NATION IN BRIEF

Federal Election Commission Is Stripped Of Its Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Election Commission, the government's experiment in changing the financial rules of politics, is all but dead today, stripped of its power to disburse millions of taxpayer dollars to presidential candidates and their parties.

The FEC, created to administer and enforce the 1974 campaign finance law that arose from the Watergate scandal, lost most of its powers at midnight Monday as Congress failed to meet a deadline for restructuring it in compliance with a Supreme Court order.

Congress had been told by the court to alter the FEC so that all members were appointed by the president or the commission would forfeit its power to disburse funds to presidential candidates and to the Democratic and Republican parties at their summer conventions.

The inaction of Congress also will restrict FEC authority to carry out the law's regulations on campaign contributions and expenditures.

Injury Chances Are High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances are better than one in four that you'll be injured this year and the ways it is most likely to happen are fairly predictable, says a new government report.

The report on a study by the National Center for Health Statistics found that an estimated average of 2.4 million Americans per year were hurt seriously enough to seek medical attention or restrict their activities for at least one day in 1971 and 1972.

Japanese Pilot Crashes Into Home Of Scandal Victim

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese movie actor-pilot in a World War II kamikaze pilot's uniform he donned for publicity pictures crashed in a light plane today into the home of Yoshio Kodama, key figure in the Lockheed payoff scandal in Japan.

The actor, Mitsuyasu Mieno, 29, was killed in the crash. Kodama's luxurious home was set afire, but he and 11 other persons in the house were not injured.

Police said they were trying to determine whether the crash was deliberate or accidental.

Mieno was flying a single-engine plane with a cameraman in another plane taking pictures of him to promote a movie he was planning to make, an official of the Nikkatsu Movie Corp. said.

Military Coup Planned

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Plans for a military coup to oust President Isabel Peron were reported complete today, and there was widespread expectation that the move would come soon.

Some officers said key tank and marine units were in position for a takeover. The news agency Noticias Argentinas report troop movements in remote areas of northern and southwest Argentina.

Turlington Says Askew Inflated Budget Figures

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Education needs can be met with a far more modest tax increase than Gov. Reubin Askew depicts, Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington says.

Turlington, in another sharp exchange with the governor over education funding, said Monday that Askew inflated school officials' requests in calling a news conference that the commissioner wanted an "unreasonable" boost of $355 million.

"Our request was for $144.2 million that we called a 'standstill budget,'" Turlington said in an interview. "The other portions were agency requests which we forwarded, but which we did not make top priority."

"Our request was quite realistic and can be obtained with a modest adjustment (increase) in the alcoholic beverage and cigarette taxes."

Firms To Take Court Action

MIAMI (AP) — Accident victims, lawyers and doctors suspected of conspiring to collect large sums on phony claims against insurance companies are in for a rougher time in Dade County.

A number of firms have decided to fight seemingly false claims by victims of minor accidents even if the companies have to pay more money in lawyers' fees than they would for settlements.

Insurance lawyers say it may cost their companies $2,000 to $3,000 in administrative and legal costs to fight a $2,000 claim. For that reason, many firms formerly paid the claims rather than take the cases to court.

'Catch-All' Committee Eyed

A call for an ad hoc committee composed of lawyers, judges, sheriff's deputies, county commissioners, and private citizens to study all space needs in Seminole County government should take care of Sheriff John Polk's request for a separate study of the jail, according to Commission Chairman Michael Hattaway.

At a work shop session on Monday, the county commission decided the multi-part committee should be formed to eliminate the three agencies working at cross purposes.

Hattaway said he thought the sheriff's request for a committee to study ways of eliminating overcrowding at the county jail can be incorporated in the major study. However, Hattaway said he would leave the matter open and "speak to the sheriff" about Polk's request last Friday for an ad hoc committee consisting of judges, commissioners, businessmen and other citizens.

Roger Neiswender, director of county development, presented the county commission's study of space needs to commissioners on Monday. That study lists construction of some type of facility on county-owned land at Five Points as the most viable alternative to relieve future overcrowding at the courthouse.

Longwood Charge May Be Dropped

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — City Prosecutor William Colbert said today that he may drop a charge of obstructing a police officer that was filed against City Councilman Gerard Connell.

Connell was scheduled to trial in city court tonight but Colbert said he may drop the charge "as a result of negotiations with Mr. (Robert Graham) Petree," Petree is Connell's attorney.

Petree, contacted at his Orlando office, confirmed that there have been negotiations but declined further comment after saying, "We've been discussing matters of mutual interest of the city and the councilman."

Connell was arrested Feb. 19 on a city court warrant issued by Municipal Judge Gene R. Stephenson in connection with a Feb. 3 incident at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Linton King, 310 E. Church Ave., Longwood.

Connell was charged with "willfully obstructing and opposing a police officer in the line of his duty by entering a crime scene area." Authorities said the charge was filed by Longwood patrolman Ronald Sirewington.

Connell reportedly had gone to the house at the owner's request while police were investigating an incident in which gunshots were fired into the dwelling.

Connell was not available for comment today.

Mrs. King said earlier that Connell was called to her home after a series of incidents in which her home had been firebombed and gunshots fired into the frame structure on three separate occasions.

She told a story of harassment and that she called city police to take action until after Connell, serving the second year of a two-year term on the city council, was called for assistance in early November.

At a December council meeting Longwood Public Safety Director Douglas Keller said that Connell had been obstructing policemen in the performance of their duties but he denied Connell's claim that police were "keeping a file" on him.

Street Light Costs Studied

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The city council Monday night called a workshop session with an official of the Florida Power Corp., seeking information on the power company's complicated new financing procedures for installing street lighting in new developments.

The council took the action after Wade Hargadon, a principal of the firm developing Skylark subdivision, said the power company is discouraging preparation for street light purchases because of internal Revenue Service (IRS) income tax rulings.

Hargadon told councilmen the power company officials say IRS has been requiring them to pay taxes on the prepayments and the company would prefer that cities pay a rental-type fee in perpetuity in addition to maintenance and power costs monthly for lights.

The developer said the city alternatives are open to the city for the lighting suggesting that his firm could pay the acquisition costs of lights for a five-year period while the city paid maintenance and power costs. After the five years, Hargadon said, the city would pay all costs.

The city's subdivision ordinance requires developers to pay full costs of street light purchase and for street light installation.

In other action, the council: —Approved the replat for Highland Hills subdivision, located off E. E. Williamson Road after representatives of Florida Residential Communities Inc. said they would correct problems with water drainage ponds in the development while adding three lots to cover the costs of providing the drainage solution. Consulting Engineer A. E. O'Neill said the plans comply with the city's subdivision ordinance.

The developers said the new plans call for nearly doubling the capacity of the drainage ponds which have plagued nearby residents by overflowing after every heavy rain.

The developers also said they will place a kiddie playground — "a lot lot" — in the development for the area's children.

Council also adopted a resolution authorizing Mayor James Lormann to execute a contract pledging that the city will take over ownership and maintenance of the drainage ponds when expansion and improvement is completed.

Midway Man Is Beaten

Sheriff's detectives today were investigating the beating Monday night of a 26-year-old man on SR-46 at Erison Ave. in the Midway community east of Sanford.

Deputy Marion Mathews reported Michael McKinney, 26, of Sipes Ave., was treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital after being beaten about the head by a man who allegedly fired two shots at him outside a nightclub and then chased him on foot along SR-46.

McKinney told deputies that a man fired a gun at him outside Club Two Spot and he ran "until he became too tired to fall down."

Mathews said McKinney related that the assailant believed to have later fled in an auto, to a man to put his hands on his head, and then beat him.

11 Felony Cases On Court Docket

Selection of a jury began today before Circuit Court Judge Joe A. Cowart, Jr. in the first of 11 felony cases scheduled for trial this week at Sanford.

The jury was being selected in the burglary and grand larceny trial of William Charles Miller, 31, of 281 Red Lion Square, south Seminole.

Miller is accused of burglarizing the office of the Red Lion apartments and taking a television set.

Other trials scheduled before Judge Cowart were listed by the court in this order:

—Thomas Fulton Wilson, 28, of Oviedo, accused of delivering marijuana to a state beverage department agent on Oct. 24 at Oviedo.

—Michael J. Ray, 20, of Orlando, accused of robbing an Orlando resident of money and his clothing on Feb. 13, 1975 in a rural area of Seminole county.

—James Carl Haynie, 32, of Lockhart, accused of delivering cocaine to an undercover agent.

—Doug Keith Manning 19, of Orlando, accused of delivering cocaine to an undercover vice squad agent.

—Luther Judson McNamara, 53, of Orlando, indicted by a statewide grand jury on two counts of bookmaking and a charge of maintaining a gambling house at an Altamonte Springs apartment complex.

The court Monday denied a defense motion to continue the McNamara trial, expected to utilize evidence gathered by sheriff's agents in court-authorized wiretaps.

—Ernest Charles McPherson, 29, of 905 W. 10th St., Sanford, a schoolteacher accused of felony possession of marijuana.

possession of marijuana and THC.

—Maurice Gear Sanders, 19, of 1324 Oleander Ave., Sanford, accused of robbing a woman of $10.

—Johnny Roy Alloway, 22, of 127 Academy Ave., Sanford, accused of two counts of aggravated assault with a pistol on two neighbors.

The property, known as Uphand Park, and located opposite Larkwood Drive, would be rezoned to SR-1. The alley to be abandoned is located between 18th and 20th Streets, and between Chase Avenue and Lake Avenue. It would be reserved for use as a utility easement.

In other actions, the city commission voted to put several streets in the Georgetown area back into a contract for street paving. The streets, including parts of Pine Avenue, East 11th Street, East Eighth Street, East Ninth Street, East 10th Street and Cypress Avenue, had been omitted from the paving program because of future drainage work.

Lake Brantley purchase was the county is eligible to receive grant money for park construction because the park can be used for water-related activities.

The commission has been considering the purchase of the Lake Brantley site since 1970. However, Williams said today, she has just recently received a rash of complaints from homeowner groups and residents.

At last week's county commission meeting, a small group of these residents appeared to voice their complaints. One major concern was that the portion of the park which is on the lake would provide access to anyone who wished to place his craft on the water.

Economic Barometer On The Upswing

On March 10, the Joint Economic Committee of Congress urged higher government spending, putting one million more Americans on the federal make-work payroll and jawboning on wages and prices to accelerate our economic recovery.

Color such an outlook with the dark hues of doom and gloom.

With almost perfect timing the Dow Jones index, an indicator of consumption and investment, closed over 1,000 on March 11 for the first time in more than three years.

Color the outlook of investors in the 30 blue chip industrial stocks with the bright tints of optimism. Much has been said about whether the Dow Jones averages are an accurate barometer of economic trends or whether they are principally a "market mood" influence. The answer, "It is a little of both, and the daily fluctuations are not as significant as the fact that the trend is upward."

The stock market rally which lifted the Dow Jones from $20 in mid-December to the 1,000 level represents about $225 billion more in the pockets of Americans. That is a substantial investment in the businesses and industries that produce jobs and wealth.

The market rally, which some say is the most dramatic since World War II, also represents a lift in the spirits of Americans, a greater willingness to spend money and a brighter outlook on the world in general.

Some might believe that this is reading too much into a single index, and perhaps it is. Other statistics, however, substantiate the rising economic tide that began almost a year ago, but has become most readily apparent since the rise in stocks began.

For example, the unemployment rate in the United States has edged down to 7.6 per cent, the lowest in a year. The ranks of the unemployed fell by 150,000 in February and still are dwindling.

Another indicator is the steadily declining rate of inflation which was 7.2 per cent at the beginning of this month — about the level of December, 1974. The gross national product will increase an estimated 6.2 per cent in the coming year when inflation is discounted, industrial production is rising, the price of food is leveling off and business in general is good.

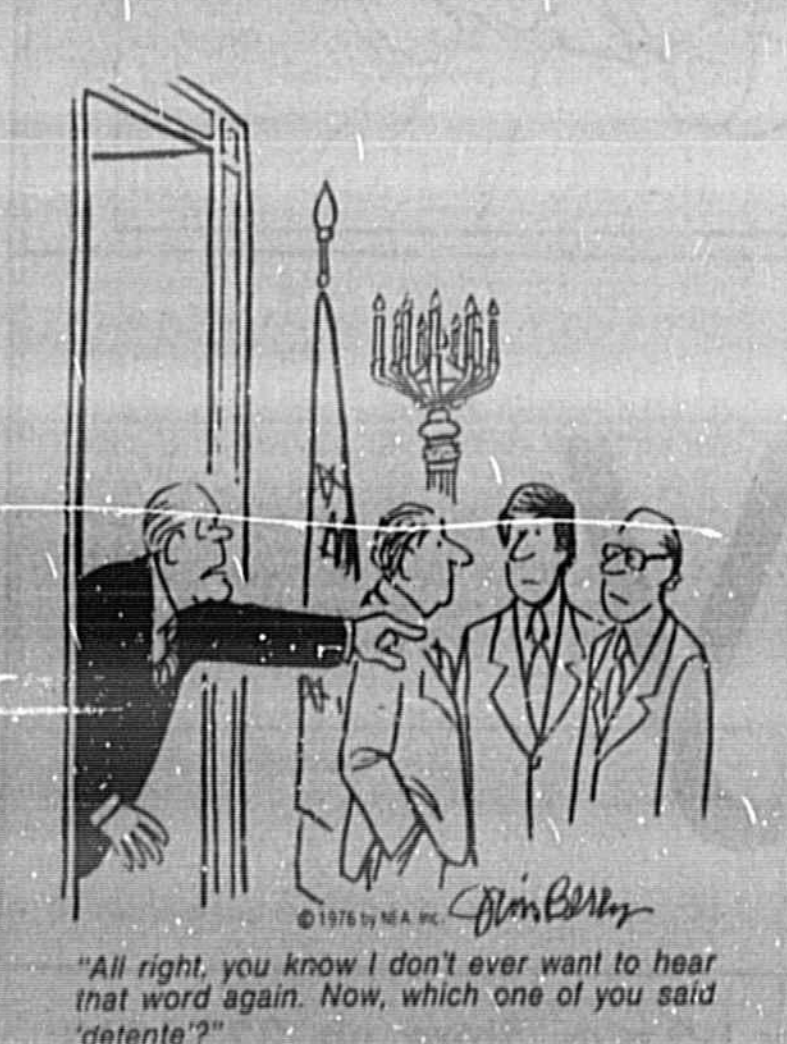

Slowly but steadily the United States is pulling itself out of its doldrums by creating permanent jobs and wealth. This most assuredly is not the time to rock the boat, as the Joint Economic Committee suggests, by another massive infusion of federal programs that will raise the deficit to $60 billion next year and create the danger of another round of inflation. Families still pinched by inflation and the 7.1 million unfortunate Americans who are looking for jobs will be better served by the permanence of new jobs in the private sector than by the yo-yo qualities of artificial federal programs.

Letters Drop

Apparently the mysterious economics of mail delivery explain why the Postal Service wants to start a nationwide advertising campaign urging people to write more letters. If there were more first class letters mailed — at 13 cents an ounce — it would help offset the deficit incurred in delivering other classes of mail. Thus, after a big investment in mechanization to solve the problem of sorting heaps of mail, the Postal Service intends to invest more in order to get additional mail to sort.

Having swallowed that, we can hardly wait to see the Postal Service ads. Letter-writing has dropped off because long distance phone calls are so convenient and relatively cheap. It will take some selling to send people back to stationery, stamps and a trip to the mailbox when they are hooked on direct-dialing. Considering the competition this poses for Ma Bell, we would not advise anyone to rush out and sell their stock in AT&T.

BERRY'S WORLD

Around

The Clock

By ED PRICKETT

Guess who consults a Chulota clairvoyant to have his past, present and future told? None other than Congressional candidate Sid Vihlen Jr.

Though I often thought some of Vihlen's concepts out of this world, little did I realize that he had an inside track on what the future holds. On a more serious note, Vihlen does consult Anna Maria Hyman, a Chulota Palmist whom Vihlen swears "possesses unique psychic abilities" and has the uncanny knack of being able to peer into a person's past, present or future.

Vihlen stressed the fact that he doesn't speak with Mrs. Hyman about any of his decisions concerning his position as Seminole County Commissioner, nor was she responsible for his decision to run for Congress.

However, Vihlen said Mrs. Hyman correctly predicted more than a year ago that he would enter the race for the U.S. Congress. At that time he was considering running against Vince Fechtel, a Republican State Representative from Leesburg.

"She told me I would be running for Congress," remarked Vihlen. Mrs. Hyman has correctly predicted other things, too. Once, for example, Vihlen says she persisted in telling him he would be involved in an accident. His auto insurance had expired, so, he quickly got his policy up to date.

And, guess what happened. That's right, Vihlen said he collided with a bicyclist on just about the exact date Mrs. Hyman said the accident was due. Vihlen swears by her predictions. He met Mrs. Hyman while she was commission chairman.

She came in to apply for a palmist's license. Vihlen said she told him things about his past that only he was aware of, and Vihlen was amazed. So he became friends with her and at the same time developed an interest in "psychic phenomena."

Vihlen described her as a "very religious" person and, the county commissioner said readings done for him are done on the basis of their friendship, not for a fee.

Perhaps the commission as a whole should consider contacting some type of fortune teller or palmist. Maybe that's what it would take to occasionally get together on an issue or two.

As the county commissioner, accused formation of an ad hoc committee to study office space needs at the county courthouse, Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski suggested adding the name of someone who regularly picks the courthouse. "What's her name?" Kwiatkowski.

"June Cameron," was the reply. "Yeah, that's her. It's very important that she be on the committee," Kwiatkowski quipped. Kwiatkowski also suggested that one method of eliminating the need for additional space was to stop growth in the county.

"That's a good campaign issue. You ought to write that down Dick (Williams)," Kwiatkowski said. Commissioner Williams, who is up for re-election this year, calmly replied, "I wrote that down."

Politicians: Keep Out Of Banks

WASHINGTON — Certain segments of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives apparently have a death wish.

If one thing is crystal clear, it is that centralized political planning of finance, industry and agriculture is doomed to failure — as witness the Soviet Union and other authoritarian states which operate their economies under political direction.

Yet of late there has been an increasing number of measures seriously debated in the Congress which would establish, as a continuing function of the U.S. government, the centralized political planning of loans, investments and such.

One of the latest is a proposal that special tax favors be given to men and women of modest means who regularly invest in the stocks of corporations. The objective here is, of course, meritorious. Having read studies which indicate that if this country is to employ all, or almost all of those who wish jobs, if we are to meet our energy goals, our anti-pollution objectives and our on-the-job safety regulations, the congressmen know that we must raise capital in this nation for investment in industry at more rapid rates than in the past two decades. This is a time when the data indicate — despite recent stock market advances — the average investor is more reluctant than in the past to put his money into long-term corporate investments.

The proposal to give special tax favors, however, is, when analyzed, simply a means of increasing the return on capital for selected investors. This would be a way of Congress saying that returns on investment are not great enough to lure sufficient investors into the market.

But if Congress believes that profits are not great enough and that lack of sufficient gain is what is holding back investment, then there are a string of regulations, double-taxation provisions and other restrictions whose abolition would serve the purpose without the distortion this specialized favoritism would mean. Their elimination would not increase government involvement in decisions as to who and what industries should be favored, and would not increase the tax burden on all citizens.

Obviously, Congressmen need to do their homework to determine what is holding back investment. They can't argue in the same breath that profits are too high and too low. They must also decide whether what could all too easily become government channeling of investment is the path they really want to travel. Here is where a careful study of what has happened in other countries would prove useful.

There are also repeated parallels at the Hill to channel bank loans to one worthy purpose or another, to guide them away from speculative or frivolous enterprises.

But I submit that, while it is sometimes desirable to have these decisions made by bankers, it is certainly folly to have loans monitored by politicians. I can think of nothing more likely to create a wave of bank failures, a breakdown of credit and a financial panic than to have the banks of this country require to devote an important segment of their money to economically uncertain "good causes." Welfare should come out of the tax budget.

Market Confidence Needed

NEW YORK (AP) — Some very encouraging economic news was released last week. And what did the stock averages do in the way of celebration? Almost nothing; they barely moved at all.

Apparently, as they say in the business, the news already was discounted. It had been foreseen by the stock analysts whose job it is to anticipate the future, and they had told their big institutional customers.

And so, while industrial output rose, along with corporate profits and durable goods orders, and while consumer confidence was said to be growing and inflation abating, stock market activity faded.

Does this mean the market is unresponsive to the economy? Hardly; the alleged lack of response actually was a response, and a more negative than positive one. At best it indicated indecision; at worst, fear.

Some mechanical factors probably are mixed in. The institutions, which have been strong supporters of this latest rally, which began last December, are probably near their full commitment. They are short of cash.

But there are more important psychological and economic factors to consider, including the question of why, once the market had penetrated 1,000 points on the Dow Jones industrial average, it couldn't stay up there.

Despite the vitality of this market surge of the past three months and more, there has always been an element of doubt, uncertainty and even outright disbelief. This advance, oddly, has not had a very widespread support; it has been institutional rather than individual.

This market has not had the enthusiastic economic news was released last week. And what did the stock averages do in the way of celebration? Almost nothing; they barely moved at all.

Many individuals have remained sellers. Many individuals seem to have opted instead for stability, in the form of Treasury securities or bank certificates of deposit or bonds. It's easier to plan your future that way.

A good many individuals remain apprehensive about corporate profits and durable goods orders, and while consumer confidence was said to be growing and inflation abating, stock market activity faded.

Does this mean the market is unresponsive to the economy? Hardly; the alleged lack of response actually was a response, and a more negative than positive one. At best it indicated indecision; at worst, fear.

Some mechanical factors probably are mixed in. The institutions, which have been strong supporters of this latest rally, which began last December, are probably near their full commitment. They are short of cash.

But there are more important psychological and economic factors to consider, including the question of why, once the market had penetrated 1,000 points on the Dow Jones industrial average, it couldn't stay up there.

Despite the vitality of this market surge of the past three months and more, there has always been an element of doubt, uncertainty and even outright disbelief. This advance, oddly, has not had a very widespread support; it has been institutional rather than individual.

Meany: He's Law And Order

WASHINGTON — When it comes to crime, crime and corruption and mismanaged government programs, AFL-CIO President George Meany is a real hard-line, he's Mr. Law and Order.

In one of the many press conferences he held last month in Bal Harbour, Florida, at his organization's executive council meeting, Mr. Meany addressed himself to charges that the federal food stamp program is overrun by cheaters and shot through with fraud. To investigate the cheaters, he said, would be "unconscionable." Instead, he declared:

"I feel that it would be well for Congress to look into this and find out just where the real culprits are. And I think they will find them over in the Agriculture Department."

The same goes for allegations of corporate bribery abroad, said the crusty old cigar-chomping Meany.

"I think Congress should take a look at it," he observed, noting: "This nation was founded by people who believed in certain moral standards. And I think the American people as a whole are opposed to bribery and corruption. The record of America's large corporations, the record of corporate morality that has been exposed in the last few years is very, very discouraging. I think that American corporations that go abroad and take the position that the only way to do business is by bribing officials of government in other countries, that this certainly does not square with the American moral standards."

Fine, but Mr. Meany was asked the $4,000 question: Speaking of morality, sir, would you favor a McClellan-type committee to investigate the Teamsters Union and allegations that this union has misused its pension funds in shady financial dealings with the underworld? Well, now, this is something else all together. Taking off his badge, "Sheriff" Meany suddenly puts on the dunce cap.

"That's up to Congress," he hedges. "There's a lot of smoke. There's a lot of talk about the way the union funds are handled. That's up to Congress. It's not up to me to decide what they investigate."

And Mr. Meany's absolutely correct. There is "a lot of smoke" concerning the use of the Teamsters Union's pension funds. In the past few years, numerous articles on this subject have appeared in the Reader's Digest, North American Newspaper Alliance, the New York Post, the Wall Street Journal, Scripps-Howard newspapers, Newsweek magazine, the Christian Science Monitor and the Washington Star.

But Mr. Meany doesn't know much about those stories. When a reporter presses him, noting that he has just called for a congressional probe of the food stamp program, he replies: "Yes, that's right. That's right; and I don't recommend that they investigate the Teamsters — that's up to Congress. The knowledge about it, as I understand, but I don't have the details of it. I said, there's a great deal of smoke; constant stories coming out about misuse of pension money. And that's entirely up to Congress to do what they want to do."

Asked if he would oppose a congressional investigation of the Teamsters, Meany answers: "I wouldn't take a position one way or the other."

While brokers are overwhelmingly bullish as far as their customers are concerned, the members of the New York Stock Exchange are selling as if stocks were going out of style. "The market must declare itself soon. And while the preponderance of published advisors remain bullish, both about the economy and the stock market, it should be no surprise if the averages go the other way.

When Richard Nixon occupied the White House, his campaign accepted an illegal $100,000 contribution from Ashland in 1972. The money was returned with a big show of piety. We have now discovered that the Nixon campaign accepted an earlier $100,000 from the same oil company in 1968. But this money, since it was never publicized, wasn't given back.

Of the 45 members of Congress who are identified in SEC documents as receiving illegal money from corporate lobbyists, only six have returned the loot. They are Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., Carl Curtis, R-Neb., Henry Jackson, D-Wash., James McClure, R-Ida., J.B. Johnston, D-La., and Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark.

They paid back a total of $45,000 in illegal gifts. But Mills did not return another $50,000 Ashland contribution, strictly illegal, which was given to him to distribute to Democratic colleagues.

Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., admitted receiving a $5,000 payment from Ashland but said he had no intention of returning it. House Democratic leader Tip O'Neill, D-Mass., acknowledged he got $200 from Phillips. He also felt no obligation to return it. Both men explained that they didn't realize the contributions had come from corporate funds.

Most of the 45 legislators, whose names appear on the SEC lists of illegal recipients, refused to acknowledge that they got any illegal money from any corporation. Many have received letters from Gulf demanding restitution. They won't give back money, they said, that they don't recall receiving.

One Gulf letter, for example, went to Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn. Through a spokesman, he now receiving an illegal payment but acknowledged the gifts may have gone to his campaign committees. One information indicates that Humphrey collected $30,500, all told, from Gulf and Ashland.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., according to the documents, received $11,000 from Phillips and Gulf. But a spokesman insisted that Hatfield never got any illegal payments.

Another $1,000 donation from Phillips allegedly went to Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. A spokesman said there was no record of the illegal payment but acknowledged it might have come in from a corporate bagman. The money, in any event, won't be returned.

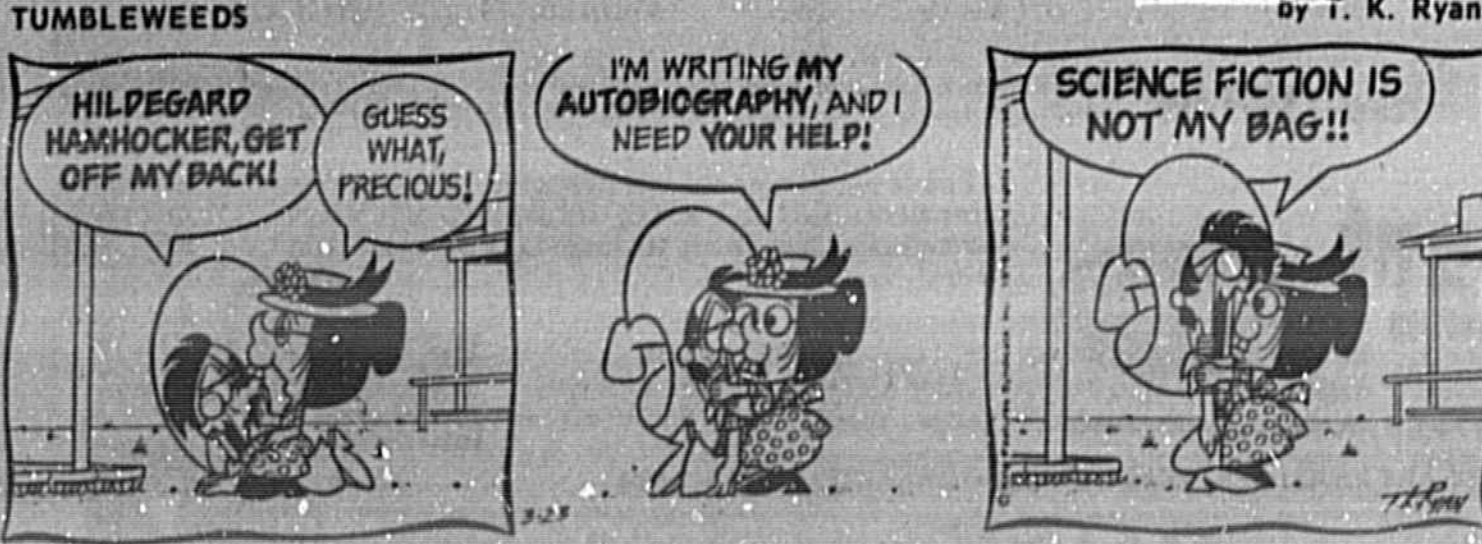

There are reports that Speaker Carl Albert collected $3,000 from Phillips. A spokesman said the speaker vaguely remembers receiving contributions from Phillips but can't recall the exact amount. The money won't be returned.

Sen. Bob D'Amico, D-Ind., according to the records, accepted $10,000 from Ashland. An aide said the money won't be paid back. "It's between Ashland Oil and the man who made the contribution," he said.

We found records at the SEC of illegal payments to members of Congress of $1.4 million from Gulf, $800,000 from Ashland and $500,000 from Phillips. We couldn't find how another $4 million from Gulf and $1.5 million from Northrop were distributed.

Only four corporations accounted for these staggering political payoffs. The SEC is investigating many other companies that are also slipping money to politicians. But no one is investigating the politicians who accepted the payments.

Balanced Diet Aids Reducing
By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB - Three months ago as an investment in maintaining good health and wanting to get back in good shape, I began a very ambitious exercise and dieting program to lose weight. I am 5-foot-6 and 39 years old. At the time my weight was 215, my objective is 150. During the first two months I lost 35 pounds, but in the past month I have not lost more than a pound or two. I can't believe it.

Balanced Diet Aids Reducing
By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
I ride a bicycle 20 miles a day and consume no more than 1,000 calories a day with supplemental vitamins and minerals.

Balanced Diet Aids Reducing
By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
I am frustrated and demoralized. How is it possible to expend this amount of energy and not see reduction in weight? Most of the weight I wish to lose is in the waist and hips. Am I expecting too much too soon? Can you suggest when moving 180 pounds. When people begin a dieting program they empty out the digestive system and they lose fluid. You have stabilized those problems at this point and your present weight loss represents true loss of pounds of fat.

Balanced Diet Aids Reducing
By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
I am suspicious that your diet isn't very good. For a physically active man the diet should be at least 1500 calories a day. That provides for a slow, gradual weight loss.

Balanced Diet Aids Reducing
By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
You may have miscalculated your calories. Perhaps your servings are larger than you think. Your daily basal metabolism without doing any exercise at all should result in your using close to 1500 calories. At that rate on a 1,000 calorie diet you would lose the calories equivalent to one pound of body fat a week, sitting still.

Balanced Diet Aids Reducing
By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
There are several reasons why a person may appear not to lose very much weight while on a diet. One of these is the water retention phenomenon. A lot of fat is broken down it results in the formation of water. The water may be retained by the body over a period of several weeks, then suddenly there will be a marked flushing out of the excess water and a marked drop in weight. There may be no weight loss at all for several weeks. This plateau effect of weight loss is characteristic of some people.

When your left-hand opponent opens the bidding with one of a suit and his partner passes it is up to you to reopen on the theory that your partner will hold the balance of power. In the situation you need 16 points in your own notrump and South's 14-point notrump was fully justified.

So was North's raise to three and it was up to South to bring the contract home. He wouldn't have been able to do this if West had decided to play the hand on a ruff. West made the standard fourth-best lead and played out ace-king and 10 of spades, but West made the standard fourth-best lead and played out ace-king and 10 of spades, but West made the standard fourth-best lead and played out ace-king and 10 of spades.

Phillies, Tigers Kick Off

LAKELAND (AP) — This is supposed to be the time baseball pitchers still can't find home plate, rookie hitting phenoms are spraying line-drive doubles all over the place and Florida exhibition games last three hours and end up 12-9.

But this is 1978 and, if anything, has gone according to Hoyle in major league baseball. The Philadelphia Phillies and Detroit Tigers opened the much-delayed exhibition campaign Monday night. The pitchers were sharp, the hitters had the game short and the crowd large as the Phillies nipped Detroit 1-0 on a ninth-inning sacrifice fly by Jerry Martin.

The continuing contract squabble between club owners and players — which lapped more than two weeks of practice and about a dozen games off everyone's schedule — seemed ancient history.

Tourists, eager to watch some baseball, finally got the opportunity and 4,233 showed up at 4,075-seat Marchant Stadium.

"They (the owners) had a lot of expenses and it was best that we got on with the games," said Rusty Staub, who was 2-0-2 in his Tiger debut. "We were ready enough and the Phillies felt the same way."

Detroit was originally scheduled to play Boston while the Phillies were to have hosted Minnesota. Neither of those teams felt ready for game action, since camps opened only Thursday at the command of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. Most players had been working at make-shift camps before that.

Despite the usual flood of lineup changes typical of Grapefruit League games, Monday night's contest lasted just one hour 31 minutes.

Jim Kaat, the fast-working 37-year-old lefthander acquired from the Chicago White Sox in the off-season, started for Philadelphia and pitched four strong shutout innings. His counterpart, veteran right-hander Joe Coleman — coming off two poor seasons in which he was hampered by illness — gave up two hits in three scoreless innings and didn't walk anyone.

Meanwhile, most teams held intra-squad games Monday as managers sought to get in as much game action as possible to offset the 17-day delay in the opening of spring training camps.

Pittsburgh Pirates slugger

ORLANDO — Boxing in Central Florida continues tonight at the Orlando Sports Stadium, as promoter Pete Ashlock presents two of the area's most popular fighters, "Crish" Gene Wells and Joey Vincent, in a pair of 10-round co-fights.

Wells returns to the Sports Stadium to face South Carolina middleweight Sammy Ruckard in defense of his Southern title. "I am glad to be back home," Wells commented Monday afternoon. "If it were up to me I would never fight anywhere but in Central Florida, because I have never lost here and the fans treat me awful good."

Wells is the highest ranked fighter, fifth middleweight in the world, to ever reside in this area, and the fans treat him accordingly.

Every time he steps into the ring he is given a standing ovation.

Wells' opponent figures to cause Wells problems. Ruckard is a durable, aggressive batter with a better than average chin, and if Wells hasn't recovered from his last fight, he could get upset tonight.

Ruckard enters the ring with a mark of 24-12 as compared to the champion's scorecard of 43-10-2.

Vincent's opposition will come from the Mid-West junior middleweight champion, Jimmy Clear.

Clear is a sensational right-hand puncher, who has been able to put away everyone he has ever defeated. Eight times he has won and eight times his opponent has been counted out after tasting his punishing fury.

Vincent has an impressive mark of 18-3-2, with 15 of those wins coming inside the so-called "red belt."

"There is no way this fight will go the limit," Vincent predicts. "I have never seen this guy in action but I do know

Seminole 9 Tops Boone Violent Or Pantywaist?

Seminole staged a thrilling eighth-inning rally Monday to spoil a no-hit performance by Orlando Boone Pitcher Shawn Koley and spill the Braves, 1-0, in high school baseball.

Koley was flawless through the first seven innings, striking out 12, with the only Seminole baserunner coming on a walk in the fourth. Seminole hurler David Wiggins kept pace with him, however, limiting Boone to a pair of singles.

In the bottom of the eighth, Casey Wolf opened with a double for Seminole, ending Koley's mastery. Bobby Robinson then bunted, hoping to move Wolf over, but the Braves fired the ball to third where Wolf slid in safely. Tim Raines then plated the winning run with a single down the first baseline.

Seminole plays at Daytona Beach Seaforce.

There have been two incidents involving the courts and the NHL, and neither resulted in convictions.

In 1976, Wayne Maki of the St. Louis Blues and Ted Green, then with the Boston Bruins, were acquitted of assault charges brought against them in Ottawa after a stick fight in a preseason game Sept. 20, 1969.

The duel ended with Green suffering a skull fracture that almost ended his playing career. Maki, who was not injured

Grieme Homer Decisive

Seminole High won the big softball game girls coach Betty Turner was worried about Monday, turning back previously undefeated DeLand, 7-5.

Anna Grieme was the game's hero, blasting a two-run homer in the fifth inning for the margin of victory.

Standout for DeLand was Carol Ann Pickles, who hit a first inning home run. She lives in Osteen and plays in the Sanford recreation league.

Seminole, now 6-1, got two hits from Karen Louwrens and Judy Carlton with Patty Wiggins being the winning pitcher.

SHS Booters All-Conference

Seminole shared top honors with DeLand on the Five Star Conference's all-league soccer team, named recently. The Seminoles bagged four spots on the squad and DeLand was awarded five in voting by coaches of the four league schools that play soccer.

Daytona Beach Mainland landed two players on the star aggregation while Spruce Creek did not receive any berths.

Jenkins, Billy Lee, Dan McIntosh, Stan Nikolajsen and Daryl Sanders.

Corbett, the only sophomore earning star recognition, racked up 14 goals for the season, more than any other all-conference player. Corbett also was named Seminole's most valuable player for the season at the school's recent soccer banquet.

McIntosh received the "Hutle Award" at the banquet, while Lawson Dennis was selected the most improved player and Bruce Danilla was picked as most valuable player on the junior varsity. Sue Febel was chosen most valuable soccerette at Seminole.

Lyman To Host Olympics Test

Registration for the 1978 District VII Special Olympic Games will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday, April 10 at Lyman High School Stadium.

Opening ceremonies for the event will feature a parade of some 600 athletes from Seminole, Orange, Osceola, Lake, Brevard and Volusia counties and will begin at 9:30 a.m. Administration for the Special Olympics is free.

Foytek Homers

ORLANDO — Mike Foytek belted a pair of home runs Monday to propel Lyman past Orlando Bishop Moore, 8-5, in a high school baseball game.

Foytek was three-for-four on the day, and his homer keyed a six-run outburst in the fourth inning that carried the Greyhounds to victory. The second blast, in the seventh, rounded out Lyman's scoring, and paddled a narrow 6-5 lead.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Surprise: Petty Is Not In Runaway NASCAR Lead

DAYTONA BEACH (AP) — The only three active winners of the national late model stock car driving championship are dominating the NASCAR Grand National circuit as usual, but Richard Petty isn't head and shoulders above everyone else for a change. Petty is the money leader with 77.350 after six races, but ranks only third in the point standings behind Benny Parsons and Cale Yarborough.

Collegiate Gals Tip Off

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — The not-so-little women of college basketball are gathering here to sweep the boards, polish off opponents and see who can sew up the national title.

Delia State may encounter real suspense in the Saturday night final — and the opponent will likely be Immaculata College, a 64-student Catholic school for women located outside Philadelphia.

Coaches Name All-Americans

TEMPE, Ariz. — Indiana University's Scott May and Kent Benson, Notre Dame's Adrian Dantley, Richard Washington of UCLA and North Carolina's Phil Ford were named to the 1975-76 All-American team by the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Texas Names Cage Assistant

AUSTIN, Tex. — Barry Dowd, former head basketball coach at the University of Texas-Arlington, was named an assistant to Abe Lemons at the University of Texas.

Laver Wins First Round

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. — Sixth-seeded Rod Laver defeated Ray Ridd 7-5, 6-3 in opening-round action in the $200,000 Associated Tennis Professionals Tournament.

Casals Whips Turnbull

BOSTON — Rosemary Casals defeated Wendy Turnbull 6-2, 6-4 in opening-round action of the $75,000 Boston Indoor Tennis Tournament.

Indiana Names Ralph Floyd

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — Ralph N. Floyd, 49, was named assistant athletic director at Indiana University.

Penn Hockey Coach Quits

PHILADELPHIA — Bob Grochek resigned as coach of the University of Pennsylvania hockey team.

Now is the time to fertilize your lawn and trees, and you can save money on your fertilizer needs at GardenLand, 1400 W. 1st St., in Sanford.

A 40 per cent sale on Scott products is still in effect, during a closeout sale on all Scott products. GardenLand is also having a fertilizer sale on ton and damp bags of 6-4-6 pellets (100 percent organic) while they last. These are Groton pellets being sold to clean out the warehouse. If you need a fertilizer, you will be pleased with the quality of these pellets.

Another addition to the staff at GardenLand is John Whitaker. John is a local area resident who has retired as pre-cooler manager with A. Duda & Sons. He has been raising his own vegetables for years, so he is well qualified to give advice to others as to how to do it. John has purchased some saw sharpening equipment so you can bring your dull scissors, knives, mower blades etc. to the store and have them with John for sharpening.

John is assisting Lloyd Wall in all phases of the work at GardenLand. Lloyd's hobby is raising orchids, so besides being GardenLand's nurseryman he is also their orchid specialist.

Pat Hunziker is creating her hanging baskets, with parsley, chives, mint, basil, dill and sage. These herbs are all available in hanging baskets for your kitchen for only $3.99 in assorted and individual varieties. These will be ready for the sale on Tuesday.

Vegetable gardening in Florida is almost a year round operation. Each season has vegetables to be planted, and the spring season is certainly no exception. So drop in at GardenLand and they will be glad to assist you with their helpful advice and planting information. The Kilgore '76 Bicentennial Planting Guide is available to assist you. If you follow all the necessary steps in planting, select good quality seeds and plants, use fertilizer and pesticides to insure trouble-free growth, you can harvest a good crop of vegetables at a surprisingly low cost.

So don't delay your spring fertilizing any longer. Get in on the sale while the supply lasts and save yourself some money. It's GardenLand, for your growing needs. — ADV.

A hobby that grew into a business — that's the story behind Seminole Velo Shop, located directly behind Taylor For Tires, on 25th St., in Sanford.

In case you're guessing, "velo" stands for velocipede, or bicycle. Jay Bolton, the owner of Seminole Velo Shop, is a bicycle "nut." From repairing and improving his own bicycles he began doing some work for his friends, and this grew until he was forced out of his bedroom and into the business building.

Jay does all types of bicycle repairs on any type of bike. He specializes in the intricate repairs of 3, 5 and 10 speed machines, which can be quite involved, as anyone knows who has tried working on them. He keeps a small inventory of standard parts, those most often needed, but anything he doesn't have he can order and have in 2 days.

Jay doesn't depend on the Velo Shop for his living, since he has a full time job, so he is open for business nights only Monday through Friday, from 7 to 10 p.m., and on Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Since he doesn't depend on profits from "Seminole Velo Shop" to keep the wolf from the door, Jay doesn't have to charge high prices for his repair work. You'll find his charges very reasonable. He will even trade your parts for his parts if that is your desire.

Jay is a member of the League of American Wheelmen, an organization devoted to promoting safety and usefulness in bicycles. This club is dedicated to educating both car drivers and bike riders, and has all the information on how you may join in his shop.

Jay is also interested in the U.S. Cycle Federation, formerly the Amateur Bicycle League of America. This organization is Olympic bicycle peddlers on both road and track. They sponsor races which are becoming popular in Florida, with classes for middle, intermediate (boys and girls), juniors and classes of seniors, including women and veterans (over 40). You can get all the information on this activity from Jay.

Jay is also a member of Florida Freewheelers Bicycle Club in Orlando. This group is designed to get families to ride to 10 p.m., and on Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
