Burglaries plague Silver Lake

Five car and home burglaries in the Silver Lakes subdivision of The Crossings near Lake Mary were reported to Seminole County deputies Wednesday.

About $500 in items were taken from two vehicles, deputies reported. There was evidence that one other car and two homes had been entered, but no items were reported missing. All of the burglaries were reported by Wednesday afternoon, although most were reported Wednesday morning. The victims said their vehicles and homes were secure the previous night.

A woman on Silver Rose Court reported hearing a noise at about 1:30 a.m. and though she found evidence someone had entered her vehicle, nothing was missing, she reported to deputies. The woman's neighbor reported someone had cut the screen door to their home sometime between 10 p.m. Tuesday and about 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, but nothing was taken.

A total of $480 in items were taken from a van parked at a Shriver's Court home between 12:30 and 7:30 a.m. Wednesday. A person house-sitting at a nearby home discovered a patio screen door had been cut sometime between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 3 p.m. Wednesday, but nothing appeared missing.

A resident of Silverwood Lane reported his station wagon had been entered and a $40 radar detector and a $3 roll of quarters was missing.

Boat speed law hit

Sanford businessman appeals state reductions on St. Johns

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A Sanford boat dealer has challenged the state's new manatee protection rule that limits boat speeds throughout much of the St. Johns River from Lake Monroe downstream.

Steve Meadors, president of Ahoy Marine, said today that the 25 m.p.h. and lower speed limit for many sections of the river have caused a 20 to 25 percent decline in his large boat motor sales, he said the rule may be contributing to the recession and high taxes as reasons many people are not buying larger boats.

Meadors said information sent him by the Florida Department of Natural Resources contained no statement of financial impact for the rule.

He is asking the state to delay or dismiss the rule until a detailed analysis of rule's affect on the boating industry has been assessed.

"I'm feeling it and a lot of people are talking about selling their larger boat," said Meadors this morning. "I'm not a manatee hater. I think we need a speed limit, but let's not be ridiculous."

Meadors said barges and other large river boats provide more danger to manatees than small sport and fishing boats more affected by the speed limits. He said with further study, a propeller guard could be developed to protect manatees from prop cuts and but would not affect boat handling.

Meadors said he filed the appeal yesterday. A DNR official said this morning the department has not received any appeals of the rule approved by the Florida Cabinet June 25.

The rule sets a speed limit of 25 m.p.h. See Boating, Page 5A

Schools to weigh planning advice

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Business Advisory Board (BAB), which was formed to help the Seminole County School District make wiser business decisions, has recommended that the district contract with or hire a land planner.

The board unanimously agreed to discuss the matter during budget hearings over the next two months.

The school district is currently in a hiring freeze. Dianne Kramer, a land planner who serves on the advisory board, told the board that they could expect to have to pay a minimum of $36,000 annually to secure the services of a qualified land planner on a full-time basis.

"These are changing times," said John W. Howell, BAB chairman. "The school district has changing requirements."

According to Kramer school district land planner would coordinate with the governmental bodies in the county and in each of the cities in the county. They would help direct the school district in matters of concurrency and growth management.

Howell and Kramer pointed out that the district will save money by having the advantage of expert advice in planning matters.

"For example," Kramer said, "sites for future schools could be selected more effectively."

Howell said he believes the current facilities and financial status of the district are overworked and could not handle the additional burdens of land planning.

The BAB representatives said that they believed using the money for a land planner rather than for curriculum needs would be acceptable because 75 percent of the savings would eventually provide.

School board plans to erase courtesy busing

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Speaking for the children and parents of Lake Mary, Charles Landerdale, director of public safety for the city of Lake Mary, asked the Seminole County School Board to continue courtesy busing for some Lake Mary Elementary School students.

The district however plans to eliminate all courtesy busing by the start of the 1992-93 school year.

Courtesy busing is a service currently provided to youngsters who live less than two miles from their zoned school. The state does not provide funding for such services.

In order to save money the district will be restructuring routes to use buses more efficiently during the 1991-92 school year and will eliminate all courtesy busing.

Notices will be sent to the parents of all students who are transported by courtesy busing this year telling them that the services will be eliminated.

During the second semester of next year, public hearings will be held to hear the individual cases of See Busing, Page 5A

Case closed on Deputy Polk incident

By J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — Saying John K. Polk's fight with his sister June 26 was brought on by stress and his father's funeral that day, Sheriff Don Eshinger said Wednesday deputy Polk will not face any disciplinary action.

Eshinger had ordered Polk off duty for four days of paid administrative leave last Thursday. Polk will return to work Friday, Eshinger said. Polk still must pass a running test by Sept. 28 or he will be terminated.

Eshinger said.

"I have decided it was a family matter due to stress and pressure that occurred during the last several weeks," Eshinger said. "The matter is over with Cheryl Polk's sister Cheryl Parker does not wish to pursue a formal complaint and did not wish to make a formal statement."

Eshinger released the report about the internal investigation he ordered into the incident on June 26, the night following the funeral of former Seminole County Sheriff John E. See Closed, Page 5A

Highest, lowest voter turnout in Sanford

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A Sanford neighborhood turned out the highest voter participation in the sales tax referendum Tuesday — and another Sanford neighborhood turned out the lowest.

Lake Mary and Longwood voters supported the tax in all their local precincts, according to reports released by the Seminole County elections office Wednesday.

Countywide, 68.8 percent of the 1,011,115 registered voters participated in the referendum because the sales tax in the county from six to seven cents to build road improvements. When combined with 781 absentee ballots, only 17.9 percent of 20,750 people participated in the referendum.

The tax passed by a 60 to 40 point margin, meaning 40 percent more than 4 percent of the 250,929 people living in Seminole County determined the sales tax should be raised. County officials said they found the sales tax case for a property tax hike to meet some growth management and bond financing needs.

Sanford's Great Lakes neighborhood was the only one in the county that was a "no" vote, the poll workers said. She had previously 2 percent of the voters in that neighborhood.

Rolling indicted for bank robbery

TALLAHASSEE — The prime suspect in last summer's slayings of five college students in Gainesville has been charged with robbing a bank there the day before the last two victims were found.

The indictment issued Wednesday by a federal grand jury in Tallahassee charges Danny Harold Rolling with three counts stemming from the armed robbery at the First Union National Bank on Aug. 27.

The federal charges are significant to the murder case because of the timing of the bank robbery and the proximity of the bank to the murder scenes, according to John Joyce, a law enforcement spokesman in Gainesville.

Settlement near in pollution suit

MIAMI — Settlement of a landmark federal environmental lawsuit against the state over pollution of the sensitive Everglades is likely next week, sources said Wednesday.

Officials were unwilling to commit themselves because talks have reached crucial stages before without result. But speaking on condition of anonymity, they were confident enough to predict a formal announcement next week, possibly as early as Monday.

Orlando lawyer gets board post

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Lawton Chiles named Orlando lawyer James Heekin Jr. to a state Board of Regents seat Wednesday.

Heekin is a partner in the Orlando office of the Holland & Knight law firm and held a key position in Chiles' 1990 campaign.

He serves on the boards of Junior Achievement of Central Florida and the Florida State University Law School Alumni Association.

The Cabinet and state Senate must approve the appointment.

Heekin's appointment gave the board overseeing Florida's nine state universities a Central Florida representative.

Rap music draws complaints

KEY WEST — A no-drug, no-alcohol concert sponsored by the Monroe County Youth Club has drawn at least two complaints about a performing group's rap lyrics.

The rap was by Poison Clan, a Miami band billed as the Baby 2 Live Crew after the sexually graphic rappers who were arrested last year and triggered a national debate on obscenity.

Most of the group's performance Saturday night was not obscene, said some of the 371 youngsters who paid $11 each to hear the concert. But an improvised rap about women in the audience was sexual.

Hot dog vendors agree on dress code

WEST PALM BEACH — Hot-dog vendors wearing skimpy bikinis have banded together and agreed on a "dress code" to try to defuse a drive to have county commissioners adopt a law to regulate their attire.

Under the proposed guidelines, the hot-dog vendors have agreed to wear bathing suit tops with straps — not pasties — and bottoms with at least 2 inches of cloth in back.

"Skimpy thong bottoms still would qualify, a ACLU attorney explained Tuesday.

"Roadside vendors have agreed voluntarily not to engage in any lewd or lascivious acts, motions or gestures," he said, adding the proposed code went beyond the requirements of a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

Assistant County Attorney Lee Rosenthal, who is researching whether the county should adopt a law, said he couldn't comment on the proposed dress code.

Lawyer urges rape shield law prevail

Associated Press

WEST PALM BEACH — The woman allegedly raped by William Kennedy Smith should not be subjected to character assassination through evidence of her sexual history, her attorney said Wednesday.

Attorney Douglas Duncan urged Circuit Judge Mary Lupo to adhere to a strict interpretation of Florida's rape shield law to protect the woman.

"The rape shield law is to ensure that rape victims do not suffer a second rape by cooperating in a criminal prosecution of her assailant," Duncan said in a court memo.

Under Florida's rape shield law, evidence about the victim's sexual past can be used in court only if it is deemed relevant to the issue of whether she consented to the sex.

Smith's attorneys would use the woman's sexual history to establish a "pattern of conduct" that could lead jurors to believe she had been in similar situations before voluntarily.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Study: Overhaul tax structure

Associated Press

ORLANDO — Members of a committee created to lift the state out of its tax troubles Wednesday studied a proposal that would give lawmakers greater latitude to consider new taxes, including a personal income tax.

The Tax and Budget Reform Commission, whose 25 members are business leaders, lobbyists and lawyers, met in Orlando to consider its long-term goal of overhauling a tax structure that falls short of meeting a growing state's needs.

"When you've got a tax system that's jury-rigged — kind of like a house — it's better to bulldoze it," said Commissioner Jim Bax. "What we're doing is fiddling around with it, kind of like painting the garage."

The proposal by Commissioner Tom Slade of Jacksonville would couple a limitation on state spending with greater latitude for the Legislature to consider new taxes.

Slade has proposed a constitutional amendment that would link the following concepts:

— A limit on annual increases in spending by lawmakers, guided by such factors as state population growth and increases in the annual cost of living.

— Removal of state constitutional restrictions against certain taxes, such as the personal income tax. This would not enact an income tax, but give lawmakers power to consider it as part of an overall tax reform.

"You're talking about the removal of the prohibition against a personal income tax," said Slade. "When you do that, you have to tell the people that they're going to get something in return. If you don't do that, you don't have a snowball's chance in hell of passing it."

However, the commission stopped short of approving the plan. It only agreed Wednesday to have a committee of five flesh out the idea and try for a vote next month.

That at least "gets us off dead-center," said Steve Uhlfelder, a Tallahassee lawyer and lobbyist.

The state collects about $11 billion a year in taxes, mostly with the 8 percent sales tax on goods.

Pension system probed

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — A legislative committee will look into possible abuses of the state retirement system by lawmakers, the committee chair said.

At least 18 of the 86 lawmakers who left the Legislature in the last five years — more than one out of five — went on to high-paying state jobs that can double or triple the value of their pensions.

"I don't want to create a system to encourage people to abuse our pension system," Rep. James Hargrett Jr. said. "Where there are abuses, we need to take a look at it and whether they can be corrected."

Hargrett, D-Tampa, chairs the House Employee and Management Relations Committee.

Years of legislative service make many legislators experts in policy areas and prime candidates for high-paying senior management positions, Hargrett said. But he said lawmakers shouldn't get the best jobs simply because they're legislators.

"If they hire unqualified people, of course that's abuse," Hargrett, a nine-year veteran of the Legislature, said. "We'll take a look at it."

Hargrett said he didn't know how long the preliminary inquiry into possible retirement abuses would take. But when it's over he said he hopes to have a clearer picture of how such abuses occur and how to prevent future abuses.

Carrying a torch

SANFORD — The Alamo Torch run passed through Sanford Wednesday, on a 480-mile route from Miami to the Sunshine State Games in Bradenton. Passing the Sanford Police station on French Avenue, Alamo runner Bill Peterson,

Daughter's complaint leads to lawsuit over HRS listing

Associated Press

TAVARES — A bogus complaint about child abuse made by a 13-year-old girl has led to a lawsuit by her parents against the state agency that listed them in a child-abuse registry.

The couple want their names removed from the computerized listing and compensation for possible lost earnings.

They contend the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services has damaged their reputations and may hamper their careers by disclosing the information.

But an agency spokesman said the suit is groundless because a new law provides for deletion from the files of all unsubstantiated cases. Alwyn Cassal said HRS reveals information only about confirmed abusers.

The parents are identified in the circuit court suit only as D.A. and M.E.A.

"I'm not a child abuser and neither is my husband," the woman said Tuesday.

The mother said the problem began in November 1989 when her daughter became infatuated with a 17-year-old boy. The woman told her daughter not to see the boy and later discovered the girl had disobeyed her.

When the daughter learned she would be punished, she and a friend made up a story and called the HRS abuse hotline, contending that the girl was a victim of child abuse, the woman said.

When the woman got home from work one day, two HRS child-abuse investigators were waiting. They quizzed her and tried to block her access to her younger child, a 5-year-old girl, she said.

The teen-age daughter first complained she had been abused and then recanted her story, the mother said.

Before leaving, the HRS investigators said the girl needed counseling but that they had no reason to believe she had been abused.

Ku Klux Klan will march in Boca Raton

Associated Press

BOCA RATON — Officials in exclusive Boca Raton say they had no choice but to give the Ku Klux Klan permission to march in the city the weekend before Halloween.

Richard Ford of Lantana, leader of the Fraternal White Knights of the KKK, met with city officials Tuesday morning to discuss details of the Oct. 26 march in Mizner Park.

Ford said members of his group plan to wave American, Confederate and Klan flags and make speeches.

"The American way is going to be the theme of our speeches," Ford said. "We didn't do it to stir up anybody. We just did it to let people know that we are here and we're going to fight for our white rights."

UFO invasion?

Allen craft scheduled to arrive in Orlando this weekend

LAKE WORTH — Palm Beach County residents are buzzing about a glowing white cigar-shaped saucer with pulsating lights that seemed to hover in the night sky, before streaking away.

Lake Worth police Sgt. Sue Pulte saw it. "It had a thin saucer shape. I thought, 'What the...?'"

Simon Rabizon saw it Friday on the way home from jail. "It looked four or five blocks away. When I stopped, it stopped. When I moved, it moved. I don't believe in UFOs. It just seemed very peculiar to me."

"It had lights flashing. I thought I was going to wreck my car," said Palm Beach Sheriff's Office Communication supervisor Johnnie Keating.

Chances are the object was the Virgin Lightship, a smallish, relatively quick blimp that is stationed at the Lantana Airpark.

It's been in the area since June 22 to promote the Rooftop Gardens nightclub — about the same time sightings began.

It leaves for Orlando on Saturday.

Pulte and Keating figured what they saw was the airship.

But the Virgin Lightship is different from the more familiar Goodyear blimp.

"Ours is lit from the inside, giving it an elliptoid appearance," said Ray McIver, director of marketing for the blimp company.

The craft's tailfins are unlit, but strobe lights sit atop the hole and beneath the gondola. "They could appear to be revolving," McIver said.

The airship is only two-thirds the length of the 200-foot Goodyear craft and can move at 56 mph, lightning-quick for a dirigible.

The airship has set off UFO alerts wherever it's appeared since it was inflated in May.

Home burglaries near Longwood

Three separate homes in the Longwood area were reportedly entered sometime late Monday night or early Tuesday morning, according to Seminole County Sheriff's Department reports.

An estimated $300 cash, plus a large amount of personal jewelry was taken from the home of Thomas Long, 1480 North Ridge Drive. Long reported the money was taken from his wallet and his wife's purse during the night.

Nearby, at 1486 Ridge Lake Court, Sheriff's deputies found someone had apparently attempted to enter a house by cutting through the screen wire on a door. Nothing was reported missing.

The third home, at 1394 South Ridge Lake Court, was also entered during the night. Deputies reported no signs of a forced entry, but the home owner, Karen D. Servino reported approximately $160 in cash was missing.

Investigators from the Seminole County Sheriff's office are handling the case as all three of the homes are located just outside the Longwood city limits.

CCIB makes drug arrests

Members of the joint City/County Investigative Bureau focused their attention on Altamonte Springs Tuesday. The undercover operations produced two separate arrests. John Burgess, 20, of Altamonte Springs was arrested on Jackson Street, near Dunbar, and charged with the sale of crack cocaine. In the other case, Charlie Hamilton, 33 of Altamonte Springs, was arrested on Mercury Street, and charged with attempted sale of crack cocaine and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Both Burgess and Hamilton have been placed in the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Loiterer charged with drug violation

Seminole County Sheriff's deputies checked on five persons seen loitering near 19th Street and Southwest Road in Sanford Tuesday. When they arrived, four of the persons reportedly ran away. The fifth man, identified as Shawnie Oketh Riggins, 19, 1701 McCarthy Avenue, Sanford, was searched by deputies, who reportedly found a plastic bag containing cocaine in his pocket.

Riggins was arrested and taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility. He has been charged with possession of cocaine with intent to sell.

Outstanding warrant arrests

The following persons have been placed in the John E. Polk Correctional Facility, on outstanding warrants:

Talmadge Virgil Metts, 26, 212 Vinewood Drive, Sanford, was arrested at his residence Tuesday. He was wanted on eight charges connected to a violation of parole. He had been previously convicted on two charges of grand theft and one of cruelty to animals. He was serving five years probation issued March 6, 1989.

William Rivera, 31, of Orlando, was transferred to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility from the Orange County Jail, Tuesday. Rivera was wanted in Seminole County on a charge of grand theft auto.

Daniel Maurice Taylor, 29, 907 East A Street, Sanford, has been transferred to Seminole County from the Florida State Prison in Raiford. Taylor was wanted locally on charges of grand theft auto, failure to appear to answer charges of grand theft auto, and violation of parole for a previous case of grand theft auto. Taylor was serving time in Raiford prison for an unconnected conviction.

Suspicious vehicle checked

A suspicious vehicle was reported to a Sanford Police officer early Wednesday morning, by two ambulance drivers. The vehicle was reportedly parked in a wooded area west of Hartwell and 24th Street in Sanford. Before the officer could check, the vehicle was seen entering the parking lot of Cedar Creek Apartments, and was identified by the two attendants.

Following a check of the vehicle and its driver, police arrested Tommy Shayor Hampton, 18, 2370 Center Street, Sanford. He has been charged with possession of cocaine, and possession of under 20 grams of cannabis. Hampton was confined at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

City refuses to impose impact fees schools won

From staff and wire reports

ST. AUGUSTINE — Three months after winning a Florida Supreme Court battle on a plan to impose impact fees on development to help pay for new schools, the St. Johns County School District may have lost the war.

The St. Augustine City Commission has refused to impose the fees — a position the state Supreme Court indicated would bar the district from collecting them at all, anywhere in the county.

The commission's 4-1 vote Tuesday could mean a loss of a potential $500,000 a year to a district struggling with a burgeoning classroom population.

Seminole County had to put the imposition of impact fees on hold until the resolution of the St. John's County case, but now plans to implement them.

Oviedo has already set in motion the steps to begin collecting impact fees in that city.

Impact fees already are assessed in St. Johns County's unincorporated areas to help pay for schools, roads, public buildings and parks. The educational impact fee on the average new single-family home is $381.

Since imposing the fees in 1988, the county has collected $1.2 million for schools. None of it has been spent because of the lawsuit.

The April 18 Supreme Court ruling was hailed by education officials as a way to help keep pace with the number of new students flooding the state's schools. It was decried by developers who say it will raise the cost of new housing.

The ruling stemmed from a suit filed against St. Johns County in 1988 by the Northeast Florida Builders Association and Alec Lawson, president of Lawson Homes.

At the circuit and appellate court levels, judges ruled in favor of the builders, saying it was unconstitutional to charge impact fees to pay for new schools.

The Supreme Court overturned those rulings but imposed one caveat. It said that the educational impact fees cannot be collected until "municipalities containing substantially all of the municipal population of St. Johns County have entered into interlocal agreements with the county for the collection of the impact fees."

In St. Johns County, that means St. Augustine.

Despite lobbying from the School Board, city commissioners said they voted against impact fees to keep down the costs of housing. And they said that adding impact fees could lead to pressure to impose similar fees for other purposes, such as building roads.

"One thing is going to lead to another," said Commissioner Noel Helmly.

Only Mayor Tracy Upchurch sided with the School Board.

The city has rejected the fees a number of times in recent years, but one backer said the school board hasn't given up hope.

"I don't think the school system will give up on the City Commission," said David Toner, assistant superintendent of operations.

County Attorney Jim Sisco said the county has gone back to the Supreme Court asking that it take away the "veto power" of St. Augustine.

Main Street program planned

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford Historic Downtown Waterfront Association will have a special program called "Florida Main Street" Tuesday morning at 8 a.m. The event will be held at the First Street Gallery.

Featured speaker for the program will be Kerry Haasen, director of DeLand's Main Street project. It will follow the regular SHDWA meeting at 7:30.

Chris Cranias, president of the organization said, "The program is scheduled at 8 a.m., allowing us to complete our business and allow time for guests and members to discuss the state-wide program with Ms. Haasen."

Business owners and citizens who are interested in the revitalization of Sanford's downtown area are invited to attend the program, regardless of whether or not they are a member of SHDWA. Director Kay Bartholomew said, "We've tried to invite everyone we thought might be interested, but anyone else is also urged to attend."

"Florida Main Street" is not a grant program, but rather a technical assistance project. Bob Treacott, coordinator for the state-wide program said, "It is a self-program. The Bureau of Historic Preservation supplies technical aid but the credit and responsibility for success rests with the many community leaders who offer their time, expertise and enthusiasm to revitalizing their downtown."

The local aim of the program will be to revitalize downtown Sanford. Effective solutions will be sought to the problems of deteriorating buildings, loss of business and the waning economic strength of the downtown area, all of which are critical to the survival of the city itself.

"This is another program in our series by which we attempt to address problems, offer solutions, provide information and seek the positive aspects of our community, particularly our downtown," according to Cranias.

The meeting, open to the public, will begin at 8 a.m. at the First Street Gallery, Inc., 203 E. First Street in downtown Sanford. For further information, phone 323-9178.

Hanna to visit the zoo Saturday

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Guests from the north often visit the Central Florida Zoological Park. This Saturday however, some of the visitors will be animals in addition to people.

The world's fastest land mammal, the cheetah, and a tiger cub from the Columbus Zoo will be on display for the delight of human-type visitors this Saturday, but only between 10 and 11:30 a.m. The animals are part of a special display being brought to the area by Jack Hanna, former director of the Sanford zoo, and present director of the Columbus zoo.

Hanna will also be on hand at the Sanford park during the same time period to autograph copies of his book, "Monkeys on the Interstate: And Other Tales from America's Favorite Zookeeper." The book may be purchased at the zoo.

Hanna is known nationally for his guest appearances on the Good Morning America show, as well as Johnny Carson and David Letterman TV shows. Locally however, he is also known for his work in helping in the creation of the present zoological park.

Hanna is in Central Florida to serve as guest of honor during the second annual fundraiser, "Black Tie on the Wild Side," to be held Saturday night at the Walt Disney World Dolphin hotel.

The Central Florida Zoo is located at 3755 Highway 17-92, just east of exit 52 on Interstate

Sheriff's cars not for sale at used car lot

By VICKI BOGEMAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Ray Lash said he has had a lot of inquiries from people wanting to buy the Sheriff's Department cars, but they aren't for sale.

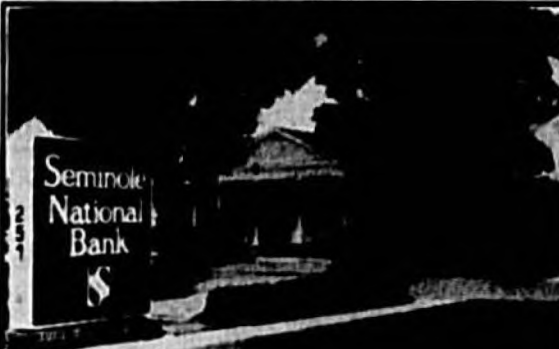

Lash, manager of Jim Lash's Blue Book Cars, said that the cars, complete with the department insignia are simply being stored in the corner of the dealership's lot while the electronic equipment is being removed. The equipment removed from those vehicles is being installed in the new cars purchased recently by the department.

"We've had a lot of people come in here wanting to buy one of them," Lash said this morning. "But we're just holding them here."

What'd he say?

U.S. Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia recently took on the issue of prison reform. The case, in which the American Civil Liberties Union and the Bush administration were on the same side, should have been, as that suggests, straightforward. Scalia nonetheless found in it another opportunity to unmake a few precedents of earlier courts. To point out that he accomplished this with a great flourish of semantic gamesmanship is only to say that he did it his way. This justice revels in twisting plain words enough to wring all practical meaning out of them.

Since the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution forbids "cruel and unusual punishment," he wrote for the majority, there is no prohibition on cruel and unusual conditions in prisons unless someone proves that prison officials intended those filthy, overcrowded, unhealthy conditions to be punishing.

If you have followed him this far, you will understand that even if officials at an apparently horrifying prison have ignored the inhumanly punitive effects of their policies, that's still not enough. To get at the required element of intent, Scalia says, a lawsuit would have to show that officials had acted with "deliberate indifference."

Scalia's new standard is so vague that prison reformers aren't even sure whether to be upset about it.

Dissenting Justice Byron White, however, probably came closer to the real effect of this decision when he complained that the new intent requirement is not only "a departure from precedent, it likely will prove impossible to apply in many cases. Intent simply is not very meaningful when considering a challenge to an institution such as a prison system."

But Scalia is not one to hark back to a less clever era when punishment that was cruel and unusual was simply considered to be cruel and unusual punishment. He had to concoct a whole new legal theory to reverse a lower court's notion that the courts could order awful prison conditions corrected only if proof were offered that prison officials acted with "persistent malicious cruelty."

On the distinction between this and "deliberate indifference" to cruelty, the courts will now occupy themselves for years. No one but Scalia could be looking forward to the exercise. And, meanwhile, even the most intolerable of prison conditions probably will not have to be altered.

But Scalia takes no responsibility for the real-world effects of his verbal prestidigitation. The Constitution made him do it, says the untiring semanticist.

"The source of the intent requirement is not the predilections of this court, but the Eighth Amendment itself."

The shock is that four other justices bought this.

Paper justice in S. Africa

South Africa's Parliament has stripped away the last legal vestige of apartheid: the Population Registration Act, by which all people were classified by race and which in turn determined where they could live, work, go to school and spend their leisure time, even whom they could marry. This is truly a milestone. It's also but a partial step toward racial justice.

As in the United States after post-Civil War constitutional changes gave blacks formal equality, South Africa remains an inequitable and unjust society. Although newborn South Africans are no longer registered according to racial classification, the list of those already registered will remain until it's abolished in a new constitution.

And until the constitution is adopted, desegregation in both housing and education is a matter of local option, meaning white option. While many schools and some residential areas have already desegregated, many others have not.

Most important, the black majority still lacks the vote, which again depends on a constitution granting universal suffrage. But substantive constitutional talks between black and white leaders have yet to take place and are overshadowed by continuing violence between rival black factions.

Many South Africans, black and white, accuse government security forces of siding with, and arming, the Inkatha Freedom Party, a rival of the African National Congress, in an attempt to prevent black unity and to persuade the outside world that blacks are not capable of democratic self-government.

President F.W. de Klerk deserves praise for the remarkable progress made so far.

CHUCK STONE

Why South Africa faces ethnic chaos

DURBAN, South Africa — While Americans were celebrating their independence on July 4, a national conference of the African National Congress (ANC) was laying a foundation for a democratic partnership between black and white South Africans.

Led by President F.W. de Klerk and Nelson Mandela of the ANC, this spectacularly beautiful country is on an irreversible course toward democratic rule.

But both sides are plagued by ethnocentric divisiveness. Like Cyrano de Bergerac's description of his nose, the South African political mosaic is, "Oh, a great many things" — the ANC vs. the National Party, the Inkatha Freedom Party (IFP) vs. the ANC, whites vs. blacks, Zulus vs. Xhosa, young revolutionaries vs. older pragmatists, poverty-imprisoned squatters vs. an evolving black middle-class, and, finally, the black masses vs. the Afrikaans-speaking colored and Asians (most of them Indian), who are joining forces with the National Party.

This historic 48th ANC conference, the first within South Africa in 30 years, is being forced to make another politically painful decision: How much of a liberation movement can it remain before accepting the imperative to be transformed into a political party. Youthful firebrands based in Soweto with little education and no experience in governance still consider the freedom struggle some kind of private holiday in violence.

How to harness their energies into a disciplined apparatus that commands their loyalties is the ANC's and, eventually, the IFP's most urgent task.

Although Zulu Chief Buthelezi's IFP is playing no role in this ANC conference, it is still a factor in the ANC's future because of the murderous rampages in the townships for which the IFP is almost completely responsible. Until Buthelezi gets his followers under control, the ANC's ability to maintain law and order will depend almost solely on de Klerk's National Party.

But this ANC conference is only the beginning of several more beginnings. After this conference ends, a series of conferences will be held in the months ahead — a Patriotic Front Conference (PFC), which will lead to an All-Party Conference (APC) to form an Interim Government (IG) which will oversee elections for a Constituent Assembly (CA) that will write a new South Africa constitution.

South Africans are becoming masters of what I call the alphabet soup of politics. Yet they are in danger of becoming slaves to a new version of an old disease — the tyranny of censorship.

Young black militants in all political camps have initiated boycotts and threatened physical violence to black reporters who refuse to report the news to their political satisfaction.

In a booklet published on July 4 by the South African Institute of Race Relations, "Mau-Mauing the Media: New Censorship for the New South Africa," eight essays by black South African reporters, editors, publishers critics and poets present a graphic litany of instances of black-on-black censorship.

"We had these pressures on the Sowetan (South Africa's largest black daily)," writes Thami Mazwai, senior assistant editor, "including an attempt to (kill) one of our reporters — and a petrol bomb was thrown at the home of another journalist."

"They worked out a compromise formula for speed limits. We're allowed to go as fast as the number of manatees that are still alive."

Scowcroft liked Iraqi businesses

WASHINGTON — Brent Scowcroft, President Bush's national security adviser, was bullish on increasing business ties with pre-war Iraq at the same time his former employer, Henry Kissinger, was pushing for more commerce and more conciliatory relations between the United States and Iraq.

bes to many of Kissinger's foreign policy precepts. There is no evidence that Scowcroft acted out of a profit motive, but he may have been too well trained in Kissinger's agenda.

Scowcroft owned thousands of dollars in stock in many of the companies that stood to benefit from certain export sales to Iraq. And many of the companies he owned stock in were involved in the U.S.-Iraq Business Forum. But, he sold his shares in those firms in 1990, according to his financial disclosure report.

The House Banking Committee, chaired by Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Texas, has been probing the Scowcroft and Kissinger connections to U.S. foreign policy-making. Committee investigators have linked Kissinger to Banca Nazionale del Lavoro, an Italian bank that gave more than $4 billion in unreported loans along with a delegation of corporate executives to Iraq in 1989 to meet Saddam.

Kissinger's consulting firm has served as a farm system for high-level government positions, and Scowcroft apparently subcommittee Banking Committee, chaired by Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Texas, has been probing the Scowcroft and Kissinger connections to U.S. foreign policy-making. Committee investigators have linked Kissinger to Banca Nazionale del Lavoro, an Italian bank that gave more than $4 billion in unreported loans to Iraq, a portion of which Saddam siphoned for military purposes. Kissinger was a paid member of BNL's consulting board for International Policy during a period when the bank's Atlanta office was lending billions to Iraq. Several of Kissinger's clients were beneficiaries of BNL largesse to Iraq.

Both the Reagan and Bush administrations have had a blind spot in dealing with Iraq. They ignored warnings from the U.S. Export-Import Bank that Saddam was a poor credit risk and could be using the financial assistance to boost his military. White House officials and business leaders claimed that forging business ties with Iraq would improve relations and moderate Iraqi behavior.

White House sources told us that Scowcroft and Lawrence Eagleburger, a top State Department official who formerly worked for Kissinger, argued within the administration for a more appeasing policy toward Saddam before his invasion of Kuwait last summer. Even afterward, Scowcroft argued internally against helping the Kurdish rebels overthrow Saddam. Scowcroft claimed that the breakup of Iraq would spread instability throughout the Persian Gulf.

The advice only served in the end to benefit Saddam, who continues to threaten world peace despite his temporary defeat. He's the same ruthless dictator who derives power from the barrel of the gun, and retains power through a police state. Intelligence sources say he is even reviving Iraq's claim to Kuwait. In his international dealings, he's as untrustworthy as ever. He routinely violates his promises, most notably those relating to his nuclear bomb-making capabilities.

Saddam is stalling on the cease-fire and rebuilding his military might, even as he is permitted to retain the fruits of his aggression by hanging on to billions of dollars worth of stolen Kuwaiti property.

Probing the Scowcroft and Kissinger connections to U.S. foreign policy.

Protect your pets

Today (July 3) I saw the killing of a beautiful sable dog, hit by a car on busy Route 48 in Geneva.

It saddened and affected me. Please...remember your dog's life is in your hands. Keep it leashed or fenced in. Enjoy your pet for its natural lifetime.

I wonder how the owners will feel when they discover their pet's fate and the driver, how he must feel, perhaps feeling anxious all day. You are your dog's best friend. Don't let him or her down.

A letter to Steve Alford:

Dear Mr. Alford:
I just wanted to let you know that the display of fireworks you made possible last night was the best I have ever seen in Sanford. I told my husband that it was nice that, for the first time ever, when people were leaving you heard comments of "great," "wow," and "really good."

I, like you, have lived in Sanford all my life. I am a second generation Sanfordite and my daughter is a third. It's really important to me that Sanford makes its mark as a community where people still have spirit and care. With Lake Mary's "progress" and growth, Sanford has been kind of pushed to the sidelines and it's reaffirming to know that a community, encouraged by one citizen, can make such a "bang" in show of support and spirit.

Mr. Alford, your work is much appreciated. I am sure after the display of last night, a lot more individuals in the community will be willing to contribute to your "People's Fireworks." I for one will be among them. Thank you again.

Sharing Center clarification

The article concerning the South Seminole Sharing Center was very well presented. However, I would like to clarify one remark which was made.

With all due respect to my friend, Angie Romagosa, I would like to point out that the Sanford Christian Sharing Center has been in existence since 1977 and for many years served the needs of the entire county. Since the South Seminole Sharing Center came into existence, we have limited our service to northern Seminole County (including, but not limited to, Sanford, Lake Mary, Geneva, Chuluota, Oviedo and Winter Springs.)

Thanks for giving us this opportunity to make this correction.

Fight phone firm for refund

The telephone company has been ordered to refund $9.50 to consumers. The Public Service Commission has not yet forced them to comply.

Instead, the PSC is thinking about allowing them to use your refund money as "investment capital." This type of money is generally raised either by borrowing (and paying interest), or by selling stock (and paying dividends).

The PSC needs to know whether you want to receive your $9.50 refund or not.

If you want to get your $9.50 refund let them know. Their toll-free number is 1-800-342-3552.

Commissioners reject citizen appeal for borrow pit hearing

By J. MARK BARNFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County commissioners rejected a request by the Geneva Citizens Association to hold an appeal hearing on a 40-acre borrow pit they fear may allow the Geneva Bubble to become polluted.

Voting 4-1, commissioners voted to deny the request submitted Tuesday morning by association president Lee Voorhees. Voorhees was unable to attend the hearing and no other Geneva residents were present to support the appeal request. Commissioner Larry Furlong opposed the denial of the appeal request.

In May, commissioners granted permission to James Froelich to remove 2 million cubic yards of sand from a 114-acre site south of State Road 46 near the Cochran Road intersection. Residents said the pit, which will be dug to within 10 feet of the community's sole source of drinking water, will remove the filtering layer from it.

Residents also feared much Froelich plans to put back in the pit may also lead to contamination. Officials with the St. Johns River Water Management District have also sought more information on the pit and the muck. And in a letter distributed by county officials Tuesday, the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation wrote it had concerns about the proposal as well.

Voorhees said he was unable to attend the meeting, but the association would decide what steps to take.

In other action:

Commissioners voted to delay a request to permit two completed boat docks at Marina Isle Fish Camp until October. County staff discovered the two commercial docks had been completed last year and camp operator Leonard Harrell had failed to get county or state environmental permits for the docks.

If commissioners decide to approve the docks in October, Harrell will be given 180 days to remove unpermitted fill and perform other tasks ordered by the county or remove every unpermitted structure on the property built after 1980.

Commissioners voted to change the name of Old Monroe Road in Lake Monroe west of Sanford to White Cedar Road. Several residents opposed the change, saying it was an affront to the community's heritage. County officials said the name could be confused with nearby Monroe Road, possibly delaying ambulance or fire responses.

Water rules loosened

Associated Press

PALATKA — A new year-round water conservation rule takes effect later this month for all residents in the 19-county St. Johns River Water Management District, including Seminole.

It replaces mandatory and voluntary restrictions in effect over the past two years.

Beginning July 23, all residents of the district may water their lawns daily, replacing the alternating days rule in effect through much of the past year.

However, under the new rule, all water users — including homeowners, commercial, agricultural and golf courses — may not water between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. because that is when evaporation is heaviest.

Water users doing micro-irrigation and hand-watering may do so at any time under the new rules. Car washing also is acceptable at any time.

Abundant rainfall during the first six months of this year has helped replenish parched lakes and dwindling ground water supplies.

In June, rainfall amounts ranged from 3 inches in Melbourne to 13 inches in Daytona Beach. Above-average rainfall was reported throughout the district from January through May, officials said.

Remaining in effect, however, are restrictions prohibiting water withdrawals from lakes in parts of Clay, Alachua, Lake, Marion and Putnam counties.

Water withdrawals also are banned in lakes Banana, Bell, Daugherty and Shaw in the Crescent City-DeLand areas.

Also remaining in effect are restrictions on the outside overhead watering for nurseries. They may water only between 2 a.m. and 9 a.m. on odd-numbered dates.

Lee P. Moore Park in Sanford had standing water following rain that has been relatively abundant this year.

Longwood budget hearing tonight

By MARK PUGHAN
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The present 5.12 percent millage rate in Longwood appears as though it will be continued into next year. No major budget increases have been requested so far.

The City Commission will hold its second budget workshop tonight with still no major problems expected. Three departments will bring their 1991-92 budget requirements up for discussion. Commissioners will hear presentations from the Purchasing Department, Engineering and Public Works Department, and Finance Department. Neither of them is expected to propose any large scale budget increases for this coming year.

In his general budget message to the commissioners, City Administrator Don Terry had recommended the present millage rate be continued into the new fiscal year. "It may require certain reductions from various departments," Terry said, "but I think we can hold the rate down."

Terry explained that costs of the operations of Longwood have been lower recently due to a number of vacant positions on the city staff caused by retirements or other employment changes. Whether or not the positions will be filled during this coming year remains undecided. "I think we might be able to work this out to the best advantage of the city," Terry said.

The first budget workshop was held Monday night. At that time, departmental budgets were presented by the Longwood Fire Department, Police Department, City Clerk and City Administrator. No items produced any major budget increases nor did any draw serious objections by the commissioners.

The third budget hearing has been scheduled for 6 p.m. Monday, July 23. Should an additional meeting be required, it will be held on July 25. The city hopes to have the full budget ready to bring up for final commission approval with its first and second reading and public hearing scheduled to begin in late August. Final approval is required by September 30, for the fiscal year beginning October 1.

Although the meetings are workshops, and designed for departmental presentations to the city commission, they are open to the public. Tonight's meeting will begin at 6 p.m., at the city commission chambers of the Longwood City Hall.

Polk.

According to reports in the investigation file, Sanford police and firefighters responded to a report of a fire at the 108 Laurel Drive, Sanford home of former sheriff Polk at 11:22 p.m. When firefighters and police arrived, they found the stove fire had been put out.

Parker was in the household and John K. Polk, "John Junior," arrived at about 11:35, according to a written report by Sanford policeman Mark L. Nichols. Nichols wrote that he told Polk everything was O.K. and Polk said he would enter the house to check on his mother.

A short time later, Nichols heard an argument between Parker and Polk and he entered the bar area of the home where he saw Parker slap Polk, he wrote. Polk grabbed his sister by the throat and struck her two times, the report states. Nichols wrote he and Sanford Police Lt. Ralph Russell had to force the couple apart after talking with him "a couple of minutes." Polk released his sister's hair.

Parker was treated at the scene and asked to be taken to Dr. Benjamin Newman's office for observation, the reports state.

Russell wrote after calming Polk, he said he was wrong and sorry and told him it was a family problem that "had been building up over a period of time and it finally came to a head."

In Russell's statement, echoed in the investigation report, he wrote, "Upon talking with John Jr., his mother Mrs. Polk, and Cheryl, it was the opinion of this supervisor that this was a family matter brought on by the added stress of their father's death and that no other action needed to be taken."

Nichols wrote Parker did not want to press charges against her brother. In a memo by sheriff's internal investigator Thomas Johnson, he wrote he called Parker on July 3 and she told him she did not wish to make a formal complaint or make a formal statement, but would give a written statement of that position. On July 8, Johnson wrote that Parker contacted him and told him her attorney advised her to make no written statements of the incident.

Turnout

"I'm disappointed but I'm also happy," Goard said after ballots were counted by 5:30 Tuesday night. "By 11:00 about 6 p.m., most precincts were reporting a 10 percent or worse showing. I was terribly concerned. But around 6 p.m., people started coming in and several of the precincts jumped up to around 20 percent."

Sanford-area residents were divided in their support for the 10-year tax, while precincts that take in Lake Mary and Longwood all supported the tax. Geneva and Midway voters narrowly turned down the tax — by two votes in each precinct.

Sanford Precinct 32, southwest of the U.S. Highway 17-92, 25th Street intersection, showed the greatest turnout for the referendum. A third of the 684 voters registered in Precinct 32 participated. They narrowly supported the tax by a 111 to 107 vote. Precinct 32 votes at Pine Ridge Clubhouse in Sanford.

Precinct 21, which votes at Allen Chapel AME Church, 1203 Olive Ave., Sanford, turned out the lowest showing in the county. Less than 6 percent of the 811 voters registered in that precinct participated in Tuesday's election. The precinct, which includes areas west of U.S. 17-92 north of 13th Street, again narrowly supported the referendum, voting 27 to 20 in favor.

All three precincts that include Lake Mary and all 10 precincts that encompass Longwood supported the referendum.

Advice

"Not one member questioned the resolution on that basis," Howell said.

The BAE has suggested that if the school district can not afford to hire a full time land planner it should consider entering into an interlocal agreement with the county planners or using the services of a consultant.

They contended, however, that a county planner would not have the best interests of the school district in mind.

Joe Williams, chairman of the school board, said that he sees the need for a land planner, but that budgetary demands will make decision more difficult.

"We will have to evaluate it," he said.

Kramer said that the sooner a decision is made, the better.

Busing

groups who believe courtesy busing is needed for reasons of safety of the children.

"We can handle courtesy busing this year," Richard Wells, assistant superintendent for transportation, said, "but with 1,500 new students this year and 1,500 the year after that, we just can't do that after this year."

No new routes will be added. The 50 students Lauderdale was speaking for live near Country Club Road between Evansdale and Pine Tree.

"They must walk through a heavily traveled area with no sidewalks," he argued.

The area is reportedly traveled by more than 10,000 vehicles per day, according to Lauderdale. He said that number will likely increase as construction on Lake Mary Boulevard approaches the area.

Wells said that the district would have to look at individual, temporary courtesy busing situations, but emphasized that all current courtesy routes would be eliminated and no new routes would be added.

Wells promised that with the money that would be saved by the elimination of courtesy bus routes, high schools could be returned to the 7:30 a.m. starting times.

throughout much of the river close to the banks, with a 30 m.p.h. limit in the center of the river. River tributaries have speeds as low as 5 m.p.h. The rule takes effect 20 days after it was recorded with the Secretary of State.

Donna Bentzien, a DNR environmental specialist overseeing the rule's adoption, said the state recognized the speed limits would affect the boating industry, but the specific impact could not be determined.

"We found there would likely be adverse impacts but the data was inconclusive," Bentzien said. "All we're required to do is do our best to assess the impacts."

Bentzien said DNR officials accept some marine businesses may end because of the rule, but she said some business owners may see their type of customers change.

"They may see a different type of boating business," Bentzien said. "They may see more family boaters because of the slower speeds, for example."

House kills Bush China policy

By JOHN SPRAWLAND
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — An overwhelming House defeat for President Bush's China policy turns intense pressure on the Senate, the focus of White House lobbying where a crucial vote is expected in the next few weeks.

The House voted 313-112 Wednesday to impose stiff conditions on most-favored-nation trade status for China when it comes up for renewal next year. The runaway vote was well over the two-thirds majority needed to override a presidential veto.

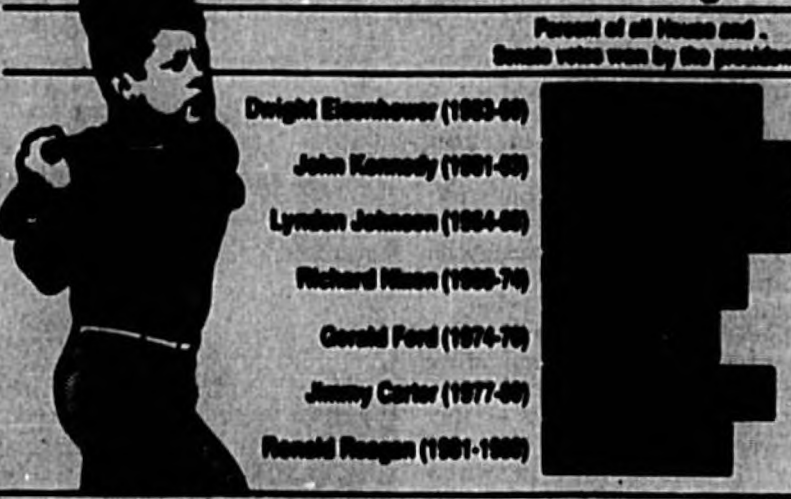

But the matter is much closer in the Senate, where the administration needs just 54 votes to sustain a veto and forestall enactment of the conditions.

Bush renewed Beijing's MFN status, which confers the lowest possible tariffs on imports into the United States, without conditions effective this month. The status was first granted China in 1980 and is subject to annual renewal.

The president, a former U.S. envoy to China, has argued that keeping open trade ties between the two countries holds out the best hope for encouraging democratic and economic reform.

But the House strongly disagreed Wednesday after a debate that vilified the Beijing leadership for human rights abuses, unfair trade, the proliferation of missiles and nuclear weapons and the use of prison labor to produce goods for export.

"Today we say to China: You've got one year of open trade with America to clean up your act," said Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo.

Since the killings of pro-democracy demonstrators at Tiananmen Square two years ago, a series of factors — human rights concerns, weapons proliferation and a growing trade imbalance in Beijing's favor — have hardened Congress' feelings toward China and put lawmakers in direct conflict with Bush.

"There was a time when China seemed to be leading the way toward reform in the communist bloc," said Rep. Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y., sponsor of a competing and harsher measure to cut off MFN status immediately.

But reform efforts have been exposed as "pathetic, half-hearted and meaningless," Solomon said. "This regime is fundamentally illegitimate, and we help to prop it up" with favored trade status.

On a vote of 223-204, the House approved Solomon's resolution for an abrupt MFN cutoff. But that measure was given no chance of surviving a certain presidential veto and may not even be considered in the Senate.

Billboard owners upset over priest's acquittal

Associated Press

CHICAGO — Billboard owners say they fear for their signs following the acquittal of a priest who defaced ads for alcohol and cigarettes.

A jury last week acquitted the Rev. Michael Pfleger of criminal destruction of property for painting over such billboards in his poor Chicago neighborhood. One juror called Pfleger's act a "moral statement."

Ronald W. Waggener, executive director of the Eight-Sheet Outdoor Advertising Association in Blue Springs, Mo., said the verdict "opens the door for an awful lot of very dangerous things."

"Here's a priest who should be setting an example for his congregation and has become a vigilante," said Craig Heard, president of Gateway Outdoor Advertising Co. in Somerset, N.J.

On Tuesday, Gateway, one of the nation's largest billboard operators, sued in an attempt to keep the Roman Catholic priest from damaging any more of its signs.

Billboard defacement has surfaced in other parts of the country as activists resort to breaking the law to counter what they say are threats to minority communities.

In Texas, Dallas County Commissioner John Wiley Price was convicted last year of whitewashing alcohol and tobacco billboards in mostly black neighborhoods. He was placed on six months' probation.

In New York, the Rev. Calvin Butts has defaced billboards in Harlem and has indicated he is willing to go to jail.

Benjamin Hooks, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the NAACP hasn't taken a position on Pfleger's actions. But he added, "I'd prefer to call it not defacing but cleaning up."

Reappointment of Fed's chief economic satabilizing influence

By DAVE SULLIVAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Alan Greenspan's reappointment as Federal Reserve Board chairman is offering the American economy a dose of stability as it recovers from the recession.

"It certainly should be a reassuring signal not only to domestic markets but to world markets," President Bush said Wednesday in announcing his nomination of the 65-year-old economist to a second four-year term.

The appointment is subject to Senate confirmation. No substantial opposition is anticipated.

"The markets would have been really, really upset if he hadn't been reappointed," said economist Jay Goldinger of Capital Insight Inc. in Beverly Hills, Calif. "Markets like predictability, and a new Fed chairman would have brought a lot of uncertainty into the economy."

The Federal Reserve, as the controller of the nation's money supply, has the most direct influence over the economy of any government agency. Its chairman is sometimes called the second most powerful person in Washington.

Since economic growth lapsed last summer, the Bush administration has frequently feuded with the independent central bank over the conduct of monetary policy. But currency and securities traders in the United States and abroad have viewed the Fed as an anti-inflation bulwark.

"The world wants monetary policy in firm hands that can see beyond the second Tuesday of November 1992" — Election Day, said economist Jerry Jordan of First Interstate Bancorp. in Los Angeles.

Bush and his senior advisers have frequently urged the central bank to more vigorously stimulate growth by sharply and quickly lowering interest rates. But Fed officials have resisted for fear of causing resurgent inflation.

The president acknowledged the tensions but praised Greenspan's skill in juggling competing economic concerns.

"He has done an outstanding job," Bush said. "... He's been a fierce fighter against inflation, but I think he also is as strongly committed to growth."

"That isn't to say that you're never going to have differences," the president added.

Greenspan, whose current term expires Aug. 11, appeared in the White House briefing room with Bush and his top economic advisers — Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady, White House economic adviser Michael Boskin and budget director Richard Darman. The Fed chairman offered reporters his most optimistic assessment of the economy since the start of the recession.

Thomas smoked marijuana

White House: nominee's admission insignificant

By MIKE ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas "took several puffs" on a marijuana cigarette in college — and perhaps again in law school — but the White House says the matter is "inconsequential."

The conservative appeals court judge "believes it was a mistake and never repeated it," the White House said in a statement Wednesday night.

The statement said: "Judge Thomas took several puffs on a marijuana cigarette in college and perhaps once in law school."

"Judge Thomas fully disclosed this information on the FBI form and interview which were provided to the Senate Judiciary Committee in connection with the judge's nomination to the court of appeals," said the statement read over the telephone by White House spokeswoman Judy Smith.

"We view this matter as inconsequential," the statement said.

Ms. Smith said she could not immediately provide information beyond the statement but suggested that questions about dates and places might be cleared up today. Thomas is a graduate of Holy Cross College and Yale Law School.

The statement was prepared in response to a query by The Washington Post.

Another Supreme Court nominee in recent years was tripped up by marijuana smoking. Federal appeals Judge Douglas Ginsburg was selected by President Reagan for a Supreme Court seat on Oct. 29, 1987, after the Senate defeated the nomination of Judge Robert H. Bork. But Ginsburg withdrew nine days later after admitting he had smoked marijuana while a professor at Harvard Law School.

Meanwhile, Bork said in an interview with AP Broadcast Services that political reality forced Bush to use a quota system in picking Thomas for the high court.

"That kind of a choice is forced on Bush," Bork said. "If he nominated a white male conservative, there wouldn't be a chance that he'd go through. The Senate Judiciary Committee has forced a quota system on Bush."

The president denied Wednesday that he was filling a racial quota by picking Thomas to replace the retiring Thurgood Marshall, the court's only black justice.

Bush called Thomas' nomination "the right thing at the right time" and predicted he would win confirmation.

Thomas is continuing his visits to key senators at their Capitol Hill offices and is preparing for his confirmation hearings scheduled for September.

Bork said Thomas is "probably not" the best legal mind the president could find for the court job. "But he may be the best legal mind he had a chance to get confirmed," Bork said.

Thomas risks race betrayal

HOUSTON — The Rev. Jesse Jackson says Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas must show some contrition for his stance on affirmative action or be considered a traitor to his heritage.

Jackson, speaking Wednesday at the 82nd annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, complained that the District of Columbia appeals court judge did not embrace affirmative action programs from which he had benefited.

"Some of us have come to where we are without the benefits of a government job. Judge Thomas has not asked for our support. Indeed he has shown disrespect for our heritage," Jackson said.

IN BRIEF

St. Petersburg chases Mariners

SEATTLE — Seattle Mariners owner Jeff Smulyan rebuffed a St. Petersburg group seeking an interest in the franchise. But he said he expected other discussions.

"We've been told they're dying to buy the whole thing or an interest in it, anything we want," Smulyan said of the approach from an unidentified intermediary for the Florida group. "There have been no exchanges with anyone but I can't tell you they haven't talked to friends."

"At this point, we've said no."

Smulyan said Tuesday he thinks the St. Petersburg group will make an offer for the American League team, noting the Florida city's 10-year effort to get a Major League team.

St. Petersburg's main lure is the 2-year-old $138 million Suncoast Dome, which has millions of dollars of debt in interest and loans.

The city fought hard to get one of two National League expansion teams earlier this year, but lost to Miami and Denver. At least 25,000 season ticket purchases have been pledged, and luxury stadium suites are already being sold.

If Smulyan decides to sell the team, he must offer it first to a local buyer. He paid $76 million for the Mariners in 1989 and the asking price for the National League expansion franchise was $95 million.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

It's not a playoff, but it's close

MIAMI — It could be the best thing that's happened to New Year's Day since the invention of aspirin.

A powerhouse lineup of four major bowls, two conferences and Notre Dame said Wednesday they've formed a coalition to improve the chance that the nation's two top-ranked teams will meet each Jan. 1.

The alliance will include the Orange, Cotton, Sugar and Fiesta bowls, as well as the Atlantic Coast and Big East conferences. Negotiations began last February on the agreement, which takes effect with the 1992 season.

Under the agreement, the Big Eight Conference will continue to send its champion to the Orange Bowl; Southwest Conference-Cotton Bowl and Southeastern Conference-Sugar Bowl affiliations will also continue.

After the Big Eight, SWC and SEC champions are determined, the other slots for the four bowl games will be filled by a five-team pool, which will include Notre Dame, the champions of the Big East and ACC, and two other highly ranked at-large teams. The at-large teams could be independents or conference members.

The highest-ranked team in the pool will be invited to the bowl that offers the highest-ranked opponent. For example, if Texas is No. 1 and bound for the Cotton Bowl, the highest-ranked team in the pool will be invited to play in Dallas on Jan. 1.

Holyfield to fight Tyson

NEW YORK — Evander Holyfield, with a big assist from George Foreman, knocked out rhetoric, stopped one-upmanship and now will defend the undisputed heavyweight championship against Mike Tyson.

"The fight is done — Nov. 8 at Caesars Palace," Don King, Tyson's promoter said Wednesday after closing a deal with Dan Duva, Holyfield's promoter.

King, who has said "we don't need Holyfield," made a major effort to match Tyson and Foreman, the 42-year-old folk hero, but as of Tuesday it appeared Holyfield would fill the Nov. 8 date with a rematch against Foreman, who he outpointed over 12 rounds on April 19.

BASKETBALL

Bucks to follow Moses

MILWAUKEE — The Milwaukee Bucks signed center Moses Malone to a two-year contract on Wednesday.

"Moses is an intense competitor with the heart of a lion and the spirit of a thoroughbred," Bucks coach Del Harris said. "He will give us a big lift in our rebounding and inside game."

Malone, a 15-year veteran, became an unrestricted free agent when the Atlanta Hawks declined to sign him for the 1991-92 season on July 1.

That's also the date the Bucks cleared $1.6 million from their salary cap by not picking up the option year of Jack Sikma's contract.

The Bucks did not release terms of the deal, but USA Today had reported earlier the Bucks and Malone were working on a pact that would pay him $1.6 million for the first season and just over $2 million for the second.

Chase a three-team race

Florida Manor leads DCC, Hopkins Meats

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — League-leading Florida Manor and second-place DCC both posted wins Wednesday to keep stay a game apart in the standings of the Sanford Recreation Men's Spring/Summer Softball League at Chase Park.

After Hall's Stucco opened the evening's play with a 19-5 romp of Smitty's Plumbing, Florida Manor picked up a 7-0 forfeit win over the Sanford Police Benevolence Association. DCC then turned back Hopkins Meats 12-5 to gain sole control of second place.

Florida Manor, winners of three in a row, is now 9-2 while DCC is 8-3 and Hopkins Meats is close behind at 7-4. That trio is trailed by Hall's Stucco (5-7), Smitty's Plumbing (3-8) and SPBA (2-9).

Next week, Hall's Stucco is scheduled to play

SPBA at 8:30 p.m. DCC and Smitty's Plumbing will tangle at 7:30 p.m. before Hopkins Meats takes on Florida Manor at 8:30 p.m.

Spencer Baggett was 3-for-3 with a triple, double and three runs scored to highlight the 13-hit attack of Hall's Stucco while James Thompson was 2-for-3 with a triple, double and three runs scored. Blake Smith added two singles and three runs scored.

Also chipping in were Freddy Moreno and Bob Bumgarner (both with two singles and two runs scored), Brian Sprinkle (three runs scored), Jim Hall (single, two runs scored), Bob Garner (single) and Mike Shuttuck (one run scored).

For Smitty's Plumbing, Johnny Haddock hit three singles and scored a run. George Porzig doubled, singled and scored a run while Bob Wells and Chad Roll both singled twice and scored a run. A.W. Ives also had two singles. Jimmy Jenkins singled and scored a run. James Smith and Curtis Wolff each singled.

In the battle for second place, DCC exploded for seven runs in the top of the first inning and were never headed by Hopkins Meats, who didn't get on the board until the deficit had reached 10-0.

Donny McCoy led DCC with a triple, single and three runs scored while Mike D'Amico added a triple, single and two runs scored. Roger Kinnard singled twice and scored twice. Mike Brodericks doubled, singled and scored a run. Thad Brooks hit two singles and scored a run.

Also chipping in were Sonny Eubanks, Guy Brewster and Jimmy Ramos (each with a single and a run scored) and Arthur Barnes, Solomon Hardy and Ira Hall (one single apiece).

Tom Shanley launched a home run along with a pair of singles to lead Hopkins Meats. Shawn Wyman added one triple, double, single and run scored. Andy Dickens, Kay Robinson and Mark Bolton each hit two singles while Charlie Hatcher, Ron Prager and Robert Burgess each hit a single and scored a run. William Wynn and Glen Burgess both singled.

Good and lucky

While it doesn't hurt to be either good or lucky, sometimes it takes a combination of the two to get the job done. As an example, take the home run hit by H.D. Realty's Brian Jones at Pinehurst Park Wednesday night. Jones certainly needed to be good enough to hit the ball over the left field fence. But he still needed a bit of luck as a Regency Mazda outfielder was able to get back to the fence and get his glove on the ball, but couldn't hang on.

Pinehurst leaders scrape by

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — There were no easy winners Wednesday night in the Sanford Recreation Department Men's Spring/Summer Softball League at Pinehurst Park.

Things got started with second-place H.D. Realty having to hang on to beat Regency Mazda 6-4. League-leading Ed Bussard's Pro Bass Guide Service then used a four-run fourth inning to down Bikini Beach 5-0. Finally, the Wrecking Crew needed nine innings to overcome Enaley Inc. 8-7.

Bussard's (9-3) maintains its half-game lead over H.D. Realty (8-4) while the Wrecking Crew (7-5) is just two games back in third. Bikini Beach (5-5) is in fourth ahead of Regency Mazda (5-7) and Enaley Inc. (a very deceptive 0-12).

For H.D. Realty, Mack Thorne's two-run triple in the second and Brian Jones' two-run home run in the third were the big blows as Regency Mazda out-hit the winners by a 13-8 margin.

Jones also had a single to go with his home run. Bob Kelly added two singles and a run scored while Chris Dapore, Chryst Doney and Carl Thorne each singled and scored a run. Duane Carlson also scored a run.

Keith Sparks tripled, singled and scored a run to lead Regency Mazda. Carl Lee and Jerry Brussel both added a double, single and a run scored while Jeff Sladek singled twice and scored once. Bob Borake and Wayne Kelly each hit two singles. Scott Penala contributed a single.

For Bussard's, John Wilks was 3-for-3 with a triple to lead a 13-hit attack. Jeff Bergman, Ed Bussard and Tom Wilks each added a double, single and one run scored. Reggie Robinson singled and scored a run. Tom Wilks, Duane Goemmel

Good hitting, pitching has Oviedo Seniors on roll

From Staff Reports

APOPKA — Casey Stengel once said that good pitching begets good hitting and vice versa.

The Oviedo Senior League (14 and 15-year-olds) All-Stars have both.

On Wednesday night, Oviedo won its third straight game in the District 14 Area 3 tournament at Apopka-West Seminole Little League, defeating the Dr. Phillips Nationals All-Stars 10-0 on a one-hitter by 14-year-old Todd Bellhorn.

In those three games, Oviedo's offense has accumulated 58 runs on 38 hits while the pitchers have limited opponents to one earned run on four hits.

On Wednesday night, the Dr. Phillips Nationals squandered a chance to get to Bellhorn early. Alexis Gonzalez led off with a hit, but was quickly picked off first by Bellhorn. An out later, Jason Moore walked and the next batter reached on an error, putting runners at first and second.

But Bellhorn, showing the poise that earned him a spot on the Oviedo High School varsity team as a freshman this spring, struck out the next batter (the first of 12) to kill the threat. He then retired the next 15 batters in a row before Dr. Phillips' lead-off hitter in the top of the seventh reached on an error.

Meanwhile, the Oviedo offense struck for three runs in the first inning, one in the second, four in the fourth and two in the sixth.

Leading the 15-hit Oviedo attack were the top four hitters in the Oviedo batting order — Tim Slavik, Mike Rugenius, Bellhorn and Mark Metcalf — who combined for 12 hits in 15 at bats with a triple, two doubles, seven RBI and eight runs scored.

Slavik, the lead-off hitter, was 3-for-4 with a triple, one RBI and two runs scored while No. 2 hitter Rugenius was 4-for-4 with a double, three RBI and three runs scored.

Bellhorn, the No. 3 hitter, went 3-for-4 with a double, one RBI and two runs scored. Metcalf, the clean-up hitter, was 2-for-3 with two RBI and a run scored.

Also contributing was Jay Busse, who went 2-for-2 with an RBI.

Oviedo is now off until Saturday, when it will play the survivor of the losers' bracket in a 10 a.m. game at Eastmonte Park in Altamonte Springs.

Little League

EUSTIS — Shaun Child turned in a complete-game pitching performance and led a balanced offensive attack as the Altamonte Springs Nationals eliminated Casselberry 10-2 in a Little League (11 and 12) District 14 Area 3 All-Star game Wednesday night.

The Altamonte Springs Nationals will attempt to continue their trek through the elimination bracket when they face the team that knocked them into the losers' bracket, the Deltona Nationals, at 7 p.m. at Casselberry Little League. Deltona defeated Altamonte Springs 8-4 on Monday.

To earn the rematch with Deltona, Altamonte Springs used five hits, 14 walks and three Casselberry errors enroute to its win Wednesday night. Leading 5-2 after four innings, Altamonte Springs scored five runs on just one hit in the fifth to put the game on ice.

Child, who struck out nine and walked three while allowing three hits, led the Altamonte Springs offensive effort by going 2-for-3 with two RBI and two runs scored. Kevin Naas scored three runs while Michael Felker and Billy Parker each had two RBI.

Broncos

FOREST CITY — Jimmy Parsons broke a 1-1 tie with a two-run double to give Seminole Central a 4-3 win over West Seminole Maroon Wednesday night in the Bronco (11 and 12-year-olds) All-Star tournament being played at West Seminole Pony League.

In Wednesday's earlier game, the Seminole Americana edged West Seminole Gold 3-2.

With the score tied 1-1 in the fifth inning, winning pitcher Aaron Black hit a two-out infield single. After Phillip Eubanks singled Black to second, Parsons ripped the next pitch to deep center field for a double that scored Black and Drug therapy could reduce the appetite

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 94-year-old mother has no appetite and is finding it difficult to eat. She's been diagnosed with sideroblastic anemia and takes B-6 and folic acid daily. She also takes Dyaside for fluid retention — even though there's been no edema for four months now. Could the Dyaside cause her to lose her appetite?

DEAR READER: The term sideroblastic anemia refers to a group of diseases marked by a person's inability to utilize iron in making new red blood corpuscles. This can result from defective synthesis of hemoglobin, the iron-containing pigment in the cells, such as in thalassemia, or from inefficient iron metabolism ("iron-overload" anemia). The cause of this error in metabolism is not known, except that the condition is, in some cases, due to drugs (alcohol and antibiotics), cancer and autoimmune diseases.

Sideroblastic anemia does not respond to treatment with folic acid; patients receiving vitamin B6 usually do not show complete or sustained improvement. However, given your mother's age, this simple therapy is appropriate — as compared to blood transfusions.

Dyaside is a combination diuretic, containing two active compounds: hydrochlorothiazide and triamterene. The product is useful in treating fluid retention and mild hypertension. It should not be given to people with significant kidney impairment. Dyaside causes many potential side effects, including diabetes, potassium imbalance, rash, nausea, vomiting, muscle cramps, weakness, fatigue, renal failure and anemia. It can cause anorexia (loss of appetite).

If your mother has no edema, I believe she would be better off without the Dyaside — or she could use it for short periods when she experiences fluid retention. Ask her doctor about this. In my experience, people

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

WHOA!

By Phillip Alder

The result on some hands is almost impossible to predict. As an example, look at all four hands in today's diagram. What do you think will be the outcome in four spades, given the club jack lead?

East's jump to three no-trump was slightly sporting, but if his diamond suit was running and dummy tabled just the club ace, he would have nine running tricks. Here three no-trump was destined to finish two down, but rather than risk its making, North sacrificed in four spades.

West made an unfortunate lead. Given his hand and the auction, he should have deduced that his partner held solid diamonds. A lead of that suit would have killed the contract for sure. But the J-10-9 sequence lured West into leading his top club.

East was marked with the club king, and since the second round of clubs could be ducked to bring it down, declarer looked to be in fine shape. He won the first trick with the club ace, played off three rounds of hearts, discarding one of dummy's diamonds, and led a trump to the queen and ace.

Surely the best East could do was to take his two minor-suit winners. However, he was made of sterner stuff. True, he cashed the club king, but then he led a low diamond.

If only South had been awake, he would have played the diamond jack and made an overtrick. But he didn't ruin a good story — he put in the eight. So West won the trick with the diamond 10 and gave his partner a club ruff for one down.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
 July 12, 1991

Improvements in your financial position are likely in the year ahead. However, you'll have to guard against the inclination to speculate or take monetary risks.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If there has been an improvement in your financial affairs recently, you'd be smart not to talk about it in front of a friend who has not yet repaid you an old loan. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Send for Cancer's Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Rather than make waves today, you may make some concessions to someone with whom you're closely involved. But be firm when necessary.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're not likely to lack initiative or industriousness today, yet you may not accomplish your objectives; there's a chance you'll use the wrong tools or procedures.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The right types of social involvements could do a world of good for your attitude today. However, associating with negative companions will take the edge off your optimism.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you challenge someone whose views and opinions are contrary to yours today, nothing of value is likely to be gained. Neither you nor this individual has the power to change the world.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your faith in your philosophy of life might be tested and found to be lacking today. It might be wise to ask yourself, "Who is wrong, for my beliefs?"

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A joint venture in which you're involved could work out OK, provided there is parity in all things. Neither should be expected to invest more than the other.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may request advice from several people today, then do what they told you not to do — in spite of their unanimous opinion. Don't blame them if it doesn't work out.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your productivity will be predicated upon the way you schedule your tasks today. The worst thing you can do is put your most difficult jobs last.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may be put in an awkward position today where you have to defend an old friend regarding an issue you don't truly support. Do the best you can, even if your heart isn't in it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's very important that neither you nor your mate air your domestic differences in public today. If you do, both of you could severely tarnish your images.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something you feel enthusiastic about should not be discussed at this time with an associate who is notorious for expressing negative views. It could dampen your outlook.
