MACO May Cut Paper Shuffling Costs

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The board of directors of the Metropolitan Alcoholism Council of Mid-Florida (MACO) will meet this week to consider a recommendation from its planning committee to cut costs of shuffling paperwork by retaining certain funds for detoxification services for facility on Gore Avenue. Jerry Kinzler, MACO executive director, said since the Seminole County Mental Health Center closed the Seminole County detox center some months ago, persons who need detoxification services have been using the 26-bed center, operated by MACO at 712 W. Gore Ave., Orlando. Since money for the service was budgeted for the multiple transfer of money between MACO and the Seminole County agency. If the board accepts the recommendation, this paperwork would be eliminated, Kinzler said.

The time of the meeting for the 18-member MACO board has not been set, Kinzler said.

At this point, the board will consider cutting funding for Seminole in only one area, Kinzler said. It is being recommended that the budget for transporting patients from Seminole to Orlando be cut $1,000 — from $4,000 to $3,000 — because the Seminole County Mental Health Center has used only $1,500 for transporting this year even though seven months of the fiscal year have passed, Kinzler said.

"We can't pour money down the tube if it is not being used," he said. "Adding MACO can't allow money to be budgeted and then not used because there is such a great need for funds for active alcoholism programs.

Kinzler said persons "who have insulted their bodies with alcohol" to the point where their thinking and behavior is disturbed and to where they cannot control themselves are admitted to the detoxification center. At the center they are treated, if necessary, by a physician-psychiatrist, who is on call.

These who wish to quit drinking but cannot do it by themselves are counseled and assisted in a rehabilitation program for a three-to-five day period.

Currently, transportation is provided for the patient through a contracted program, he said.

Old Hospital Renovation Plans Ready For County

Initial plans for the renovation of the old Seminole Memorial Hospital building are scheduled to be presented to Seminole County commissioners Tuesday.

Charles Braun of Helman Hurley Charvat Peacock/Architects, the Winter Park firm charged with designing the renovation of the building. The schematic plans are expected to be accompanied by cost estimates for the renovations.

The hospital building will be used by county commissioners, their staff offices and other constitutional officers until a new administration building is constructed. Commissioners hope the new building can be constructed within five years.

The planned renovations will utilize existing room configurations where possible. Additionally, open area will remain between the branches of government to provide room for the offices to grow.

The move into the hospital building is expected to take place this summer. And while the architectural firm continues working on the detailed plans for the hospital renovation it will also be drawing up plans for alterations in the courthouse.

The courthouse will be turned over to court and court-related offices. Circuit and county judges have expressed concern about the situation. Several judges have no office space and the county commissioners' meeting room doubles as a courtroom.

Attorney Emery H. Rosenbluth has represented the judges in space discussions. Rosenbluth wants to expedite renovations to the courthouse to facilitate the transition.

Helman Hurley Charvat Peacock has been hired to design each of the facilities planned by the county to accommodate the services needed for an expanding population. The county's population is expected to double from its current 180,000 by the year 2000.

As part of the county's building program, an operations center is planned for the county's Five Points complex and a multi-story office tower is planned for construction next to the courthouse.

The architectural firm was given the go-ahead earlier this month to begin work on the design of a $1.95 million health clinic to be built on Airport Boulevard near the Zayre Plaza in Sanford.

The firm will be paid $107,250 to design the 30,000-square-foot clinic on an 8.7-acre parcel recently acquired by the county from Geraldine C. Kirk for $167,910.

Dr. Jorge Deju, head of the county's health department, has told commissioners that 30,000 square feet should be sufficient to supply the area's needs through the year 1990. Deju said the building should be built so that additional floors can be built for later expansion.

But the county's space consultant, Walter H. Sobel of Chicago, disagrees with Deju's assessment. Sobel said the county needs an additional 10,000 square feet by 1990.

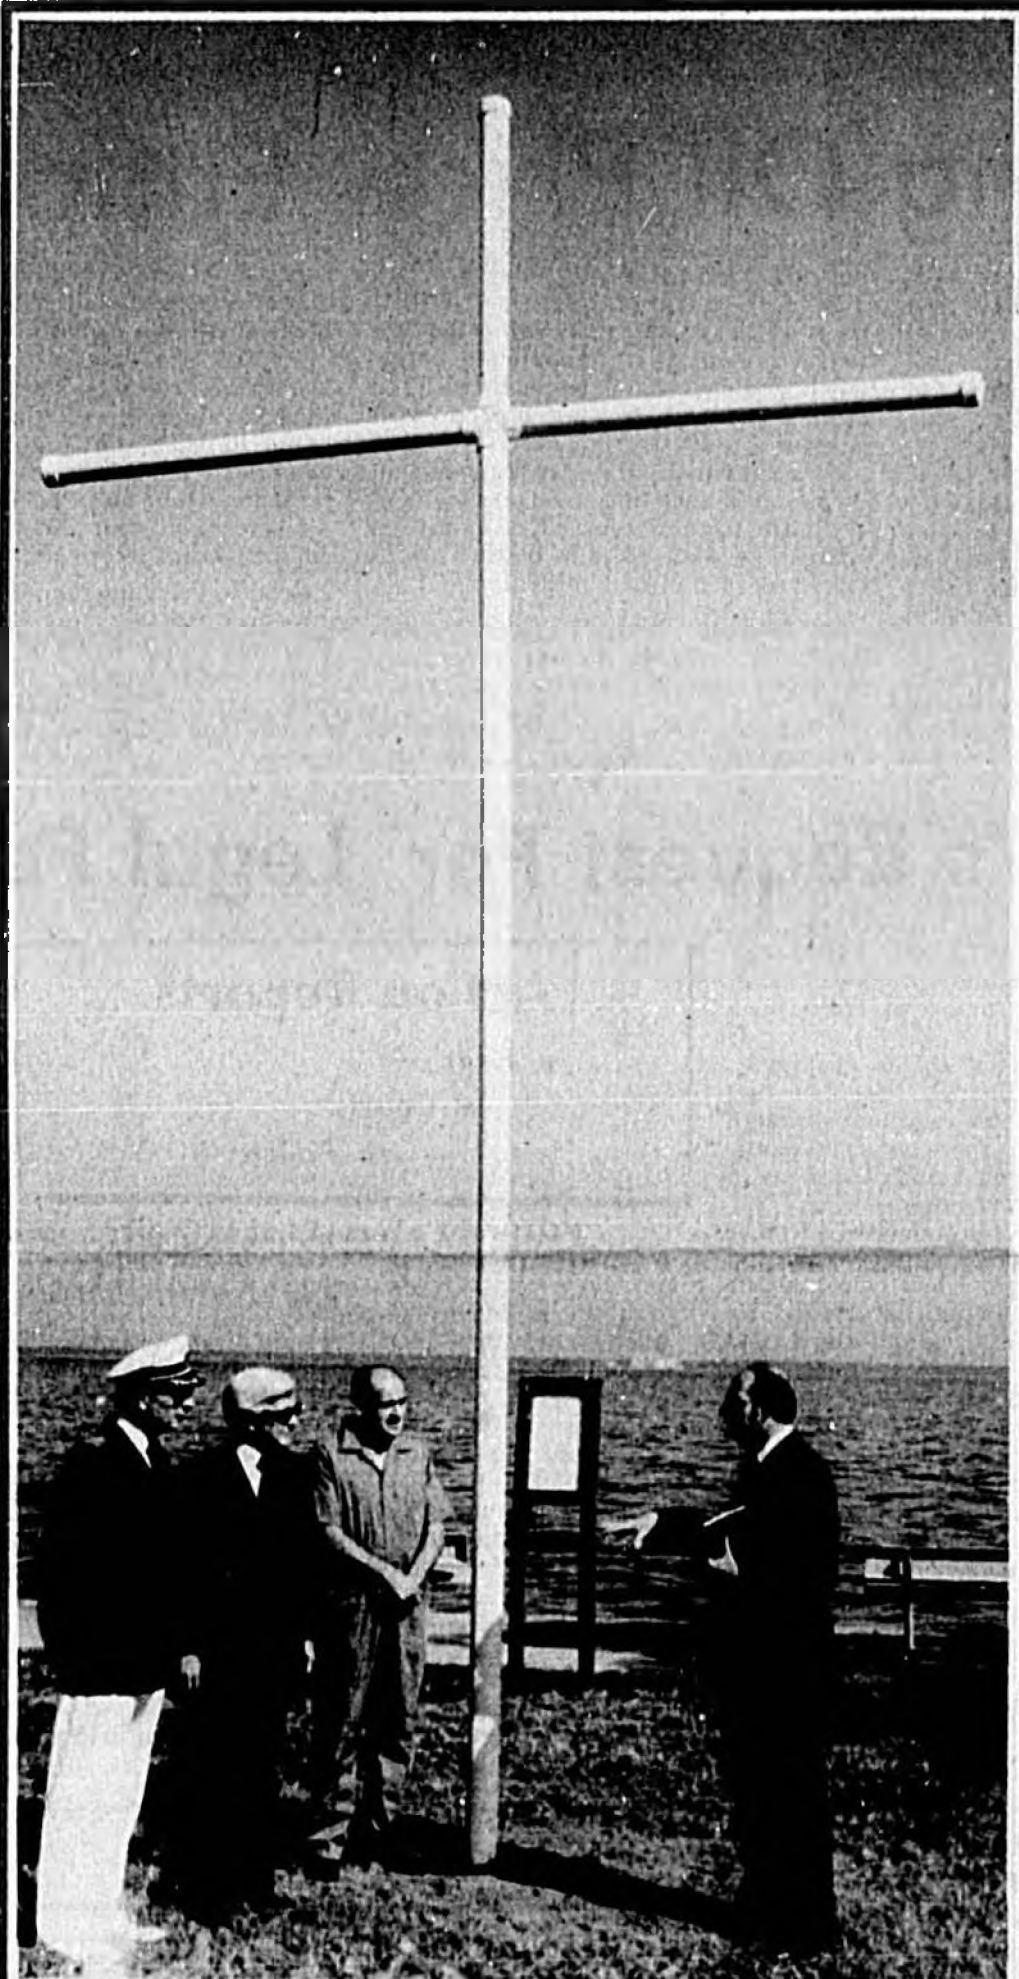

Commissioners will also be considering Tuesday two more projects which are part of the county's building program.

Contracts for design of a fleet management building at the Five Points complex and renovations to the state attorney's building at Park Avenue and First Street are on the agenda for Tuesday's meeting.

Commissioners have already given tentative approval to plans to construct the fleet management building. The building is estimated to cost about $126,000 and provide a facility for the fleet management department to work on vehicles. The firm will receive $4,000 for preliminary designs and a brief outline of specifications for the building.

The firm will be paid $6,500 to prepare preliminary drawings and cost estimates for renovations to the State Attorney Building. The building, now called the Central Services Building, will be turned over to the state attorney's office when offices from the Department of Public Services and Development move into the old hospital building.

SUNRISE SERVICE

Discussing plans for the April 3 Easter Sunrise Service sponsored by the Sanford Area Ministerial Association next to the newly erected cross at Veterans Memorial Park at the lakefront are (from left) Capt. William H. Doelle of the Bay Queen, City Commissioner Milton Smith, Hulon Black, chairman of the Resurrection Celebration, and Peter Courlas, ministerial association president. The speakers and singers will be aboard the cruise ship offshore while the congregation will gather on the shore. Dr. Freddie Smith of Central Baptist Church will deliver the sermon at the 7 a.m. community service and the Sons of Song will provide special music.

Chamber Sets Final Membership Drive

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce will hold its follow-up membership drive the week of March 1.

Those business people who wished to be contacted again for new memberships or for renewals will be visited by chamber workers during the drive.

The chamber's goal is 1,000 members. During the initial drive, the chamber's membership swelled to a total of 922. Five additional memberships have come in since the drive ended, making a grand total of 927.

Prizes for top salesmen and runner-up will be awarded after the follow-up, Horner said. There will also be a special prize for anyone bringing in over $300 in membership fees.

Gene Burns Blasts Defense Spending

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The Libertarian party's No. 1 presidential candidate says President Reagan was unable to offer a balanced budget because "he is a fanatic on defense spending."

Gene Burns, 42, host of a radio talk show in Orlando said Reagan's "eagerness to pander" to the military has blocked all prospects for reducing big government.

"The real philosophical reason that Reagan was not willing to offer a balanced budget was that he is a fanatic on defense spending, determined to have us bristling with armaments," he told his party's state convention Sunday.

Burns is the front-runner for his party's presidential nomination in 1984. "I may be the only runner," he joked.

Burns said the federal budget could be cut by at least $180 billion by dropping out of NATO, ending all foreign aid and unilaterally beginning to dismantle nuclear arms.

Highway Group Turns Attention To Road Plans

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Now that the Seminole County Expressway Authority has been funded, authority members can turn their attention to developing toll highways in the county.

The expressway authority received a $109,000 grant from the state Department of Transportation earlier this month to fund its start-up. The grant will be used to hire consultants to study possible expressway sites and to hire staff for the authority.

Jack Schuder, Seminole County public works director, is also serving as director of the expressway authority during the preliminary planning stage. Schuder said the money will be used primarily to fund studies of the county to determine possible sites for expressways.

An additional worker for the county's planning office could be hired, Schuder said. The planning office has been handling the preparatory work for the authority. Schuder said hiring of a permanent executive director will probably wait until the authority determines what direction it will take.

The expressway authority is expected to approve a scope of services for the consulting work and at Tuesday's meeting and advertise for consultants.

Schuder said the consultant will be expected to examine various sites in the county for current traffic flow and projected traffic to determine what areas need expressways. He said existing highways will not likely be converted into toll roads but added that the authority could fund improvements to some of those highways since they will serve as access roads for expressways.

Schuder believes one area that merits consideration for an expressway is the area around State Road 520 near Oviedo. The road is highly traveled with Seminole County residents going to Martin-Marietta Corp., Westinghouse and the University of Central Florida.

The planned improvement to six lanes of Lake Mary Boulevard and construction of an elevated expressway at State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs are two projects which could benefit from creation of the toll roads. Those projects, expected to cost at least $200 million, are major arteries for traffic and are too expensive for existing revenue sources to provide funding.

The consultant's study will determine what the traffic flow of an expressway might be and then determine how much it would cost to build and how much revenue could be collected.

Schuder said $1 million in revenue would cover about $12 million in bonds but added that the county must pledge funds to support a bond issue while the toll roads are being constructed and during the early years of operation.

Mafia In U.S. And Italy Helped In Dozier Rescue

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two days after Brig. Gen. James Dozier was kidnapped by Red Brigades terrorists, authorities turned to the Mafia for help and a jailed mafioso in Italy eventually gave them the address where he was being held, Time magazine reported.

In its Feb. 28 edition, Time said the rescue of Dozier, who was NATO's deputy chief of staff at the time of his kidnapping Dec. 17, 1981, in Verona, Italy, involved the help of an illegal Italian immigrant in Brooklyn, a Mafia "arranger" known as The Fat Man, the CIA, the Justice Department and Franchino Restelli, head of the Milan, Italy, Mafia.

Dozier was held captive for 42 days until his rescue Jan. 28, 1982 — one day after Restelli supplied the address where Dozier, 50, was being held in a house in Italy.

Both Italy and the United States claimed Dozier's rescue was the result of dogged police work and confessions of Red Brigades members captured during the six-week search. Time, however, reported high level intelligence officials turned to the Mafia for help two days after the abduction.

Missile Offer Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz rejects Soviet leader Yuri Andropov's offer to pull back medium-range missiles from the European front as merely shuffling a nuclear threat to other parts of the world.

Under the zero option, the number of Soviet and U.S. medium-range missiles along the NATO front would be cut to zero. Reagan has offered to halt deployment of Pershing II and cruise missiles, now set for late this year, if the Soviets eliminate their missiles.

Shultz, summarizing Andropov's proposal, said, "All he was going to do was move these missiles over here and they could easily be moved back again."

The offer, Shultz said, would only move the weapons "from the European theater to the Far Eastern theater."

Jobs Compromise Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sometime this week, President Reagan's top aides hope to reach agreement with House Democratic leaders on how to create several hundred thousand temporary jobs for America's more than 11 million unemployed.

They are working with a $4.3 billion jobs program proposal made by Reagan after weighing political and economic realities.

In a federal budget approaching $800 billion, the $4.3 billion Reagan proposed, which could rise to near $5 billion under pressure for compromise, may seem insignificant.

But just two months ago, as unemployment was still rising, Reagan was trumpeting his opposition to "temporary relief" programs promoted by Democrats who had exploited the issue of his "compassion" in the fall campaign.

Education Focus Of State Budget

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham proposed an $11 billion 1983-84 state budget today that continues a five-year, campaign to achieve education quality, but requires tax increases to do so.

Graham will recommend an additional $300 million a year in education funding, including money for nearly $2,000 pay raises for public school teachers and also substantial raises for college and university faculty.

He also will propose a $240 million increase in the required local effort the minimum amount of money school districts must contribute toward public school funding. This will mean a slight increase in property taxes in many counties.

Graham may propose still other new taxes. Senate President Curtis Peterson says the governor has been looking at increases in liquor taxes. And Graham has been contemplating a plan to raise the documentary stamp tax to provide money to local governments for sewage disposal systems.

He already has recommended new transportation taxes.

Graham proposed last week a package of increases in taxes on gasoline, commercial aviation fuel and heavy trucks that will generate an extra $250 million a year for road and bridge repairs and announced his intention to convene a special session for March 1-2 to win approval of the plan.

The budget is being submitted late. It was due Saturday — 45 days before the beginning of the regular session in early April. Graham had planned to release it last week, but he was delayed because of hard-to-conclude negotiations over a gas tax increase.

Graham says education funding must increase by $300 million if Florida is to stay on track toward meeting a five-year goal of achieving nationally-recognized quality in its schools, colleges and universities.

The upcoming fiscal year will be step three in the plan, which calls for Florida to become at least the 12th state in the country in such things as teacher and faculty salaries and state spending per public school student.

Graham also wants additional funding for law enforcement, although not nearly as big an increase as in recent years when it was his highest priority, economic development and community care for the elderly.

The Legislature boosted the sales tax by a penny a year ago, the largest tax hike in about 15 years. But the recession lasted longer than expected and state taxes didn't produce as much as expected and needed to balance the 1982-83 state budget.

Public school teachers would get nearly a $4,000 increase in pay over the next two years, including an $1,800 increase in 1983-84. Community college faculty would get a $5,000 increase over the biennium and university faculty, a $3,000 increase.

Graham recommended programs to get more mathematics and science instructors and improve the quality of instruction in math and English in the universities.

Law enforcement is not the big budget item as it has been with the governor in the past. Graham did recommend money for prison construction and 80 new positions for the Florida Department of Law Enforcement to fight organized crime.

He recommended funding for planning so Florida can cope with its tremendous population growth and to expand programs of community care for the elderly.

It is not yet clear which counties would have to raise property taxes because of the higher required local effort, but any increase probably would be slight. One estimate is that taxes on a $50,000 home would go up by only $25. The Legislature reduced property taxes during the current budget year.

Graham recommended an increase in alcoholic beverage taxes — from $4.75 a to $6.50 per gallon on liquor, $1.75 to $2.25 on wine and 40 cents to 48 cents on beer.

Taxes on beer would go up a penny a can. Taxes on liquor would go up about a cent-and-a-half an ounce.

Graham recommended an increase in the intangibles tax from $1 per $1,000 of value to $1.50. He also proposed removal of the intangibles tax exemption on holdings of U.S. government securities and non-Florida state and local bonds.

He recommended the 8 percent increase in tuition proposed by the Board of Regents.

Declining Oil Price Endangers OPEC

LONDON (UPI) — Cuts in the price of crude oil by Britain, Norway and OPEC-member Nigeria put unprecedented pressure on big Middle East petroleum producers today and threatened to collapse the cartel's shaky price structure.

"OPEC has now got to reach agreement," said a London-based analyst with a major international oil company.

"They've got to get a production-sharing agreement which works and a pricing policy they've got to stick to without private discounts."

Britain pressured the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries Friday by slashing prices $3 a barrel on its North Sea oil to $30.50. Norway, another non-OPEC nation, quickly followed suit.

Nigeria became the first OPEC member to break ranks with the 13-nation organization, announcing Saturday it would cut crude prices by $5.50 to around $30 a barrel to compete with Britain.

Nigeria, which desperately needs oil dollars to finance huge overseas loans to revitalize its hard-pressed economy, is competing with Britain because both countries' oil is of similar quality.

Oil Minister Mallam Yahya Bikkio reportedly said Nigeria will match any cut below its prices "cent for cent."

Prices have been forced down because the worldwide recession, better conservation efforts by Western nations and a relatively mild winter in the northern hemisphere have caused a world oil glut.

On the spot market, oil has been available for less than $30 a barrel. Aggravating the slump was OPEC's failure to reach a pricing and production agreement in Geneva on Jan. 24. The pressure is now on OPEC to try again for an agreement, but the Nigerian move could make an accord more difficult.

Reports reaching London said OPEC appeared to be moving to cut its benchmark price by $4 to $30 a barrel. If higher-quality Nigerian oil sells for $30, however, the benchmark price for "Saudi light" could tumble to $28.50 a barrel.

Market observers in the Gulf and London say an OPEC move to regain control of the world oil market might involve reducing the benchmark price, freeing prices for up to three years, negotiating a tightly knit production-sharing agreement between Saudi Arabia and Iran and changing differentials for African and extra-light crudes.

Seminole's Request For Legal Fees Rejected

Seminole County's claim for $5,151.60 in attorney's fees from Dr. Merle E. Parker of Sanford, the result of an unsuccessful lawsuit against the county by Parker, has been rejected.

In an order denying the claim, Judge George C. Young, Senior United States District Judge for the Middle District of Florida in Orlando, said that although Parker's suit "was without merit, it was not so frivolous, unreasonable or so utterly without foundation so as to award attorney's fee and costs to defendants.

Parker had sued five county commissioners, a former county commissioner and two animal control officers, claiming his right to due process of law was violated when two of his goats were seized and impounded. He had to pay a $100 fee to get them back and was denied any type of court hearing or the opportunity to confront his accusers, which he claims a citizen must be given before a fee or fine can be collected.

Parker had claimed in his suit that since he is in an agricultural zone, escaped animals do not come under the ordinance which provides for the impounding of animals which are allowed to run at large. He claims that escaped animals are not being allowed to run at large but are loose without the owner's knowledge and therefore there should be no penalty.

Parker's civil rights suit was dismissed on December 3, 1982 when Judge Young ruled that he had sued the county commissioners as individuals and not as a county government. Parker has appealed the case to the 11th Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta.

MOTORIST'S WALLET SNATCHED

A Casselberry man had $80 taken from his wallet by a man who leaned in his car window when the vehicle he was driving stalled in Altamonte Springs.

Allen Duke, 19, of 3544 Merrivale Drive, told deputies four men gathered around his car when it stalled near the intersection of Jackson and North streets about 3 p.m. Friday.

Duke told deputies one of the men leaned in the window, took Duke's wallet from his pocket and ran. Duke and a companion chased him but when the man took all of cash and dropped the wallet, the men gave up the chase. Duke lost about $80.

PURSES PILFERED

Two Orlando women were robbed of more than $200 early Saturday morning after they were run off the road in a subdivision near Altamonte Springs.

April McConnell, 26, and Michelle Howard, 23, told deputies they were run off the road at about 3:18 a.m. by a carload of men.

Clothing Copy Cats Have Designs On Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — South Florida has risen to third nationwide in one category of the garment business — turning out counterfeit designer clothes.

Some investigators say the illicit industry is partly bankrolled by organized crime.

Investigators say tens of millions of dollars in fake designer clothing can be traced to the Port of Miami where they are shipped in from as far away as Hong Kong and attached with labels in the city's garment industry.

The Miami area ranks third to New York and Los Angeles in turning out the counterfeit garments. The New York-based International Anti-counterfeiting Coalition says counterfeiters cost the fashion industry $500 million in 1980.

Some angry designers are starting to get tough. Calvin Klein, Jordache, Ralph Lauren, and Playboy have hired detectives to crack down on the illicit business.

WORLD

Sharon Makes Comeback

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Former Defense Minister Ariel Sharon regained some of his old power by his reappointment to two key Cabinet committees, drawing charges the government flouted recommendations of the Beirut massacre inquiry.

The opposition Labor party Sunday called the Cabinet's move "a mockery of democracy."

Prime Minister Menachem Begin was the primary force behind Sharon's reappointment to the five-man steering committee that sets Israeli positions in the U.S.-sponsored troop withdrawal talks with Lebanon, Israel Radio said.

Yossi Sarid, a Labor Party parliament member, charged the reappointments were "a slap in the face for the Kahan commission" that released its findings last week, saying Sharon bore "personal responsibility" for the massacre.

Although only one minister cast a negative vote, Cabinet Secretary Dan Meridor conceded five others absented themselves. News reports said the absent ministers chose to stay away rather than defy Begin.

The burly ex-general's membership in the committees might pose a challenge to Defense Minister-designate Moshe Arens, currently Israel's ambassador to the United States.

Libyan Jet Hijacked

VALLETTA, Malta (UPI) — Maltese officials negotiated through the night for the release of some 160 passengers aboard a Libyan Arab Airways jetliner hijacked to the Mediterranean island, a government spokesman said.

The plane, a Boeing 727, attempted to take off early today but was blocked by security police, Maltese radio said. The identity, number and demands of the hijackers were not known.

Airport officials said the Luqa airport, near the capital of Valletta, was closed temporarily, pending resolution of the hijacking.

A spokesman for Libyan Arab Airways in Malta said he believed the plane was on a domestic flight inside Libya when it was hijacked Sunday. He said almost all the passengers were believed to be Arabs, most of them Libyans.

He did not know the flight's destination or origin.

Money Incentives Will Not Help Older Workers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A University of Southern California study shows that financial incentives, such as tax breaks and government subsidies, would do little to help the elderly find work.

"Incentives, particularly tax-based incentives, may produce financial windfalls for many employers and may have relatively little impact on employment opportunities for older persons," the study released Sunday showed.

The study, carried out by the Andrus Gerontology Center at USC, was based on 145 questionnaire responses from Fortune 500 corporations and interviews with 40 company officials around Southern California.

Raising the retirement age is one of the most controversial proposals being discussed as a remedy for the problems faced by the Social Security System in the coming years.

Sally Coberly, the principal investigator and a policy analyst with the university's National Policy Center, said the study's findings pose "a difficult dilemma."

"On the one hand, many employers expressed interest in hiring incentives, and some indicated that they would hire older workers if incentives were available.

"On the other hand," she wrote, "many indicated that that would not change their hiring or recruiting practices to take advantage of them. Rather, they confidentially admitted that they would claim incentives for workers they would have hired anyway."

Among the incentives discussed in the study were subsidies for training older workers, a waiver of the employer's Social Security contribution for older workers, a tax credit for the cost of older worker's health insurance and a program like the existing federal Targeted Jobs Tax Credit Program.

The latter rewards an employer with about $4,500 over a two-year period for each worker he employs in certain "targeted" categories.

The study suggested an incentive program to spur hiring of older workers should be undertaken "only if it is done in the manner of one cautious step at a time."

"Adding low-income older workers to the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit program might be the first experimental step," the study suggested. "Evaluations could then be undertaken to determine if 'windfalls' occur and to identify what types of older workers may actually be hired."

Third Patient Dies After Dental Surgery

MISSION VIEJO, Calif. (UPI) — Another patient of Dr. Tony Protopoulos, the dentist already under investigation for the mysterious deaths of two other patients, has died within hours of routine dental surgery.

Patricia Craven, 13, had been rushed to the Mission Community Hospital 12 days ago when she slipped into a coma after her wisdom teeth were removed in an eight-hour procedure by Protopoulos.

The girl, who traveled with her mother from the family's new home in Sacramento to keep an appointment with Protopoulos, died Saturday.

Hours after the girl's death, police obtained search warrants and seized Protopoulos' medical and financial records, appointment books and drugs used in the treatment of the three patients.

Police said the seizures were made to protect evidence in the case and said no criminal charges were brought.

Protopoulos, 37, arrested earlier this week on assault and possession of cocaine charges following an armed confrontation with police, is being investigated by several agencies in the deaths of two other anesthetized patients. Protopoulos has denied any wrongdoing.

An autopsy on the seventh-grader did not immediately disclose the cause of death. The Orange County coroner's office said toxicological and microscopic tests, which take weeks, would be performed to determine exactly what caused her death.

David Fishman, an attorney for the Craven family, said the girl underwent eight hours of dental treatment Feb. 10. The girl stopped breathing shortly after her mother — who had previously been treated by Protopoulos — picked her up and brought her to a relative's home, Fishman said.

Miss Craven's collapse occurred a day before Cathryn Jones, 31, went into cardiac arrest while being treated by Protopoulos. The woman died at a hospital without regaining consciousness.

Her death and that of Kim Andreassen, 23, were being investigated by Costa Mesa police and the coroner's office.

PRESIDENTS DAY

Monday was observed throughout the country as Presidents Day in honor of the birthdays of Presidents Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. Seminole County schools were in session today, but post offices and other federal government offices and services were closed.

So, What's In A Name

CHICAGO (UPI) — The names are right out of fiction: "Frank Seville," "Jimmy the Weasel," "Joey the Clown."

But they were uttered under oath from a federal court witness stand during court hearings that will decide the sentence given Teamsters President Roy L. Williams, reputed mob hit man Joseph "Joey the Clown" Lombardo and two Teamsters pension fund underlings.

The four were convicted in December of conspiring to bribe a U.S. senator. Each faces up to 55 years in prison.

The government has been trying to show the defendants are controlled by, or involved with, the shady underworld of organized crime. You could say the Jan. 20 gangland rubout of a fifth co-defendant, Allen Dorfman, tended to punctuate the feds' argument.

Frank "Seville" Cullotta and Jimmy "the Weasel" Fratiano are former mob associates turned government witnesses whose testimony brought the underworld to the surface in recent weeks.

One network TV reporter was so taken by it all he was overheard in a hallway quoting Italian phrases from the novel "The Godfather."

The nicknames of the alleged mobsters certainly spice up the courtroom atmosphere.

"Joey the Clown" Lombardo is not always amused by the proceedings, but he is a well-known jokster. "This diamond? Aw, it's notin' but a 'canary' stone. You 'canary' see it," he told reporters in the hallway of the federal building during his trial.

Some other names that came up in testimony were Louis "Louie the Mooch" Eboli and Joseph "Doves" Aluppa, whose gangster nickname came from a run-in with a Kansas game warden who caught him with a car trunk full of doves years ago. Others known Aluppa as "Joe Batters" because of beatings he allegedly bestowed with a baseball bat.

An informer testified at length about Marshall Caliano, a short man known as "Shoes" because of the lifts he used to add to his height.

At the other end of the spectrum was James DiAntonio, called "Legs" because he is tall.

Then there was Anthony "The Ant" Spilotro and Tony "Big Tuna" Accardo, a sport fishing enthusiast.

Underboss Jackie "the Lackey" Cerone's name also came up in testimony and for the first time Frank Cullotta, the former mobster who has turned government witness, was tagged.

A witness said Cullotta was known as "Frank Seville" because of the Cadillac Seville he drove around Las Vegas.

All these names reminded one long-time mob watcher of one more — a Minnesota hood dubbed "Kid Can" because every time trouble broke out, he fled to the washroom.

EPA Memo Purged From Computer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the Environmental Protection Agency memorandums central to Congress' investigation of toxic waste enforcement was removed from the agency's computer by a former agency official.

Eugene Ingold, a former aide to fired top EPA official Rita Lavelle, told United Press International Sunday he deleted the memorandum in the same way EPA computers are routinely purged.

Three House subcommittee chairmen said they were concerned information being sought by Congress may have been destroyed.

The memo was cited by EPA Administrator Anne Gorsuch Burford, who married Robert Burford Sunday and changed her name, as one reason she had Ms. Lavelle fired by President Reagan two weeks ago.

Despite the agreement giving one House subcommittee access to EPA toxic waste enforcement files, another panel's chairman said he does not regard the pact as binding on his subcommittee.

"I have more questions raised than answered," Rep. James J. Florio, D-N.J., said Sunday. "I intend to go forward to try to determine what would motivate EPA to go into settlement agreements with companies that couldn't have been motivated by anything other than the desire to get the companies off the hook."

Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., chairman of a subcommittee that also has subpoenaed EPA documents, said, "We would certainly hope they would come up here with their total integrity intact and would be greatly disappointed if they weren't."

The purged memo accuses EPA general counsel Robert Perry of "systematically alienating the primary constituents of this administration, the business community," supporting charges the EPA was too close to the polluters it is charged with regulating under the $1.6 billion "Superfund" toxic waste cleanup program.

Hugh Kaufman, an agency investigator known as a "whistleblower" for his outspoken criticism, said in a telephone interview he warned congressional investigators the memo would be purged and it "disappeared" after Ms. Lavelle was fired.

Florio said he is "starting to get the impression that something really very seriously inappropriate is going on with EPA. I think Congress has to make the commitment to get to the bottom of it."

Ingold, who was fired when Ms. Lavelle was, said what he eliminated amounted to "about a page and a quarter of notes to be used by Miss Lavelle for a meeting on management problems."

"The meeting never came off, so I never wrote any talking notes. I later realized I should clean off the obsolete material and I did, but not before somebody had stolen the disk and run off copies of the notes."

Sen. John Chafee, R-R.I., appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press" Sunday and announced Ms. Lavelle, who ran the Superfund program, will appear before the Republican-dominated Senate environmental pollution subcommittee he chairs Wednesday. Ms. Lavelle evaded subpoenas from two House panels last week.

Rep. Elliott Levitas, D-Ga., chairman of the House Public Works oversight subcommittee, said he wants to know whether material his panel has subpoenaed was altered or destroyed in agency paper shredders or computers.

Levitas negotiated the agreement with the administration giving his panel access to Superfund enforcement files. Six House panels are investigating Superfund.

Mrs. Burford was voted in contempt of Congress by the House Dec. 16 for refusing to give the Levitas subcommittee the files.

Under the agreement with Levitas' panel that action will be dropped.

But Florio said he would go forward if EPA refuses to provide him the information he wants.

He said he would "certainly" be willing to cite Mrs. Burford for contempt.

Israel's High Democratic Drama

The fall of Israeli Defense Minister Ariel Sharon is a high democratic drama that has no parallel since President Harry Truman sacked Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a legendary hero of two world wars, for insubordination during the Korean War.

From the moment the Beirut massacre commission announced its report placing chief responsibility for Israel's complicity in the tragedy on Gen. Sharon, and calling for his removal, it appeared certain he would be unable to hang on, tough as he is. The only question was how he would go and when.

Even after the Israeli Cabinet, following two days of meetings, voted 16-1 to accept formally the commission report, Sharon, who cast the lone negative vote, still defiantly refused to resign. His sudden decision to step down is said to have been influenced by the death of a 35-year-old former paratrooper who was killed in a grenade blast that tore through hundreds of protesters demanding the resignation of the defense minister just outside the Cabinet room.

Ironically, the man accused of being indifferent to the slaughter of hundreds of Palestinians by Lebanese militiamen, was reported to be devastated by the death of one Israeli in a demonstration on the resignation issue. So he put an end to it and stepped down. Even so, Sharon is likely to remain in the Cabinet but without portfolio. If true, this could be a potential problem for the former Israeli ambassador to the United States, Moshé Arens, who has been appointed to succeed Sharon as defense minister.

State Department spokesmen in Washington, who are already irritating Israeli public opinion by predicting that the Sharon resignation will lead to improved U.S.-Israeli relations, ought to know that Arens is a hawk's hawk. Arens, who served in the U.S. Army during World War II, is more sophisticated and less abrasive than the general, but no less determined, according to every report.

The resignation of Sharon will not still political repercussions rolling through Israel. The Begin government, which rules through a shaky coalition and the thinnest of parliamentary margins, is expected to call for early elections that could strengthen its control. This prospect, enjoyed by Begin because of his widespread public support, is not properly appreciated in Washington, where every shove against Israel toward peace negotiations seems to win more votes for Begin's tough and feisty policies.

We hold to our previously expressed belief that the political turmoil in Israel and the possibility of a caretaker government pending new national elections put the peace process on hold in the Middle East. Israel possesses the peace key and no far-reaching decisions can be expected in Jerusalem under existing uncertainties. Thus, impatient U.S. diplomacy will have little choice but to settle down to a waiting game. There are obvious disadvantages in this delay, but it might not be an altogether bad thing, considering how much dust is still settling in Lebanon.

Industrial Policy

What this country needs is a comprehensive industrial policy to help American industry meet the challenge of competition from abroad.

Such a policy would involve a more active and better coordinated role for government in promoting industry.

The alternatives are to do nothing, allowing foreign competitors to beat us out in our own market and in world markets, or to erect tariff barriers, protecting our own market but risking a trade war that would close foreign markets to us.

We must reject do-nothingism and protectionism.

We must lay aside outmoded prejudice against using government to promote industry. American industry need no longer be viewed as a giant to be shackled, lest it trample the rights of the people. Now alien giants are growing rapidly overseas, threatening to subdue our giant.

It wasn't socialism when the government dug the Erie Canal, subsidized the railroads by land grants, built the interstate highway system or launched the space program. It isn't socialism when the government spends billions for research and development. It isn't socialism when the Export-Import Bank subsidizes loan rates to sell goods abroad. It isn't socialism when the government stimulates the energy industry with tax breaks.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I LIKE Elizabeth Taylor. In a world of change - she doesn't!"

By VIC ASSERSON

Three pretty rag dolls have become the latest weapon in the fight against crime.

The three dolls, recently handed over to Sheriff John Polk by the Winter Park Elks Club, will be available to any law enforcement agency in Seminole County that has need of their services.

They are unique dolls for underneath their clothes they are anatomically complete with male and female organs.

Their sole purpose is to help in the questioning of children involved in sexual abuse cases. Investigators have found it very difficult to find out from children what might have happened in a sexual abuse incident, because the terminology by very young people for different parts of the body is not the same as adults.

The dolls have been handed over to Vicki Morris, the Seminole County Sheriff's department's Director of Victim Services, who says in this month's edition of the Sheriff's Star magazine: "In order to know exactly what a child is talking about we start out with different parts of the doll and point to them and say 'what do you call this?'"

As the investigator gently questions the child the doll is undressed and once the child's words can be understood they can then describe the crime in their own words.

It has been the experience of investigators that the child is quite happy to describe the incident by pointing to the doll but are reluctant to point to themselves or describe what had happened by relating it to a real person.

The dolls are also comforting to the children because they are more able to relate to them and not be frightened and holding the doll can give them a greater sense of security.

Law enforcers are enthusiastic about the benefits of the dolls in the fight against crime. The dolls are available to Police departments and the State Attorney's office.

DON GRAFF Support Brings Survival

OK, we're generally agreed that the Israelis have made a score for the democratic process with the inquiry into the Beirut refugee camp massacres.

But they made it against great and continuing opposition. Menachem Begin, with his stone-walling until public opinion compelled him to establish the panel, evidenced again his own inherent incompatibility with that process.

And grace is certainly not the word for the way in which Ariel Sharon has accepted the panel's recommendations.

Those recommendations have done anything but resolve matters. They have inflamed Begin's mob support whose behavior in the streets of Tel Aviv and Jerusalem bears disturbing resemblances to that of brown shirts in Munich and Berlin 50 years ago.

Those supporters defiantly assert that the outside world has no place lecturing Israel about moral responsibilities.

They are wrong. The Jewish state is not sovereign like any other sovereign nation. It would not exist if powerful friends in that outside world had not assisted or acquiesced in its establishment. The relationship that was established then continues, and it is two-way.

Ultimately, Israel's survival is dependent upon continuing material and political support from outside. That support has made Israel the dominant military power in the Mideast, with all due respect for the courage, skill, sacrifice and determination of the Israelis themselves.

Those who have made that power possible through money and equipment have legitimate reason to be concerned how it has been employed. It has, under Menachem Begin's government, made Israel an occupying power over a growing population of non-Israelis, first in the West Bank and now in Lebanon.

No power corrupts a society more thoroughly than that of holding sway by force over resentful alien populations, as the responses within Israel to the consequences of might makes right policies in the West Bank and Lebanon are demonstrating.

The most dismaying evidence to emerge from the massacre inquiry is not the details of slaughter in the Palestinian camps but the attitude of Israeli military authorities toward their own role in the affair. It is not their disclaimers of personal involvement or approval that dismay. It is their position that the atrocities were really none of their business because Arab was pitted against Arab, even though what happened could only have happened as it did because of conditions the Israeli forces had created. And because they failed to exercise control that was in their power.

Sharon above all. He is an authentic war hero and merits the lasting gratitude of the Israeli public. His tank crossing of the Suez Canal in 1973 converted a near disaster into partial victory.

But a war hero is not necessarily the best raw material for a statesman. Sometimes it works out. As Moshé Dayan, say, or a Dwight Eisenhower.

But how would you like to have had George Patton as president of the United States?

If the divisive and potentially self-destructive uproar continues, Begin may take the issue to the Israeli public in an election. If he does, it will be because he thinks he can win.

And he probably would.

But, in the circumstances, a win for Begin and the rigid, narrow men who with him now govern Israel would be no victory for the Israeli democracy's real interests.

JACK ANDERSON

More Like A New Protection Target

WASHINGTON — The great corporate scramble for defense dollars has produced weapons systems that are designed more for profit than for defense. The military procurement system has become the nation's biggest scandal.

Contractors sell the Pentagon on fancy military gadgetry that increases their profits but reduces the combat effectiveness of the weapons. The costly trimmings help make U.S. weapons so complex that military personnel can't operate them but must call in factory representatives.

Obviously, new weapons should be tested under battle conditions. Yet they are accepted after superficial tests that permit the contractors to take their money and run. Many weapons now on the firing line would probably be useless in actual combat.

The latest example is the Aegis Cruiser, which is supposed to protect Navy carrier task forces from Soviet aircraft and missiles. Yet the cruiser may itself be hopelessly vulnerable to attack.

The heart of each $1.2 billion Aegis Cruiser is a super-sophisticated radar system. It can track attacking planes and missiles and cut through the enemy's electronic jamming to tell real missiles from decoys.

But the radar has a fatal flaw. It emits such strong and distinctive signals of its own that they act as beacons that give away the exact location of the Aegis.

The Aegis is also virtually untested in anything like realistic battle conditions. Although the first Aegis is scheduled to join the fleet early this year, no one is sure that it will work, even if it isn't sunk.

What has the Navy been doing to test its new cruiser? "To date, most Aegis combat system tests have been computer simulations rather than actual exercises against target vehicles," said a secret General Accounting Office draft report seen by my associate Don Goldberg.

Furthermore, the Aegis hasn't been tested against the very kind of low-altitude missile that sank the HMS Sheffield in the Falklands war. Yet this is the precise threat the experts fear the Aegis is most vulnerable to.

The reason for this failure is simple but appalling: The Navy doesn't have a simulated missile that can be used for Sometimes an abuse is so obvious and so gross that it paradoxically somehow escapes our notice. We have grown used to it.

But is it not preposterous that politicians have constructed societies where you have to have government approval to publish a poem, exhibit a painting, or show a movie? The sheer presumptuousness of such bureaucrats is breathtaking.

The occasion of these reflections is a new film directed by the Polish filmmaker Andrzej Wajda entitled "Danton."

At this writing, though the film is to premiere in Paris, serious doubts exist that the Jaruzelski government will permit it to be shown in Warsaw. Even if the Polish dictatorship does relent and permit the showing of "Danton" the very idea that it could ban the film is an outrage.

In the film, Maximilien de Robespierre, revolutionary architect of the Reign of Terror during the French Revolution, represents revolutionary purity and ruthlessness. Robespierre was willing to guillotine thousands in order to establish the republic of virtue.

As against Robespierre, Wajda presents Danton, a revolutionary process became too horrible in ordinary human terms. From the point of view of Robespierre, Danton is corrupt, a betrayer of the ideals of the revolution. From the standpoint of Danton, Robespierre is a monster and the enemy of ordinary people and ordinary life. As Danton goes to the guillotine, he predicts that Robespierre will also end up with his head on the block, which, in fact, he did.

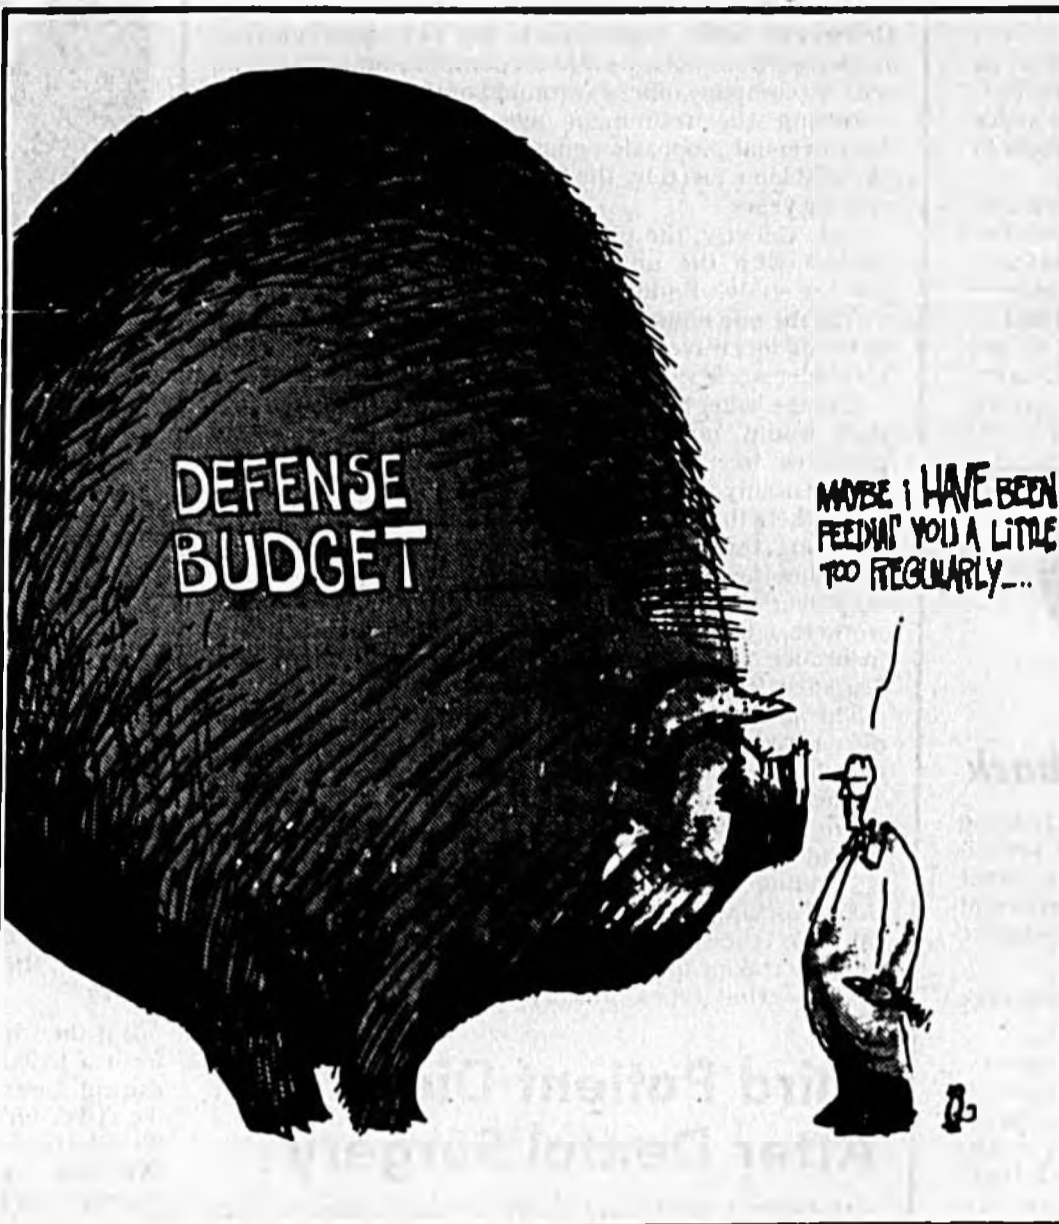

Interestingly, the film is based on a play written after World War I by a Polish artist named Stanislaw Przybyszewski which, in the heyday of communist revolutionary idealism, takes the side of Robespierre and the "necessary terror." Wajda in his film answers his predecessor, identifying his own point of view with Danton rather than the murderous revolutionary idealist.

Wajda has denied that his Danton is meant to suggest Lech Walesa, but because his story takes on the character of a universal parable the connection is bound to be made, not least by Polish audiences. And since it is in fact a universal parable, it has application around the world, from the fanatical utopianism of a Mao Tse-tung, which kept China an underdeveloped nation for 30 years and slaughtered millions, to the fanatical revolutionists of Central America, willing to destroy nations in order to remake them according to a theoretical design.

The historical Danton, as we know, was correct. Robespierre's terror issued in a parliamentary coup against him and his own execution. The chaos of the revolution led to the reimposition of order by Napoleon and the eventual restoration of the monarchy. As Edmund Burke observed, revolutions devour their children.

Wajda's film is an artistic event of international importance. It perhaps gives too much stature, by implication, to men like Jaruzelski by implying that they are revolutionary idealists like Robespierre. They are cynical. Robespierre was not.

But I return to my opening thought. The very idea that a work of art or literature can be suppressed by some bureaucrat in temporary control of the state is an astonishing piece of moral presumption. That the rationale for censorship is obvious does not make it any more defensible.

ROBERT WALTERS

Homes For The City

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA) — The phenomenon is called "Manhattanization" because New York City's Borough of Manhattan is the country's leading example of a central city business district almost totally devoid of a stable middle-class population.

New York is not alone, however. In major cities throughout the nation, intensive commercial development has produced an urban core throbbing with activity during the daylight hours but desolate and lifeless when those who work in the city have fled to their suburban homes.

Only the very wealthy (those who can afford premium-priced townhouses and condominiums) and the very poor (near-destitute families crowded into substandard lofts and grimy apartments) actually live in or near the center of the city.

The result can be a city without a soul — a matter of considerable concern to municipal officials, city planners and others concerned about the continued vitality of the nation's urban areas.

Here in San Francisco, that trend became apparent several years ago when Mayor Dianne Feinstein and her advisors considered the implications of the city's construction statistics.

Item: During the past decade, the city has gained an average of about 10,000 new jobs every year but has added only about 1,000 new housing units annually.

Item: Even families which wanted to remain in or move into the city found that option financially prohibitive because the average price of a home in San Francisco has soared to almost $150,000.

Item: Although the amount of new office and commercial space constructed in the city since 1980 now is approaching a phenomenal 15 million square feet, there have been only 800 new housing starts here during the past three years.

Relying upon the city's broad authority over the planning and zoning process as well as its power to grant — or deny — building and occupancy permits, municipal officials devised a bold, ambitious plan: Anybody seeking to construct a commercial office build-this kind of test.

It's not that the admirals didn't think of this. They did. It was called Firebrand, and it would have given Aegis defense teams a target just like the Soviets' dangerous low-altitude missiles.

But in typical Pentagon fashion, Firebrand was plagued with delays and cost overruns. In not-so-typical Pentagon fashion, however, Firebrand was scrapped. The Navy decided it simply wasn't worth its price.

The Navy is now considering a less-fancy simulated missile for Aegis target practice. But it won't be ready until late next year at the earliest.

This means the fleet's chief defense ship may get its first realistic test from enemy missiles. That will be a little late to find out whether Aegis works.

Everett Erases Daytona Beach; Raiders Host Cage Tournament

BY SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Apopka's Delvin Everett couldn't give his usual pre-game speech when the Seminole Community College Raiders lined up for their most important game of the year Saturday night at home against the Daytona Beach Scots.

An accident while warming up before practice Friday caused the 6-5 forward to bite his tongue which drew blood in three places. "We didn't even know if he was going to play," said SCC coach Bill Payne.

Everett, however, erased any concern when he personally took the Scots apart Saturday night with a career-high 31 points, 12 rebounds and three three-point plays as the Raiders coasted to an easy 110-78 victory over the Scots.

The victory, coupled with Florida Junior College's 113-103 victory over Central Florida Community College Saturday, left the Raiders and FJC tied for second place in the Mid-Florida Conference standings with 9-5 records and necessitated a coin flip between Payne and Florida Junior coach Buster Harvey.

Harvey called heads and it came up tails so the Raiders will host the post-season tournament Thursday after Tuesday's first-round games are played at the site of the higher-seeded teams. SCC (1) also receives a bye as the tourney host.

The Raiders, 19-11, will meet the winner of the Central Florida (4)-Santa Fe (7) game at Ocala. Game time is tentatively set for 7 p.m. Thursday. Daytona Beach (5) hosts Valencia (6) while Florida Junior (3) entertains St. Johns River (8) at Jacksonville. Those two winners play at 9 p.m. Thursday. Lake City, ranked 15th nationally and the conference's no. 1 team, won the league and gets an automatic berth in the State Tournament which begins March 3 at Stetson University in DeLand. The other seven fight for the second spot.

"I don't know if I really like that draw," said Payne who was overjoyed, nevertheless, with the host's role. "We've beaten Santa Fe and Central Florida twice and it's tough to beat a team three times." The Raiders have split with Florida Junior and Daytona, the favorites in the lower bracket.

Although Payne has mixed emotions about the pairings, he didn't see anything he didn't like Saturday night against the Scots who had hammered SCC in Daytona Beach,

"I'd have to say it was our best performance of the year," said the first-year SCC coach. "Everybody played well. We worked all week on shooting the ball and it helped our confidence."

Everett, in particular, was very confident. The springy freshman tormented the Scots inside by grabbing job passes from guard Jimmy Payton, who handed out 10 assists for the night including nine in the first half when the Raiders eased to a 51-38 advantage. Everett funneled in 19 first-half points, all within five feet of the basket as the smaller (no starter over 6-3) Scots were powerless to stop him. Everett hit 12 of 13 from the field.

Everett had two muscle moves for three-point plays in the first half but it was his third trio, with 13:59 to play, which buried the Scots by 19, 63-44. Everett reversed a layup, was fouled, then converted the free toss.

Payne sent in the second team with seven minutes to go and former Seminole High guard Mike Gaudreau put on a shooting exhibition which ballooned the lead to 98-69 with 3:25 to play. Gaudreau hit all four of his shots including a three-point goal and a free throw for 10 points.

Sanford's Keith Whitney, who dazzled the crowd with two spinning layups midway through the second half, tossed in the 100th point. Whitney finished with eight points while David Gallagher and Luis Phelps each added 12. Ricky Sutton had his usual good floor game along with 19 points. Phelps led with 13 rebounds as SCC dominated the boards, 44-33. Payton added four steals as the Raiders full-court press gave the Scots trouble the whole second half.

Rams Stun Jones

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

A spectacle occurred in the Lake Mary gym Saturday night. The Lady Rams beat Jones.

Behind the play of 5-9 senior Jackie Robinson and the overall quickness of the Jones squad, the Lady Tigers had compiled a 22-4 regular season record, were ranked seventh in the state's 3A poll and were overwhelming favorites to win the 3A-8 District Tournament at Lake Mary.

But, the Jones express was derailed by the intense Lady Rams, 56-46, as Lake Mary won its second district title in two years of existence. Lake Mary now goes on to the Region 3A-4 championship against Brooksville Hernando Tuesday night at Brooksville. Tip off is 8 p.m.

"I told the team that if they stayed on the boards and passed through their (Jones) pressure, they'd have a shot at Jones," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said. "They had a shaky start, but got their heads up and convinced themselves they could beat that team (Jones)."

The lead changed hands three times in the first quarter before Jones took a 17-14 lead into the second quarter. Lake Mary hit 6 of 12 shots from the field the first quarter but the Tigers had the rebounding edge, 10-6. Jones made only 7 of 23 shots in the quarter, but offensive rebounds resulted in eight points for the Tigers.

Lake Mary came back to tie the game at 20 midway through the second quarter as Michelle Swartz hit a jumper on an assist from Peggy Glass. The game saw-sawed for the next few minutes until Jones' Alecia Johnson dropped in a layup to give the Tigers a three-point lead, 29-26, and Washington swished a 20-foot jumper with 21 seconds left in the half that gave Jones a five-point lead, 31-26, at halftime.

The Lady Rams started to build their confidence in the third quarter as Lake Mary began to handle Jones' relentless pressure and out-rebounded the Tigers. By the end of the third quarter, the shoe was on the other foot, so to speak, as the Rams built a 42-38 lead. For the first time in a while, the pressure started to get to Jones, as it showed on the players' faces.

In the fourth quarter, the Rams did what Moore wanted, they passed through the press and eventually wound up getting points off it. Meanwhile, Jones could not hit anything. The Tigers made only two field goals in the fourth quarter and committed eight turnovers, two in the game's most crucial moments.

With 4:10 remaining in the game, Kim Averill converted a layup that gave the Lady Rams a 47-42 lead and a jumper by Swartz on an assist from Averill gave Lake Mary a 49-42 lead with 3:13 remaining.

Averill, only a sophomore, was the difference in the game down the stretch. She scored eight of her 17 points in the final four minutes and gave Lake Mary its biggest lead, 54-44, with 1:01 left to play. For Jones, who is not used to coming from behind, the pressure was 10-point lead was too much to overcome.

"We had to use our common sense against their (Jones) quickness," Averill said. "They got rattled in the second half and we capitalized on their mistakes."

Laura Glass led the Rams with 21 points and 15 rebounds while Averill added 17. Swartz tossed in eight and Peggy Glass seven. Lake Mary shot 42 percent from the floor for the night, hitting 22 of 52 shots.

Washington scored 21 points for Jones but hit only 8 of 32 shots from the field. Johnson added 11 points and 19 rebounds. The Tigers hit only 18 of 73 shots from the field for a dreary 25 percent.

There was a bit of irony in the air Saturday night at Daytona Beach Mainland High. The Lady Silver Hawks of Lake Howell, who were all but counted out after standout Chiquita Miller was removed from the team for an eligibility infraction, rallied behind Tammy Johnson's 18 points and Christy Scott's exceptional 23 rebounds to sting favored DeLand, 55-54, and claim the 4A-9 District Championship.

"The key for us was rebounding," Codrey said. "Scott had 23 and (Janane) Brown had 14 and we outrebounded them by a pretty good margin."

Johnson hit one of two free throws with 30 seconds left to sew up the district title for Lake Howell. It was Lake Howell's, 8-20, eighth straight victory after Miller was found to be ineligible. Without the 17 forfeits, the Hawks would be 25-3.

Brown, who took over Miller's center position, continued to play impressively as she tossed in 13 points. Cindy Blocker added 12 points and Mary Johnson chipped in seven points and handed out 10 assists. Bridgette Gordon had a game-high 24 points for DeLand and Debbie Knight added 17.

"Gordon got into foul trouble early," Codrey said. "We took the ball inside real well against her and she only scored four points in the first half."

Lake Howell built an 11-point lead by the end of the third quarter, but Gordon came alive in the fourth with 12 points and behind her, DeLand rallied for a 52-49 lead with 3:22 remaining in the game. The Lady Bulldogs did not score again until Gordon hit a jumper with five seconds left to play.

Jones' forward Alecia Johnson rips loose a rebound from Laura Glass (left) and Michelle Swartz. Lake Mary topped Jones Saturday night to advance to the regionals Tuesday.

Blocker came up with a steal and dropped in a layup to cut DeLand's lead to 52-51 and Mary Johnson came back to hit a jumper to put the Hawks ahead to stay, 53-52.

Gordon's jumper with five seconds remaining cut Lake Howell's lead to one point and DeLand immediately called a time out. Mary Johnson got the inbound pass into Blocker who ran out the clock to give the Hawks the victory.

Lake Howell will host its regional championship game against the winner of the District 3A-7 tournament Tuesday night.

Cale's Checker Game Pays Off

BY CARL VANZURA
Herald Motor Sports Writer

DAYTONA BEACH--When the silver anniversary of the Daytona 500 came down to a checker game on the final lap Sunday, nobody played better checkers than veteran race car driver Cale Yarborough.

"It was a checker game out there all day today," said Yarborough after bursting past Buddy Baker on the final lap to claim his third Daytona 500 victory and the $119,600 cash prize. "Second place was the place to be on the white flag (one lap to go) and nobody was going to take that place from me."

As has occurred all week, the leader going down the back-stretch on the final lap has had victory snatched away from him going into the third turn. Yarborough said he had it all planned for the final lap burst and all he needed was a third car to carry out his strategy.

Bill Elliott arrived just in time. Elliott shot through to battle Baker and Joe Ruttrian for Sunday's photo finish for second place which gave Yarborough his golden (silver) opportunity. The only trouble Yarborough had all day came on the 64th lap. Darrell Waltrip's car went out of control, crashed into an infield wall and rebounded onto the track. Yarborough slowed just in time and barely avoided missing Waltrip.

For his 12th all-events win at Daytona, Yarborough turned an average speed of 155.979 miles per hour. The victory made Yarborough the all-time wins leader at Daytona International Speedway.

Elliott, who was in fourth place on the final lap, dropped back to get a running start to finish second. He collected $66,425 for his move. "It was the only chance I had the way my car was running," he said.

Baker pointed out he had Yarborough whipped on power but not finesse. "We had them on horsepower," he said. "I figured with the big lead I had I might be able to hold them off on the last lap. I went high into the second turn and Cale seemed to back off a little bit. I really planted my foot on the floor then but the draft was just too strong."

The crash which sent Waltrip to the hospital and almost disrupted Yarborough's big day was brought about when a car in front had to slow down. Waltrip slid into the tri-oval wall and then bounced back again on the track once again hitting the wall. Waltrip miraculously missed hitting any of the other cars when he came to rest in the middle of the track. He was hospitalized over night at Halifax Hospital with a "mild concussion."

Baker finished third while Ruttrian was fourth and surprising Dick Brooks was fifth.

Eligibility Still Vague For Murphy

Someone or something has reopened the Ronnie Murphy eligibility case, according to Oviedo basketball coach Dale Phillips.

Murphy, the Lions' all-state forward who averages 26 points and 16 rebounds a game, was advised not to play in last Thursday's game against Lake Howell by Fred Rozelle, Florida High School Activities Association executive secretary, pending further research into Murphy's eligibility.

At the semester grading period, Murphy passed three classes and was given two incompletes. A student must pass four classes to remain eligible. Phillips and Oviedo Principal Charlie Webb called Rozelle at that time to make sure they were interpreting the eligibility rule correctly. As Phillips understood it, Murphy had 10 days to make up the required work. Murphy's first semester progress was hampered when he was suspended earlier in the semester for a classroom disturbance. He missed 10 days of school for the disturbance. Those absences were unexcused.

"We weren't trying to hide anything," said Phillips. "We called Rozelle and asked for an interpretation. He agreed with us and said he felt Murphy would be eligible when he made up the work according to Seminole County standards."

Murphy, who sat out several games during the time of his incompletes, is now in good academic standing, according to Phillips. He returned to action on Saturday, Feb. 5 and since that time has led the Lions to four victories.

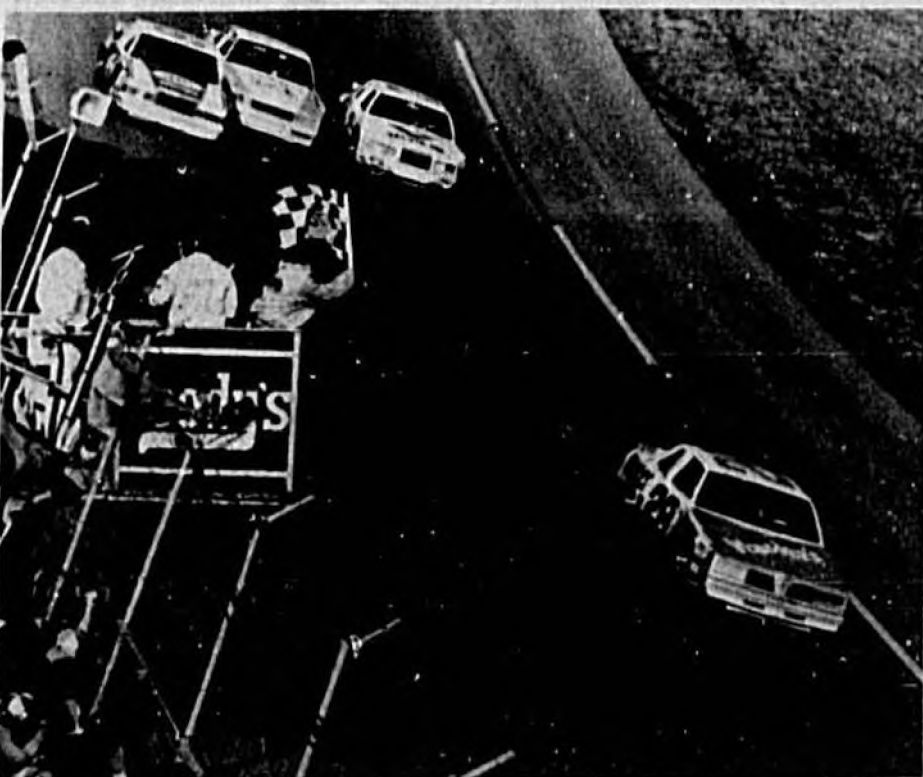

Phillips said Rozelle called last week and told Oviedo, "that he may have made a mistake in his interpretation." The Oviedo coach is fearing the worst and the school has sent a $250 check to the FHSAA in case a special ruling is needed to determine Murphy's eligibility.

"This is really something," said Phillips Sunday night. "If Rozelle would have told me Murphy was ineligible three weeks ago (at the time of the incompletes), I would have cried a couple days and then forgot about it. But this way, with the district starting Thursday, I don't have time to prepare my team knowing we might not have Ronnie."

Phillips refused to speculate as to whom may have reopened the case, but a source close to the situation said it was a Seminole County school or administrator whose school had already played Oviedo or was going to play Oviedo.

The Lyman Greyhounds lost to Oviedo on a last-second basket by Murphy on Feb. 5 and the Lake Mary Rams are the Lions' first-round opponent in the 3A-8 District Tournament at Orlando's Bishop Moore Thursday.

'Flapjack' Likens Stacks Up Twiggs For 3A Title

Lake Brantley's Brucato Brutalizes Foes For Championship

BY SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Mary wrestler Jack Likens won't have any trouble deciding what he wants to eat for breakfast anymore. After what the Rams' shrewd 109-pounder did to Willie Twiggs in the State 3A Championship match Saturday night at Haines City, there may be a big run on Aunt Jemima at the local grocery store.

Trailing, 6-3, with seven seconds to go in the third period, Likens turned Twiggs almost 180 degrees to his back with a "pancake" maneuver for a four-point move and a narrow 7-6 victory and the state championship.

"I was just going for everything I had," Likens said. "I had nothing to lose. But after those first two rounds, I wasn't too hopeful.

Twiggs, from Titusville and the defending 102-pound champion, grabbed a quick 4-1 lead in the first period with two takedowns while all Likens could manage was an escape. In the second two minutes, Twiggs had another takedown for a commanding 6-1 bulge entering the final period.

Likens, however, was well-versed on his opponent and knew stamina was a problem for Twiggs. "I remembered that his endurance wasn't that great and he had been getting slower and slower with his moves."

Early in the final period, Likens escaped to pull within four. With 30 seconds to go, Likens was awarded one point as Twiggs was detected stalling.

With less than 10 seconds remaining, Twiggs went for a double-leg takedown but Likens avoided him by moving to the side. Likens then cross-faced Twiggs and lifted him almost halfway around to his back.

"I knew I had the takedown but he was really fighting to stay off his back," said Likens. "I switched sides several times, though, to keep him on his back."

After time ran out, the three referees huddled and two agreed that Likens had gotten the two backpoints (keeping the opponent's shoulders within four inches of mat or keeping one shoulder on the mat and the other at a 45-degree angle for one second or more) necessary for the one-point victory.

"I couldn't believe it. I thought it was great," said Likens, a Junior, about his state title. "I was pretty sure I could get through the first three rounds, but I didn't know about Twiggs because he was a defending state champion. And after I got behind those first two rounds...well...I didn't really know what to think."

Likens coasted through the early rounds with victories over Midville's Paul Schlegel (19-3), St. Petersburg Seminole's Mark Morin (6-3) and Ft. Pierce Central's Zack Redden (10-1). He finished the season with a spotless 32-0 record in his weight class. His only setback of the year came when he wrestled up two classes against powerful Edgewater. The Rams will move into the Five Star Conference next year as a 4A school and Likens will be in a unique position to have a chance of winning a state title in two classifications.

Likens' big buddy—328-pound teammate Robert Rawls—made it to the semi-finals before running into Jacksonville Rutherford's George Bradley Saturday morning. Bradley pinned Rawls in 1:09. Bradley went on to pin St. Pete Seminole's Darryl Brown in 1:47 for the championship of the unlimited class. Rawls lost, 5-1, in the wrestlebacks to Hollywood Chaminade's Pete Frisela.

"Losing in the semi-finals really deflated Robert," Lake Mary coach Frank Schwartz said about his monstrous Junior from Sanford who is just in his second year of wrestling. "He really had his heart set on winning a state championship but he wasn't the same wrestler after he lost. He'll be back next year, though." Rawls completed the year with a sparkling 29-3 record. Rawls and Likens accounted for 29½ points for Lake Mary which gave the Rams a ninth-place finish. Rawls and Likens were the lone Ram qualifiers.

Naples Lely easily won the state title with 72½ points. Miami South Dade (43), Miami Edison (42), Bayshore (40) and Flagler Palm Coast were next in line. Coach John Horn's

Prep Wrestling

Oviedo Lions, who took five grapplers to the meet, finished finished 25th with 16½ points. Sophomore Jerry Jordan took fourth at 102 pounds, losing in the consolation finals to Miami Western's Bill Gollin, 9-0.

While Likens was tearing up the 3A competition, Lake Brantley's Billy Brucato was running roughshod through the 4A Region Meet in Jacksonville at Orange Park High School.

Brucato, a 149-pound senior, ran his season mark to 23-1 with four victories and a region championship Friday and Saturday. The title was the fourth for the aggressive Patriot who also claimed titles at the Lyman Christmas, Five Star Conference and district meets.

"Brucato was an animal," said Seminole coach Scott Sherman who had three wrestlers qualify for the state meet this weekend at Winter Park. "I've never seen anybody tear up a weight division like he did."

After a first-round bye, Brucato began his carnage with Jay Battle of Jacksonville Ribault who he pinned in 5:59. Brucato built a 29-3 lead before sticking Battle a second before the towel. In the semi-finals, he squashed Jacksonville Forrest's Eddie Hiers in 4:43. In the championship match, Brucato mauled Columbia's Tom Glenn, 20-2.

"Billy really wrestled well," confirmed his coach Kevin Carpenter. "He was a little tentative in the beginning with Glenn but after he got a takedown, he tore him up."

Along with Brucato, the Patriots advanced senior Scott Roth and senior Jamie Offenberger to the state meet. Roth (109) overwhelmed Orange Park's Stan McLeod in the consolation finals to place third. Offenberger (116) dropped a 13-2 decision to Seminole's Ronnie Watson in the consolation finals too. "Ronnie was real fired up," said Sherman about the match. "If he would have wrestled like that earlier, he would have made the finals. But he's either up or down."

The Tribe also advanced senior Vince Clark (142) and sophomore Tony Brown (129). Clark, a district and conference champ, won by forfeit, pinned Fort Walton Beach's Tim Henderson, decisioned Daryl Weeks of Choctawhatchee and finally decisioned Stan Wild of Jacksonville Forrest for third place, 5-2. Clark lost in the semi-finals to Gary Foster of Columbia. Brown pinned Rich Watson of Jacksonville Fletcher before losing to eventual champion Eddie Whelan of Choctawhatchee, 10-1. In the wrestlebacks, he decisioned Jacksonville Raines' Louis Sims and Lyman's Jay Hunziker prior to losing to Eric Brown, an old nemesis, from DeLand, 8-3.

Lyman's Dirk Smith (189) saw his 26-match unbeaten streak snapped in the finals against Panama City Mosley's Vic Lewis, a defending state champion. Lewis used an arm-drag takedown to pin the Greyhound senior in the first period. Teammate Pat Bell (109) turned in another runner-up spot when he was pinned by Mosley's Mark Mitchem. Shane Harwell (171) was the third Lyman grappler to qualify, taking the consolation title with a 10-3 victory over Orange Park's Steve Frazier.

While Seminole, Brantley and Lyman each send three to the state meet, they were overshadowed by the region by an excellent showing by coach Pete LeCair's Lake Howell Silver Hawks who crowned two champions each in the finals and consolations.

Senior Dan Rae (224) and Junior Steve Cina (171) were the champions while freshman Roger Hutchins (123) and senior Paul Knoblauch (159) finished third.

Rae turned in one of the top performances in the tournament by nipping previously undefeated William Allen of Jacksonville Terry Parker, 4-3, for his title. Rae pinned Dennis Perry of Wilson and Carl Forakis of Choctawhatchee after receiving a first-round bye.

Lake Mary's Jack Likens receives congratulations from coach Frank Schwartz after winning the 3A 109-pound state wrestling championship.

Cina, a tough linebacker during football season, pinned Donald Schrider of Choctawhatchee, decisioned Frazier of Orange Park, pinned Neal Harris and decisioned Mosley's Earl Thompson, 11-4, for the crown.

Knoblauch pinned Larry Linehan of Forrest while Hutchins tripped Apopka's Dan Ellison, 5-2. The Silver Hawks finished fifth in the region with 96 points. Mosely, as expected, won with 170 points, 60 more than second-place Forrest. Choctawhatchee (100) and Orange Park (98) were next. Lyman was sixth with 75 points while Lake Brantley was eighth (48) and Seminole was 10th (43½).

Lyman will be the host team for the state meet but the meet will be held at Winter Park High School since heavy rains collapsed and condemned the Lyman gymnasium last week. The first round will begin Friday at 1 p.m.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Lady Raiders Split Two

Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders ended the regular season with two impressive performances, but managed only a split of the two games. On Friday night, SCC got a 22 point performance from Val Roesler and a 20 point game from Cathy Jones en route to a 70-65 victory over Polk CC. Saturday night at UCF, the Raiders dropped a narrow, 81-79, decision to the state's fourth ranked team, Brevard CC. "We played exceptionally well in both games," SCC coach Sol Batton said. "We lost the Brevard game on a last second shot and no team led by more than two points the entire game. So I was very pleased with our performance in both games. It was a good way to end the season and we have most of our players coming back next year."

Jones led SCC against Brevard with 30 points while the ever consistent Roesler tossed in 22 and Katrina Andersson added 15.

SCC ended the season with a 12-15 record.

Tribe Second To Pioneers

Seminole High's girls track team finished second at the Lake Howell Open while the boys team placed fourth at the Lake Brantley Invitational.

In the girls meet, defending 4A state champion Oak Ridge ran away from the rest of the field with 108 points while Seminole was a distant second with 36 points. Seminole's leading point getter was Charita Medlock who finished second in the 110 low hurdles (15.7) and second in the 330 low hurdles (50.1).

Oak Ridge took first place in seven of the 12 events. Lyman and Lake Howell tied for fourth place with 28 points apiece. Lake Brantley was sixth (18) and Lake Mary was seventh (11).

Lake Mary's Fran Gordon shattered the school record in the 100 yard dash with an 11.3 but it was only good enough for second place. "An 11.3 would have been good enough to win the National Junior Olympics," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said.

Angle French won both the discus (114-10) and the shot put (36-11) while the Greyhounds' Lori Carroll easily won the high jump with a leap of 5-5.

In the boys meet at Lake Brantley, defending 4A state champion Oak Ridge outlasted defending 3A state champion Palatka, 65-57½ while Seminole was fourth with 32½ points. Oviedo was tied for eighth with Apopka with 18½ points. Lake Brantley was 11th with 13½. Lyman was 12th (13) and Lake Mary was 15th (8).

The Tribe's Dion Jackson won for the second straight time in the long jump with a 23-½ while Seminole got a first place finish from Clifton Campbell in the 440 (50.4) and from Mike Wooten in the ¼-mile with a time of 3:15.9.

Lake Mary's Derek Targeman placed third in the ¼-mile with a 3:19.5. Jeff Hopkins broke a school record in the discus with a throw of 133-11.

Lake Brantley's Mike Patterson set a meet record with a 6-8 leap in the high jump.

Griffith's Clutch Double Gives Seminoles Tournament Crown

BY SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Andy Griffith figures he's ahead of the game.

Seminole's hard-hitting first baseman tossed a ball over his third baseman's head to let in a run against Lake Howell Saturday. Two innings later, however, the blond-haired senior atoned for the miscue by doubling home two runs in the seventh inning to give the Seminoles a 3-2 victory over the Silver Hawks and the Seminole County Baseball Championship trophy.

"I was just trying to look for a ball I could hit the crud out of," said Griffith after the game. "It was a fastball. He (Darin Slack) didn't throw me any junk."

Griffith's bases-loaded smash plated two runs and made a winner out of sophomore James Hersey who made his first varsity start for the Tribe and turned in a masterful two-hitter after a shaky start.

But it looked for a while as if Hersey's initial outing for the 'Noles would be in vain as Lake Howell right-hander Tony Russo kept the Sanford aluminum in check over the first five innings on just four hits. At one point, Russo retired nine in a row.

During that time, the Silver Hawks, a 5-2 winner over Oviedo in Friday's first round game, pushed across a run in the first inning and another in the fifth frame. After Billy Lang flew out to left field, Hersey walked Robert Tucker, freshman Jeff Poindexter and Rob Gardner. Jim Gulliano watched a called third strike but Van Golmont took an inside fastball about two inches above his left elbow to force in a run. Hersey, however, fanned designated hitter Jim Royal to retire the side.

"Herse was a little shaky that first inning but after he got over his nervousness, he settled down," said Tribe skipper Bobby Lundquist. "He got his confidence and then he was all right. And he's just going to get better and better."

Seminole's hitting finally got better in the sixth inning. Greg Hill, who had a double and triple in Friday's 6-0 victory over Lake Mary, hit a liner at Howell second baseman Dennis Shields who misplayed it for an error. Recently-activated soccer player Paul Griffin ran for Hill and immediately stole second. Kevin Smith struck out but Terry Russi lined a rope to left center to chase home Griffin. The run cut the Howell lead to 2-1. The Hawks had scored their second

In the fifth when Griffith overthrew third trying to nail Poindexter who was moving up on a ground out.

Griffith erased the mistake for good in the bottom of the seventh. Greg Carter drew a walk to open the frame. Lake Howell manager Birto Benjamin then yanked Russo in favor of right-hander Ken Tuttle. Sophomore Kenny Smith then pinch hit for Hersey and after failing on a bunt attempt, lined a single to center field.

Benjamin then summoned his ace Darin Slack. Leadoff hitter Steve Dennis attempted to bunt but popped the ball to Slack for the first out. Junior Brian Rogers then lifted a fly into short center field which Lang misjudged and then tried to grab on the first hop with his bare hand. The ball eluded him and the bases were loaded.

"That was the turning point," said Lundquist. "The way Andy has been hitting (two hits Friday), I knew he'd come through."

Griffith fouled off Slack's first offering, then ripped a shot which bounced 10 feet in front of the wall and chased home all three runners. Only two were needed for the win, though, and Griffith was credited with a double.

The two-bagger saddled Tuttle with the loss. He gave up the single to Smith which turned out to be the winning run.

"I like this team. It's spunky," continued Lundquist about his 2-1 Tribe. "We played good defense. Herse pitched a good game and Griff got the clutch hit. You can't ask for any more than that."

Schmit Stops Lions

In Saturday's first game, another young right-handed pitcher—Lake Mary freshman Mike Schmit—made a dramatic debut at the varsity level.

Schmit, a standout hurler for the Altamonte Little League program for the past three years, tossed an eight-hitter, struck three and walked two while pitching the Rams past Oviedo, 8-1, for third place in the tournament.

"He's my baby," coach Don Smith said about his poised ninth grader. "Mike mixed his pitches real well and didn't walk anybody until the sixth. Oviedo hit some balls hard, maybe three would have been out of another park, but Mike kept them off balance."

School Has Reason For Pride

Jackson Heights Middle School has reason to be proud of its eighth grade history teacher, Don Bates. Don was selected by the Sallie Harrison Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution as American History Teacher of the Year in Seminole County. Congratulations, Don.

Congratulations also go out to Alan Flynn, an eighth grade student who received an honorable mention from the Central Florida Regional Scholastic Art Award Show for his entry.

Jackson Heights held its annual Science Fair last week. The first place winner in the eighth grade is Eric Llewellyn, while second place went to Brent Feinberg, and third place winners are: Rosalind Smith, David Coleman and Alexa Hendley.

The seventh grade winners are: David Carlson, first place; Katie Ambrosio and Heather Keefer, second place; and third place winners were Jennifer Rankin, Sean Rector, Kristin Harkiewicz and Melanie Griffiths.

The sixth grade winners are: R.D. Pellarin, first; sisters, Mandy and Ashley Ehrhart, second; and Ryan Feinberg, Rachael Gross and Chris Kewley, third.

The Seminole Community College Art Club is in the midst of painting a 6 foot by 18 foot mural to be used as background for the ancient canoe displayed at the General Henry S. Sanford Museum in Sanford.

On March 4, the club has chartered a bus to take them to St. Augustine to visit museums and galleries.

Grady Kimsey, art instructor, says the Annual Juried Student Art Show will begin on April 4 through April 25 in the Fine Arts Building.

Winter Springs Elementary PTO will meet

Dee Gatrell
Winter Springs
Correspondent

Feb. 22 at 7 p.m. in the school media center. A group of fifth graders will be putting on a patriotic program to celebrate President's Day.

The Dividends were honored during the week, and coffee and cookies were provided for them each day.

Christina Hummel was the overall winner on the Dental Health Week Poster Contest.

The Science Fair will be held on Feb. 24. Fifteen projects will be selected and sent on to the Seminole County Festival of Science.

Friendship week was observed by the children, staff, and teachers by trying to be more friendly to one another.

Tusawilla Middle School is having a yearbook sale. Lake Howell High School will be at the school today for eighth grade orientation.

On Feb. 22, students will take a field trip to the Bob Carr Auditorium. On Feb. 28 another group of students will take a field trip to Sea World.

Birthday wishes go out to Dr. Joan Sheppard who celebrated her birthday on Feb. 9, Robin Perez, Feb. 8, who celebrated her birthday with a luncheon at East Indies Ice Cream Parlor; and Virginia Robertson, Feb. 16, who received a dozen roses on her birthday along with having a birthday luncheon at a Chinese restaurant.

The Seminole County of Children with Learning Disabilities (ACLD) will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Winter Springs Elementary.

Donald Rice, Director of Special Education of Seminole County, will be the guest speaker. He will also show a film entitled "The Challenge of the Eighties."

A "get well" wish is extended to Curtis Moore who is a patient at Winter Park Hospital.

Barbara Mueller presented a folk music show to the children of Red Bug Elementary on Friday. She had several different instruments she played and explained to the children.

Winners of the Dental Health Week Poster Contest are: fifth grade, Andrea Budd and fourth grade, Jamie Goen. The third grade has three winners. First place winner is Matthew Dixon, second place, Steven Wilken, and third place, Charlotte Offer.

The Red Bug PTO will meet on Feb. 22, at 7 p.m. in the media center. The first and second graders will present a program.

Brownie Troop 907 has finished its cookie sale and are planning a camping trip and a trip to Circus World.

In preparation for International Night, the girls had a guest speaker, Mrs. Susie Gauntlett, who spent three weeks in Switzerland two years ago. She answered questions and showed pictures to the girls.

The girls made Swiss cookies to freeze and then take them to International Night.

COLLEGE BOUND

Emily Lolley, standing, guidance counselor at Cottey College, Nevada, Mo. was in Sanford last week where she met with high school seniors, from left, Nancy Terwilliger, Susan Reynolds and Debbie Hankey. Cottey is the only college in the nation owned and supported by a woman's organization, the PEO Sisterhood.

Reader Against Son Changing Name

DEAR ABBY: The "Proud Orlikoffs" were upset because their son (a lawyer) married a woman named Reilly, and instead of her taking his name, Orlikoff, he changed his name to Reilly. His reason: Should he decide one day to run for public office, Orlikoff sounds too Russian; furthermore, people would be more inclined to vote for a

"Reilly" than an Orlikoff. Abby, please advise young Orlikoff to check out some of the names of people who are elected officials before giving up his family name.

Dear Abby

PROUD WIKOFF
DEAR PROUD: Right on! And don't forget that a man named Abraham Ribicoff was twice elected governor of Connecticut, and won two consecutive terms in the U.S. House of Representatives and three terms in the U.S. Senate!

From the U.S. House of Representatives: Kogovsek, Sikorski, Lipinski, Rostenkowski, Zablocki.

From the U.S. Senate: Boschwitz, Zorinsky, Louye, Matsunaga, Murkowski.

Besides, who would vote for a man if it was found out that he was ashamed of his parents' name? Sign

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Knowing CPR Can Save A Life

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I lost someone very dear to me and the immediate cause of death was listed as cardiac arrest secondary to anterior myocardial infarction. When she died I couldn't tell if she was having a heart attack or a stroke. She seemed to weaken in her legs and complained of her eyes but didn't complain of chest pain. She vomited at first and appeared to have an upset stomach. When I realized that it was more than that I called for an ambulance. Was there anything that I could have done to keep her alive? I've been living with a guilt complex that perhaps I didn't get help in time.

Red Cross or the local chapter of the American Heart Association sponsors courses in learning how to do CPR.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My boyfriend is 21 years old, 6 feet and weighs 180 pounds. Will you please tell me the risks involved in his drinking one gallon to two gallons of milk every day? He seems perfectly healthy except he only sleeps four to six hours every night.

DEAR READER — It is natural to look back and ask if you could have done better. Most people do the best they can in the light of the information that they have at the time. Now that you know she had a heart attack you are looking at it with information which was not available to you at the time.

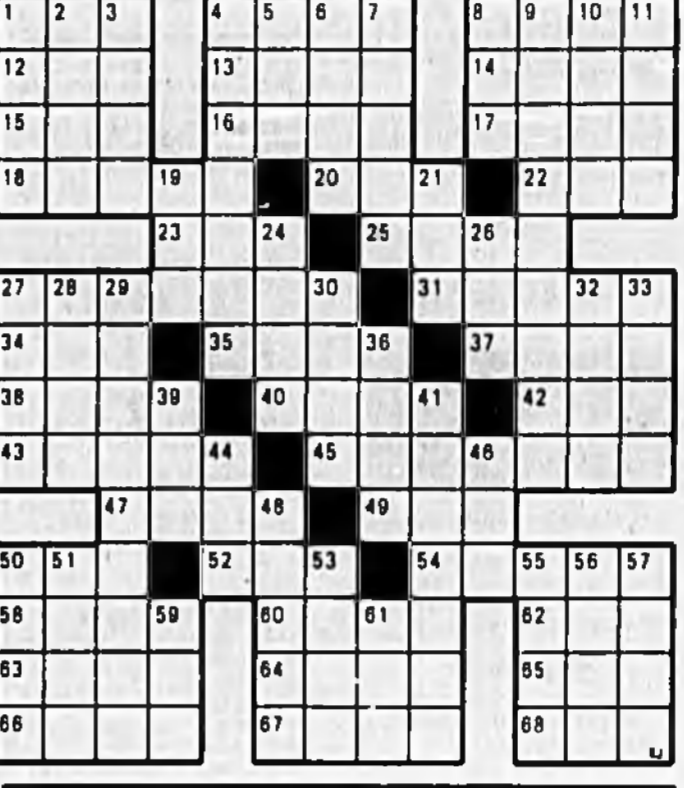

DEAR READER — As you know I believe one should "individualize not generalize" when you are talking about diet. Whether or not that much milk is harmful to him depends upon how his individual body responds to it. If he happens to be a little fat and not just muscle, then the extra calories in the butterfat could be a problem for him.

If she was able to communicate, as your letter implies, she did not have cardiac arrest at that moment. If a person still has a pulse and doesn't have heart or respiratory arrest one of the best things you can do is to simply call an ambulance. If the heart stops and there is no pulse then you can use Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR). If you know how.

If he happens to have a high blood cholesterol level, I would recommend that he switch to fortified skim milk to avoid both the saturated fat and the cholesterol in whole milk. That would also help him limit his calorie intake in case he needs to eliminate any body fat.

The use of CPR is discussed in The Health Letter number 7-4, "Save a Life: Heart and Lung Arrest, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. I think all adults should know how to do this. The respiratory part is being taught in grade schools in some places.

Now if his cholesterol level is all right — meaning low normal — and he is not obese and tolerates this much milk without symptoms, there is not likely to be anything wrong with it. When he gets older and needs to limit his calories or has a change in cholesterol levels, then he might need to be careful to stick to fortified skim milk. I don't think his milk drinking has anything to do with his sleeping habits.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Early in the day you could have a poor sense of direction and go off on tangents. Later, however, you'll become more effective and finish what you start.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Place greater emphasis on maintaining good relationships today than in furthering your material interests. True values are found in friends, not funds.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be self-sufficient today. You can do more for yourself than others can for you. Don't fear to go after important objectives on your own.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Conditions will turn more favorable for you today. You should now be able to assume direct control over matters affecting your self interests.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You could be extremely successful today in situations where you are primarily concerned about looking out for the rights or interests of others. Be helpful.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Initially, associates might not see or understand things as quickly as you will today, so patience will be required. They'll eventually catch on.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There could be a sudden shift in conditions today which will present favorable opportunities where your work or career is concerned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Pressure or challenges could cause others to back off today, but in your case they'll only serve to bring out your better qualities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could be in for a pleasant surprise today when you discover that a situation you thought to be negative actually has hidden advantages.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) What will make you a successful salesperson today is the fact that your prospects will recognize you'll not try to sell things you don't believe in.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're capable of substantial achievements today when properly motivated. Think of what money can do for you, and you'll figure out ways to get it.

a simple way to put pressure on West. He would continue with the queen of trumps and a small one to give East an immediate trump trick. West would have to make two more discards and might well chuck another spade, in which case South would score his slam.

Jim: "That play would work against most West players, but there is no reason to try to get the opponents to make a mistake when some real study will give you a surefire play."

Oswald: "This play will be to force East to use his trump trick to ruff your low spade. Only a 6-0 spade break can hurt."

Jim: "South must not play his third high trump. Instead, he leads a spade to dummy's king and a spade back toward his hand. If East trumps, South gets to play his low spade and claims. If East discards South wins, returns to dummy with a high diamond and leads dummy's last low spade. Again the best East can do is to discard."

Oswald: "His best isn't good enough. South takes his last high spade and leads his remaining low one to ruff in dummy. East can over-ruff or discard again, but the only trick for the defense will be that one trump trick."

Jim: "South took his ace of clubs and played his ace and king of trumps. West chucked a spade and a nice slam contract appeared to be in trouble. Not only was there a sure trump loser, but obviously spades were going to break badly."
Oswald: "South could find
