

ALEXANDER KORDA'S FIRST MUSICAL PRODUCTION "THE GAY GIRL"

WHAT WAS GONE BEFORE?
Rene Martin, whose name is coupled by Paris gossip with that of Jeanette Dupont, a show girl whose name never seems to go to her dressing room to squelch the rumor. He falls in love with her without revealing his identity. Jeanette, who has been made a star on the strength of the rumor, is called by the producer of her show, Jacques Thibaud, to bring Martin to dine with him at a well-known restaurant to give Thibaud's creditors the impression that Martin is backing his show. The bridge Martin, not knowing who he is, to "impersonate" the millionaire, and he promises to meet Jeanette in the theatre someplace. Jeanette grows furious, thinking he is making game of her.

Chapter Six
"My dear Martin!" effused Thibaud. "I'm delighted to see you. Come right in!" He waved Martin to a chair beside the desk at which he had been mournfully going over his accounts.
"I'm afraid I can't stay long," said Martin. "I'm in a great hurry. The course, of course. You know, Martin, I took a liking to you last night. I said to myself, 'at no last

"Put your arms around my waist... Now kiss me!"
him, Martin walked into the stage in front of the waiting chorus, and started dancing.
"Oh, my beautiful, stop him!" screamed Jacques. "Oh, my beautiful show!"
But his fears were needless. For Rene, catching the rhythm of the music and calling upon the considerable dancing skill he had developed through years of practice for amateur shows, gave a very creditable performance that gradually won over the audience from snickers of derision to gasps of admiration and finally loud applause.
Then Jeanette, returning from a breathless search for Rene through the backstage jungle of properties and debris, rushed into the wings and found him.
"Jacques, you mustn't have him arrested. It was my fault he impersonated Rene Martin."
"But he is Rene Martin. The police have identified him. Quick—get out here for the finale."
She joined Martin on the stage, converting his pas seul effort into a duet. And while they danced, she whispered to him in undertone: "Jeanette, I want to tell you that I—"
"That you're Rene Martin, and that you've had a nice laugh at my expense. Don't bother—I'm never going to see you again, after deceiving me like this."
"But what about the way you tried to deceive me? I'm the one who really should be angry."
Jeanette, dear—I do love you!"
Meanwhile they danced—and the music rose to a crashing climax. "Get off the stage," whispered Jeanette. "No, put your arm around my waist... now kiss me. Again..."
They held it for the finale, while the curtain slowly descended and in the wings Jacques Thibaud hugged himself ecstatically, happy in his successful show, his new star, and his millionaire banker who was going to marry her.

ON HIS CONSCIENCE
BRADFORD, Pa. (AP)—A childhood prank of 48 years ago weighed heavily on the conscience of an Olean, N. Y., man.
He wrote Mayor Hugh J. Ryan a letter, relating that "way back in 1890" he visited the old fairgrounds at South Bradford. But instead of paying an admission fee, he crawled under the fence.
The thought of the act had disturbed him all these years, he wrote, and now he would like to know to whom he could pay the fee.

Ickes Denounces Hike In Relief Funds May Reach $2,000,000,000

Secretary Declares President Expected To Tell Congress Totalitarianism Is Distinct Threat Of Unemployment

CHICAGO, Apr. 4.—(AP)—Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, asserted last night that "fascism is the deadly and insidious foe that we must prepare to combat without loss of time."
The secretary made the assertion in an address, broadcast over a nationwide hookup, at a dinner commemorating the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of the Jewish Daily Courier. His subject was "Progress by Purges."
Declaring that he suspected "either the motives or the intelligence of those who would have us march our forces against a highly imaginary danger of communism while fascism thunders at the gates of our citadel of liberty," he secretary added:
"Let us make no mistake. Totalitarianism is a real threat to our institutions. More and more people are coming to recognize the danger even to America of this ruthless political monster that hunts by day and prowls by night."
"They are coming to realize that unless we are luckier than we are likely to be, our concern for the safety of our democratic institutions will increase rather than diminish. For fascism—arrogant, devoid of conscience and knowing no mercy for man, woman or child—is on the march."
"Let us make no mistake, Totalitarianism is insidiously boring today from within the temple of our liberties and assailing it from without. It rides the radio waves, spews from the press, soars through the air in bombing planes, sinks under the sea in submarines and crosses the surface of the earth to a chorus of clanking tanks."
"Never has any foe of civilization moved so mysteriously, so unerringly, with such deadly swiftness, or over so wide a territory. The urgent and the unopposable duty of every American who loves liberty is not only to let the light of reason guard him from within against this treacherous foe but to join his fellow citizens in resisting it from without."

After the loyalists' ill-fated counter-attack, Yague turned his guns upon the castle, dominating the entire city. The doors were blasted by direct artillery hits and tanks moved through the debris. The impetuous Moroccos annihilated the loyalists there with grenades and bayonets.
More than 2000 prisoners were taken in the first phase of the 15,000 losses were said to have been suffered by the government, including dead, wounded and prisoners.
The loyalists were said to be reorganizing around Balaguer, 11 miles northeast of Lerida where the government's general headquarters was set up three days ago after fleeing Lerida.
While his mobile units and Moroccos seized the city, wipers out loyalist resistance, Yague held his storm-troops and civil guards in readiness on the outskirts ready for actual occupation.
Few of Lerida's normal civilian population of 40,000 remained, most non-combatants having been removed to the rear and into Barcelona.

Grand Jury Cracks Down On Gambling

Hillsborough Sheriff And 8 Other Public Officials Are Indicted In Cleanup

Cone Is Asked To Remove Officials Charge Is Failure To Arrest, Prosecute Illegal Gamblers

TAMPA, Apr. 5.—(AP)—A Hillsborough county grand jury, returning indictments against nine public officials and seven other persons, called for cleanup today of Tampa gambling and asked the public's co-operation.

Among the defendants named in the jury report were Sheriff J. R. McLeod, Police Chief C. J. Woodruff, County Solicitor J. E. Williams, Deputy Sheriff E. C. Logan, Deputy City Detective Chief W. D. Bush and Constables Hugh Oulbreath, H. C. Graves and Henry Rosenman.

The indictments charged the officials with the failure to arrest and prosecute gamblers. The bond for each was set at $500. Seven of the nine had made bond by noon.

Williams said he would seek a writ of habeas corpus as a means of attacking the indictments.

Mayor R. E. L. Chaney said he had faith in Chief Woodruff and Detective Bush and would not suspend them from duty.

Sheriff McLeod said, "My friends know I will be completely vindicated of these charges."

In a telegram to Gov. Cone the grand jury asked the removal of the sheriff, solicitor and constables. Cone, at Hollywood where he is attending the State Bankers Convention, declined to comment.

The nine city and county officials named in indictments returned by the Hillsborough county grand jury 10 minutes before midnight were:

Sheriff J. R. McLeod, County Solicitor J. E. Williams, Chief of Police C. J. Woodruff, Chief of Detectives W. D. Bush, Chief Deputy Sheriff Amason C. Logan.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Vesel, Constable Hugh Oulbreath, Constable H. M. Graves, Constable T. M. Graves.

All day and until almost the hour of midnight at which it went out of office the grand jury was constantly at work.

It brought in a report, bristling with charges of wholesale gambling. (Continued on Page 12)

Judge Sends 14-Year Old Boy Back Home

"Stay away from bad company," was the advice given by Judge R. W. Ware when he returned Douglas Huff, 14-year-old Chicago youth to his home instead of sending him to a term in Marianna as he did his two cronies, Andrew Lambros and Francis Mulheon.

The three youths were caught in the act of robbing Benjamin's Department Store on First Street some time ago and after obtaining a detailed report of the robbery, Judge Huff had previous records. Acting accordingly, he sentenced Lambros, who was apparently the leader, to serve 24 months in reform school and the other to serve 12 months. Young Huff had been away from home for the first time, was returned to his home in Chicago on the recommendation of juvenile authorities there.

Telling of his association for the robbery, Huff told the following story:

"I arrived home yesterday, and when I was glad to get home, I found some day I will be able to hold hands with you, this time as a man."

Mrs. Huff also wrote that Douglas was going back to school and that she was very thankful for the judge's interest in the boy.

Franco's March To Sea Watched By Democracies

Speculation Rife On Moves If Rebel Armies Win Civil War

By MORGAN M. BEATTY, WASHINGTON, Apr. 5.—(AP)—Heads of governments all over the world are anxiously watching General Franco's march to the sea and asking their respective confidentially—to guess the train of events in the wake of a final nationalist victory in Spain.

The guesses are confidential because no government is willing publicly to count other people's chickens before they're hatched. Naturally, the guesses don't agree on details but enough of their opinions have leaked out in democratic capitals to make a composite of the scene after Franco wins—if he does.

Possible Developments Here are four big developments the guessers expect in the wake of Franco's success:

1. Methodical, red-sashed General Franco would scrap the seven-year-old republic that succeeded the Bourbon monarchy in 1931, and himself assume absolute control of "New Spain."

France has indicated he's not set on any one form of government, so long as he holds the reins. Most interpreters think, however, he probably favors restoration of a Bourbon king as a veneer for his own dictatorship.

2. Firm suppression of republican remnants.

Since the world-famous Spanish empire crumbled 200-odd years ago, Spain's history has been one page after another of intrigue and revolt. Her several classes range from out-and-out royalists to anarchists who want as little government as possible, and that in the hands of labor. In between are the militant Catholic party, the Masonic groups, socialists, communists, and others, none of which has much in common with the rest.

Successful rulers of modern Spain have been men who ruled with an iron hand, like Dictator Primo de Rivera who modernized the country in the prosperous nineteenth century. If Franco would rule, he must suppress the so-called "red" opposition, some of which is composed of moderates, much like the members of the democratic and republican groups in this country. He also must watch for revolt within his own ranks. It is estimated in Spanish circles that he will have to

Florida Labor Refuses Okeh On Candidates

Office-Seekers Presented At Convention But Not Permitted To Speak

PENSACOLA, Apr. 5.—(AP)—The Florida Federation of Labor today steered itself away from public endorsement of political candidates. Instead, its executive committee will compile information about the attitude of candidates on labor legislation, and this will be sent to local unions throughout the state.

Candidates for various offices were introduced to the annual convention here but were not allowed to make speeches. There was no opposition to the motion from the floor that, since no speeches were allowed, there should be no public endorsements.

Delegates handed in a flood of resolutions but these went to a committee whose approval is required before they come to the floor. One, which went to the committee, proposing the endorsement of Senator Claude Pepper was read. Another resolution offered by Tampa cigarmakers would endorse the Federal wages and hours law.

Florida musicians at the conference asked a resolution for the investigation of the Federal music project in Florida, charging that musicians "through gross misrepresentation" left homes and were required to live in Jacksonville to rehearse for tours of the state symphony orchestra. The resolutions committee will report tomorrow.

Mystery Shrouds WPA Road Work

Miamian's Death, Officers Claim

Salesman's Body Was Discovered In Everglades Waterway

WEST PALM BEACH, Apr. 5.—(AP)—Sheriff's deputies today said a mystery surrounded the death of Johnson I. Lightsey, 53, Miami salesman, whose body was found in an Everglades drainage canal on Conner's highway 25 miles west of here.

Lightsey's body was recovered yesterday within a few miles of the place where the body of Lawrence W. Bell, 39, West Palm Beach salesman, was found in a submerged car Sunday.

Officers said they found a letter in the water nearby addressed to a friend in Miami in which Lightsey said he had been kidnapped by two men who robbed him of $52 after forcing him to drive to Fort Pierce.

Lightsey's car was found on a canal bank Mar. 25 after he had left West Palm Beach for the Lake Okechobee region.

Heyward Walker Named Secretary Of Florida Dairy Products Group

Heyward Walker, head of the Seminole Creamery Company and secretary of the Florida Dairy Products Association, has returned from Jacksonville where he attended a meeting of the Association in the Seminole Hotel over the weekend.

The meeting was called to order Friday morning by President W. J. Barritt, Sr., of Tampa who introduced John M. Scott, Chief Milk Inspector for the State.

Speaking on the subject of "A New Problem," Mr. Scott pointed out that the butter industry was offering a new problem to the inspectors. He emphasized the importance of regular inspections of dairy and ice cream plants and since there are no accurate reports of dairy products marketed in this State, Mr. Scott suggested that each dairymen send in the necessary information for a complete survey of the industry during the next six months, Mr. Walker reported.

Mrs. J. D. A. Derman, State Milk Commissioner, was also present at the meeting and reported that the board meets once each month to discuss matters relating to the industry and further pointed out that it was the duty of the Board "to protect public health and welfare."

In his report of the meeting Mr. Walker also stated that an explanation of the Florida Dairy Short Course to be held in Gainesville soon was given by Professor Thurston of the Extension Service who stated that the course would consider, chiefly, fundamentals in dairying operations.

In advocating consolidated milk laws, Mr. C. Houser, president of the State Dairymen's Association, pointed to the need for production of milk that will "taste the same every day" and asserted that supervision was needed to follow the cheapest feeding methods and maintain a uniform quality in taste and quality of milk.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Nominating Committee appointed A. E. Johnson, vice-president for last year, to the presidency, also named G. A. Grice of Miami as vice-president and re-appointed Heyward Walker of this City as secretary of the organization for another year.

Committee Is Appointed For TVA Inquiry

Three Democrats And Two Republicans From Each Legislative Body Named

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5.—(AP)—Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead today named three Democrats and two Republicans from each legislative body to conduct a congressional investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority and private power companies operating in that area.

Speaker Bankhead named representatives Mead, New Hampshire Democrat, Schwarts, Wyoming Democrat, McNary, Oregon Republican, Hays, Idaho Republican.

Senator Borah promptly announced he would decline to serve. President Roosevelt yesterday signed the resolution authorizing a $50,000, joint congressional investigation into charges of corruption and waste within the Tennessee Valley Authority and activities of private utilities in fighting the New Deal's power rate "yardstick" program.

The President's action came while the Senate was in recess and shortly after the House adjourned, blocking appointment of the committee until today.

Bankhead and Garner, carefully concealing their selections, said that they would be chosen on the basis of "strict neutrality" during the TVA controversy.

Which culminated with President Roosevelt's removal of Arthur E. Morgan as the agency's chairman when he refused to substitute charges of dishonesty against his co-directors, David E. Lilienthal and Harcourt A. Morgan.

Indications are that the committee will begin work this week. One of the first jobs will be to select its chairman. It has a $50,000 bank account to defray expenses and wide subpoena powers to gather all available data on the TVA and the fight against it by utilities.

With Loyalists Divided Franco Attacks Barcelona In North, Valencia In South

British Unionists Slow Rearmament

Internal Dissension In London And Paris Is Brought To Head

By Associated Press The Spanish insurgents' powerful war machine today drove ahead toward what its leaders hoped would be a quick, final victory in the civil war that has made Europe an armed camp.

Both Great Britain and France struggled with internal dissension stirred up largely by the Spanish strife and brought to a head by the insurgents' swift offensive.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's armies held eastern seaboard and look down on the Mediterranean at the city of Tortosa which they expect to occupy shortly. With the first great offensive won, Franco's forces turned their attacks north toward Barcelona and south toward Valencia.

In London, Prime Minister Chamberlain's government, the victor over the labor party in the foreign affairs debate, ran headlong into union workers' coolness toward its armament speedup program because of opposition to the government foreign policy.

French Premier Blum battled with an uproarious parliament for drastic powers over the nation's economic and financial life.

In the Orient the Japanese pressed on toward the Lunghai railroad, the east-west transportation artery of Central China. Retreating Chinese, however, made another stand on the bitterly contested front, again slowing up the Japanese drive.

Spain's rebel officers last night announced General Franco's forces had cut Catalonia off from the rest of government Spain including Valencia and Madrid.

Long yesterday set Friday, Apr. 29, for a three-judge Federal Court hearing in Jacksonville on an application for a temporary injunction filed by 10 citrus growers and shippers against the Florida Citrus Commission and Nathan Mayo as commissioner of agriculture.

The application for the temporary injunction was filed here Mar. 31 and after a restraining order preventing the enforcement of the one and three-fifths bushel container regulation until the three-judge court could act upon the application.

Judge Long's order yesterday stated the three-judge court would be composed of Judge Rufus E. Posler, of New Orleans, one of the judges of the Fifth District Circuit Court of Appeals, Judge Louis W. Stryun, Jacksonville, one of the judges of the Southern District of Florida, and Judge Long, judge of the Northern District of Florida.

Mother Of Four Children Writes $10,000 Novel

Authorress Worked On Manuscript Amid Household Duties

NEW YORK, Apr. 5.—(AP)—While rearing four children, and doing her own housework, including the washing, Elizabeth Seifert wrote a novel, and today she came in New York as winner of a $10,000 prize for the best first novel of the year, and said:

"I imagine you'll write something, if you have it in you."
"Distractions of one kind or another one's age and situation and the kind of day one has are, she said, of little moment, if you're going to write, you will."

Miss Seifert, of Moberly, Mo.,—in private life Mrs. John G. Seifert, who lives in a typical American house surrounded by a big yard, and finds time to bake cookies for a six-foot son, Jack, 17; Richard, 15; Paul, 11, and Ann, 12, was guest of honor at a big literary luncheon.

Elizabeth Lewis was there, poet, Buck Hendrick Willem Van Loon—and some would-be writers who came to New York from little towns thinking they couldn't write there and could here, but never did—and everyone talked about her book, "Young Doctor Galahad."

It was Miss Seifert's first trip to New York, and her book about a small-town doctor, which won the Dodd, Mead & Co. and Dial book magazine award Martha Ostrom won several years ago with "Wild Geese" was the first thing she ever submitted to a publisher.

Fresh-faced, gray-haired, and to simply dressed in sporty clothes, she discussed her literary philosophy:

"I don't think the age at which you start makes any real difference to a writer. I am not sorry I was 29 when I finished my first book, instead of 25, some people think. I think, start writing, too young. Part of her book was written in pencil on a scratch pad, and part of it typed at a desk in her bedroom."

PEKING, North China, Apr. 5.—(AP)—The handily colored Japanese toy said all over the world may soon be made in China of Chinese cotton.

Toy Factory In China Planned By Japanese

A celluloid company is making plans to complete a million dollar factory at Tientsin, North China, which will export celluloid from the cotton raised in this country.

This cotton is short and coarse, unfit for most textile purposes, but good for manufacturing explosives, rayon, celluloid, and other cellulose products.

The new factory is expected to be completed by next autumn.

She tried to work two hours a day, but always stopped to get a hot lunch for the child.

Her husband and her oldest son read the book in manuscript and said, "nice going, mother. All the household is delighted with her prize, and Moberly, Mo. is too. Nearly the whole town congratulated her when news of the award came,—including the mayor."

Helps For Housewives

USE FLORIDA EGGS

Eggs are plentiful and cheap at this season and this well-nigh universal food product can well be a part of the daily menu of every family, says Miss Anna Mae Sikes, nutritionist with the State Agricultural Extension Service. Poultrymen are constant in improving the quality of eggs offered on the market, marketing them fresh and in good condition.

She offers the following points as to why Florida quality eggs should be widely used by housewives, particularly at this season:

Eggs are easily and quickly prepared. They can be prepared in many different ways, thus adding variety to the meals.

Eggs combine well with other foods. They improve the food value, flavor, color and texture of the products in which they are used. They may be used as a meat substitute.

Eggs are palatable, easily digested and assimilated by most people, and are a highly important food for every member of the family, from baby to grand father. They are recommended for the daily diet, and should be served at least three to four times weekly.

Proteins of a quality that is very efficient for growth and body repair are supplied by eggs, which also contain important minerals, such as iron, phosphorus and calcium. They are particularly valuable for their iron content.

Eggs are excellent sources of at least three vitamins, A, D and G. Vitamin A builds resistance to various infections such as colds; vitamin D, the so-called sunshine vitamin, is essential for the prevention of rickets, and vitamin G promotes good nutrition and aids in prevention of pellagra.

Mass Weddings To Be Held For Refugees

SHANGHAI—(AP)—A series of mass weddings are being arranged by Chinese charity organizations to accommodate the love-lorn in Shanghai's refugee camps.

The weddings are to be held monthly and will require no cash outlay since the necessary Chinese wedding costume will be loaned the couples by local shops.

Contrasting strangely with his padded, denim overalls, the wedding costume for the refugee groom will include a silk gown and fedora hat.

Eggs are excellent sources of at least three vitamins, A, D and G. Vitamin A builds resistance to various infections such as colds; vitamin D, the so-called sunshine vitamin, is essential for the prevention of rickets, and vitamin G promotes good nutrition and aids in prevention of pellagra.

Popular Idea Of Mental Hospitals Undergoes Change

CHATTANOOGHEE, Apr. 5. — (AP)—Dr. J. H. Theffrell, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane here, said today the percentage of patients under 20 years old is on the increase. He said he did not interpret this trend as meaning insanity among youth is on the increase but rather as meaning that the popular idea about mental hospitals has undergone a change. "People are beginning to understand what we mean when we say that we do not operate an asylum at Chattanooga," the superintendent explained. "We run a hospital for the purpose of restoring health to those who have become mentally sick." A check on the ages of patients was made in April 1937, and another check was made last January. During this eight months period patients between the ages of 20 and 30 increased 20.7 percent while patients below the age of 20 increased 57.5 percent.

Dr. Theffrell said Florida has a low percentage of its population in the hospital for the insane, despite the crowded condition of the institution. He explained the percentage for the United States is one mental patient for each 210 persons while in Florida the rate is one for each 413.

politics that a military dictator is in serious danger from some lieutenant or other who thinks he can run the country better than his chief.

Francisco would "pay back" Mussolini and Hitler for the many thousands of volunteers and millions of dollars worth of equipment they have sent him.

The insurgent leader's first step in foreign policy might be to proclaim the independence of Spain and emphasize her friendship for Germany and Italy.

This presumably would bolster the prestige of European dictators by increasing their number but, for popular Spanish consumption, deny that Franco had traded Spain's independence for Italian and German assistance in his war against the republic.

Next, Franco presumably would make economic concessions to the dictatorial nations, probably allowing them to exploit some of Spain's natural resources and showing their way as much trade as a war-ravaged nation could give the "have-not" nations.

Franco is expected to make secret military treaties with Germany and Italy to cover eventualities in case of a general European war. He might permit troops to pass through Spain and let Germany and Italy establish secret naval bases on Spain's Mediterranean coast.

Such concessions would menace France in two ways. Troop passage would force her to patrol three borders—the Spanish, Italian and German. Naval bases in the Spanish Mediterranean would threaten to cut off communication with her north African colonies.

As the inevitable penalty of civil war, Franco would have to turn to an outside power to get money to rehabilitate his country and run his new government, and the natural spots for credit would be London and New York.

British and American observers seem to think those nations hold a trump card in an economic game with Mussolini and Hitler in Spain, after all, Hitler and Mussolini are cleming down to keep money in their countries. At the same time, London is looking for places to invest money and the United States is willing to pay cash for Spain's cork and olive oil. Franco will be sorely tempted to carry water on both shoulders.

of Tortosa, 180 miles southeast of Barcelona, and had set up machine guns and field artillery commanding the last highway to link the two sections of government territory.

The rebel guns, frowning down on the seacoast road, severed all traffic between the north and south.

In sight of the Mediterranean on the south and touching the French border on the north, rebel armies began closing the jaws of a giant trap about Catalonia, seat of the Spanish government.

But Russia last night rejected a Japanese protest that accused the Soviets of lending military aid to China in her war with Japan.

Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff denied the Soviet Government had sent any army detachments or officers to bolster China's forces.

"Any declaration contradicting this fact and incapable of verification," Litvinoff declared, "could have been laid only by circles which already are well known for their systematic fabrication of all kinds of false reports with the object of sharpening relations between Japan and the Soviet Union."

The Japanese protest delivered earlier yesterday by Ambassador Morifuji Shigemitsu, warned that Russia would have to "assume responsibility for the consequences" if such aid continued.

Chocolate Beans Burn To Raise The Price

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5.—(AP)—Honeybees may like their cocoa but African Gold Coast farmers who raise it are mighty sore about present prices.

Cocoa has been the real "gold" of the Gold Coast until recently, says the National Geographic Society. In the 18th century Portuguese discoverers of the region south of the equator, hoped real gold dust would be their reward. But the golden beans of the cocoa tree, introduced from the Americas, proved more valuable than gold itself.

Now with prices running against them, 1937 farmers are burning their chocolate crops by the ton.

THE UNDERGROUND TOWN
Strange as it seems, Coober Pedy, Australian opal mining town, is built entirely underground. You could walk right over it without knowing it existed.

There are two main reasons why the citizens of Coober Pedy chose to dig their town instead of building it. Located in the Stuart Mountains of Southern Australia, in the center of an open plateau, timber is a scarcity.

Secondly, so intense is the heat of the Australian sun there during the summer months that life outdoors is almost unbearable, even temperatures prevail the year around.

All business in Coober Pedy is conducted in underground stores in the deepest post office and bank. Only for short periods each day do the miners of this strange town see daylight; their work, recreation and sleep all takes place in the odd little human burrows.

ACCIDENT IN THE CLOUDS
One of the strangest accidents on record took place a few years ago high in the clouds over Charlotte Field, Chicago, during a mass parachute jumping exhibition.

Sergeants L. C. Schneider and L. T. Berval were among five army men who jumped from 6,500 feet so that cameras might make a record of their descent. A fifty-mile-an-hour wind was blowing at the time.

Their objective was a fleecy cloud, some 1,500 feet thick, about 1,000 feet below and to one side.

Just as Sergeant Schneider drifted into the cloud bank, Berval, his chute catching widely from the high wind swung into Schneider's shrouds from one side. Threatened with the danger of both chutes collapsing, the men fought to disentangle themselves.

Finally they separated, but a hole was torn in Schneider's silken bag. Again the wind whipped Berval into Schneider's lines, and once more they fought to separate themselves. This time they succeeded in slipping away from each other, and both made a safe landing.

ing by a syndicate.
The jury's action came at the climax of the most sensational investigation of gambling ever conducted here.

For three weeks, working from morning until night, the jury had hammered away at the bolita and lottery rackets with unprecedented vigor. When witnesses became reluctant to testify they were locked in jail until they were ready to talk.

"I don't know" and "I can't remember" were wholly unacceptable as answers to the jury's questions about gambling, bolitas and the Cuban lottery.

Witnesses swaggered boldly into the jury room at first, but after Lou Feldman, employe at El Dorado, went to jail over the weekend for refusal to talk, subpoenaes became more respected.

Those afraid of an ever-widening net fled the city, and gambling was closed by degrees when the gambling high command was convinced the jury meant business.

Jurors themselves raided gambling places. Without warning and purging all possible tipoffs beforehand, they went to El Dorado, Leo Day's bolita stand on Morgan street and Charlie Moon's negro gambling house at Central avenue and Harrison street, and made photographs.

At El Dorado, while gamblers watched, they seized and hauled away a wastebasket full of currency, an arsenal of guns and tear gas bombs, gambling paraphernalia and records.

The records covering a period of several years and understood to have included gambling "I. O. U.'s" of a number of Tampanas, were closely studied.

Impetus to the inquiry was given by the murder of Tito Rubio, fire lieutenant of the gambling industry and front man at El Dorado. The shotgun slugs that blasted into him at his home early on the morning of Mar. 9 also blew the lid off the gambling industry.

The poultryman who overcrowds his brooder house is likely to be penalized with sick chicks and with underweight birds at market time.

Coast Line Will Receive South's Largest Trains

The largest and most powerful locomotives ever to be placed in passenger service in the South have been bought by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad from the Baldwin Locomotive Works and are now being delivered, L. T. Sheppard, local ticket agent announced today.

There are 12 of these giant engines, each capable of drawing 20 Pullman cars at 90 miles an hour and making the entire 681-mile run between Richmond and Jacksonville. They will be assigned to the Coast Line's through limited trains, which operate between Florida, Savannah, Jacksonville, Richmond, Washington and New York.

These locomotives have eight enormous driving wheels six feet eight inches in diameter and develop 4,000 horsepower. Their overall length is nearly 111 feet and they tower 16 feet above the tracks. Their weight is approximately 900,000 pounds. The tender is 48 feet long and has capacity for 24,000 gallons of water and 27 tons of coal. They are among the largest ever built and are the first ever constructed with two eight-wheel trucks. The latter give perfect weight distribution greater brake area and contribute to smooth, safe performance and sustained, fast schedule.

The very latest improvements in steam locomotives design are embodied in these mammoth engines—rotor fired, super heaters, roller bearings, conservative streamlining and other features.

The first of the company's fast through trains to be equipped with the new locomotives will be the Havana Special. Other trains will be equipped shortly.

Heaton Made Labor Chief For 8th Time

Industrial Commissioner To Head Federation's Lobby At 1939 Legislature

Approval Placed On New Dealers

Success Reported In Organizing Citrus Workers Of State

PENSACOLA, Apr. 6.—(AP)—The Florida Federation of Labor, nearing the end of its 38th annual convention, unanimously re-elected President Wendell C. Heaton for the eighth consecutive term. Heaton also will head the Federation's lobby at the 1939 state legislature to support a host of bills endorsed by organized workers.

Charles E. Silva was named first vice-president. The Federation endorsed the Roosevelt administration. It also advocated a state supported training ship for persons who would engage in teamanship for a living.

James Whitney, director of efforts to organize Florida citrus workers in a labor federation, reported some success. Yesterday cattle fencing embelished the Federation in a rebuffed, but brief, discussion before adoption of a motion to "have nothing to do with" legislative committee proposed to endorse legislation to keep livestock off the highway; drew statements that with action would jeopardize other labor bills to be presented in the 1939 legislature.

"Your labor program will be injured if you have anything to do with this fencing proposition," said J. D. Drew of Jacksonville. Others said labor should take a stand to "put the lives of humans above the lives and liberties of cattle on the roads."

The federation, holding its thirty-eighth annual convention here, defeated by an overwhelming voice vote a proposal to have a salaried president prohibited from holding any other salaried job.

Had this been adopted, it would have required President Wendell Heaton to resign either from the labor office or from the chairmanship of the state industrial commission. He receives no salary as the labor president. He gets $4,800 a year as the industrial commissioner.

FFA Chapter Has Farewell Party For Two Members

A farewell party was given at the regular meeting of the Seminole Chapter of Future Farmers of America at the high school last night for Robert and George Mauser, who have been active in affairs of the local chapter and who are moving to Baltimore, Md., soon to make their home.

Robert Mauser resigned his office as president of the chapter and Harvey Hale was elected to finish the year as head of the organization. George Mauser also resigned his post as reporter and chapter members voted to install Alvin Jones in this office. Harold Clouse was elected as secretary to replace Harvey Hale.

It was also announced at the meeting that the Seminole Chapter will play a diamond ball game against the DeLand chapter on the high school athletic field Thursday afternoon.

Advertising Of Referendum Will Celery Will Be Be Postponed On Planned Thursday Hospital Project

An Extensive Advertising Program Advised For Next Year

Efforts to interest members of the Florida celery industry in an extensive nation-wide advertising campaign will be revived at a meeting called by County Agent C. R. Dawson to be held at the Court House Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Shortly after the beginning of the current celery season an effort was made to launch an advertising program for the industry this year but failed because "it was too late in the season." The leaders in the industry, expressing an almost unanimous opinion that "advertising pays," advised that an extensive advertising program would be considered for next year.

Following the success of the celery postcard scheme, sponsored through the courtesy of the Florida Power and Light Company, Mr. Dawson lost no time in calling together heads of the industry to discuss a program for next year.

"In 1929," Mr. Dawson said in an invitation to the meeting "the Florida State Celery Association, Inc. was formed for the purpose of promoting the general interests of Florida celery growers and allied industries by bringing about a wider distribution of Florida's celery volume. This organization must be revived."

Declaring that the housewife is the key to the situation, Mr. Dawson distributed department, son pointed out that this average (Continued On Page Six)

Yesterday afternoon H. C. DuBoise was selected as one of the 12 jurors for the trial of W. F. Duggan, former Lake county slot machine baron, who is charged by the Internal Revenue Department with income tax evasion.

Cold Weather Lashes Back At Mid-West

Snow Reported From Wyoming Eastward; Boston Experiences 25-Degree Weather

CHICAGO, Apr. 6.—(AP)—Winter weather lashed back at the Middle West today and heaped budding vegetation with snow a foot deep in many places.

Wet snow, which crippled traffic and grounded all airplanes at Chicago was general from Wyoming eastward through parts of the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

In the East slight traces of snow were reported along with sudden drops in temperature. Boston had the coldest weather for this date in 51 years—25 degrees.

Forecasters J. H. Loyd of the government Weather Bureau here predicted the snow would continue heavily today and tonight in northern Illinois and Iowa and southern Wisconsin, but would move from South Dakota and northern Kansas into Kansas. At many points, he said, the rain would change to snow.

April snow reached depths of 14 inches in Wyoming, 12 in South Dakota, 10 in Iowa and five in Minnesota and Illinois.

In the snow areas temperatures were slightly below freezing. Snow drifts, closed some roads and forced schools to suspend classes.

Hobby Display Is Given By Tourist Club At C Of C

One of the most interesting exhibits ever displayed in Sanford was assembled Monday in the Chamber of Commerce Building for the "Hobby" program of the Sanford Tourist Club. The reception room of the Chamber of Commerce Building was filled with all types of hobby displays, ranging from embroidered tags to a collection of fancy Valentines dating back to 1913.

Walls and doors of the room were covered with beautifully designed quilts and bedspreads, while large tables were laden with numerous objects, Chamber of Commerce officials reported.

Music throughout the evening was furnished by Willard Connelly and Charles DeWare. Another entertainment feature was several exhibitions by Boy Scouts of Troop No. 14 under the leadership of A. C. Madden.

Monday night's meeting ran down the curtain on the Tourist Club's second successful season. The Club was organized on Mar. 1, 1938, under the sponsorship of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and since that time it has grown so as to be recognized as a very valuable asset to the city.

Since early December, regular weekly social meetings have been held in the Chamber of Commerce Building in addition to special entertainments such as boat trips, picnics. All activities have been self supporting and the club ended its year with a cash balance on hand.

Officers serving during the past year were Mrs. C. C. Earl, President; Miss Ina Fenwick, Secretary; and Ralph Bagwell, Treasurer.

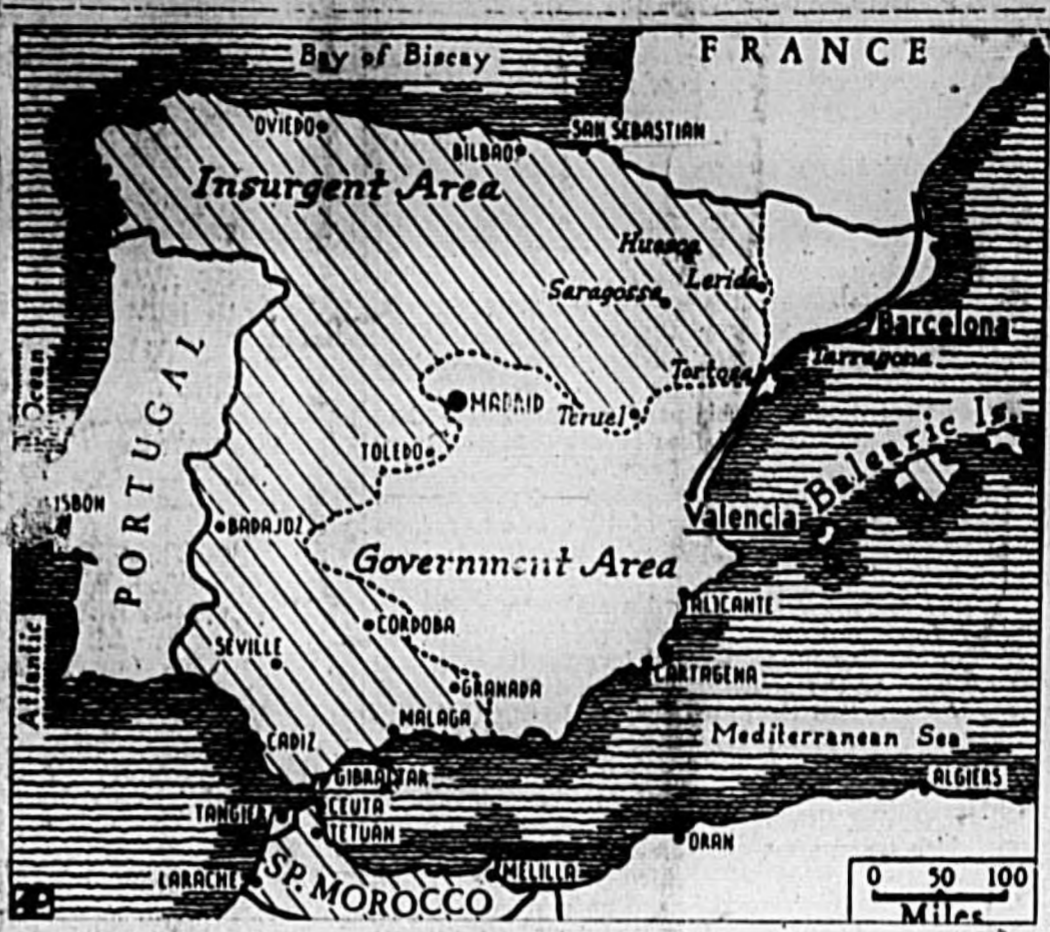

Florida Bank Group Concludes Session

HOLLYWOOD, Apr. 6.—(AP)—The Florida Bankers association concluded its 45th annual convention yesterday with the re-election of all officers and selection of Jacksonville for its next convention.

George B. Howell of Tampa, president, and the other officials had not served a full year because the time of the convention and election was changed last year from November to April.

With homely metaphors that drew chuckles from his audience, Governor Cone advised the bankers to "get that pessimism out of your heads" and recognize comparatively better business conditions.

INSURGENTS SPLIT GOVERNMENT TERRITORY

Spanish Insurgent officers say their forces have succeeded in splitting territory held by the government by cutting Catalonia off from the rest of the loyalist domain. Gen. Francisco Franco's men were reported at the gates of Tortosa with machine guns and artillery commanding the last highway (indicated on map) linking the two sections of government territory. All traffic between the north and south was halted.

Routine Matters Are Considered By County Board

Commissioners Hear Many Requests At Regular Meeting

Many routine matters were handled by the Board of County Commissioners after it reconvened yesterday afternoon to continue the regular monthly meeting.

On motion, Tax Collector Jno. D. Jinks was authorized to purchase extra sections of index filing cabinets for his office after the need of this equipment was reported to the Board.

County physician, Dr. A. C. Kirk and County Red Cross Nurse Miss Frances McDougal, discussed with the Commissioners various phases of the public health program in this County.

The Commissioners also approved the report of tracks 3 and 4 at Sanlando.

On motion the City was granted permission by the Board to use the County road roller on the WPA project for improvement of the lower section of French Avenue.

The Commissioners also called for bids for removal of the old depot at Altonville Springs.

W. F. Catlin, of the State Comptroller before the Board and requested the Commissioners to furnish additional space for the local commodities distribution office. Action was deferred until investigation could be made, but Mr. Catlin was advised that an effort will be made by the Board (Continued On Page Six)

Tomorrow Last Day To Qualify For Primaries

Tomorrow is the final day for qualification of candidates for offices subject to the Democratic primaries, and is also the final day for filing the first expense reports, County Clerk O. P. Herndon said today.

Explaining that the blanks are available in his office, Clerk Herndon stated that all candidates who do not file expense reports before closing time tomorrow night will be automatically disqualified for the election.

At the meeting of the Board of County Commissioners yesterday Mr. Herndon was directed not to include names of any of the candidates "whose poll taxes are legally due and have not been paid," on the ballot for the forthcoming primary.

Mr. Herndon explained that while the legislature removed the payment of poll taxes as a prerequisite to voting privileges, it did not change the sworn statements which all candidates are required to make which provides for full payment of the taxes.

Seven Men Die In Hotel Fire As Storm Rages

Three Others Burned As 30 Are Rescued; Four Unidentified

CHICAGO, Apr. 6.—(AP)—Seven men died today in a fire that attacked the upper two floors of a hotel center at 1426 West Madison Street and then spread to the roofs of two adjoining hotels. The victims were either burned to death or suffocated.

Three other persons, including a fireman, were burned and 30 men were burned. Three of the dead were burned almost beyond recognition. Identity of four of the victims could not immediately be established. There were 123 guests in the hotel.

Firemen fought the blaze in a snowstorm. Fire Marshal Michael Corrihan said the fire started by spontaneous combustion in a third-floor room in which paint, oil and rags were stored.

The identified dead were Joseph Bello, 65; Henry Berndt, 45; Edward Haas, 40.

Husband Murders Daughter, Wounds Wife, Kills Self

BRANFORD, Fla. Apr. 6.—(AP)—County Judge Mack H. Padgett said today a man known as Roy Williams killed his 15-year-old daughter, seriously wounded his estranged wife, then shot himself to death here.

The judge said it was a case of "murder and suicide." Williams, he declared, entered a cafe operated by his estranged wife and asked to see his daughter. The woman told him the girl was asleep in a hotel room across the street but for him to awaken her.

Ernest Johnson, customer in the cafe, said Williams drew a pistol, shot his wife twice, tossed a note into Johnson's plate and ran across the street to the hotel.

There Williams shot the girl to death without awakening her, the judge said. Williams then shot himself through the mouth and through the heart.

The note which Williams tossed into Johnson's plate said that all of Williams' efforts at reconciliation with his wife had failed.

Mrs. Williams was taken to a Gainesville hospital where physicians said she is not expected to live.

Gov. Fred P. Cone broke ground last week for Lake City's new $75,000 WPA hospital approved by President Roosevelt while he was at Warm Springs.

Neutrals Fear Effect Of War In East, West

Business Suffers In China As Opposing Armies Struggle To Capture Lunghai

France Battles Over Finances

Loyalists Reorganize Cabinet To Include All Parties

By Associated Press
The effects of the war were felt today by the neutral nations and non-combatants on two sides of the world.

While border guards in France prepared for a flood of refugees from embattled Spain, Premier Leon Blum's demand for emergency powers over France's finances passed the first crucial test when Chamber of Deputies after bitter debate voted approval of the finance bill by the small majority of 60.

In the Orient as Chinese armies struggled desperately to hold the vital Lunghai corridor in Central China against Japan's mechanized power, business—Chinese, Japanese and Occidental—suffered severely.

Behind the lines in Spain, the Barcelona government's premier, Juan Negrin, revamped his cabinet to make it a people's front with all political and geographic interests represented.

At the front, a furious battle raged for possession of Tortosa, the last scraps of territory between the insurgent forces and the government held Mediterranean coast.

Once the last resistance at Tortosa is wiped out, rebel General Franco is expected to converge on Barcelona, Catalonia's main seaport and capital of government Spain, from three directions.

Northwest from Tortosa up the coastal highway through the port of Tarragona—a distance of 95 miles; Due east 80 miles from conquered Lerida;

Southwest from the sector where the rebel left wing is now stopping up crumbling resistance near the French border.

France was said to have given strict orders to all commanders that Barcelona was not to be subjected to severe bombardment under any circumstances. He was described as confident that the "fifth column" of rebel sympathizers within the city would be able to capture it virtually without firing a shot by the time rebel armies get within 20 miles.

A manufacturing and transportation center, Catalonia now is unable to get raw materials or to export products to the remainder of government Spain.

Reports from the city said the government had ordered the balconies of houses and all metal ornaments on buildings stripped off and converted into war materials.

In the twenty-first month of the civil war, the government still has greater manpower than the rebels, but it has nothing like the necessary equipment with which to arm its recruits.

One of Franco's great advantages in the four weeks of his swift Catalonia campaign has been the overwhelming superiority of his mechanized units.

Additional difficulty for Barcelona was seen in reported plants at Tremp, northwest of Lerida, which supply half of Catalonia. Electric power was cut off suddenly in central sections of Barcelona today, stalling street cars and extinguishing lights. The electric company said the power interruption was temporary.

The rebel advance continued east of Lerida, with government troops reported to be in full retreat. A decisive battle was expected about 60 miles west of Barcelona, where rebels moving north from Tortosa and east from Lerida could converge.
