Raines Looking At A Return To Montreal Expos

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Will Tim Raines return to Montreal? That prospect looks to be more and more of a reality today.

Free agent Raines, who has been shopping himself around the major-league camps this spring, took an unexpected excursion to West Palm Beach Saturday to visit some familiar surroundings.

Raines, a six-time all-star outfielder for Montreal before declaring his free-agency in January, has repeatedly denied he would return to his former club.

Those denials, however, sound a bit hollow today after the Saturday meeting with his former club. Raines was a guest Saturday afternoon of Montreal owner Charles Bronfman. Bronfman had visited with Raines and agent Tom Reich in Sarasota Thursday where he issued the invitation to visit the Expos' spring training base, which Raines accepted.

Raines apparently has shifted direction and said it is possible he will be joining the Expos after May 1. Because he did not sign with his former club by

Jan. 8 — one of a series of deadlines governing free-agent negotiations — Raines cannot bargain with the Expos until May 1, although Saturday's meeting is a prelude to that bargaining. Raines, 27, has turned down offers from San Diego and Houston. He was the 1986 National League batting champion with a .334 average.

"This is not a press conference to say I'm coming back to the Expos," Raines told United Press International Saturday in the team's dugout before an exhibition game against the New York Mets.

However, his appearance with Bronfman gave credence to the belief that he will be back with the Expos after May 1.

Weather Focus Of Atlas Probe

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A team of NASA investigators geared up today for the start of a grim probe into the loss of an Atlas-Centaur rocket launched in a thunderstorm that highlights ongoing problems forecasting unpredictable space coast weather.

Jon Busse, an engineer at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., arrived at the Kennedy Space Center late Saturday to take over the agency's investigation into the nation's latest space disaster.

He planned a news conference today before meeting with his nine-member panel for the first time Tuesday.

The $78 million Atlas-Centaur, carrying an $83 million military communications satellite, flew off course Thursday 52 seconds after blastoff in a steady downpour. A lightning bolt near the launch pad an instant before the rocket nosed out of control may have triggered the disaster, but engineers have not made a final determination.

Salvage crews spent the weekend recovering debris from area beaches and mapping the seabed with sonar to locate significant parts of the destroyed rocket.

Road, Bridge Washouts; Fire, Power Outages Brought On By Rainstorm

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

The worst rainstorm in two years in Seminole County dropped 9.15 inches of rain in four days and caused an apartment house fire due to lightning, a road wash-out on Interstate-4, a bridge closing, many lightning-related power outages, and an undetermined number of stalled cars.

According to the National Weather Service, showers should end by midnight tonight. Forecast for Tuesday is partly cloudy in the morning, sunny in the afternoon. The temperature low is expected to be around 50 tonight. A cold front coming through tonight is expected to push the nightly lows into the 40s for most of Florida and highs will reach mid-60s for three or four days.

County road workers toiled through the night but gave up today, trying to save a two-lane bridge being undermined by flooding water in Bookertown west of Sanford.

Orange Boulevard between Dunbar and Oregon avenues in Bookertown has been blocked off because of flood waters in Smith Canal, County Road Supervisor Jimmy Brown said today.

The road was closed after water eroded dirt around the ends of the 35-foot two-lane bridge.

Brown said about eight county employees worked through the night dumping 18 or 19 truck loads of sand around the bridge trying to stop the erosion but the rushing waters swept the fill away. Brown said the bridge will need repairs once the flood waters have receded.

Brown said he believes Smith Canal is connected to the St. Johns.

Maurice Sterling, of the St. Johns River Management District in Palatka, said the river his agency is opening all possible flood gates it can to keep the river from rising. He said the area around Apopka Lake seemed to have received the most rainfall.

In Melbourne, near the headwaters of the St. Johns, the water flowing over a 13 1/4-foot weir has risen four inches to 14 feet four inches over the weekend, according to the city's water department.

Sanford Sewage Treatment Plant in downtown Sanford reported 8.05 inches of rain fell since midnight Friday morning, but the Sanford Regional Airport tower controller reported only 3 1/2 inches, and a total of almost 8 inches for the month. Orlando National Weather Service reported a 7.15 total between Thursday morning and Monday morning. Normal for the entire month of March is 3.20 inches. The total for March is 9.24. A

Stolen Infant Found, 2 In Custody

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — FBI agents arrested two people Sunday and recovered a missing 8-day-old girl whose mother was fatally wounded as her baby was taken.

FBI agents and Jacksonville sheriff deputies arrested Wendy Leigh Zabel, 23, and Robert Henry Ryan, 26 about 8:45 p.m. Sunday as they arrived with the baby in a car at a Jacksonville apartment complex. The baby did not appear to be injured, the FBI said.

The FBI said they are unsure if the couple is married, but they did live together.

Zabel is charged with murder and kidnapping. Ryan is charged with kidnapping.

The infant's mother, Joan Witt, 30, died Thursday night from gunshot and stab wounds inflicted during the abduction. Funeral services are scheduled for Monday at 11 a.m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Jacksonville.

Witt's mother, Marie Barrett, 56, who also was shot and stabbed, remained in University Hospital Sunday. Her condition was not available, but she previously had been listed as stable.

The FBI said the suspect came to the Witt's mobile home at 2 p.m. Thursday and asked to use the telephone. The woman said she was pregnant and needed to call her husband because she was having labor pains.

The woman then asked to use the bathroom, said James Cagnassola, Jr., head of the Jacksonville FBI. She came out of the bathroom with a gun in her right hand and a knife in her left, and demanded that the Witt's newborn baby, Heather Marie Witt, be given to her.

The woman stabbed and shot Barrett and Witt, then took the baby out of her crib and fled, police said.

Police said the victims apparently did not know the attacker.

The child was the first for Mrs. Witt, an accountant for Winn-Dixie Stores Inc., and her husband, Mark. Police said Mark Witt was at work at the time of the abduction.

The baby was born March 22 at Baptist Medical Center and had been taken home Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Barrett was at the home to help Mrs. Witt care for the infant.

George Wisnovsky, FBI special agent, said the break in the case came Saturday, when a weapon was found about two miles from scene following a search by authorities.

The gun led agents to a gun distributor in California, a wholesaler in Minnesota, to Wisconsin, where the gun was sold, and back to Jacksonville Beach.

The apartment in Jacksonville was under surveillance since early Sunday morning.

Homicide Suspected

Body Found By Firefighters

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

The body of a man, in his forties, was found early today by firefighters in the bedroom of an apartment where they were investigating a fire in Southeast

Seminole County.

Police investigators were at the scene today in an effort to identify the man and determine the cause of death. Foul play is suspected, according to Seminole County sheriff's detectives.

Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said the body was found by firefighters inside apartment 902 at Semoran North Apartments, 2575 N.

Burglars Take Sculptor's Prized Works

By Genie Lindberg
Herald Staff Writer

An award-winning wildlife sculptor from Sanford fell prey to a burglary early Friday in which seven of his prized bird carvings were stolen along with power tools he used in making them.

The victim, Daniel DeMendoza, 64, told police the burglary occurred after midnight while he and his wife, Helen, were asleep in their 135 Hidden Lake Drive residence, but that he discovered the items missing Friday morning at about 8:45 a.m. The burglars gained entry by prying a side door of the garage open with a screw driver, a police report said.

Three 6-inch-tall sculptured pelicans which sell for $900 each and four unfinished pheasant carvings which sell for $500 each were stolen along with a table, two compressors, a sander and a router, DeMendoza said. He said he relied on the power tools to "rough out" his models before completing each of them by hand which usually took about a week or longer to finish.

DeMendoza said he was planning to sell his sculptures at the World Wildfowl Carving Championships in Ocean Beach, Md., from April 24-26, but will now replace them with models he has at

Baby Hit By Car Dies

A 22-month-old baby was fatally injured in Sanford Saturday after being struck by a car following her tumble out of a red wagon.

Tenasha Petreas Rickard, 1010 Orange Ave., died Sunday at Orlando Regional Medical Center about 12 hours after the 8:20 p.m. accident at Celery and Orange avenues.

The girl was first treated for head injuries at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford before being transferred to Orlando.

Audrey Bender of the same address was towing Tenasha and her infant son, Keith Gordon, in a wagon as they left a store and were crossing Celery at Orange. As they crossed, the girl fell out and onto the westbound lane. While she was trying to stand up, she was struck by a westbound vehicle driven by Eugene Butler, 27.

POLICE

Man Arrested After Robbery In Bank Parking Lot

A Sanford man was arrested Friday after a bank parking lot robbery in Sanford Jan. 16. Arrested and charged was Johnny P. Hall, 34, of 2480 Church St. Bond was set at $8,000.

Around 11:05 a.m. Jan. 16, a man with an unknown type of weapon in a canvas bag struck another man in the head as he was walking in the parking lot of Sun Bank, 200 W. First St. The victim, unidentified in the police report, received a deep cut on his forehead and after a struggle with the assailant lost control of a pouch containing $8,600.

The robber ran north to the rear of the Florida Power and Light Building on Fulton St. and got into a car that then proceeded west on Seminole Boulevard. Witnesses said the car stopped and the robber got out at his home. He then reportedly threatened the witnesses with harm if they told anyone what they had seen, according to the police report.

Hall was arrested around 10:46 a.m. Friday on Beardall Avenue.

Shooting Suspect Jailed

An Altamonte Springs man was charged with aggravated assault after reportedly shooting into a dining room ceiling during an argument.

Marinelle Bailey, of 907 Pennsylvania Ave., told police that she asked a seemingly drunk man who had verbally threatened her to leave her home. She said he then went to the front door and got a gun that was leaning against the wall, according to a police report. The gun was a combination 20-gauge shotgun and .22-caliber rifle. The incident occurred Friday at 11:47 p.m.

She said the man aimed the gun at her and she thought she was going to be shot. When he pulled the trigger, however, the shot gun blast went into the ceiling of the dining room, she said.

The man told the arresting officer that she wanted him to go so she grabbed the gun and it went off.

Arrested and charged with aggravated assault was Jose Luis Estrada, 51, of the same address. Bond was set at $1,000.

Woman Attacked, Man Charged

Robbery and possession of stolen property charges were logged against a Winter Park man after he reportedly assaulted a woman in a restaurant parking lot.

A woman called police several times Friday about an ongoing disturbance, battery and theft that happened at her home. The man in question returned the property and he agreed to leave, said the report.

Later Friday, after 10 p.m., a man assaulted the woman as she was getting out of her car in the parking lot of the restaurant where she works. The man punched and choked her and ripped a gold necklace off her before leaving.

When police stopped the man at Oxford Square Shopping Center he had a gold bracelet and chain with him but not the one taken from the woman. The woman said the bracelet and chain were hers, however.

Charged with robbery and possession of stolen property was Ricardo Salamanga, 23. Bond was set at $5,000.

Sports Car Found Stripped

A west Seminole County man's Corvette disappeared from his yard only to be found the next day stripped.

Frankie Incenoglu, of west Seminole County, reported Thursday that the 1975 car was missing. Incenoglu lives at 3550 Gleaves Road.

The $8,500 vehicle was found by a building inspector Friday near McNeil Road in the Bear Lake area of the county.

According to the sheriff's report, the car had been stripped by vandals who left only the frame, body, engine block and battery.

Car Left Behind Vandalized

A car left in a Sanford city park because it would not start was vandalized by the time the owner returned the next day to get it.

Felix D. Vazquez, 20, of 111 Geneva Gardens, Sanford, told police that he left his car, valued at $2,000, in the parking lot at Academy Manor Park Monday at 4 p.m. because it would not start. By Tuesday at 4:15 p.m. when Vazquez returned to get the car, all of the windows in the car had been broken out, the roof and hood were caved in, parts were broken off the engine, the headlights and tail lights were broken and papers that were kept in the car had been scattered around the parking lot, a police report said.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

A $200 circular saw, a $150 saw all and a $450 tripod were stolen from a tool box on the bed of the pickup truck of Robert A. DeLorenzo, 24, of 3080 Fox Hill Circle #102, Apopka, Tuesday or Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

Andrew Thomas Smith, 39, of Oviedo, reported to sheriff's deputies that $60 worth of copper pipe and a $130 tool box were stolen from a Blue Ribbon Plumbing truck at that business at 200 Pine St., Altamonte Springs, Tuesday or Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

Cabbie Robbed By Would-Be Dealer

An Orlando Yellow Cab driver reported to sheriff's deputies that he was robbed of $140 by a man who got into his cab on North and Marker streets, outside Altamonte Springs at about 3:30 a.m. Saturday.

Hedges Ronald Ross, 27, of Winter Park, said he was enroute to pick up a fare on Ballina Street when the suspect got into his cab and refused to get out. The suspect tried to sell Ross crack cocaine and when he refused the offer the suspect said, "You know what I want. Give me the money, I'm crazy." The robber put his right hand under a jacket and said "I'll kill you," a sheriff's report said. Ross handed over the cash and the suspect got out of the cab, stood at the door and said, "I'll blow you away."

Ross saw him join other men on the street as he drove toward County Road 427, to call and report the theft. Deputies searched the area, but didn't find the suspect.

Falwell Criticized For Fund-Raising Project

By United Press International

Evangelist Jerry Falwell, who newly agreed to head the PTL ministry shaken by Jim Bakker's sex scandal, has been accused of raising $3.2 million for famine relief in Africa while actually spending only a fraction of it on the program.

Falwell came under fire in a U.S. News & World Report story Sunday saying he raised $3.2 million in 1985-86 for famine relief in Sudan, but spent only $300,000 — mostly to send 15 college students there to refurbish a camp and to buy trucks for the project.

The magazine said Falwell raised $740,000 from four Moral Majority appeals and $2.5 million from other Falwell groups.

Falwell told the magazine the $2.5 million figure was "absolutely ridiculous." His spokesman, Mark Demosa, added the organization had been "committed to a 10-year famine relief project in the Sudan that was cut short by about nine years because of political turmoil."

According to State Department cables and key Falwell aides, the magazine said, the operation never directly distributed any food in Sudan because of obstruction against such aid by the Sudanese government.

Falwell's project was "unable to perform any services in Sudan," the magazine quoted an Oct. 3, 1985, internal State Department cable as saying.

At his Thomas Road Baptist Church in Lynchburg, Va., Sunday, Falwell referred repeatedly to the $172 million PTL empire he took over March 19 when founder Bakker resigned in a sex scandal that shook some of the giants of television evangelism and the Assemblies of God church.

"There are people today just rejoicing in this scandal," Falwell said. "But sin is not something new that was invented with Jim Bakker."

Idyllwilde Residents To Get Expressway Briefing

Idyllwilde area residents are invited to a briefing and question-answer session about the proposed routes for the Seminole County Expressway that may be coming through their neighborhood.

The meeting will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday (Mar. 31) at Idyllwilde Elementary School.

On hand will be Gerald Brinton, executive director of the Expressway Authority.

There will be a presentation about the proposed routes with time afterwards for questions. The routes will be accurately shown on large scale maps, which weren't available at the early March public meetings.

Idyllwilde residents said they were surprised early this month when they learned that one of the alternatives for the expressway divides their school district and neighborhood.

Since they did not have a homeowners' association, the information was not passed on to them as it was in the south county and Lake Mary area months ago, resident said.

For more information call Brinton at 321-1130. Kathy Tyrity

Veterans Rededicate Vandalized Monument

DELRAY BEACH (UPI) — Jewish war veterans have rededicated a vandalized monument in an impassioned ceremony that drew nearly 300 people, including an elderly man beaten three days before the ceremony.

At least one dozen uniformed officers and 30 members of the Jewish War Veterans League watched the Sunday ceremony at Veterans Park, while plainclothes officers mingled with the veterans, civic activists and Jewish groups.

Security increased following the Thursday attack on Murray Hymowitz, 74, of Kings Point near Delray Beach in an incident believed to be related to the 6-foot high gray marble monument, which was toppled in January by vandals.

Three thugs called Hymowitz, former commander of the Jewish War Veterans Post 266, a derogatory name, pummelled him and bashed his head against a concrete wall, authorities said.

"Today is the fulfillment of something we waited for a long time," Hymowitz said during the ceremony.

Hymowitz wore a bandage over his left eye as several local dignitaries, including three county commissioners, delivered speeches near the monument, which bears a Star of David at the top.

"Even though they knocked it down, we made (the monument) stand tall again," said Hymowitz, whose name is on the slab erected by Post 266 and refurbished at a cost of $1,600.

The Anti-Defamation League, whose members attended the ceremony, is investigating the attack on Hymowitz, said Arthur Teitelbaum, the group's southern regional director.

Officials said they have no evidence of a large anti-Semitic network in southern Palm Beach County. Teitelbaum said his organization will be checking its files to find extremist groups that may be involved.

Storm Moves West To East

A spring storm that grew into a blizzard in the Plains pushed into Canada today but left behind towering snow drifts that closed 450 miles of Interstate 70, stranding travelers and kept cattle from being fed during calving season.

Before moving north, the storm pounded the Plains during the weekend with its second blizzard in a week, dumping 16 inches of snow in Superior, Neb., and creating 18-foot drifts in western Kansas, National Guard officials said.

Record cold invaded the Plains today on the heels of the storm, but the winds weakened and no snow fell, allowing crews to clear snow from closed highways such as Interstate 70, which was shut down for 250 miles in Kansas and 200 in Colorado, highway patrol officials in the two states said early today.

"Crews are out there now working, trying to get the drifts cleared away. We got pretty big drifts, some around 12-foot high," said Gerald Weyand, a dispatcher in Norton, Kan. "Everybody has been taken off the highway but vehicles are stranded."

Susan Emurin, a dispatcher in Denver said, "Troopers are out assisting several motorists lined up on the interstate. Some motorists are waiting it out at rest areas along the interstate."

Record low temperatures were reported today in at least 12 cities in the central and southern Plains. Goodland, Kan., reported 2 degrees, snapping a 81-year-old record, and Grand Island, Neb., also had a record 2-degree reading. Victoria, Texas, tied its record of 37 degrees.

The storm hit at the height of calving season for Nebraska's billion-dollar livestock industry, and Custer County Extension Agent Bill Pedersen estimated livestock-related losses in just that county could exceed $500,000.

In western Kansas, Army National Guard helicopters were poised to begin airlifting 1,500-pound bales of hay to starving cattle in 18 counties today.

"They'll die without any food," said Major Joy Cole, a National Guard spokesman in Topeka. She said the haylift could take four days.

National Guard troops searched southwest and north-central Kansas for stranded motorists. Five armories were open Sunday night to provide shelter.

In eastern Nebraska, hit with 50-mph winds and the heaviest snow in 22 years so late in the season, Omaha's Eppley Airfield was reopened late Sunday, but the Lincoln Municipal Airport remained closed.

Some 600 people waited out the storm Sunday at a Red Cross shelter in North Platte, Neb., and another 200 were housed in a city facility. National Guard troops Sunday rescued 12 people who had been trapped on a Trailways bus near Holdrege, Neb., for 23 hours. Civil Defense spokesman Rick Semm said.

"The engine was running. The bus was warm. We talked a lot, laughed a lot and got to know each other," said Ruth Sirna, a passenger from Des Moines, Iowa. "We knew sooner or later someone would come."

In Lincoln, the Nebraska Legislature, which was scheduled to convene for the 52nd day of its 90-day session today, decided to resume Tuesday, Speaker William Barrett said.

Demonstrators Ring Courtroom As Food Poisoning Trial Begins

MADRID, Spain (UPI)— Hundreds of demonstrators chanted "murderers, murderers," outside a Madrid courtroom today at the start of the trial of 38 people charged with causing history's biggest mass food poisoning.

The accused fled into a bulletproof dock through a special side entrance as riot squads and mounted police held back about 1,000 victims at the main door. About 300 people were allowed to enter.

Nearly 600 people died, and almost 25,000 were affected by what has become known as the "toxic oil syndrome," a malady traced to the sale of adulterated cooking oil in the spring of 1981.

Thousands of survivors, known as "los afectados" or the affected ones, continue to suffer ills ranging from paralysis and crippled muscles to wasting diseases and psychiatric disorders.

Israelis Buzz Palestinian Camp

TRIPOLI, Lebanon (UPI)— Israeli warplanes buzzed a Palestinian camp outside the northern Syrian-controlled city of Tripoli today, hours after Israeli troops reportedly killed three guerrillas in a gunbattle in southern Lebanon.

A spokesman at police headquarters in Beirut said Israeli warplanes staged seven minutes of maneuvers over the Palestinian camp of El Beddawi, just north of the Tripoli, 42 miles from Beirut, prompting guerrillas to respond with anti-aircraft fire.

"A group of Israeli warplanes flew over the camp at a medium altitude but did not fire any rocket or drop any bomb," he said, disputing earlier reports that bombs and rockets had been fired on the camp.

There was no immediate confirmation from Israel.

Dilley Replaces Wiley

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)— The suicide of a Cabinet member and the withdrawal of a candidate for Parliament left President Pieter Botha's ruling National Party scurrying today to find replacements for May's whites-only election.

The party today nominated Simonstown Mayor Harry Dilley as its candidate for Parliament in Simonstown, replacing Cabinet Minister John Wiley, who committed suicide.

But there was no word on who would take up the party banner in Pretoria's central district, where former Information Minister Louis Nel dropped out of a race in which ultra-rightists provided the toughest opposition.

The National Party must name a replacement for Nel by 11 a.m. Tuesday, the nominations deadline for the May 8 election for the House of Assembly, the all-white chamber of the nation's tri-racial parliament.

White House Panels Omitted In Arms Sales

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To keep the Iran arms sales secret, CIA Director William Casey and national security adviser John Poindexter went so far as to bypass two White House panels that review covert activity, intelligence sources say.

Had the two panels been informed of the clandestine operations, they might have weighed in with serious questions on the policy, the sources said Sunday.

The White House Intelligence Oversight Board and the National Security Council's planning coordination group were formed to improve the effectiveness and ensure the legality of covert operations approved by President Reagan.

Yet, they were not notified of the weapons sales or Reagan's Jan. 17, 1986, order authorizing CIA participation in the deals until the policy was exposed in November, the sources said. Administration officials chose to skirt a review by both groups even though their members were appointed by Reagan.

The Tower Commission report on the scandal criticized the administration for not subjecting the Iran policy to rigorous evaluation, but it did not identify who was responsible for the lack of review or how it occurred.

However, sources said Poindexter, who resigned when the scandal erupted, told two NSC officials in 1985 and 1986 to steer clear of the activities of their fellow NSC aide Lt. Col. Oliver North.

North, fired the same day Poindexter resigned, has been identified as the key operator in the Iran arms sales and the scheme to divert profits to Nicaraguan Contra rebels at a time when U.S. aid to the guerrillas was illegal.

In a related development, The Boston Globe reported Sunday that North helped set up a tax-exempt corporation to allow wealthy conservatives to get huge tax breaks for contributions to the Contras.

Under the plan, a contributor giving $1 million to a group supporting the rebels could get back $500,000 from the federal government in the form of a tax write-off, the newspaper said.

Taxpayers thus unwittingly would have underwritten a major part of North's secret Contra aid plan, the Globe said. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, has already noted one pro-Contra tax-exempt group lobbied Congress in violation of laws forbidding such groups from lobbying in a "substantial" manner.

A chart found in North's safe indicated another group, the National Endowment for the Preservation of Liberty, led by fund-raiser Carl Channell, also played an important role in the scheme. United Press International reported last week that Channell instructed his staff on how to skirt restrictions on political activity by non-profit organizations.

According to the Senate Intelligence Committee's early report on the scandal, Poindexter and Casey misled even high-level officials such as Secretary of State George Shultz about aspects of the Iran operation.

It is not known whether Casey and Poindexter were instructed to withhold information about the arms sales from Shultz or the White House panels.

In early 1986, however, Poindexter apologetically told NSC intelligence aides Kenneth Graffenreid and Vincent Canistraro that he had excluded them from a certain sensitive matter at Casey's request, a source said.

DeGraffenreid and Canistraro, who coordinated the NSC interagency review group, later realized the matter related to the Iran deals, said the source, speaking to UPI, like the others, on the condition of anonymity.

The intelligence oversight board, led by Glenn Campbell of the conservative Hoover Institution at Stanford University, evaluated the legality of U.S. aid to the Contras and determined the NSC could provide military assistance to them without violating the ban in place from October 1984 to October 1986.

The NSC-run group, composed of senior officials from the CIA, State Department, Defense Department, Joint Chiefs of Staff and Office of Management and Budget, regularly conducts policy reviews of covert operations. Its findings are forwarded to Cabinet-level secretaries.

Marla Von Trapp To Be Buried In Vermont Town

STOWE, Vt. (UPI) — Marla von Trapp, the inspiration for the popular musical "Sound of Music," will be buried in the picturesque mountain town where she settled with her singing family after fleeing Nazi-controlled Austria.

Von Trapp died Saturday night surrounded by family members in Copley Hospital in nearby Morrisville, three days after undergoing surgery for gangrene of the small intestine. She was 82.

A funeral was planned for early this week at the Blessed Sacrament Church in Stowe for family members only, a family spokeswoman said.

Anticipating a deluge of flowers, the family asked instead for donations to OurUnum, or "One Heart," a worldwide missionary fund founded by the baroness, who once lived in a convent.

Von Trapp, who led her family of 10 children from Nazi-controlled Austria in 1938, opened the Trapp Family Lodge in the ski resort town of Stowe in 1963.

The lodge, an Austrian chalet-style inn set on an 800-acre hilltop estate, was rebuilt after a fire destroyed it in 1980 and is run by the youngest of the von Trapp children and their nephew.

Von Trapp was 20 when she left a Salzburg convent to teach the seven motherless children of Baron Georg von Trapp, a stern naval officer 25 years her senior. They married a year later, in 1927, and she bore him three more children.

"I was frightened when the mother abbess sent me to the baron," she said in a 1970s interview. "He was a World War I submarine commander. I'm a girl from the Austrian mountains."

The family fortune gone, the von Trapps landed in New York with only $4 to their name and started the Trapp Family Singers, making a living for the next 15 years by giving concerts across the United States.

Reagan Starts Week With Pep Talk To Political Appointees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, determined to show he has not abandoned his political agenda, faces combat with Congress and pressure from Western allies this week as part of his effort to push his administration forward.

Reagan planned a pep talk with political appointees today to show resolve on his objectives, though his appearance before the Executive Forum carried symbolic importance as well — coming on the sixth anniversary of the shooting that wounded him, press secretary James Brady and two law officers.

The success with which House officials have gone to great lengths to counter that furor with stepped-up activity by the president on such issues as arms control, trade and domestic policy — plus a much higher public profile.

In the case of arms control, the White House strategy has been to emphasize the prospects for conciliation in optimistic assessments of the outlook for a U.S.-Soviet agreement to eliminate medium-range nuclear missiles from Europe.

In his dealings with Congress, Reagan has chosen the opposite tack, electing to pick a fight with Republicans as well as Democrats by vetoing a popular $88 billion highway bill despite warnings he can ill afford a veto override.

Reagan could receive an earful of European concern about his eagerness for an arms pact with the Soviets when he meets Tuesday with French Prime Minister Jacques Chirac and two days later with NATO Secretary General Lord Carrington.

The West Europeans want guarantees that Reagan, in his eagerness for an arms control breakthrough to help him overcome his problems at home and enhance his legacy, will not erode the U.S. commitment to their own security, which rests in large part on a nuclear counterweight to Warsaw Pact conventional forces.

Between his meetings with Chirac and Carrington, Reagan will make a brief trip to Philadelphia — the second step in a public-image polishing that began last week with a visit to Columbia, Mo. — and will lobby Congress to uphold his veto of the highway bill.

The course he chose in confronting Congress on the highway bill was mirrored last week in the tack he took toward Japan by ordering 100 percent tariffs on as much as $300 million in Japanese electronics exports to the United States.

Small Businesses: An Export Asset

In the current debate over improving the nation's international competitiveness, one of our most overlooked resources is small business. The economy's most innovative sector, providing the majority of its new jobs, small business is a potentially valuable player in the trade game.

Yet it rarely plays. Only 10 percent of some 30,000 small companies that have goods readily exportable actually sell overseas. Often they can't find banks willing to lend small amounts to facilitate previously untried export ventures, and many of their executives know little of the world abroad and fear both the risk and red tape associated with exporting.

Recently the National Commission On Small Business and Jobs submitted a report to Congress containing several suggestions to remedy the situation.

(1) Improve the use of foreign sales corporations — shell companies located offshore that get tax breaks on export income by allowing the shell companies to be shared by several small companies. This allows them to share start-up and maintenance costs but keep tax benefits separate.

(2) Create incentives for large companies to subcontract foreign work to small U.S. companies, and pass on marketing tips the larger corporations can't use.

(3) Ask the Export-Import Bank, which provides credit to overseas buyers of U.S. products, to make more credit available for small business transactions.

If Congress and the president are serious about fostering competitiveness to avoid protectionism, they must utilize every available economic resource. Small business is one of our most promising, and it should receive the help it needs to get onto the international playing field.

Keep Pumping

Since oil is relatively cheap and plentiful, why be sorry about filling the U.S. Strategic Petroleum Reserve? Because today's glut could become tomorrow's shortage.

Ignoring history, the Reagan administration would add to the nation's emergency oil supply — stored in huge salt domes along the coasts of Louisiana and Texas — at the rate of only 35,000 barrels a day, less than half the level Congress demanded last year. The administration also wants to stop filling the reserve when it reaches 580 million barrels, as opposed to the 750 million that lawmakers had envisioned.

The decision, which would save an estimated $225 million next year, is shortsighted from the standpoint of both economics and national security.

At $18 a barrel, oil is a bargain too good to pass up. Why risk paying the higher prices that will result if, as experts predict, OPEC nations eventually regain control of the market? Moreover, the United States spends many times the projected savings to protect its foreign oil supplies, which nonetheless remain vulnerable to disruption. Where is the sense in shortchanging a more reliable source of oil?

There's another good reason for filling the reserve at the faster pace: Virtually all of the oil being pumped into storage comes from Mexico, whose foreign debt now exceeds $100 billion; about one-quarter of the total is owed to American banks. Every dollar the United States spends on Mexican oil is an investment in that nation's economic stability — and our own.

Secrecy And United States Presidents

Notwithstanding the poet William Blake's assurance that secrecy is "the human dress," the two most serious presidential crises in American history have occurred in the administrations of the two most secretive and manipulative presidents — Richard Nixon and Ronald Reagan.

In a perceptive piece, David Broder of The Washington Post concludes that "A White House cult of secrecy — linked to a manipulative view of press relations and rooted in distrust of journalists — winds up victimizing the very politician who creates it."

President Nixon carried the art of manipulative public relations to a new intensity. More than any previous president, he relied on public relations experts like Bob Haldeman and John Ehrlichman.

In contrast to his predecessors, from Roosevelt to Johnson, Nixon held comparatively few press conferences, but extensively used his aides to manipulate, intimidate and sometimes discredit the press. Nixon did not invent these manipulative arts, but he carried them to unprecedented levels. Prior to Ronald Reagan, no president in modern times held as few press conferences as Nixon.

As an aspirant for the presidency against John Kennedy in 1960, and again in 1968 against incumbent Vice President Hubert Humphrey, Nixon agreed to campaign debates with his opponent. But once in the White House he refused all debates with me as the Democratic nominee. All during the summer and fall of 1972, Nixon refused even to appear on the same stage with me or to visit the same city where I was campaigning.

In these same crucial campaign months, he refused to meet with the press. For the most part, he declined to campaign personally except for carefully orchestrated television appearances and negative TV commercials designed to depict me as an unstable radical.

These tactics "worked" admirably for the incumbent president. He was carried to victory in 49 of 50 states, just as Ronald Reagan was in 1984. The trouble with all of this unavailability, secrecy and manipulation is that it coincided with the massive cover-up executed by Nixon and his men following the Watergate break-in. It also followed the earlier secret, illegal bombing of Cambodia, which Nixon denied even as it proceeded in 1970 and 1971.

In the end, Nixon yielded his office rather than submit to a full impeachment proceeding that almost surely would have forced him to leave the White House.

In a similar — if in some respects different — way, Ronald Reagan has been following the Nixon script.

Nixon was obviously a much better-informed and capable president than Reagan. He did not need the constant "nursing" by aides that has been required for Reagan. Nor did he have to be corrected for errors after press conferences as has Reagan.

The secrecy mania that led to the Watergate disaster has clearly marked the fiasco over Iran and Nicaragua. The unanswered question is whether politicians, press and public will learn any more lasting lessons from the current crisis than we did from Richard Nixon.

DICK WEST

Gazebos, Kazoos, Gazoo!

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Language purists insist there is no such word as "gazoo" and even a language expert was baffled by its use.

When Sen. Alan Simpson said White House reporters sometimes shouted questions at President Reagan because they'd "like to stick it in his gazoo," there was a tendency to believe the Wyoming Republican had been misquoted.

One dictionary I consulted equates gazoo with kazoo. And we all know what a kazoo is.

As to why newsmen would want to stick their questions in a musical toy played by humming, I leave to your imagination.

I was told by a colleague who, like Simpson, came out of the Golden West that gazoo was a common slang term in the wide open spaces.

Well, I grew up in the wide open spaces myself and I never heard that term except as a synonym for gazebo, which my dictionary defines as a structure build on a site to command a view.

Assuming you admire the view commanded by 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, the question remains as to whether there are any gazebos on the White House grounds.

Clearly, it would make more sense to try to stick questions in a cupola than in a musical toy.

You can be pretty sure Simpson did not accuse reporters of wanting to stick questions in the president's bazoo.

By one definition, a bazoo is a "raspberry" or "sound of disapproval," and executive mansion correspondents hear plenty of those without shouting questions at photo opportunities or otherwise raising their voices.

I prefer to think of my brethren as trying to put words in the president's mouth, or nose, which may have been done by another definition of bazoo.

One plastic surgeon who specializes in "nose jobs" — is there any other kind? — sized up Reagan's possible replacements by appraising their schnozzolas.

I was pleased to note that insofar as his view of noses is concerned, the country is going to be in good of hands regardless of who is elected as the next president.

I mean, this doctor had nothing bad to say about possible aspirants. He opined that Gov. Mario Cuomo of New York has a nose that is "bold, masculine and decisive."

That may be one of the reasons Cuomo has taken himself out of the race. You can't get much bolder and more decisive.

Brazil's Debt May Cause Worldwide Panic

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The Latin American debt crisis is deepening, and federal officials are contemplating once again the dread possibility of a financial Armageddon that could leave the world banking system a smoldering ruin.

The effect on millions of Americans, already bent bowlegged under their consumer debts, would be catastrophic.

Brazil, the biggest single debtor in Latin America, recently announced that it can't even meet interest payments on its $100 billion debt. Other countries in the region are making it clear that they must find some relief from the burden of their collective $400 billion debt. These ominous developments are a reminder to Treasury and Federal Reserve Board officials that a full-blown international panic has been averted so far with only temporary, Band-Aid expedients.

BEN WATTENBERG

What Children Think

We have heard the bad news about children. There have been a series of well-publicized suicides and suicide pacts. Television has focused in on child abuse. Social scientists tell us that high divorce rates yield a very high rise in female-headed households which, in turn, yield a very high rate of children in poverty. Beyond that, we have heard all about rotten schools, drug abuse, children bearing children (teenage pregnancy). Interesting: All the news comes to us courtesy of adults.

Comes now another view: what the kids think about it. Rather surprisingly, over the years there has been very little public opinion polling of children. What there was dealt mostly with what cereals and candy children ate, and what television shows the children watched.

This kid gap has been remedied by a major new poll, the first comprehensive survey to ask youngsters how they see the world around them. The poll was taken by the Roper Organization, commissioned by the American Child Group and asked questions of 1,000 youngsters aged 8 to 17.

The results are full-bodied and complex — and quite different from the view of crisis often presented.

Consider a child's-eye view of his or her "family and home life." Given a choice between "happy" and "not too happy," 90 percent reported they are happy. Asked if they are happy or not too happy about "the amount of love your parent(s) show you," 93 percent say happy. Now, these are discriminating children; do not think they are not wildly happy about everything. Only 62 percent say they are happy about "how well you get along with your brother(s) or sister(s)."

There is complexity, too, about family life, particularly about how children view working mothers. Kids say they think kids are likely to get into more trouble if the mother works. They also think the children of working mothers are more independent than other kids. On balance, however, by 59 percent to 34 percent, children prefer that their mother have a job out of home.

What about those terrible schools? This may sound surprising, but most American children "like school" — 77 percent. When asked to grade their schools in the same way most schools grade them, by letters from A to D, 29 percent gave their school an A and 49 percent gave them a B. The aspect of school that children liked the least should not come as a surprise: "cafeteria food."

Now, don't get them wrong: American youngsters do feel that there are big problems among our youngsters. The Roper pollsters asked the teenage part of the sample about what's going on. More than half the teenagers observed "a lot" of smoking (52 percent), drinking (37 percent), sexual activity (30 percent), crime (19 percent), drug abuse (19 percent), marijuana (23 percent), teenage pregnancy (13 percent).

What to do about it? It turns out, according to the survey, that less than half of our schools offer sex education or classes on drug and alcohol abuse. But an overwhelming majority of students in those schools (almost 4-to-1) think such classes are good.

It's a time when we adults are once again embarked on a small orgy of self-flagellation, partly because we think our kids are in trouble, what with suicides, abuse, dope, poverty, latchkey kids and bad schools. But our kids apparently think differently. When asked what makes them "feel good" — 95 percent responded "being an American." Here's a question some pollster should ask: "Who knows best about kids?"

ROBERT WALTERS

Taking Over From EPA

BALTIMORE (NEA) — Although Bethlehem Steel recently agreed to pay a $1.5 million penalty for befouling public waterways here in violation of a major federal anti-pollution law, the government had nothing to do with the action.

Instead, two environmental groups filed a civil suit against the firm under a special provision of the Clean Water Act authorizing citizen enforcement of the statute.

The Environmental Protection Agency is supposed to assure compliance with the law, but the Natural Resources Defense Council notes that "six years of massive budget cuts and sweeping personnel cuts at EPA have taken their toll."

The New York-based NRDC is sharply critical of President Reagan's lack of leadership on conservation issues. "Enforcement of our nation's landmark environmental laws remains at a standstill," it says.

Phillip Reed shares that conclusion. He is a lawyer with the Environmental Law Institute in Washington who headed an independent commission established by EPA to study the trend toward citizens' suits against polluters.

"We reported a definite surge in such suits in the last two or three years, and they definitely were triggered by a perception that EPA was not doing its job," says Reed. "Starting in 1981 and 1982, EPA's enforcement actions dropped precipitously."

NRDC says it would "prefer not to be in the business of enforcement" but has been forced to do so because the Reagan administration promotes the myth that "corporate Goliaths do a good job of policing themselves and safeguarding the quality of our environment."

Often working with national or local environmental organizations, NRDC investigated the pollution of rivers, lakes and other waterways by more than 1,000 companies.

Legal cases were developed against 88 major violators, including the Pfizer and Upjohn pharmaceutical firms, General Electric and Texas Instruments.

Concentrating initially on the Northeast and to a lesser extent the South and Midwest (future activity is planned in the West) NRDC has filed lawsuits in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Maryland, Virginia, Louisiana, Ohio and Michigan.

Of those cases, 44 were settled out of court by defendants anxious to avoid embarrassing trials. Another 30 were won by NRDC following trials, and 14 remain unresolved.

Klein Resigns

'Job Wasn't Fun Anymore'

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Coach Bill Klein, whose varsity basketball teams won 41 of 56 games the past two years at Seminole High School, said Sunday he has resigned that position because "it is not fun anymore and he is not satisfied with the job he was doing."

Seminole High Principal Wayne Epps said he gave Klein the weekend to reconsider his decision, but Klein said his mind was made up. Epps said this morning he will accept applications for the job and hopes to name a successor in two to three weeks.

"I didn't like the way things were going and it has concerned me for some time," the 47-year-old Klein said. "It wasn't fun anymore and I was not satisfied with the job I was doing. And you sure don't want to do a job like this if it isn't fun."

"It will be better for everybody involved to step down, but mostly it will be better for me."

Epps said the announcement came as a complete surprise. "Bill came in and told me over the break," Epps said. "I was totally surprised."

Klein took over a strong program two years ago when he replaced Chris Mariette who had been coach the previous three years. At the time, Klein took the job with mixed emotions due to the fact he and Mariette were close friends.

Klein had served two years as freshman coach where his teams were unbeaten (32-0) during that span. Epps said the choice of Klein for the varsity job was a natural since he had coached the same kids as freshmen.

The Seminoles were 17-9 with predominantly underclassmen two years ago and won the Seminole Athletic Conference. Klein was voted SAC Coach of the Year.

With Roderick Henderson, a three-year varsity starter, and senior Jerry "Stick" Parker along with juniors Andre Whitney and Craig Walker returning, the Seminoles planned on a banner season this past year.

It was an excellent year as the Tribe posted a 25-6 record and was ranked as high as No. 8 in the Florida Sports Writers Association Prep Poll. Included were 10- and 9-game winning streaks and a victory over Daytona Beach Mainland, Mainland, which also whipped Seminole twice, made it to the Final Four before losing to eventual champion Miami Senior. Seminole posted a perfect (10-0) record while winning the SAC again and Klein was again SAC Coach of the Year.

The season, however, came to an premature halt when a fired-up Lake Mary team upset the Seminoles in the district semifinals, denying them what was expected to be a classic showdown with Mainland for the title. The Tribe had beaten Lake Mary handily two other times.

Klein said, however, that the setback to Lake Mary did not affect this decision. "I was thinking about it (resigning) in January," he said. "I had tremendous support from the administration — and that's no bull. I also had fantastic support from (wife) Cheryl Klein. It just wasn't fun anymore."

Epps said he was satisfied with Klein's performance. "I thought he did a fine job," he said. "The kids played hard, played with enthusiasm and enjoyed the game. I thought they were progressing well and showed a lot of improvement."

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Indiana Hoosiers can elevate Bobby Knight to the company of collegiate basketball's all-time coaching elite tonight with a victory over Syracuse in the NCAA Tournament final.

Knight can become the third coach in NCAA history to win more than two national titles with a victory over Syracuse before an expected crowd of more than 64,000 in the cavernous Superdome. Legendary figures John Wooden of UCLA and Adolph Rupp of Kentucky are the only others to achieve that distinction.

Indiana has won two titles in the past 10 years under Knight, who also won a title as a player with Ohio State in 1960.

The showcase game of college basketball, set for a 8:12 p.m. EST tipoff, culminates a season that began in mid-November with 290 Division I teams gunning for the national title.

Syracuse coach Jim Boheim, who played with former NBA great Dave Bing in the Orangemen basketball in the mid-1980s, is making his first championship game appearance. Before this season, Syracuse had failed to win consecutive NCAA Tournament games in 11 years under Boheim.

The game will be televised on CBS and the network is hopeful the matchup will attract an audience that approaches the top-rated final ever, the 1979 championship game featuring Magic Johnson of Michigan State against Larry Bird of Indiana State.

Indiana, winner of the Midwest Regional, reached the final by downing top-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas 97-73 in a semifinal game Saturday. Syracuse, the East Regional champion, advanced by whipping Big East rival Providence 77-63.

All-America guard Steve Alford, Indiana's all-time leading scorer, struck for a team-high 33 points in the victory over UNLV. The 6-foot-2 senior presents the most difficult defensive problem for Syracuse. The Hoosiers use screens to get Alford open for his jump shot.

"I didn't sleep much after watching the Indiana game (against UNLV)," Boheim said. "When Alford plays the way he did, I don't know if they're beatable."

If Syracuse uses a man-to-man defense, as they have much of the tournament, guards Sherman Douglas or Greg Monroe or small forward Howard Triche will cover Alford.

"Alford is going to get his points," Boheim said, "but any one of their starters is capable of a 20-plus point night so you can't be concerned with Alford alone."

Syracuse's star during the tournament has been Rony Seikaly, a 6-foot-10 junior center who did not begin playing basketball until he was in the ninth grade in Athens, Greece. He is scoring 24 points a game in five NCAA games and has teamed with freshman forward Derrick Coleman to give the Orangemen formidable inside punch.

"I think Syracuse has an outstanding inside game," Knight said. "Seikaly and Coleman are very, very good inside. There are three or four things that you have to be able to do to play inside and they do all of them well."

Indiana will play its traditional man-to-man defense and Dean Garrett will try to stop Seikaly. Saturday, UNLV's Armon Gilliam scored 32 points against Garrett.

Indiana was rated among the top teams in the country beginning the season after returning its three top scorers from a team that went 21-8 and made the NCAA's last year. Alford, Rick Calloway and Daryl Thomas were joined by junior-college transfers Garrett and Keith Smart.

Syracuse lost its three leading scorers — Dwayne "Pearl" Washington, Rafael Addison and Wendell Alexis — from last year's 26-6 club. Sophomore Sherman Douglas has been a surprise, replacing Washington at point guard and becoming the team's top scorer.

Splash Helps Lyle Past Sluman At TPC

PONTE VEDRA (UPI) — Sandy Lyle owes at least a small part of his victory in the Tournament Players Championship to an unidentified man who decided to take a swim on a rainy day.

Lyle and Jeff Sluman had finished 72 holes tied at 14-under par 274 Sunday and had both parred the first playoff hole, the par-5 16th. On the famous par-3 17th, Sluman put his shot on the island green six feet from the hole, while Lyle's landed about 60 feet away.

Lyle ran his first putt about three feet past the hole, and Sluman stepped up with a chance to win the tournament and the $180,000 first prize. Just when he was about to putt, the man jumped in the water, forcing Sluman to back away from his putt.

When order was restored, Sluman missed the putt and Lyle went on to win the tournament by sinking a seven-foot par putt on the 18th hole after Sluman missed from 10 feet. Along with the first-place check, Lyle won a 10-year qualifying exemption.

"I'd already putted, so it wasn't so bad for me," said Scotland's Lyle, the 1985 British Open champion. "He (Sluman) was ready to hit the ball and we heard a loud splash."

"You'll never know if he would have made the putt," said Sluman, 29, bidding for his second PGA Tour win. "I was ready to putt the thing. I'm not saying I would have made the putt, but it certainly didn't help me. I can't believe the guy would jump in the water like that."

It was a strange end to a strange day in what had become a somewhat bizarre 72 holes. Rain hampered play Thursday and Friday, and Raymond Floyd was assessed a total of four penalty strokes during the opening round. Unknown Steve Jones shot out of nowhere to lead after 36 holes with Mark O'Meara, then faded just as rapidly to finish tied for ninth place at 7-under 281.

Sunday, it seemed no one wanted to take the lead and before both Sluman and Lyle birdied 18 within a minute of each other, there were four players tied at 13-under par, with third-round co-leaders Scott Simpson and O'Meara the others. Simpson bogied No. 18 to tie for fourth place with Greg Norman at 12-under 276, while O'Meara finished alone in third place at 13-under 275.

Until Lyle and Sluman birdied 18, there had been only two other birdies on the course.

Lyle, who shot a final-round 70, 2-under par on the par-72, 6,857-yard Tournament Players Course, gained momentum when he sank a chip from 15 feet away on the 15th hole for a birdie 3. The 14-under 274 tied the course 72-hole record, set by Calvin Peete in 1985.

"What happened at 15 with the chip-in was great for me," said Lyle, holding a miniature Union Jack given to him by a fan in the gallery. "I needed something to happen. Those are the breaks you've got to have."

Sluman, who shot a 3-under 69 Sunday, collected $108,000, his biggest payday ever. The former Florida State golfer said the big check was no consolation for coming in second.

"It was one of those days when I looked at the leader board and saw my name on top and I just kept trying to make pars and sneak in a few birdies," he said. "All in all, I should be happy with the week, but it's really would be nice to be going to Augusta (in two weeks for the Masters)."

Tournament winners receive an automatic invitation to the Masters.

Lyle, who has 18 international wins and a victory in last year's Greater Greensboro Open to go with Sunday's win, said he hoped he proved the British Open win was not a fluke. He also gladly accepted the qualifying exemption, and said he plans to play at least the minimum 15 events each year necessary to keep his PGA card.

"In my situation, it (the exemption) is very important," he said. "Because if I don't play well the next few years, I'm going to be struggling to get my card (without the exemption). This helps an awful lot."

Lyle sank the winning putt in a steady rain with darkness rapidly falling, erasing fears that the tournament would have to be concluded today.

"It's never easy to win something," he said. "Jeff and I had a battle today. I held it together realistically well and made a few birdies. All in all, I'm happy with the day. I'm glad it ended on that hole (18). Otherwise, there would have been no light left."

Tilden Outleaves 'Noles In Mile-Relay Matchup

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High almost took a bite out of the "Big Apple" Saturday but had to settle for second place in one of the most hotly contested races at the Florida Relays in Gainesville.

The Lady Tribe's mile relay team of Dorchelle Webster, Yolanda Baker, Adrian Hillman and Shownda Martin went up against a powerful team from Tilden High in Brooklyn, N.Y. and it was Tilden's runner who just outleaved Martin at the tape for first place. Tilden finished with a time of 3:48.1 compared to a season's best 3:48.2 for Seminole.

"It came right down to the end and both girls leaned at the same time," Seminole coach Emory Blake said. "The Tilden girl just barely outleaved Shownda (Martin)."

Along with the mile relay, the Lady 'Noles also finished second in the 400 relay as the team of Baker, Tasha Wynn, LaShon Cash and Hillman ran a season's best time of 48.3. Orlando Oak Ridge was first at 47.6.

Seminole took third in the 800 meter relay with the team of Cash, Hillman, Wynn and Webster running a 1:43. Oak Ridge was first at 1:41.2.

In open events for Seminole, Webster was third in the 300 meter hurdles at 46.6 while Miramar's Tonya Parker won with a time of 44.9. Baker also came away with a fifth place finish in the 100 meters with a time of 12.5.

"I was pleased that both of our relays dropped their times," Blake said. "Now we're looking forward to this week."

On Tuesday, Seminole will travel to Palatka for a dual meet while the Seminole High Invitational is on tap

Track & Field

Friday night, Friday's meet will be the first time since early in the season defending state champion Seminole and runnerup Oak Ridge will go head to head.

Lake Mary's top finish in Saturday's meet was a sixth in the mile relay with a time of 4:16. Christine Adamson, Kwaja Floyd, Teri Whyte and Allison Snell made up the relay.

Junior hurdler Onyeke Berry returned to the track after being out ill since March 10 and ran a 16.8 for seventh in the 100 meter hurdles and 49.0 for eighth in the 300 hurdles. Berry also teamed with Elissa Maher, Tabitha Newsome and Tonya McCrae to run a season's best 50.9 in the 400 meter relay which was good for eighth place.

The Lady Rams took seventh in the two mile relay as the team of Adamson, Tabitha Gano, Whyte and Snell combined for a 10:29.6. Truman High of Brooklyn was first at 9:26.5. Snell also finished seventh in the 400 meters (60.9).

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks had only two athletes compete in Saturday's meet and both placed in the top six. Senior Lisa Samocki finished fourth in the championship 1,600 meter run which included the top nine runners from around the state in all classifications. Samocki, still gaining her strength back after a lengthy illness, ran a 5:09.9. Melanie Bloch of Pensacola Catholic took first place at 4:54.9.

Senior Kim Hammonree finished sixth in the high jump as she cleared 5-2.

Eileen Costello cranks up. The Lyman junior tossed the discus 129-0 for a second-place finish at the Florida Relays Saturday.

State record holder Holly Kelly of Miami Palmetto was first at 5-9½.

Lyman High had a pair of excellent performances at Saturday's meet as Julie Greenberg took a first place and Eileen Costello a pair of seconds.

Greenberg soared to a time of 11:27.4 to win the 3,200 meters while Costello was second in the discus at 129-0 and second in the shot put at 39-3. Tampa Galtner's Cynthia Sumes, one of the top shot putters in state history, won both events as she heaved the shot 43-11½ and hurled the disc 133-10.

Prep Rogers Thrives With College Crowd

To collegiate runners, Lyman High junior Robin Rogers may not look too intimidating, but, at Saturday's Florida Relays in Gainesville, he entered their domain and ran right with some of the best the southeast has to offer.

Rogers received special permission to compete in the college division in the 10,000 meter run at Saturday's meet and came away with a time of 31:38.5, the best high school time in the nation for that distance for the last two years. Rogers, who finished sixth in the pack of college runners, also qualified for the TAC Junior National meet in June in Tucson, Ariz.

"He (Rogers) has been training for this for four months," Lyman coach Fred Finkle said. "And he came out and ran an incredible race. He finished just ahead of Florida's Oscar Sosa who was All-Southeastern Conference in cross country."

Rogers, the only high school runner in the race, came through the two mile mark with a 9:52 split. He was at 14:58 after three miles, 20:07 after four and 25:15 after five.

While Rogers' feat in the 10,000 meters was the highlight of the meet for Lyman, the Greyhounds had a number of solid performances. The distance medley relay team took fourth in the high school division with a new school record time of 10:46.9. The team included Octavius Holiday on the 800 leg, Darren Marshall on the 440, Mike Mohler (1:320) and Teddy Mitchell (mile).

Ricky Sheets tied for third in the pole vault at 11-6.

Lake Brantley High senior Bucky Chambers continued his excellent season in the shot put as he unloaded a put of 54-5 for second place.

Bloomington Police, Tavern Owners Add Security

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Law enforcement officials and local taverns are adding security in anticipation of Indiana beating Syracuse in the NCAA basketball championship game Monday night, officials said.

Both the Indiana University and Bloomington Police Departments say they will have extra officers on duty to help keep students and local revelers under control. Taverns near the campus plan to have extra workers on duty to handle the expected crowds.

"We're not going to turn our heads on those who are breaking the law, but we want everyone to have a good time," said Lt. Jack Fritch, a shift commander at the IUPD. "If we see something, we'll take action."

The IUPD will close a section of road around Showalter Fountain, the site of student celebrations after NCAA basketball championship victories in 1976 and 1981, Fritch said Sunday. More than 3,000 people showed up at the fountain after the Hoosiers' semifinal triumph over Nevada-Las Vegas Saturday.

Five arrests were made Saturday, Fritch said, adding most were for driving under the influence of alcohol. One student tried to take off with one of the dolphin replicas at the fountain, but abandoned the effort when confronted by IU police, Fritch said.

Bloomington police will try to be highly visible downtown, where many taverns frequented by students are located, said Capt. Steve Sharp, a BPD shift commander.

A block of Kirkwood Avenue, where 2,500 people celebrated in the street after Indiana's triumph Saturday, will be closed to traffic, Sharp said. Two arrests were made on the street Saturday, one for indecent exposure and one for reckless driving, Sharp said.

Nick's English Hut and Hooligan's Drinkery, two taverns located on the block closed to traffic, will try to keep damage to a minimum by serving drinks only in plastic containers, with takeout orders only in cans.

"Nothing will be sold in glass," said Jim Mathias, manager of Nick's. "We'll be taking a few chandeliers down, too."

Hooligan's will remove exposed neon lights and any plants that could be grabbed in order to minimize damage, said Gerald Borman, co-manager.

"Hopefully, we'll have nothing out that anybody can get their hands on," he said.

Only 200 people will be allowed into the 300-person-capacity bar and only beer and soft drinks will be sold in order to keep the crowd under control, Borman said.

SYRACUSE FANS GO BERSERK

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Even the National Guard could not have stopped a car-stomping, window-breaking, beer-flinging rampage that followed Syracuse victory in the NCAA Tournament semifinals, a police spokesman said.

An estimated 8,000 exuberant basketball fans filled the streets in Syracuse's university section late Saturday and early Sunday, walking over police patrol and television news cars and damaging several businesses. Property damage was in the thousands of dollars, officials said.

Police reported no arrests or serious injuries in the rowdy celebration, which followed the Syracuse Orangemen's 77-63 NCAA semifinal victory over Providence in the Louisiana Superdome.

To mark the occasion, the Syracuse Herald-Journal published its first extra edition in some 25 years Saturday night. The newspaper was hawked downtown, in the university area, the airport and at newstands around New York's fifth largest city.

On University Hill, about two dozen police officers, some on horseback, patrolled the neighborhood, trying to stop fights and keep fans off of trees and buildings.

Witnesses said rowdy fans damaged a police patrol car by stomping on the hood and trunk, and at least two television news crews fled from the area when fans began climbing on the station's cars. Staffers from Rochester station WHEC-TV drove back to their hometown with dents, dirty footprints, spilled beer and bent antennas.

A bus shelter also was destroyed and several store windows broken when too many fans leaned on them. There were unconfirmed reports at least one store was looted.

Ted Dellas, who manages the Varsity pizza parlor, said fans were well-behaved until the basketball game ended.

Shakar's 2-Hitter, MVP Letterio Master Lyman In Tourney Final

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

LONGWOOD — Lake Mary left-hander Steve Shakar is developing a reputation as a greyhound tamer. Shakar, who subdued Lyman March 13 in a Seminole Athletic Conference battle, mastered the 'Hounds again Saturday with a nifty two-hitter.

Shakar's strong outing lifted Lake Mary to a 4-3 victory and the championship of the Lyman Greater Greyhound Invitational baseball tournament before 265 fans at Lyman High School.

"I really felt comfortable out there tonight," Shakar, who improved his record to 5-1, said. "This was probably the best game that I have pitched so far this season."

Shakar, who came into the contest with a county leading 52 strikeouts, lengthened his lead as he fanned nine, while walking only three. Shakar mixed his fastball with a strong curve to keep the 'Hounds guessing.

The triumph improves the seventh-ranked (4A) Rams to 14-2. The loss drops the Greyhounds to 9-8.

Lyman coach Bob McCullough had simple, but accurate view of the game. "We didn't hit the baseball," McCullough said. "You aren't going to win a heck of a lot of games with only two hits. We have to learn that hitting is just as much a mental art as a physical one."

Lyman pitcher Ross Urshan, who registered a pair of victories in relief appearances earlier in the tournament, only gave up five hits. Urshan (4-3) struck out seven, while walking four.

"I thought that Ross pitched a good game," McCullough said. "They just had one big inning they hurt us. Other than that, he played well."

The big inning that McCullough referred to came in the bottom of the third with the game scoreless.

Ram shortstop Shane Letterio, who has committed to the University of Miami, led off the inning with a long homer to left. The round-tripper was the talented senior's first of the season.

"It feels good to finally hit one," Letterio, who was voted most valuable player of the tournament, said. "We are hitting the ball better. I feel as though we are starting to peak."

Ram second baseman Wes Weger was then walked. Catcher Ryan Lisle followed with a single to left, advancing Weger to second. Third baseman Anthony Laszalc was then walked.

Designated hitter Eric Birle came to the plate and drilled a single to left, scoring Weger, and keeping the bags full. Lisle scored when Urshan unleashed a wild pitch. Laszalc went to third, and Birle went to second on the play. Laszalc scored what amounted to be the winning run on a groundout by Jeff "Lefty" Hagen.

Lyman scored three runs in the top of the sixth to make the contest interesting. Second baseman Darren Boyesen reached on an infield single. Left fielder John Luce followed with a walk. Boyesen and Luce advanced to second and third on a passed ball. Sophomore Chris Radcliff then walked to load the bases. Boyesen scored when Shakar uncorked a wild pitch.

Luce and Radcliff took second and third on the play. Kenny Jackson then hit a high pop up to Letterio, who allowed the ball to drop for an error, scoring two runs to cut the deficit to 4-3.

Brantley Rebound Has Smith Smiling

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

LONGWOOD — Prior to the start of the Lyman Greater Greyhound Spring Invitational baseball tournament, the season had been extremely frustrating for Lake Brantley coach Mike Smith and his Patriots.

Smith's youthful Patriots, comprised mostly of freshmen and sophomores, had played well, but came up on the short end of the stick in almost every game. The Pats had lost six games by one run and several other by two tallies.

Smith was hoping that his team would turn things around in the tournament. As it turned out, Smith got exactly what he was asking for, and then some.

On Saturday afternoon the Patriots knocked off two county rivals, Oviedo (5-4) and Lake Howell (12-11), capturing third place in the tourney.

The victories up Brantley's record to 6-12. Oviedo fell to 10-5 and Lake Howell to 11-7. "I really think that we can turn things around," Smith said. "Our kids really showed what they are made of in these games."

After defeating Lake Howell earlier in the day, Brantley met Oviedo, an 11-1 winner over Orlando Lake Highland Prep, in the consolation game.

Brantley pitcher Ed Dickmyer rebounded from control problems against Lake Howell earlier in the day to toss a three-hitter against the seventh-ranked (3A) Lions to raise his record to 2-5.

"This win really gives me some confidence," Dickmyer, one of three Brantley seniors, said. "Now I know that I can pitch against anybody."

Dickmyer, who came into the game with 41 strikeouts, whiffed nine Lions, while walking six.

Jon Cox rebounded starter Chris Crockett in the fourth, and took the loss for Oviedo.

Brantley broke on top with a run in the top of the first. Randy Green singled to center, scoring Jerrey Thurston, who had also singled.

Oviedo tied the game in the bottom of the first. After Mark Merchant walked, Glenn Reichle reached on an error. Merchant and Reichle then stole second and third. Catcher Tony Belflower followed with a sacrifice fly to center, plating Merchant for a 1-1 deadlock.

The Patriots pulled out in front with two runs in the top of the third. Freshman Thurston reached on one of three Oviedo errors. He went to second on a throwing error. Thurston took third on a sacrifice fly by freshman Greg Thomas, and scored when Jim Morse grounded out.

Green then took a fastball and put it over the left-field fence, giving Brantley a 3-1 budge. The round-tripper was Green's first of the season. "These wins really will help us," Green, a stocky junior, said. "We needed some confidence, and these will give it to us."

Oviedo came back with a run in the bottom of the frame. A pair of walks put Reichle and Cox on first and second. The duo then stole second and third. Reichle scored on a passed ball to make the score 3-2.

Both clubs scored runs in the fifth inning to make the score 4-3.

Brantley scored the winning run in the top of the seventh. Morse's single, a walk to Green, and an error which allowed Ebbert to reach loaded the bases. Ted Schiefflin singled, scoring pinch-runner Greg Markham.

Oviedo had a chance to tie the game in the bottom of the frame. Two walks to Scott Bowers and Merchant and a single by Jody Spelman loaded the bases. Spelman scored on a passed ball, advancing Bowers and Merchant to second and third.

At this point, Smith put reliever Jamie Mouw on the mound. Mouw struck out both batters he faced to earn the save.

MORSE SLAMS LAKE HOWELL IN 7TH, 12-11
In Lake Brantley's opening game on Saturday afternoon, Jim "Mongoose" Morse cracked a grand slam in the bottom of the seventh inning, lifted the Patriots to a thrilling 12-11 victory over Lake Howell in losers' bracket action in the Lyman baseball tournament.

"I can't tell you how good it feels to finally win one of these one run games," a happy Brantley coach Mike Smith said. "We never gave up today, we kept pecking away and it paid off for us."

With Brantley down, 11-6, the Patriots loaded the bases to set the stage for Morse. Lake Howell pitcher David Beane (2-9) threw a fastball down the center of the plate and Morse hit a towering homer well over the center-field fence.

"That felt great," Morse, who leads the county in RBI with 24, said. "We have lost so many close games this season it was finally nice to win one."

Brantley came back with a run in the bottom of the second when freshman left fielder Mark Gabrovic clubbed the first of his sacrifice flies: a rope to center that plated Greg Ebbert.

Howell lengthened its lead with a pair of runs in the third and fourth innings. In the third, designated hitter Vito Scutaro doubled to left, scoring Chris Norton, who had singled. Scutaro scored when Chris Tyler singled to center.

In the fourth, Ernest Martinez roped a two-run homer to left, giving the Hawks a seemingly insurmountable cushion. Smith put Markham in the game after the HR. The homer was the hot-hitting Martinez's second of the season. "That hit left awesome," Martinez, who is hitting .391, said. "It was a heck of a game today."

SPORTS

IN BRIEF

Jordan Shakes Off Injury, Leads Bulls Past 'CBA Knicks'

The Chicago Bulls almost lost as much offense with one injury Sunday night as the Knicks have with six.

Michael Jordan, who injured his left wrist while scrambling for the ball against three of the "CBA" Knicks, suffered a bruise but is expected to play Tuesday night against Washington.

"Although my left wrist hurts and I'll be wearing a protective bandage on a splint for a couple of days, there's no way I'm going to miss the Washington game Tuesday," Jordan said after the Bulls' 115-96 victory over the injury-depleted Knicks. "Especially with Moses Malone back."

"I know it may have been tough getting up for the Knicks, CBA or NBA, I was ready to go and so were my teammates, especially Charles Oakley."

The Knicks played without their three 7-footers — Bill Cartwright, Patrick Ewing and Jawann Oldham, and three other regulars. New York used five players signed out of the Continental Basketball Association.

Jordan who helped snap the Bulls' two-game losing streak by getting 33 points before hurting his wrist with 2:42 left to play. Despite suffering their fifth straight loss and ninth in their last 10 contests to the Bulls, Knicks coach Bob Hill wasn't discouraged with the efforts of the nine players he was able to use.

Elsewhere, Dallas defeated Cleveland 101-98, Boston beat Philadelphia 118-100, Detroit edged Seattle 108-107, and Portland pounded San Antonio 135-113.

Red Wings Clinch Playoff Berth

The Detroit Red Wings turned the Norris Division upside down this season, and the rest of the division is still in a shambles from the shock waves.

The Red Wings, the worst team in the NHL last year, clinched a playoff berth last week while five points separate St. Louis, Minnesota, Chicago and Toronto in the race for the final three spots.

The Maple Leafs were mired in last place a week ago, but a 6-2 victory over the Winnipeg Jets Sunday night pulled Toronto within a point of Minnesota, which lost to Washington 4-2 and Chicago, an 8-6 loser to Boston.

"Our season will come down to our two games with Chicago," Maple Leafs coach John Brophy said. "If we want to pay the price, the final spot is ours. We hold the key to our own destiny."

Elsewhere, Hartford ripped Vancouver 7-4, Edmonton shaded Buffalo 3-2 and Montreal topped Pittsburgh 4-1.

Lucky Earnhardt Wins TransSouth

DARLINGTON, S.C. (UPI) — You could hardly blame Dale Earnhardt if he was an emotional wreck following his TransSouth 500 victory.

"There were a lot of wrecks," Earnhardt said. "We dodged wrecks, and I wrecked, and we still won the race. That's tough to do. It was just a lucky, fortunate day for us."

On the last lap of Sunday's 367-lap race, leader Bill Elliott's Ford ran out of gas and Earnhardt blew by him in turn four to take a 1.23-second win and a $52,985 paycheck.

With 10 laps remaining, Earnhardt a half-lap lead over Elliott and Ken Schrader, but had to pit for fuel. When he returned to the track, he was in third place and six seconds behind Elliott, who had moved into the lead.

3 Of Top Seeds Play Today

CHICAGO (UPI) — Three of the eight top-seeded players — Johan Kriek, Scott Davis and Christo van Rensburg — will see first-round action today in the $315,000 Volvo-Chicago tennis tournament.

The fifth-seeded Kriek of South Africa will meet Marcel Freeman from Los Angeles; sixth-seeded Scott Davis from Bardmore, battles Christo Steyn from South Africa, and seventh-seeded Christo van Rensburg of South Africa, meets Kelly Jones of San Diego.

France's Yannick Noah was awarded the top seed in the 32-man draw Sunday when he disclosed from his Paris home he would participate in the tournament.

Noah had been summoned late Saturday by tournament director Henry Brehm following the sudden withdrawal Friday of John McEnroe, Kevin Curren, and Robert Seguso.

Skip Trial Upsets Snow Chief

HALLANDALE (UPI) — Warm and muggy weather took its toll on favored Snow Chief, bogging him down in the Gulfstream Park handicap and allowing Skip Trial to overtake him and pound down the stretch to a 4 1/4-length victory.

Snow Chief, the sport's leading money winner, jumped to an early lead Sunday and held it until the final turn, but faded to third behind Skip Trial and second place Creme Fraiche. Wise Times finished fourth as the appearance of Snow Chief from California had scared off most of a field which had been expected to be 12 strong.

Skip Trial, trained by Sonny Hine and ridden by Randy Romero, covered the 1 1/4-mile oval in 2:02 4-5, nearly three seconds off the Gulfstream Park record over a heavy track that was rated as fast.

Boardwalk To Open Saturday

Boardwalk and Baseball, "An American Classic" theme park combining 30 thrill rides with live entertainment and traditional baseball is scheduled to open Saturday. Boardwalk and Baseball is located at the site of the old Circus World attraction just off Interstate 4, 25 minutes southwest of Orlando.

The park, which also includes daily baseball games, memorabilia from the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown and baseball batting cages, will be open from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. Admission is $16.95 for adults, $12.95 for children 48 inches and children under three free and seniors 55 or older $12.95. For more information, call 648-5151.

Sanford To Register Pee Wees

The Sanford Recreation Department is holding registration and tryouts for its youth baseball Pee Wee League on Tuesday, April 14 at Chase Park on Celery Ave.

The league is for youngsters who will be seven before Aug. 1, 1987 and will not turn 10 by Aug. 1. Participation fee is $5 and youngsters' birth certificate should be presented at the time of registration.

Youngsters may register the day of tryouts or prior to tryouts at the Sanford Recreation offices located at the Sanford Civic Center Youth Wing, Westside Center or Sanford City Hall. For more information, contact the Recreation Department at 322-3161.

Stocks Open Off Sharply

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened sharply lower Monday in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 2.28 last week, was off 19.74 to 2316.05 shortly after the market opened.

Declines outpaced advances 996-97 among the 1,299 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 19,968,000 shares.

Stock prices fell Friday in active trading as investors took some of the profits they have earned in the blue chips that buttressed two weeks of record-breaking advances by an otherwise hesitant market.

"We finally saw some consolidation of the gains generated over the last week or so," said Richard McCabe, manager of the market analysis department at Merrill Lynch & Co.

"As has been the case since early February, we've seen the market spurt and then hesitate for a week or two before spurring again," McCabe said. "We're now due for some kind of consolidation or retrenchment."

Analysts said the market was unlikely to fall far before the end of the quarter because of expected continued buying by institutions reducing cash reserves before the end of the first quarter Tuesday.

Dollar Plunges But Gold Sharply Higher

By United Press International

The U.S. dollar plunged against the yen and opened lower against major foreign currencies Monday. Gold was sharply higher.

The dollar hit yet another postwar low against the yen on the Tokyo foreign exchange market despite massive dollar-buying intervention by the Bank of Japan.

The dollar closed at 146.20 yen, down 2.80 from last Friday's close. The previous postwar low for the dollar was 148.80 last Tuesday.

Bank of Japan Governor Satoshi Sumita again called for concerted market intervention by the industrial nations to halt the yen's climb, but said market caution made a free-fall of the dollar unlikely.

Exchange market sources said the Bank of Japan again intervened on a massive scale as virtually the only dollar buyer. They said the central bank bought between $1.5 and $1.7 billion.

In early European trading, the dollar dropped again at the opening of foreign exchanges despite massive central bank support.

The dollar opened in Frankfurt at 1.80 marks, against Friday's close of 1.8231; in Zurich at 1.5035 Swiss francs, against 1.5195 and in Paris at 6.0090 francs, against 6.0720.

Dollar Hits New Low Against Yen

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese institutional investors turned away from U.S. government bonds because of the dollar's continuing plunge to new postwar lows, securities analysts said Monday.

The dollar fell to close at 146.20 yen despite massive intervention by the Bank of Japan. Exchange market traders said the central bank bought at least $1.5 billion.

Analysts for Japanese securities firms said the dollar's steep fall appears likely to further encourage Japanese investors to diversify their portfolios.

"Japanese investors have been favoring U.S. Treasury securities because they are safe," said Michael Korver, an investment analyst at Nomura Research Institute, but the yen's rise is "encouraging them to seek other markets."

Japanese investors have been taking advantage of the high yen to invest overseas, but some economists have warned they might turn away from U.S. government securities if their return falls too low.

A shortfall in demand for U.S. government securities — which help finance the massive federal budget deficit — could force higher interest rates in the United States and restrain growth.

Of Japan's $95 billion net capital outflow last year, much went to U.S. securities, particularly U.S. government bonds considered reliable by the nation's conservative investors. At one point last year, Japanese investors held some 60 percent of newly issued Treasury bonds.

Semoran Blvd. near Winter Park.

Hughey said information on the fire and death was sketchy. He said he did not have specific information on the dead person, but said sheriff's deputies are "80 to 90 percent sure" the death is a homicide. Hughey said a sheriff's homicide investigator as well as an arson investigator were on the scene.

Hughey said the body was found in a bedroom, but the fire was confined to the livingroom. A carpet in the livingroom was "scorched," but the fire burned itself out, he said. The body was not burned and its location in the bedroom was "unusual," according to investigators, but Hughey declined to specify where the body was found.

Investigators said there was no apparent signs of a struggle, although that could become an element when the investigation is concluded. A cause of death had not been determined.

He said sheriff's technical services investigators were searching the scene for evidence and trying to determine the cause of death.

Investigators were also trying to determine today who occupies the apartment where the body was found. At this point, it's possible the dead man was the tenant, investigators said.

The Seminole County Fire Department was called to the fire at 9:27 a.m. today.

Hughey said firefighters reported to sheriff's deputies that they had found the body inside the burned home.

Safe Leads To Gun Charge

Seminole County sheriff's deputy Brent Davison who spotted a large safe on a trailer parked on Wekiva Springs Road at about 2:48 a.m. Thursday, notified via radio a Sweetwater Oaks security guard assigned to the area. The security agent told Davison he had given a ride to a gas station on Wekiva Springs Road at Hunt Club Boulevard, to the man who had the safe and was with him at the station.

When Davison arrived at the station and approached the security guard's truck he told the guard to step aside. He confronted the suspect and frisked him.

On the frontseat of the truck Davison found a .45-caliber handgun, which the guard said the suspect had put under the seat when he got into his truck. The suspect, according to the guard, moved the gun onto the seat when Davison approached.

Davison ran a police computer check on the gun and determined it had been reported stolen in Palmetto, Fla.

Ricky Edward Stephenson, 35, of Orlando, was charged with grand theft at 4:27 a.m. Thursday. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court April 13. The suspect, according to sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey, was moving the safe for his boss and had permission to have possession of the safe. He was charged in connection with having possession of the stolen gun.

disaster or not, the Atlas-Centaur failure raised new concerns about NASA's "launch commit criteria" and the decision-making process used to clear rockets for blastoff in a climate that historically has been difficult to predict.

Lightning is a threat to rockets because a discharge, produced either by surrounding clouds or the vehicle itself, can damage sensitive electronic gear on board, such as guidance systems. The current guideline requires a launch to be delayed if lightning is within 5 miles of the launch pad.

The rule was established after a bolt hit the Apollo 12 Saturn 5 rocket 43 seconds after the giant booster blasted off in 1969 for the second manned lunar landing flight. Circuit breakers snapped open and only quick action by the crew prevented more serious problems.

The incident, the only confirmed case of lightning hitting a rocket after launch, prompted NASA to establish new launch commit criteria, such as the 5-mile lightning limit.

For Thursday's Atlas-Centaur launch, lightning was observed just outside the restricted zone around the rocket's launch pad. But the launch decision has been sharply criticized because Florida's coastal weather is extremely volatile and subject to rapid change.

Regardless of the outcome of Busse's accident investigation, weather restrictions at the spaceport probably will be reassessed.

In the shuttle program, problems with forecasting were a major factor in leading the Rogers Commission (that investigated the Challenger disaster to urge that shuttles land in California instead of at the Kennedy Space Center until prediction techniques improve.

"The most serious concern is not that the weather in Florida is bad, but that the atmospheric conditions are frequently unpredictable," the commission said. "In the spring and summer, thunderstorms build and dissipate quickly and unpredictably."

"Although NASA has a conservative philosophy, and applies conservative flight rules in evaluating end-of-mission weather, the decision always comes down to evaluating a weather forecast. There is risk associated with that."

But Raines is hedging: "I'm not sure you can safely say that. But it certainly is possible."

Bronfman said he was encouraged by the discussions. "We had a meeting a couple of days ago," Bronfman said. "The rule says we can't negotiate. We did not negotiate. There is no rule against talking. Then I invited him to the game."

Asked what had been discussed at the meeting, Bronfman said, "I told him he's loved, needed and wanted in Montreal."

Murray Cook, Montreal vice president and general manager, said today he was also encouraged by Saturday's visit.

"We cannot talk contract until after May 1," Cook said. "But we feel good that Tim has affirmed he has no problem coming back to the Expos."

"Tim has tested the free-agent market and found out that it is not as favorable as it was in Montreal. It's unfortunate he has to wait until after May 1, but we would be very happy to have him back just the same," he added.

In November, Raines turned down Bronfman's offer of $4.8 million guaranteed over three years. Bronfman says Raines and Reich did not have to ask if the offer stands.

"They know I am a man of my word," Bronfman said.

Raines said: "We talked about our relationship, our friendship. I feel a lot better about it. We got a lot of things off our chest. Me and Charles worked out our differences."

Raines never gave the Expos a contract demand after becoming a free agent following the 1986 season. He rejected the Padres' March 1 offer for $2.2 million over two years. Two weeks later Reich made a counteroffer of $1.2 million plus incentives for one year. The Padres declined the offer and broke off negotiations.

In eight major-league seasons, Raines has a career .305 average — fourth in the NL among active players.

total of 9.91 inches was reported in Seminole County in June 1985, the most recent month with higher totals than this month.

Seminole County Fire Lt. Bill Bethke said emergency crews all over the county were busy and continue to be busy with emergency calls. He said lightning struck the Semoran North Apartments at State Road 436 and Howell Branch Road. The most damage was done to Apt. 2211 where lightning came in through the wiring and blew out outlets. Many appliances including the cable TV were blown. The fire caught only momentarily when the wiring was blown and did not spread or cause any further damage. No injuries were reported.

Bethke said lightning can come in a home or building through the television cable, so it is best to unplug the cable and television during electrical storms. Lightning can also come in through an antenna, he said, or it can bounce off a tree and come in through anything metal that provides a ground. "It follows the path of least resistance, such as a tree or a metal pole," he said. "It happens quite a bit in Florida."

In Altamonte Springs, the Police Department reported that the on-ramp toward Orlando on Interstate-4 gave way as State Road 436 comes onto I-4. Barricades are up but traffic is still passing. Also, roads were reported washed out or almost washed out in Geneva, and in Oviedo one road was blocked with rocks, callers said.

Lots of power transformers blew throughout the county, and Altamonte Springs had a particular problem with that. Cable TVs were also blown and power was out here and there.

Florida Power & Light Co. District Manager Marvin Whiteside reported only scattered outages this weekend due to the weather all over the Sanford District, but none affecting a large number of customers at one time.

Stalled cars were also part of the dreary landscape.

"When you dump this much water on the streets we have some stalled motorists. You can see the water standing all over the city," said Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett.

Harriett said there was a report Sunday of a tree limb falling on a van at 1606 Palmetto Ave.

The 1986 van, owned by Thomas Walker, 38, of 407 S. Sunland Drive, received $500 worth of damage to its hood, roof and windshield.

Sanford Fire Department reported an increase in false alarms because of wet alarm lines.

In the school district, Richard Wells, director of transportation, guessed that about every high school had a late bus this morning, which would then delay the buses' arrivals at the middle schools.

He said that because school was not in session last week due to spring break, the buses had not been started for a while, and about 10 buses would not start; several buses due to road conditions were flooded out.

"Every time it rains, this kind of thing happens," he said. If a bus driver needs help, he or she radios to another bus for assistance, he said.

AREA DEATHS

BASIL E. CRADDOCK
Major Basil E. Craddock, 84, of 108 Sheridan Ave., Longwood, died Friday at Winter Park Memorial Hospital. Born Jan. 31, 1923 in Cub Run, Ky., he moved to Longwood from Dayton, Ohio, in 1977. He was retired from the Air Force and was a member of the Annunciation Catholic Church. He represented Longwood on the county transportation committee and volunteered his expertise to the city and the county as a researcher and advisor on many occasions.

"He helped the city in any way he could and we certainly will miss him," City Clerk Don Terry said.

Major Craddock also served on the county math textbook selection committee. His math expertise came from teaching at the college level during his Air Force career. He taught mathematics for three years at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, Pa., and taught night courses at a local college in San Antonio, Texas. In 1982, he contracted to teach math to sailors and Marines aboard ship in the Mediterranean.

He was also an Army veteran. He was a member of the VFW Post 8207, Longwood, the Officers' Club and the National Rifle Association.

Survivors include his wife, Dorothy J.; brother, Dane, Cammer, Ky.; four sisters, Oris Reynolds, Bonnevillie, Ky.; Mavis Lester, Valley Station, Ky.; Edwina Orden, Cave City, Ky., and Hazel Bolton, Munfordville, Ky.

Readers Stand By Grandma For Cutting Ungrateful Grandson Off

DEAR ABBY: I am constantly amazed at some of the nitwits who write to you. I refer particularly to "Burned Up in Butte" whose son received a card for his 16th birthday with this handwritten message: "Sorry, Billy, no money this time because we received no thank-you for the money we sent last year. Lots of love, Grandma and Grandpa Jones."

"Burned" complained: "Although these grandparents are retired and living on a fixed income, they are far from poor, and it wouldn't have hurt them to have enclosed a $10 bill."

Abby, instead of taking offense, "Burned" should have boxed Billy's ears all the way to the desk and forced him to write his grandparents a long letter of apology.

You asked your readers how they felt about Grandma's message to Billy. How did they feel?

MRS. GLENN R.

DEAR MRS. R.: "Burned" lost to Grandma in a landslide. Some typical letters:

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to nominate Grandma Jones for Grandmother of the Year. I wish I had the guts years ago to do what she did. I have seven grandchildren whom I've out-granted lavishly every Easter and Christmas. On their birthdays I have sent them all sizable checks and became so accustomed to not receiving any kind of thank-you, I would have fainted had one arrived. From now on, I'm going to follow Grandma Jones' lead.

ANOTHER GRANDMA, MOLINE, ILL.

DEAR ABBY: About gifts and no thank-yous: For years I have sent generous birthday checks to my granddaughter — increasing the amount every year, even though I had to wait until I receive the canceled check to be sure she received it.

On her 21st birthday, I figured she was old enough to acknowledge my gifts, so I enclosed a little note with my check saying, "How about a simple thank-you so I'll know this arrived?"

Do you know what she did? She sent back the check — torn in half. I wonder if this has ever happened to any other grandma?

BEWILDERED GRANDMA

DEAR ABBY: When my children were little, I sat them down with crayons and paper before they even knew how to write and said, "Copy this!" Then they would "draw" a picture of the gift they had received and copy their names, after which they placed X's for kisses. People shouldn't be so hard on kids. They learn what they are taught.

MINNESOTA MOM

DEAR ABBY: You are mistaken. A gift is something that is given without expectation of anything in return. If one expects anything in return — it is not a gift.

I am sure Grandma Jones went down a few pegs in love and respect in the eyes of her 16-year-old grandson and his mother.

NAMELESS IN MANVEL, TEXAS

DEAR NAMELESS: Aw, c'mon! A simple "thank you" is not too much to expect in return for a gift. Show me a person who, for the sheer joy of giving, continues to give to someone who shows no sign of appreciation, and I'll show you a sap — or a saint.

Congratulations To Speech Contest Winner

Sanford, Ms. Kloiber will represent her club at a Council IV Speech Contest, at 10.30 a.m., April 4, at House of Beef, John Young Parkway, Orlando. The public is invited. Regular meetings of the Greater Seminole ITC Club are held at Watson Realty, 1399 SR 434, Longwood, at 7.30 p.m., on the second and fourth Thursday of each month.

Workshop Offers Help In Climbing The Family Tree

The Genealogical Group of Seminole County is sponsoring the Everton Publishers Genealogical Workshop Saturday, April 4, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at Seminole Community College, Vocational Building J-100.

George B. Everton Jr., publisher of The Genealogical Helper, an unusual magazine subscribed to by over 48,000 family history buffs, will conduct the workshop. He will be assisted by Joseph Hall, a member of the Everton Publishers professional staff since 1978.

They will present a lecture that will inspire and assist those attending in their genealogical activities. Lectures will include subjects such as: Notekeeping; Family Histories; Beginning Genealogy; Where to Search Before Vital Records; and, Computers and Genealogy.

Workshop participants will have the privilege of searching for ancestral data from the complete printouts of Everton's two computerized data banks "Computerized Roots Cellar" and the "Computerized Family File." These data banks hold over 600,000 ancestor names plus references to the names and current addresses of the persons who submitted the data. Also, they will be able to take advantage of great savings on Everton's genealogical supplies and services. Participants receive, free, six issues of the Helper

You Must Take Charge Of Your Own Health

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — My blood pressure was high and the doctor put me on medicine. When it gets to 107/70, he takes me off the medicine. What worries me is I get short of breath when I go upstairs. My heart checks out OK. I weigh 200 pounds and am 5 feet 3.

DEAR READER — You raise two interesting questions.

To begin with, your doctor is not doing you any favors by using blood-pressure medicine in an on-off cycle. Most hypertensives need some type of medicine for years. The fact that your blood pressure becomes low with treatment indicates that the drug is too strong or you don't have the type of hypertension that requires drug therapy.

Second, you are overweight. Your obesity is a probable cause of your elevated blood pressure and is almost surely the reason you have trouble climbing stairs. Your primary goal should be to lose weight. Ask your doctor to put you on a diet, or go to Weight Watchers. Once you trim down, you may be surprised at the change in your ability to exercise. Your blood pressure may drop and you'll feel better, too.

To get you started on a weight-loss program, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report WINNING THE BATTLE OF THE BULGE. Other readers who are interested should send their name, address and $1 to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 75 and suddenly have developed numbness in my left ear and neck. My doctor diagnosed it as neuralgia and prescribed nothing for it. I've had a hearing aid in that ear for 40 years. Do you agree with the diagnosis?

DEAR READER — If the nerves that supply the skin of your ear and neck are not functioning normally, numbness or tingling can result. The diagnosis of neuralgia does not shed much light on the reason for your problem. I doubt that the hearing aid is the cause of the numbness. Ask for a referral to a neurologist who can identify which nerves are involved and why; then you can be given appropriate treatment.

For Dr. Gott's complete discussion of problems and treatments of the prostate gland, write for your copy of Dr. Gott's new Health Report on THE PROSTATE GLAND. Send $1 to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Now why should South, with a minimum opening of 11 high-card points, accept a game invitation? For starters, South's hand has an attractive 4-6-2-1 shape. Furthermore, his 11 points are two aces and a king — the highest quality points. The final plus is that North's two-diamond response matched South's two little diamonds. If opener had held a single diamond and two small clubs, he would have passed the three-heart invitation like a shot.

With a spade lead, how should you play? Declarer saw that the game would be easy if both red suits split 3-2, and did not see any simple way to guard against any other distribution, so after playing low from dummy and winning East's spade queen with his ace, he played A-K of hearts.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 31, 1987

A secret career desire that you have only discussed with a few intimates has excellent chances of being realized in the year ahead. Soon it'll be safe to talk about it openly with others.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Before proceeding with a commercial involvement, be certain it doesn't have greater costs attached than you had considered. Double check your figures. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you are too concerned with your self-interests today, it might cause an associate to behave likewise. This could create a stalemate where neither will benefit.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) When dealing with loved ones today, you'll feel better if you let your compassion govern your actions, even if it calls for some type of sacrifice on your behalf.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It could spoil the day for you, as well as for your friends, if you take social situations too seriously. Keep everything in perspective, and just relax and enjoy life.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Gratification and recognition should not be more important to you today than playing the game in accordance with your usual high standards. Keep your ideals in mind.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Bolster your beliefs in things spiritual today by seeking inspiration from the proper sources. Don't be influenced by doubters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will have to be on constant guard if you hope to do well in commercial involvements today. Take nothing for granted.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In order to maintain harmony today, both you and your mate will have to make some concessions. Don't wait for your spouse to make the first move.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If your instincts warn you against doing business today with a certain firm or individual, acknowledge your hunches. Your perceptions are pretty sharp in these areas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Being around groups today may not provide you with the fulfillment it usually generates. You'll be happier in quiet pursuits with a close friend or two.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's best not to invite people whose company your mate doesn't enjoy into your home today. Before you spring anything on him or her, check it out first.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today, associate with friends whose topics of conversation are light and inspirational. Avoid a pal who likes to argue about heavy issues.
