LETTER FROM SANFORD FAN

Attorney J. J. Dickinson of this city, who has taken a deep interest in base ball and who wants to see everybody get a square deal, is also sore at the articles in the Tampa Tribune regarding Sanford and sent the following letter for publication:

Sanford, Florida, Oct. 13, 1919.
Editor Tampa Tribune,
Tampa, Florida,
Dear Mr. Editor:—

The writer is a regular reader of The Tribune, and has watched with interest, and no little amusement, "BURT'S BUNK" in that paper from day to day.

The writer is also a baseball fan, having played a little base ball himself once upon a time, when there was fun, and some honor, in it, and we have attended all of the games played between the two contending teams in the State League in the post season series, as well as many played in Orlando prior to that time.

It has been noticed for several days that this man of BURT'S BUNK has had a tendency to cast a shadow upon our town, its good name, and that of its people; and today he reaches the climax, when he, with his angelic pen, paints the town black, with the people in it.

Now, Mr. Editor, what we want to know is this: Who is this man of Burt's Bunk, and what direct knowledge has he of the things of which he writes. How many of the games in the post season series has he witnessed, and what is his position in the Florida State Base Ball League? He speaks as one who has all the records and other information concerning the games that have been played, and of the business of the league.

Has this man of BURT'S BUNK all of the records and proceedings of the league in his possession, together with all of the evidence produced against the different players of the various clubs, and from which he directs his shafts at the object of his displeasure.

Was he in attendance upon the meeting in Orlando on the night of the 11th inst. and does he know of his own knowledge what transpired there, and what evidence formed the basis for the actions taken.

Has this man of BURT'S BUNK had access to all of the meetings held by the league officers, and does he know all of the things done and agreed to at all of these meetings?

Does this man of BURT'S BUNK know whether in any of the actions taken the persons to be condemned was given an opportunity to be heard in his own behalf before having such condemnation visited upon him.

This man of BURT'S BUNK has drawn his conclusions and handed them out to the public with his sarcastic condemnation, now will he give us all of the facts upon which he bases such conclusions, and let's see if the public will agree with him. Give us all of the evidence Mr. Man of BURT'S BUNK, it can do you no harm, and since you have condemned Sanford before the public, then let the public know upon what you have based your conclusions, and what opportunity was given to those about to be condemned to appear and make their defense before having such condemnation visited upon them. You know in this country it is an inalienable right that a man be given an opportunity to be heard in his own behalf before being convicted.

Now, Mr. Editor, the writer believes in clean base ball, and also believes that before having clean base ball, we must keep clean the hand that is to play it. Before those in authority have any right to condemn clubs and players, and towns, they must first establish their position, with right on their side. It is the duty of those attempting to administer the law to first be sure that their own hands are clean. The base ball fans have played the game in the open, have condemned anything unfair coming to their notice, and so far as we know the players have. Now will when both of the contending teams were still intact, at least Sanford's team was, and why it was not ordered that other games be played, if it WERE found that some of the games played WERE illegal and must be thrown out.

Before those in authority can condemn those not in authority, let it be made to appear that those in authority have right and justice on their side. Since that man of BURT'S BUNK comes out and makes his condemnation to the public, based upon something the public does not have, now let the public demand that the cards be placed upon the table for its inspection, and let it judge.

Come on Mr. Man of BURT'S

BUNK you have the records, or ought to have, and the evidence, give them to us. You say let's have clean base ball, and so do all of us. Then let's have a show down, face up.

What do you say?
Sanford Base Ball Fan

Climatic Changes Due to Man.
Tracing the climatic records of South Africa, J. M. Slim has reached the conclusion that the rainfall has not only diminished in the last century but has changed in character from soft soaking rains to torrential thunderstorms. Human influences—the destruction of forests and the ruining of the grass veld by burning—are believed to have been chiefly responsible for the changes.

SANFORD WINS THE PENNANT

The flag has fallen on the post series games of the Florida League the last game being played last Friday resulting in a score of 13 to 6 in favor of Sanford and again demonstrated the superiority of Sanford over the Orlando team. The winning of the last two games showed up the Orlando team so bad that steps were immediately taken by the officials of the Orlando team to have two of the games thrown out on the grounds that Sanford was playing too many men over Class C and at the meeting of the directors at Orlando Saturday night with Sanford and Orlando directors, barred from voting Tampa and Bartow representatives voted with Orlando and decided to call the series a draw. No evidence was presented to show that Sanford had not complied with all the requests and that as soon as two of the men had been called out of the Sanford team they had been taken off and then Sanford had wiped up the earth with Orlando. Just to show their authority they also suspended a number of men from the Sanford team and one Dunfee from Orlando for playing in Class D, and making affidavits that they were not above that class.

Forest Lake and H. R. Stevens represented Sanford at the meeting and asked for fair play but there was nothing doing of that kind on tap at the meeting and the Orlando papers declared with much acclaim that the series was a draw. If Orlando can gain any solace from this decision after being wiped up in such a fashion and absolutely losing the series after one game had been forfeited, they are welcome to that little crumb of satisfaction but all the state knows that Orlando was playing class men through the second series, that Sanford made no kick on them, that Orlando won the second series with these men and that nothing was said about Sanford's men until it looked like Orlando would be beaten and then they played the baby act and yelled for help from the state directors and with only part of the board at the meeting the series was called a draw. The Tampa Tribune has been especially abusive regarding Sanford and since the sporting editor of the Tribune was one of the directors of the Tampa team and voted against Sanford the people here are hot under the collar about it and the letter published on this page from J. J. Dickinson expresses the feeling of the people. If there were any crooked deals pulled off in this series why don't the Tribune and why don't the Orlando directors come straight out and tell about it? The people here want clean ball and they have endeavored to have clean ball but they could not get a square deal and have never had one. But with all of this handicap Sanford won the pennant and won it so far that there is no question about the championship of the state. All of this baby talk from Orlando and the Tampa Tribune is sickening and childish in the extreme. And with these few words we bid them good bye and tell the public that Sanford won the pennant, won it fairly, won it by matching their wits against Orlando at every point and putting the best little team in the field that ever came down the pike and like the poor losers that they are Orlando cannot get over the sting of defeat.

Letter from Red Davis

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 11, 1919.
Well! Well! Well! Sanford has gone and made Orlando mad. Imagine it! Orlando being trimmed in the great baseball classic of the season, and from report on hand the job was well done, for when one steps and considers that Sanford beat a ball club, a President of the league and overcame a forfeited game that was handed to Orlando on a silver platter I say that it was another case of smashing the Hindenburg line.

I notice with keen observation of the daily reports clipped from The Times-Union and the Orlando Sentinel that outside of protesting games, complaining of Sanford's players, not liking the umpire's decisions, kicking about the shine ball and having half of Orlando's population living in the President of the league's office, the Orlando club did very well. This is only a few of the kicks registered but it would be comensurate outrage to impose upon the good nature of this editor's space by publishing all of Orlando's WALLING.

Say, who is the rainless score that scores the games at Orlando? Whoever he is I must say that he had better try and get a job with

SANFORD--STATE CHAMPS

EVERY BASEBALL FAN in the State of Florida knows that Sanford walloped the living life out of Orlando in that Series just past. Every Fan---unless he comes from Orlando or writes the "Bunk" for the Tampa Tribune---knows that the Sanford Team was the best in the Florida State League. Mr. Rose or Mr. Freeman may not think so, but we wonder what they know about Real Baseball, anyway? When they say the Series ended a Tie, after the awful beating handed Orlando, we feel inclined to believe they know very little about it. And Sanford did it with a pitcher playing outfield, a pitcher on first base, a first baseman on third, and our regular third baseman on short. And we used just two pitchers all through the Series, and when each one was not pitching he was playing first base!

We know we licked 'em and licked 'em bad. Orlando knows we licked 'em and licked 'em bad. So what is the dif? That is what we're playing for, and as long as we made 'em "squeal" why bother any further with it?

NEW SCHOOL FOR CHINA.

Y. W. C. A. Secures New Site for Girls' Physical Training School.

A new home has been found for the Physical Training School which the Young Women's Christian Association has opened for native girls in Shanghai, China.

The school, while in the country, is not far distant from the National Headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. in Shanghai nor far from the local Y. W. C. A. The grounds cover eighteen "mow," which means approximately six acres, and are divided by a private road. A foreign residence already on the grounds will be used by the American teachers, while native buildings on the other side will furnish living quarters and classrooms for the 35 students.

The grounds boast a garden, tennis courts and an athletic field.

Great Expression.

All great expression, which, on a superficial survey, seems so easy as well as so simple, furnishes, after a while, to the faithful observer, its own standard by which to appreciate it.—Margaret Fuller.

Beliefs Concerning Sneezing.

According to Aristotle, if a man was sick sneezing once forbode his death, but sneezing twice his recovery. If the patient was a woman the rule worked the opposite way. A traveler in the woods was threatened with an attack by brigands if he sneezed once, while sneezing twice procured a happy journey. As a rule, the person sneezing twice in succession will be lucky, but unlucky if it occurs once.

Airplanes Will Help Surveyors.

In the arid wastes of Australia, where travel is exceedingly difficult and painful, and is like regions in the deserts of Africa, airplanes will make it easy to survey more square miles in a month than could be seen by means of any land vehicles in a year. It will be possible to get a true bird's-eye view of every part of the earth's surface. No dangers involved in such work are likely to daunt men who have faced and survived the perils of aerial fighting.

Knotty Problem.

Here is a queer cause for a law action. A man who was insane determined to throw himself out of the window of an asylum. He made several attempts and was prevented by the servants. Put in a new apartment, he tried again, jumped out of the window, fell on the lawn and injured himself seriously, but, strange to say, the shock cured his mental disorder. At once he sued the officers of the asylum for negligence. The plaintiff was nonsuited.

Eat to Break Up Cold.

When a cold first starts physicians usually advise a light laxative diet, consisting chiefly of hot lemonade or orangeade, broths or gruels, with crisp toast, baked potatoes, mild, stewed fruits and vegetables. After this for a few days, until the cold seems to be broken, it is well to eat an ordinary diet, with plenty of fruits and vegetables. To aid the body in recovering eat meals which give more fuel value than usual.

Asbestos Ropes?

To lessen the amount of metal used in fire escapes a Hungarian living in Canada has patented one, the chief features of which is a basket to be lowered by ropes from a bracket fastened to a window frame.

Physician's High Privileges.

In England the only civilian who has a right to pass through marching troops is the court physician on his way to a royal residence. He can make even the household cavalry open their ranks to him.

MUZZLE THE DOGS

And Keep Down All Fear About The Rabbits

Jacksonville, October, 17.—Rabies in Florida showed a somewhat alarming increase during September, according to the laboratory records of the State Board of Health, fifteen treatments being ordered for this month against two in September, and fifteen for the previous months of July and August 1919.

Eleven heads of animals showing positive cases of rabies were examined in the laboratory during temper seven of these heads being dogs and three cats. The other head was that of a cow, which had undoubtedly been bitten by a rabid dog or cat. The count according to location follows: Jacksonville, 1 cat and two dogs; McClenny, 1 cat and 1 dog; Arcadia, 1 dog and 1 cow; Fernandina, 1 cat; Sebastian, 1 dog; Gainesville, 1 dog; Perry, 1 dog.

Gainesville showed the highest count in people bitten, with treatments ordered for three children and two adults. With the exception of Jacksonville, where three children were bitten by rabid animals, the remainder of the cases were widely scattered as follows: Fernandina, 1 child; LaCrosse 1 child; MacClenny 1 child; Arcadia 2 adults; Greenville a child; Green Cove Springs 1 child.

Records of the State Board of Health show that rabies, according to the number of positive heads examined, was higher for September than in many years.

Dr. Ralph N. Green, state health officer, declares the negligence of the various communities in enforcing the muzzling law and demand its enforcement is directly responsible for the continued increase in rabies.

"If the citizens of the state would awaken to the importance of the muzzling law and demand its enforcement in the various communities we would cut rabies down until it was negligible, he declares, "When we realize the fact that a majority of those bitten are children, and think of the mental anguish of the parents, we should consider no steps for the enforcement of the muzzling ordinance too stringent. The State Board of Health has been doing and will continue to do everything in its power to obtain the enforcement of this law. However, it is impossible for us to police the state and we can only eliminate rabies with the assistance of the municipal authorities," Dr. Greene declares.

Dr. Greene issued an order during September for the enforcement of the muzzling law, because of the startling increase of the disease in July and August.

WILL BUILD THE BAPTIST TEMPLE. The Building Committee of the Baptist Church have decided to go ahead with the building of the church that was stopped several years ago when the war came on and the church building proper will be started in a few days. S. O. Shinholser has the contract and will begin work as soon as the materials can be shipped. The new Baptist Temple building was started many years ago and the Sunday school rooms and social rooms, etc., completed and the auditorium used for church services, but the church auditorium was never completed. This is the building that will be started now and it will be 67½x53, the auditorium to seat 800 people, 650 on the first floor and 250 in the gallery. The new building will cost something like $14,000 including pews and furnishings. The Pipe Organ Club has sufficient funds on hand to warrant the assertion that they will have the pipe organ ready for the new church when it is completed. Last Sunday morning the question of building the new church was put to a vote and there was not a dissenting vote.

The Building Committee is composed of J. D. Hood, chairman, Joe Cameron, J. D. Jinkins, Schelle Maines.

The Greatest Improvement In Riding Comfort Since The Introduction of Pneumatic Tires

HERE is a brand new type of car. It solves the problem which has baffled automotive engineers—how to combine riding comfort with light weight and economy.

Our new Three-Point Cantilever Springs make this possible.

These are the first springs of their kind and they are made of chrome vanadium steel. They are exclusive with Overland.

Because of these springs, Overland 4 combines the riding qualities of large heavy, expensive, long wheelbase cars, together with the advantages and economy of small light cars.

With 100-inch wheelbase, Overland 4 has the luxurious riding ease of 130-inch Springbase.

The exclusive, Three-Point Cantilever Springs cushion the car so that it rides well on all roads; they reduce choppy rebounds and side swaying, protect the car from road shocks and prolong its life, minimize twisting or racking of frame and body, enable the car to hold the road better.

The car and passengers ride smoothly as though floating, free from road shocks that the springs ward off.

But this new riding comfort, possible only with these Three-Point Cantilever Springs, is but one of the advantages of Overland 4.

Its light weight makes possible great economy of gasoline and tires.

High quality materials insure durability. All vital parts of the front axle and steering gear and all highly stressed gears and shafts for driving the car are made of alloy steel.

The equipment list of Overland 4 is high grade, including Auto-Lite Starter and Lighting System—Electric Horn—Marshall Divan Upholstery Springs—Demountable Rims—Three Speed Transmission—Slanting Rain Vision Windshield—Tillotson Carburetor—U. S. L. Batteries and many other high quality conveniences.

In every respect Overland 4 is a quality car. The body is all steel, all enamel, the brightest, hardest, most lasting finish.

Overland 4 has been tested for two years and more than 250,000 miles over the Rocky Mountains, prairies, through deep mud and scorching deserts—through quick sharp climatic changes. As a result of these tests we were able to judge the car's performance under every condition and to perfect it before offering it to the public.

There is no previous car of any size or price to adequately compare with the character of service Overland 4 introduces.

The farther you ride in it the more you will appreciate it. Come in, see the car and ask for booklet. The demand will be greater than the supply for a long time.

Overland 4 Touring, $845; Roadster, $845; Coupe, $1325; Sedan, $1375. Prices f. o. b. Toledo.

Being a Politician.
You cannot help being a politician. You cannot live for an hour without being a politician. But what a man generally means when he says that he is not a politician I am afraid is this—that he has been all his life enjoying his political privileges and grossly neglecting his political duties.—Rev. Hugh Price Hughes.

Had Had His Filing.
Ted's mother has given him an allowance of ten cents a week, but she has tried to encourage him to save some of it as a matter of training. Last Saturday she asked him how much he had left. He looked rather chagrined at first and then finally confessed that he had spent it all. His mother appeared sorrowful, until Ted added with enthusiasm: "But, say, I sure have had like a prince for once."

Tinder Feelings.
Said the near cynic, "When we listen to a speaker who is very dry, our natural conclusion is that he is punk."

Office of True Friend.
To know that you have a friend concerned in your struggle robs it of half its hardness. Disappointments that would assume bitter proportions lose their edge in the friend's smile. He helps us see that matters might have been worse. Emerson is never tired of extolling the merits of the nurse of his childhood who always helped him baffle his petty hurts by being glad they were not much more painful. And that's the office of the sincere friend. His office is to bring out our best and make us manly.

Of Latin Derivation.
Corps is a French word derived from the Latin corpus, a body, either civil or military, as a police corps, marine corps, etc. It does not signify any particular number, but an organized body. In the United States army there are regiments of two or more divisions, each containing three brigades and each brigade three regiments. The term first came into use in this country during the Civil War period.

Gypsy Tribes.
In Poland the gypsy tribes are called Zingani; in Italy, Zingari; in Spain, Gitanos; in France, Bohemians; in Germany, Zigeuner. The Persians, it is stated, apply to them a name meaning "Black Indians." Their most ancient name is that of Sinte, which is supposed to be connected with Sind, the native name for the Indus.

Dense Philippine Forests.
You may cut an entrance into a Philippine lowland forest and so dense and high is the overgrowth that you feel as though you might be in a vast cathedral with only subdued rays of light entering here and there through window panes of heavily stained glass. The sun is completely obscured and it is impossible to tell the points of the compass. A twilight gloom pervades everything and it is useless to even guess the time of day.

Ivory in the Middle Ages.
In the middle ages ivory was extensively used for writing tablets. One of Chaucer's characters has "A pair of tables all of ivory," and again the same writer speaks of ivory chess men: "The chess was all of ivory, the meyne fresh and new." Ivory was also much used for making caskets and mirror frames during the middle ages, and these were often elaborately carved.

THE CAT'S MISTAKE.

"Me-ow, me-ow," said Blackie, the black cat, as he came down the walk.

So Blackie Started Off.

"Me-ow, me-ow," he said again. "I do believe I will look for adventures. I do believe I will see what I can see. I do believe I will have some fun and explore. By exploring I mean to go around and see some new place."

So Blackie started off. Now Blackie didn't know much about days. He thought all days were about the same. He knew that each day he was fed at about the same time. He knew that when he cried he got something extra to eat or drink.

He knew where he could chase mice, he knew where he could lie in the warm sunshine, and he knew that if it was raining there wasn't any sunshine at all.

He also knew that on the cold days it was delightful back of the kitchen stove, and that on the hot days it was very nice under a shady tree in the garden.

But he didn't know that Saturday was a holiday and that Sunday one went to church, except cats and dogs and very young children. Very young children went sometimes but cats and dogs never went.

He didn't care about doing anything on this particular day but exploring. And it was very early in the morning when the family were all asleep.

He walked around and he ran around and he looked in all directions. "I think I will go this way," he said.

So he walked on and when he came to a church he was hot and tired. "It looks cool in there," he said; "yes, it looks nice and cool me-ow, I think I will go inside."

So he wandered up the church aisle and he saw a nice place where he thought he would go to sleep. And where do you think, or rather, what do you think was the place Blackie chose for his nap?

As I don't think you will be able to guess right away and as I want to tell you what really happened, I will tell you the place Blackie chose for his nap.

It was in the organ. Well, he had a fine sleep. And he was still asleep when the organist came in and began to play.

Then, poor Blackie woke up with a start! At first he didn't know whether he was having a nightmare or a bad dream, or what was happening.

He moved to one side and the organ gave a curious rumble and a very funny sound and the organist looked as if he didn't know what the trouble could be, and the people stopped singing and then tried to go on singing without any music.

The organist tried to play again and this awfully queer rumble and burr and buzz was heard once more. So the people went on finishing their singing without any organ.

Of course Blackie tried to move when he felt the pedals moving and he jumped over the inside stops and pedals and made these very strange sounds as he did so.

The organist looked inside the organ and saw nothing. Then, suddenly, he saw two big green eyes staring at him.

"It's a cat in there," he said to himself.

Poor Blackie was very much frightened. This was altogether too much. He liked adventures and he liked to explore but this was going too far.

"Yes, that is a cat," said the organist to himself, and Blackie's green eyes shone back at him when he said this.

"Come, pussy; come, nice pussy," said the organist in a whisper. Poor Blackie was so frightened he did not know what to do. Still the organist kept on coaxing and begging Blackie to come out. And after a while Blackie felt less frightened and the soft whisper of the organist sounded very kind and Blackie came out from the inside of the church organ.

Oh, how happy he was when he was out and the organist got a little boy to lift him quietly and take him out of the church.

And what joy it was for Blackie to be back home again, to rest and have a nice sleep after his adventure, which had turned out to be such a mistake!

PROGRAM SUPREME FOR WEEK OF OCTOBER 20

Strong Audience Appeal in Unique Domestic Situations in "Bill Apperson's Boy"—with Jack Pickford

"Bill Apperson's Boy," in which Jack Pickford will be seen at the Princess Theatre Monday is a story showing a keen insight in the ways of the Blue Ridge mountaineer. It is based on the story, "That Woman," by Hapsburg Liebe, a writer who has long lived in that vicinity and dozens of whose stories have appeared in the popular periodicals.

Jack Pickford plays Buddy Apperson, the leading character, who is pictured as a boy of about eighteen. In a rapid series of humorous and serious events the picture delves deeply into the heart of the mountain lad, depicting his bravery, his devotion to the memory of his mother, his stubbornness, his independence, and his bashful love.

Buddy is represented as a lad who has just fallen in love with Martha Yarnon, the only girl in a family of six sons who are more or less trifling. Buddy steadfastly urges his suit despite the jeers of the Yarnon boys until an open break comes about. One of the Yarnons makes a slighting remark about Buddy's father, Bill Apperson, whereupon Buddy attacks him and a long fierce fight follows. At the end of it Buddy has the Yarnon lad thoroughly whipped.

This is the opening wedge in a gulf which opens between Martha and Buddy. When his father brings home a new wife, and asks Buddy to call her "Mother," the lad refuses, and leaves home. He is found inside the home of the Yarnons at night, under suspicious circumstances, tried for burglary, and has many other troubles before he is finally united with Martha in the midst of a reconciled group of Appersons and Yarnons.

The picture was made in a beautiful mountainous region, and the

"The Life Line," Adapted From "The Romany Rye," Abounds With Thrilling Incidents

A thrilling shipwreck and rescue by means of the breeches buoy forms the climax of Maurice Tourneur's new Paramount-Artcraft production, "The Life Line," which is coming Wednesday to the Princess Theatre. It was adapted from George R. Sims' famous melodrama of the sea, "The Romany Rye," and is said to tell a smashing story in Mr. Tourneur's well known masterful style. The stage play was first produced in London more than twenty years ago, but like another of Mr. Sims' works, "Lights o' London," it is still fresh in the memory of theatre-goers.

The story centers around Jack Hearne, the Romany Rye, young, romantic leader of a gypsy band, who is really the heir to Cragston, a fine old English estate now being occupied falsely by his half-brother, Philip Royston. How Jack, with the aid of some characters of the London underworld, regains his inheritance and wins the love of his faithful Ruth forms the theme of the picture. A brilliant hunt, in which scores of lords and ladies take part, a thrilling rescue from a burning theatre, and the final episode of the saving of Ruth from a ship being beaten to pieces on the rocks in a storm are the high spots of the picture.

Also, "The Tenderfoot," a laughable Western comedy.

mountaineer types used in it were specially selected from natives of the region. Gloria Hope, a very pretty young screen star, has the part of Martha Yarnon, and the part of Bill Apperson is played by Russell Simpson, one of the finest actors of mountaineer and Western types on the screen.

Also, "Fatty's Naughty Nephew," a comedy with a thousand laughs.

WILLIAM FARNUM IN WOLVES OF THE NIGHT

—AT— THE PRINCESS Tuesday

William Farnum, the William Fox star, made a truly dramatic sensation lately, without intending it, in the Fox studios, when filming his latest photodrama, "Wolves of the Night," which calls for a portrayal of insanity—a strong powerful man suddenly driven insane.

When, as Bruce Andrews he comes out of a mine explosion, his mind unbalanced, Farnum seems to have added years to his age.

In making this scene Farnum's portrayal was intensely realistic and distinctly out of the ordinary. Women grew pale, men stood absorbed and one little extra girl gulped aloud. He seemed to be in very fact the maniac he played.

In preparing for this picture, one of the most powerful he has yet produced, Farnum, with his usual studious care, made an investigation of the particular type of insanity he was called on to show, for when William Farnum goes after realism on the screen, he makes no child's play of it.

In contrast with this magnificently acted bit, this careful actor shows the other side of the shield in the man of strength, the devoted husband and lover.

Also, "Sally's Blighted Career," a comedy that is sure to please.

BILLIE BURKE IS CHARMING IN "THE MISLEADING WIDOW"

Pretty Star Coming In Great New Paramount-Artcraft Screen Romance

One of the most delightful screen romances ever produced will come to the Princess Theatre on Thursday, when "The Misleading Widow," a new Paramount-Artcraft picture starring Billie Burke, will be shown. Miss Burke has the role of Betty Taradine, who was married and later deserted by her husband on account of her extravagance, and lives in a big house in a little New England village. Colonel Preedy, a wounded army officer, is convalescing at the Taradine house. Betty is being besieged by creditors, and, short of funds, announces that her husband has died in South Africa, so that she can collect his life insurance. Complications arise when Captain Rymill, the Colonel's aide and friend arrives and proves to be no other than the "dead" husband. How matters are finally adjusted forms the climax of the story, which is ideally suited to the whimsical art of Miss Burke.

Prominent in the supporting cast is the well-known young actor, James L. Crane. Others are Frank Mills, Madeline Clare, Fred Hearn, Frederick Esmelton, and Dorothy Walters.

"WILD WOMAN" Is a Comedy that You will Enjoy

Tumultuous Honeymoon Is Basis For Bright Screen Comedy With Popular Star

All laughs and sunshine are promised in "Why Smith Left Home," Bryant Washburn's new Paramount Artcraft picture, which is coming Friday to the Princess Theatre. The story was adapted from George Broadhurst's stage success of the same name and concerns the escapades of Smith and his pretty bride on their tempestuous honeymoon. They are marroed "on the double" and against Marian's Aunt Mary's wishes. Hard luck stalks them from the start, and in such rapid fire order do the adventures come that Smith hasn't even time to imprint that first nuptial kiss.

Train wrecks, fires, and a raging storm are among their misfortunes, and matters reach a climax when Smith is discovered in what looks like a compromising position with the good looking serving maid in their honeymoon bungalow. Marian starts home to Auntie, but an earthquake helps Smith pull some cave-man stuff, and all ends happily. Lois Wilson, leading lady of "Love Insurance," is again Mr. Washburn's chief support. Others in the cast are Maym Kelso, Winter Hall, Walter Hiers, Margaret Loomis, and Carrie Ward. The picture was directed by Donald Crisp.

BACK STAGE
The Cast
Roscoe Arbuckle, A Stage Carpenter
Molly Malone, A Dancer
Al St. John, A Villain
"Buster" Keaton, A Stage Hand
"Fatty" Arbuckle is the stage carpenter in a small vaudeville theatre such as are found in rube towns. The action of the picture begins on Monday morning when the new show is rehearsing. Al St. John is a hick song and dance man who arrives with Molly Malone, his partner in the act. He treats her so badly during the rehearsal that "Fatty," who is looking on, interferes and throws St. John out of the theatre. St. John complains to the rest of the troupe about his treatment and finally persuades them to refuse to work.

Hearing this, "Fatty," his faithful assistant, "Buster," and Mollie decide to give the whole show themselves. St. John and his fellow actors buy seats for the front of the house and go in with the idea of busting up the show. "Fatty" and his impromptu company give the program as originally planned, using the props and scenery that the actors brought with them. Although their efforts are crude, the audience is cruder and likes the show immensely, frowning upon the attempts of St. John and his gang to break it up. St. John becomes so uproarious finally that he stands upon the edge of the balcony, and is knocked off by Roscoe. The other actors revive him and rush the stage. Then follows a great rough house, which the audience stays to see, applauding "Fatty" and his supporters when they get the better of St. John and his actors.

Mollie is so grateful to her heavy-weight hero that she gives him her heart and hand, and they decide to get married. As the result of their defeat, St. John and his actor friends are obliged to pack up and leave town, and all is again serene "Back Stage."

UNCLE TOM WITHOUT THE CABIN
The Cast
Charlie Lynn, Ben Turpin
Partners in Tom Show
Marie Prevost, Ben's Wife
Eva Thatcher
Village Dramatic Critic
Ford Sterling, Jimmy Finlayson
Ben Turpin and Charlie Lynn are partners in a one night stand Tom Show. Marce is Ben's wife and she is pursued by stage Johnnie with the result that the opening of the show is delayed. Charlie urges Ben to adopt disciplinary methods and begins to mix up things with Marie who gives a good account of herself in the scrimmage.

Eva Thatcher, the village dramatic critic, comes to interview the star performer of "Uncle Tom Without the Cabin. Ben seeks in vain to be interviewed, but the critic insists upon talking only to a woman star. Pretending to show her how make-up is put on, Marie goatee on Eva's face. The performance begins and as Simon Legree, Charlie rides in and beats up Ben, who is playing Uncle Tom, so effectively that Ben jumps the job.
Marie plays the dual part of Little Eva and Eliza. In the latter role, she crosses the ice and loses her skirt because of a nail in a block of ice. She trips across the ice cakes in black bloomers and the chief bloodhound, Teddy, on catching up with her, licks her face, greatly to the anger of the audience. In the scene that follows, a careless stage hand upsets a whole skyful of snow on Ben almost burying him alive.

The audience make merry over the mishaps of the performers, and when they see the moustache and goatee on Eva's face, they become indignant. Some one hurles pie into Charlie's face, and presto! a race track gets mixed up with the scene with Ben as a heroic jockey. Somebody explodes a bunch of firecrackers under the horse and the animal wrecks the stage and puts everybody, including the audience, to rout.

CHINESE BECOME SOCIAL PIONEERS

Men and Women Form Good Fellowship Club Together Under Y. W. C. A. Leadership.

The Good Fellowship Club has made its appearance in society in Hangchow, China.

It began with the desire of a progressive young Chinese doctor to give his compatriots, especially the Christians, some healthful form of social intercourse.

Channels for a good, clean, social life among Chinese people are very limited. Until recently becoming a Christian often meant cutting oneself off from one's friends and relatives, also from feast days and festivals. As for joint meetings of men and women—well, such a thing was never heard of in decent society.

The young doctor's plan of having a club where men and their wives might come together to enjoy a good time with each other was discouraged and snuffed at. However, a few people agreed to be pioneers in the cause of social intercourse, and Y. W. C. A. secretaries agreed to help make the club a success.

At first the meetings of the club were laughed at by outsiders and the whole affair considered a joke. However, the members kept on meeting, first at one house and then at another. Soon the men got over the feeling of strangeness at starting out with their wives on Tuesday evenings for a friend's home. The women began to enjoy the outing and to take part in the discussions—an intelligent part, too—much to the surprise of their husbands.

The membership grew. The club's fame began to spread. At first the discussions of the club were conducted in English. Soon it became necessary for them to be carried on in Chinese so that more of the women could understand and take part. Many of the scoffers began to apply for admission. The members began indulging in much friendly chaffing and occasionally forgot their dignity to play jokes on one another. Finally it became so large that it had to be divided into two sections, which met separately three Tuesday evenings in the month and on the fourth Tuesday met together for a joint session, with a special program.

Students just returned from American and German colleges, an old Buddhist scholar who is particularly interested in the discussion on Buddhism and Christianity, merchants, railroad and government officials compose the men's side of the room. The women are still a bit shy about talking in front of so many people, but many of them show signs of great executive ability and power of leadership. They are all well poised, clear thinking individuals, who will have a great influence on China's future. They discuss among themselves group meetings in their various churches, the lack of amusements for Chinese women, social service work, subscription lists for the orphanage, cake making, types of stoves, baby diets, the latest engagement and other topics such as one would hear discussed by a group of women gathered together any place in America.

The social part of the evening is given over to games which at first astounded the sober Chinese gentlemen, but which they take up with great zest after the first evening. And their wives enjoy it just as greatly. Real American picnics are the latest thing which the club has tried, and they are a great success. A Christmas play is being planned next.

Miss Harriet Smith, Y. W. C. A. Student Secretary in China, Relates Amazing Story of How 20,000 Students Organized Themselves.

By BERNICE GRISWOLD.

Miss Harriet Smith, for ten years a student secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association in Shanghai, China, relates the amazing story of how 20,000 Chinese students organized themselves to oust the militarists from Government offices in Peking and how they succeeded in becoming the leaders of China.

Fearing that China was not to be protected from the aggression of other nations by the Peace Treaty, as she had expected to be, some 20,000 students, all of them between the ages of twelve and twenty-one years and including 8,000 girls organized themselves into the Chinese Students' Patriotic Society immediately after the publication of the first draft of the Peace Treaty to fight for Chinese rights.

Their first move was to strike from school or, rather, from lectures, as they remained in their respective schools and spent so many hours daily in private study. They then organized into bands for getting out propagandist literature and for public speaking in the country and small towns and in the tea shops in poorer districts of the cities in order that they might reach the vast numbers of people who could not read.

Immediately upon organizing, the students published their demands, four in number: (1) that the militarists, who as a party were pro-Japanese and practically controlled the Government at Peking, be put out of office; (2) that Sunatung be returned to China; (3) that the twenty-one demands made by Japan in 1915 be cancelled; (4) that there be freedom of speech and of the press. They also insisted that the Chinese constitution be finished.

An immense amount of literature was put out, much of it in the new phonetic script which is being launched in China, so that the uneducated classes might learn what was happening. Students lectured everywhere on the demands, stirring the people to patriotism. When many of them were arrested while parading in the streets of Peking they formed an Association of Imprisoned Students within the prison and refused to be released, picketing the stockade themselves when Government guards were taken away, until the Government submitted a proper apology for having imprisoned them in the beginning.

When it became evident that economic pressure was all that would be effective both the bankers' and merchants' guilds were called upon to back the students. "In less than two hours," Miss Smith said, "the shutters were up at every shop in that great city of Shanghai, where telephones are few and communication difficult. Every shop, whether large or small, was closed. The laboring people, feeling as patriotic as the bankers, merchants and students, also joined the general strike. For a week everything was closed—shops, money exchanges, fish markets, shipping, everything. The students struggled to keep public utilities running. The telephone service was stopped for a short time, but the students soon had it running again. They held meetings day and night, trying to keep the railroad employees at their posts and explaining that it was patriotism for them and for water works and electric light employees to continue to work. At the end of that week the students had won the first point and the militarists were out of power.

When suffrage in any form finally comes to China Miss Smith feels that it will be granted to both men and women because of the way women are helping to build things up now. Women students took an active part in all of this bloodless revolution. They had their places on all of the councils. Their part of the work was to translate much of the literature into phonetic script and when a boycott was declared on Japanese goods to begin production of goods in China.

"All of the students threw away their straw hats—purely Japanese products—at the beginning of their movement, and the women students set about making white duck hats, which were called patriotic hats and immediately became very popular. Then they began devoting themselves to the making of parasols and of talcum powder. Some of them paraded but none was arrested.

"China is the last country in the world to fear class feeling and antipathy, which seems to be gripping the rest of the world," Miss Smith says. "In China there is a wonderful social solidarity. People get together, not so much by localities, but by trades and professions. Every one belongs to a guild, and these guilds are wonderfully organized, as the Chinese have a genius for organization. Despite poor lines of communication, lack of railroads and telephones, these guilds hold closely together. Yet their organization has nothing to do with caste."

"With a leadership as highly organized as that of the students a great amount can be done. Leading men of China interpret the student movement as very significant—the forming of a new national party. It is the duty of all Christian organizations in China to give these students, who are now the leaders of the Government, every possible bit of aid and inspiration, as they need more than human help to bring China out of her difficulties successfully. The Y. W. C. A. is doing what it can to help the women students. All of these students have given up their vacations and are working hard throughout the summer."

Miss Smith has seen China change, within ten years, from one of the oldest and most rigid monarchies of the world into a republic. She saw the first republican flag go up and feels that China has accomplished a great deal, fighting all the time as she has, against the great odds of Japanese and European aggression in addition to the old monarchist party. Given time, China will become one of the great republics of the world, she says.

Miss Smith lives in Richmond, Va., and is home on a year's furlough. She expects to return to China in the spring.

ENGLISH IS COMMON TONGUE

Chinese Girls Learn It to Talk to One Another.

Chinese women students in the Tang Fu College, Peking, China, are obliged to learn English in order to talk with one another because of the different dialects used by the student body.

Girls from the extreme western provinces of China, who attend the school, must remain in Peking during all of the eight years required for their high school and college training, because to return each summer would require six weeks for the trip one way and would cost more than a trip to America and return.

Girls from each of the western provinces speak a different language and they cannot understand one another any more than they can the girls from northern, southern, eastern or central provinces. Hence, they have adopted English as a common tongue.

Packing a Trunk.

When packing an old trunk or box, list each article, package or roll on a sheet of paper and fasten to the top of the box or trunk, or use a memorandum book for all, designating each receptacle. Then when wanting an article to use refer to the list, thereby saving time and trouble.
