two stolen bases and two errors to come up with the final two runs of the day.

Full Pardon Given To 'Reformed' Man

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A West Palm Beach man who said he had overcome a drinking problem and was attending church regularly was granted a full pardon today by the state Pardon Board. Paul Grayden Bryant, 31, told the board he was working in a construction trade now and that he and his wife wanted to take care of foster children because they couldn't have any themselves. In response to a question by Gov. Reubin Askew as to the circumstances surrounding his 1967 conviction for breaking and entering, Bryant said he had a drinking problem at the time but had since managed to overcome it. "You've got that behind you," Askew then said. The state Probation and Pardon Commission had recommended that Bryant not be given a pardon because it was not essential to becoming a foster family or adopting children, chairman Armond Cross said.

Mayor Denies Water Crisis

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer. ALTAMONTE SPRINGS—City officials began their move Tuesday through U.S. Rep. Lew Frey's office to put pressure on the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to release funding for the municipality's planned 7.5 million gallon regional sewer plant and Mayor Norman Floyd denied reports that a water crisis exists in city territory west of Interstate 4. Consulting engineer Harold Radcliffe told councilmen Tuesday night the sewer plant to provide "advance treatment, so new there is nothing to compare to it," has received plan approval by the Department of Pollution Control, but EPA has not released the plans for bid. "The waste water plant is considered experimental," Radcliffe said, with Floyd adding every day that goes by construction costs go up and the $3.5 million approved federal grant is for a fixed amount. Radcliffe said the city has agreed to fund any problems which might occur from the "experimental" operation. Floyd said he called Frey Tuesday morning to "assist in getting this off dead center" and an immediate offer from EPA representatives to meet with city officials this Friday in Altamonte was probably in response to his (Floyd's) telephone conference with the congressman. Floyd, Radcliffe and comptroller Denver Baxter are in Tallahassee today meeting with EPA officials. Radcliffe said funding is also being held up by the state interceptor system planned to hook up with interceptors from Longwood. He said plan construction will take 18-24 months from federal funding release until operation can begin. Richards, a San Sebastian Heights resident, said that overloading problems exist at the west side water plant and that the ultra-modern hydroplanar water tank cannot be hooked into that area were denied by Floyd. Floyd said all water lines are tied into the hydroplanar and that pressure problems on the west side of town last weekend were caused by a breakdown at the plant there and a fuse blown at the hydroplanar. He said emergency alarm systems are being installed and he has ordered the Spring Valley water plant into emergency operation and a new chlorinator is being installed there. Richards insisted that Fire Chief Tom Siegfried has said if a $35,000 fire pumper truck were put on the west water system at low pressure times, water lines could collapse and the truck would be ruined.

Vitamins Necessary For Health

By GAYNOR MADDOX. Nutritionists stress that the best way for the majority of persons to get all the vitamins necessary for better health is through a balanced diet. But to pay for the necessary meat, fowl, fish or eggs, fruits and vegetables, cereals and dairy foods each day may at times stretch the budget to the limit. Or to some people believe. Therefore, many turn to vitamins believing them to be a substitute for eating a variety of foods. In fact, many take them in massive doses believing they can produce miracles without considering the costs of this fadist "megavitamin therapy" as part of a weekly budget. But Philip White, Sc. D., director of Department of Foods and Nutrition of American Medical Association, warns of the possible danger in self-prescribed doses of vitamins. In a recent issue to Today's Health, he states: Vitamin A is vital to overall vision, growth and bone development in youngsters and the health of tissues lining our bodies inside and out. It is present in eggs, butter, cream, cheese and fortified milk. Other good sources are meats, deep yellow and dark green vegetables. Overdoses of Vitamin A can lead to thinning hair, mouth ulcers, extreme fatigue, anemia, inflammation of the optic nerve and an alarming build-up of pressure within the head that mimics a brain tumor. Vitamin B. The B-complex vitamins seem to work in concert. They are important to the body's over-all functioning, especially in the nervous system, the circulatory system, digestion and metabolism. Because the B-complex vitamins do work together they need one another. Thus a surplus of one could lead to a deficiency of another. And certain of the B vitamins are known to interact with other drugs which could lead to serious trouble. Vitamin C is essential to the maintenance of health. The supply must be replenished daily because man cannot synthesize or store it. Marked deficiency can lead to scurvy, with extreme weakness, deterioration of gums and extruding joint pains. Studies of the efficacy of massive dosages of the vitamin in controlling or preventing colds have been inconclusive. In short, the jury is still out. There are respected figures on both sides of the controversy which has ranged ever since Dr. Linus Pauling's book appeared which recommended massive dosages of vitamin C to combat the common cold. Most physicians, however, advise against the practice because they don't know what the long-term effects of overdosage are.

Industry Shaking Tree For New Energy Sources

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

Since we have runout of energy apies that can be picked up from the ground beneath the tree, now we must climb the tree and reach out to shake the farthest limbs.

The effort will be a strenuous one, but the fruit in the end will be worth it, American industrialists believe.

The Alaskan pipeline project, about to get under way and eventually bring two million barrels of oil daily to the United States via tanker, is a prime example of climbing the tree for the apples. It is the start of a drive to exploit rich virgin resources in environments not only far away but also harsh and tough to work in.

The Alaskan pipeline, it turns out, is only one of several such bold moves to pipe in new energy sources from distant places between now and the 1990s. Hastened by the energy crunch, the projects, nevertheless, were on the minds and even some of the drawing boards of engineers long before there was a gasoline of heating oil shortage.

"Let's face it," says Bob Seethaler, marketing vice president for Rockwell International's Flow Control Division, which designs, engineers and produces equipment and systems for the oil and gas industry, "to satisfy the world's energy needs of the future, we're going to have to comb the remote far corners of earth for new stores of resources, especially gas and oil."

Beyond the Alaskan pipeline, two of the largest projects are code-named Canadian Arctic Gas and Polar Gas.

The Can-Arctic project joins a consortium of 25 companies to produce and transport petroleum products across a 2,500-mile-long, 48-inch gas pipeline stretching from Prudhoe Bay on Alaska's North Slope to Emerson, in the mid-Canadian province of Manitoba. Construction is scheduled to start in the mid-1970s and waste gas from the North Slope oil drilling operations will begin to flow south in the early 1980s.

The Polar Gas project, also a 48-inch pipeline, is to run 3,200 miles from the King Christian Islands group in the Northwest Territories south to Niagara Falls. It is to be started in the late 1970s and completed in the late 1980s.

Yet these far-flung projects are only the first strides in a great march toward literally endless supplies of new fuel.

Chou Keeping Low Foreign Policy Profile

LONDON—(LENS)—Chou En-lai doesn't have to worry about foreign policy: not yet, anyway. Apart from January's mini-war with South Vietnam about some mini-islands in the South China Sea, and the calculated confrontation with the Russians, China's dealings with the rest of the world are still years before 1972.

Even the foreign gap in China's most affairs — its non-relationship with India and Bangladesh — now looks like being bridged as a result of the recognition of Bangladesh by All Bhutto of Pakistan. The oil crisis and its accompanying political disputes have passed a self-sufficient China by. Trade is booming and statesmen are still queuing up for the regulation pilgrimage to Peking. Yet much of this picture could come unstuck overnight if the world's most durable prime minister should lose his grip on the latest revolutionary outburst at home.

If Chou or any of his policies is under fire these days, he is not letting on. He is conspicuously carrying on diplomatic business as usual with state visitors filing in and out of Peking — recently Algeria's President Boumedienne, Zambia's President Kaunda, Thailand's defense minister, General Dawee — and he sends them off with reassurances that they needn't worry about the Confucius business.

At a Peking dinner for President Kaunda, Chou mentioned the anti-Confucius campaign in public for the first time only to play it down; He described it not as a major new development but as "a continuation and deepening of the movement to criticize Lin Biao," a movement which has been proceeding without that two years.

And he went on to promise his guest that China would carry on its foreign policy, which he defined in neither xenophobic nor revolutionary terms. The prime minister had sounded even more peaceable when he told General Dawee, who was visiting China in the guise of chairman of the Thai Olympic committee, that Peking was discontinuing its support for the communist guerrillas in Thailand.

There is no reason to doubt that Chou meant what he said. The problem is that Chou's is not the only voice in China today; and the persistent sniping at Beethoven, Schubert and French and Italian filmmakers, among other bourgeois foreigners, suggests that if some Chinese leaders had been never openly expressed their views about China's relations with the west, debates are not conducted that way in China.

But Mrs. Mao's Shanghai sidekicks, Wang Hungwen and Yao Wen-yuan, have demonstrated their distaste for the American connection — Yao by boycotting President Nixon's visit two years ago and Wang by availing Henry Kissinger in November. So it is reasonable to assume that, given the chance, the radicals would want to pull China out of the embrace of its new Western friends.

Carrot Revamping Move Afoot

By JOAN COLBY
Copley News Service

There is a movement afoot, I hear, led by a horticulturist, to revamp the carrot.

The carrot, he claims, is down there with lowly spinach on the vegetable popularity chart. Members don't cook carrots, and kits wouldn't eat them if they did, he contends, because the carrot tastes like "olly turpentine."

I am moved to holler, "Hold on a minute." The carrot happens to be my favorite vegetable. In fact, throughout my finicky childhood, it was the only vegetable. Templed as I was with creamed peas, asparagus tips, and cauliflower, I remained faithful to my raw carrot.

It is the old-style carrots I'm speaking of. Not this guy's new invention — purportedly sweeter and straighter.

My carrots run the gamut from fingerlings to thick stalky shillelaghs. I even relish those bifurcated mutations that turn up in my garden. (Due, probably, to uranium in the soil — or so goes one of my wilder pipe dreams.)

Some people eat their carrots cooked — in butter sauce, caramelized, with salad dressing, or raw and salted. I prefer them straight. Just thinly peeled and washed.

And now, some experimenter is going to "improve" the carrot to satisfy the taste buds of flimsy cupcake freaks.

Soon the carrot (nature!) will be as rare as those wonderful Wealthy apples we used to obtain from my parents' small orchard — that have commercially been almost entirely supplanted by red Delicious.

Besides neutralizing the carrot's allegedly bad taste, these scientific types are going to retool it. A better-baking carrot is what they're promoting.

Pretty is as pretty does. The carrot, let us remember, has wonderful properties.

Kidnapings Raise Safety Questions

By JAMES CARY
Washington Bureau Chief
Copy News Service

WASHINGTON — The rising potential for terrorist activity in the United States, dramatized by two political kidnapings, poses serious questions about the adequacy of protection provided for prominent Americans. Two recent incidents highlight the danger. At 12 a.m. Feb. 17, security guards opened fire with shotguns on an Army helicopter making menacing sweeps over the White House. Pfc. Robert K. Preston, 20, and Army maintenance man who had stolen the chopper at nearby Ft. Meade, Md., was forced to land on the White House grounds. Six days later, on Feb. 22, a mentally disturbed Philadelphia named Samuel Byck, 44, killed a policeman and a Delta Airlines copilot, then killed himself in an abortive hijack attempt at Baltimore International Airport. He had planned to crash the airliner into the White House. Since then Aviation Week magazine has reported that White House guards have been armed with "Redeye" anti-aircraft missiles which can be loaded and fired from the shoulder by one person.

The Secret Service says the magazine's report is "inaccurate," but does acknowledge that it is continuously evaluating its protective procedures in carrying out its statutory duty to protect the President.

While the service is very tight-lipped about what changes such evaluating produces, or the techniques it employs in guarding the White House, there is little doubt it had much greater firepower it could have used in the helicopter incident if necessary.

What weapons are there is secret and will remain so, but considerable information is available on the extent of the protection provided, who is eligible to receive it and how much it costs.

Pvt. Slovik's Widow Tries To Forget

DETROIT (AP)—The widow of the only American soldier shot for desertion since the Civil War is living here under an assumed name and trying to forget, a Detroit newspaper reports.

Antonette Slovik, wife of Pvt. Eddie Slovik, who was executed during World War II, had been presumed dead for nearly a decade by all who knew her, except a few close relatives. She and Slovik had no children. But obscurity may become more difficult for Mrs. Slovik, now 60.

NBC television is scheduled to air a movie-length documentary Wednesday on the life of Eddie Slovik, whose execution was kept secret from even the Detroit GI's wife for nine years.

Based on a book by William Bradford Huie, the movie traces Slovik's path to an anonymous grave in France reserved for GI's convicted of violent crimes.

"If it hadn't been for the incident (Slovik's execution), my life would have been different," Mrs. Slovik told the Detroit News in a copyrighted story. "But since then, it's been nothing but hell."

"They took a sick man," she said of Eddie, who had been granted a deferment because of a prison record but was then reclassified and drafted.

"He had bad legs and really wasn't fit for combat," she said. An Army buddy, John Tankey of Dearborn Heights, recalled that in the fall of 1941 he and Slovik were led in France after a German machine gun nest wiped out nine of 12 men in their squad.

After 45 days with a Canadian unit, they finally caught up with their unit in Eisenborn, Belgium.

Tankey recalled: "I reported to a captain first and was in there about 45 minutes. He told me, 'You're a rifleman now, but you're going to be a machine gunner.'"

"Then Eddie went in. He was in there a long time and soon I could hear shouting coming through the door."

"Eddie came out real fast, brushing by me and he didn't have his rifle. The captain told me, 'You'd better stop your buddy. He's going to get into a lot of trouble.'"

"I asked Eddie, what are you doing? But he jerked his arm away from me and said, 'John leave me alone. I know what I'm doing.' That was the last time I saw him, walking down a hill."

That was Oct. 8, 1941. The next day Slovik gave himself up and signed a paper saying he refused to carry a rifle.

Slovik was sentenced to death by an Army court-martial, and two days before Christmas of that year, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower signed the execution order. The order was carried out on Jan. 31, 1945.

Both Mrs. Slovik and Tankey told the News they did not hear of the execution until Huie contacted her while researching the Slovik case.

"Huie and I had to go to Washington to get Eddie's file," Mrs. Slovik said. "I was in a 1960-month Social Security period. They treated us like dirt."

TANGY POT ROAST MAKES GOOD MEAL...Low cost will stretch dollar

Budget Pinch? Try Pot Roast

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Less-expensive beef roasts turn into delicious dinner cuts when braised and simmered with special seasonings to make them more tender. In other words, the pot roast is at the top of the list as an economical and flavorful dish to serve the family or guests. Add vegetables during the last 20 minutes to avoid overcooking and loss of flavor and nutrients. This recipe calls for prairie juice which gives a tart-sweet, almost wine-like flavor to meats.

TANGY POT ROAST
1 1/2 cups prairie juice
1 medium onion, sliced
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 cup soy sauce
1 3/4-4 pound chuck roast

Combine 1 cup prairie juice, onion, vinegar and soy sauce in saucepan and bring to boil. Pour over chuck roast in dutch oven, cover and simmer on top of stove about 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until meat is tender. Boil new potatoes and add with carrots during last 20 minutes. Heat beefs separately. When pot roast is done, remove to serving platter, keep warm. Combine liquid from beefs with pan juices. Dissolve cornstarch in 1/2 cup prairie juice and add to hot mixture. Stir constantly until mixture thickens. Spoon over pot roast and serve with vegetables.

WORLD TODAY

Pat In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon saluted Venezuela's new president, Carlos Andres Perez, as "a very strong, impressive man" at an inauguration-night party given by the American Embassy. Mrs. Nixon, who headed the United States delegation to the inauguration earlier in the day, declined to comment on the inaugural address in which Perez pledged to speed up nationalization of the huge American and other foreign oil interests in Venezuela.

Princess Hires Chef

SANDHURST, England (AP) — Newlywed Princess Anne warned her husband-to-be in advance that she could cook little more than sausages. But Army Capt. Mark Phillips won't have to worry much about the food. Mrs. Flora Davies, the new chef hired by the couple, has ample cooking experience from her previous job of preparing 400 meals a day at a secondary school.

Wilson Political Gamble

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson appears to be daring opposition parties to topple his minority Labor government or risk seeing Britain withdraw from the European Common Market. It is a gamble that Wilson seems likely to win, no matter what the Conservative and Liberal supporters of Britain's membership in the European Economic Community do. If the Conservatives and Liberals overthrow the government on the Common Market issue and force a new election, the Laborites would probably be elected with a majority in Commons because opinion polls have consistently shown 60 per cent of the public opposed to being in the Common Market.

Kissinger Delays Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is putting off his trip to the Soviet Union for a week, apparently to concentrate on laying the groundwork for negotiations on a Golan Heights disengagement in the Middle East.

Arab Oilmen To Decide Fate Of Fuel Embargo

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Egypt's leading newspaper predicts that the Arab oil ministers meeting today in Tripoli will follow President Anwar Sadat's lead and end the oil embargo against the United States. Diplomats in the Libyan capital are doubtful.

There is also a possibility that some of the nations will abandon the embargo and some, like Libya, will continue it.

The meeting will be the Arab's third try to get together on Sadat's proposal to end the embargo in appreciation for the Cairo newspaper that often speaks for the Egyptian government. He reported the meeting today would end the ban on shipments to the United States and the Netherlands and suspend the cutbacks in production of 25 per cent and more that were ordered in hopes other oil-buying nations would exert effective pressure on the United States. The embargo on shipments to the United States and the Netherlands has been in effect since the October Arab-Israeli war because of their support of Israel. Syria, Algeria and Libya want it to continue until Israel agrees to pull back on the Syrian front.

The prediction of success for the Egyptian president's proposal to call off the oil war came from the Tripoli correspondent of Al Ahran, the Cairo newspaper that often speaks for the Egyptian government. He reported the meeting today would end the ban on shipments to the United States and the Netherlands and suspend the cutbacks in production of 25 per cent and more that were ordered in hopes other oil-buying nations would exert effective pressure on the United States. The embargo on shipments to the United States and the Netherlands has been in effect since the October Arab-Israeli war because of their support of Israel. Syria, Algeria and Libya want it to continue until Israel agrees to pull back on the Syrian front.

Hanoi To Yield 11 Dead POWs

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A United States military team flew to Hanoi today to pick up the remains of 11 more American prisoners of war who died in captivity.

The remains were to be flown to U Tapao Air Base in Thailand for identification and return to the United States.

Remains of 12 other American POWs were flown to Thailand from the North Vietnamese capital last week, and Hanoi said it also had the body of a 352 crewman who was killed when his plane was shot down. There has been no indication when the last body would be released.

North Vietnam says that it is the remains of American servicemen it had. The United States claims that 350 more Americans are missing in action in North Vietnam, 710 elsewhere in Indochina and 50 at sea off the Vietnamese coast.

The Defense Department said it would not release the names of those whose remains were recovered until positive identification was made and the families were notified. But Hanoi last week gave the names, ranks and military serial numbers of the first 12.

In Saigon, meanwhile, a militant Buddhist leader charged that military police arrested 145 monks at a prayer service in his pagoda Tuesday. Thich (Venerable) Thien An of the An Quang faction said the roundup may have been due to an anti-government demonstration he and 20 other Buddhists held Monday.

A senior official of the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision reported that once again the commission that is supposed to supervise the Vietnam cease-fire is near bankruptcy, with $1.7 million in debts.

"Within two more weeks, if we don't get any money, we will be completely in the red," said Assad K. Sady of Iran.

The Vietnam peace agreement specifies that the commission will be financed by the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. The commission's financial state is due to the Communists' refusal to approve the $28.5 million budget submitted by the peacekeeping group; the Communists demanded that it be cut to $18 million.

"I don't get any money, we will be completely in the red," said Assad K. Sady of Iran.

Israel, Syria Are Battling

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Syrian artillery exchanged fire for two hours just after dawn today, according to the Israeli command.

The exchange followed four hours of heavy shelling Tuesday, when hundreds of shells crossed the tense cease-fire line and struck waves from Israeli 155mm cannon fire shook the ground in Damascus, 23 miles from the front.

Syria said it shot down an Israeli helicopter, but Israel denied the claim.

The Israelis made no comment on claims by Damascus that Syrian gunners made direct hits on a dozen military targets.

There were no reports of casualties.

Deputy Premier Yigal Allo warned late Tuesday that "any attempt by Syria to renew hostilities may backfire." But Premier Golda Meir said Israel "would make every effort to reach a disengagement of forces with Syria."

"If we fail, it will not be our fault. It will be because Syria's terms are impossible and we must not accept them."

But Mrs. Meir reiterated that Israel could not surrender the Golan Heights, which it took from Syria in the 1967 war. The plateau overlooks the Israeli agricultural settlements in northern Galilee.

Miss Wiggins Is Bride Of Gregory S. Robinson

Miss Ella Mae Wiggins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wiggins, 1400 South West Rd. Sanford, and Gregory Scott Robinson, son of Mrs. Katie Robinson, 1115 Hickory Ave. Sanford and the late Willie H. Robinson exchanged wedding vows, March 9, 1974 at 3 p.m., at the Mt. Sinai Missionary Baptist Church, Sanford.

Rev. S.S. Robinson Jr., Jacksonville, an uncle of the groom officiated at the candlelight, double ring ceremony. Mrs. Gloria Williams, organist, presented an appropriate musical program and soloist was Miss Barbara Jean Givens, sister of the groom.

The church was decorated with four baskets of pink and aqua daisies and baby breath, two candleabra, and the family pews were marked with combination bouquets. A white aisle cloth led to a white altar prayer bench. Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal length gown of sheer nylon organza, with V-shaped bib neck, veep cuffs accented by delicate lace ruffles of acetate and nylon and a flounce hemline of sheer organza.

Her floor-length veil was of three-tiered nylon tulle from a cap of lace. She carried a white baby breath and carnations bouquet. Maid of honor, Miss Charlotte J. Houston of St. Petersburg, was attired in a formal length pink gown featuring a bib front and pink tulle with ruffle trim and the back slash. She wore a matching head-piece and carried a bouquet of pink and aqua daisies and baby breath with pink satin streamers. Bridesmaids, Miss Beria Wiggins, the bride's sister Miss Molly Miller, Miss Cynthia Dixon and bridesmatron Mrs. Daisy Billups, Melbourne, wore aqua gowns styled with that of the maid of honor. They carried aqua and pink bouquets of daisy and baby breath with aqua and pink ribbons.

Honorary W. Merthe was best man and usher-groomsman were Ronald Wardlow, Tampa; Tony Fields, Jacksonville; Bernard Mitchell, James Gilchrist, Arcadia and Joseph Wiggins. Flower girl was Kayla Givens and ringbearer Derrick J. Wiggins. The bride's mother chose a formal length gown of pink with white accessories and a white orchid corsage trimmed in pink. The groom's mother chose a formal length gown of blue with white accessories and a white orchid. The reception was held in the church annex. The bride's table was centered with four-tiered wedding cake flanked by aqua daisies and pink and aqua daisies and baby breath. Mrs. Clara Wardlow the bride's sister was in charge of the bride's book. Mrs. Laura Harrington, Miss Faye Williams, presided over the cake and the punch bowl. For her going-away outfit, Mrs. Robinson chose a two-piece green print suit with dark green trim and black accessories. The couples were reported stolen from the Burger Scene at 545 French Avenue, Police said today.

MR AND MRS. GREGORY ROBINSON ...Newlyweds

Apartment, Winter Park. The bride is a secretary at Florida Technological University and the groom is an instructor at Lakeview Middle School, Sanford. Out-of-town guests were from Tampa, Jacksonville, Atlanta, and Ocala.

Burglars Take Wine

Burglars broke into Aron's Beer Gardens at 1503 W 13th St. Tuesday and stole a bottle of wine, police said today. Police said burglars entered Lucille's Beer Gardens Tuesday through the front door and stole an unknown amount of money and cigarettes. A $45 puntball machine was reported stolen from the Burger Scene at 545 French Avenue, Police said today.

Included in the contract are the 300 foot wide access channel, turning basin a submarine repair and docking facility. Excavated sand will be used to replenish a 2½-mile stretch of eroded beach at Cape Canaveral.

Springs Council Actions

By JANE CASSELBERRY County Editor

At the request of Bob Koch, architect for the proposed city hall complex, Winter Springs City Council at Monday night's meeting scheduled a special work session for next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the budget for the facility.

An ordinance to establish a $25 a month stipend for expenses of city zoning board members, who have been spending their own personal funds in carrying out their duties, was passed on the first reading. The ordinance also calls for an additional $25 to the member serving as secretary of the zoning board.

Impact Data Presented
Jack Cooper, consultant engineer for the Crooked Creek Planned Unit Development, presented impact data and site plan supplement to be added to original approved plan and forward to the Planning and Zoning Board for review. The development will be adjacent to Hayes, Bahama, and Moss Roads.

Cooper said the developer, in order to offset the city's cost in hiring additional firemen as a result of the impact of the PUD, would pay the salary of one fireman the first year, two firemen the second year and one the third year. As the city presently does not have equipment to fight fires in the three-story portions of the proposed buildings Cooper said the company would advance funds for the acquisition of the needed equipment with the method of repayment open to negotiation.

Council accepted the paving and drainage for Section 1 of The Highlands, done at no cost to the city by the developer who also posted a surety bond for maintenance.

A motion to publish a proposed ordinance to increase the fees paid mayor and councilman was passed over the loud dissenting vote of Councilman Irene Van Espoel. The ordinance was not read and the city clerk and Mrs. Van Espoel said that copies had not been received from the city attorney Tom Freeman. Council voted unanimously, on the recommendation of the new assistant maintenance man, David Cissel, to repair the department's old truck at cost not to exceed $150. Council had asked bids for one or two new half-ton six cylinder pick-up trucks and bids were opened and referred to Cissel for his comparison and recommendation.

Joe Creamans was apparent low bidder with $2,530.81; Endicott Postine and Bulek, followed with $2,683 and Jack Prosser with $2,780. Other bidders were Dick Baird Dalton and Jimmy Bryan Toyota.

Farmers Market Reopens Friday

The Farmers Market will open March 15th at 10 a.m. to the public for the first time in many years. The retail market is located in the building on the north side and will be open Tuesdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. until about 6 p.m. The market will be open through early July, which is the end of the season in Florida for most fruits and vegetables.

Earlier this year several local vegetable growers got together and formed the Seminole Growers Association to rent several stalls at the market to sell produce to the public. The State Farmers Market Advisory Committee, the State Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services and the Seminole County Extension Service are assisting the small local growers who have formed the Association. It is hoped by everyone involved in planning that this will help small vegetable growers in many years. The retail market and marketers will be able to buy fresh fruits and vegetables twice a week.

The Sanford Farmers Market is the only State Farmers Market in Florida that will have a place for sales to consumers. If the Retail Market is successful here, other State Farmers Markets will also try it.

Most new comers to the area are not aware that many vegetables are raised in Seminole County. The Farmers Market and Extension Service Offices have received many calls from people who want to buy vegetables at the market. Now consumers will have the opportunity to buy fresh fruits and vegetables from local growers.

The King Family To End Concert Season

Dear Abby Being 'Sorry' Is Not Enough, He Needs Help

Like England in the noted saying, "They will always be the King Sisters!" The phrase is not an idle boast. It seems a veritable fact with so many talented people in the King Family, and all musically inclined.

When their Mom and Dad, erstwhile vaudevillians and Dad a schoolteacher to boot, decided a teacher's income was insufficient to rear a growing and ever-hungry family of youngsters, there was only one thing to do, especially when they both knew their youngsters were as musically inclined as they had been: they formed an act consisting of Mom and Dad and the kids, six boys and two girls, billed as the Driggs Family of Entertainers.

Moving to Southern California, they week-ended and summered giving concerts in schools, clubs, theaters and churches, traveling all through the West. That was the original version of the King clan.

Today, with all eight children married and parents of many children, the King Family has become a veritable American tradition, the nation's truly First Family of Song.

They will perform March 18 at a special concert at the Sanford Civic Center starting at 8 p.m., under auspices of Seminole Mutual Concert Association.

When the first family of children grew up, three of the girls formed a trio under the guidance and supervision of their Dad: Maxine, Luise and Alys.

The girls act thrived, adult and abetted by their brother, Karlton, who accompanied them at the piano and evolved their arrangements. When Horace Heidt heard them in Salt Lake City during a radio broadcast, he signed them for a two-week engagement in San Francisco, an engagement that continued for five years!

During that time, Maxine married and retired from show biz, and she was promptly replaced, not by one sister, but by two—Donna and Yvonne... and the King Sisters quartet was formed.

In the early Forties, Alvino Rey, now the husband of Luise, formed a famous dance band and starred the King Sisters, a combination that hit the big time virtually overnight. Hit records followed and they found fame during those years of the big-name swing bands appearing at the most noted hotels in the county, singing on nearly every major radio network show, and making movies for three of Hollywood's top studios.

Today's aggregation of King Family talent involves not only the King Sisters, their husbands, their kids—and in time to come no doubt, their kids' kids.

The type of musical entertainment spans the years from those days when Bill King Driggs and Pearl Mortenson first trod the boards, to those early days of the Driggs Family of Entertainers, and through the swinging years of the big bands and Big Band, all the way down (or up) to the modern sound of electric guitars and the Big Beat as performed by the King Cousins—the youngsters of the family ranging from 5 to 25 years of age.

DEAR POLLY — Surely the readers know of some things that could be made of driftwood other than can holders and arrangements. If I would like to know what and how — JUNE.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with food distributors who widely advertise a product on food packages and offer a discount of the price but do not say where it can be bought. After trying several stores with no luck I throw the coupon away. Even if I see it later I will not buy it so I feel they are defeating their purpose. It would be to their advantage to list the stores in the ads or on the coupons. MRS. G.L.E.

DEAR POLLY — When having any paper replenished write the required number of yards of fabric (width, too) and the date the work was done on the inside of the frame. This information will come in handy when the piece has to be covered again.

When the men mount new tires on the car they should write the mileage on a piece of tape and place this inside the hub cap. When the tires are replaced with new ones many miles they have been driven — DORIS.

DEAR POLLY — I always had trouble cleaning a soap dish until I discovered that a vegetable brush cleans out every little crevice. — N.M.

DEAR POLLY — For years we have been using paper napkins for family meals but with the high cost of buying even paper napkins I decided to make cloth ones. I use a lot so had many scraps of fabric and was in need of material to use for making them and finished the edges with the zigzag stitch on my sewing machine. However, they could be finished with fringed edges if one preferred. A different color or pattern can be used for each one. The youngsters could make individual napkins and by using napkin rings they could make more than one each family member on one. I am going to make more and even make some for gifts — MISS G.C.L.

DEAR POLLY — I have been married for 17 years to a man who is good to me and the kids, but he's always been the quiet type until we have an argument, and then he explodes. For instance the other night we had an argument about the bills I ran up. (I admit, I have a tendency to overspend).

After he yelled at me that a while he said: "And another thing, why do you make FISH all the time? You know I hate fish!" I was shocked. I never knew he didn't like fish. He always ate it without saying a word.

How can a wife get her husband to say what is on his mind without waiting for it to come out in a fight?

DEAR IN: Without nagging ("Why don't you ever talk to me?"), try to involve him in conversations. The more communication you have between you, the more you will learn about his likes and dislikes. And hurry up. You're already 17 years behind!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are heart sick! Our son and his lovely wife have been married 10 years and have two adorable children. Together they have just informed us that they are getting a divorce. We were shocked.

We are quite well-known in our community and all of our friends and relatives thought our son had made the perfect marriage.

Our clergyman has advised us to ask them no questions and to refrain from urging them to try to make a "go" of their marriage. He told us that they had sought counseling and they have been unable to reconcile their differences, so we should simply accept it.

Our question: What should we tell relatives and friends when they ask us? "What happens?"

DEAR PARENTS: Tell them you don't know. (P. S. You don't owe anyone any explanations.)

Problem: You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply to ABBY: Box No. 0970, L.A., Calif. 90063. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Carroll Righter's Horoscope from the Carroll Righter Institute

THURSDAY, MARCH 14, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Take some time out to think over your basic views and the school of thought that can be most helpful to you. Then consult authorities in these fields for guidance.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have up-to-date, clever ideas and should put them in operation quickly. Become friendly with those of different backgrounds.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Follow hunches on how to gain your fondest aims. Be more frank in letting others know how you feel. Avoid one who is two-faced.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Sit down with that associate who does not understand your ideas before you go to a fine meeting of minds next week.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Deliberating too much can cause you to forget to take action on something important. Discuss problems with co-workers.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan now for future recreation and contact congenials. Show how much you appreciate your mate and good relatives and be happier.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Add the cultural things and art pieces to your abode that make it more charming and comfortable. Get into basic matters for fine benefits.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Ideal day to reach a fine understanding with regular associates. Do not permit some troublemaker to upset you badly now. Keep appointments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You want to add to present income so labor along such lines. Talk matters over with an expert. Bankers can be of assistance, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Let others know exactly what you want of a personal matter. Take action to bring such to yourself later. Meet socially with a fine group.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Quietly seek out the information you need, which is the best way. If you follow through with what mate desires, happiness ensues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) Being your own social self is the best way to proceed. Get into last group meeting that appeals to you so much.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) You can add considerably to your success and the respect others have for you. Show your finest abilities. Impress others.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will act on the spur of the moment and it is well to teach early to have silent rather than get into trouble by loose talk. Teach to have all facts and figures straight first. An ideal chart for professions that require much travel, whether in business, art, or cultural fields. Give as good a spiritual training as you can. Don't neglect sports for health.

Lybian Says U.S. Oil Embargo To End

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — The Arabs have agreed to end their oil embargo against the United States, a high-ranking Libyan official says. The decision may be announced Sunday in Vienna.

Agreement to end the oil war against the United States, but not against the Netherlands, was reported after a meeting Wednesday of nine Arab oil ministers in a Tripoli hotel.

It was not announced officially because Libya remained firmly opposed to any easing of the embargo and refused to permit the announcement on its territory, the sources said.

A brief communique said the ministers agreed "to consult their governments." A Libyan source said they would meet again Sunday in Vienna during a price-fixing session of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and may announce the Tripoli decision then.

Several participants in the meeting said a "positive decision" on the embargo was taken, but they declined to give details.

Ransom Cash Net Snarles 2

Two Sanford men have been jailed on stolen property charges believed to be connected with ransom money from the Feb. 28 kidnaping of George Jackson Jr.

Raymond Ellis Gaines, 25, of 622 E. Eighth St., and Horace Gathers, 19, of 1210 W. 16th St., were in county jail today on $5,000 bond each on charges of buying, receiving and concealing stolen property.

Investigators, gagged by federal court-ordered secrecy in the kidnap case, refused to comment on reports money found in Gaines' car and a $20 bill allegedly found in Gathers' possession today was purchased at Lakeland where he went to a cash. Sanford police and sheriff's deputies arrested Gaines Wednesday afternoon at his home.

Gaines was arrested by Belle Glade police Sunday on traffic and drug charges and returned to Sanford after Belle Glade officers said they found $600 cash in a new car he was driving.

Authorities have claimed they have recovered $18,000 of the $30,000 ransom dropped in a Maitland orange grove by Jackson's son in compliance with telephoned and written instructions. Jackson was released unharmed two hours later after being blindfolded and blindfolded for 20 hours, according to police.

Gaines told reporters Tuesday he was going rabbit hunting with a friend last week when he found $9,000 in the brush near Ninth Street in Sanford. Gaines said he took $6,000 of the money, went to Lakeland where he purchased a 1974 Pontiac and then on the Belle Glade.

"I don't know anything about the kidnaping," Gaines said, "all I knew was I found some money and when you find money you are supposed to spend it." He said he didn't want to "get involved with them."

Police today identified Gathers as "a friend of Gaines."

Gaines and Gathers were scheduled for first appearance this afternoon in county court on the stolen property charge. A federal grand jury was reportedly in session today in session today in Orlando and sources said the jury is expected to consider charges of extortion against three Sanford men arrested earlier in the Jackson kidnap case. They are: Ernest Jerome Davis, 18, 1800 Strickland Ave.; Frank Wheeler Jr., 24, of 1811 W. 16th St.; Jesse James Jones Jr., 23, of Southwest Road.

Orlando Jim Hess Recalls Tying Hands Of Pvt. Slovik

Surprise everyone. The Arab oil ministers haven't yet lifted the embargo, and all of a sudden we're being told of increases in gasoline allocations, more service stations are operating on longer business hours, and they now inquire if you want your tank filled.

Notwithstanding this sudden reversal of shortages trend, I do feel we should pause and pay homage to the oil barons. You've heard, I'm sure, of union president George Meany's attribution that the oil industry is saddled with still another perplexing problem—now they're looking for additional space to store the excess gasoline?

It seems that they've used up all of the now extinct independent service stations underground tanks for storage, and are looking elsewhere to store the petrol.

That coupled with their other dollar problems of showing too great a profit margin, well, I know that you join me in wishing that we could have that kind of a dilemma, eh?

One more on the gasoline situation, the local story making the rounds regarding a service station operator who's suffering from a bruised lip as a result of pecking into a customer's auto to verify that there was less than a half-tank of gas. This is one of the requisites under the county's present voluntary odd-even gas plan—to verify need of additional gasoline. He got soaked in the lip for doing so.

From The Mailbag: "I do wish bicyclist riders would have reflectors on their bikes. They can see, but everyone else is not looking for them, especially these foggy mornings.

The memo came from Eva Hunt at 2010 Maple Avenue in Sanford.

"You're right, Eva. As a matter of fact, it's a Florida state law that all autos MUST have their lights on during fog or while the windshield wipers are turned on.

Ford Confirms Arab Embargo Lift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford today says he understands the Arab oil embargo against the United States has been lifted, but other high U.S. officials said they had received no such assurance.

"It's my understanding that the oil embargo has been lifted," Ford said in a televised interview.

But other ranking officials, who declined to be identified, cautioned that they had no official word on whether or when the embargo might be lifted—whether oil exporting countries would meet in Vienna, Austria, or in Tripoli, Libya, on Sunday.

The State Department had no official comment but officials there said they were encouraged by the word they had received. There was no elaboration.

"The particular announcement, will come at a later date, a day or two from now," Ford said.

17.6 Million Gallons Extra Allocated State

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida has received a 17.6 million gallon increase in its March gasoline allocation, Gov. Reubin Askew says.

Askew said Wednesday that the average daily gasoline supply would be 12.25 million gallons, up 15.7 percent from the 10.6 million gallon average in February.

With about 5.5 million motor vehicles registered in Florida, the increase comes to about 9.3 gallons for each.

Askew said the 17.6 million

Nixon Has Lost Shultz, Last Original Team Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon accepted with "a sense of personal regret" today the resignation of Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, effective in early May.

Announcing the impending departure of the last member of Nixon's original cabinet to still hold federal office, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the President feels Shultz "has served with great distinction," starting as secretary of labor in 1969.

Noting that Shultz has talked several times of a desire to return to private life, Warren said the 53-year-old economist would continue to "assume special assignments" after leaving the Treasury post he has held since June 12, 1972.

Warren described Shultz as "a pillar of this administration and this government" and said Nixon has asked him to express "our enormous respect, affection and appreciation for Secretary Shultz."

Asked if Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, who also serves as the federal chief, would be in line to succeed Shultz, Warren said, "I won't go down a check list of names." He added that Simon obviously is well regarded in administration circles.

Besides serving as Treasury chief, Shultz held the dual appointment of assistant to the President for economic affairs until his position he will also leave.

He became the first director of the new Office of Management and Budget in July 1970.

Hospital Fund Limit Compromise Reached

A compromise on Seminole Memorial Hospital operating and expansion fund limits was hammered out Wednesday.

The county commission and hospital trustees met with State Rep. Eugene Mooney, R-Casselberry, and agreed on one mill annual expansion and .65 mill annual operating tax caps.

These limits will be phased into a local legislative bill to be introduced at the April legislative session.

Pollution Chief Seeks Wekiva Court Injunction

Seminole County will push ahead with a circuit court injunction against Orange County officials Wednesday agreed to stop pumping muddy water from a private development into the Little Wekiva River.

Seminole pollution control chief Langley Adair today said he will this afternoon seek a circuit court injunction banning further pumping from Riverside Acres, on SR 431 near Forest City, as "insurance" against further pollution.

Adair said state officials Wednesday were told by Orange County public works director Charley Goode that pumping designed to prevent flooding of the private subdivision would cease until engineers found a way to control muddy overflow.

While he is glad the state apparently gained a promise of no further pollution, Adair said, he will personally make numerous checks, to say the least, of the Little Wekiva site to make sure no pumping takes place.

For the future, Adair said, he will set up a meeting with Goode and Orange County staff "to see just what other plans they have which will affect Seminole — such 'little things' as canalization of the Little Wekiva.

Adair said he will not seek a court fine for Orange because of the Riverside Acres pollution already on record, adding he feels a court injunction "will serve that purpose at this time."
