The DeBary Arts and Crafts Club opened its exhibition of "Religion in Art," last Thursday morning at the Hamilton House where the group met for its monthly meeting and Christmas program.

The paintings will hang through December. Mrs. Andrew Day of DeLand, who designs silver jewelry, was guest speaker for the program following the club's brief business session. She spoke on "The Theme of the Cross" as it is thought to have been at the start of the Christian religion and showed a collection of crosses, telling the story of each.

The club's exhibition was formally opened following the program and Christmas Party, included in the display, other than the local paintings, is an arrangement by Mrs. Angel Diaz featuring a tall, white Madonna surrounded by gilded Christmas trees and a piece of Jerusalem Oak and oak oak.

A colored scroll of the Twenty-third Psalm is exhibited by Mrs. William Ogden and numerous ceramic displays are being shown along with featured paintings of Mrs. Laura Lock of DeLand, a member of the club.

Refreshments were served from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m. under the direction of Mrs. O. Barnett, refreshment chairman. Assisting her were Mrs. Frank Harrington, Mrs. William Labrousse, Mrs. A. MacLaughlin, Mrs. C. Harbridge and Mrs. Dent.

Why is Santa at Second and Park? Well, some say he just came in by Greyhound and transferred to Trailways.

Close to 200 plumbing or water service lines were ruptured Thursday. People not knowing how to shut off their own water kept five extra city crews busy working from radio trucks.

A three inch water main burst at Second and Palm on Wednesday night about 9 p.m. At that time temperatures were at 27 and there were no sidewalk superintendents to give suggestions to the city crews.

Anyone thought of the wild birds this time of year. Hundreds found dead due to the freeze.

At yesterday's meeting of the school board, Mason Wharton moved a resolution expressing the appreciation of the people of Seminole County to L. E. Jordan and John Brumley, long time members of that body. Jordan's 27 years is a statewide record for continuous service on a school board. Brumley has served 15 years with that body. We would like to add an enthusiastic "third" to J. Dan Wright's second of Wharton's motion.

The new music suite for the Junior High here is going to be a pretty elaborate layout. The band and the glee club will have separate practice rooms and off each will be a library and office. An ample storage room is included, also.

We're curious to know if John Alexander's committee has gotten together with Judge Kenneth McIntosh and the Seminole Timing Association to talk insurance protecting the County against possible suits that might arise out of the drag racing and time trials at the club's coming events at Osceola. They have some exciting meets scheduled for the rest of the month.

Unless something happens right sudden there is a possibility that the new English Estates School won't be ready by next September, according to Walter Teagus, administrative assistant to Supt. Milwee. Seems there has been some foot-dragging up yonder, not here.

Freeze Sets Citrus Back 2 Years

County citrusmen face a two to three year setback in production because of the three-day freeze, County Agent Cecil Tucker reported today.

With citrus losses well over 50 percent, Tucker explained that it would take a full year for foliage to come back in full swing again.

The county agent added that all the young citrus trees were knocked back to the bank.

The predicted output for citrus production this year had been anticipated at 8,000,000 boxes and Tucker estimated citrusmen here would fall far short of that goal.

Freezing temperatures Thursday night and early today continued to hammer away at the young crops but Tucker said it still was too early to estimate the losses in dollars and cents.

Tucker said he didn't expect any great change in the loss of crops because of a predicted warming up trend.

He also reported that this county would be considered as a disaster area as soon as farm advisors throughout the area summed up their losses.

During the 1957-58 freeze, dairy and cattlemen were given a 50 percent freight reduction to supplement their losses and Tucker felt the same rates will go into effect once Gov. Bryant gets his report from his advisors.

The average temperature forecast for Seminole County tonight was 35, giving some relief from the sub-freezing readings of the last three nights.

Sunny weather during the daylight hours probably will bring a gradual warmup, but it still will be cold.

The county's three million dollar vegetable industry suffered some 50 percent in losses, early estimates by County Agent Cecil Tucker revealed at noon today.

Tucker estimated that lettuce and leafy crops were the heaviest hit with heavy ice noted on cabbage and celery.

Tucker said that cabbage and celery have the ability to grow out after being frozen but the quality and quantity will be reduced to hurt county vegetable growers.

Monstrous Cold Eases But Not Very Much

United Press International
A monstrous cold wave—one of the most destructive in history—began to ease its grip on the staggered Southland today.

However, Florida vegetable and citrus crop growers continued the saddened task of determining the extent of damage wrought by the hardest freeze on the state since 1899.

Snows continued for the ninth straight day along the Great Lakes from Michigan to New York.

The series of snow storms and the record December cold wave left at least 191 persons dead the past nine days.

As much as 80 per cent of Florida's $300 million citrus crop was frozen. Farmers from Lake Okechobee northward reported almost total loss of truck crops and pastures by three consecutive nights of below-freezing temperatures.

Temperatures throughout the South plunged to record lows on Thursday. Tallahassee had a temperature of 10, its coldest reading of the century. An 18.5 reading at Tampa was a record low. Miami Beach vacationers didn't go near the water when the mercury slid to 35.

Coldest temperatures in the nation Thursday were in the South, where it was 18 below at Crossville, Tenn., and 17 below at London, Ky.

Governor Asks Special Audit At North Orlando

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant has requested a special state audit of financial records of the Village of North Orlando at the request of 42 freeholders headed by City Councilman W. W. Anderson.

The action was taken under a law providing for a state audit upon the petition of 20 percent of the freeholders of a city or town.

A petition signed by Anderson and 41 others was held by Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin to be legally representative of the town of 177 population.

The petition was received in late October but action was delayed for the ruling by the attorney general.

The law requires that the city must pay the costs of the audit and until it puts up the money in an escrow account, state auditors won't move.

Big Counties Don't Prove Charge On Legislature, Cleveland Says

State Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. told the Jaycees Thursday that he challenges members of the large counties' delegations to show proof that the people of their counties have been discriminated against by the present legislative membership.

"I certainly agree that the state should be fairly reapportioned every ten years ac-ording to the constitution of Florida," Cleveland said, "but I question the charges of discrimination."

"One-half of the people in these large counties, as well as in the small counties did not even bother to vote on the proposed amendment at the last election. They seem apathetic, as if they didn't care whether the state got reapportioned or not," he pointed out.

"You'd think they'd at least go the trouble to vote against it, if they were as concerned about it as their legislators say they are," the representative noted.

More than half of the states in the United States are faced with the same problem, Cleveland told the Jaycees.

"The recent special sessions of the legislature accomplished nothing," he said and admitted that he did not know the solution.

"The pork-choppers must give in or the Florida legislature will never be able to reapportion itself."

"And when the Supreme Court steps in and does it, they are not going to be one bit happy with the outcome. The pork-choppers are going to be hurt the worst, but we could avoid federal interference if they would cooperate."

Cleveland said he felt that the federal courts were just as confused as the Florida legislators about how to reapportion, but he said he was against any more special sessions.

"All we did was sit down, get up and walk around and sit down again. It was just a time-consuming waste, and we all had businesses to attend to and things to do at home. We accomplished exactly nothing, and we never will as long as the pork-choppers refuse to cooperate."

Review Of Request For Funds Promised

McClellan Ratchford, head of the Atlanta office of the Housing and Home Finance Administration, affirmed today his statement made here Wednesday that funds for the expansion and rehabilitation of the Serepta and Good Samaritan home is available from the FHA.

It was pointed out by Chairman J. C. Hutchinson of the County Commission, from his bed at Seminole Memorial Hospital, that if the Serepta Home can't qualify for funds through a HHFA member agency, that it might be possible to get funds through the Hill-Burton act, and as a last resort the county could build a home and lease it to a private operator.

County Commission vice chairman James F. Avery said he feels the possibilities of obtaining private funds have not been exhausted. However, the urgency of the situation will require a "new look" at the Van Hoy report and a re-examination of the whole problem.

Avery said all the possible answers to the problem as expressed by the Van Hoy committee will have to be explored now, but he was sure a solution to the situation will be found.

Relay In Orbit, But First Test Is Postponed

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — America's new radiotelevision "Relay" satellite swept around earth in a near-perfect orbit today, but scientists unexpectedly passed up a planned mid-morning crucial test. Officials declined to say whether problems were suspected.

Technicians called off without explanation their plans to beam test signals at the 172-pound moonlet on its fifth orbit, starting at 8:55 a. m.

At Cape Canaveral, a Federal Space Agency spokesman said there was "a possibility" that an intercontinental test transmission between the United States and Europe, planned for 12:22 p. m. on the sixth orbit, also would be cancelled.

"They wanted to take a closer look at it before they started playing around with it," he added.

Relay was hurled into orbit by the 14th successful shot in a row of the Douglas Delta rocket Thursday night. The orbit, described as "99.44/100 per cent perfect," sent Relay 4,612.18 miles into space at its deepest point, and 819.64 miles up at its closest approach to earth.

The satellite was making one swing around the globe every three hours 5.09 minutes.

The president was to speak to the Economic Club of New York.

Some influential members of Congress and a private economic research group, voiced their tax opinions on the eve

Students Given Warning On Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has put college students on notice that they could face prison if they attempt a Christmas holiday trip to Cuba.

The warning was issued Thursday after reports groups of students from Boston, Buffalo, New York, and other cities planned to defy the government ban on travel to Cuba.

Under the law, the State Department requires specially validated passports for trips to the island nation. However, the passports are given only if the trip is in the "best interests of the United States."

If an unauthorized trip is made, the State Department said it is punishable by fine and/or imprisonment.

Kalanga Funds To Be Cut Off By UN Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — Secretary General Thant proceeded today with plans to cut off the mineral revenues of Katanga Province despite its new offer to share them with the Congo central government.

Thant was awaiting answers to letters he sent Britain, Portugal, South Africa and Belgium asking them to put economic pressures on Katanga. President Moise Tshombe has refused to share the province with the rest of the Congo.

A UN spokesman said similar letters soon would go out to all members of the world organization.

The initial letters went to the countries which control the roads and railways over which Katanga's copper and cobalt are shipped and who control the production itself.

They call for economic strictures. Thant refused to use the word sanctions lest this imply recognition of Katanga as a nation.

Hospital Fills Two Nurse Posts

Two major appointments will be made by the Seminole Memorial Hospital board Monday when Mrs. Phyllis Arney will be named director of nurses and Miss Ruth Ward director of nursing education.

Mrs. Arney, who came to Seminole Memorial from the job of chief of nursing services at Orlando's Holiday Hospital, is a graduate of the William Mason Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Murray, Ky.

A native of Barren Springs, Mich., she came to Florida with the idea of doing nothing but staff nursing, but as she says, "I always wound up with an administrative job."

She has been acting director of nurses since Mrs. Mary Detyens resigned to take over the position of chief of nurses at Florida Care in Orlando.

The second appointment will name Miss Ward to the job of director of nursing education. Her responsibility will be the training of nurses and licensed practical nurses and the in-service training of the nursing staff.

She is a graduate of the John Hopkins Hospital School of Nursing in Baltimore, Md., and came to the local hospital after eight years on the staff of the Orange Memorial Hospital School for Nurses.

Mrs. Arney has been at Seminole for the past six years as assistant director of nurses for the afternoon and night shift. She has under her direction 48 nurses currently serving on the staff of the local hospital.

Miss Ruth Ward, 34, a resident of Sanford for 47 years and retired employee of Seminole County Schools, died Wednesday night at a DeLand nursing home after a lingering illness.

A native of Akron, Ohio, Mr. Smith made his home in Sanford at 615 1/2 Maple Ave. and was a member of the Nazarene Church of Sanford. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Tina Smith; a son Ralph Smith and a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Lunn, of Sanford and two step-daughters Mrs. Lewis Johnson of Sanford and Mrs. Jean Louisa of Winchester, Mass.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Nazarene Church, with Rev. Paul Bickes officiating. Burial will be in Sylvan Lake Cemetery. Brinson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Funeral services for Mr. Craven Latson Byrd, Negro, of Midway, who died Dec. 5 at his home there following a lingering illness, will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday at the Mt. Olive A.M.E. Church in Midway.

A native of Burlington, S. C., he came to Sanford in 1923. For many years he worked as farm contractor for the Standard Growers Assn. of Sanford and for C. R. Clouta Assn. of Orlando. A member of the Mt. Olive A.M.E. Church, he served as Sunday School Superintendent for 35 years.

Survivors are three sons, C. C. Byrd and James C. Byrd of Sanford and John E. Byrd of Rochester, N. Y., and three daughters, Mrs. Vivian Allen, Mrs. Mary B. Williams and Mrs. Ora Dee Hawkins, all of Sanford.

Wilson Kitchberger Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

The Needs Are Many

It is not the material standard of living that is the main problem in the country, but the lack of a sense of purpose, the lack of a sense of direction, and the lack of a sense of responsibility. The country is in a state of confusion and the people are in a state of despair. The needs are many and the needs are great. The needs are for a sense of purpose, for a sense of direction, and for a sense of responsibility. The needs are for a sense of purpose, for a sense of direction, and for a sense of responsibility.

One community in this country has a reputation for political corruption. It is a reputation that is based on the fact that the members of the town board who were elected to office in the year 1900 were elected to office in the year 1900. The result has been that the community has been stymied in its normal growth and development, and civic pride has suffered a severe blow. It is to be hoped that such things are at an end, and all towns officials in the country will see their duty to meet the needs of their respective communities as they continue to grow.

The needs are many, and great, and call for public servants to think big, and set upon the vision of what their towns could be and will be if they do the job they have been called upon to do by their fellow citizens.

Boom For Us!

A lot of the world's troubles stem from faulty communication. They always have.

This has nothing to do with mechanical means of communication, or the lack of them. In fact, our modern inventions have actually aggravated the problem.

With so many more of us in existence wanting to say things, and with so many more means with which to say them — telephones, telegraphs, television, radio, newspapers, magazines, journals, cards, notices, bulletins, billboards, letters, books — the result is a flood of communication between the members of the human race.

Most of us wade through a jungle of babble every day, both in its oral and written forms. But how much real communication takes place?

Partly it is because we don't always have anything important or interesting to say, but we are expected to say something. A lot of our communication is in the form of polite formulas like "Good morning, how are you?" which we say automatically but which neither convey nor elicit any vital information.

But even in the fields of science, business and government, where efficient, precise communication is vital, a monster called gobbledygook sets up precious time, paper, ink and money.

An illustration is the following question recently asked at a congressional hearing:

"If you do generate that know-how in-house, will it obviously follow that you could eliminate some of the contractual procedures that you are presently farming out because of lack of in-house know-how?"

But gobbledygook is not only estoteric words or opaque phraseology. It can also be good, orderly English which just doesn't know when to stop.

Illustration: A certain company had a problem in its cafeteria. It put a card with the following message on each of the tables:

"The number of complaints concerning the practice of 'reserving' a table has steadily increased through the failure of many to heed our requests for discontinuance. In the interest of orderly operation and the comfort of the majority of the patrons, notices is hereby given that the placing of articles of personal property on tables and chairs is done at the expressed risk of the owners thereof and with the understanding that they may be removed by our employees without responsibility."

The problem persisted. Finally, the company put another card on the tables:

"No reserved seats in this cafeteria. We cannot be responsible for your personal belongings."

Student writers are often told of the reply a preacher made to Queen Anne's compliment on the brevity of his sermon. Said he, "Had I had more time to write it, it would have been even shorter."

Today we have less time than ever. It would be ironic if the human race perished not from nuclear radiation but from linguistic aphasia (hot air).

Donations Are Different

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When a political party stages a fund-raising affair it does not sell tickets. That would be illegal.

But if a person wants to make a voluntary contribution, there's nothing wrong with sending him a complimentary ticket.

Everyone got that straight? Very well.

Anyone who happens to contribute $100 or more to the Democratic National Committee between now and Jan. 18 is in luck.

On the latter date, a group of big name entertainers will assemble at the D. C. Armory here for two hours of fun and games. And, by an odd coincidence, tickets to the show will be distributed to the party donors.

The event will be called an "Inaugural Anniversary Salute to President Kennedy," and the proceeds — or rather the contributions — will be applied against the campaign debt.

I learned all of this at a Committee between now and Jan. 18 is in luck. On the latter date, a group

John Bailey, I call it a "sort of a news conference" because songwriter Richard Adler, who is producing the show, candidly admitted that he was holding something back.

Adler explained that he wanted to save some information for another news conference later. If this technical becomes widespread, I'm going to give up my salary and start working on space rates.

In Chairman Bailey's chair sat Danny Kaye, who will be one of the stars of the show. Next to him sat Carol Burnett, who will be a co-star. Miss Burnett said that she planned to do a comedy sketch.

"Of Jacqueline Kennedy?" someone asked.

"No," she replied. "Of Macaroni."

Kaye said he didn't plan to do anything funny.

"I travel with a symphony orchestra nowadays," he said. "I do classical music and Biblical readings."

One of the more penetrating reporters among us wanted to know if Kaye and Miss Burnett were Democrats.

"Is the Pope Catholic?" replied Miss Burnett.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Dr. Walker combines the courage of Elijah with the superb psychological insight of Saint Paul. But he is also as witty as Mark Twain, yet underneath his genial exterior he has a brain as sharp as a razor. Heed his warning about the loosening of churches! And beware of Uncle Sam's competition with church missionary budgets!

CASE 0-411: Dr. Warren Walker is one of the great modern prophets in America. He directs the famous Cadde Tabernacle at Indianapolis, ably assisted by his vivacious wife, Helen.

They invited Mrs. Crane and me to have dinner with them earlier this year.

And it was a gala event that we shall remember all of our lives, for Dr. Walker is a rival for Mark Twain in his ability to tell humorous stories.

Being originally from Birmingham, he also is superb at adding the dialectal flavor to any tales of the South.

But we discussed some profound topics, too, such as the threat to the churches when Uncle Sam begins to invade their provinces under the guise of "welfare."

Many of you readers are aware of the threat to business and steel mills and railroads and even the television and radio industries via creeping socialism.

For Uncle Sam has been steadily invading those former fields of "free enterprise."

Our Founding Fathers originally conceived of Uncle Sam

as an impartial referee.

He was simply to "umpire" our competition on the playing field of our economic "gridiron" but certainly was not supposed to run out on the field, grab the ball and then charge into us small players.

When he uses our coerced taxes simply to engage in power politics on the international scene, even though under the guise of Marshal Plan or the recent Peace Corps or just Aid to Undeveloped Countries, that is a violation of the intent of our Founding Fathers.

For our churches formerly handled such aid to downtrodden peoples very well by their foreign missionary budgets.

For example, the $63,000,000 allocated in 1962 for a mere 9,000 volunteers in the Peace Corps, is a very costly form of political "foreign missions."

That same $63,000,000 would supply 100,000 (not a mere 9,000) native church missionaries.

And the latter would create far more goodwill for the U. S. A. than even our best Peace Corps recruits.

But Dr. Walker added another warning: namely, the increasing of churches which Russian Communism and even British Socialism have resorted to to hamstringing faiths they wish to sabotage.

In Russia, a government permit must be obtained in order to build a church, for the government owns the land and is hostile to religion.

Even in England, I understand that the Baptist Church was long debarred from erecting buildings because the government failed to grant Baptists a license or permit.

So you clergymen of all faiths—Catholic, Jewish, rabbi and Protestant ministers—should unite against this steady encroachment by Socialistic Uncle Sam on the privileges of the church.

Churches do their missionary work—both at home and abroad—by strictly FREE WILL contributions, not forced taxes exacted against the wishes of the taxpayer.

So we need to pull Uncle Sam back off our national playing field. He is to be solely a referee; not a competitor of business, industry or even the churches.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Republicans are being misled by many political analysts for claiming victory in the battle of the vote percentages, after failing to make a big dent in governorships and United States House and Senate seats.

There is nothing fanciful, however, about the GOP's improved showing in state legislatures across the country. In this field they won not statistics but seats.

Today's rough compilation, necessarily mixing official and unofficial totals, indicates a Republican pickup over 1960 of some 170 seats. On top of their 200-seat advance in 1960, this shift looks like pretty fair progress.

It brought with it full control of four additional legislatures — Pennsylvania, Indiana, Colorado and Utah.

Republican leaders are also allowing themselves a "book-keeping" gain. They now claim two-house control in Minnesota, officially unopposed in its legislature. Party officials say the conservatives who dominate House and Senate are in fact Republicans.

If this claim is granted, then the GOP now has full control in 19 states, against 14 in 1960.

But it has to be remembered that the Republicans are coming from far back. In 1958 the Democrats rolled up a staggering net gain of 686 state legislative seats, seizing two-house command in 30 states and leaving the GOP in full sway in only seven.

Not even Franklin D. Roosevelt's historic sweep of 1932 created that much havoc. After that blow the Republicans still retained both houses in eight states.

As a matter of fact, the Democrats have been giving their adversaries intermittent fits at the state legislative level through much of the post-war period.

In 1948, the year of Harry

Truman's upset victory, they struck hard. The Democrats' net gain of 731 state seats cut from 25 to 15 the number of legislatures the GOP had under full control. The ratio became 20-15 Democratic.

Republicans moved back up in 1950 and especially in 1952, the first Eisenhower year. The ratio went to 24-14 GOP. Net gain in seats was 222 in 1950, 348 in 1952.

Two years later the Democrats dashed out another disaster. They picked up 426 seats and earned a 23-29 split in the number of states where both houses were under one party's control.

Dwight Eisenhower's immense 1952 triumph failed to rub off on many GOP state legislatures. Though they carried a pickup of 22 seats overall, the party's two-house control held in just 17 states. Thereafter came the 1956 debacle.

Despite GOP improvements in 1960 and 1962, Democrats today still hold total command in 10 states and one-house control in four others.

Yet the Republicans find some comfort in their gains. Having recaptured Pennsylvania, they hold legislative power now in five of the seven most populous states. Their other four are New York, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan. The Democrats hold California and Texas.

Of the Republicans' big five, they also command the governorship in four. Illinois is the sole exception.

Nobody can prove that this strengthened position in the states with big electoral votes is going to do the Republicans a significant amount of good when they send a presidential candidate against President Kennedy in 1964.

But these changes surely won't hurt the GOP. They will provide the party with sorely needed grass roots nourishment in key places. And they will help boost a party morale that otherwise got little enough backing up from the 1962 results.

In any event, the speculation now is that Ehardt's tenure in office would be a short one, probably ending in 1964 and certainly not extending beyond general elections in 1965.

This in itself is discouraging to Western diplomats who believe that a strong West German government is essential to a united front against the Soviet Union.

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR SEMINOLE COUNTY VEGETABLE GROWERS:

Now is the time to switch to Phosdrin[®] Insecticide to maintain complete protection against insects up to 24 hours from harvest—without creating residue problems.

Powerful Phosdrin Insecticide gives you fast knockdown and kill of aphids, mites, loopers, worms—almost all destructive pests attacking Florida crops.

Then, unlike most other insecticides, Phosdrin disappears, leaves no residue. That's why it can be applied up to 24 hours from harvest on many crops—up to 72 hours on most others.

Read how Phosdrin can save your crop from late-season insect damage or worse, confiscation. Check the chart below for the intervals that apply to your crops.

If not controlled, a late-season insect build-up can quickly downgrade—or make completely unsalable—vegetable crops such as tomatoes, beans, potatoes, peppers, celery, watermelons, eggplants and most leafy vegetables.

If, on the other hand, the infestation is controlled with an insecticide that leaves excess residue on the crop at harvest, the crop is subject to confiscation by government authorities under the terms of the Miller Amendment to Public Law 518.

This is a problem that many growers are solving with Phosdrin Insecticide.

Kills insects fast

Phosdrin is a powerful new phosphate insecticide that kills the toughest insects fast, usually within a few minutes of application. However, unlike most other insecticides, Phosdrin disappears rapidly after it has done its job—leaves no residue.

That's why Phosdrin can be applied up to 24 hours from harvest on many crops—

up to 72 hours from harvest on most others. NOTE: See table below for interval data for your crops.

Hard-to-kill insects

Phosdrin solves other problems too. It controls insects such as cabbage loopers and aphids that are becoming harder to kill with older insecticides. That's why more and more growers are making Phosdrin an integral part of their full-season program.

Good mixer

Phosdrin is compatible with most other insecticides and fungicides. And Phosdrin offers a wide margin of safety to the foliage and fruit of insecticide-sensitive crops such as cucumbers and lettuce.

sects attacking many vegetables. Dosage rates seldom exceed 1/4 of a pound per acre. In short, on a per acre basis, Phosdrin is very economical.

Where to get Phosdrin

Phosdrin is available from your local insecticide dealer under many well-known brand names. It comes in liquid and dust formulations that are easy to apply with standard application equipment.

Remember, look for the name Phosdrin on the label or in the ingredient statement.

Shell Chemical Company, Agricultural Chemicals Division, 55 Marietta Street, N.W., Atlanta 3, Georgia.

Low cost

Don't be misled by the cost per pound or gallon of Phosdrin. A little Phosdrin goes a long way. For example, as little as 1/4 to 1/2 of a pound per acre is all it takes to control the toughest in-

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and some day I hope to become a spy. My parents and relatives have tried to discourage me, but I have dreamed of being a spy for as long as I can remember. When I mention my future plans to adults, they laugh and think I am kidding, but I am not. Spies have very exciting lives and they perform great services for their country. Do you think this is a childish dream or should I go through with it? I know what I am getting into as I have read every spy story I could get my hands on.

FUTURE GIRL SPY

DEAR ABBY: My wife is beautiful, healthy and lazy. She sleeps from 10 to 12 hours a night and complains about having to do the lightest kind of housework. I am ashamed to invite anyone to drop in as the house is a mess 75 percent of the time. I work 10 hours a day, rain or shine, to keep her in style. She can buy anything she wants. Don't you think it's a wife's job to keep the house tidied up? Why should a man knock himself out to keep a woman cool, comfortable and well fed for nothing?

FED UP AND READY TO QUIT

DEAR FUTURE GIRL SPY: The "spy" stories you have read probably emphasized the glamor, excitement and adventure of such work. But to get down to realities, a spy must be well grounded in history, geography, foreign languages, criminal psychology, the art of self-defense and many other fields. No one should laugh when a 15-year-old expresses his or her ambition. At least you have one.

DEAR FED: Your wife is spoiled and you spoiled her! Of course it's her job to keep the place reasonably neat. If a man wants a beautiful ornament around the house to look at, he can buy a statue.

DEAR ABBY: My husband never puts the caps on tooth paste, mouth wash, deodorants, shaving lotions or hair tonic. How can I get him to be more careful?

NAGGING WIFE

DEAR ABBY: My feathers were ruffled last year when you said the mimeographed newsletter - type Christmas greeting was usually boring and a lazy way of getting out of writing all year or something like that. What is "lazy" about composing a friendly, newsy letter to keep all your friends up to date on your activities? I enjoy Christmas newsletters from others and had assumed they enjoyed mine. Besides, it's the only thing I ever wrote that was published. And I had a circulation of about 150 people!

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: I, too, enjoy the newsy, cheerful, clever Christmas letter. It's the ones containing "news" of Aunt Bessie's gall bladder operation, a flood in the basement and Rover being hit by a car that I can live without.

DEAR NAGGING: If I were to send you a small sampling of letters from wives who complain because their husbands never take the caps OFF the above-mentioned items, you'd put the caps on yourself, and be glad to do it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL: When someone calls on you and talks endlessly about how well he is doing, before he leaves you had better count your spoons.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

WOUNDED STEVE McQueen and co-pilot Robert Wagner fight to keep their crippled B-17 alive in "The War Lover," new Arthur Hornblow production based on the John Hersey novel. The Columbia release also stars Shirley Anne Field.

'War Lover' Ritz Bound

"The War Lover," a story of men in love and war and, especially, of a man who finds a special delight in the brutal business of destruction, arrives Sunday at the Ritz Theater. The Columbia Pictures release, based on Pulitzer Prize winner John Hersey's best-selling novel, was produced by Arthur Hornblow, Jr., and directed by Philip Leacock. Steve McQueen, Robert Wagner, and Shirley Anne Field are starred in this vivid re-enactment of the air battles of World War II, and of the men who fought them.

The depth of the characterizations and the conflicts of the male principals - two pilots, one who revels in war and one who hates the war he is waging and is repelled by it - provide sharp counterpoint to the dramatic battle scenes, according to Hollywood. The girl is torn between the two, in ways that are foreign to her own nature. The trio reportedly makes a powerful, daring wartime version of the so-called "romantic" triangle. War, and what it does to people, is the villain here.

IN "JESSICA," opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre, in Technicolor and Panavision, Maurice Chevalier stars as a crooning cleric whose parishioners, especially the men, find their lives changed by the arrival in town of a beautiful American widow. Angie Dickinson co-stars in the title role, and French idol Noel-Noel shares top billing. "Jessica" is released through United Artists.

Comedy Set For Drive-In

Until two years ago, Angie Dickinson was comparatively unknown by Hollywood standards. Today she is the star, opposite Maurice Chevalier and Noel-Noel, of "Jessica," opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theater, through United Artists release.

Angie's long, nervous legs and startlingly attractive face and figure were much admired by the small circle of television and motion picture performers who also recognized her talent. They nourished her hopes, which were precise: It was her prospects which seemed vague. Then in 1958 Howard Hawks cast her as "Feathers" in Dean Martin's first western, "Rio Bravo." Martin introduced her to Frank Sinatra, who later asked for her to portray his estranged wife in "Ocean's 11."

The other feature on the program which will play through Tuesday is "La Parisienne" with Brigitte Bardot and Charles Boyer.

On Wednesday and Thursday, "Bend Of The River" and "Stranger In My Arms" will play.

Three films are slated to Friday and Saturday. The three are "Man From Bitter Ridge," "Requiem For A Heavyweight" and "Road to Hong Kong."

Highlights TV Time Previews

7:30-8:30 p.m. CBS, Rawhide, "Incident At Quivira." Royal Dane is an exceptionally good actor whose unique combination of odd physical characteristics enables him to do roles from Lincoln to Lucifer. Tonight he plays a seemingly demented prospector who takes Mully into stealing horses and supplies for a journey to a lost treasure. Eric Fleming and Clint Eastwood star with James Murdock as Mully.

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC, International Showtime, "Vienna Ice Revue." This is not the typical "Ice Show," although it contains all the typical ice-act, from clowns to fancy figures. They are wrapped up in a revue concept with romance as its theme. It is in three segments. The first is set in Sicily where a budding romance is ruined by the suggestion of marriage. Paris is next highlighted by a very good adagio ice dance, after which the dancing and romancing couple are parted. Last is a fairyland scene complete with prince, princess "who lived happily ever after." Don Ameche hosts.

8:30-9:30 p.m. CBS, Route 66, "Where Is Mick Latimer, Where Has She Gone?" Filmed in St. Louis, Martin Miller, as Tod Stiles, carries this one alone pretty well in a story loaded with puzzling suspense, but with a weak climax. The puzzle centers around guest star Vera Miles; is she a criminal or a mental patient? Tod suspects nothing when she tricks him into freeing her from her "custodian" and escorting her to her niece's wedding.

8:30-9:30 p.m. ABC, I'm Dickson... He's Fenster. "Love Me, Love My Dog." Consistently amusing, Dickens (John Astin) feels sorry for his lonely bachelor pal Fenster (Marty Ingels) and gives him a dog. Fenster becomes so attached to the pooch, he ignores everyone, including Dickens, who wishes fervently his wife Kate (Emmaline Henry) hadn't thought of the idea when Fenster insists he "dog-sit" for him.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

East wins the opening lead with the ace of hearts and returns the suit. South wins with the king and is ready to analyze the hand.

He can feel sure that East holds the ace of clubs. East opened the bidding. It is also likely that East holds the queen of diamonds, therefore South is looking at two potential losers in clubs and one in diamonds. In any event South wants to pull trumps so South plays the king of spades and continues with a spade to dummy's ace. Both opponents follow to this second spade lead and at this point South can make the hand against any combination of East-West cards.

heart. Then a diamond is led toward dummy. South plans to play the lowest card that will keep West out of the lead. In this case it is the eight.

East wins with the nine and is now in a three-suit end play. If he leads back a diamond the trick will be won in dummy. South will cash dummy's last high diamond, come to his hand with a trump and discard one of dummy's two clubs on the ace of diamonds.

If East leads back a club it will establish dummy's king of clubs. A heart lead will allow South to ruff in his hand and throw away one of dummy's clubs.

The winning play starts with a ruff of dummy's last

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

"Ah, they get married too quick and then they don't know which way to turn."

That is how a saddened mother spoke when her young daughter abandoned her own 14-year-old child because she couldn't support it.

Many of today's teen-agers are getting "married too quick" and don't know which way to turn when their responsibilities become too heavy for their young shoulders.

But who is to blame for this? Their parents often are. Sometimes, it is because the parents have simply failed to make their children understand that marriage means responsibility and that once they are married they are on their own.

Sometimes, it is because the teen-agers feel that marriage doesn't have to be forever because there is always divorce. This is a natural assumption when a teen-ager's own parents are divorced.

Sometimes it is because teen-agers get so little love and understanding from their parents they can't wait to get cut and have a home of their own.

Sometimes it is because parents are so over-indulgent that their children believe they have a right to whatever they want, when they want it, including marriage before they are old enough for the responsibilities of marriage.

Parents aren't responsible for all the "too quick" marriages of young people. But they are responsible for most of them.

And until parents face that fact squarely we will keep on having too many "too quick" marriages and the tragedies that come about when the going gets rough and the young people feel that they are trapped and have to get out from under the responsibilities they assumed too soon.

For many answers to teen problems read Ruth Millett's

Garden Gate

By PALM CIRCLE

Why being in a Garden Club? Has it been of any value to you? There must be something to it, the questionnaire admits for there are thousands of members in Florida who do more than join in a burst of enthusiasm, they remain for years as active members. But what does one actually gain from allotting a certain amount of time each month, a lot of energy and undoubtedly a certain amount of money toward the underwriting of beautification projects and expenses involved in maintaining a garden center. To answer these honest inquiries, one could best find the answer at any garden club meeting. In the first place, there is genuine friendship based on interest that thrives in gardening and making one's own lawn and gardens more attractive. But the greatest benefit is undoubtedly the sharing of experiences; the exchange of stories of success—and failure—in growing plants, in experimental horticulture at each member's home and the job of bringing seeds, clips and new varieties of shrubs and bushes to share with each other. This is the prime reason that garden clubs grow and take on richer life each year in Florida.

New families of young people in town who do not have much leisure time since they are busy with starting a family still want to beautify their garden plot even though it may be small and may be temporary, too. In being taken into the fold of established garden clubs, these young wives state they have found a broader outlook on life and are lonely no more in a strange environment—they have friends, that magic word! Young mothers discover that their youngsters are wildly enthusiastic about making dish gardens at school and forming flower arrangements, all this under the tutelage of garden club members.

People who have come to Florida for retirement homes find they can share experiences with those who were born here and who freely tell them the right plantings for Florida climate and sturdy growth. Retired people utilize their newly found hours in the sunshine to

Rules For A Qualified Baby Sitter

Alma Hart, NEA
There's always a job for a qualified baby sitter. And the smart teen-ager will realize that she'll be in great demand if she takes the job as a serious responsibility rather than an easy way to earn money while she watches television.

When you accept a sitting assignment, arrive on time, neatly dressed. If you are to handle a small baby, make sure that your fingernails are not only clean, but neatly trimmed so that you won't scratch the baby's skin with a jagged nail.

Don't wear a charm bracelet or a decorative pin. They could easily hurt a small child should he grab at them.

Before the parents leave, find out what time the children must be put to bed and what snacks are permitted. Be sure, too, that you have a phone number where the parents can be reached.

Accidents often happen in the bath. If the child is to take a bath at bedtime, have the soap, towels and floating toys at hand before putting him into the tub. And once he's in the sudsy water, don't leave him even for a minute!

Don't take your "sitting" assignment lightly. Try to be a competent substitute parent, and your clothing and beauty fund will grow.

OES Observes Friendship Night

One hundred eighteen members and visitors observed a friendship program at Seminole Chapter No. 2, Order of Eastern Star recently. States represented by visitors were: Maryland, Massachusetts, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, Louisiana and Washington.

During the friendship program Mrs. Noah Booth represented a stranger seeking friends. She was escorted to various officers seeking advice from them. Her guide was Mrs. Irving Pryor. At the close of the program the officers formed a circle around the altar and gave maxims on friendship.

As each officer spoke, she placed a gift on the altar. As they returned to their stations, Mrs. Booth placed the gifts in a basket carried by Mrs. Pryor, and after a solo by Mrs. Nick Pfeiffert the gifts were presented to guest officers from the district who had served the various stations.

The Chapter room was decorated with baskets and arrangements of pink roses. Plans were made for the shut-ins for Christmas, and it was announced that the Dec. 20 meeting would be the annual Christmas Party. Mrs. W. T. Corbett and her committee.

A good hostess keeps the crowd from ganging up on a prominent guest.

Entertain With Poise By Planning Ahead

By Alicia Hart, (NEA)
The first time your husband phoned to say he was bringing the boss home to dinner, you probably panicked. Shopping had to be done and the menu changed, with no time left to dress with care.
A little long-range party planning can change all that, and give you time to be a poised, pretty hostess.
Select one or two entrees and desserts which can be made in advance and kept frozen until needed. If you don't have a freezer, go through your cookbook for festive but easy-to-prepare dinners, and practice them on the family until you can whip them up quickly in an emergency.
Keep your clothes in good repair so that you won't have to spot-clean or mend before you dress.
Before you begin dinner preparations, put your hair up in rollers and spray it. When you've taken a quick, sudsy shower and put on fresh lingerie, it will be ready for combing.
Then put on your make-up, spray on your favorite fragrance and slip into a pretty dress.

Basic Rules For Dining Out

WATCH MANNERISMS
The simplest way to find out exactly what your own irritating mannerisms are is to watch other women. When you meet one who pokes a finger at you to emphasize a point, don't just think of how annoying she is.
Ask yourself if you do it, too. When you're in the room with a girl who talks incessantly, consider how often you may have been just such an offender.
I attended a party recently at which one guest interrupted whenever someone else attempted to speak. It was annoying, and I was embarrassed for her. Yet she made me realize that on occasion I had done the same thing, particularly when I couldn't contain an enthusiastic comment.
I was grateful to her for making me aware of my own fault. Your mannerisms are as much a part of your appearance as your features. Most of us don't know how others see us, so we must be ruthless in judging ourselves.

Sorority Makes Christmas Elves

Xi Beta Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Mrs. John Alexander in Sunland Estates. As the roll was called, each member showed and explained a Christmas decoration she had made.
Included were door decorations, miniature Christmas trees, Santa Claus candy holders made of brandy snifters, little girl's Christmas pocket books, toptary tree, Advent wreath, palm boat, Christmas tree balls entirely covered with sequins, and some with sequins and "jewels" also egg shells with miniature three dimensional scenes inside.
Tentative plans will be announced at the first meeting in January concerning the "Friendly Venture," Nu Phi Mu Chapter for the Sanford area. A "White Elephant" sale is also planned.
Pamphlets were given to the group on how to decorate palm trees for the Christmas season. The group thanked Candy McClanahan and her husband for hosting the Christmas social.
Mrs. Wallace Tyre was given an engraved book mark as a memento from Xi Beta Eta Chapter. She is leaving this week for Germany. Sales of all occasion and Christmas paper, and Christmas tag sales were reported going well. A reminder was made that the joint luncheon with the other three Beta Sigma Phi Chapters will be held Jan. 18.
The program was on Christmas Decorations. Mrs. G. Andrew Speer demonstrated how to make little elves from styrofoam balls, pipe cleaners, felt and cotton. In spite of pricked fingers, lost spools of thread, cotton "beards" sticking to gluey fingers, bottoms of elves' coats being sewn together, scissors that wouldn't cut, lost felt "eyes" and "mouths" all 11 members completed the elves and decided to make more.

Group Plans Program At Mayfair Inn

A luncheon will be held Monday at the Mayfair Inn at 12:30 p.m. by the Daytona Beach Colony of New England Women (a central Florida group), with Mrs. Mary Leary of DeLand, president of the association, presiding.
Mrs. F. E. Beumist of Sanford will lead the group in the singing of Christmas carols, and the program will be presented by members of the Seminole High School Triple Trio, under the direction of Miss Ollie Reese Whittle.
Arrangements for the meeting will be made by Mrs. A. R. Key and Mrs. R. W. Ruprecht.

Art Association Enjoys Annual Christmas Party

The Sanford Art Association held the annual Christmas party at the Civic Center. A holiday program was presented by an interesting group of entertainers.
An instrumental trio provided the music for the evening. Harry Wester played the accordion, Birger Wester, violin, and George Dodson, guitar. They also accompanied the group for carol singing.
Special guests for the evening were members of the DeBary Arts and Craft Club and Frank King, cartoonist and creator of the comic strip "Gasoline Alley." He is also an accomplished violinist and played several selections with the trio. He also presented cartoons of Ebenezer to those present.
Mrs. Marguerite Graham told a Christmas story entitled "Mr. Bear Helps Santa Claus." Refreshments of Christmas cookies and coffee were served during the social hour.

Personals

Mrs. A. L. Hardesty left this week for an extended visit with her two daughters. She plans to spend the Christmas season with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Johnston and family in Detroit, Mich. Before New Year's she will go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Cramer and family in Erie, Pa. She will not be home until the first of February.

It's Voter Brainwashing Time Again

WASHINGTON WINDOW
WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is time the voters begin to realize that the annual brainwashing on the matter of why government costs so much.

The brainwashing is a not only by kind and content, but also by direct statement, the politicians seek to persuade the voters that increasing defense spending is what puts the treasury into the red each year, not the U. S. dollar with creeping inflation and increasing the American way of life.

But in the line in government costs is chiefly in non-defense spending. For example, in fiscal year 1964 military and related national defense items cost $43.5 billion. All other items of government amounted to $28.5 billion. Seven years later, in fiscal 1961, military and related national defense items cost $27.4 billion, up only $200 million.

All other items of government expense in fiscal 1961 cost $38.5 billion, an increase of $11.1 billion over fiscal 1954. That is an 89 per cent increase in non-defense costs in eight years.

That's where the money goes and that is where economies must be found if government is to live within its income, and deficit spending and put some starch into that beneficial item, the U. S. dollar.

The Kennedy administration revised its budget administration a few weeks ago. The president now estimates that June 30, at midnight, the end of the 1963 fiscal year, the treasury will be in the red by $4.9 billion. President Kennedy is well on the way toward matching Franklin D. Roosevelt's unhappy record of achieving a big treasury deficit during every year he occupied the White House.

Under President Kennedy, as under his immediate predecessors, non-national defense spending continues to increase faster than defense spending. In his revised budget figures last month, Kennedy estimated that defense, international and space activities in fiscal 1963 would exceed $2.5 billion more for their purposes than in the 1952 fiscal year. Non-defense spending will be up by almost $2.5 billion.

The greatest increase will be in the spending non-defense department of them all, Health, Education and Welfare. The check is $282 million. The check is the new figures, however, is the estimated fiscal year cost of interest on the public debt, $9.3 billion, up $200 million from last year.

The debt and its carrying charge increase annually because government must issue more debt each year to pay for interest on its debt. Things the voters want the federal government to provide but for which the people are not willing to tax themselves.

These short-sighted voters are deluded by the belief that they are getting something for nothing. They have not learned that there is no such thing as free lunch, not even in the old-time nation.

This is a situation made to order for the politicians. When the voters—especially a pressure group of organized voters—want something from the federal government, the politicians are inclined to provide it.

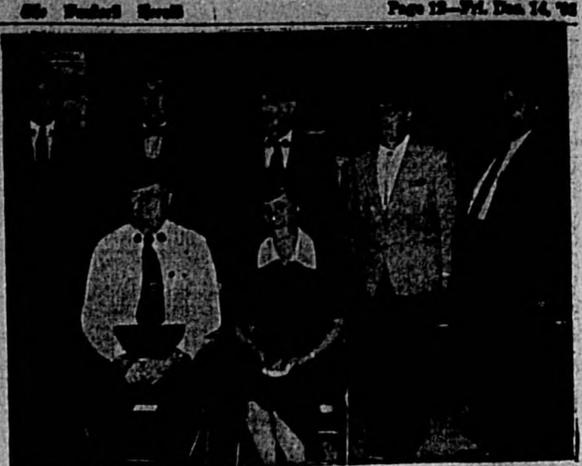

Dynatronics Gets More Contracts

Dynatronics, Inc. reports that new contracts totaling nearly $200,000 have been awarded the company recently.

One major contract from the Goddard Space Flight Center is for ground station data-handling equipment for the Relay Communication Satellite program.

A Navy contract for additional work on a current contract for space-tracking antennas to be used by the Pacific Missile Range has been received also. These antennas play a large part in the Tiro Weather Satellite project as well as in the seaplane programs.

Other contracts include those for camera timing equipment and other missile range electronic subsystems.

Dying 12-Year-Old Doesn't Know That He Is Fatally Stricken

DALTON, Ga. (UPI)—"Actually, he doesn't think he's dying. He just thinks his legs don't work right."

Mrs. Joyce Rogers, mother of four, described the undiagnosed illness that gradually is taking the life of her son, 12-year-old Terry Ray.

"It's affecting his sight. He can't see very well and his hearing is affected. He hasn't been able to walk for a long time."

Doctors say that sooner or later Terry Ray will die of what they describe as a "diffuse progressive degenerative disease of the nervous system."

Medical bills for Terry have mostly been taken care of through a medical care plan financed by the government. His father, Sgt. William Rogers, is stationed in Berlin.

"He doesn't speak much of Christmas," Mrs. Rogers said. "All that he's mentioned to me was that he wanted his watch fixed, a set of bathroom scales, and a pair of slacks."

An Atlanta specialist who has examined Terry said nothing has been found that could be treated. He said the prognosis was death.

Early last year, the boy started complaining that his legs hurt. He began to stumble when he walked. Gradually he became weaker and more feeble.

Despite visits to doctors in Dalton, Chattanooga and Atlanta, Terry's condition has failed to improve. Now he spends his days in his room in the family apartment here watching television for brief periods, listening to records and talking with his mother.

Mrs. Rogers said he is not aware how serious his condition is. He can't read newspapers and visitors don't talk about his sickness.

"He wants me to sit and talk to him most of the time. He talks about anything that's on his mind. But mostly he likes to talk about old times—when he could play... baseball was his favorite sport."

RANDOM THOUGHTS...
Gene Tucker a sure bet to be named chairman of the McNulty Bank chain? . . . Some wrenster stole Gordon Fredrick's legislative license tag . . . Was last seen on Joe Davis' car . . . Courthouse and City Hall will be closed Monday Dec. 24 . . . Jesse James on the Jail register.

Word is that the owner of the Palma Hotel has an offer . . . And a very fair one . . . Comes from a well established citizen . . . Decision hinges, the report continues, on the recommendation of acceptance from Ambrose Olliff, nephew of the owner . . . Since the money angle is right, apparently, civic leaders who are interested in the attractiveness of the main approach to our downtown business district are hopeful that Olliff will be equally concerned about the appearance of the main stem of his home town and will set the deal for an early closing.

That reminds me . . . The ex-Kilgore Seed Co. building at West First and Myrtle has been given quite a face-lifting. Now adds to the up-to-date structures on the north side of W. First Street . . . It's occupied by Celery City Printing Co. and the Sanford Dental Laboratory.

At the postoffice dedication: "I regret that I have but one life to give for the Chamber of Commerce" . . . All the loyal dignitaries on the speaker's rostrum shed their topcoats . . . Didn't want the pictures to show anything but the glorious warmth of Sanford's radiant sunshine! . . . And off the choppy expanse of Lake Monroe whistled the frigid winds that for the 48 hours immediately preceding the ceremony had caused anguish and anxious grove-owners and produce growers heart-breaks . . . REAL loyalty in our C of C men!

Maybe it was because we have just come out of the peak of this Cuban crisis, but our pulse was quickened and there was a lump in the collective throats when our Seminole High School band struck up the Star Spangled Banner and that snappy Marine color guard raised Old Glory to the top of the mast . . . And isn't it strange how many folks just do not know — or do not care (which is worse) — how to salute the colors . . . At ceremonies like this one — or at parades when the flag passes . . . It seems a simple thing to do — and means so much because of all our heritage and blessings symbolized by our flag . . . Your hand (or your hat, if you're wearing one) held over your heart. . . Men in uniform, of course, KNOW what to do.

Our popular congressman, A. S. Herlong, Jr., both before and after the dedication rite, was busy shaking hands with scores of his staunch supporters, of which the number is legion . . . His "stand up, speak up and shut up" speech was well received . . . No matter how brief Syd's talk may be it always will have strong points that are food for thought . . . Francis Roumillat, chairman of the postoffice site committee and incoming president of the C of C did a splendid job of emceeing the affair . . . Mayor Jimmy Crapps paid tribute to the C of C site committee, in addition to Roumillat, Brack Perkins, George Touhy, Randall Chase, John Ivey, Tom McDonald for the realization of the dream of a modern postoffice. . . The tender grass really took a beating from the crowd. . . But the parkway planting had been about stomped out by those who park at the curb to go into the building. . . Too bad the entrance is located so that crossing the planted area seems logical. . .

Dr. Leone, Mrs. Kibbe
Mrs. Kibbe Given Award For Service In Health Work

Mrs. Hulda Kibbe was honored Friday afternoon by Dr. Frank Leone, director of the County Health Department, for 20 years of "meritorious service" to the Florida Health Department.

The certificate accompanying the award said in part, "The meritorious service award and pin is given in appreciation of faithful services rendered by you in the Florida Health Department."

Leone, making the award, said, "You deserve the honor bestowed upon you, and the entire staff of the Seminole County Health Department wishes you the best of health and continued service in this department."

DeBary Survey Favors DeLand Phone Extension

Telephone subscribers of DeBary have voted by large majority in favor of having extended service to DeLand, Robert Shedd, Southern Bell manager here said today.

The extended service means that DeBary and Deltona subscribers will be able to dial DeLand numbers without toll charges, but with the addition of from 15 cents to 75 cents on their monthly service bill, Shedd explained.

The Orange City Telephone Company has indicated that they will cooperate in the extension of service and will join Southern Bell in petitioning the Railroad and Public Utilities Commission for authority to proceed.

"As soon as such authority is granted, arrangements will be made for Southern Bell engineers to start the necessary engineering work, and all work will be carried out as early as possible," Shedd said.

Approximately 1,335 survey postcards were sent to the DeBary subscribers asking whether they wished the extended service and listing the charges which would be added to their monthly bills. Shedd said that 72.5 percent voted "yes" in the returns.

The move was made in conjunction with supplying telephone service for the new Deltona housing development which lies partly in the DeBary exchange, partly in the Orange City Exchange, with a small portion in the Sanford exchange.

There will be no changes in the present DeBary facilities to Sanford, he said.

Weather Goes In For Extremes

By United Press International
Warm weather hugged the nation's heartlands today after record-breaking temperatures from North Dakota to Texas. But the heat threatened to increase the already severe vegetable and citrus loss in Florida.

With the mercury reaching 89 in Bismarck, N. D., and all the way to 80 at Austin, Tex., Sunday, people flocked out-of-doors and watched much of the snow that had promised to make Christmas white melt away.

The 59 at Bismarck broke a 33-year record. At Fargo, N. D., the temperature rose to 57, also breaking a mark set in 1939. The mercury at Austin shot up 40 degrees during the day.

The final tally on the death toll from the 10 days of snow and cold in the eastern half of the nation showed at least 236 persons dead. Ohio led with 38 deaths, and Michigan, where the snowfall reached 40 inches, had 32 dead. Georgia lost 28 persons.

Wall Blasters Are Arrested

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin police announced today the arrest of a West Berlin group that planned widespread explosions along the Communist anti-refugee wall.

They said the three men were caught Sunday night as they set off a blast that blew a nine-foot square hole in the wall on the American sector border 500 yards from the U. S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie. It was the biggest hole ever blown in the wall.

Light Up

Wednesday noon is the deadline for entering the Jaycee Christmas Lighting Contest, Chairman Harold Rowland reminded residents today.

Entry blanks may be clipped from the Sanford Herald or picked up at the Jaycee Information Building at the corner of Fourth St. and French Ave.

Judging will be in four divisions; religious, traditional, artists' and best overall, Rowland said.

James B. Donovan, chief negotiator for the release of the 1,113 prisoners captured during the Bay of Pigs invasion, left New York suddenly Sunday night for Cuba to try to complete final arrangements for the captives' release before Christmas.

Chinese Complain
TOKYO (UPI)—Red China today reported new troop withdrawals along the border with India but complained that India is building up its armed forces with American aid. A separate broadcast raised from 927 to 1,131 total number of Indians captured by the Chinese in the border war.

Stocks Firm
NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks jumped off to a firm start on moderately active opening dealings today. Although President Kennedy stuck by his guns and again called for a "top to bottom" 1963 tax cut, brokers were upset by the prospect that such actions may not be retroactive to Jan. 1.

Suspect Held
TAMPA (UPI) — Police questioned 29-year-old Edward E. Stanton today in the slaying of a night watchman here Saturday. The watchman, 65-year-old Iduis Aubrey Sutton, was found dying at the automobile dealership early Saturday. His throat has been slashed and he was badly beaten.

A Candidate?
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Jacksonville state Sen. John E. Mathews Jr. says he is considering running for governor in 1964 but adds it is too early to commit himself now. It is rumored that Mathews could draw substantial support from the group that supported former Gov. LeRoy Collins, then lost with Doyle Carlton in 1960.

Readin', Writin'
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The State Department of Education has laid plans for Operation Alphabet—a project aimed at teaching a quarter of a million adults in Florida how to read and write. School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey said Saturday the 160 federal census revealed that 261,433 Floridians over the age of 25 couldn't read or write.

Hunt Plant Gets First Produce

The first load of produce, 33,000 pounds of dried beans, arrived today from Huntsville, Ala., for the new HLM Products plant on south Sanford Ave.

Gwynne Watson, Rte. 1, Luce Springs, Huntsville, driver of the huge vehicle, said he left Huntsville Thursday night with the temperature hovering around 15 above, curious about what he would find here weatherwise.

He pulled into the Hunt plant at 9:15 a. m., and was welcomed by plant manager, Everett Biggs who has been here since planning for the new construction started, and Odell Ross, newly appointed plant superintendent.

"Yes, and every time you called him, he turned right around and called me, so I, too, am mighty glad to see the new office."

"This is a dream come true, an idea accomplished," he said. "And now I won't get any more of those phone calls from Sanford, saying 'What happened to our postoffice?'" he added jokingly.

"You certainly have a group of producers here!" he emphasized.

C. B. Gladden, Regional Director of the Post Office Department from Atlanta, prefaced his remarks with the very comment:

"Yes, and every time you called him, he turned right around and called me, so I, too, am mighty glad to see the new office."

$63,000 Damage

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Fire swept through the Loblax House Restaurant on the banks of the St. Johns River here early today, causing an estimated $63,000 damage. The fire destroyed most of the restaurant's main dining section, but kitchen and bar equipment could be salvaged, a spokesman said.

Reapportionment by the legislature rather than the courts apparently is a "lost cause," House Speaker Mallory Horne said today.

The outlook is "awful gloomy," Horne said. He said he will report this to the governor along with his feeling that "I don't look for any change before the holidays."

Senate President Wilson Carraway said after hearing Horne's comments that the situation does look dark but he will not give up that the legislature still can do the job.

Most County Citrus Crop Can Be Saved

Most of Seminole County's multi-million dollar citrus crop is salvageable, depending on weather conditions, the county's department of agriculture committee reported to Agent Cecil Tucker at a special emergency meeting today.

Tucker said the USDA report reveals that although 100 percent of the fruit is reported "frozen" the majority can be salvaged if the weather continues to be cool throughout the rest of the week.

At the same time, Tucker reported the county has already designated a disaster area and emergency loan applications to county growers can be secured from the office of Curtis Green in the Sanford Atlantic Bank Building.

Ornamental shrub damage, according to the USDA report, amounts to 20 percent of the $2 million crop wiped out and 30 percent of the county's pasture land "killed."

Discussing the citrus damage, Tucker said that tree damage was "considerable, but surprisingly less than was first anticipated. There was also a heavy drop of foliage but the extent of the damage cannot be determined yet."

Vegetable damage, especially truck crops, appears to be considerable, Tucker said, but some recuperation is expected by cabbage and celery crops.

10-Day Embargo Placed On State Fruit Shipments

MIAMI (UPI) — A 10-day embargo was clamped on all shipments of fresh Florida citrus Sunday as warming weather caused the fruit to ferment on the trees, adding further damage to the state's $300-million citrus industry.

"It only it had warmed up slowly," commented one citrusman, "we could have salvaged it."

The swiftly warming weather after last week's historic freeze caused the icy citrus to warm too quickly and much of it hung fermenting on the branches in 60 and 70-degree weather.

Officials estimate on-the-tree losses at $100 million. Damage to young trees will push the loss much higher.

The Citrus Commission, meeting in an unprecedented Sunday session, voted unanimously to enforce the 10-day embargo. It also agreed to place an additional two-week embargo on damaged citrus.

Purpose of this was to protect consumers from receiving spoiled portions of what two weeks ago was a record citrus crop.

The commission said the embargo would not affect canneries, which were working day and night to salvage as much citrus as possible. A sharp lookout will be kept on the canneries to make sure damaged citrus is not processed.

Last week's freeze also wiped out much of the state's vegetable crops and blackened pastureland.

DEDICATION CEREMONIES at the new Sanford Postoffice on the corner of Palmetto Ave. and Seminole Blvd. were attended by many dignitaries. Among them were Mayor J. H. Crapps; Regional Postoffice Director, R. C. Gladden, from Atlanta; Congressman Syd Herlong of Leesburg and Washington and Postmaster Guy Allen. (Herald Photo)

Grow, Sanford, Grow, Herlong Urges

Sanford was challenged to go ahead and outgrow its brand new post office at the dedication of the building Friday.

Rep. Syd Herlong, special guest speaker said:

"I hope that one day Sanford will become so large and prosperous that you'll have to build an even bigger postoffice." Herlong told the ever-soot-swathed crowd in the chilling wind in front of the new office.

"This is a dream come true, an idea accomplished," he said. "And now I won't get any more of those phone calls from Sanford, saying 'What happened to our postoffice?'" he added jokingly.

"You certainly have a group of producers here!" he emphasized.

C. B. Gladden, Regional Director of the Post Office Department from Atlanta, prefaced his remarks with the very comment:

"Yes, and every time you called him, he turned right around and called me, so I, too, am mighty glad to see the new office."

though much of it is a losing proposition."

Herlong presented the flag to Postmaster Guy Allen, saying that it had flown over the Capitol in Washington. Allen in turn carried the flag to the Marine Color Guard, who performed the flag-raising ceremony while the Seminole High School Band played the National Anthem.

Distinguished guests were introduced by Francis Roumillat Jr., chairman of the dedication ceremonies and of the site committee, and Mayor James H. Crapps welcomed Herlong, Gladden and others to the city.

Father John Thomas gave the invocation and Rev. Daniel Finn, NAS Catholic Chaplain gave the benediction.

Dignitaries who occupied seats of honor at the ceremonies included Capt. Robert Ware, Capt. Joe Tully, Commissioners Joe Baker, Tom McDonald, Al Wilson, John Fitzpatrick; C of C Chairman Richard Deas, State Representatives Joe Davis and Mack Cleveland Jr., and site committee members, George Touhy, Brack Perkins, John Ivey and Manuel Jacobson.

New Explorer Goes To Work In Orbit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new U. S. satellite flashed around the earth today with instructions to gather information on tiny bits of space debris that could prove dangerous to space travel.

The satellite, Explorer 16, began its second day with all equipment and experiments aboard apparently working satisfactorily.

If all remains well, the 220-pound satellite will spend the next year carrying out its assignment.

Explorer 16 was launched by a Scout rocket from the Wallops Island, Va., test site by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Sunday morning.

A spokesman said early calculations showed that the spacecraft was circling the earth once every 104 minutes, reaching a maximum distance of 733 statute miles and a minimum of 466 miles. Its indicated angle of inclination to the equator is 52 degrees.

NASA scientists meanwhile continued receiving information from the Mariner 2 spacecraft as it headed into an orbit of the sun following its history-making rendezvous with the planet Venus.

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Goldstone, Calif., where Mariner was built and is being tracked, calculated that on Friday the paddle-wheel spacecraft came within 22,137 miles of Venus — its closest pass at the mystery planet. This was only 1,237 miles farther than space experts' early estimate.

Experts also were going through data beamed back to earth by Mariner during the 42 minutes it scanned the cloudshrouded planet. From this could come exciting news about Venus, including an answer to the question of whether life can exist there.
