Altamonte Woman Suffers Injuries

ATAMONTE SPRINGS — Mrs. Virginia Champion, Hattaway Dr., is suffering from shock and bruises and concussion of the head from a fall at an out-of-town store last week.

Mrs. Champion was shopping and had made several purchases in the store when she fell down a flight of 10 to 12 steps from the mezzanine to the street floor. An employe of the store heard her screams and went to investigate. There she discovered Mrs. Champion who was immediately rushed to the Florida Sanitarium by ambulance.

According to Mrs. Laura Champion, mother of the injured woman, there are no broken bones or fractures, but the patient is suffering considerable pain and discomfort. Dr. C. W. Lynn is the attending physician.

Proposal

worked out, it could then be presented to the area residents by the committee and to the City Commission by the Manager. It is from this point that discussions could materialize. The Manager believes that this method of approach would go a long way towards avoiding long and bitter arguments that tend only to create hard feelings and misunderstandings. A period of 30 to 60 days would probably be needed for this portion of the undertaking.

The third step would be to inform and educate all the residents of the area as to what the program contains and what it will mean to them and to the city.

The fourth step would be for the City Commission to determine the specific boundaries of any fringe area that would be acceptable for annexation. By this it is meant to designate areas where by the city could furnish city services to the residents of that area as present city residents are now receiving plus those needed under the above mentioned workable plan of expansion.

It is cautioned that these steps should not be undertaken as mere promises that may or may not be fulfilled but, instead, should be actually planned budgetary expenditures. There is little doubt that the entire program would require three to five years for some of the costly capital improvements that will no doubt be requested and needed. It is important to realize that this program will require several thousands of dollars that will not be recovered except very slowly over many years.

The fifth step would then be for the actual annexation mechanism to be undertaken with the required petitions. It is hoped that by this time a majority of the fringe area residents will know that the City of Sanford is sincere in wishing them to become a part of the community and that they will also wish to join with a clear cut blueprint of services and advantages before them.

The City Manager recommends that the City of Sanford does not undertake any annexation in a rush and without adequate plans and understanding by the residents in the fringe area.

Mrs. McNab announced that the Pilot Club will sponsor Mrs. Shirley Morgan's Girls State this year. This is an annual project of the club.

Authorities Search For Missing Mother

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Ella Wronker, a 66-year-old grandmother who flew here from Miami on Mother's Day but never showed up at her daughter's home, was the subject of a city-wide search today.

Authorities said Mrs. Wronker, of Miami, got off the plane at Midway Airport Sunday morning in surprise her daughter with a Mother's Day visit.

Her disappearance was not discovered until her husband, Herman, 67, a manufacturer's representative, telephoned his daughter to find out if Mrs. Wronker had arrived safely.

Airline authorities said Mrs. Wronker made the trip on a non-stop flight. Her baggage was picked up at the airport but a check of hotels showed she had not registered. She had purchased a one-way ticket, police said.

Mrs. Wiley said her mother was a peppery woman and a "social butterfly" who might easily strike up a conversation with a passenger on the plane. She said her mother had suffered a dizzy spell Saturday but had, she was informed apparently recovered.

Investigators said they planned to question the stewardess on the plane and other crew members to learn if Mrs. Wronker had become friendly with any of the passengers.

Bulgarian Hints Time For East-West Meet

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned the West today against "balancing on the brink" of war in the Middle East crisis. He hinted the time is now ripe for a new personal meeting between leaders of East and West.

The Soviet leader, speaking to a Kremlin mass meeting, declared the Soviet Union has "no special interests" in the Middle East other than seeing that peace and stability of Arab nations are guaranteed.

But he warned that the West must choose between this price and the "way of war."

Bulgaria surveyed foreign affairs in the Kremlin meeting that followed talks between Soviet leaders and a visiting government delegation from Mongolia.

He said that international tension has relaxed somewhat recently, making the time more propitious for new East-West negotiations on international problems. He said he favored personal contacts with foreign leaders to discuss questions of peace.

Regional Telephone Accounting Center To Be Established

Plans to establish a new regional telephone accounting center in Orlando were announced today by John Cooper, Southern Bell District Manager.

Cooper said details of the plans have not been finalized but it is expected that some 75 people will be employed initially. All except six or eight key men will be employed locally, he said.

The decision to move a portion of our accounting work to the Central Florida Area has been under consideration for some time.

He said the tremendous growth of the area and its greater anticipated future growth made it necessary to consider such a move. This will enable us to serve our customers even more efficiently than in the past.

Cooper paid special tribute to the helpful assistance of Stuart Johnson, Orlando Chamber of Commerce Manager, "in helping us decide on locating in Orlando."

Temporary offices at the present time will be located in the Hovater Building on South Main St. New temporary quarters are being readied and the Telephone Accounting Office will eventually be located at 440 Boone St. until such time as permanent location is established.

The move will probably take place in the near future, Cooper said, and final plans should be completed within the next few weeks.

Will Cause Serious Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower warned Congress today not to trifle with the defense of the country by making large budget cuts.

His warning, issued at his weekly news conference followed up his nationwide radio-television appeal to the American people to sacrifice dollars rather than their sons and cities as the "price for peace" in a world threatened by atomic-armed communism.

Eisenhower told reporters that he acknowledged honest differences of opinion between the executive and legislative branches of government. But he said that if Congress trifles with the defense budget, this country will be in serious trouble.

Big Defense Cut
But Congress seemed in no mood to retreat in its economy drive.

A House Appropriations Subcommittee was reported to have tentatively approved a cut of some $2,500,000,000 in Eisenhower's defense budget for next year. Members insisted the cut would not imperil the defense program.

Other news conference highlights:

The President said he believes one of the reasons Russia apparently is considering disarmament more seriously than in the past is that it is beginning to feel the pinch of supporting a heavy armaments budget.

He said unification of the armed services has not taken place in quite the form he expected. He added that this was one of the basic problems involved in making a minimum federal budget.

He asserted that use of force by Israel to send a ship through the Suez Canal would be reprehensible.

Bill To Ratify Harness Track Introduced Today

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Seminole County House delegation introduced a bill today "by request" to ratify a disputed harness racing track in Seminole County.

The track, approved by county voters last November, is now the subject of a suit by the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club which contends the law prohibits another track within 100 miles of an existing facility.

Sen. Douglas Stenstrom of Sanford introduced a similar bill in the Senate.

He said he opposed the suit track but the people of his county voted for it and "this is a case where my personal convictions must give way to duty."

3 Men Commended For Quick Action In Preventing Fire

Three men of Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven (VAH-11) were awarded letters of commendation by Cdr. J. D. Bear, Commanding Officer of VAH-11, for their quick action in preventing one of the squadron's aircraft from being totally destroyed in a recent fire.

Stanley E. Wiss, aviation mechanic first class, USN, of 24 Meadow Brook Drive, Lackawanna, N. Y.; Thomas J. Faucett, aviation mechanic first class, USN, of Country Trailer Park, Sanford; were awarded the following commendation:

"On May 1, 1957, a serious gasoline fire originated in the bomb bay of an AJ-1 on the Heavy Attack Squadron ELEVEN flight line. Your presence of mind and effective action in the immediate attempt to combat the flames with portable extinguishers was a contributing factor in preventing this aircraft from becoming a total loss. I commend you for your valor and quick and positive actions. Your performance of duty is in the best traditions of the naval service."

JACKY FENWICK

Don and Lois Kirkmeyer, (they're in V.A.H.S.) left late Sunday night for 30 days leave! They and their two daughters are on their way to Iowa, no doubt for family visits. It's been a long time since we've taken 30 days at one time, but I have hopes that the next long one will be for the Christmas holidays this coming winter! The way this heat moved in on us so suddenly, thoughts about snow are real refreshing!

Congratulations to Don and Jeanne Fleischman—Joanne had a baby boy Saturday morning, and FATHER and son are doing fine! It goes without saying that Mother is fine...but new fathers are something else again! We are there another big dance and buffet coming up at the Club's Club! This one will honor Memorial Day, and will be held on May 31. Guess what orchestra they're having? Sidney Vihlen of course, and I've just had a terrific thought! With the number of times I seem to write its name... I hope I'm spelling it correctly!!! So I guess I'm not the only one who thinks this is one real good band. They'll play for dancing from 9 p.m. until 11:30 a.m. This is for chiefs, and their guests, and there will be the small charge of $5.00 per person, but remember 'this in guides the buffet. It's bound to be as good, if not better than

Fake Charity Promoters Fleece $150 Million Year

By Louis Cassels
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Fake charity promoters are fleecing gullible givers of about $150 million dollars a year.

That's enough money to bail the Red Cross out of its financial crisis... to put the heart, cancer and polio drives over the top... to provide hundreds of summer camps for underprivileged children.

These and other causes which want more public support are among the victims of charity racketeers who pocket about 3 per cent of America's total contributions to philanthropy, according to the Better Business Bureau.

The bureau, which has local offices in more than 100 major cities, is taking the lead in an effort to teach Americans how to make sure that their contributions go to legitimate charities instead of to heartless parasites who prey on man's desire to help the unfortunate.

Edward G. Mergardt, vice president of the bureau, said one of the most vicious things about the charity rackets is the fact that their existence tends to make Americans cynical about all charities.

Know The Cause

"No one should stop giving to charity just because some purported 'charities' are unworthy," he said. "If you give intelligently, none of your money will be wasted."

The basic rule for intelligent giving, Mergardt said, is to "know the cause you're supporting." If an appeal sounds worthy, but the sponsoring organization is unfamiliar to you, investigate before reaching for your checkbook.

One easy way to investigate is to write or telephone the nearest Better Business Bureau. The bureau looks into every new solicitation that is called to its attention, and can usually give prompt advice.

Beware of solicitors who call by telephone, give you a tear-jerking spiel, and offer to send a collection agent to your home or office right away. This is a favorite technique of racketeers. If you get such a telephone call, insist that the "charity" send you full details by mail.

Many promoters, who are conducting purely fraudulent operations, will balk at putting any of their sales talk in writing, or sending it through the mails. They know that this exposes them to prosecution for mail fraud or for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Some Use Mails

But you can't assume that an appeal is worthy just because it comes to you through the mails. Some of the biggest racketeers operate on a national basis with mail solicitations. Their letterheads often bear names deceptively similar to those of reputable organizations.

Some of these outfits manage to avoid fraud prosecution by actually turning over part of their take to the charity they purport to represent, while pocketing thousands of dollars as "promotional costs" or "administrative expenses."

Mergardt said one of the gimmicks currently in vogue is mailing out unneeded merchandise. The merchandise may be religious articles, or some trinket. Usually the recipient is told that his remittance will help to support some needy cause.

Many Americans fall for this racket because they feel that they either have to pay for the merchandise, or go to the trouble of returning it. But you don't have to do either, said Mergardt.

The Eleventh Annual Synodical Training School for Women of the First Presbyterian Church, U.S. in Florida will be held at the Coquina Hotel (Ormond Beach, May 20-25).

Now Is Time To Prepare Selves, Families For Changes In Future

A parish pastor of a Sanford congregation received recently a condensation of a studied forecast for the period 1957-1976 made by one of the foremost business advisory services here in America.

The organization making the study is composed of outstanding economists, psychologists, statisticians, methods engineers, legal and financial specialists who carry on a continuing study of every aspect of "our increasingly complex society."

This is what the local pastor read in the report:

Continued expansion of the economy—new industries, services, consumer needs—will keep business healthy. We can expect several recessions in the next 20 years. The big problem: finding work for our increasing population. Work requiring 23 minutes work in 1955 will require only 6 in 1976. People will be making 60 per cent more money in terms of today's dollars. Dollar income will probably double but prices may rise as much as one-third. An increase of 30 per cent in per capita income is widely predicted by 1965. By 1976 we will be pushing toward a four-day work week. By 1960 people will be working three hours less per week. We will have turbocharged autos, wrist telephones for which everyone will be given a number at birth, food will keep indefinitely without freezing.

By 1976 the pension age will be creeping into the fifties . . . but most people will prefer partial retirement. One out of every two women will be employed outside the home. The father will spend more time at home, taking over some of the parental duties usually carried out by the mother. Men will spend more time with their children. The divorce rate will reach a new high and will be considered a major social problem. The increased membership in organized religion will serve as a brake on this trend. Young people will be marrying at the same age as now (most girls now marry at 20 and young men at 23). The average family will average less than three children (in 1965 the average family will have four children).

There will be a swing-back from the permissive attitude in raising children to more discipline. Present long-range studies of both gifted and retarded children will begin to pay off. Increasing emphasis will be put on engineering, physics, mathematics, chemistry. Due to increased prosperity and greater leisure there will be more cases of neurosis. A major problem will be what to do with one's leisure time. Enormously increased emotional tensions will make psychosomatic ailments and emotional disturbances as common as colds.

Men and women will be one inch taller but weigh no more. Increased leisure will produce more writers, artists, musicians, amateur and professional.

The average life expectancy in 1976—75 years. Today it is 68.8. The majority of people living in 1976 will die of heart disease. Polio will pose no threat. Tuberculosis will have been conquered, venereal disease will be on the way out. Cancer will be on the increase and people who will be treated at home for mental disease will substantially increase.

Global war will not be a threat in 1976. It could recur later. But there will be an even greater threat of limited wars than today. Between now and 1976 the odds point strongly to involvement of America in a local war—most likely in Asia. The horrible consequences of super-weapons will keep nations from global war. In 1976 Big Government will be looked to as a restraint to Big Business and Big Unionism. Engineers, professors and scientists will rise in status. Lawyers, doctors, surgeons will be regarded with less awe.

Our climate will be a little warmer than now. There will be more hurricanes on the East Coast. Water will be the most serious basic shortage. By 1976 we will know how to convert ocean water to fresh water and how to pump it on the land. There is no foreseeable shortage of iron ore. We will be using fuel cheaper than gasoline in our autos because of atomic fuels.

There will be a great religious revival in the next 20 years. We are turning to religion as we discover that we cannot explain life without it. However, by 1976 personal morals will be a subject of great national concern but no violent revolution in our morals will take place. The drive will be toward social conformity. Juvenile delinquency will go on an increase in social behavior.

Cigarettes will have been treated so that they are not injurious to health. Due to the tensions of work and the complexities of living alcoholism will increase. Television and education will make us more beauty conscious. We will see beauty in a greater variety of people and things. This country's youth fetish will be on the way out. Older people will form a large proportion if the population and interests in their needs will increase. Many of these predictions are "in the buff" now. Are we preparing ourselves and our people for tomorrow is the question asked of pastors.

Congressional Hearings In June

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON UP — Congressional hearings that could set the stage for tax cutting legislation have been scheduled for the first two weeks in June.

The joint congressional subcommittee in announcing the hearings said it would call some of the nation's leading economists as well as top government fiscal officers to testify.

The subcommittee plans to ask the economists if they believe taxes should be cut — if so, how should they be cut?

The hearings could be an important factor in future congressional tax strategy. Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas has promised that Democrats will try to provide for an effective tax relief next Jan. 1.

President Eisenhower opposes tax cuts now. But some influential GOP spokesmen — including House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. — have said some tax relief may be possible next January if the President's $11,000,000,000 budget can be cut enough.

The hearings will be conducted by the subcommittee on fiscal policy of the joint congressional economic committee. The group is headed by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills D-Ark., an influential member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Rayburn, who frequently heads Mills' advice on tax matters, told the United Press that the Arkansas sought and received his approval before arranging the June hearings. Mills said the subcommittee wanted to know:

1. How much of a budget surplus is in prospect for the fiscal year starting July 1 in view of the "current congressional and administration efforts to reduce spending."

2. What is the economic outlook for the rest of the year? Is inflation, deflation or economic stability in prospect?

The answer to this question may be significant. The same five-man subcommittee in 1953 after hearing from some of the experts unanimously reported that it would be dangerous to cut taxes as long as the then prevailing economic boom continues.

Summoned for panel discussions before the subcommittee were 19 leading economists from the academic world, from business and from labor. The views of 10 business, labor, farm and research organizations also will be heard.

Scheduled to testify last are Budget Bureau Director Percival F. Brundage, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board.

In addition to Mills, members of the subcommittee are Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas III, and Joseph C. O'Mahoney Wyo and Republican Rep. Thomas B. Curtis Mo.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The current conference of Arab kings in Iraq promises to mark an important turn in Middle Eastern affairs.

King Feisal of Iraq is playing host to King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

These two monarchs are to be joined by King Hussein of Jordan, who with their help has just defeated a pro-Russian, anti-Western plot against his throne.

Dispatches from Baghdad, Feisal's capital, indicate that the result is pretty certain to be a new line-up in the relations of the principal Arab countries.

Meaning of Line-Up
This line-up would include Lebanon. It would bring together four of the nine countries in the Arab League. It would mean a diplomatic victory for the United States and its allies, and a corresponding defeat for President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and for Soviet Russia.

Iraq and Lebanon are pro-Western. Iraq is the only Arab member of the so-called Baghdad Pact, formed to oppose Communism in aggression and penetration in the Middle East. Its members are Iraq, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Great Britain. The United States has all but joined it outright.

Saudi Arabia and Jordan have been listed as "neutralists." But King Saud has been swinging around to cooperate with the Western Allies since his visit to Washington in January. King Hussein has had some strong second thoughts about his neutralism since pro-Russian political leaders in Jordan tried, with the help of Egypt and Syria, to overthrow him.

Leadership Hopes Vanish
The way things look now, Nasser's hope of making himself the leader of the Arab world, and to unite the Arab countries in a neutralist policy which really would be anti-Western, has finally vanished.

This hope which Nasser long entertained began to get dimmer when in order to get weapons which the United States denied him he turned to Soviet Russia. Communism is a threat to every king, for one thing. For another, Saudi Arabia and Iraq receive immense revenues from their oil resources, which are exploited by Western countries.

Also Nasser worried King Saud and King Feisal by his open, recent campaign against Hussein, which the pro-Russian, anti-Western leaders of Syria actively supported. Saud and Feisal suspected that they, too, might become targets.

Cooperation in Crisis
When young King Hussein challenged his political enemies in Jordan, who seemed in full control of the country, to a showdown both Saud and Feisal pledged him their full support, with military aid if necessary.

The conference of kings in Iraq is a natural sequel to Hussein's victory.

It looks as if the road can only be to lessen Nasser's influence in the Arab world and to strengthen the position of the Western Allies. Naturally, there would be no formal announcement of any such development.

But Nasser and the Soviet leaders who are trying so hard to penetrate the Middle East will realize painfully what it means.

Backstairs At Whitehouse

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
GETTYSBURG, Pa. — Backstairs at the White House: President Eisenhower was away from Washington nearly half of the first four months of this year and his doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, could not be more pleased.

Snyder turns a definitely chilly shoulder to political critics who would have the President stick closer to his desk. Snyder believes frequent periods of relaxation, even more than rest, constitute the best prescription for the President's continued good health.

A group of 70 Gettysburg lady homemakers went to Washington recently for a visit under the guidance of their county extension home economist. The only neighborly thing to do was drop in at the White House.

Their Gettysburg neighbor Mrs. Eisenhower, arranged for the ladies to have a specially-conducted tour. The Adams County women came home all aglow and loaded with things to talk about.

They reported to the Gettysburg Times that among the handsome signs they saw was the beautiful gold Room of the White House.

This had members of the White House staff scratching their heads in puzzlement. There is no gold Room at the White House. There's a Blue Room, a Green Room and a Red Room, but no Gold Room.

What the ladies probably were referring to was the stately East Room which has a lot of gold in its decor.

Green Cafritz, one of Washington's leading hostesses and party givers, has been serving up distinguished groceries to the capital elite for a number of years.

She says there is not any appreciable difference between Democrats and Republicans as dinner guests, and that applies to members of a president's staff, too. Mrs. Cafritz says the really doesn't believe political lines cut deeply into Washington society and that most politicians regard dinner parties as relatively neutral ground.

Budget Director Percival Brundage has been under heavy fire recently from some sections of the Congress for the part he played in drafting the administration's $11,000,000,000 budget.

There have been demands that Eisenhower fire Brundage.

At a recent cabinet meeting, the President looked down the long mahogany table at Brundage, who was about to make a presentation on possible budget savings. With a twinkle in his eye Eisenhower nodded, to his budget director and said, "Well, I see you're still with us."

Inasmuch as tubes are among the most readily understood working parts of a TV set and are, by all odds, the most usual cause of trouble, let's take a brief look at the more common types of tube failure.

As with the ordinary light bulb, TV tubes are subject to burnout, another term for a blown filament. However, there are elements other than the filament in a tube, so other ailments can cause failure.

Sometimes tubes are known to glow with a blue light which indicates the presence of gas which may have been given off by the metal in the tube or, in some cases, by the glass envelope itself. Gassy tubes are no credit to your set, nor are tubes defective due to internal short circuits, old tubes which tend to warm slowly and microphonic tubes. A "microphonic" tube, by the way, is one with loose elements which might result in disturbance in either the sound or picture.

She also explained the different methods of propagation and care of the plants. It was emphasized that begonias should be kept moist, never wet or dry, and that they do best in semi-shade or filtered light. For those who want to root begonias by leaf, this is the best time of the year. Although Mrs. Winquist recommended the use of leaf mold, she suggested that if a gardener

It's safe to give a visiting baby the best bed in the house if you cover the bed-top with a plastic sheet. Nothing's easier to keep clean, of course. Just swap the plastic with a juicy sponge, rinse-wipe it with hot water, and then wipe it dry.

Conring The News

BY VIRGINIA COON

Marge and Bill Hill worked on a poker party Saturday night with Jean Fitton, Polly and Don Baker, John and Spook Hook and Boris and Fran Francisco. They barbecued on the front porch first by the way. Marge has four extra puppies left, so come early for a good choice. Guaranteed not pedigreed.

The planning committee for the Driftwood Circle met Tuesday and discussed the program for next year. It was decided that individual participation would be adopted, so that every member would be active and enjoy each phase more fully. Spook Hook will be in charge of the programs. Mike Stone, Marge Hill, Betty Guy and Jean Teffel were present at the meeting.

Registration for school round up of new pupils starting school in September will begin Monday at 9:30 a.m. at the school. Mrs. Herbert Thurston is chairman of the committee composed of Mrs. Marge Smith and Mrs. Pauline Hobbs.

Installation of new officers was conducted by the past president Mrs. Her Ballard. Those installed included: Herbert Mue, president, Mrs. Anna Hantley, vice president, Mrs. Pauline Hobbs, secretary, and Mrs. Herman, treasurer. The meeting adjourned and announced later.

Members of the Auxiliary will act as guides for a tour of the first floor and the operating room. It is well worth your time, if you are not familiar with the Seminoles Memorial Hospital to visit the plant and meet a few of the people who run it so efficiently. Three months ago I joined the Auxiliary and since then have been working on the reception desk. The work is always interesting and educational. Also it gives one insight as far as patient treatment is concerned. Courtesy is always first on the list, and even though an emergency may not be more than a small cut that could have been treated at home, the hard working staff never infers that their time is being wasted.

The Seminoles Memorial Hospital is a friendly place—gone are the old bugaboos of drugs, corridors and dull rooms. The rooms are tastefully decorated, the colors are gay, and there are always beautiful flowers in abundance, through the efforts of the Sanford Garden Club and the members of the Sunshine Committee of the Auxiliary. This would be an excellent opportunity for the youngsters in our community to discover what a rewarding job hospital work is whether it be in nursing or administration—or perhaps, even a doctor. There is no denying that any phase of hospital work has a future. The departments are varied and all in need of skilled personnel. We are fortunate indeed to have such a fine institution in our community. And if you are not skilled, and want to help, join the hospital auxiliary. New members are always welcome.

New Crisis Blows Up Today Over Suez Canal

Israel, Egypt Differ

By United Staff Correspondent
A new crisis was blowing up today over the Suez Canal.
Israel reaffirmed its right and determination to use the Inter-national Waterway, while Egyptian officials repeated their determination to halt any Israeli ship and blamed President Eisenhower for "encouraging" Israel.
Egyptian newspapers attacked the Eisenhower statement today and said, "It is really to be regretted that when conditions are beginning to stabilize, America should encourage an Israeli move which may result in world conflagration."

France announced it would ask the United Nations Security Council to reopen the entire question on Monday in hopes of weakening Egypt's total control.
Conference Called
Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld called a news conference which could shed further light on the canal problem and give new details of his peace talks last week with Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion.

In London Prime Minister Harold Macmillan faced a Labor Party vote of censure tonight on his government's decision to use the canal on terms laid down by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.
Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir today reaffirmed Israel's rights to use the canal and said, "We shall defend our rights by all the means at our disposal."

Local Armed Forces Day Observance To Start With Parade Saturday

Two Women Attend Medical-Nursing Workshop Tuesday

Mrs. Mary Detyens, director of nurses, Seminole Memorial Hospital, and Mrs. Mary Knox, executive secretary, Seminole County Chapter American Red Cross, were guests Tuesday, at a medical-nursing workshop, held at the Orange County American Chapter House, Orlando.
The workshop was held as one phase of pre-planning of the disaster committee for the on-coming hurricane season, and also in preparation of any potential disaster, whether natural or enemy.
Research personnel at this workshop who addressed the meeting were: Dr. Joseph Hertel, medical director, southern area; Dr. R. Chappel, ARC Orange County Civil Defense and Red Cross disaster preparedness; General Charles H. Gerhardt, chairman disaster preparedness and relief committee, Orange County Red Cross; and Miss Edith Olson, nursing services representative, southern area American Red Cross.
Rounding off the meeting a workshop was held, based on various aspects as clarified by foregoing talks, within the scope of the medical nursing committee, of a hypothetical disaster. The meeting was divided into groups and each given a different set of problems to solve pertaining to such a situation.
Realism was added by movies of an actual disaster—both immediately after and later showing removal of tons of debris to release trapped victims.

Field Day Event Winds Up Today With Farm Tour

The Armed Forces Day Parade will form at 9:50 a. m. Saturday, said Joel S. Field, general chairman of the Armed Forces Day celebration here, as he announced that plans are complete for the event.
The parade, which will form near the Chamber of Commerce building at Sanford Ave. on East First St., will get underway at 10 a. m. The parade will be started by a signal from SNAS planes which will fly over the city.
The route of the parade will be West on East First St. to Oak Ave., then South on Oak Ave. to Second St., East on Second St. to Pine Ave. where it will disband.
Donald J. Hales, parade chairman, along with Fields and also the Police Department urges viewers to stay on the sidewalks and not to get in the street as the parade goes by. This has been stressed by the committee as there will be tanks in the parade and this would be extremely dangerous.
The parade will consist of five sections and they are:
First: section which will form on 1st St. and Sanford Ave.; it will be headed by the Chief of Police, after which will come the Sheriff, Florida Highway Patrol, city officials, county officials, Armed Forces Committee, Chief of Fire Department and the new fire equipment.
Second section—forms on East First St. and the corner of Pine Ave.; marshals are Bud Bawls and Robert S. Stone; leading off, color guards and bearers of the Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and National Guard; Seminola High School Band, SNAS marching unit, Navy aviation crash truck, Navy ambulance, Navy weapons display, Marine Corps (Continued On Page Two)

Dusty Boots Assn. To Be In Parade

A spokesman for the Dusty Boots Riding Assn. announced today that members and their guests are to meet at Mellonville Ave. and East First St., Saturday morning for the Armed Forces Day Parade which will start at 9:30 "sharp."
They are also urged to remember the dance at the Towns Market Saturday night from 9 till 1.
The purpose of the cruise is to qualify pilots and crews of the squadron in operating the new A3D Skywarrior jet bomber on board ship. VAH-9 is the first squadron to be equipped with the 600 to 700 MPH twin jet bomber. Pilots and crews have undergone intensive transition training since the first Skywarrior arrived last January. This training has culminated in day and night practice carrier landings utilizing the new mirror landing system during the past two weeks to permit the pilots to acquire the skill necessary to land the 33 ton atomic bomber on aircraft carrier decks.
"It is realized that this phase of our training program interrupts television reception, conversation and rest of both the civilian and military residents of Sanford whose homes are near the flight traffic pattern," Cdr. Miller stated "how ever I am happy to report that this phase will be completed in eight. We have altered our flight traffic pattern so as to inconvenience as few residents as possible and will continue to do everything within our power to minimize the disturbance created by jet engine noise consistent with flight safety."
Sanford will witness the departure of the VAH-9 aircraft for the fleet Saturday when eight of the sleek swept jets will pass over in formation as a salute to the city on Armed Forces Day then continue on to the Caribbean.

This Is National Hospital Week

By Virginia Conn
Yes, this is National Hospital Week, or so it has been proclaimed. The Seminole Memorial Hospital has had an open house Monday and Wednesday of this week from three until five. On Monday three people showed up. There are twenty auxiliary members stationed through out the first floor to show visitors the facilities of offices, lab, pharmacy, kitchen etc. But this afternoon, when I worked down there, no one showed up. It seems unfair to the hard working auxiliary, many of whom have families to care for during these hours, unfair to the staff who appreciate showing visitors their exceptionally good equipment, and also unfair to the florists and gardeners of Sanford who have donated on many beautiful arrangements to enhance the appearance of the hospital.
It is hard to believe that the very same people who helped out so generously during the High Fever Polioes in order to procure an orthopedic table for this fine hospital are not down there at this moment seeing what their money purchased.
We have one of the finest hospitals in this state. This is not a depressing hospital—and I'm not asking those squeamish people who say they hate hospitals to witness some gory operating room. This is a beautiful, clean and modern plant. And this is one of the few opportunities to see the places where most of the work is done—visitors cannot usually go through the kitchen wing; they would be most unwise to snoop around in the lab; and I'm sure the nurses would protest if a stranger were found peering in the door of their lounge. But these (Continued on Page Two)

VAH-9 Crews To Go Aboard Carrier On Training Cruise

Elements of Heavy Attack Squadron NINE will depart the Sanford area Saturday for a short training cruise aboard the Navy's newest and largest aircraft carrier the USS Saratoga, Cdr. John M. Dwyer, commanding officer of the squadron announced today.
The purpose of the cruise is to qualify pilots and crews of the squadron in operating the new A3D Skywarrior jet bomber on board ship.
