

WEDDING WEEK DINNER ATTRACTS KINGS GALORE

George and Mary Put On Real Show For 98' Brilliant Guests

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The first big formal function of "wedding week" took place last night when King George V and Queen Mary entertained at a dinner party for 98 guests in the Palace. The occasion was the first time since before the World War, three European kings and their spouses dined together in the palace, the King and Queen of England; King Christian and Queen Alexandra of Denmark; and King Haakon and Queen Maud of Norway.

The dinner was comparatively simple—six courses served on the famous royal gold plate and the equally famous "Garter China" on each piece of which is inscribed the motto of the Knights of the Garter. "Evil to him who thinks evil of it."

The only toasts drunk were to the Princess Marina, of Greece, who on Thursday becomes the bride of the Duke of Kent, youngest son of the king and queen of England. The monarch and his queen, as is customary on these formal occasions, sat opposite each other in the middle of the table.

Queen Maud of Norway received congratulations, it being her 65th birthday.

The city meanwhile is beginning to fill rapidly with thousands of visitors from throughout the British Isles and hundreds from the continent, eager to be in the capital during "wedding week" and perhaps to see the wedding procession on Thanksgiving Day morning.

Late arrivals from royal houses included the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia and the Infanta Beatrice of Spain.

Prince Waldemar, 16, strikingly resembles King George, and while walking in St. James Park dressed in a lounge suit and derby hat was cheered by the crowds who mistook him for their king.

The honeymoon train will be drawn by the famous King George V locomotive which was brought back after a tour of Canada and the United States.

Inflation Held Certain Unless Budget Is Evened

Then, it says, the budget would be balanced. To be sure, the league makes no provision for a sinking fund to retire public debt, and it counts nonrecurrent repayments of RFC loans as income. But at least it shows how the actual receipts and expenditures for the next fiscal year might be balanced.

The first objection, I hear, is that we can't stand more taxes. If that were true, our condition would be bad indeed.

But it must be remembered a balanced budget would mean no further increase in debt. It would mean government spending would be checked, and further inflation could be avoided. This would make a great difference in the ability and willingness of people to pay taxes.

You see, taxpayers are people who have money, and who therefore do not want money to be devalued or otherwise depreciated. I am sure they would gladly pay the additional taxes if they were freed from the threat of inflation, which the wasteful spending by the government keeps hanging over their heads.

Furthermore, business would be greatly helped if money were stabilized and freed from present uncertainties. This would make taxes easier to bear.

The reason for balancing the budget is the evil of growing debt. Excessive debts occasioned the 1929 collapse. Since then, we have to a great extent merely shifted private debts to the government, so that the public debt is at a new high record.

Now, a debtor always wants more money with which to pay his debt. Private debtors are apt to be "soft money" advocates, meaning they want money manufactured and given to them so they can meet their debts.

Just so, a government which is heavily in debt is apt to be a soft-money government. It is apt to want "easy money," free silver and greenbacks. It wants more and more "notes" to stave off a real payment of its debt. So-called "credit money" is just promises to pay, or notes.

And the more notes issued by government which is sinking deeper into debt, the more it has to issue. It is much like an individual debtor who goes on spending more than his income.

But the debtor government is worse, because it can force banks and citizens to take notes and can call them "money." It is easier for the debtor government to fool itself. It calls its debt "credit money," and says to its citizens, the bigger my debt, the more money you have.

That is what France did in John Law's day. If we can't balance our budget, inflation is inevitable.

Commissioner Spear when he suggested that the Commission should arrange to visit the Reel and Son garage on West First Street to inspect an electric lighting plant which is said to be "efficient and dependable and, providing electricity at a cost of less than one cent per kilowatt."

In their discussion of the subject, the Commissioners were reminded that the City is sole owner of the entire white-way system and the electric line leading from the water plant to Lake Ada some two miles away.

The City is under contract to purchase electricity from the Florida Power and Light Co. to run the dynamo at the water plant until sometime in 1936. It was pointed out, after which time the City could buy power for this plant elsewhere, or, as they decided last night, manufacture it.

The Commissioners opened their meeting by signing an agreement in which they promise to protect State Road No. 3 in the City limits from any encroachments on its right-of-way, and not to pass any law which would make the road secondary to any other highways crossing it.

Turning to a recent $700 cash offer made by Alex R. Johnson for the purchase of the city-owned home in which he resides, the Commissioners moved to advertise the property for sale through sealed bids.

Commissioner Spear had reported that Mr. Johnson had withdrawn his offer for the reason that he is said to have been advised that the City could not convey clear title to the property which it secured in a recent foreclosure action.

An ordinance prohibiting the sale or solicitation of produce from trucks parked on streets or highways within 500 feet of the new State Farmers' Wholesale Market was placed on its first reading.

Approval was given to a plat of the A. V. French subdivision when it was stated that the plat had been drawn up to facilitate the disposal of various sections of the tract, part of which is being used to house the new Market.

Filed for reference was a letter from Otto Caldwell of the St. Johns River Line Co. in which he clarified the area in which his pile-driving outfit was to remove a pile at a cost of $211. He agreed to remove all stray piling in the area bounded by San Juan and Mangrove Avenues.

Suggestion was made that the driver be used to install several mooring posts around the Chamber of Commerce dock, and Supt. of Parks James Moughton was authorized to proceed with this project at once.

City Attorney F. R. Wilson was instructed to arrange a meeting with the town officials of 1913 in connection with the 24 suits filed at that time against the City by 24 negro residents of the town of Goldboro.

Complying with a request from FERA officials, the Commissioners moved to donate $10 toward the cost of water needed at the FERA Nursery School for the next few months.

The Commissioners accepted an additional $13,000 collateral offered by the Sanford Atlantic National Bank as protection for City deposits. City Clerk F. S. Lamson announced that the additional collateral had been asked for the reason that the City anticipates the increasing of collection taxes.

All Commissioners were in agreement that the City should be represented at the Florida League of Municipalities meeting at Coral Gables on Dec. 13 and 14, and although no appointment was made of one or more Commissioners to represent the City, Mayor Leffler called a meeting of City and County Commissioners who might discuss policies that would be presented to the League.

Answering a complaint by A & P officials in Jacksonville that $3000 personal property levied for 1933 on each of four stores they operated in Sanford at that time were too high, the Commissioners moved no action on the ground that they considered the levies as "equable."

Advised that the FERA would erect a standard airport marker at Sanford Municipal Airport if the City would purchase the rock and sand needed, the Commissioners appropriated as much as $100 for this purpose. However, to R. E. Wright's suggestion that the airport could be fenced in at a cost for materials of about $102.50, the Commissioners replied that no action need be taken in this regard. They were of the opinion that the fence law applies in that section, and they authorized Supt. of Parks Moughton to investigate.

The Commissioners took under advisement a request by the Barker Poster Advertising Co. of Orlando that present City ordinance relating to the erection of billboards within the City limits should be changed to permit the erection of some wooden boards.

Clerk Lamson presented a detailed analysis of a sample of City water sent to a Jacksonville chemist last week, and announced that Dr. A. P. Black of Gainesville would attempt to solve the City's "rusty" water problem at a cost of from $25 to $200. Mayor Leffler ordered the matter held in abeyance until someone could explain the analysis.

The Commissioners appropriated $55 for the final purchase of the poles and lights formerly used on the lakefront diamond-ball field and indicated that they would be loaned to any group under supervision of the FERA Recreation Board which was represented at the meeting by R. J. Holly, Jr. In connection with recreational facilities in the City, the Commissioners also donated five lots on Seventh Street at Bay Avenue for use as a negro recreation center that would be supervised by the FERA.

Mayor Leffler authorized City Engineer W. S. Earle to make a survey of the cost of repairing all sidewalks on Magnolia Avenue from First Street to 10th Street. The survey will be the first of several, it was indicated.

Declaring that "it's a good idea to encourage things of that kind," the Commissioners approved the establishment of a parking place in front of the Western Union office for a new 10 cent taxi service.

Chief of Police Roy G. Williams was instructed to employ a man two days per week for the next several weeks in an attempt to enforce the one-hour parking law on First Street and business streets immediately adjacent thereto.

The Commissioners refused to accept Commissioner Lehman's resignation as the City's representative on the State Farmers' Wholesale Market advisory board. He had stated that "I find it impossible to devote any more time to this matter," and had complained that "I have been terribly annoyed by hundreds of people wanting jobs."

All dairies supplying milk inside the City limits were reported as producing a milk which was up to all standards in the matter of butter fat, bacteria count, and freedom from sedimentation.

The Coleman Office Equipment Co. was awarded the contract, at $74.50 cash, to furnish one-year subscriptions for 36 magazines needed at Sanford Municipal Library.

Mayor Leffler was authorized to communicate at once with Archie Hurlburt, Mt. Dora hotel operator, for the purpose of again renting him in the lease, sale, or rental of the Mayfair Hotel.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

No announcement has been made by the State Road Department since it met last Thursday morning, as to whether or not it had let the contract for the completion of State Road No. 3 leading into Sanford, it was learned today. Press stories announcing that bids would be opened on Nov. 22, stated that the Department had appropriated $80,000 for the work. Last Friday's press stories stated that the low bidder on the project had asked $110,000 to do the job.

Acting Postmaster R. J. Holly, Sr., announced today that the Sanford postoffice will observe Thanksgiving Day as a holiday. No service will be required of either the city or rural carriers on that day. Special delivery and postable matter will be delivered as usual. Mail will be dispatched from the office the same as on other days. Last collection on Thursday will be made between the hours of 1:00 o'clock and 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon. All windows will be closed the entire day.

Wilcox Party Will Be Feted At Public Affair Tomorrow

Land landing where the party will be met and returned to Sanford to arrive at about 12:15 o'clock in time for the luncheon at 12:30 o'clock.

The public has been invited to attend this luncheon and hear the various talks which are scheduled. Reservations, at 60 cents per person for the turkey luncheon, should be made at the trade body as quickly as possible.

The Sanford Kiwanis Club will stage its Wednesday luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce in connection with this public meeting, while a delegation of 16 Orlando men, headed by Mayor Sam Way and T. E. Johnson as president of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce, also will attend.

Harry M. Papworth will preside. Mrs. Ellen Cooby, who is Mrs. Wilcox's mother, and Joe Wilcox, young son of Congressman and Mrs. Wilcox will motor from their home at Winter Park in time to attend the luncheon.

After the luncheon, the official party will be turned over to the Orlando group which will escort it through the celery fields and other points of interest on to Orlando.

The local reception committee includes Mrs. Endor Curlett, Mrs. R. J. Holly, Sr., Mr. Papworth, B. F. Haines, J. L. Marquette, John Meach, Sr., H. J. Lehman, State Senator J. J. Parish of Titusville, E. E. Brady, O. P. Herndon, R. L. Dean, and A. B. Peterson.

Civic Leaders Ask Public Support For Big Charity Ball

community than by attending this affair. The dollar you will be asked to pay for yourself and wife or friend certainly will be repaid you in an enjoyable evening, and you will be aiding a most worthy cause.

Mayor Leffler, whose pet hobby is the town in which he was born, was equally as emphatic in his endorsement of the Charity Ball. "Coming the day after Thanksgiving," he said, "it seems to me that our people can best show their thanks for another year of health and happiness by turning out in large numbers for the Ball. Let's make it an old-fashioned party such as those we used to have in Sanford. The dollar per couple admission charge is a mighty small amount when you consider that it entitles you to participate in the bridge tournament, see the style show with its vaudeville, enjoy dancing, mingle with old friends, and know that you are helping the hospital too."

Mr. Papworth, who, during his 50 years of residence in Sanford has attended dozens of benefit affairs for causes too numerous to mention, was hopeful today that the Mayfair Hotel will be crowded for the Charity Ball.

"I recall in the olden days," he said, "that when we announced a benefit for something or another, the hall would be crowded with our people. We'd all enjoy a gay evening in which friendships were renewed and there was reason to believe that we had a town full of benevolent people. I am sure that this same spirit exists here today, and that on Friday night we'll witness a gay party which is reminiscent of those old days. I cannot stress how important this benefit is to the hospital. I appeal for a large attendance."

The party is scheduled to start at 8:00 o'clock with an auction and contract bridge party which will continue until 9:30 o'clock when four valuable prizes are to be awarded.

From 9:30 o'clock to 10:30 o'clock the guests will see today's Fall Style Show and a program of vaudeville acts, while from 10:30 o'clock to early morning, dancing is to be staged in the ball-room.

back me up." Mayor Leffler answered him with, "You've heard the sentiments expressed by the various members and I take it that you can go right ahead with their being ready to assist you."

When they had taken this action, the Commissioners approved a short-form contract which is to be presented to the Florida Power and Light Company in lieu of their proposed contract which provided that the firm would give the City 80 percent more light at no additional cost.

The short-form contract seeks this privilege on a one-year lease and without the clause which has been the cause of the controversy since the offer first was made. The clause would have the City Commission "approve and affirm" all contracts and supplementary agreements signed by Commissioners of other years. The present Commission is not disposed to do this, and it now seeks the "free" electricity "without any strings attached."

The entire subject of street lighting was presented by Commissioner Spear when he suggested that the Commission should arrange to visit the Reel and Son garage on West First Street to inspect an electric lighting plant which is said to be "efficient and dependable and, providing electricity at a cost of less than one cent per kilowatt."

Thanksgiving Day

William Lyons Phelps, writing in the current issue of Delineator says that there are people who apparently have everything in the world to be thankful for, and yet we are not thankful. There are others whose reasons for gratitude are not at all apparent and who nevertheless are very thankful.

We should cultivate this feeling of thankfulness, Dr. Phelps insists, because it is the secret of happiness. He cites a lady in Colorado who wrote him recently that her own handicap of having to spend her days in a wheelchair did not interfere with her happiness or her thankfulness for being allowed to remain alive.

Robert Louis Stevenson, who wrote strong veridical novels, gave the impression of magnificent health and vigor to one of his readers, who happened to be a literary critic, and who wrote Stevenson that he apparently had no conception of how much suffering most people were forced to endure.

There is no doubt that Americans have more reason to be thankful than the people of any other nation," Dr. Phelps concludes. "Let us remember that the very real and tragic depression under which we have suffered since 1929, would seem to many nations the height of prosperity. Yet an English member of Parliament told me that he thought Americans talked more about their depressions than Europeans. He said this, two years ago. He had just arrived from England, and in the first two days of his visit here, everyone who spoke to him mentioned the depression. 'In England we don't talk about it,' he said.

"I suppose we had been softened by luxury and that our oversensitive skins felt more keenly the change in the financial weather. It really helps to get used to things. When the thermometer in our northern states goes over ninety, it is first page news, everybody talks about it; you will see people looking earnestly at thermometers, as if they had never seen one before. Well, in the summer of 1919, I spent a week in Texas. The temperature went over one hundred every day. Yet no one mentioned the subject, and I could not anywhere find a thermometer. I suppose their unspoken philosophy was: 'What's the use of talking about it? We know it's hot. Let's talk about something interesting, and forget the heat.'

"We Americans come of good stock. We have a great history and great traditions. It might help us if we devoted less attention to our own troubles, and remembered the way in which the pioneers endured greater ones. Thanksgiving Day is a peculiarly American institution. The church prayers of all countries contain many expressions of gratitude to the Divine Power and—notably in Sweden—there are times set apart for community thankfulness. But Thanksgiving Day is American; and it is inspiring to remember its origin."

Getting Lined Up

Only the business of choosing up sides apparently stands between the present and the time when Europe will again be plunged into the hostilities which were suspended temporarily by the Armistice in 1918.

At least a dozen "incidences" have developed during the past year which might have been sufficient cause for war, only the various nations had not decided yet whom they wanted to fight. At least a dozen sore spots still remain on the European map, any one of which may yet prove to be the match which starts the conflagration.

Yugoslavia is still calling Hungary nasty names over the assassination of the late King Alexander and the affair seems likely to develop into an "incident" more because of Hungary's objection to the insult than because of the fact that Hungary did harbor the criminals who committed the murder. Italy is lending strength to Hungary's position, and France offers encouragement to her ally, Yugoslavia?

At the same time Nazi youths are pouring into the Saar district to "assist" in the election which is to be held in January in an effort to decide whether the Saar should remain under the mandate of the League of Nations or should join France or Germany. Hitler is determined that this area, rich in coal and iron, shall belong to Germany, and France is equally determined that it shall not, unless Germany pays for it in gold marks, a financial undertaking which is stupendous under present economic conditions.

We read that Russia has promised to come to the aid of the French with all the Red Armies in case of war with Germany, and England had previously signified that the Rhine must be considered her eastern frontier. It would seem then that those old Allies, England, France, and Russia will be on the same side when war is renewed.

But what of Italy? Will Italy join the Triple Alliance this time as she did before, or will her ambition for Yugoslavian territory put her on the side of Germany? And what of Austria and Hungary this time? Can Hitler's Foreign Office hope to perfect a Triple Entente which will prove more effective and more enduring than the last one?

Poland is another doubtful spot on the map. Small, but strategically situated, Poland is one of the best armed nations in Europe. Although there are strong territorial animosities existing between Poland and Germany, there are some European observers who believe that these two countries have much in common and that Poland will supply many of the arms and much of the ammunition which Germany will need in another war.

The war may not come in Europe for another year, or for five years, but there can no longer be any doubt that feverish preparation is being made for it and that the principal question still remaining to be settled is who is going to fight on which side.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

EMPIRE OF SUNSHINE BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE

The many wonders of Florida and the coast which they can be reached were described for radio listeners by R. S. Volt, general eastern passenger agent of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, in an Eagle-sponsored broadcast over WLYT Monday afternoon.

"Florida is exceptionally rich in plant, bird and animal life. Consequently, it appeals to the naturalist and lover of nature. Florida's fruits are justly famous, ranging from the great palatial hotels at the larger resort centers to more modest but equally comfortable smaller hotels, inns and boarding houses. If you prefer house-keeping, Florida offers splendid homes, modest villas, furnished apartments, and really enchanting flower-decked cottages, calculated to give sparkle to the eye of any bride. Florida is an earthly Heaven for honeymooners.

"Florida—Land of Flowers, is the most beautiful name in the roster of our states. No other name would so poster and aptly describe this great Empire of Sunshine. We know that Ponce de Leon was seeking the fabled Eternal Fountain of Youth. There is no evidence that he found it, but like other seekers for knowledge and an ideal, he discovered something much greater and more valuable to mankind. He found a land eternally bathed in sunshine especially in winter. He discovered a vast empire which today is universally regarded by the most competent health authorities as a place in which the chance of longer life, more healthful life and happier life is greater than in any other spot on the globe.

"Florida's greatest asset and incentive for us today is therefore its warm sunshine in winter. Of course, this Eden-like climate acting through Florida's marvelous soil and waters produces life in abundance. This is the reason that Florida is a winter resort for people from all parts of the world. It has at Palatka the newly planted Archa Ravine Gardens, the largest and most nearly inclusive of all known varieties of azaleas in the world. These lie in

Rolling Back to Be Held on Leaning Field

SANFORD, Nov. 23.—Grid football fans of this county are having their first college football game tonight right up to their eyes when they meet in an 11 A. M. contest on the Leaning High School field. A large crowd, including nearly the entire student body of Rollins is expected. The game begins at 8:15 o'clock.

Rollins is considered in the 11 A. M. game this year and stands in a victory over the Seminoles from the West. S. C. to give the Turkeys a record of three straight wins in the conference and for the season. Rollins defeated Florida Seminoles convincingly last year. This year they are a much closer strength. Wednesday night because of the shortage of reserve players on the Rollins team. Only a handful of stars will be on hand to relieve the regulars.

The game is being played here largely as a personal tribute to George Miller, the Turkeys' sensation (quarterback), a product of Leaning High School, who is a sophomore. He has been a brilliant performer throughout the season, his long sprint in the open field accounting for several of the touchdowns registered in Tur games this year.
