

Con Men Zero-In On Sanford Area

"Bunco" artists are operating in the Sanford area again, and as usual these con men are attempting to separate gullible persons from their bank accounts, warns Sgt. William Bernosky of the Sanford police department.

"We're starting to have an increase in this activity and it's especially directed at senior citizens," said Bernosky.

A Deltona man was recently bilked out of $6,000 in such a scheme, said Bernosky.

He said the "bunco" artists use several schemes to prey on the unwary, and one of their most common ploys is to pose as a bank examiner when they contact a potential victim.

The victim is asked to help the "bank examiner" apprehend a crooked teller employed at the bank where the victim has a checking or savings account. The victim is told that the teller sometimes cheats persons who withdraw money from an account by not giving them the full amount that was withdrawn.

The phony bank examiner tells the victim he will send a plain clothes detective (who is in reality an accomplice of the con man) to drive the victim to the bank where he is to withdraw a specified amount of money through the allegedly crooked teller, Bernosky said.

Later one of the con men takes the money from the victim, allegedly for the purpose of counting it to see if the teller has short-changed the victim. The con man then disappears with the money.

Sometimes the con men will offer the victim a reward of $100 or some other amount if he will cooperate with their scheme to trap the "dishonest" bank teller.

Bernosky said that any person approached by anyone with such a scheme should call the Sanford Police Department or the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

"Banks just don't operate that way," said Bernosky. "Whatever you do, don't give these people your money. At least call an officer at your bank and ask if the bank is conducting any such investigation." —Charles Cobb

Citizens' Choice Panel Suggested To Advise On Cuts

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford city officials are mulling over the idea of appointing a "public congress" of specialists in budget and management to study and recommend how the city can best function and what services it must discontinue when "Proposition 1" passes.

A discussion on the issue came at Tuesday's first city commission workshop on the 1983-84 budget.

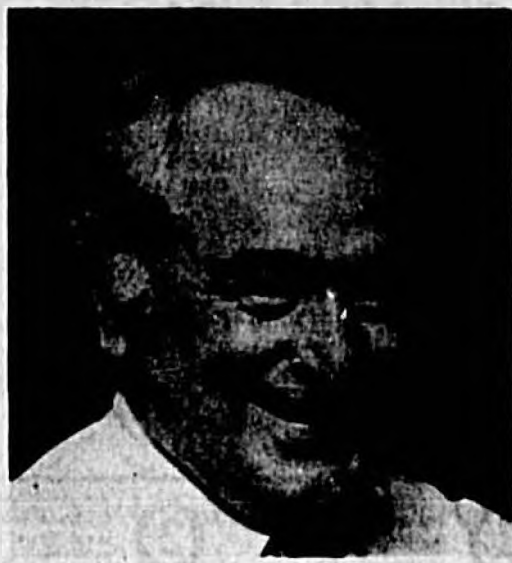

Mayor Lee P. Moore started the discussion by pointing to City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles' message on the first few pages of his $9.225 million proposed budget for the new fiscal year.

Knowles said a major concern in preparing the budget is the threat of a constitutional amendment known as the Havill Bill, for the November, 1984 general election ballot. "This 'Citizens' Choice' amendment would cut back all funds, tax rates and services to the 1980-81 level and thereafter restrict budget changes to no more than a 5 percent increase," Knowles said, suggesting the commission, as it reviews the budget, also consider which services now given can continue with 25 percent less revenue.

"What services shall we do without?" he asked.

Noting that each citizen will see a different service as important to him and all of the special interest segments will give statements and statistics to support their field of interest, Knowles said these same citizens will vote for the amendment.

Predicting the proposition will pass by a healthy margin of 2-1, he said there is a need to "educate the public" what impact the amendment will have on city government. He suggested the city's elected officials might be the ones who should go out into the public to inform them of the impact.

Knowles added that the commission might find it beneficial to select a "congress of private citizens," who are residents and taxpayers to the city, to begin in depth review of all city services to establish a priority list of services to be eliminated.

"This might be a group composed of a single representative from every community service organization within the city of Sanford," Knowles said. "It would serve as an advisory group to the city commission while also providing a platform for public participation and input. The congress members could become fully informed so as to take back to their home organization what they have learned."

'What services shall we do without?'

Commissioner David Farr said getting the message to the people of Sanford might have some merit. Mayor Lee P. Moore agreed with Farr, but added if the amendment doesn't pass he will be very surprised.

And Commissioner Ned Yancey said the public consensus seems to be, "Lower my taxes." Yancey said most people he has talked to, however, don't seem to mind paying user fees.

Moore said, "I've always liked the idea of user fees. If the primary source of revenues is property taxes, the person who doesn't own property doesn't pay."

Farr said the city of Sanford has a conservative record of not raising taxes. And the passage of the amendment might not be such a disastrous thing. "But," he noted, "Sanford could be hurt if we have the spur of growth expected."

Knowles said the constitutional amendment would take effect with the budget of the 1985-86 fiscal year. For that year's budget the city would have to operate with the same revenues as 1980.

Commissioner Milton Smith said

creating the special committee would be advantageous to the city. "The committee would be good to let us know what we can do without," he said.

Knowles said a major concern if the amendment passes is controlling costs in the city's utility system. "When we get into utilities we cannot control the amount of water people use or how much sewage they generate," he said. "And we can't control the cost of electricity."

He said it currently costs $445,000 annually to operate the city sewer plant, but those costs will triple when the city goes into a more sophisticated method of sewer treatment or goes into the land-spreading technique of sewer effluent disposal. The state Department of Environmental Regulation is refusing to issue new permits to allow Sanford to continue dumping its treated effluent into Lake Monroe.

"We're damned if we do and damned if we don't," he said.

Knowles called the proposed constitutional amendment "ill conceived" and "going after a fly with a baseball bat."

Moore said the committee when named will be asked "to tell us what kind of change in service we will have to make in accomplishing the 1985-86 budget."

Moore said the appointees will have to be "people of intelligence" and Farr said they also should have some experience with budgeting and management.

Farr predicted the study will take a year. With the need for the committee report two years in the future, the commission did not set a date to appoint the committee.

No Candidates Yet

No candidates have yet qualified for the six offices up for election in the cities of Lake Mary and Oviedo on September 6.

In Lake Mary the city commission seats held by Commissioners Charlie Lytle, Burt Perinich and Ray Fox will be on the ballot, while Oviedo voters will be choosing a mayor and two city councilmen. The current incumbents in those seats are Mayor Robert Whittier and city councilmen Janice Finch and Pamela Pellerin.

Mrs. Finch and Mrs. Pellerin have said they will not be running for re-election. Lytle, who has bought the Leffler homestead in Sanford, will be moving there.

Whittier has picked up qualifying papers to seek re-election and in Lake Mary, Colin Keogh, a member of the city's planning and zoning commission and an unsuccessful city commission candidate last year, has done so.

In both cities voters will decide if they want to pay more property taxes for city road improvements.

The City Council of Oviedo is asking its citizens to decide whether to approve a special tax of $2 per $1,000 assessed valuation of real property for one year. Lake Mary is asking its voters whether they wish to pay $1.50 per $1,000 in property taxes for paving and paving repair.

County's 1983-84 Budget Appears Far From Final

By Michael Deha
Herald Staff Writer

The only thing certain about Seminole County's proposed 1983-84 budget is its uncertainty.

A 20 cents per $1,000 valuation decrease in the tax rate was approved by a 3-2 vote Tuesday but not before lengthy debate and signs that the $54 million budget may be far from final.

Commissioners Barbara Christensen, Robert G. "Bud" Feather, and Sandra Glenn voted for the countywide tax rate of $4.322 per $1,000 valuation. They also set a $1,808.7 fire protection tax rate and a $536.3 road improvement tax rate for residents of unincorporated areas.

That tax rate information will be given to Tax Collector G. Troy Ray to be mailed to taxpayers beginning July 31.

And even though the tax rate will be down slightly from last year's rates of $4.459 countywide, $1,671.9 for fire protection and $537.9 for road improvement, Mrs. Glenn said most taxpayers will actually be paying more in taxes this year because of reappraisals.

The state mandates that taxes be rolled back slightly each year to compensate for increased valuation of property.

But commissioners Bill Kirchhoff and Robert Sturm steadfastly opposed the "status quo" tax plan and proposed an alternative plan which would give commissioners flexibility at public hearings in September.

Commissioners cannot raise taxes higher than the proposed rates sent to taxpayers by the tax collector. They can, however, reduce the tax rate.

Kirchhoff proposed an 8 percent tax increase for the coming year, emphasizing that the rate could be lowered later. The tax rate proposed by Kirchhoff was $4,754.4 countywide, $1,808.7 for fire protection and $540.0 for road improvements.

His motion was defeated 3-2.

Sturm chastised Mrs. Christensen, Mrs. Glenn and Feather for voting to balance the budget by drawing from county reserves rather than from a "modest" tax increase.

"Seminole County has had only one tax increase in the past 15 years," Sturm said. "We've run out of marigolds, run out of fiscal rabbits out of the hat."

Next year's proposed budget is balanced by borrowing $2 million from the county's health trust fund for a building program and by spending more than $800,000 from reserves for equipment replacement and another $800,000 in state gas tax revenue on other projects.

"We're taking away almost all of our fall-safe methods for dealing with catastrophes," Sturm said.

He also recommended returning a cost-of-living increase to employees. The pay raise was deleted from the budget during budget hearings because commissioners said they could save more than $100,000 by not giving the raises.

Feather also complained about "borrowing from the trust fund or taking from other accounts" and suggested that $100,000 which will be given to public service agencies should be deleted from the budget. He also suggested cutting the estimated $1.3 million cost of courthouse renovation in half.

Efforts To Aid Lower Paid Trowned By Commissioners

The cost of a loaf of bread, which is the same for the highly paid as for personnel lower on the wage scale, was used by Sanford City Commissioner David Farr in a move Tuesday to eliminate a proposed 3.5 percent across the board pay raise for the city's 276 employees.

After presenting a forceful argument, Farr withdrew a motion to eliminate the pay raise when it became obvious that he had no support from colleagues.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said the 3.5 percent increase would mean about 17 cents per hour for the $5 per hour salaried employee. "I can't believe that any realistic person can be upset when we are only granting a 3.5 percent increase," the mayor said.

Commissioner Ned Yancey, noting he had seconded the motion "to get it all out on the floor," put Farr on notice he would vote against the motion.

"The government told us to conserve fuel. We did and then they added more gas tax. They told us to buy economy cars and we did and then they hit us with a higher sales tax. Now it looks like we are going to be hit with another 4 cents gas tax. I'm asking a Commission endorsement of the pay raise or we are going to lose some employees. I'm going to vote against the motion," Yancey said.

Commissioner Milton Smith said Sanford has a fine group of employees, as good or better than any others in the state.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said unanimity of the commission on the issue of the 3.5 percent cost of living raise is very important, adding it shows support of the employees.

"You can't expect employees to do more and yet tell them they are going to be paid less," Knowles said, noting that over the years the city's work force has been reduced and the same amount of work continues to be done.

He also noted that the proposed 3.5 percent cost of living pay raise is the lowest being considered in all of Seminole County, plus in the cities of Winter Park, Maitland and Orlando in Orange County.

Farr began his argument by saying, "When I buy a loaf of bread and a city employee buys a loaf, we pay the same, but I may be able to afford it better than he."

"We have good city employees," Farr said, noting some are compensated very well while those at the lower echelon are not compensated as well."

He said his position is in response to citizen complaints that some city employees making large salaries are already compensated enough.

"Let's bring up the salaries of those who are suffering," he said.

Farr began his move as soon as the city commission opened its first workshop on the $9.225 million budget proposed for the 1983-84 fiscal year. Pointing to the $5.99 million of the budget which is proposed for salaries, fringe benefits and other fixed costs, Farr said by dividing the total by the number of employees — 276 — it appears the average salary and other costs of each city employee is $21,700.

"I would like to see us consider something less than 3.5 percent across the board," Farr said. Knowles responded that the 3.5 percent increase will merely give the employees the same amount of purchasing power as they had last year and possibly slightly less.

Reagan Backs Change In Prayer Amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is supporting a change in a proposed constitutional amendment to permit worship in public schools that would prohibit the government from composing a specific prayer to be recited.

Reagan, a strong supporter of prayer in the classroom, gave his approval of the reworded amendment after he met with Rev. Jerry Falwell, head of the Moral Majority and some 21 other religious leaders at the White House Tuesday.

The clerics said he endorsed a change in the amendment, which is scheduled for consideration by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee Thursday.

The original amendment reads: "Nothing in the Constitution shall be construed to prohibit individual or group prayer in public schools or other public institutions. No person shall be required by the United States or by any state to participate in prayer."

The proposed change adds the words: "Nor shall the United States or any state compose the words of any prayer to be said in public schools."

ERA: One More Try

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A year after the death of the Equal Rights Amendment, a House Judiciary panel set hearings today on another try at the amendment, which would spell out women's full constitutional rights.

Constitutional amendments require a two-thirds vote of approval in both chambers of Congress and ratification by three-fourths of the state legislatures.

Congress approved the first try at the ERA 10 years ago. It raced through ratification by many state legislatures, but got none in the past few years and failed by three states to become part of the Constitution.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Thousands of people sought refuge at beaches and in air-conditioned buildings from a band of steamy and humid July weather that made temperatures in the 80s and 90s feel even hotter. Rain today lingered over the Pacific Northwest and thunderstorms were widely scattered over eastern Colorado, northwest New Mexico, the Texas Panhandle and western Kansas. Showers dotted the upper Ohio Valley and Maine while skies remained clear elsewhere. Two big high pressure centers — one over Wyoming and the other off the Atlantic Coast — dominated the weather map Tuesday, sending the mercury into the 100s in the Southwest and the 90s from California to the East Coast. "It's pretty hot all over," said Harry Gordon, meteorologist at the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Mo. "It was into the 80s and 90s from the Rockies through the Ohio and Mississippi valleys so it was generally kind of unpleasant." The Commonwealth Edison Co. in Chicago said it needed "all available resources" to cope with the demand as consumers turned up air conditioners for relief from 88-degree readings and high humidity. About 250,000 people jammed the city's Lake Michigan beaches, but lakefront food vendors complained it was too hot and humid to eat.

Legislature OKs Tax For Jails, Courthouses

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Legislators from Polk and Sarasota counties may have won for every county the right to collect a special penny sales tax to pay for a new jail or courthouse.

The House and Senate Tuesday each approved a bill allowing counties to collect a penny sales tax throughout 1985 if their residents authorize it in a referendum as part of the November 1984 general elections. The money could be used to construct criminal justice facilities, including jails and courthouses.

Polk and Sarasota officials are planning to build jails and they have been trying for months to win the right to collect the sales tax, rather than have to sell bonds to cover construction costs. Other counties likely will also exercise this option if Gov. Bob Graham signs the proposal into law.

Cause Of Fires Probed

ORLANDO (UPI) — Orlando Fire Department officials are trying to pinpoint the causes of three building fires Tuesday night, including a smoky blaze at a downtown sign-painting store that required power to be cut off.

No serious injuries were reported in the fires, which broke out within four hours of each other. Damage estimates were not available.

The first fire was reported at 8:11 p.m. at Nick's Master Signs downtown. The building was unoccupied. Material inside box cars on a railroad track adjacent to the sign shop caught fire briefly. A second fire occurred in an unoccupied home. It broke out as firefighters were bringing the sign shop blaze under control. The house fire was quickly extinguished. The third blaze broke out after 11 p.m. at a Howard Johnson's hotel in west Orlando.

County Gives Boat Ramp Repairs Top Priority

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Permanent repairs to three damaged boat ramps at Lake Monroe Wayside Park are a top priority for available state funds.

Seminole County commissioners voted Tuesday to place repair of the heavily-used park on U.S. Highway 17-92 near Sanford at the top of its priority list for funding from state boater improvement funds.

Three of four boat ramps at the park have recently been closed because they have deteriorated due to waves from large vessels and prop wash from boats being launched.

County Administrator T. Duncan Rose said the high water level in Lake Monroe is also partially responsible for the deterioration.

Director of Public Services and Development John Percy said temporary repairs are being made to the three ramps but permanent repairs must be made to prevent continued erosion. Permanent repairs could run as high as $50,000, he said.

Percy said the park has a large number of users because of its proximity to Interstate 4.

By placing emphasis on repairs at that park and boat ramps on Lake Jessup and Lake Harney, the county virtually ruled out funding of boat docks at Secret

Lake Park proposed by Casselberry officials.

Commissioners Bill Kirchhoff, Robert G. "Bud" Feather and Robert Sturm voted not to give funds to Secret Lake Park until repairs to the other parks are made. Commissioners Sandra Glenn and Barbara Christensen cast the dissenting votes.

The funds to be used for the repairs come to counties from boat and motor licenses and fees, and are intended for the purchase, construction and repair of boating facilities.

Currently, the county has about $172,000 available with another $27,000 scheduled to come into county coffers early in 1984.

But $147,000 of that is already spoken for. The county plans to purchase a three-mile right of way from Seaboard Coastline Railway System parallel to State Route 46 through Paola.

The right of way, part of the old Tavares Spur, ends at the Wekiva River and is proposed as a canoe launching facility. The park will also be used for hiking.

After the property is purchased, the county will have an additional $52,000 to work with for the remaining jobs.

Kirchhoff told commissioners he would seek to close Lake Monroe Wayside Park if the repairs aren't made.

He said three other county boating

Only one of four boat ramps at Lake Monroe Wayside Park is open because the concrete on the ramps has eroded, making them unsafe. Although repairs now underway are expected to alleviate the problems temporarily, county commissioners voted Tuesday to fund permanent repairs to the boat ramps.

facilities in his district are also in need of repair. Cameron Wight Park, off of State Route 46 on the St. Johns River, needs about $15,000 in repairs to boat ramps and to an access road. C.S. Lee Park, on the St. Johns at the eastern boundary between Seminole and Volusia counties, needs about $13,500 in repairs, he said. Lake Jessup Park needs about $3,500 in repairs to the ramps and access roads.

To Fund School Improvements

Tax Package Passed Over Business Objections

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham does not believe for a minute a controversial corporate profits tax plan he sponsored to pay for school improvements will cause a big business exodus from Florida.

Let the multinationals and other big corporations flee to Whigham, Ga. Graham quipped Tuesday night after the Legislature sent him a $230 million tax increase plan, the third round of new taxes in about a year.

"Whigham may soon be home for more than reptiles," he joked, referring to the south Georgia community that hosts a rattlesnake rodeo every year.

Graham does not believe the horror stories and neither does the legislative leadership.

"Scare tactics," said House Speaker Lee Moffitt of the warnings that provisions broadening the corporate profits tax, including one imposing a tax on profits earned in foreign countries, will halt Florida's drive to attract business and industry and become an international financial center focusing on South America.

Big business lobbyists said the same sort of thing when it appeared during the regular session the Legislature might raise the current, relatively narrow corporate profits tax, noted Graham and Moffitt.

The two officials also were well aware that many of these same lobbyists were saying they would rather have that than the expansion of the tax to include foreign and out-of-state sales and the operations of affiliates and subsidiaries.

The taxes package includes a tax on profits earned in foreign countries by multinationals; language letting the state tax subsidiaries and affiliates exempted currently; and language allowing the state to tax most sales by Florida corporations in other states.

Graham says the corporate profits tax changes will produce $95 million a year, modest taxes that will pay for education improvements making Florida more attractive for the new high technology industries and other big business.

But opponents, including representatives of such multinationals as Coca-Cola, Proctor & Gamble and IBM, argued the provisions might raise closer to $300 million and could seriously jeopardize Florida's efforts to attract new industry to the state.

The package also includes $70.5 million in increased taxes on liquor, wine and beer and $62.3 million in increased required local effort on property taxes.

Taxes on beer will go up about a penny a can, on "hard liquor" about 35 cents a fifth, and on wine, about 11 cents a fifth. There will be a slight increase in property taxes in some counties, but not all of them.

But the taxes will pay for some critical educational improvements including across-the-board pay raises for teachers and faculty and funding for provisions in the "RAISE" bill passed during the first special session.

These provisions include a partial implementation of a seventh period in the high schools beginning this fall and a merit pay plan designed to reward the best school teachers.

The package was worked into the $2 billion public school budget, which the governor vetoed June 30 because it did not fund enough educational improvements.

The Legislature passed the supplemental spending plan, which also contained $24 million for about a 3 percent pay raise for general state employees, and a bill implementing some of the educational improvements in the budget and financed by the taxes package.

House K-12 Education Chairman Eleanor Weinstock of Palm Beach praised the entire package of bills as "a national breakthrough."

Robinson To Be Arraigned In Shooting Of FBI Agents

ORLANDO (UPI) — Despite claims that he is incompetent to stand trial, former fugitive Clarence Eugene Robinson today prepared himself for arraignment on charges he shot two FBI agents last month in Orange City.

Arraignment was scheduled before U.S. Magistrate Donald Dietrich.

Defense attorney Stephen Rosen of Miami has said he believes Robinson is mentally incompetent to stand trial.

Robinson, 38, is charged with wounding two FBI agents outside an Orange City restaurant on June 3. Four days later, Robinson surrendered to FBI agents in Miami.

Robinson had been listed as a fugitive since 1977 when an off-duty Seminole County reserve deputy sheriff was shot and killed during a drugstore holdup in Longwood. Robinson faces murder and robbery charges in that case.

A career criminal, Robinson spent eight months in a mental hospital in 1970 while being jailed for armed robbery and ball-jumping charges. A psychiatrist performed an examination on Robinson in 1970 and labeled the former professional boxer a paranoid schizophrenic.

Last month, Rosen requested that Dr. Ernest Miller of Jacksonville, who conducted the 1970 examination, be allowed to examine Robinson again.

Dietrich granted the request but also appointed Dr. J. Lloyd Wilder of Orlando to examine Robinson on behalf of the government.

Wilder's report was not made public prior to the arraignment and officials declined comment on its contents, but the fact that the court hearing was scheduled indicated the doctor disagreed with Rosen's claim.

Rosen could carry his incompetency claim to U.S. District Judge Elizabeth Kovachevich at Robinson's trial or a pretrial hearing.

Although he classified Robinson as a paranoid schizophrenic in 1970, Miller said Robinson probably did "understand the nature, consequences and wrongfulness" of his crimes.

Alabama Desegregation Suit 'Will Not Affect Florida'

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington says he doesn't expect federal court action to force Alabama to further desegregate its university system to have any impact in Florida.

"I don't think there are any implications as far as Florida is concerned," Turlington said Tuesday. "It will not affect Florida. By and large, we've done a good job to show concern about access and opportunity. It's our intention to continue to do that regardless of what happens in Alabama."

On Monday, the government filed suit in U.S. District Court in Birmingham claiming Alabama's system of higher education "remains largely segregated by race" and asking for meaningful desegregation efforts by state officials.

Turlington said he doesn't expect the government to sue Florida, but he said even if talks between state education officials and the Office of Civil Rights break down, the state likely won't lose its federal funding.

Florida and other Southern states have been under federal pressure to "fully desegregate" their college and university systems because of a lawsuit filed by the NAACP Legal Defense Fund in 1969.

They submitted five-year plans in the late 1970s and are under pressure now to carry out the goals of those proposals.

U.S. District Judge John Pratt ruled in March that the states "defaulted in major respects" on implementation of the plans.

Consequently, the civil rights office ordered plans developed to achieve the major goals of the original desegregation proposals by the fall of 1985. Florida's initial implementation proposal and a supplemental proposal was rejected.

The state has until Aug. 1 to submit additional information and proposals.

Turlington said Pratt and the Office of Civil Rights had "changed the rules of the game," establishing as rigid quotas broad guidelines on black enrollment in higher education included in the original plan.

He said there is no way the state can meet those quotas by the fall of 1985.

Reagan Should Answer Drumbeat

White House spokesman Larry Speakes recently acknowledged that public support for Mr. Reagan's policies in Central America had dipped some in recent weeks. Speakes blamed this, not unreasonably, on a "drumbeat of negativism" from Congress.

Hardly a day goes by without some self-appointed expert on Capitol Hill wailing that the administration's policies are pulling the country into — that most tiresome of clichés — "another Vietnam."

Variations on the theme include calls for a "negotiated settlement" in El Salvador and an end to Mr. Reagan's supposed search for "military solutions" in Central America.

That none of this sloganeering fits the facts on the ground in Central America has not deterred the critics. Fear sells, witness the not inconsiderable support for the nuclear freeze and disarmament lobbies.

Any president, Mr. Reagan included, must expect a certain amount of opposition to just about any policy. That is the nature of a democratic system from which neither partisan politics nor just plain wrong-headedness can ever be wholly excluded. What Mr. Reagan does not have to take is outright misrepresentation of his policies, or palpable misstatements of fact.

Consider, for example, Sen. Alan Cranston's remarks at a recent Washington press conference. Cranston, emboldened perhaps by his recent sweep of a coffee klatch of Democratic activists in Alabama, accused the president of "supporting a repressive, right-wing dictatorship (in El Salvador)."

Can it be that Alan Cranston has not read a newspaper or caught a network of news broadcast since March 28, 1982? That was the day, you will recall, when more than 1 million Salvadorans — 80 percent-plus of the electorate — braved guerrilla death threats and bullets to trek to the polls and elect members of a constituent assembly.

Some 700 journalists from around the world plus several hundred foreign observers watched for the slightest sign of electoral fraud. They found none. By all accounts, it was the freest, fairest Salvadoran election in 50 years.

Although the guerrillas and the Marxist groups they represent had excluded themselves from the election, voters could choose among candidates from six political parties including the centrist Christian Democrats. The new constituent assembly subsequently appointed a civilian and a moderate, Alvaro Magana, as El Salvador's provisional president pending presidential elections scheduled for later this year.

We leave it to Alan Cranston to explain how this Salvadoran government, with its civilian president answerable to a popularly elected legislature, qualifies as a right-wing dictatorship. Language, after all, can only be bent so far, even in the service of a would-be presidential candidate with a personal interest in discrediting the White House incumbent.

But, as Larry Speakes suggested, this sort of negativism endlessly repeated on television by the Alan Cranstons, Ted Kennedys, and Christopher Dadds on Capitol Hill does take its toll.

Accuse the administration often enough of seeking military solutions in Central America — 55 U.S. military trainers are in El Salvador, 2,000 Cuban military advisers are in Nicaragua — and many Americans will be persuaded.

Imply often enough that peace and democracy could be secured in El Salvador if only the administration would force the Salvadoran government to "negotiate" — i.e. to share power — with communist guerrillas who cannot win at the ballot box and many Americans will be persuaded.

Mr. Reagan and others who speak for the administration do not have to let misrepresentation go unchallenged. The latest dip in the White House's own opinion samplings suggests the need to answer the drumbeat of negativism with a trumpet flourish of truth as often as the occasion demands.

Casselberry's Don Jonas is no longer the University of Central Florida football coach, but that doesn't keep the hard-working ex-Canadian Football League and Orlando Panther quarterback standout from helping kick off the 1983 Booster Day Blitz.

Jonas, who started the UCF program rolling as a volunteer head coach during its first year and was head coach the next two years, contributed $1,000 to the July 15 booster day in the memory of former Orlando Panther teammate Dave Hoppman.

The annual Blitz Day will be Friday when current booster members will be calling individuals and businesses in the community for support of the Fighting Knights, under new head coach Lou Saban, and the other 13 intercollegiate sports at UCF.

Despite being a state-supported institution, UCF does not receive any state funding for its athletics. It is run solely on contributions and ticket revenue, according to Saban.

"The success of our program depends a great deal on the community," said Saban. "We hope everyone will get involved like Don Jonas, who is responsible for getting this football program off the ground."

Hoppman passed away in a tragic car accident. The $1,000 contribution was given to the Boosters on behalf of his old team, the Panthers, which was a member of the old Continental Football League.

"It's a pleasure to present this contribution to our former Panthers," said Jonas. "We are happy and proud to kick off the Booster Blitz by establishing a scholarship in Dave Hoppman's memory."

This year's Blitz Day goal is $50,000 in memberships, according to Eric Young, Knight Booster Executive Director. For more information concerning Blitz Day, call 275-2086.

Lake Mary High School track coach Mike Gibson is looking for a little competition. Gibson, competing in the 30-39 age group, long jumped 12-feet-10½ and ran the 100 dash in 13.1 to take first place in both events.

The second week of competition in the Lake Mary Age Group Track Meet begins Monday at the high school with field events at 5:30 p.m. and running events at 6:30 p.m. Ages seven to 50 and over are covered. It costs 50 cents for two events and $1.00 for three or more.

Congress' Budget Troubles

By Robert MacKay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A fundamental axiom of Congress is that you don't raise taxes in an election year, at least not if you want to keep your job.

This principle was the guiding force behind recent congressional approval of a fiscal 1984 budget calling for enactment of a bill this year — not in 1984 — of $73 billion in tax increases over the next three years.

The refrain frequently heard during the budget debate was that Congress will not have the nerve to raise taxes next year, so it better be done this year to help shrink huge federal deficits.

But, as campaigns tend to get longer and longer, Congress' courage in tackling politically sensitive issues, which is dubious in itself, gets smaller and smaller.

A bipartisan presidential commission was the only thing that saved Social Security from financial collapse. Without the commission's recommendations, partisan sniping in Congress would have doomed the enactment earlier this year of legislation shoring up the Social Security System.

With each passing day, congressional passage of the $73 billion in tax increases ordered by the 1984 budget resolution becomes less and less of a likelihood.

No penalty exists if Congress fails to implement or follow its own budget resolution; it simply loses oversight and control of the federal checkbook.

The chairman of the two congressional committees that write federal tax law already have said they cannot meet the July 22 deadline set in the budget resolution for sending the full House and Senate a tax increase bill.

Chairman Robert Dole, R-Kan., of the Senate Finance Committee, who has called the budget "unbalanced and unworkable," said his committee will wait for the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee to move first on tax increases.

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, will hold hearings July 19-20-21 on possible tax hikes, but does not plan to begin drafting a tax increase bill until at least September.

"That (July 22) deadline, as ceremonial as it was, has been passed — or will be passed," a Rostenkowski aide shrugged.

Rostenkowski and all other House members will be up for re-election next year, and Dole holds one of 33 Senate seats that will be up for grabs in 1984. No one wants to be accused of raising taxes as the election year approaches, even if increased taxes would cut the deficit and lead to a stronger U.S. economy.

Given the choice of higher deficits or higher taxes, Congress is likely to opt for higher deficits — at least the rest of this year and next year.

"A lot of these guys think the American people don't understand deficits — but they know people understand higher taxes," a Senate budget committee aide said.

ROBERT WALTERS

Is This One A Scandal?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There's a strong temptation to write off the controversy over the purloined 1980 campaign documents as a case of mid-summer madness, but the conduct of the White House staff makes it difficult to ignore the issue.

Any Washington "scandal" which surfaces during the summer months is suspect because this city has a sorry tradition of staging such episodes to divert the country's attention from the fact that many politicians are either on vacation or working in a very desultory fashion.

The current case originally presented the appearance of such an overblown affair because sleazy conduct and "dirty tricks" long have been an integral albeit distasteful component of political campaigning.

Although "everybody does it" is neither a legitimate excuse nor an adequate explanation for illegal or improper conduct, nobody ever confused the ethical standards prevalent at most campaign headquarters with those at a monastery.

Moreover, the initial account in the current case cited only a single instance of hanky-panky. According to "Gambling with History: Reagan in the White House," a new book written by Lawrence I. Barrett, a briefing book prepared for Jimmy Carter apparently was "fished" and turned over to Ronald Reagan's aides during the 1980 presidential campaign.

Barrett, Time's White House correspondent, submitted that information to his own magazine two years ago, but his editors never even bothered to publish it.

Notwithstanding the president's sanctimonious rhetoric ("there shouldn't be unethical things done in campaigns"), his senior advisors have offered a tawdry display of conflicting accounts and shifting recollections.

White House Chief of Staff James A. Baker III distinctly remembers receiving from Director of Central Intelligence William J. Casey a briefing book prepared for Carter prior to the October 1980 debate between the two candidates. (Casey at the time was Reagan's campaign manager and Baker was in charge of preparing Reagan for the debate.)

But Casey — whose concern about the unauthorized disclosure of confidential data under his control ranges from apoplexy to paranoia — has no recollection whatever of receiving or transmitting the "leaked" material.

Baker, on the other hand, doesn't recall receiving from Wayne H. Valls, a 1980 Reagan campaign volunteer, a memo which Valls said was "based on a Carter debate staff brainstorming session... from a source intimately connected to a Carter debate staff member."

Valls provided one copy of that memo to White House Communications Director David R. Gergen and in a covering note said, "I gave a copy to Jim Baker" — but Baker has "no specific recollection" of receiving it.

Gergen initially responded to a congressional inquiry by insisting that "I do not recall" having access to Carter campaign material — but he subsequently "found that I made a mistake" and indeed had such documents in his files.

If the Reagan campaign organizations was the passive recipient of unsolicited Carter political material provided episodically by one or even a few individuals on a voluntary basis, this year's summer "scandal" will prove to be as flimsy and ephemeral as many of its predecessors.

But if the president's aides actively solicited such information, facilitated the systematic flow of material or engaged in any form of organized infiltration of the Carter campaign, there is a very real scandal.

Mr. Dooley wisely observed long ago that "politics ain't beanbag" — but neither is it an endeavor in which theft or espionage should ever be legitimized.

DON GRAFF

Writer Convinces Columnist

I had been having some difficulty deciding whether the Reagan team's coup in liberating Jimmy Carter's crib notes in advance of the great 1980 presidential campaign debate was a serious matter of state or not.

It seemed to have more elements of farce.

When along comes the Wall Street Journal, bless its predictability, to decide the matter for me. Well, not exactly the Journal in its entirety, but one of its editorial page contributors, Suzanne Garment, whose moderately laid-back observations frequently offer some relief from the hard-nosed editorials and those interminable dissertations by Herbert Stein and others between which they are sandwiched.

Ms. Garment doesn't think much of debaucherie. The affair is, as she sees it, less a genuine political scandal than this summer's fun and games for a capital press corps desperate for real news.

In other words, not serious. That convinced me. It is serious. Ms. Garment must have a low opinion of her colleagues in the Washington press corps — or her calling, in fact.

At the very, very least, we have in debaucherie the embarrassing admissions and/or contradictory recollections of four of the very tiptop people in the Reagan administration — James Baker, William Casey, David Stockman, David Gergen — as to their roles in the affair.

We also have the spectacle of a president grimly determined to plug leaks in his own administration dismissing a burst main line in his predecessor's as much ado about nothing.

William F. Buckley Jr. made one of his inimitably irrelevant contributions to the debate over debaucherie with the recollection in a current column of the prankster Dick Tuck, who had all sorts of fun with the 1964 and '68 campaigns of Barry Goldwater and Richard Nixon.

Very true. And he might have mined that vein for more. Such as the newswoman spy the Nixon campaigners planted on George McGovern's train in '72.

College stuff, to be sure. But while we're recalling it, let's also recall that there have been none better at it than a couple of fellows named Erlichman and Haldeman, who excelled in campus dirty politics at Southern Cal and kept playing by the same rules all the way to the White House.

Not so collegiate was the leaking of details on the Paris negotiations on Vietnam that in 1968 reached the Nixon camp at a crucial point in the campaign, as Seymour Hersh reminds us in his current study of the ways and means of Henry Kissinger, "The Price of Power."

She admits that she is "lousy" at scandals. Back in the Watergate days, she confesses, "every time Richard Nixon made a televised speech I announced that he had blown his critics out of the water ..." so eager was she to be done with the dreary business.

Ms. Garment, I'm convinced.

Economics Can Bring Soviets To Talks

WASHINGTON — In an earlier column, I described the "low-risk, low-cost, low-profile" offensive that the Soviet Union is directing against the United States. There is a way to fight back.

The Kremlin is harboring drug smugglers, subsidizing terrorists and training revolutionaries who are then unleashed against the West. The purpose is to destabilize the Western governments, with the United States as the ultimate target.

But if the United States is vulnerable to drugs and terrorism, the Soviet Union also has its soft underbelly. The Soviet economy is foundering; its Marxist system has been unable to produce sufficient food and consumer goods; and the ruble won't buy much these days.

This has already reduced Soviet influence around the world. Declares a secret CIA report dug up by my associate Dale Van Aarts: "In the third world, Moscow's hard currency assistance to communist clients has become more restrained."

In other words, left-leaning countries need hard currency — a commodity which the Soviets are running short of. They can't even afford to keep their allies supplied with arms.

Here's an excerpt from another secret report: "The USSR will be even less willing than before to undertake major assistance efforts similar to those carried out in the past for Cuba and Vietnam."

And still another excerpt: "The Soviet Union is encountering growing economic difficulties, which will make it more difficult to increase its imports from the West in the future. The outlook for most Soviet exports, including oil, is not favorable."

The bottom line is this: The Soviet system is highly vulnerable to economic warfare. The Soviet economy is already in distress; it can be crippled; dollar diplomacy might work after all.

By applying economic pressure, the Western alliance might convince the Kremlin to stop supporting revolutionaries, terrorists and drug smugglers. An agreement to end this subterranean warfare might ultimately lead to disarmament and detente.

Here are a few economic squeeze plays that, in my journalist's presumption, I believe could bring the Kremlin to terms:

1. — The Western powers could push the Soviets over the edge economically simply by shutting off credit. This would reduce the hard currency that the Soviets need to produce the arms that have had such a destabilizing effect on the world.

2. — The United States has the economic power to break up OPEC and drive down the price of oil. This would hurt the Soviet Union, which must sell oil for the hard currency it needs.

3. — The Soviets also need to sell natural gas to Western Europe to earn more hard currency. By refusing to buy the gas and to help with the pipeline, the European nations could bring the Soviets to the bargaining table.

4. — The United States should continue to sell as much grain to Russia as the Soviets are willing to buy. This costs the Kremlin precious hard currency that otherwise could be spent on arms.

5. — The United States could wage a covert trade war against the Kremlin, undercutting Soviet prices, raising Soviet bids and dumping products to depress Soviet markets.

These moves would throw the Soviet economy into a tallsip and leave the Kremlin with no choice but to cut back on military spending and aggressive moves. Then Yuri Andropov might become more amenable to negotiating a real detente and might call off the terrorists and revolutionaries.

Study: 'Temperature Rhythm' Spotted In Rapes And Assaults

ATLANTA (UPI) — A study by two Emory University researchers says there is a link between hot weather and the occurrence of rapes and assaults and indications that rape is an "expression of aggression rather than of sex."

The findings, based on a massive amount of research of crime statistics, underline connections between weather and violence that police and sociologists have been noting for years.

Richard P. Michael and Doris Zumpe of Emory's Department of Psychiatry collected information on the occurrence of more than 50,000 rapes and more than 475,000 assaults, 300,000 robberies and 9,000 murders in 16 different locations in the United States.

Their findings appear in the July issue of the American Journal of Psychiatry and are scheduled for publication this fall in Social Biology.

"The view that environmental factors may act via neuroendocrine pathways in the human to influence our behavior is consistent with the known role of these factors in socially living non-human primates, which show increased aggressivity at the start of the mating season, even toward their sexual partners," the researchers said.

Robbery, unlike rapes and assaults, appears to surge upward in November and December, while murder apparently follows no temperature rhythm, according to the study.

Michael said one of the study's more interesting results was the connection between rape and assault. That relationship was "very close in timing and the size of the changes (seasonal rhythms). They make us feel that rape is a subcategory of assault — that rape is primarily an expression of aggression rather than of sex."

The researchers collected their data for the period 1975-79 from the departments of public safety of Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Illinois, Maine, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oregon, Puerto Rico, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and the cities of Honolulu, Los Angeles, and San Francisco.

Michael and Zumpe determined the presence or absence of significant annual rhythms in violent behavior in the 16 locations.

Annual changes in rape, aggravated assault, robbery and murder were compared to each other in a given location and in the 16 different states and cities, and also to differences in environmental factors — photoperiod (seasonal fluctuations of light) and temperature.

They found that changes in numbers of rapes and assaults showed seasonal patterns, peaking in the summer. In contrast there was a virtual absence of seasonal changes in numbers of murders, while robberies peaked in November-December.

"A close relation emerged between assaults and rapes, on the one hand, and temperature on the other, in different geographical locations," they said.

Michael and Zumpe said, "Human violence, just like aggression in non-human primates, is influenced by exteroceptive environmental factors."

Americans Now Have New Rules To Live By

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court this term has subtly changed the rights of voters, minorities, criminals and energy consumers. It will also affect the life of the average citizen in more noticeable ways.

As a result of the 1982-83 court term, which ended last Wednesday, homeowners may find unsolicited advertisements for birth control devices mixed in with sweepstakes entries and other junk mail.

It is now legal for specially trained dogs to sniff the luggage of airline passengers.

Air travelers also may be stopped briefly and questioned by narcotics agents if they are suspected of being a drug courier.

Drivers stopped for routine traffic violations may have their cars searched for a weapon if they look dangerous. And police may monitor a motorist's every move through the use of an electronic beeper surreptitiously attached to his car.

Pleasure boaters off the coasts may receive unannounced visits at any time from customs officials.

Women can no longer be required to go to a hospital if they want an abortion in the second three months of pregnancy. Working women can demand that their pension checks upon retirement be equal to those of their male co-workers.

Also, charitable donations to veterans groups will remain tax deductible. There had been a question because other charities are not allowed to use tax-deductible contributions for political lobbying.

At the same time, people can contribute money to third-party political campaigns, such as the controversial Socialist Workers Party or the Communist Party, with the knowledge that their name is not being filed with the state on a list that could expose them to harassment because of unpopular views.

Married couples may be forced to sell their homes if they owe back taxes to Uncle Sam, even if the taxes are owed by only one spouse.

Drunken drivers should be aware that if they refuse to take a breathalyzer or blood alcohol test, states may use their refusal as evidence against them.

Other citizens who run afoul of the law should be forewarned that their wallet or purse automatically may be searched when they are taken to the police station.

Those who fall into legal trouble and are too poor to afford their own lawyers also should know they do not have the right to the court-appointed lawyer of their choice. And if convicted of a crime, they cannot tell that attorney how to appeal their case.

On the other hand, law-abiding citizens can do their part to help police by mailing or phoning in anonymous tips of illegal activity in the knowledge that police can make greater use of those tips to catch criminals than ever before.

And anyone with a beef about what the justices did since the first Monday of last October, now has permission to picket on the sidewalk directly in front of the white-columned Supreme Court building.

Women Soldiers' Morale Slumping

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Pentagon advisory panel says the morale of women soldiers has slumped to the point of endangering the volunteer Army because women are barred from so many military career specialties.

In a letter to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services warned of "serious negative" consequences of the service's effort to limit roles of women soldiers, the Washington Post reported.

"The closing of military occupations impacts negatively on career development for women, making their advancement difficult if not impossible," committee chairwoman Mary Evelyn Blagg Huey, president of Texas Women's University, wrote.

As part of the Reagan administration's reassessment of the role women should play in the military, the Army recently told 1,200 women to shift specialties because their current posts might involve them in combat. Others soon may be reassigned because of physical requirements of their jobs.

The Post said these positions include plumbers, electricians and masons.

Ms. Huey said closing the positions to women has caused "a very serious, widespread effect on morale" throughout the services.

The Air Force and Navy exclude women by law from potential combat positions, which keeps women off submarines and most jet aircraft and ships. The Army has a similar combat-exclusion policy, but it has a more difficult time defining which jobs might place women in combat.

The Post said Weinberger has not yet answered Ms. Huey's letter and a spokesman for the Defense secretary declined to comment on it.

There were more than 70,000 women, about 10 percent of the force, on active duty in the Army in 1981. The Carter administration projected an increase to 87,000 enlisted women by 1986. The Reagan administration scaled that target back to 65,000 and last spring eliminated 23 job specialties the Pentagon said might involve women in combat.

NOTICE TO ALL VETERANS

Who Have Honorably Served Their Country in Time of War or Peace

Because of the lack of burial space and the distance of the National Cemetery in Florida, we are assigning grave spaces in Veterans Garden of Valor, Oaklawn Memorial Park. As an honorably discharged veteran of the United States Armed Forces, you may be qualified for Free Burial Space. However, you must register for this. You must be able to show proof of Honorable Discharge. There are a limited number of Veterans spaces available. Certificates for spaces will be issued on a first come first served basis. Smallest Increase In A Decade

Driving Costs Up Under 1¢ A Mile

DETROIT (UPI) — The cost of driving a passenger car, no matter what vintage, went up by 2 percent in 1982, the smallest increase in 10 years, a new Hertz Corp. study shows.

The nation's largest rental-leasing agency also found the average car on the road is now 7.3 years old, the oldest since right after World War II.

The cost of driving went up less than a penny a mile to 35.42 cents per mile, the study said. Drivers paid an average $2,847 to own and operate the vehicle last year for an estimated 8,027 miles traveled, an increase of .9 cents per mile, Hertz said.

In 1981, total driving costs were $2,790 for the average car owner or 34.5 cents per mile for a typical 8,081 miles driven.

The estimate considered depreciation costs, fuel prices, licenses, fees and taxes, interest, repairs and maintenance.

The study found lower gasoline prices and reduced depreciation costs were offset by other expenses, especially maintenance, to produce the slight upswing in per-mile costs.

Hertz said 1982 marked the first time since the 1973 Arab oil embargo that percentage increases in passenger car ownership and operating costs were less than the nation's overall inflation rate and climb in family incomes.

Since 1972, annual ownership and operating costs have jumped 127 percent, compared to a 129 percent climb in inflation and a 143 percent surge in typical family income.

"By keeping cars longer, driving them less and buying smaller, less expensive models when new purchases are made, U.S. motorists finally have succeeded in keeping their driving outlays in line with their incomes — for the first time since the early 1970s," Hertz said.

"But it adds up to a markedly reduced 'standard of driving' on American highways." The firm said pleasure travel has dropped 41 percent in the past 10 years from 2,717 miles in 1972 to 1,607 miles in 1982.

Breaking down the individual expenses for a typical compact car:

—Fuel costs for the average motorists dropped 9.8 percent or $72 in 1982. Drivers spent $660 on gasoline or 8.2 cents per mile compared to $732 or 9.1 cents per mile in 1981. Estimated per-car fuel consumption fell from 546 gallons in 1981 to 534 in 1982.

—Depreciation slowed due to the increase in the average age of cars on the road. An owner could count on $597 in depreciation in 1982 or 7.4 cents per mile. This compares to $604 in depreciation in 1981 or 7.5 cents per mile.

—Maintenance and repair costs jumped 18 percent in 1982. An owner spent an average $701 per auto or 8.7 cents per mile. In 1981, the cost was $593 per car or 7.3 cents per mile.

—Insurance, licenses and fees came to $532 per car or 6.6 cents per mile. This is up from $512 per car or 6.3 cents per mile in 1982.

—Interest went up only slightly. In part due to discount financing packages offered by various car makers. A driver spent $357 or 4.4 cents per mile on interest in 1982, compared to $349 or 4.3 cents per mile in 1981.

Florida May Begin Executing Criminals Again By This Fall

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Attorney General Jim Smith says the U.S. Supreme Court has undercut the Atlanta federal appeals court that has frustrated Florida's capital punishment efforts and the state should have executions again this fall.

A series of ruling by the Washington court last week probably hastened the time when executions will be frequent again all over the country.

One decision getting national attention said federal courts can give quick and cursory review to appeals from inmates whose executions may be only a matter of hours away and should issue stays for lengthy, more deliberate reviews only when special circumstances seem to warrant it.

That ruling, arising out of an appeal by a convicted murderer from Texas, no doubt will have an impact on Florida, with 202 persons on Death Row, the most of any state in the country.

But two other decisions on cases coming from Florida may have a more profound impact, undercutting the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta, which has been routinely staying executions ordered by Gov. Bob Graham and has overturned several convictions or death penalty sentences.

Graham and Smith both have railed against the Atlanta court, charging that some of the judges are personally opposed to the death penalty so they have been doing everything possible to keep executions from being carried out.

On Wednesday, the Washington court dismissed a claim by Elwood C. Barclay that the Florida Supreme Court and trial judges had been misapplying the "aggravating" circumstances outlined in the state's capital punishment law as justification for the death penalty.

Barclay was sentenced to death for his part in the killing of a hitchhiker in Jacksonville.

Citing this ruling, the Washington court reversed the 11th Appeals Court, which had upheld a district judge's order vacating the death sentence given convicted Orlando killer James Dupree Henry.

The two decisions resolve "in Florida's favor a longstanding collision of judicial opinion between the Florida Supreme Court and the 11th Circuit Court of Appeals," Smith said.

They vindicate "the decisions of Florida's highest court and demonstrate that the court protects the constitutional rights of the appealing defendants and is as competent as the 11th to dispose of federal constitutional claims."

"A very long and frustrating battle to uphold the judgments of state courts in capital cases appears to be coming to a conclusion," the attorney general said. "We anticipate that the 11th circuit will follow the mandate of the U.S. Supreme Court and — as I said some six months ago — we will begin to have executions this fall."

Several cases in which the Atlanta court reversed the death sentence on either the claim involving aggravating factors or other constitutional issues must now be reconsidered "and we hope to see the decisions of our state courts upheld."

College Women Drinking More

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some 90 percent of college students drink alcohol, and more women in college say they drink than men, a recent survey shows.

Dr. Gerardo Gonzalez, a University of Florida professor who surveyed 4,370 college students nationwide earlier this year, said his survey also showed that men are drinking slightly less than two years ago.

Gonzalez said the 1983 survey — like the others taken at a college fair in Daytona Beach, a popular spring break gathering place for students — shows men reporting consuming an average of 48.89 drinks a month. In the 1981 survey, the average was 52.62 drinks a month.

Gonzalez, president of a college group known as BACCHUS — Boost Alcohol Consciousness Concerning Health of University Students — said, "That's a significant decrease, especially when you consider that young men between 18 and 24 — the average college age — are more likely than anyone else to become alcoholics."

Gonzalez defines a drink as 12 ounces of beer, 5 ounces of wine or 1.5 ounces of liquor.

His surveys also indicate that while college women still drink less than their male classmates (only about 39.11 drinks per month in 1983) more women than men now claim to drink alcohol at all.

In a 1981 survey, Gonzalez found 90.9 percent of college men and 88.7 percent of college women claimed to be drinkers. Now, he said, 88.4 percent of college men and 90 percent of college women say they drink.

Gonzalez said he thinks the statistical change reflects "a significant change in society regarding women's roles."

"Women are taking on men's roles and social barriers and constraints are breaking down," he said. "Drinking among college women is now just as acceptable as it is among college men. It wasn't always that way."

How would you like to put YOURSELF in our shoes?

Being a funeral director isn't for everyone. The hours are unpredictable... you are continuously exposed to grief... you become the subject of a lot of bad jokes... and, when you have a sick friend, you can't visit him because people will say you're a "nutcase" and you can't stay away because his feelings will be hurt.

But we're not complaining. We know there are disadvantages to every job, and ours has an unusual redeeming feature: it provides the satisfaction of knowing we've helped others at a time when help is needed most.

Watergate Figure Negotiates On Reagan Files

By Gregory Gordon
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — With a former Watergate figure serving as its negotiator, a House subcommittee is seeking a compromise with the White House under which the panel could gain direct access to some of Ronald Reagan's 1980 campaign files.
 But subcommittee Chairman Donald Albosta, D-Mich., made clear Tuesday that if the president rejects the overture the panel will probably issue a subpoena so staff investigators can search all the Reagan files for documents leaked or stolen from the Carter campaign.

While further talks were expected today, the White House urged Albosta to accept an offer from President Reagan for the Justice Department to share with the subcommittee relevant campaign materials it receives from a California library storing them.
 Albosta insisted the scope of his Post Office and Civil Service subcommittee's investigation of alleged campaign shenanigans is "broader" than the Justice Department's inquiry into whether criminal violations occurred in the leaking or theft of Carter White House materials.
 He said the panel may need documents the Justice Department will not receive and believes "we should have access" directly to the materials stored at the Hoover Institution Library at Stanford University.

 "That's the only way we can properly carry out the responsibilities of this subcommittee," he said.
 Albosta asked James Hamilton, a Washington attorney whom he described as a "good friend" of White House Counsel Fred Fielding, to contact Fielding about arrangements "that would avoid us having to go to the subpoena powers that this committee has."
 Hamilton, a likely candidate to serve as special counsel for the subcommittee, was assistant to special counsel Samuel Dash during the Watergate investigation by the Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities.

 Albosta said it would be "in the best interests of all" if a compromise were quickly reached. The subcommittee is scheduled to meet again Thursday.
 Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes, referring to the matter as a "paper chase," said Hamilton phoned Fielding in midafternoon but declined to elaborate. He said the two probably would talk again.

National Guard Puts Itself To The Test

They train all year long, but once every 12 months it's testing time for our National Guard troops.
 This weekend at the Sanford National Guard Armory, 96 enlisted men took a battery of tests designed to measure their competence in the techniques that could save their lives.
 It was a full day's work, proving competence and learning new skills for the men of Company B, Second Battalion, 124th Infantry, Sanford-Leesburg.

Tests ranged from written questions — what are your rights and obligations as a prisoner of war under the Geneva convention? — to timed performance of tasks — two minutes to tear down an M16 rifle and two minutes to put it back together. They were drilled on recognition of enemy aircraft, tested on their ability to camouflage themselves and their equipment, their awareness of chemical and biological hazards, first aid and use of weapons.

Pictured, clockwise: E4 James Mathews practices locating topographical features on a map by grid coordinates. In combat, such information would be vital communication in calling for artillery support. In civilian life, Mathews is an employee of the Seminole County School Board. In the arms room, Sgt. Tom Dunn of the Sanford unit explains how to tear down an M16 rifle. Sanford's Sgt. John A. Reading explains to Cpl. David Gallant the use of an auto-injection device which provides an antidote to substances that affect nerves and blood.

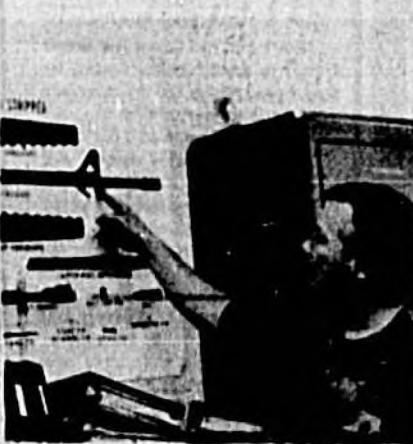

'We Don't Miss'

Within the four seconds allotted, Spec. 4 Tim Pickett positions the hood of his protective mask. According to Reading, in any nuclear, biological or chemical warfare, "the first thing you need to save your butt is the mask." Getting it on in short order is vital.

Spec. 4 John Mathews works on fixing the transmitter.
 Although it will be a couple of months before test results are known — the examination papers have been sent for computer scoring — unit administrator Staff Sergeant Keith Hinchley said from his observations the company will have earned an 80 to 90 percent success rate.

"That's pretty good these days," he said. —Diane Petryk

Raise The Titanic III

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Texas oilman who has launched expeditions in search of the Loch Ness monster and Bigfoot will finance the third search for the Titanic, which sank on its maiden voyage 71 years ago in the worst maritime disaster in history.

The latest venture in the North Atlantic by Columbia University scientists is scheduled to begin Saturday. It will be conducted from the Navy research vessel Robert D. Conrad, which will depart from Halifax, Nova Scotia, for the 10-day voyage.

Texas oilman and investor Jack Grimm, renowned for financing expeditions to locate the Loch Ness Monster and Bigfoot, is financing the third project.

Grimm and cinematographer Mike Harris, who has been filming a documentary of the search, are expected to join the explorers aboard the Conrad.

"This year's search has the advantage of using information gathered on expeditions made in 1980 and 1981."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Kidnapper's Death Call Being Treated As A Hoax

ROME (UPI) — Police said they were treating as a hoax an anonymous telephone call saying the body of the kidnapped 15-year-old daughter of a Vatican messenger could be found inside a car parked on a Rome street.

The call Tuesday came two days after Emanuela Orlandi's relatives pleaded publicly with her kidnappers to give clear proof that the girl is still alive.

Her purported kidnappers waited two weeks before announcing to the Italian news agency ANSA the price for her freedom would be the release of Turkish terrorist Mehmet Ali Agca, now serving a life sentence for his May 13, 1981, attempt to assassinate Pope John Paul II.

The anonymous caller Tuesday told a private Italian television station Emanuela's body could be found inside a car on a Rome street. But police said the street he named does not exist and they were treating the call as a hoax.

Emanuela was last seen June 22 waiting in central Rome for a bus to her home in the Vatican City. The kidnappers gave a July 20 deadline for meeting their demands, but have not said what they would do if Agca is not released.

Soviet Hijacking Foiled

MOSCOW (UPI) — The crew and passengers of a Soviet airliner prevented two sky pirates from taking the jet outside the Soviet Union, killing one and overpowering the other, the official news agency Tass said.

Tass said the hijacking attempt took place in early July aboard a scheduled flight from Moscow to Tallinn, the capital of Estonia on the Baltic coast.

"The crew and passengers acted resolutely and thwarted the piratical attempt," the agency said Tuesday. "One of the criminals was killed and the other arrested." Tass said none of the crew members or passengers was hurt.

Hijackings are not common in the Soviet Union because guns are hard to obtain and airport security is among the tightest in the world. Since 1970, there have been only 11 reported hijackings in the country, including the latest attempt.

Korean Spies Arrested

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Three South Koreans have been arrested for spying for North Korea, including a construction worker who passed secrets to agents in Libya and Indonesia, officials said today.

A spokesman for the Agency for National Security Planning said the three arrested in separate espionage cases.

No trial date has been set and it was not immediately known what kind of sentence the three could face if convicted.

Honduras 'War Psychosis' Sends Citizens Scrambling

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — A Foreign Ministry official says "psychosis" over a possible war with Nicaragua has greatly increased the number of Hondurans leaving the country in the past two months.

The ministry said it issued 2,665 passports in May and another 3,403 in June.

Sources said the rate of requests was running at 260 per day in July, which would translate to about 5,500 for the month.

Most of the Hondurans are heading to the United States, Mexico, and Canada, the ministry said.

"It appears there is a war psychosis," said Vanla Garcia, head of the ministry's passport office.

Mrs. Garcia said the fear of a war with neighboring leftist Nicaragua was the principal cause of the increased exodus from the country in the past two months.

Honduras, Washington's staunch ally in Central America, has permitted CIA-backed anti-Sandinista rebels to operate openly from bases inside its territory, from where they launch attacks on Nicaragua.

It also allowed the United States to open a new military training school staffed by 120 Green Berets to train Salvadoran soldiers to fight leftist rebels.

Two weeks ago, the Honduran army sent its first combat soldiers to the Nicaraguan border. Nicaragua reportedly countered by sending Soviet-made tanks and fresh troops.

The Honduran government Monday sent another in a long series of protests to the Nicaraguans charging "a series of provocations and attacks carried out over the last few days by the Popular Sandinista Army."

The protest charged the attacks took place near Cifuentes just inside Honduras, where two American journalists were killed in June when a mine believed to be set by Sandinista soldiers exploded.

Honduras has been spared most of the domestic violence that afflicts its Central American neighbors, but, threatened with the spillover, a mass exodus of its citizens has begun.

PLO, Soviets Meet To End Syrian Dispute

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Palestine Liberation Organization official met with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to seek help in resolving the PLO's dispute with Syria.

Western observers had speculated the visit to Moscow by Farouk Kaddoumi, the PLO's political department chief, might be preparing the way for a visit by Arafat.

But Arafat told the British Broadcasting Corp. Tuesday in Tunis that he did not intend to visit the Soviet capital — "at least not at this stage."

A Western diplomat said Arafat's decision indicated "he's probably learned he won't get what he wants here — the support of the Kremlin." The Soviets have not issued a statement supporting either the PLO or the Syrians in the rift.

In their meeting Tuesday, Kaddoumi and Gromyko discussed "political problems between the PLO and Syria," a PLO spokesman said.

The spokesman said Kaddoumi, who planned to stay in Moscow for three days, was not scheduled to meet Soviet leader Yuri Andropov.

Kaddoumi was also expected to brief Gromyko about Arafat's struggle to maintain leadership of the PLO, divided by a rebellion in Al Fatah, the largest PLO guerrilla group.

Putting On The Ritz ...In Jail

LONDON (UPI) — Any one who had any doubts about staying at the Ritz need procrastinate no more. It's cheaper, for instance, than being in police custody.

The bargain was revealed in Parliament by Britain's Home Office, or Interior Ministry.

London's metropolitan police, it said, charges the Home Office $146 a night for each of the prisoners held in police cells.

The Ritz, one of London's posh hotels, costs only $119 a night.

The Home Office said that at 300 prisoners a night it is being made poorer by $1.5 million a month.

No High Court Help For Key Reagan Issues

By Elisabeth Olson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reagan administration stands on key social issues such as abortion took a drubbing at the Supreme Court this term, although the White House won victories on such controversies as tuition tax credits.

President Reagan's campaign on a "New Right" platform of changing the status quo on abortion, busing and school prayer suffered its most serious setback in abortion rights. The court ducked confrontations over school busing and praying in classrooms despite administration efforts to revive the issues.

During its 1982-83 term, the justices administered sound thrashings to administration deregulation efforts — a prime campaign topic — rejecting mandatory seatbelts, and to its support of tax exemptions for schools that discriminate by race.

But in a later ruling, the justices evened the score on discrimination by siding with administration support for banning sex-based statistics used to deny women equal retirement benefits.

The term that ended Wednesday was one of the busiest and most controversial of recent years.

The justices churned out 151 signed opinions to top records in recent years. Many of those opinions, frequently decided by 5-4 votes, were sprinkled with signs of deep divisions among the court's nine justices.

In one of its most significant rulings, the court strengthened the executive branch by striking down Congress' use of the legislative veto to check presidential actions to manage the government. The justices made it clear Congress is to stick to the Constitution's prescription for lawmaking — passage of legislation by both Houses and signing by the president.

In the abortion arena, the court, in a 6-3 decision, quashed state efforts to curb the availability of the medical procedure and renewed its commitment to a landmark 1973 ruling that a woman has a legal right to an abortion.

In the same opinion, the justices frostily rejected administration arguments that the court should radically change its traditions by staying out of politically sensitive issues and leave them instead to state legislatures to decide.

Early in the term, the court spurned the administration's effort to discredit the use of busing to desegregate schools by refusing to become embroiled in Nashville, Tenn., busing controversy. Justice Department officials had hoped Nashville would be the first step in dismantling busing orders in major U.S. cities, but the high court refused to reopen the matter.

The White House's most sweeping social victory of the term came in late June when the court upheld special tax breaks for parents of parochial school students.

Ruling 5-4 that such laws did not improperly aid religion, the justices stressed that the Minnesota statute at issue gave tax relief for educational expenses of families with children attending public, as well as private, schools.

While the ruling was a boost for Reagan's tuition tax credit proposal — which covers only private school students — it may not help win its passage through Congress because legislation embracing public as well as private school expenses is very costly.

The administration suffered twin embarrassments during the term with the court's rulings on seatbelts and tax exemptions for private schools.

In June, the justices publicly chastized the Reagan administration by ruling 9-0 that it had illegally killed a rule requiring air bags or automatic seat belts on new cars.

In a rare instance of invalidating a federal agency's action as "arbitrary and capricious," the court declared the Transportation Department had failed to cite good enough reasons when it rescinded the regulation.

Withdrawal of the rule in October 1981 was key to the administration's effort to fulfill campaign pledges to get rid of "regulations that work against rather than for the interests of the people."

A month earlier, the justices stripped away tax exemptions for private schools, like fundamentalist Bob Jones University, that discriminate racially because they violate national policy against such bias.

Writing the court's 8-1 opinion, Chief Justice Warren Burger repudiated the administration's position that the Internal Revenue Service did not have authority to remove the lucrative tax breaks. After the administration's public flip-flops on the issue, the court stepped in and named a lawyer to defend the IRS' position, which had been abandoned by the Justice Department.

The administration fared better on a pensions ruling issued July 6, the last day of the term, when the court held that employers may not give women lower retirement benefits because they live longer statistically.

While it was not directly involved in the Arizona case, the Justice Department in a companion case argued that sex-based longevity tables are discriminatory. The court's opinion Wednesday did not bar insurance companies from using such tables, but congressional sponsors of unisex legislation said that would be the effect.

10 Wild Pitches Lead Holly Hill By Sanford

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

PORT ORANGE — WP times 10 equals 6 runs. That's not an algebraic equation. Decoded, it means 10 Sanford wild pitches added up to six runs and a 10-6 victory for Holly Hill Tuesday in the District 4 Junior Major League Tournament.

Holly Hill is now in the driver's seat, as it needs to win only one more game to gain a berth into the state tournament in Jacksonville. Sanford, meanwhile, while demoted from front to back seat Tuesday, losing a 5-0 lead to Holly Hill. Sanford will try to regroup tonight at 6 in the loser's bracket final against either Port Orange or Ormond Beach. The winner of tonight's game would have to beat Holly Hill twice to win the district.

A six-run sixth inning, in which Sanford pitching threw seven wild pitches, lifted Holly Hill to the victory after Sanford went into the inning with a 6-4 lead. Sanford catcher, Eddie Korgan, was run ragged trying to chase down the wild pitches. Even with two gloves it would have been hard for Korgan to knock down some of the pitches.

"Too many mistakes," that's how Sanford manager Al Whitted summed up the loss. "The pitching didn't come through and that's all that I can say." Whitted will go with his ace, Terry Miller, tonight in hopes of gaining a rematch with Holly Hill.

Sanford took advantage of a Holly Hill mistake to take a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning. With two outs, Korgan reached on an infield single off Holly Hill's huge right-handed flame-thrower, Brian Morris, and Miller dropped down a bunt single to put runners on first and second. Arthur Hersey then drew a walk to load the bases and Alonzo Gaine drew a walk to force in a run. The next hitter, Leonard Lucas, then looked at a strike, and Holly Hill's catcher, John Knouf (pronounced "nuff") threw the ball over Morris' head and into center field as both Miller and Hersey scored while Gaine was cut down at third end the inning.

Sanford took a 5-0 lead with a pair of runs in the top of the second. With one out, Craig Dixon drew a walk and stole second. One out later, David Rape was issued a free pass and Mike Edwards followed by ripping a two-run triple to left, the hardest ball hit all night by Sanford.

Holly Hill responded by rallying for four runs in the bottom of the second to cut Sanford's lead to one, 5-4. With one out, Knouf drew a walk and Victor Wallace lashed a triple past a diving David Goldstick. Kevin Sweeney then hit a grounder to third which Miller fielded and had Wallace dead to rights at the plate. However, Korgan didn't handle the throw and Wallace slid in safely with the second Holly Hill run. Mike Ader followed by drilling a run-scoring triple to left center to drive in Sweeney. With two outs in the inning, Morris was hit by a pitch and Sanford starter, Dixon, was taken out as Hersey came on for Sanford. Morris' courtesy runner, Calvin Atkins, went to second, third, and then home on wild pitches.

After a pair of scoreless frames, Sanford increased its lead to two, 6-4, with a run in the top of the fifth. With one out, Korgan reached on an error, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on a two-out single by Hersey. Morris set down Sanford in order in the top of the sixth, then the roof caved in on Sanford in the bottom of the frame. With one out, Sweeney singled up the middle and went to second and third on wild pitches. Ader then drew a walk and, with two outs in the inning, Mark Burrl was hit by a pitch to load the bases.

Two consecutive wild pitches allowed Sweeney, Ader and courtesy runner Darris Kitt to cross the plate as Holly Hill took a 7-6 lead. Ader and Kitt scored on the same wild pitch. Later in the inning, Lamar "Tater" Hutchinson scored on another wild pitch. Mike Bofamy came across on an RBI single by Atkins and Atkins scored on a Sanford error as Holly Hill took a 10-6 lead.

Morris retired Sanford in order in the top of the seventh to clinch the win for Holly Hill. Morris struck out 12 and walked four.

In Little Major League action tonight at 6, the Sanford Nationals open play in the District 4 Tournament in Leesburg against Ormond Beach. The Nationals, unbeaten in tournament play will go with its ace, Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud, on the mound.

Radcliff, Nationals Win Again — Americans Slug St. Johns, 24-1

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

The Altamonte Major National League All-Stars are in a rut — and manager Wayne Weger wouldn't mind seeing it continue all the way to Williamsport, Pa., the site of the Little League World Series.

For the second night in a row, an Altamonte pitcher served up a home-run pitch to put the opposition ahead, only to come back an inning later to smack a base hit to reassume the lead and give his team a victory.

Tuesday's hero was Chris Radcliff. The hard-throwing left-hander watched Claude Manderson deposit one of his servings over the left-field fence to give West Oak Ridge a temporary 5-4 lead in the bottom of the third inning.

In the top of the fourth, however, Radcliff ripped a double to left field to chase home two runs for a 6-5 lead as the Altamonte Nationals went on to post an 11-7 victory over West Oak Ridge in the District 14, Division 2 Baseball Tournament at Altamonte Springs Tuesday night.

"If we can't get the job done one way, we'll do it another," said manager Weger whose son, Wes, duplicated Radcliff's comeback effort in a win over Rolling Hills Monday. "I was real proud of Chris. For an 11-year-old, he kept his composure and did a real good job."

Radcliff's job consisted off 12 strikeouts in 4 1/2 innings before tiring in the fifth. Reliever Shane Lunsford came on in the fifth to strike out what represented the tying run after an error drew WOR within, 9-7. In the sixth, Lunsford whiffed two of the four hitters he faced to nail down the save.

Altamonte's victory kept it undefeated and sets up Thursday's battle against Occoee, a 10-0 winner over Pine Hills Tuesday. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Altamonte Eastmonte.

The Nationals appeared to be on their way to an easy victory, picking up one run in the second on a walk to Jerrey Thurston, a double by shortstop Jamie McNamee and first sacker Tom Dearth's RBI fielder's choice which Thurston beat by an eyelaash at home.

They lacked on three more in the third. Todd Luke singled, but was forced by Weger at second. Radcliff followed with the second of his three hits. Chris Knutson followed with a base hit to score Weger and both runners moved up on the throw home.

Thurston was next up, and the versatile 11-year-old catcher dropped a perfect squeeze bunt down the first base line. WOR catcher Emilio Garrido jumped on the ball and tossed Thurston out at first, but in the process Radcliff coasted home from third and Knutson alertly sailed home all the way from second for a 4-0 lead.

That lead evaporated quickly in the bottom of the third. Darin Bernhard rapped the first hit for WOR, but two strikeouts sandwiched around a walk appeared to have Radcliff out of danger. Garrido rapped a hard single up the middle to load the bases and a pitch later a "delayed" balk call scored Bernhard from third.

Slightly unnerved, Radcliff ran the count to 3-1 on cleanup hitter George Pearson, who Weger then ordered intentionally walked. Manderson then came up and sent a Radcliff fastball over the left-field fence for his grand slam and a 5-4 lead.

But not for too long. Altamonte added three runs in the fourth, two more in the fifth and two in the sixth to give it some breathing room. Jeff Conklin singled to open the fourth and Dearth socked a double off the base of the wall in center to move him to third. Luke's groundball scored one run, and after Weger was caught looking at strike three, Radcliff hammered his double over the left-fielder's head to plate the tying and go-ahead runs.

In the fifth, Thurston walked and McNamee reached on an error. Jeff Conklin followed with a base hit to right for one run and McNamee knocked the ball loose from the catcher for a 9-7 lead.

In the sixth, Radcliff singled, but was forced by Knutson. Thurston then beat out a dribbler to third and McNamee followed with an RBI single. He later scored on a wild pitch.

Elsewhere in Division II Major League tournament play, the Altamonte Americans erupted for 13 runs in the fourth inning and added another 11 in the sixth en route to a 24-1 trouncing of St. John's at St. John's.

Alex Birle fired a three-hitter and picked up three hits to lead Altamonte. Chad Cochran and Tony Ganci added three hits each to the 19-hit Altamonte Americans offensive output. Cochran drilled a pair of doubles while Ganci and Birle each added one double.

Altamonte American will be back in action Thursday night at 7:30 against the winner of the West Volusia Americans-Eustis game. The game will be played at the West Volusia complex in DeLand. Altamonte will go with either Ken Brubaker or John Esterby on the mound. Meanwhile, Oviedo will go up against the Mount Dora-Southwest Volusia loser at 7:30 in Mount Dora in a loser's bracket game.

Tuesday night's game was rather quiet as neither team scored for the first three innings. Then, Altamonte exploded for 13 runs in the top of the fourth to break the game wide open. Altamonte laced on 11 more runs in the sixth to put the game totally out of reach. Birle had his shutout erased in the bottom of the sixth when St. John's scored one run.

Chris Radcliff, Altamonte left-hander, eyes another strikeout.

Neil Harris, Altamonte hurler, rears back and fires.

Harris Flashes Old Form, Seniors Smash St. Johns

Up until Tuesday, the Neil Harris baseball scrapbook for 1983 wasn't going to be mailed to the Senior League Hall of Fame. The Lake Mary High School sophomore had been more familiar with sore arms than strikeouts.

"Neil was playing basketball and he came out late for (baseball at) Lake Mary. I don't think he ever did get his arm in shape," said Senior All-Star manager Clayton Garrison. "Then during the (Senior League) regular season, he didn't win a lot of games."

Despite the lackluster showing, Garrison and his assistant, Ed Dunn, knew Harris could pitch. He had proven himself a year ago when he helped the Altamonte 13-year-olds to a second-place state finish.

And, Tuesday afternoon at Altamonte's Westmonte Field, Harris confirmed their faith by allowing just a first-inning single in five innings of work and combining with Tim Smith for a two-hit shutout as the Seniors buried St. Johns, 18-0, in the first round of District 14, Division 2 Baseball Tournament action.

The victory pits the Seniors against either Maitland or Southwest Volusia tonight at 7:30 at Mount Dora. Garrison said if Mike Pinckes' arm "is all right, we'll probably go with him on the mound."

Along with Harris and Smith's combined shutout, Mark Coffey had an outstanding day coming off the bench. Coffey singled home a run in the fourth, slammed a two-run homer in the fifth and delivered an RBI double in the sixth for four runs batted in.

Altamonte put the game away early with a single run in the first, three more in the second and five each in the fourth and fifth innings. The Seniors lacked on three more in the sixth against their overmatched foe.

District Baseball

T.J. Scaletta walked and stole second to open the game and then came around on John Bane's single. In the second, Scaletta drove in a run with a groundball. Bane dropped a nice squeeze bunt for another and Ryan Lisle chased home the third with a healthy fly ball to center field.

Bane doubled to lead off the fourth inning fireworks. Lisle reached on an error and Kevin Bane was walked intentionally to load the bases. Pinckes walked to force in one run and Coffey singled for another. Kenny Chapdelaine then ripped a double for two more and a 9-0 lead.

In the fifth, Bruce Carlson walked to start the inning, stole second and was singled home by Bane. One hitter later, Coffey creamed his homer to deep left center for a 12-0 bulge. Andy Dunn reached on an error and four consecutive walks gave Altamonte a 15-0 lead.

In the sixth, Coffey doubled home Bane before Chris Waxler followed with a two-run double to score Pinckes and Coffey for the final 18-0 margin. All three extra-point kicks were wide.

Harris struck out four and retired 15 of 16 hitters at one point.

Hubbard's Error Opens Door For Phils' Sweep, Jump Into 1st

United Press International

If errors could be equated to earthquakes, Glenn Hubbard's miscue in the ninth inning Tuesday night in Philadelphia would have registered a 10 on the Richter scale.

When Hubbard, the Atlanta Braves' second baseman, fired a relay throw wildly past first with the bases loaded and two out, the surface damage was that two runs scored and the Phillies posted a 7-6 victory.

The aftershocks then followed. The win completed a sweep of the Braves in a two-night double-header, as Philadelphia had won the first game 4-1. Since Montreal lost, it meant the Phillies took over first place in the Eastern Division for the first time since May 23. And when the Dodgers won later on, it sliced the Braves' lead in the West to a half-game.

With one out in the ninth, Mike Schmidt walked, Von Hayes singled to center, and Ozzie Virgil laced an RBI single to right to bring Philadelphia within 6-5. Loser Steve Bedrosian intentionally walked Greg Gross to load the bases.

Larry Milbourne then hit a grounder to shortstop Rafael Ramirez, who threw to Hubbard for the force, but Hubbard's relay went wide and the two runs crossed the plate.

"It looked as if it was going to be a tough play," said Virgil, who scored the winning run. "I rounded the bag hard and when I saw (first baseman Chris) Chambliss lunge for the ball, I kept going. I'm glad he threw it away."

Astros 7, Expos 5

At Houston, the Astros erupted for four runs in the fifth inning and reliever Dave Smith pitched four innings of shutout relief. Phil Garner, Jose Cruz, Ray Knight and rookie catcher George Bjorkman stroked run-scoring singles as the Astros rallied from a 5-3 deficit in the fifth. Tim Lincecum singled and stole his 37th base before leaving for a pinch hitter. No explanation was given.

A.L./N.L. Baseball

Dodgers 3, Cardinals 1

At Los Angeles, Dusty Baker smashed a two-run homer in the sixth inning, his third home run in two days, to break a 1-1 tie and send the Dodgers to victory. The hot-hitting Baker also drove in the Dodgers first run in the fourth with a single.

Reds 6, Mets 2

At New York, Frank Pastore pitched a six-hitter over eight innings and Dan Driessen knocked in four runs to carry Cincinnati. Pastore, 3-8, struck out six, walked two and gave up a run on an eighth-inning pinch homer by Danny Heep. Driessen singled home the Reds' first run in the fourth and slammed a three-run homer in the sixth.

Padres 5, Cubs 3

At San Diego, Sixto Lezcano, who singled for the 1,000th hit of his career in the second inning, lined a two-run homer just inside the left field foul pole in the sixth as the Padres scored five times. Eric Show, 3-5, went the distance in earning the victory.

Pirates 6, Giants 2

At San Francisco, Jason Thompson had three RBI and Tony Pena drove in two, while Lee Tunnell and Ceciliano Guante combined on a seven-hitter, leading Pittsburgh. Thompson got two of his RBI with a sixth-inning double and Pena singled him home to cap a three-run rally that snapped a 1-1 tie.

White Sox 8, Indians 0

Chicago left-hander Floyd Bannister, who says he is finally feeling comfortable again, is starting to lull opposing hitters to sleep.

Bannister, who came from Seattle as a highly-paid free agent in the off-season, pitched his first shutout in a year Tuesday night to pace the White Sox to an 8-0 rout of the Cleveland Indians.

"If there are any problems, they have been overcome," said Bannister, who raised his record to 4-9 and lowered his ERA to 4.37. "And I feel now, to use an old cliché, I am in the groove, because I feel comfortable on the mound. When I came to Chicago from Seattle, I knew we would be a contender. And while a lot of critics have put a burden on me, I have been able to work out at least in my own mind, a comfortable feeling that I always do my best."

Bannister, whose teammates have scored only 14 runs in his nine losses, walked three and struck out eight in picking up his 11th career shutout. He limited Cleveland to just five hits.

"I don't think I was doing anything different tonight than I've done all season. But I was getting my breaking ball over," he said.

Mariners 3, Red Sox 2

At Boston, John Moses had an RBI single and Spike Owen drove in a run in the fifth inning to rally the Mariners. Bryan Clark, who started the fourth game in six decisions and reliever Bill Caudill hurled the final 1 2-3 innings to pick up his 16th save.

Orioles 3, A's 1

At Baltimore, rookie Allen Ramirez and Tim Stoddard combined on a six-hitter and Eddie Murray cracked a two-run homer to lift the Orioles to their third straight triumph. Ramirez, 2-0, outdueled rookie left-hander Gorman Helmueller, who scattered four hits in his major league debut until Murray's 15th homer in the eighth inning.

Yankees 4, Twins 3

At Minneapolis, Jerry Mumphrey drilled a two-run single with two out in the eighth inning to cap a three-run outburst and rally the Yankees. George Frazier, 3-1, relieved Matt Keough — who had a no-hitter through six innings — in the seventh and got the victory.

Glenn Hubbard

Floyd Bannister

Brewers 9, Rangers 2

At Arlington, Texas, rookie Chuck Porter hurled a seven-hitter to record his first major-league victory and Cecil Cooper drove in three runs with a double and a single to highlight an 18-hit attack and lead Milwaukee.

Blue Jays 9, Royals 6

At Kansas City, Mo., pinch hitter Willie Upshaw hit a ground ball through a drawn-in infield, allowing two runs to score and sparking Toronto. The Royals had tied it 6-6 with four runs in the seventh, three coming on a George Brett homer.

Tigers 8, Angels 4

At Detroit, Wayne Krenchicki slammed a two-out double against the wall in right-center field to score Chet Lemon in the bottom of the 14th inning and propel the Tigers. Reliever Howard Bailey, 4-2, gained the victory.

Mustang All-Stars Open District Play Thursday

Manager Ed Suggs is pretty confident his Seminole Hardees All-Stars, the Mustang National League A team, will do well in Thursday's District 14 Tournament at the Seminole Pony Baseball complex near Winter Springs. After all, all 15 of the players on the team hit over .400 during the season.

"The 15th player on this team is just as good as the first player," Suggs said. "The pitching is strong and we are solid at every position. No boy on the team is hitting under .400 so every player will get a chance to play."

Rick Eckstein (Lake Mary) will get the call on the mound Thursday as Suggs' team goes up against the American League A team at 6:30 p.m. The loser of Thursday's game will go up against the National League B team on Friday. The winner of the district tournament goes to the Mustang State Tournament in Tampa.

Eckstein will be joined in the starting lineup by Charlie Suggs (Lake Mary) at first base; Kevin Twigg (Winter Springs) at second; Travis Lloyd (Forest City) at shortstop; Lane Barrow (Lake Mary) at third base; Robbie Koehn (Forest City) will be the catcher; Casey

Kelly (Longwood) will be in left field with Jamie Mooney (Forest City) in center and Kevin Furno (Lake Mary) in right.

The remaining players, all of whom hit .400 or better for the season, include Jon Eltonhead (Lake Mary); Jeff Livernois, Bryan Cole and Chuck Lamb of Longwood; Daryl Turnage and Pat Newell of Casselberry and Todd Carpenter (Winter Springs) is the alternate.

Joining Eckstein on the pitching staff are righthanders Eltonhead, Barrow, Lamb, Twigg, Turnage, Lloyd and Mooney and southpaw Newell. Mooney is considered the ace of the staff by Suggs and he will get the start in the National League A team's next game.

"Mooney is the best pitcher in the league," Suggs said. "He has super control."

Backing up Koehn at catcher will be Livernois and Furno while Newell and Cole added depth at first base. Eckstein can also do the job at shortstop and added depth comes from Kelly and Turnage while Eltonhead and Lamb are the back ups at third base.

Suggs' opponent Thursday will be the Mustang American League A team, managed by Steve Page. Page will go with Jonathan Gluhan (Longwood III) on the mound. Joining Gluhan on the pitching staff are, Paul Lindenfeld (Longwood III), Mike Wilczynski (Forest City IV) and Steve McCormick (Casselberry).

In the infield, Lindenfeld will get the start at first base with Mark Miller (Longwood) at second, Doug Hogan (Forest City III) or McCormick at shortstop and Chip Jones (Winter Springs) at third base. Tony Atchley (Longwood III) will be behind the plate.

Five players are considered by Page for the starting outfield slots. They are: Doug Porter (Winter Springs), John Greissing (Lake Mary), Shane Claudell (Lake Mary), Mike Mawson (Forest City III) and Brian Albers (Lake Mary).

Awaiting the outcome of Thursday's game is Gene Oliver, manager of the National League B team. Oliver took his team to the state tournament a year ago and has another strong team this year. Oliver is assisted by Nap Reyes and Tom Keiger.

Jeff Knox (Longwood II) will start the first game for the National League B team while other pitchers on the staff include Jim Keiger (Longwood II), T.J. Hamilton (Forest City II), Steve Friesner (Casselberry) and R.J. Rogers (Longwood II).

The starting infield for Friday's game will have Friesner at first base, Keiger at second, B.J. Calapa (Winter Springs I) at shortstop and Hamilton at third base. Jason Oliver (Longwood I) will be behind the plate with depth coming from Justin Kingston (Longwood I), Steve Reyes (Longwood I) and Noah Humphrey (Casselberry I) will take up two of the outfield slots while the third is up for grabs between Jason Froemming (Forest City I), Chris Huff (Winter Springs), Kevin Steinke (Forest City I), Kingston and Rogers.

SAI Electronics Finishes At 27-1

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Longwood SAI Electronics had one of the most successful seasons in a while in the Pony Division (National League) of Seminole Pony Baseball.

Longwood finished with a 27-1 record and won the top team series by defeating Winter Springs in a doubleheader, 11-1 and 15-2.

Longwood SAI Electronics was managed by John Mellillo and his assistants, Dane Beauchamp and Don Stevens.

All-Star selections from Longwood included Lorin Merrill, Billy Lewis, John Burton, Dale Stevens, Joel Schwalbe and Curt Beauchamp.

Merrill hit at a .452 clip for the season with 11 doubles and 26 RBI. Burton finished with a .404 average with a team-leading four triples and 26 RBI.

Burton also had a 9-1 pitching record with 114 strikeouts in 67 innings pitched and an impressive 1.18 earned run average. Both Merrill and Burton will be attending Bishop Moore High School this fall.

Schwalbe was also a top pitcher for Longwood as he wound up with a spotless 6-0 record with 72 strikeouts in 57 innings and a 2.04 ERA.

Schwalbe hit at .313 for the season with 13 RBI. Beauchamp had a good season with a .322 average, six doubles and 22 RBI.

Beauchamp and Schwalbe will be attending Lake Mary High this fall. Another top-notch pitcher for Longwood was Lewis who finished with a 6-0 record and a 1.79 ERA. Lewis also led the team in hitting, with a .467 average, and doubles with 12 while knocking in 27 runs. Lewis will be attending Lyman High this fall.

Stevens also had a productive season as he hit .312 and led the team with 28 RBI.

Stevens also had a 6-0 pitching record with a 2.01 ERA. Stevens will be in the eighth grade this fall.

The remaining players for Longwood SAI Electronics included Michael Powers (.372 average, 20 RBI), Flip Page (.419), Gary Stapleton (.289), Ernie Broenlee (.357), Chris Cornelius (.414), Eric Swannie (.231) and Stephen Gadoury (.412). Longwood had a team batting average of .378 and scored a total of 241 runs, an average of 8.6 per game, while allowing just 64 runs, an average of 2.3 per game.

"These boys were supported the entire season by an excellent group of parents who never missed a game," Mellillo said.

Cook Of The Week Fresh Fish Gourmand's Specialty

By Lou Childers
Herald Correspondent

Kimberly Irene Kuklo is a recent graduate of Seminole Community College's GED program, and she is an ace when it comes to culinary talents. Kim, as she is known to her family and friends, is really into gourmet cooking and fish is her specialty.

Kim has developed her own recipe for fresh catfish, and she stresses the most important ingredient is f-r-e-s-h. Kim usually catches her own catfish on the St. John's River, cleans them herself and rushes home to mix up her own "secret breeding of 8 herbs and spices" (recipe to follow).

Kim says she is an ardent fan of Central Florida's television cook, Chef Tell of P.M. Magazine fame. It was Chef Tell who gave Kim her "method" of handling fish during the breeding process. She uses "one dry hand, one wet hand", and goes on to explain that during the clipping process from the egg wash to the batter, your hands don't get "gooped up".

Two of Kim's favorite recipes for fish and seafood come from the test kitchens of the Cordon Bleu Cookery School in London. One, Curried Scallops, is wonderful, she says, served with a simple Rice Pilaf. The other, Fish Steak Bretonne, has a light, creamy sauce that is prepared to be spooned over the fish and julienne vegetables that are both cooked in apple cider.

If you've been looking for the perfect dessert to serve after a dinner from the sea, Kim says her Raspberry Parfait may be just the number.

Kim says she started cooking when she was 8 years old, the year her parents, Fred and Lois Kuklo adopted her. "I've always liked cooking and using different spices," says Kim.

Kim is an appointment clerk with WSA Awards in Altamonte Springs, and says, "Since taking this job about four months ago, my cooking time has been cut down to one or two days a week." "But," she adds, "when I do find time to get out in the kitchen, it is still fish for me."

KIM'S FRESH CATFISH

You will need the following utensils:

- 2 8-inch plates
- 1 table fork
- 1 large cooking fork
- 1 spatula
- 1 8-ounce measuring cup
- 1 11-inch by 2-inch cast iron skillet

Batter:

- 2 large eggs, well beaten
- 1/2 cup enriched yellow corn meal
- 1/4 cup enriched white flour
- 1/4 cup paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon tarragon
- 1/4 teaspoon oregano
- 1 teaspoon celery salt

In one of the plates, pour the beaten eggs, and in the other mix the corn meal, flour and all of the spices. First, place prepared fish in the flour and corn meal mixture, turning carefully to avoid breaking fish. Using your other hand, dip the fish in the egg wash, coating both sides. Repeat twice.

Heat 1/2 cup of shortening to 400 degrees in cast iron skillet. Place breaded fish in the grease frying until golden brown. Turn and fry other side. Add more grease as needed. Place on serving platter and eat while hot.

RICE PILAF

- 1 cup long grain rice
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 onion, chopped
- salt and pepper to taste
- pinch of saffron, soaked in 2 tablespoons hot water for 30 min.

- 2-2 1/2 cups stock
- 6 tablespoons grated dry cheese

In a shallow saucepan, heat 3 tablespoons of the butter, and cook the onion until soft. Add the rice and continue cooking gently for 2-3 minutes or until the butter is absorbed and the rice grains are transparent. Season well, pour on the saffron liquid and about seventy-five percent of the stock. Bring to a boil, cover pan and cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 15 minutes. Add a little more stock if necessary, and cook 5-7 minutes longer. All of the stock should be absorbed and the rice tender. Dot the surface of the rice with the remaining butter; sprinkle with cheese. Cover and leave in a warm place. Just before serving, stir the rice lightly with a fork; turn into a serving dish. The pilaf should be dry and fluffy.

Kimberly Irene Kuklo has a secret — a secret breeding recipe that she shares for fresh fried catfish.

CURRIED SCALLOPS

- 2 cups scallops (1 pint)
 - 1/2 cup water
 - generous squeeze of lemon juice
 - 6 peppercorns
 - 1/2 bay leaf
- In a saucepan put scallops, water, lemon juice, peppercorns and bay leaf; bring to boil. Over low heat, poach scallops 6-7 minutes and let them cool in the liquid.

Sauce:

- 5 tablespoons boiling water
 - 1 tablespoon ground almonds
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 small onion, finely chopped
 - 1 teaspoon curry powder
 - 1 tablespoon flour
 - 1 teaspoon tomato paste
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - juice of 1/2 lemon
 - 2 tablespoons heavy cream
- Put boiling water, ground almonds and let stand 10-15 minutes. Strain almond milk through several thicknesses of cheesecloth into a bowl. Literally squeezing the ground almonds to release all the liquid. Melt butter in a saucepan, add onion and cook until soft but not colored. Stir in curry powder and flour until smooth and cook over low heat for about 2 minutes. Add tomato paste and milk. Continue cooking until sauce comes to a boil, then simmer 5 minutes. Add almond "milk", lemon juice and heavy cream. Drain scallops, cut them into quarters, and add to sauce. Serve with rice pilaf.

FISH STEAK BRETONNE

- 4 large cod steaks, 1-inch thick
 - squeeze of lemon juice
 - salt and pepper to taste
 - 1/4 cup water
 - 3/4 cup apple cider
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 medium carrot, cut in julienne strips
 - 1 medium onion, cut in julienne strips
 - 2 stalks celery, cut in julienne strips
 - 1 tablespoon flour
 - 3 tablespoons light cream
 - 2 teaspoons chopped parsley
- Wash fish and dry with paper towels. Sprinkle lightly with lemon juice and salt. Let stand 45 minutes in the refrigerator, drain off any liquid and dry fish again. Place steaks in buttered ovenproof dish, pour over the water and half the cider, cover with buttered paper and poach in a 350 degree oven 10-15 minutes, until fish is flaky.

In a saucepan, melt 1/2 tablespoon butter, add carrot, onion and celery, 1 tablespoon of remaining cider and salt and pepper. Cover tightly, cook 2-3 minutes on top of stove, then put in 350 oven and continue cooking 15 minutes.

Drain fish, reserving the liquid, and carefully remove center bone and outer skin, leaving the steak unbroken. Arrange on a hot platter and spoon the vegetables on top. Keep warm.

Strain reserved liquid into a saucepan, add remaining cider and boil 2-3 minutes to reduce. Make kneaded butter using flour and remaining butter and add to liquid in 2 or 3 pieces, off the heat. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, and simmer 3 minutes. Add cream and parsley. Spoon sauce over fish and vegetables and serve immediately.

When they speak of an advertising medium, do they refer to the mindreader who rents space in a business directory?

A personality conflict is just a plain, old row in its early stages.

They've developed a record-like gizmo that plays scents. It's arguable that many recordings have smelled for a long time.

Best insurance for a successful cookout is to have a nearsighted chef on duty when the sun-fun crowd begins to gather round.

The Claud Waits Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Waits, 311 Belle Ave., Sanford, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a party for about 150 friends and relatives on July 3 at Lake Golden Park.

Hosting the event from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. were the couple's daughters and their husbands, Charlotte and David Hickson, Hollywood, and Claudette and Gerald Behrens of Lake Mary.

The couple renewed their marriage vows at 1 p.m. The Rev. William Miller performed the ceremony, followed by a barbecue dinner. After dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Waits cut their anniversary cake and traditionally toasted each other. Les Varnes' Band provided lively country music for dancing.

Mrs. Dorothy Rudisill and Mrs. Miltz Clark, the couple's granddaughters, greeted the guests at the gate and registered them in the guest book.

Adding humor to the day's activities was a visit from the Balloon Wizard.

One of the pleasant surprises adding to the memorable occasion was a letter of congratulations from the President and First Lady.

Claud and Dorothy Thomas, native Floridians, were married in Kissimmee on July 3, 1933. Claud was born in Oakland, west of Winter Garden, and Dorothy was born in Center Hill.

The Waits have lived in Central Florida during their 50 years of marriage. They moved from Orlando to Sanford in 1946 where Mr. Waits owned and operated Waits Fish Co. until his retirement in 1972.

Recipe Contest: Week 2 Underway

The first week of the Recipe Contest for the Evening Herald's Third Annual Heritage Cookbook ended Saturday.

Readers submitted recipes for appetizers, salads and vegetables to be judged by a panel of experts. The winner will be eligible to compete for the grand prize at the cook-off scheduled Saturday, Aug. 6, at the Seminole County Agricultural Center on U.S. Highway 17-92 south of Sanford.

The recipes will be published in a cookbook with the regular edition of The Herald on Sunday, Aug. 21.

The three remaining categories and deadlines are as follows: Week 2, July 10-16, Poultry and Seafood; Week 3, July 17-23, Meat and Casseroles; and Week 4, July 24-30, Breads-Rolls and Desserts.

Submit not more than two recipes in each category. Give name, address and day phone number and complete instructions for preparation. Mail recipes to Cookbook, C/O Evening Herald, P.O. Box 1657, Sanford, 32771.

Show Off Cookout Creativity

Show off a little cookout creativity with a company menu that's deliciously unexpected. Your guests will be delighted with barbecued turkey and all the trimmings in summertime recipes that won't tie you to the kitchen.

Barbecue your turkey in a covered charcoal grill and eliminate the need for a rotisserie. A covered grill also reduces outdoor cooking time. Because heat is reflected off the lid and onto the food. Select a deep basted turkey so you won't need to hand baste during cooking. A broad breasted turkey between 4 and 14 pounds fits easily under the grill lid.

Toward the end of cooking, brush Teriyaki Glaze over the turkey for a rich color. Maple flavored table syrup adds a special flavor twist for a slightly sweet and savory taste of the Orient. There will be enough Teriyaki Glaze left over to serve alongside the moist turkey slices.

While the turkey cooks, relax and enjoy a Crunchy Cheese Ball with your guests. The make-ahead appetizer blends cream and Cheddar cheeses with chives and pimiento. But, instead of nuts, you roll it in a crunchy topping of toasted oats, sesame and wheat germ.

Accompanying the turkey is a tasty potato dish. Garden vegetables and olives add zip and color to creamy Zesty Potato Salad. Or, serve hot, tasty Potato Casserole and impress your guests with your grill skills. It cooks alongside the turkey! To show off a shortcut, make either dish from pre-sliced potatoes and sauce mix which eliminates the time-consuming tasks of peeling and slicing potatoes.

Show a little imagination with your summertime patio party. Barbecuing isn't just for hamburgers anymore.

TURKEY IN A COVERED KETTLE-TYPE GRILL

To Prepare Covered Kettle-Type Grill: Open all dampers and leave open during cooking. Place a foil drip pan on the bottom grill. Place 25 to 30 briquettes on two sides of drip pan, lengthwise only. Light briquettes and burn approximately 30 minutes or until white in color. Do not cover grill when coals are ready, place top grill inside kettle with handles over coals.

To Prepare Turkey: Thaw Butterball Turkey according to directions in folder. Free legs and tuck from tucked position. Remove neck, giblets, and gravy packet, if included. Rinse turkey and drain. Draw skin over neck and hold in place by twisting wing behind the back. Do not stuff. (Stuffing can be baked in a disposable foil pan on the grill beside the turkey during the last hour of cooking.) Retuck legs and tail. Brush with oil. Insert roast meat thermometer into the center of the thickest part of the thigh, not touching the bone.

To Barbecue Turkey: Place turkey on top grill directly above drip pan. Cover kettle. To maintain heat, add 6 to 8 briquettes to each side every hour of cooking. Add charcoal through openings by grill handles. Check for doneness after 1 1/4 hours for a 10-pound turkey; the internal temperature of the thigh should be 180° to 185°.

TERIYAKI GLAZE FOR TURKEY

3/4 cup maple flavored table syrup
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons sherry (optional)
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon ginger

In small saucepan, combine all ingredients. Simmer about 10 minutes or until slightly thickened. About 15 minutes before turkey is finished cooking, begin basting with glaze. Makes about 1/2 cup.

CRUNCHY CHEESE BALL

Cheese Ball:
Two 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon finely chopped pimiento
1 tablespoon finely chopped chives
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Crunchy Coating:
1/2 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 tablespoon sesame seed
1 tablespoon unprocessed bran or wheat germ
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt

For cheese ball: In a medium bowl, combine cheeses, mixing until well blended. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Chill about 2 hours; shape into ball.

For crunchy coating: Heat oven or toaster oven to 350°F. In small bowl, combine all ingredients; mix well. Spread mixture into shallow baking pan or toaster oven tray. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Cool. About 1 hour before serving, roll cheese ball in oats mixture, coating well. Chill until ready to serve. Serve with assorted raw vegetables or crackers, if desired. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

ZESTY POTATO SALAD

1 package (5.25 ounces) scalloped potatoes
3 cups water
1 cup water
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1/2 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
1/2 cup sliced radishes
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Heat potatoes and 3 cups water to boiling in 2 1/2-quart saucepan; reduce heat. Cover and simmer until tender, 10 to 15 minutes; drain. Rinse under running cold water; drain. Mix 1 cup water and the Sauce Mix in saucepan. Heat to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly; stir in mayonnaise. Mix mayonnaise mixture, potatoes and remaining ingredients. Cover and refrigerate until chilled, at least 3 hours. Serve on salad greens if desired. 8 or 9 servings.

POTATO CASSEROLE ON THE GRILL

1 package (4.75 ounces) julienne potatoes
3 cups water
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup milk
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Heat potatoes and water to boiling in 2 1/2-quart saucepan; reduce heat. Cover and simmer until tender, 10 to 15 minutes; drain.

Grease a 1 1/2-quart oven-proof glass baking dish. Mix sour cream and Sauce Mix in medium bowl until smooth. Gradually stir in milk until blended. Stir in 1 cup cheese, the onion, green pepper and potatoes. Spread in casserole. (At this point, casserole can be covered and refrigerated up to 24 hours.) Cook on Weber grill (next to turkey and directly over hot charcoal) 30 minutes. Stir; sprinkle with 1/4 cup cheese. Cook until hot and bubbly, 20 to 30 minutes longer (do not cover casserole). 8 servings.

Baked Potato Casserole: Bake in 350° oven 50 to 60 minutes.

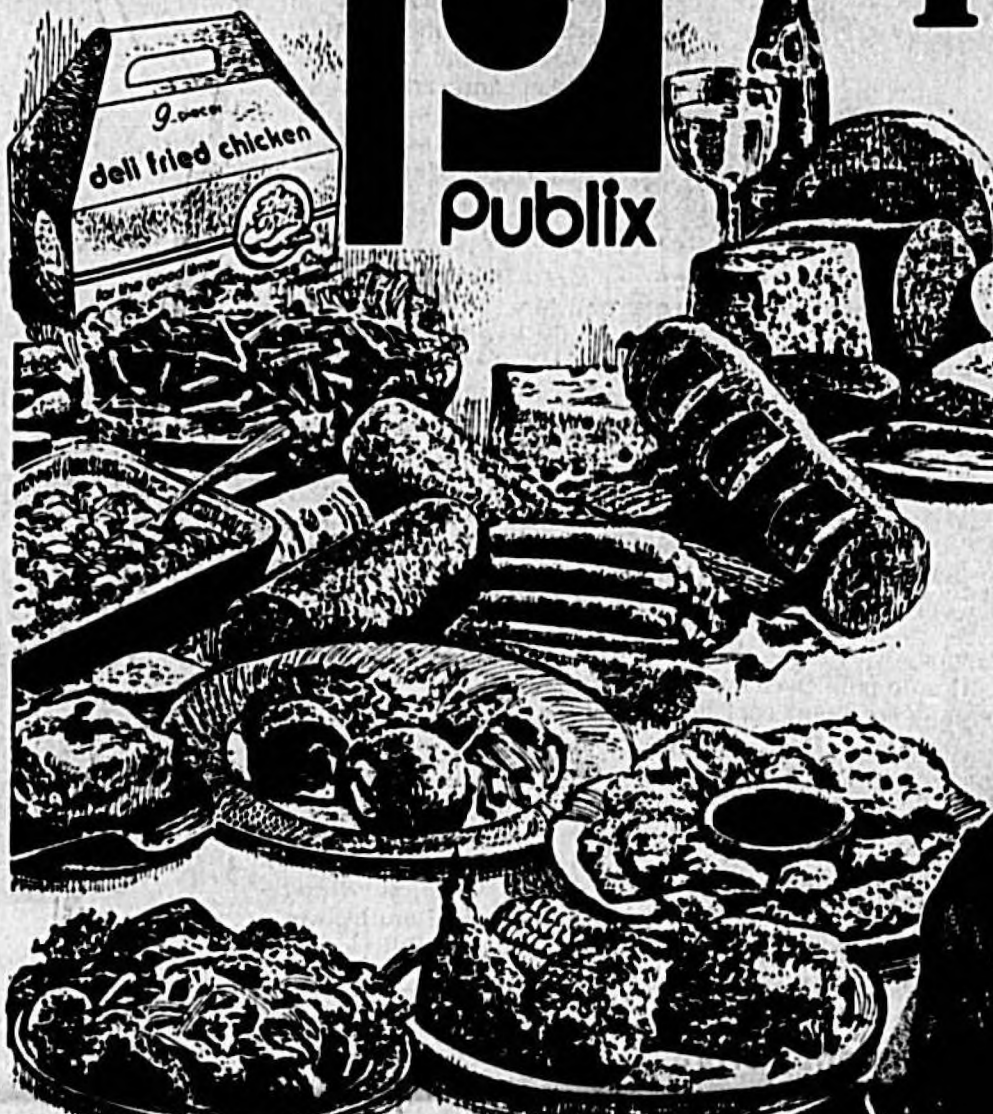

Accompany Barbecue Turkey with Zesty Potato Salad, featuring vegetables and olives, and a make-ahead appetizer, Crunchy Cheese Ball.

Microwave Magic

Vichyssoise Hits The Spot On Hot Days

When the temperature reaches the 90s, it is time you put your microwave oven to work. Prepare whole meals and don't use the conventional oven or surface units. You'll be pleasantly surprised how cool your kitchen will be. The kitchen does not become hot because the food is cooked by internal friction and the heat remains confined to the food itself. Some heat is transmitted to the cooking utensil; therefore, you need pot holders, but little escapes outside the oven cavity.

Vichyssoise is the cold summer soup that you may have enjoyed at a favorite restaurant. Use your microwave and prepare it at home.

VICHYSOISE

- 2 pounds potatoes
- 6 leeks or 3 onions, finely chopped
- 6 cups chicken broth, hot
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup heavy cream
- chopped chives
- black pepper

Peel potatoes, cut into small pieces, and place in a 2-quart microwave safe container. Add the leeks or onions to the potatoes along with the hot chicken broth. Cover and cook at 100% power for 10 minutes or until the potatoes are very soft. Puree the soup in a food processor or blender. Add the cream and salt. Chill for 4 hours before serving.

Garnish with chopped chives and black pepper. Everyone will enjoy these sweet and sour ribs. Cut the ribs in small pieces and serve with rice that you microwaved.

MICROWAVE RIBS WITH SWEET AND SOUR SAUCE

- 3 pounds spare ribs
- black pepper
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons dry sherry
- 2 carrots, cut diagonally in 1 inch pieces
- 1 onion, cut in chunks
- 2 green peppers, cut in 1 inch chunks
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 8 mushroom caps
- 1 can (8 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained

Sauce:

- 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1/4 cup vinegar
 - 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 - 2 tablespoons dry sherry
 - 3 tablespoons tomato catsup
 - 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- Place the ribs in a large microwave safe container with the meatiest part to the edges. Add the pepper, sugar, soy sauce, and sherry. Cover with wax paper and cook on 85% power (roast) for 30 minutes.

Place the carrots, onion, and green peppers in a 1-quart microwave safe container. Cover with boiling water and cook at 100% power for 5 minutes. Drain the vegetables. Add the mushrooms and pineapple chunks and cook at 100% power for 2 minutes. Add the ribs. Combine all the ingredients for the sweet and sour sauce in a 4-cup glass measuring cup and pour over the ribs. Heat for 2 minutes.

This recipe is inspired by the peaches that are available now. Those from South Carolina and Georgia are plentiful and good. I've found the "Strawders" of Forest City are the best locally.

PEACH MELBA FLAN

- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 large egg yolks
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup flour
- 6 large firm peaches
- 3 tablespoons red raspberry jam

Crust: Combine butter, 1/4 cup sugar and egg yolks. Work together with fingers until smooth. Add vanilla and mix well. Work in flour and knead to form a smooth dough. Put in plastic bag and chill for 30 minutes. Roll out to fit a 9" glass pie plate. Prick bottom and sides of crust with fork. Bake on 85% power (roast) for 6 minutes.

Wash, peel and slice peaches. Place about 1/1 of the peaches on the pastry shell. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of the remaining sugar. Repeat. Arrange the remaining peaches in an attractive fashion on top. Cook on 100% power for 6 minutes or until peaches are soft. Remove from microwave. Heat raspberry jam in a small container for 1 minute. Brush jam over the flan while hot.

Dress Up Salads For All Seasons

Once upon a time, the salad season was limited by the local growing season. Now, salads are a year round treat, and an important addition to the daily diet.

The secret to a better-than-average salad is in the dressing — to top fresh greens or fruits, fish or meat.

There are many types of prepared dressings and these stem, according to a chef-spokesperson for Bertolli, U.S. importers of the world's largest-selling brand of olive oil, from two classic dressings: mayonnaise and vinaigrette.

With a little practice and ingredients found in most kitchens, these can be made easily at home. These "salad dressings" can be used with other foods. For example, tartar and cocktail sauce may be served with fish and seafood; creamy horseradish with smoked fish and cold beef (or corned beef). Maltase and creamy mayonnaise complement fruits. A capered dressing tops fish. Basic quantities are for 1 to 2 cups and the recipes may be increased as desired.

BASIC MAYONNAISE

- 2 eggs at room temperature
- 1 teaspoon/pepper mustard, preferably Dijon
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 1/4 cups olive oil

In bowl, combine eggs, mustard, juice and seasoning; mix well with wooden spoon or whisk. Continue beating as you add oil in a slow, steady stream. Mixture may be stored in closed container in refrigerator. Remove an hour before using and mix or shake vigorously before serving.

TARTAR SAUCE

- 1 cup mayonnaise
 - 1/2 teaspoon chopped tarragon
 - 2 teaspoons minced parsley
 - 2 teaspoons minced shallots
 - 2 tablespoons chopped gherkins
- After mixing ingredients into mayonnaise, taste and add additional lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste.

THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING: To Tartar Sauce, made without additional lemon juice, mix in 1 tablespoon tomato ketchup.

TOMATO MAYONNAISE: To basic mayonnaise, add 1 tablespoon tomato sauce and stir.

GARLIC (AIOLI) MAYONNAISE: To 1 cup mayonnaise, add 1/2 boiled potato mashed well with 4 cloves finely minced or crushed garlic and 2 tablespoons olive oil. Blend well.

BASIC VINAIGRETTE

- 1 cup olive oil
 - 1/4 cup vinegar
 - salt, pepper, garlic to taste
- In covered container combine all ingredients. Shake or mix before serving. Store tightly covered, away from direct light.

ITALIAN DRESSING

- 1 cup vinaigrette
 - 1 teaspoon basil
 - 1 teaspoon oregano
 - 1 teaspoon parsley
 - 1 teaspoon finely chopped onion or scallion
- Allow herbs to marinate in dressing about an hour. Shake or mix well before serving.

CAPERED DRESSING

- 1 cup vinaigrette
 - 1 tablespoon chopped capers
 - 1 clove finely minced garlic (if not included in basic vinaigrette)
 - 2 anchovy fillets, mashed
 - 2 tablespoons hard-boiled egg yolk, mashed
 - Worcestershire sauce
- Combine all ingredients and mix well.

CURRIED VINAIGRETTE

To 1 cup vinaigrette add 2 teaspoons curry powder and one teaspoon chopped shallot

RAVIOLE

- 1 cup vinaigrette
 - 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 - 1 tablespoon onion, finely chopped
 - 1 tablespoon chopped capers
 - 1 tablespoon chopped chives
 - 1 teaspoon tarragon
 - 1 teaspoon chervil
- Combine all ingredients and mix well.

COCKTAIL SAUCE: To 1 cup vinaigrette add 1/4 cup prepared horseradish, 2 tablespoons tomato ketchup and a few drops of pepper sauce.

Mangia! Put All Your Treats In One Basket

"Mangia!" is the word for a Mediterranean-style picnic. Put all your treats in one basket. Hold an Italian summer festival in your own backyard. These recipes will present a feast for the eyes as well as the palate.

CAPRI COOLER

2 large ripe bananas
2 cups light cream
2 tablespoons honey
1 cup dark rum
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
Crushed ice

In blender container, mash bananas and blend with cream and honey until smooth. Add rum and almond flavoring. Blend. Pour into chilled stemmed glasses, over ice. If desired, garnish with sweetened whipped cream and shaved chocolate. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

VEAL NAPOLITANO

6 veal chops, cut 1-inch thick
1/4 pound prosciutto, cut in cubes
1/4 pound mozzarella cheese, shredded
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 pound mushrooms, quartered
1 large onion, sliced
1 cup chicken stock or broth
1/2 cup dark rum
1/4 teaspoon rosemary, crushed

Cut pocket in veal by cutting horizontally through to bone, so that chop opens like a book. Combine prosciutto, cheese, 2 tablespoons cheese and bread crumbs. Pound veal flat. Fill with meat mixture. Close and fasten with toothpicks. Season with salt and pepper. Coat with flour. In large skillet, brown veal chops in butter on both sides with mushrooms and onion. Add stock and rum. Season with rosemary. Cook, covered for 25 minutes or until veal is tender. If desired, serve over pasta and garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

CAPONATA

1 medium eggplant (about 2 pounds)
2 cups chopped onion
2 cups peeled, diced tomatoes
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped red pepper
1/4 cup olive oil
1 medium clove garlic, minced

1 1/2 cups tomato sauce
1/4 cup dark rum
1/4 cup wine vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sliced, pitted black olives
1/2 cup pine nuts
Lettuce leaves

Cut eggplant into 1/2-inch cubes. In large saucepan, cook eggplant in boiling salted water until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain well. Meanwhile, in skillet, cook onion, tomatoes, celery and peppers in oil with garlic until tender. Stir now and then. Add eggplant and remaining ingredients, except lettuce. Simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Transfer to bowl. Cover with plastic wrap and chill 6 hours or overnight. Serve on lettuce leaves. Makes 8 servings.

Buffalo Chicken Wings

Just as Southern fried chicken has become a nation-wide favorite, Buffalo Chicken Wings (so-called because Buffalo, New York, claims to be the home of the original red hot chicken wings) are gaining popularity from coast to coast.

Many restaurants feature the wings as appetizers but they are also served for lunch and as dinner entrees. The National Broiler Council says that basically Buffalo Chicken Wings are deep fried until very crisp, with no breading or batter. Then they are tossed with a mixture of melted butter and bottled red hot sauce.

The sauce can be in various degrees of "fire"—mild, medium or red hot. A standard barbecue sauce can be used with bottled red hot sauce added. The well-sauced wings are accompanied by celery sticks and a rich blue cheese dressing for dipping.

When you are looking for something different for a summer picnic, take along Buffalo Chicken Wings. Keep them refrigerated in a cooler until serving time along with the sauce for dipping and the celery sticks.

And for heartier appetites, chicken drumsticks may be prepared and served the same way—a new idea for fried chicken, everyone's favorite picnic food.

BUFFALO CHICKEN WINGS

24 broiler-fryer chicken wings

Peanut oil for deep frying

4 tablespoons butter
1 bottle (2 1/2 ounces) red hot sauce
1 tablespoon vinegar

Blue Cheese Mayonnaise (recipe follows)

On cutting board, place each chicken wing and cut off tip at first joint; discard tip or save for stock. Cut the remaining wing into two parts at the joint. In deep saucepan, heat oil (when a cube of bread browns in 30 seconds the oil is right temperature for frying the chicken). Fry the chicken wings, in four batches, until well browned and crisp, about 8 minutes. Drain wings on paper towel as they are removed from oil and when all are done, arrange cooked chicken wings on platter. In small saucepan, melt butter and add hot sauce and vinegar, stirring to mix well. Pour over chicken wings, turning to coat thoroughly. Serve with bowl of Blue Cheese mayonnaise for dipping. Makes 6 servings as an appetizer or 3-4 as an entree.

Blue Cheese Mayonnaise:

To 1 cup of the best mayonnaise you can buy or make, add: 1 green onion, white and green parts included, finely chopped; 1 clove garlic, finely minced; 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper; 1/4 cup minced parsley; 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice; 1/4 cup plain yogurt or sour cream; and 4 tablespoons blue cheese, crumbled. Mix well and let stand about 1 hour in the refrigerator before serving.

This recipe is designed for those with incendiary taste buds. You might want to reduce the amount of bottled red hot sauce by half the first time you try it (the 2 1/2-ounce bottle contains about 5 tablespoons of the sauce).

Joys Of Breakfast

No Matter Their Heritage, People Need Special Diets As They Grow Older

By Gaynor Maddox
Special To The Herald

The other day I watched a familiar sight on our block in Manhattan. Down the street came a wiry, quite elderly gentleman with obvious Gaelic features. He wore a rumpled beret, as usual. And he was particularly gracious to women passing by.

At the end of the block, he popped into a bake shop and sat down for a cup of cafe au lait (coffee mixed with equal portions of hot milk) and a brioche or croissant. This is his breakfast practically every day of the year.

His enjoyment of this routine might be translated to other older men and women at breakfast time.

Each country has its breakfast customs. A huge bowl of hot chocolate with a croissant is a recognized daily breakfast of many Belgians.

In the beautiful German city of Munich, at a reputable hotel many years ago, I went into the special breakfast room decorated with tapestries and sat down at one of the small tables.

In the center of the room was a table with a large bowl filled with piping hot eggs. The trick was to select one, put it on your plate and eat it any way you wished. If you wanted a second, you paid extra. You paid for each item — coffee, the large German roll, jam, fruit — and left the breakfast room to face the day's plans happy.

In Oslo, Norway, as in other Scandinavian cities, breakfast is almost a public event. Once, in the dining room of my hotel, on white tablecloths, there were breads, meats, cheeses and always portions of fish side by side arranged artistically.

The English enjoy the first meal of the day. In a small hotel next to the University Club in London (where, incidentally, they told you horses may not be brought into your bedroom!) lamb kidneys broiled are a great favorite. As, of course, are kippers.

No matter their heritage, people seem to need special diets as they grow older. Here are pointers for preparing breakfast for older people:

Avoid too much use of salt. This is a very important point in feeding the elderly. Use pepper and sweet spices as alternates to salt and you will be surprised at the results.

Buy large portions of breakfast cereal rather than individual boxes because the smaller ones contain proportionately more sodium than the larger.

Milk, too, is very important in the diet of older persons. It is essential to their continuing health because it provides needed calcium, which too often is overlooked by those over 50 in the United States.

You may agree that the vital Frenchman on his way to breakfast was just following a custom he sees as "living well."

Host A Dessert Party

Entertaining friends at a backyard barbecue is fun for everyone. But barbecues, like all company meals, can put a big dent in the food budget. That's why more and more cooks are finding the dessert party an economy-minded alternative to a full meal.

A desert party is more than an irresistible assortment of luscious desserts served with one or more favorite beverages. Flexible enough for large or small groups, it's equally appropriate for a casual get-together following a softball game and an elegant late night repast after an outdoor concert. Menu choices can be as creative as the cook's imagination, and much of the work can be done ahead. Best of all, the budget won't suffer since most desserts are inexpensive to prepare and go a long way.

Choose one spectacular dessert featuring a seasonal fruit to be the "star" of the party and help keep costs down. Peach Shortcake takes advantage of fresh peaches, now at their peak quality and lowest price. The shortcake is a snap to prepare since most of the ingredients are in pancake and waffle mix. All you add are sugar, water and margarine for a golden brown shortcake with down-home flavor.

Along with the shortcake, serve make-your-own ice cream sundaes and homemade cookies. Ice cream and toppings often are "supermarket specials" during summer months, so splurge with several flavors. Fortunately, many cookie recipes are kind to the budget, and any "extras" can be served later in the week for dessert or added to sack lunches destined for day camp.

After finalizing the menu, it's a good idea to read through the recipes carefully. Many cooks are surprised to discover how many ingredients they already have on hand.

You'll find more shopping tips and easy-on-the-budget recipes in "Stretching Food Dollars," a new booklet from The Quaker Oats Company. For your free copy, send name and address to: QUAKER "Stretching Food Dollars" Booklet Offer, P.O. Box 11257, Chicago, IL 60711.

PEACH SHORTCAKE
2½ cups pancake and waffle mix
¼ cup sugar
¾ cup water
¼ cup margarine, melted

2 cups fresh peach slices or 1 can (28 oz.) sliced peaches, drained
1 cup whipped topping
¼ cup chopped nuts (optional)

Heat oven to 425°F. Grease 9-inch round cake pan. In medium bowl, combine pancake mix and sugar. Add water and margarine, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Spread into prepared pan. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 5 minutes; remove from pan.

To serve, slice shortcake crosswise into two layers. Place peach slices on bottom layer; replace top. Cut into individual servings. Top each serving with whipped topping. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, if desired. Drizzle with syrup. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JULY 14, 1983

In the year ahead don't allow past infatuations to restrict your thinking, and you'll be able to turn around conditions which have been blocking your progress.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Guard what you say, and how you say it, today. If you dish something out on a crude platter, you might be the only one left to eat the stuff. Order now: The NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 for your Cancer Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead, be sure to give your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

You might get caught in the crossfire of someone taking potshots at another today. Don't lose your cool and enter into their battle.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Make sure you know exactly what you are getting into before you accept a social invitation today. The event could cost more than you bargained for.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

Be extremely careful today to whom you reveal secrets of your trade. Your words could get back to competitors and work against you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Humility will be music to everyone's ears today, while tooting your own horn could sound like a loud, brazen, sour-note band. Play it low-key.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

It wouldn't be wise to mix business and friendship today. If a misunderstanding occurs, the relationship might be difficult to reestablish.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Do not take a minor role where teamwork is called for. Modesty could do you and your partners a vast disservice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

The most effective way to get productivity out of coworkers today is to magnify their virtues and minimize their faults. Don't reverse that adage.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

This is not the time to put restrictions on your friendship, or limitations on your generosity. Give freely, even if there's nothing in it for you now.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

If you refuse to listen when others attempt to tell you things which they feel would be helpful, you may miss clues that would bring success.

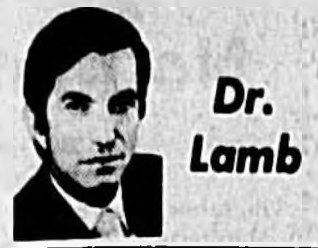

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

You'll be pleasant to be around today as long as no one attempts to criticize your work. For those who do, you'll display few social graces.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Don't misconstrue a favor someone bestows upon you today. This person's intentions are kindly, even if done with a lack of taste.

Cutting Calories? Put Fish In Diet

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — We have discovered something new at our house to cut down on calories — fish. We need to watch our calories and since fish are low in calories, but still provide the same protein you get in meat, we are making fish a regular habit around here. I've heard that some fish contain more calories than others. I wondered if that is true and if it's really important. Aren't fish low-fat foods? Isn't that the reason they contain so few calories?

We would appreciate any tips you have about using fish to control calories. I know it is good to help prevent heart disease but what we want to do is cut down on calories. If we control our weight maybe we won't have heart disease either.

DEAR READER — Yes, fish is a good food that provides complete protein and an opportunity to cut down on calories. One of the main reasons raw fish are low in calories is that about 80 percent of their lean edible meat is water. Incidentally, that is why lean raw beef is low in calories, too. It is about 73 percent water by weight.

Some fish are also very low in fat and that makes them even lower in calories. Codfish, flounder and red snapper are examples. Fish that contain more fat, such as canned salmon, may contain twice as many calories per ounce.

Use the tables in Fish and Shellfish As Health Foods, Health Letter 11-12, which I am sending you, to determine which are the lowest calorie fish and shellfish.

How you prepare fish is important. If you fry it, particularly if you use a batter, it will contain a lot of calories. That is often a problem in restaurants. The fish may be mostly batter soaked in grease.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

South doesn't bother to apply ARCH or anything else at tricks one and two. He wins the diamond, leads dummy's ace of spades and then gets right down to the nitty-gritty before playing trick three. He is looking at a sure trump loser, a sure heart loser and two possible club losers. Of course, he can always try the double club finesse and be home unless West holds both the king and queen, but can he do anything to guard against that unfortunate possibility?

Can he force West to lead a club some time along the way? If South thinks things out, he can probably do just that. At trick three he leads a heart from dummy and sticks in his jack after East plays low. West wins with the queen and can do no better than to lead another diamond.

Now South's play at trick three has set up a winning position. He ruffs dummy's last diamond, cashes his ace of hearts, leads a trump to dummy's king, ruffs dummy's last heart and leads a trump to throw East in with the queen.

East gets to lead a club, but South just plays his 10. West gets one club trick, but now must either play a red card to allow a ruff in one hand and club discard in the other or lead a second club right around to the ace-jack.

Nielsens: NBC Rides All-Star Game To Top

NEW YORK (UPI) — America's favorite pastime made NBC America's favorite network last week when its coverage of professional baseball's 1983 All-Star Game scored top rating on prime time television.

The weekly Nielsen survey gave NBC a 12.7 rating with a 25 percent share of the viewing audience, while CBS had a 12.0 rating with a 24 percent share and ABC had an 11.4 rating with a 23 percent share.

In the news department, CBS' "Evening News" continued to lead the other networks in the early-evening slot with a 10.5 rating and 24 percent share of the audience. NBC's "Nightly News" followed with an 8.6 rating and 20 percent share, and ABC's "World News Tonight" had an 8.5 rating and 20 percent share.

The Major League All-Star Game won a 21.5 rating and 39 percent share of the audience and NBC also had five of the top 10 programs for the week.

The top 10 programs for the week ending July 10, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co.:

1. All-Star Game (NBC).
2. Hart to Hart (ABC).
3. "A" Team (NBC).
4. Jeffersons (CBS).
5. Remington Steele (NBC).
6. Simon and Simon (CBS).
7. NBC Sunday Night Movie, Alcatraz Part 1.
8. 20-20 (ABC).
9. Hill Street Blues (NBC).
10. Magnum, P.I. (CBS).

Network Jumps On The Cable Bandwagon With Video Show

By Julianne Hastings
UPI TV Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fallout from the music-video explosion on cable television has finally made its way to the commercial networks.

Beginning July 29, NBC will air "Friday Night Video" in the 12:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday slot being vacated by the Emmy-winning comedy series SCTV Network, which is going to cable.

NBC is the first commercial network to offer on a regular basis the music-video format seen on MTV since Aug. 1, 1981. MTV now "cablecasts" rock musical skits 24 hours a day and reaches 1,650 cable systems and 14 million TV homes, a spokeswoman said.

The NBC show is being produced by Dick Ebersol, creator of the popular late night "Saturday Night Live" comedy show and will consist of a series of mini-feature films starring top rock groups — the format used by MTV — an NBC spokesman said.

"It will be more structured than MTV, with a beginning, middle and end," the NBC spokesman said, noting that "Friday Night" is a 90-minute show while the cable program runs continuously.

NBC's program will have different themes each week — such as "Hall of Fame" nights featuring top video tapes of the past — and there will be visits to the homes of top rock stars and a "900" viewer call-in number for anyone who has an opinion to express on various trends and performances.

"NBC feels Ebersol has a knack for putting together late night programs that appeal to young viewers," the network spokesman said.

In many cities the show will be simulcast with local radio stations for stereo listening, the NBC spokesman said. MTV subscribers who want their programs in stereo can have their cable installers hook up their TV sets with their radios.

Unlike MTV, there will be no on-camera host for the NBC show, just a voice — probably a well-known video jockey.

Meanwhile, the music-video phenomena continues to spread on cable.

Playboy Enterprises plans to begin broadcasting "Playboy's Hot Rocks," a monthly, hourlong series on its Playboy Channel later this month.

Two former MTV executives, Fred Seibert and Alan Goodman, will produce the Playboy entry in the music-video competition.

And no "VJs" for Playboy either. They'll be using an animated character described as "half-pixie, half-siren" to link the rock mini-features.

Home Box Office currently offers "Video Juke Box" as part of its "intermission scheduling" — whenever something is needed to fill a gap.

But as early as next week, HBO will unveil a regular program that uses a "whole new genre" of music-video production, representatives of the company said.

In the meantime, music — like the "Standing Room Only" concert — has been a big HBO attraction over the years, the spokeswoman said.

Last month HBO offered "Dolly in London" featuring 90 minutes of country star Dolly Parton, and on July 24, the 65-minute "Billy Joel in Concert — A Television First" premieres.

It also currently is showing "The Who Tour 1982 — The Final Show."

NAACP 'Report Card' Gives Mondale Passing Marks; Flunks Hollings

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The NAACP gave former Vice President Walter Mondale the highest marks and failed Sen. Ernest Hollings of South Carolina on its report card of top Democratic presidential candidates.

NAACP officials said President Reagan — if he were rated — also would have received a failing grade.

The NAACP's report card at its convention Tuesday gave ratings in the 80s to Mondale and Sens. Alan Cranston of California, Gary Hart of Colorado and John Glenn of Ohio. Hollings received an approval ranking of less than 40 percent.

Former Florida governor Reubin Askew, the other announced Democratic candidate, was not rated because he has not served in the Senate.

The NAACP said its report card does not function as an endorsement of any candidate. The organization said it will maintain its 74-year tradition of not backing a specific candidate.

According to an agenda provided by the NAACP, today's functions included heavy-weight boxing champion Larry Holmes as a special guest at a workshop on the criminal justice system in the United States.

Other scheduled workshops planned to cover blacks in government jobs, health care for blacks, blacks in international affairs and black employment opportunities.

Althea Simmons, director of the NAACP's Washington bureau, said the ratings were based on 379 recorded congressional votes from 1965-82 and counted the number of times a candidate agreed with the NAACP's stated position.

The survey addressed school desegregation, voting rights, civil rights enforcement, social funding and job training programs. Mrs. Simmons said.

She said each of the rated candidates, who were scheduled to appear before the NAACP convention this week, would rate a "B," except for Hollings. She said Hollings' voting record has improved, but is significantly worse than the other Democratic candidates.

"For Mr. Hollings there was a definite change in how he voted starting in 1973 and then continuing," she said.

Even though Reagan does not have a congressional voting record and was not formally rated, Mrs. Simmons said his first two years in office would garner him two failing grades.

"I would say President Reagan, based on the initiatives he sent to Congress last year and this year, would come out lower than 50 percent," she said.

The NAACP gave Mondale a rating of 87.7 percent; Cranston, 84.7; Hart, 82.1; Glenn, 80.0; and Hollings, 38.8.

Letter Points To Smoker In Fatal Aircraft Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal investigators are trying to verify a tip that a passenger may have taken a lighted cigarette into a lavatory and started the fire that killed 23 people on an Air Canada DC-9 last month.

Rep. Elliott Levitas, D-Ga., said his House subcommittee conducting hearings on aircraft safety received an unsigned letter describing the alleged incident.

The panel invited survivors of the Air Canada fire to testify today about the June 2 tragedy.

"In the letter, an allegation was made about a passenger smoking in a non-smoking area," Levitas told reporters Tuesday. "Another passenger complained about it and the (smoking) passenger left the seat and went into the lavatory with the cigarette."

Levitas said the letter appeared to be credible.

"We have new information that opens up some avenues that previously have been ruled out," he said.

Levitas said the letter was turned over to the FBI to try to locate the writer. He said the author sent a copy of the letter to the National Transportation Safety Board, the federal agency responsible for investigating airplane accidents.

Board Chairman James Burnett ac-knowledgeed that his office has received such a letter and said he will follow up on it.

"It is a matter we have to consider whether there has been smoking in an unauthorized area of the plane," Burnett said.

Although no final determination has been made, federal investigators tended to dismiss early reports that a cigarette might have started the Air Canada fire and believed it was of an electrical nature. The fire and subsequent emergency landing occurred near Cincinnati. Twenty-three people survived and the 23 victims died of smoke inhalation.

Levitas, chairman of a House public works and transportation subcommittee, said during the first day of hearings the Federal Aviation Administration has not been forceful in handing down strict safety regulations governing commercial airlines.

"Unfortunately and tragically, it takes another air disaster (to get new regulations)," he said.

Burnett told the panel Air Canada survivors used wet cloths to help them breathe as they crawled through the smoke.

"There were not enough towels going around," he said.

Whirlwind Tour Takes Samantha To Leningrad

YALTA, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — With her new Russian friend in tow, American Samantha Smith said "do svedanya" to scores of Soviet youths who responded in well-rehearsed English, "Goodbye, Samantha."

The bilingual farewells capped the schoolgirl's four-day visit to Artek, the Soviet Union's largest Young Pioneers camp for the children of ranking Communist Party officials.

Samantha, 11, was expected to visit a collective farm early today before flying to Leningrad. Natasha Kashirina, 13, an English-speaking Leningrad student who has become Samantha's closest Soviet friend, planned to accompany the American girl.

Samantha and her parents will return Saturday to Moscow. No definite schedule has been set, but she was expected to meet with Soviet leader Yuri Andropov before she leaves for her home in Manchester, Maine next week.

Samantha wrote to Andropov earlier this year, asking if the Soviet Union wanted to start a nuclear war. The Kremlin chief responded by inviting her to visit the Soviet Union and see what his countrymen are really like. She and her parents arrived last Thursday.

With 200 Soviet campers and her parents listening, Samantha told the children at Artek Tuesday night how much their friendship meant to her.

"My stay at Sea Camp at Artek was wonderful, very wonderful," she said, as an interpreter translated. "I shall miss my new international friends, but we will remain friends across the sea. Let our countries be friends too."

"Some day I hope to return. I love you Artek." Her message was written on notebook paper by her college professor father, Arthur, as he sat in a darkened amphitheater near the Black Sea.

"The night we arrived, all the girls in her group stood and said a little something about themselves," Smith said. "And when it came Samantha's turn, she went speechless, so Mom and Dad spoke for her. Tonight, we primed things a little."

In their farewell speeches — also in Russian and English — the Artek campers told Samantha that although their time together was brief, "every day was a good one."

"Please accept a piece of charred wood from our Artek farewell bonfire in memory of our friendship," the children said.

Earlier, Samantha sang and danced with the children, her parents and American reporters at the farewell celebration.

She was presented with more gifts than she could carry, including a fuzzy black bear, a costumed Russian doll, flowers and chocolate. A Yalta artist surprised her with an oil portrait painted from her newspaper photographs.

Samantha spent most of Tuesday out of sight of reporters at her parents' request, but she was seen briefly at Livadia Palace, site of the 1945 Yalta conference that brought Franklin Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Josef Stalin together.

'Stress Reliever' Jewelry

NEW YORK (NEA) — With worry beads and pet rocks now fads of the past, Judy Soden and Cindi Baln have come up with what they call the Stress Stone of the '80s. It's the Wanga, semi-precious stone jewelry for both men and women to use as a stress reliever.

Using natural stones, such as green San Luis onyx and red tolar onyx from high in the Andes, Argentinian artisans carve and polish each touchstone into an egg shape on one side, a flat plane on the other. Into the flat side is carved a thumb-print indentation, which the Wanga owner rubs to relieve tension.

Wangas come gift-packaged for various stressed types, such as the Wall Street Wanga, the Waist Watcher's Wanga and the Sports Wanga.

Implants Devastating To Woman

DEAR ABBY: I could have written that letter signed "Wants to Love Again." The writer had had silicone implants to enlarge her breasts, and a year later her breasts were hard as rocks!

I had that operation four years ago and today my breasts are so hard I hate to embrace my own children. I'm an affectionate person who always enjoyed hugging my friends, but now I avoid close body contact with everyone. I am devastated.

You told "Wants to Love Again" to go back to the doctor who performed her operation and have it done over. This is very expensive, with no help from health insurance. Also, the results cannot be guaranteed.

So, many women (myself included) had this done to please our husbands only to find ourselves divorced and left with a condition that makes it impossible to engage in physical intimacy with a man. Maybe it was coincidence, but my husband stopped loving me as soon as my breasts got hard.

I would like to hear how men feel about this operation. Sign me...

WANTS TO LOVE AGAIN, TOO

DEAR WANTS: I have said repeatedly, never have any kind of cosmetic surgery to please another person — only to please yourself. My mail overwhelmingly supports the theory that most men couldn't care less about the size of a woman's breasts. No man who truly loves a woman will stop loving her because her breasts "got hard." (Men continue to love women who have had mastectomies.)

Dear Abby

A reputable plastic surgeon will inform all candidates for silicone implants that there's a 25 percent to 50 percent chance that hardening of the breasts will occur.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell your readers who are planning a wedding reception or a big party with live music to invite the musicians to eat?

Traveling to the job, setting up and playing from six to eight hours is hard work, and we musicians get hungry. But we never eat our clients' food unless we're invited to, and brown-bagging is considered tacky.

SACRAMENTO MUSICIAN

DEAR MUSICIAN: Request honored. And may you never play to a full house on an empty stomach.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a man who needed to accompany his handicapped wife into public washrooms to assist her. He inquired about a tactful way to do so. You suggested that he approach a woman in the restaurant (or wherever they might be) and ask her to find out if there are any women in the washroom, and if so to advise them (and other women approaching the washroom) that a man needs to go in there to assist his disabled wife.

Abby, unless the wife's handicap prevented her from speaking herself (which he made no mention of), she should do the requesting herself. This point is made for two reasons:

First of all, your answer is prejudicial in assuming that a handicapped person cannot speak for her or himself.

Secondly, a woman in a public place would be far more receptive to a request from another woman (whether handicapped or not) than from a man.

KAREN C., OAK PARK, ILL.

DEAR KAREN: You are right on! The fact with egg on it is mine. Why didn't I think of that?

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Jaycees Say: 'Let's Talk About Trash'

Sanford Jaycees will be calling on citizens to talk about trash, the kind that clutters premises. They are conducting a drive this month to sell industrial strength trash can liners.

These liners are somewhat stronger than normal, a Jaycee spokesman said, and the Jaycees will deliver them to your door. Proceeds from the sale will help support the Jaycee community projects such as: the annual Old Time Cane Pole Fishing Rodeo and the Easter Egg Hunt.

The Jaycees also sponsor CPR courses along with the Santa Hot Line at Christmas time.

The sun is about three million miles closer to the earth on January 1 than it is on June 1.
