No-Show Planners Criticized

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission members were chastised Thursday for poor attendance at workshops on updating the city's comprehensive land use plan.

Mack LaZenby, a consultant hired by the city to help the P & Z commission with the updating task, made the criticism Thursday night, saying it was "depressing" that attendance has declined each of the three times the commission has met to discuss the plan.

Four of the seven members were present — Chairman John Morris, J.Q. "Slim" Galloway, Gary Davidson and Brent Carl. The other three members — Sheila Roberts, Darryl Grieme, Cliff Miller — had other family and church commitments, Morris said. Also at the meeting were Zoning Inspector Betty Sonnenberg and Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett.

The commissioners, Ms. Sonnenberg and Harriett make up a nine-member board appointed by the Sanford City Commission to study the plan and ordinance in response to a state mandate to change them.

Galloway said other members of the commission indicated to him that they were giving more than enough time to the city already.

"I hope they don't feel that way since we're planning the future of the city," Carl responded.

LaZenby said of his criticism, "It's kind of like church," because the ones who need to hear this aren't present.

Grieme, contacted today, said, "I had to work double shifts yesterday, so I wasn't there. I know Mack (LaZenby) is working hard on that (the plan) and we need to cooperate with him the best we can. If I hadn't had to work, I would have been there." He said he would try to attend future meetings regularly. The other absent commissioners could not be reached for comment.

Morris said the meetings would be better attended if they were held before regular planning and zoning meetings every first and third Thursday of the month. The workshops have been held on the first and third Thursday of each month to study the zoning ordinance and on the second and fourth Thursday to consider the land use plan.

The commission agreed and decided to hold the next meeting April 4 at 6 p.m.

LaZenby, a former city engineer and now an engineer for the Sanford Airport Authority, told the board rapid growth is causing "everything, I mean everything" in the city to be stressed — including roads, sewers, water, police and fire protection. He said if growth is not controlled, the city's population could jump to about 195,000 in the next few years. Sanford's present population is about 27,000.

"You are responsible for directing growth and the future lifestyle of Sanford," LaZenby wrote in a memo to the board that he handed out at the meeting. He added that the commissioners weren't on the P & Z commission because of their expertise in city engineering, but because their "fortitude" was needed to enforce city ordinances.

He emphasized that growth cannot be stopped but said it should and must be regulated to a controllable level.

To do this, LaZenby said commissioners should not approve any site plan until they are sure the project meets the conditions of the land use plan and zoning ordinance.

"If you have any reservations about it — table it," LaZenby said, adding later, "Don't be in a hurry to give away the farm."

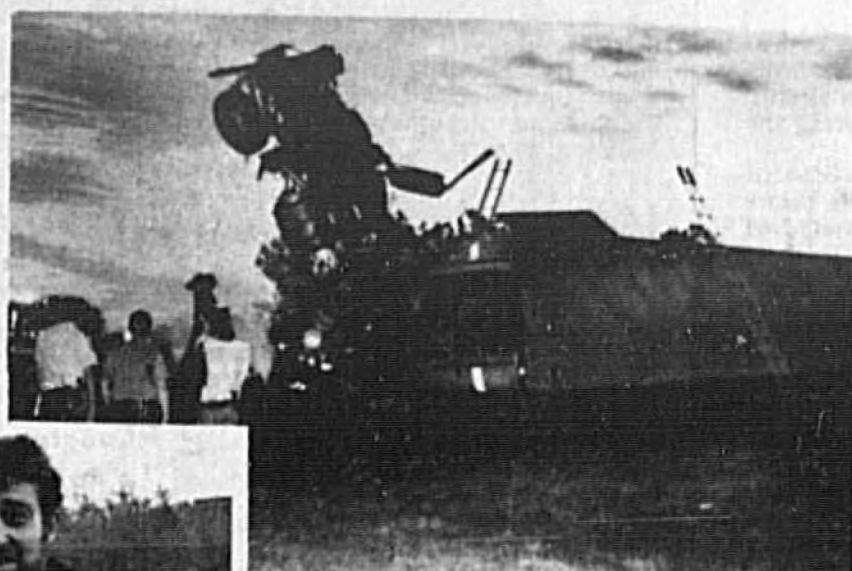

The board also discussed the need to change the densities, or the number of housing units and people on each acre of land, in some areas of the city.

Tired Lake Mary firefighter Lt. Dennis Smathers takes a coffee break after two hours at the scene.

The moving tractor-trailer jackknifed and skidded sideways about 200 feet after the impact, rolled over and came to rest on its side with the cab, engulfed in flames, twisted skyward.

'It was the first time I was ever in an accident like that ... I was close by ... a little too close. It caught quick. I couldn't get my jacket out of the cab,' said truck driver Jessie Armstrong, 60.

Trucks Collide, Explode On I-4

By Deane Jordan

Two tractor-trailers exploded early this morning bursting into flames and lighting the still-dark sky with balls of fire that could be seen for miles following a collision on Interstate-4 near the Lake Mary interchange.

The driver of one of the trucks was thrown from his cab on impact and taken to South Seminole Medical Center in Longwood. The other driver escaped injury.

The accident occurred about 5:30 a.m. in the southbound lanes of I-4, just south of Lake Mary Boulevard. Total damage to both vehicles was estimated at $200,000.

According to Lake Mary Police Department investigators at the scene, here's how the collision came about:

The driver of one of the tractor-trailers pulled his southbound flat-bed truck onto the emergency lane to adjust his shifting load of neatly bundled wooden stakes. He stopped the truck, got out of his cab and walked around to the rear of the truck on the west side. The driver of the second tractor-trailer, also southbound, apparently drove his truck too close to the parked truck, sideswiping it.

As the moving truck scraped the metal on the cab of the parked tractor-trailer, the passenger door on the moving truck was torn off; both gas tanks ruptured and the diesel fuel from the exhaust ignited, causing the explosion. The moving tractor-trailer jackknifed and skidded sideways for about 200 feet after the impact, rolled over and came to rest on its side with the cab, engulfed in flames, twisted skyward.

The truck lay on its side across the southbound lanes of I-4, covering most of the highway. Southbound traffic on I-4 was unable to pass through the area until nearly 8 a.m., causing a backup of vehicles for about a mile-and-a-half. Some drivers were allowed to leave I-4 and travel along Lake Mary Boulevard to avoid the tie-up. The truck was later righted with airbags so it could be towed away.

The driver who was injured was identified as Corbitt Thomas Kennedy, 23, of Lakeland, who was hauling a load of cabbage and prepared cole slaw, according to Lake Mary Police homicide investigator David Preiser. Preiser said Kennedy would be charged with failing to use due care.

The other driver, Jessie Armstrong, 60, of Waynesville, Ga., escaped injury and marveled at his experience this morning: "It was the first time I was ever in an accident like that ... I was close by ... a little too close. It caught quick. I couldn't get my jacket out of the cab," Armstrong said when he heard the grinding metal on impact, he jumped backwards away from his truck and onto the grassy area. "He was over this way too far," he said, pointing to the emergency lane where his truck was still parked, a bulk of charred steel with huge billows of smoke rising into the pre-dawn sky.

Kennedy reportedly sustained a broken ankle and bruised shoulder in the collision and was in stable condition in the hospital emergency room late this morning. He was undergoing tests to determine the extent of his injuries. Neither driver had a passenger, police said.

Several Lake Mary volunteer firefighters responded to the scene to battle the blaze, while Seminole County sent a truck to assist. Also on hand, in addition to Lake Mary police, were sheriff's deputies, the Florida Highway Patrol and at least one Department of Transportation official.

The DOT official said the section of I-4 that was saturated with diesel fuel would have to be taken out and repaved, noting that the diesel fuel would soften the tar. He said the area couldn't merely be repaved because the seeping diesel fuel would cause the tar to stay soft.

Man's Hip Broken In 3-Car Pile-Up On 17-92

A Longwood man was in stable condition with a broken hip today after the car he was driving was in a three-car, high-speed crash that sent one man flying and scattered car parts all over U.S. Highway 17-92 near state Road 434.

Longwood police officer Jim McClure said Jeffrey Ted Wimer, 23, who lives at the Lake Fairy Motel, 920 N. U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, was trying to make a U-turn from the southbound lane of U.S. 17-92 onto the northbound land at Wildmere Avenue shortly after midnight today. McClure said the lights were off in Wimer's Chevrolet Impala when another car heading north smashed into it going about 50 mph. Wimer was hospitalized with cuts, scrapes and a broken hip.

Wimer's car went into a spin and the other car, a Chrysler driven by Mark Stephen Mohny, 27, of 1381 Bailey Court, Deltona, slid into the median 300 feet away. McClure said. The impact sent car parts all over the roadway and Troy Patonal, 21, of 942 Vicki Court, Oviedo, sailing through the air. Patonal was thrown when a door popped open and landed with only scratches. He reportedly told McClure he "was in the hands of Jesus."

Mohny had glass in his eyes, but his three passengers, Mike Ramos, 22, of 511 Galloway Drive, Deltona, and two girls age 17 and 18, were unhurt, McClure said.

Wimer was pinned in his car, which was blocking the southbound lane, when a Mercedes Benz driven by Peter Voigt, 45, of 720 Tuscarora Trail, Maitland, plowed into it going about 40 mph, according to McClure. Voigt was unhurt.

Damages to all three vehicles totaled about $12,000, McClure said. Wimer's car received about $2,500 damage, Mohny's $1,500 and Voigt's about $8,000.

Charges are pending and the accident is still under investigation. Traffic was rerouted around the crash site for about three hours while officers investigated and cleared the highway.

Manhunt On For Suspect Shot Twice By Deputy

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A fugitive wounded at least twice by a Seminole County sheriff's deputy is the object of a Central Florida manhunt and medical care providers have been warned to be on the lookout for the suspect who is considered possibly armed and dangerous.

The search is concentrated in the Hidden Lake subdivision off Lake Mary Boulevard in Sanford, and in areas of south Seminole County where the man is reported to have lived, sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said. Spolski gave this account of the incident:

BULLETIN

Seminole County sheriff's investigators early this afternoon captured Lilly at a service station on U.S. Highway 17-92 at Airport Boulevard.

Michael James Lilly, 34, was shot by deputy John Butler at about 5 p.m. Thursday after Lilly tried to run Butler down with a car.

Butler was attempting to arrest Lilly on a Pinellas County warrant for grand theft in that county. The confrontation occurred at Seminole Ford, U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, where Lilly worked as a salesman. When confronted, Lilly jumped in his own car and drove straight at Butler.

Butler ordered Lilly to stop, but he continued to race toward him. Butler tried to jump clear, but was hit and knocked onto the hood of the car and rolled off as Lilly sped toward U.S. Highway 17-92, then turned onto Lake Mary Boulevard.

Butler fired five shots from his .357-Magnum at Lilly as he fled. Lilly is believed to have been hit at least twice in the left shoulder.

Butler's line of fire was in the direction of Highway 17-92 as Lilly drove his car out of the parking lot. One bullet hole was found in the rear bumper, two in the rear window, two in the driver's seat, and one in the front windshield. But investigators weren't sure today whether all five shots hit the car.

A fragment of one of the bullets apparently hit a bystander, Joseph J. Hughes, 49, of 301 E. Fifth St., Sanford, in the right shoulder. He was treated by rescue personnel at the scene, a fire department report said.

Sheriff's investigators were unaware of Hughes' injury until this morning when he telephoned them. He was being questioned this morning.

Cheaper Food, Fuel Push Prices Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices fell 0.1 percent in February, an unexpected improvement brought about by less expensive food, gasoline and fuel oil, the Labor Department said today.

In the past year the department's Producer Price Index, measuring price changes of nearly 3,400 goods sold in bulk, has gone up only 0.7 percent.

Wholesale prices were unchanged in January and have shown a zero or a decline in eight of the past 12 months.

Although fresh fruit prices soared 9.1 percent, largely because of shortages brought about by the earlier freeze in the Florida citrus belt, the effect was largely neutralized by price breaks for beef, pork, poultry and fish.

Gasoline prices dropped 3.4 percent and fuel oil cost 3.6 percent less in February, despite it being one of the peak months of the heating season.

As good as the price picture looked for finished goods at the end of the supply pipeline, the view was even better at the beginning where raw material prices fell 1.8 percent in addition to January's 2.2 percent drop.

Too Much Goes; Cops Step In

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — The master of ceremonies for spring break contests at The Button on the Beach told partying collegians that "anything goes."

Police said today that virtually everything did go at the popular bar Wednesday — including women's T-shirts and a man's pants. When it was over, police arrested master of ceremonies John Torregrossa and charged him with promoting a lewd, lascivious, indecent live show before an audience. He was free today on $100 bond.

NATION IN BRIEF

NIH Praises, Criticizes Baboon Heart Transplant

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (UPI) — The medical and ethical procedures leading to the transplant of a baboon's heart into Baby Fae impressed the National Institutes of Health, but the group criticized the doctors for overstating the potential benefits of the operation.

The NIH cited two shortcomings in the consent document that was signed by Baby Fae's parents before the Oct. 26, 1984, transplant — the first of an animal heart into a human.

In addition to overstating the long-term benefits of the operation — which kept the infant alive for 20 days — the NIH also criticized the doctors for failing to tell the parents whether a search for a human heart would be made and what medical treatment was available in the event of injury.

"In spite of these criticisms, the (NIH) believe that as a result of the consent process the parents of Baby Fae fully understood the alternatives as well as the risks and reasonably expected benefits of the transplant," the report by William Dommel Jr., assistant director of the Office for Protection from Research Risks, said.

Senate Given 'Unpopular' Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Budget Committee, which stirred up senior citizens with its plan to freeze Social Security and "disappointed" President Reagan by lowering defense spending, sends an unpopular budget to the Senate floor.

The document barely had the votes to pass in the GOP-dominated committee, where it was approved 11-9 with all Republicans but one, Sen. Charles Grassley of Iowa, in line. Grassley said he couldn't vote for it because it did not cut enough from defense. Reagan, on the other hand, was said to be "disappointed with some elements of the package," specifically the lower defense spending.

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole, looking to floor debate starting the week of March 25, said Thursday he supports the freeze on Social Security cost-of-living payments to the nation's 36 million recipients. "That's an option," Dole, R-Kan., said. "There aren't any painless ways to reduce the deficit."

Spy: 'I Needed The Money'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A former aerospace engineer pleaded guilty to espionage charges that could get him two life terms, telling the judge he is sorry and that he never intended to harm the United States by trying to sell secret "stealth" technology.

Thomas Patrick Cavanagh, 40, who had a secret security clearance at the Northrop Corp., where work is done on the super secret stealth technology, admitted two counts of espionage Thursday in a plea bargain with federal prosecutors.

The government agreed to seek dismissal of a third espionage count and a charge that he illegally possessed a machine gun.

He told the judge he had previously told two Russian-speaking FBI undercover agents posing as Soviet spies that "I had documents, I was in debt and I needed $25,000."

U.S. Embassy Officials Flee

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Rebel Christian militiamen and loyalists to President Amin Gemayel battled today after the rebels formed a new command council — a move threatening Gemayel's fragile government.

The fighting erupted hours after at least 18 U.S. Embassy officials were evacuated from Lebanon in reaction to what a White House spokesman called an "unsettled situation," mainly in east Beirut.

In Washington, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said that despite the evacuation of personnel, the United States would keep a diplomatic presence in Lebanon and Ambassador Reginald Bartholemew remained at his post.

Speakes declined to say where the Americans were taken. But airport officials on the island of Cyprus said three helicopters ferried 18 embassy officials from Beirut Thursday.

The evacuation was sparked by stepped-up Moslem Shiite threats, resulting from the U.S. veto of a U.N. Security Council resolution that would have condemned Israel for its military raids in southern Lebanon.

Loyalist members of the Christian Lebanese Forces militia and rebels fought with machine guns and rocket-propelled grenades for 15 minutes in the east Beirut suburb of Sinn Al Fil. No immediate casualty reports were available after the fighting died down, but Christian Voice of Lebanon radio said schools were ordered to remain closed for a third day today.

The Lebanese Forces is the military wing of the Christian Phalange Party, whose top command scheduled an emergency meeting for today to try to control the escalating situation.

The fighting began after Voice of Lebanon said the rebel Correctionist Movement had formed a council opposed to Gemayel — with two of his relatives at the helm.

Woman Raped In Pickup At Apartment Complex

A 21-year-old Maitland woman was raped at about 2:30 a.m. today by a man who forced her from her car at gunpoint while she was driving between buildings of the apartment complex where she lives.

The woman told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she slowed as she approached a speed bump and a man exited a truck parked beside the bump and approached her car. The man pointed a blue steel revolver at her through the open passenger window of her car and said, "Get out of the car or I'll blow your head away," a sheriff's report said.

The woman got out of her car and the man led her to his brown pickup truck, forced her into the enclosed truck bed and raped her, the report said.

The woman told deputies the man wore some type of material over his face, perhaps a stocking.

DEAL WITH DOE

Seminole County drug task force agents reported arresting "John Doe" and another man after the two reportedly sold agents a small quantity of cocaine for $25. The one booked as Doe has since been identified as an Altamonte Springs man.

Agents reported meeting with the second of the pair at Eastern Mart, state Road 436 at Lake Howell Road, Altamonte Springs, at about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The man reportedly negotiated a deal with the agents, walked to the nearby Club 436 on state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, and returned quickly with a small amount of coke, a sheriff's report said.

The agents asked to meet the man who provided the coke and the suspect went with them to the club and introduced them to the second suspect. The agents attempted to renegotiate the price of the drug with the second man, but he stood firm at $25 and the agents paid for the coke, the report said.

Both men were arrested and "John Doe" initially gave deputies a false name, birth date and address. He also said he was single and then claimed to be married, the report said.

He was later identified as Raymond Williams, 28, of 509 Peachtree Drive, Altamonte Springs, jail officials said. Both he and Valdeza Williams, 26, of 312 Continental Court, Altamonte Springs, have been charged with possession and sale of cocaine. They were being held in lieu of $8,000 bond each.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
Two Altamonte Springs men reported their cars were burglarized Thursday while the vehicles were parked at their home at 2614 Grove Ave. Michael A. Hart, 38, told deputies a pistol and a $335 camera were stolen from him. William Flamont, 37, said cassette tapes, a tape tray and a jacket with a combined value of $318 were stolen from his car along with a $240 radar detector.

Jennifer Baker, 14, of 1048 St. Croix Ave., Apopka, reported to deputies a $500 flute was stolen from her locker at Lake Brantley High School, Sand Lake Road, Forest City, on Tuesday or Wednesday.

A .22-caliber handgun is missing from the home of Shirley Nelson, 28, of 805 Orange Grove Drive, Altamonte Springs. Deputies reported the gun was taken Wednesday by a thief who pried open a garage door to enter the home.

Norman H. Thomson, 32, of 706 Cherokee Circle, Sanford, reported to deputies that $500 worth of tools were stolen from his vehicle while it was being serviced at Willet Toyota, 1371 U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood. The theft occurred Wednesday.

A $210 dishwasher and a $36 garbage disposal were stolen from a home at 5878 Marble Court, Winter Park, Tuesday or Wednesday. The items belong to Park View Corp., 8000 Aloma Ave., Winter Park, according to a report filed with deputies.

DUJ ARREST

The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence.

—Bennie Ray White, 30, of Orlando, was arrested at 1:15 a.m. Wednesday after his car ran a redlight and turned from Westmonte Drive onto state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, and almost hit a police car.

Games Committee Planning This Year's Event

"A lot of 55-year-olds should be participating in the Golden Age Games who aren't."

That from Gene Keltner, executive director of the Central Florida Chapter of the American Red Cross, who wants to get the word out that you don't have to be old to compete in the annual Sanford event.

Keltner, U.S. Olympic Swimming Development Committee chairman, heads the Red Cross team which sponsors the aquatic events at the Golden Age Games. He told the Games Executive Committee Wednesday that he thinks there will be more entrants this year, particularly in the diving competition which historically has not had very many participants. He said that among those who participated in the recent Masters Swimming and Diving meet in Orlando there were a lot going into the 55-year age group and are now eligible to enter Sanford's annual Games.

Since this is an "off-year" for international competition, he expects some will want to compete here.

Last year the diving event was held at the Lyman High School pool, isolated from other events and lacking spectators except for high school students. The Red Cross has requested the diving be held in conjunction with swimming events so it will be rescheduled from 3:30 p.m. Thursday to 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Sanford Bath and Tennis Club. Last year the club pool was closed for repairs. The divers will compete between synchronized swimming duets and solos.

The Games Committee met Wednesday at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce to go over the proposed schedule for this year's Games, to be held

Nov. 4-9, and submit any rules changes. This will be the 11th annual Games which offer adults 55 and older a variety of sports and other activities in which "to go for the gold."

Games chairman Jim Jernigan announced that the midweek social event this year will be a country-western barbecue and dance and will probably be held at the Lake Golden recreation area. It will replace the formal dinner dance which in the past has been held at the civic center.

This year's version of the coveted gold, silver and bronze medals was on display at the meeting. They will be about an inch smaller in diameter than last year's model and lighter and easier to wear around the neck or pinned to a jacket.

Arrows will not have as far to go in this year's archery event to be held at Seminole Community College. The Lions Club, sponsor of the event, has asked that distances be 10, 15, and 20 yards as 30 and 40 yards are too much for the elderly archers.

Mistake Means $10,916 Refund For Lake Mary

Lake Mary city officials have been told by the state insurance commission that they soon will be receiving a $10,916 refund on the city's property insurance premium.

City Treasurer Madeleine Minns said Thursday that the refund will conclude a two-month battle with the city's insurance company, Chicago Insurance.

In January, Mrs. Minns was notified that the city's insurance premium would go up a whopping 825 percent, from last year's $1,695 to $13,397. The treasurer was also informed that the deductible the city pays would increase from $100 to $2,500.

Mrs. Minns said the reason cited by the insurance company for the increase was a fire that damaged Lake Mary City Hall last year and caused an estimated $24,000 worth of damage. Although investigators concluded the fire was probably the result of arson, the firm demanding an increase in the city's policy nonetheless.

The new insurance bill "was half of the actual loss" from the fire, Mrs. Minns noted.

"I called to see if there was a miscalculation," she said. After confirming that the bill was indeed $13,397, the city commission voted last month to have the state insurance commission investigate the hike and determine if it was justified.

A week ago, the city received word from the commission that its actuarial analyst found the premium increase was unjustified. In a letter from the state, Mrs. Minns said the company "admitted their mistake."

Under the new agreement, the city will pay a $2,333 annual premium and will have a $2,500 deductible.

Mrs. Minns said that she has contacted the insurance company and the $10,916 refund should be sent to the city soon.

Thanks For The Space

Dave Joswick, president of the United Way of Seminole County, presents a plaque of appreciation to Howard Hodges, president of Atlantic National Bank, Sanford, for providing free office space for UW in the bank building for the past 25 years. UW will be moving its offices in two weeks to the "more strategically located" Lake Center on U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood. On Thursday, former UW presidents and campaign chairmen George Touhy, Art Beckwith, Lee Moore, Troy Ray, Joe Hartwig, and Sheila Brown were honored for their work.

Pair Convicted Of Red Lobster Holdup

Two gunmen who took a taxi after holding up an Altamonte Springs restaurant have been found guilty of armed robbery.

Bruce Moses Johnson, 24, of Orlando, and Gary Jerome Fuller, 24, of Apopka, and face maximum sentences of life imprisonment.

Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi set sentencing for May 30.

They will serve at least 3 years because they were convicted of committing a crime with a firearm, according to prosecuting attorney Kurt Erlenbach.

Erlenbach said the state recommended sentence is 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 years although the pair may receive a stiffer sentence because a large group of people were held at gunpoint during the robbery and the bandits were masked.

The one-man, five-woman jury deliberated 3 1/2 hours before returning its verdict Wednesday.

According to court records, the men, masked and armed with revolvers, entered Red Lobster, 800 E. Altamonte Drive, around 11 p.m. on Oct. 8, and while holding eight employees at gunpoint, took $811. An employee hiding in the business' freezer pulled a silent burglar alarm, notifying police.

Two Altamonte Springs police officers saw the pair run from the rear exit of the business and gave chase but lost track of them after they ran into a wooded area near the restaurant.

Longwood police dogs were brought in on the search and the dogs led the officers to a discarded bag of cash which also held a stocking mask worn by one of the bandits.

Another Altamonte Springs officer reported seeing two men matching the robbers' descriptions enter a house at 716 Ballard St. A highway patrolman reported spotting the pair leave the house and ride away in a taxi. The trooper stopped the cab on Matland Avenue and arrested the passengers.

Police report the pair had told the residents at 716 Ballard St. that they were having car trouble and "needed a jump" but the couple said they didn't have a car and called a cab for the men.

E911 Should Be Operational By Fall Of '86

Seminole County officials expect the new emergency response E911 telephone system to be fully operational by September of next year.

County Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser, under whose office the system will operate, said a county committee will be meeting with representatives of Southern Bell Telephone Co. beginning next week to work out details of implementing the program.

Meanwhile, Ruanne Rubin, the county program coordinator hired in early February, said she is gathering a set of complete maps showing all households in the county and trying to figure out where there will be address problems.

And County Planner Woody Price is working with various post offices to convert rural route addresses to street names and numbers.

Margaret Fountain, planning technician in Price's office, said the project has been on-going for the past two years.

"We want to make sure everyone has an address and uses it properly," Ms. Rubin said. "A rural route and box number just won't work." It's not specific enough, she said.

Ms. Rubin said she foresees no massive street renaming or house renumbering in preparation for E911.

"I don't see a major problem as long as both street and number can be identified — as long as there is aren't two Orange Avenues with identical house numbers in two parts of a city, as an example," Ms. Rubin said. "And people must know whether their address carries the name of avenue, street, or whatever."

The system will cost the county $423,000 for installation and $293,000 for annual maintenance.

Under E911, when someone dials 911 for assistance in a police, fire or medical emergency, the address of the caller will pop onto a terminal screen in the public safety office, along with directions to the site and the call will be transferred to the appropriate agency — fire, police or medical.

Seminole Sheriff's Department spokesman John Spolski said among the benefits of the system will be that law officers will be able to track down persons making bomb threats, threatening calls, or reporting false alarms to fire departments.

Although Sheriff John Polk initially opposed the county's designation of the public safety department as the umbrella agency under which E911 would operate, Spolski said Polk is not longer contesting that designation.

Spolski said Polk's concern was that a problem might develop in transferring 85 percent of the calls to law enforcement.

He said under the system a single button will be pushed by the dispatcher to transfer emergency calls for police assistance.

Spolski said it has been agreed that the operator will ask each caller whether police, fire or medical emergency response is needed.

"If a problem with the magnitude of calls to police agencies develops, thought will have to be given to placing the system under the sheriff's department," he said.

Rooftop Spotter Led To Arrest

Sanford Man Gets 90 Days In Jail, 5 Years Probation In Coke Case

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford man has been sentenced to 90 days in the Seminole County jail for his part in a drug deal that was observed by an officer perched on a rooftop.

Kernon Lee Jessie, 25, of 11 Carver Court, was also sentenced to 5 years probation by Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor for possession of cocaine.

A codefendant, Ray Alan Chestnut, 30, of 219 W. 17th St., Sanford, pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine and was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. in February to 2 years probation, 2 weekends in the county jail, and 80 hours of community service.

The men were arrested July 27 after a Sanford police officer on a stake-out on a nearby rooftop reported seeing Chestnut approach Jessie in front of Franklin's Rooming House on 13th Street in Sanford.

The two men apparently negotiated a drug sale and an officer saw the seller go into the hallway of the rooming house, take a foil packet from a power switch box, and hand it over to the buyer, reports show.

Chestnut opened the packet beneath a street light, smelled and tasted its contents, and placed the pack in his shirt pocket and ran east on 13th Street to Hunter Shoe Company where a second officer arrested him.

During a search, a foil packet of cocaine was found in his pocket, according to police reports.

When an officer approached the boarding house, the seller reportedly ran out the back door but was caught by the officer.

Jessie pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine after he was scheduled to go to trial.

In other court action, one of two brothers caught burglarizing a pickup truck behind a bar has been sentenced to 5 years in prison.

His brother was sentenced to 6 months in the county jail, followed by 5 years probation.

R.B. Owens Zipperer, 24, of DeLary, had his 5-year sentence lowered by 65 days by McGregor who gave him credit for time already served in the county jail. Also sentenced was Christopher A. Zipperer, 19, also of DeLary.

According to court records, officers were called to Harry's Bar, Park Avenue, Sanford, on July 13 because of a car burglary.

Witnesses pointed out one of the suspects who was captured by an officer in a nearby alley. The suspect's brother was caught by another officer who entered the other end of the alley.

A third man escaped and was never caught.

In another case, a Pine Hills man has been sentenced to probation for possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Charles Leroy Brown, 24, was sentenced by McGregor who also ordered him to serve 48 hours of community service at the Zellwood Methodist Church.

Brown was arrested Oct. 22 on Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs, after his car was stopped because it had an expired license plate.

A search of his car turned up four bags of marijuana and drug-related items.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED MORATORIUM ON APPLICATIONS FOR AND CONSIDERATION OF AMENDMENTS TO LAND USE DESIGNATIONS ESTABLISHED IN THE COMPREHENSIVE PLAN: CHANGES IN ZONING DISTRICT BOUNDARIES, REZONING SPECIAL EXCEPTIONS AND CONDITIONAL USES; VACATION OR ABANDONMENT OF PUBLIC ALLEYS, ROADS OR EASEMENTS; AND APPLICATIONS FOR AND CONSIDERATION OF SUBDIVISIONS AND SITE PLAN APPROVALS

The City of Lake Mary, Florida, proposes to place a moratorium on applications for and consideration of amendments to land use designations established in the Comprehensive Plan, changes in zoning district boundaries, rezonings, special exceptions and conditional uses; vacation or abandonment of public alleys, roads or easements; and applications for and consideration of subdivisions and site plan approvals within the area shown within the area in the map in this advertisement. Said area being the entire incorporated land area of the City of Lake Mary, Florida.

A Public Hearing on the proposed moratorium will be held on March 21, 1985, at 7:30 P.M., or as soon thereafter as possible, at Lake Mary City Hall, 158 North Country Club Road, Lake Mary, Monday through Friday from 8:00 A.M. until 4:30 P.M.

The moratorium is proposed to be in effect for eight months from the effective date of the adoption of the ordinance or for such lesser time in the event that the Comprehensive Plan, the Zoning Regulations, the Land Development Code, and the Master Sewer Plan have received final approval from all required governmental agencies and have been fully and formally adopted.

PERSONS ARE ADVISED THAT IF THEY DECIDE TO APPEAL ANY DECISION MADE AT THIS MEETING THEY WILL NEED A RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS AND FOR SUCH PURPOSE, THEY NEED TO ENSURE THAT A VERBATIM RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS IS MADE WHICH INCLUDES THE TESTIMONY AND EVIDENCE UPON WHICH THE APPEAL IS TO BE BASED, PER SECTION 206.0105 FLORIDA STATUTES.

THE ENTIRE INCORPORATED LAND AREA OF THE CITY OF LAKE MARY, FLORIDA, WILL BE AFFECTED BY THE PROVISIONS OF THIS MORATORIUM.

Tar And Feathers

Americans have not been polled recently on South Korea, but if they were, most probably would say they thought the government corrupt and oppressive and the country something of a disgrace to the United States, its military protector, trading partner, ally and friend. That sentiment would not be surprising.

For a long time, South Korea has been getting a bad press in the United States, a kind of regular media tar-and-feathering compared to the walking-on-eggs deference invariably shown toward the People's Republic of China, a totalitarian state where thousands of people still disappear in the middle of the night and are never seen again.

How many pundits scolded China for shooting more than 5,000 people in an anti-crime drive last year and bragging in an official communique: "It is good to have some people executed?"

South Korea, on the other hand, is judged harshly. It has been run by a string of strongmen. Tens of thousands of opponents of President Chun Doo Hwan have been arrested and held without trial since his seizure of power, with the help of many of the country's younger military officers, in 1980.

Democracy as the West understands seems to be a distant dream. Most of the people are poor.

But allowances should be made. Just to the north across the 38th Parallel is communist North Korea, which with Soviet and Red Chinese backing invaded South Korea in 1950, starting a war that cost, among other losses, more than 54,000 American lives and did not end until mid-1953.

In the 1970s South Koreans found that North Korea had undermined defenses at the 38th Parallel with honeycombs of tunnels in widespread preparations for war. On Oct. 9, 1983, North Korean terrorists bombed a South Korean diplomatic delegation at Rangoon, Burma, killing 17 South Korean officials including four cabinet members.

South Korea lives under a constant, very real threat from determined enemies supported by the communist superpowers.

In spite of this, while communist North Korea has experienced a series of economic debacles, South Korea has had one of the most vigorous expanding economies in the world, with a gross national product that has grown from $2.27 billion in 1962 to more than $65 billion in the 1980s.

Its people are dynamic, inventive and hungry for extended democracy and freedom. There is little doubt that if the country remains independent and its enemies are held at bay, the South Korean people's hopes for a growth of freedom and liberty will be realized.

Get The Lead Out

Leaded gasoline poisons the air and causes brain damage to children.

There also is an indication that leaded fuels are responsible for high blood pressure in some adults.

Therefore, it is good news that the Environmental Protection Agency has announced a new rule that will slash allowable gasoline lead levels more than 90 percent by Jan. 1.

The agency also has an order under study that will totally ban leaded fuels as early as 1988.

It is estimated that 400,000 children now suffer brain damage from breathing exhaust fumes from leaded fuels. The agency also estimates that 1.8 million men between the ages of 40 and 49 could be relieved of high blood pressure when the new regulation starts the first of the year.

Many owners of classic cars with high-compression engines will lament the loss of high-test gas laced with tetraethyl lead. But there really is no choice. Health comes first. High-powered engines have a lower priority than human lives. Leaded fuel must go.

More Candor On The President's Health

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House is handling President Reagan's medical reports with more candor these days and in much more detail.

The reason is that Dr. Daniel Ruge, Reagan's first-term White House physician, has quit to return to the Veterans Administration, and Dr. Burton Smith, his Los Angeles doctor, has taken over.

Ruge did not believe in giving full details on annual checkups. He also felt that the president's health was a private matter. During the campaign when there were questions relating to Reagan's age and health, he had to spring loose with more details than was his usual style.

But after Reagan's recent medical examination at the Bethesda Naval Medical Center, complete and explicit results of tests were revealed.

At that time, it was reported that a second benign polyp had been found in the colon along with some signs of blood in the stool.

The doctors, who examined Reagan, believe the blood could have been from the polyp or his diet, and that is being monitored.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes took a crack at departing deputy chief of staff Michael Deaver at a news briefing.

Asked if Deaver was going to Moscow to advance a trip for the president, Speakes quipped that there are "no BMW dealerships" in the Soviet capital.

Deaver has been cleared of any wrongdoing in purchasing a BMW at a discount rate while advancing Reagan's 10-day European swing in May. Several others in the advance party also purchased the luxury car.

When Reagan substituted for Vice President George Bush, holding a dinner in honor of Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, he said in his toast:

"As you all know, Vice President Bush could not be here tonight, and it's a pleasure to serve as his stand-in. Come to think of it, he's doing that for me right now."

Bush led the U.S. delegation to the funeral of Soviet leader Konstantin Chernenko. Some top aides had recommended that Reagan travel to Moscow for the funeral, but others thought it was not a good idea. One explained the president would have to stand in the cold "for three hours, to see (Mikhail) Gorbachev," the new Kremlin leader, "for 15 minutes."

The president has picked up the theme song of his predecessors — that the out-of-town media is better and closer to the people; it's also refreshing. You are the editors and broadcasters who shape and reflect concerns in the place that is most important to every citizen, not far-off Washington, but hometown America.

"I welcome this opportunity to get to know you, to thank you for your service to our country and through you to speak to your readers and listeners, the people who live beyond the Potomac, in what I still can't help thinking of as the real America."

At the end of the session, Reagan told the gathering: "I've just been told that I can't take any more questions here, and you thought that I was the most powerful fellow here, didn't you."

When The Power Fails — We Don't

SEWANEE, Tenn. — The unexpectedly severe ice and snow storms which blasted this mountaintop town and other communities in the mid-South this winter brought out the best in the people exposed to almost-forgotten types of hardship. In the aftermath of the harsh trial by storm, it is fitting to celebrate the human response to danger and difficulty.

America in the 1980s expects to have the forces of nature under control. We live in an age of electricity, comfort and modern communications. People simply don't expect to be deprived of the technologies to which they have become accustomed in the last generation or more. It's a shock to discover that these systems aren't fail-safe, that they can break down and that people can be exposed to the severe conditions that their great-grandparents had to live with on a regular basis.

Those of us who lived through the recent winter storms certainly appreciated anew the miracle of electricity and became sharply aware of our dependence on it for health and well-being. When the power fails, one comprehends the transforming character of electricity in human life.

What didn't fail in the recent storms in the mid-South (and this is undoubtedly true of weather crises everywhere in the country this winter) were the splendid human qualities that make for civilized communities: courage, compassion, helpfulness, and neighborliness.

A host of unsung heroes and heroines went to work under the worst of conditions to help people in trouble in their communities. Churches fed and cared for the ill and the elderly. Power line and telephone workers braved bitter cold and danger to restore vital services, working long hours in the snow and dark. Rescue workers emerged from nowhere to pull cars from ditches and take the sick to hospitals. All sorts of good people and institutions provided food and shelter for those in need.

The storms also illustrated an important truth, namely that there are vast reserves of leadership in American communities. People step out of nowhere to take charge in harsh conditions. They aren't necessarily educated or locally prominent people. They are very ordinary people who demonstrate extraordinary will, determination and ability to cope.

The best of the human spirit in America is alive and as well as it was in any previous generation.

DEA Peeping Toms Terrorize Citizens

WASHINGTON — Two hundred years ago, still smarting from King George III's royal trampling on private property, the Founding Fathers passed the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution.

Now a federal judge has felt it necessary to order the Drug Enforcement Administration to observe the amendment's protections in its freewheeling assault on marijuana growers in northern California.

The drug-busters, it seems, have been behaving in a manner as high-handed as King George's redcoats.

The decision by U.S. District Judge Robert P. Aguilar cites case after case where DEA's Campaign Against Marijuana Planting violated the Fourth Amendment rights of citizens whose only crime was to live in an area where marijuana was being grown.

Consider these examples from

South Africa Understood

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (NEA) — In the words of one shrewd old American humorist, "The trouble with most folks is not that they're ignorant, but that they know so many things that ain't so." This is my seventh visit to South Africa, though my first as the guest of the Southern Africa Forum (a politically neutral, multiracial organization), and the quoted epigram seems supremely applicable to the average American's view of events in this distant, fascinating and unbelievably complex country.

ITEM: Most Americans believe, in the words of one recent letter to me, that South Africa's white government "is committed to the preservation of the status quo" in racial matters. On the contrary, it is moving so rapidly to change them that, in the words of one of State President Botha's liberal domestic critics, "what he and some Cabinet colleagues have been doing since the beginning of the year will have wide-ranging and possibly fatal consequences" for the unity of the governing National Party. Having brought both "coloreds" and Asians (Indians) into the governing process last year, Mr. Botha has now acknowledged that blacks have permanent residential rights in South Africa's urban areas, and the process of giving them a voice in the making of political decisions for those areas is already underway.

ITEM: It is widely assumed in the United States that steps toward "disinvestment" by American companies in South Africa would increase the pressures for race reform, but I have not found a single responsible South African — left, right or center, white, black or "colored" — who thinks so. On the contrary, as one liberal-minded young Afrikaner businessman explained to me, "Economic growth is the absolutely indispensable precondition of reform." ITEM: Precisely as a result of the points just made, President Reagan's policy of "constructive engagement" with South Africa — actively encouraging racial reforms, rather than just standing back and denouncing the South African government for its sins of omission and commission — is approved across almost the entire spectrum of South African opinion.

ITEM: Bishop Desmond Tutu cuts a much smaller swath in South Africa than he does in the United States. As I have pointed out before in this space, the current preoccupation of American liberals with South Africa is attributable far more to their own desperate situation than to a coincidentally revived distress over South Africa's shortcomings.

ITEM: Where the Botha government is genuinely vulnerable is not in the area of race reform but on the economic front. Uncontrollable misfortunes such as severe drought and the strong dollar (which weakened gold) have been made far worse by the folly of a currency expansion that is pushing inflation toward an annual rate of 20 percent.

In addition, the governmental bureaucracy has become an unendurably large and costly encumbrance. It is such weaknesses in the economy, rather than any reluctance to reform, that constitutes the worst impediment to improvement in race relations here.

Fed Loans Aided Doc Reagan Doc

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Four years ago this month, President Reagan was rushed by ambulance to George Washington University Hospital here after being shot in the chest by a young assassin.

"I hope you are Republicans," Reagan bravely quipped to the doctors as he was carried in the emergency room. "We're all Republicans today, Mr. President," responded Dr. Joseph M. Giordano, the physician in charge of the trauma team that literally saved Reagan's life on March 30, 1981.

In a speech during last year's campaign, Reagan recounted the events of that fateful day, with special attention devoted to Giordano, whose grandparents were immigrants from Italy and whose parents were poor but determined to provide a better life for their children:

"They struggled to make ends meet. All of their money went to the education of their children. They put one son through college and, when he wanted to be a doctor, they put him through medical school.

"Because of their diligence, their son became a prominent surgeon in a great hospital. One day that surgeon... saved the life of a president of the United States who had been shot. I know this story because I was the patient."

As is too often the case with the appealing tales the president offers, however, that story had been altered to conform to his personal preconceptions and his political agenda. A very different account is offered by Giordano:

"Although my father bore the brunt of the expense, I received low-interest government loans to help finance part of my medical education. The government-financed social programs enacted during the last 50 years — and so frequently criticized by this president and his administration — played a vital role in making this success possible.

"In contrast to the president, who believes that social programs make people so dependent that they lose initiative, I feel that these programs have enabled people with little resources to reach their full potential."

"College education, a dream for many, often is an economic nightmare. Students are faced with the choice of dropping out of college or assuming crippling debts," says Joseph S. Murphy, chairman of the National Pell Grant Coalition.

"To deny support to education is to place the aspirations of our young people in jeopardy," adds Murphy, chancellor of the City University of New York. "The legacy of that policy will be a heritage of shame."

tinually buzzed" while taking outdoor showers in what had once been the privacy of her isolated home.

— Two 12-year-old girls were chased by DEA helicopters flying about 50 feet above the ground. "The helicopters chased them up Perry Meadow Road for about 20 minutes," the mother of one girl testified. "When my daughter and her friend would hide under the bushes, the helicopters would lift up; when the girls would try to run to the nearest house, the copters would come again and frighten them."

A DEA spokesman told my associate Donald Goldberg only that the judge's order is "under review." But the agency admitted in court that these airborne Peeping Toms and George Burgess were "private contractors with no law enforcement expertise," who had been given only two days' "orientation."

— "In order to land their helicopters ... on my land, the (DEA) officers cut down ... four fir trees and three madrone trees," a homeowner testified. "My lawn was scarred and my flower gardens destroyed."

— A former Army helicopter pilot testified: "In my opinion, the helicopters ... were being operated in an extremely unsafe manner. They appeared to be using tactics similar to those I observed used in Vietnam to terrorize the populace."

Aguilar wrote: "There can be only two conclusions: These technically proficient pilots were acting pursuant to instructions or the tacit consent of (DEA), or due to inadequate training and supervision they were habitually engaging in some sport of their own..."

The practice of searching homes and seizing property without warrants "virtually anywhere in the vicinity of the crime" is "unconstitutional on its face," Aguilar concluded.

County, LMU To Battle Before PSC

By Donna Estes Herald Staff Writer
 Lake Monroe Utilities, a privately-owned water and sewer service operating west of Sanford, will be battling Seminole County at a public hearing Wednesday for the right to expand its service area.

LMU wants to serve a proposed 500-acre housing development and a planned 100-acre golf course in territory which the county is reserving to itself, County Administrator Ken Hooper said the county doesn't necessarily want to serve the development, but points out that if and when the builder seeks county approval for the project, he will be required to build water and sewer plants to serve the area and deed those improvements over to the county.

The Florida Public Service Commission will hold a hearing in Sanford at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the county services building to consider LMU's request to expand its service area.

LMU provides water and sewer services west of Interstate 4 and state Road 46, including the Interstate 4 Industrial Park and the Seminole County Port Authority.

LMU president James Hickman Jr. said developer Howard Pomp has asked for water and sewer service for the as-yet unnamed development and golf course he plans to build near the industrial park. Hickman said there should be no problem with serving the new territory although the state says the LMU sewer plant has only a temporary operating permit from the state and it is set to expire in July.

The temporary permit allows the utility only a 75,000-gallon daily capacity at the sewer plant and much more capacity than that will be needed for the proposed development, Hooper says.

Hickman claims, however, that the 75,000-gallon capacity will be sufficient since effluent from the development will be spread upon the golf course for disposal.

Since the number of housing units to be built in the project is unknown, it is difficult to estimate how much sewage will be generated. But Hooper insists that the sewage generated will be more than LMU has the capability of handling.

Hooper said LMU is asking the state to triple its original service area into a territory already staked out by the county.

Hooper claimed that LMU doesn't have the ability to serve the new area.

"They have a package sewer plant operating under a temporary permit, set to expire July 1985," Hooper said.

Hickman said Pomp's proposed development is west of the I-4 Industrial Park. "Part of the land is within our state-certified territory now and it is most logical to expand our territory to serve the entire property," he said. He said the state is allowing the utility company to use 75,000 gallons capacity at the sewer plant, but the plant itself has the capability for a daily capacity of 100,000 gallons.

Pam Hastings, manager of the county's environmental services department, said LMU has had problems with the state concerning its allowed capacity for the past several years. Its state operating permit expired two years ago, but an extension was granted to July 1985 to give the utility time to divert its effluent disposal from the Elder Road ditch to the Smith Canal. She said it doesn't appear the state looks favorably upon extending the temporary permit further.

In addition, Mrs. Hastings said the proposed 500-acre development would be located in an area designated "general rural" in the county's comprehensive land-use plan, a designation that encourages a residential density of one housing unit per five acres, but allows one unit per acre.

Hooper said while Pomp has asked the county if it could provide service to a development of the scope envisioned, he has not submitted any kind of plans to the county staff for preliminary review or to the county's planning and zoning commission.

"If he had an approved project, the county would require Pomp to build a sewer plant and dedicate it to the county," Hooper said.

He said the territory expansion LMU is asking the PSC to grant is part of the North Seminole service area to be served either through the city of Sanford sewer plant or through a sub-regional plant to be built by the county at sometime in the future. In addition, Hooper said the county's utilities bonds forbid the county from allowing a competing utility system in its service area.

The county commission voted unanimously earlier this week to authorize Mrs. Hastings to object to the LMU request at Wednesday's hearing.

Husband, Wife Burglary Team Plead To Casselberry Heists

A husband and wife burglary team have pleaded guilty to grand theft and to burglary in connection with the theft of $25,000 to $50,000 worth of items from about 20 Casselberry homes.

Glenn and Shirley Yeldell, both 30, of no permanent address, entered the plea before Seminole Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. who set May 15 for sentencing. The couple could receive up to a year in the county jail.

According to court records, the couple was arrested after Casselberry police traced fingerprints left at a burglary scene. The pair were difficult to arrest because they moved from motel to motel in Central Florida and traveled by rental car, which they swapped every month, records show.

They were arrested when they arrived with a load of goods to be placed in a storage bin at Public Storage, state Road 436, Casselberry.

When arrested, they gave their address as 1400 Village Lane, Winter Park. But, a Casselberry detective said the couple did not live at that address. The address is where the couple picked up their last illegal load they were trying to stash in the bin when captured, according to a police report.

The Yeldells also face a sentencing March 21 in connection with carrying concealed weapons in a store in the Altamonte Mall, Altamonte Springs.

According to court records, the couple was arrested in Burdines after a store employee spotted a handgun in the man's pocket and called police. Mrs. Yeldell was also carrying a small loaded handgun in her purse.

They could receive up to a year in jail when sentenced on the weapons charge.

In other court action, a New Hampshire man pleaded guilty for his part in luring taking and cashing $1,600 worth of money orders.

A codefendant plead guilty in February to grand theft stemming from the same incident. The pair were arrested Jan. 2.

Andrew Leroy Gilquest III, 22, entered the plea before Davis who set May 15 for sentencing. Gilquest could receive up to a year in the county jail.

Codefendant Lynn Jane Bechard, 18, also of New Hampshire, pleaded guilty to the charge in early February and is scheduled to be sentenced April 8 by Circuit Judge Volle Williams. She also could receive up to a year in the county jail.

According to court records, the woman took eight American Express money orders during a 9-day period while she worked for the parent company of 7-Eleven convenience stores.

The woman walked off the job, didn't return, and was fired before it was discovered the money orders were missing, records show.

The money orders were cashed at a Seminole County Sun Bank

Gas Spill Mars Facelt

Downtown Sanford's recent facelift received one of its first blemishes Thursday when a gas spill dissolved a patch of pavement in front of a department store on First Street.

Sanford police officer Greg Harrell said a gas can in the back of a pickup truck driven by Rita Hirt, of Osteen, fell over while she was shopping at Garrett's department store, 200 E. First St. About five gallons spilled onto the pavement around her parking space, ruining a 10-by-20 foot patch of pavement.

Harrell said employees from the store kept the area clear of people smoking cigarettes until the fire department arrived and sprayed down the area.

No one was hurt and no charges were filed. Harrell said it was not known what caused the container to fall.

Officials from the city's Public Works Department assessed the damage at $300 and said the area would be resurfaced Monday or Tuesday.

Public Works Director Bob Kelly said the gasoline and the petroleum in the asphalt created a chemical reaction, causing the newly-laid pavement to bubble up and dissolve.

Scorekeeper Turned Pitcher Helps Tribe Past Creek

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole's baseball team received some help from an unexpected source Thursday afternoon. Steve Rape, a senior who been relegated to scorekeeping duties after not making the cut for the past two years, turned in four strong innings as the Fighting Seminoles blitzed Spruce Creek, 8-2, in Five Star Conference action at Seminole Community College.

"I was really nervous. Really nervous," the 6-3 right-hander said about his surprise start. "Coach (Mike) Ferrell told me Tuesday that I would pitch. This first win is really something. I just got on the team Monday."

So was his performance. Spruce Creek's Mark Boyer singled to right to open the inning but Rape caught Tom Abdo looking at strike three for the first out. Boyer stole second and went to third on Estes Johnson's ground out. He scored on a passed ball by catcher Tony Cox but the big senior receiver made up for it two pitches later when he gunned down Kirk Wiley, who had walked, trying to steal second.

In the second inning, Rape, not to be confused with brother

David who plays the infield, escaped a two on and one out problem by getting Keith Courington to pop out and striking out Jim Macklefresh.

He was at his best in the third. After issuing a leadoff walk to Boyer, Rape retired the next three hits (the 2-3-4 batters) in succession. In the fourth, Spruce Creek picked up another run, but it was unearned and Rape pulled himself out of the minijam by getting Boyer on a fielder's choice.

"I was throwing fastballs and curves and a few changeups," Rape said about his four-hit, two-strikeout effort. "I was throwing some in the backyard but I wasn't really taking it that seriously."

"Heck, I'd been cut from the team earlier this year. I was on the team as a sophomore but I just picked up the splinters on the bench for the rest of the guys."

Ferrell said he turned to his likeable senior when it became obvious James Hersey and Brian Sheffield couldn't carry the whole pitching load. "We needed somebody to fill the relief role," said Ferrell. "Steve did a great job of mixing his pitches. I think we found a couple of relievers today."

The last reference was to burly Tom Wilks. The senior catcher-first baseman came on for Rape in the fifth inning and pitched three scoreless frames to nail down the save and preserve Rape's first career victory. Wilks allowed just a seventh-inning single and started a snappy 1-6-3 double play in the sixth to retire the side.

Along with the solid pitching, Seminole played almost flawless defense. Sheffield moved into shortstop and made all the plays. Roy Jensen shifted from the hot corner to first base. The promising sophomore let one get down the line in the fourth but he came back with a great leaping catch on Sheffield's only bad throw of the day to get the first out in the fifth.

Offensively, Sheffield was the leader with a triple and a single and three runs scored. Sophomore Dwayne Willis and freshmen Jeff Blake made their presence felt as each supplied a hit in their first start and Willis' speed opened the door for two runs.

Seminole, 6-9 overall and 2-6 in the conference, quickly erased a 1-0 Creek lead when Hersey ripped a single to left in the bottom of the first. Alonzo Gainey then reached on an error by the first baseman as Hersey motored to third. Gainey then drew a wild throw from the catcher on a delayed steal attempt to score Hersey. Garv Derr's ground all to shortstop moved Gainey to third and Cox produced the 2-1 lead with a groundout to shortstop.

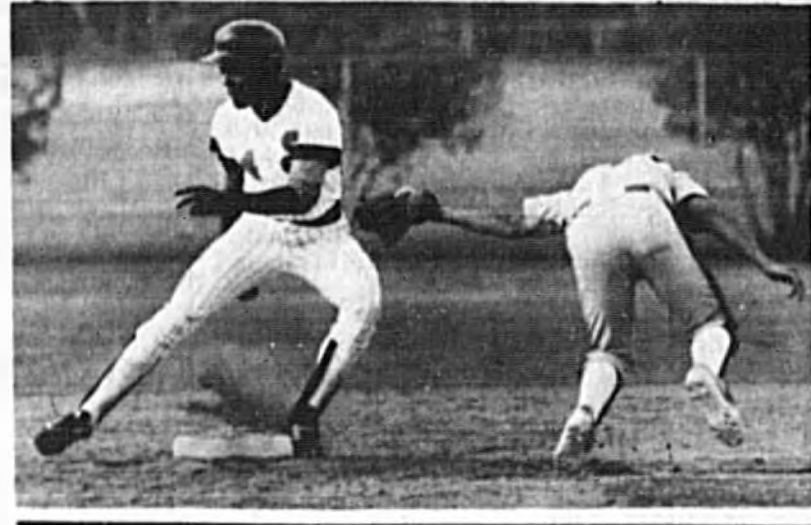

Sheffield walked and stole second to open the second. Joey Corsi lined out to center but Blake's groundout moved Sheffield to third. Willis, just promoted from the junior varsity, followed with a ground ball to shortstop. When Macklefresh hurried his throw, it was wild and Willis wound up on second base.

Lady Hawks Edge Mary

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

For six innings Thursday afternoon a number of dazzling fielding plays prevented Lake Mary's Lady Rams and Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks from breaking a 1-1 tie. But, in the bottom of the eighth, it was an error on a routine play that enabled the Lady Hawks to push across the winning run as they claimed a 2-1 victory in Five Star Conference softball action at Lake Howell High.

"I thought it would be a 2-1 game," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "But I thought it would end on a sacrifice or a good hit."

The Lady Hawks moved into first place in the conference with the win. Lake Howell is 3-0 in the Five Star and 6-2 overall while Lake Mary, Apopka and Lake Brantley stand at 2-1. The Lady Rams now stand at 4-2 after having their four-game winning streak snapped.

Lake Mary returns to action today when it hosts Lake Brantley (4:15 p.m.) and Lake Howell hosts West Orange in a non-conference battle (also 4:15).

"It's a tough one to lose," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "But if we had to lose it, I wish it would have been on a nice base hit."

Both teams got some timely hits in the first inning as it was tied 1-1. With one out in the top of the frame, Karen DeShetler pounded a triple to left center and she scored on Kim Averill's single to left.

Lake Mary loaded the bases in the top of the second but couldn't score. Beth Saunders led off the bottom of the inning with a single but was quickly erased when Alicia Dinkelacker lined out to Averill at short who caught Saunders off first for the double play.

Lake Howell put an end to any Lake Mary rally hopes in the third by turning a nice double play. DeShetler led off with a single but Watkins hit to Grace Ley at shortstop and Ley dealt to Gillies who fired to Ava Gardner at first for the DP.

Meanwhile, Lake Mary went down in order in the sixth and seventh innings. In the seventh, leadoff batter Liz Stone had a 3-0 count before Tibbitts responded with a pair of strikes and Stone wound up popping up to Ley.

"Christy (Tibbitts) did an excellent job coming back on that batter (Stone)," Luciano

Rested Seminole Boys Favored At Lyman Tonight

Track/Field

Joe Laughlin said. "And there will be no mile medley. We dropped that a few years ago. We've got it all ready to go so it should be a good meet. It seems to go pretty smooth every year."

There will be 24 boys teams on hand today and 23 girls teams. All the Seminole County schools (except Trinity Prep) will be on hand along with most of the Orange County and Volusia schools.

Among the feature races in the boys meet will be the mile and two mile runs with Seminole's Billy Penick going up against Satellite's Bill Hibbard. "Billy hasn't really been pushed yet this season," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "But Hibbard will give him a good test."

The girls two mile will also be a strong event with Seminole's Shownda Martin. Lake Howell's Amy Ertel, Lyman's Tracy Fisher and Lake Mary's Jill Buddenhagen.

"It possible that you have to break 12 minutes just to place in the two mile," Laughlin said. "And it may take under 10 minutes just to place in the boys two mile."

The boys 880 also has a strong field led by Lake Mary's Harold Pitts and Lake Brantley's John Mondo. The girls 880 features Martin of Seminole and Jennifer Hitzges of Lyman.

Frank Barnett will be the favorite in both the boys hurdle events, the 120 highs and the 330 intermediates. He will be tested by Lake Howell's Brian King in the 330 hurdles.

CASSELBERRY — After being knocked out of the district tournament by Leesburg last year, Oviedo's Lady Lions figured it was time to knock the Lady Yellow Jackets around a little.

Oviedo pounded out 17 hits Thursday including three each by red-hot hitters Mikki Eby and Caroline Chavis en route to a 14-5 thrashing of the Yellow Jackets in Orange Belt Conference softball action at Red Bug Park.

"We lost to them (Leesburg) twice last year," Oviedo coach Jackie Miller said. "I thought it would be tougher but the kids hit the ball really well."

Oviedo improved to 3-0 in the conference with the win and 5-4 overall. The Lady Lions host Lake Highland Monday at 4 p.m.

Leesburg jumped out to a 2-0 lead after the first inning but Oviedo took command with four runs in the bottom of the third. Jessica Bradley led off with a single and Chavis followed with a double to put runners on second and third. Eby singled to drive in Bradley and Chavis to tie the score at 2-2. Dee Dee Beasley singled to drive in Eby and Cathy Bergman's single chased home Beasley.

Leesburg scored twice in the top of the fourth to tie it at 4-4 but Oviedo came right back with three in the bottom of the inning for a 7-4 lead. Terri Coe and Candy Williams rapped back to back singles and Bradley followed by drilling a shot over the left fielder's head for a three-run homer. "It was a beautiful hit," Miller said of Bradley's homer. "She hit it way over the left fielder's head."

Oviedo tucked on five runs in the fifth to pull away and added two more in the sixth. Key hits in the fifth included a two-run triple by Eby and a two-run single off the bat of Chavis. Darla Hall's RBI single highlighted the sixth.

Jodi Switzer went the distance on the mound for the Lady Lions to even her record at 3-3. Behind Eby, who took over the Seminole County RBI lead with 12, and Chavis, Bradley, Williams, Beasley and Coe had two hits each.

DELAND TRIPS SEMINOLE

DELAND — Sanford's Lady Seminoles bolted out to a 3-0 lead but seven errors in two innings enabled DeLand to score seven runs and the Lady Bulldogs went on to claim a 9-4 victory in Five Star Conference action at the DeLand Airport.

Seminole fell to 0-2 in the Five Star and 2-5 overall while DeLand improved to 2-0 in the conference.

"It was a good game until the bottom of the fifth," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "But then our hitting just shut down and our errors came up. DeLand scored a run for every error we made in the fifth and sixth innings."

Seminole took a 3-0 lead in the top of the first as Alycia "Fat" Dixon led off with a single and Jackie Farr belted a long shot over the left fielder's head for a home run. With one out, Janet Hauck, Barbara Silva and Mary Hicks hit consecutive singles and Hauck scored when Silva got caught in a rundown between second and third.

DeLand scored twice in the bottom of the third on Sherry Patrick's two-run homer to pull within 3-2 but Seminole took a 4-2 lead with a run in the top of the fourth. Silva singled to lead off. Hicks singled and Jackie Suggs singled to load the bases. Silva scored on Showanda Walker's sacrifice fly.

DeLand took advantage of three Seminole errors to score three runs in the bottom of the fourth for a 5-4 lead. Four more Seminole errors led to four DeLand runs in the fifth.

Seminole had a chance to get out of the fifth when Sheri Peterson made an outstanding defensive play but the Lady Trib didn't get the benefit of an umpire's call.

"There was a grounder to Sheri (first baseman) and she tagged first and turned and threw to get the runner going to third," Corso said. "Mary (Hicks) made a good tag and the girl was out by two feet. But the umpire called her safe. That was our Seminole High's competition in the boys meet will come from Lake Brantley, Evans, Apopka and Oak Ridge.

The girls meet will be a shootout between four teams including Seminole, Evans, Oak Ridge and Lake Howell. Evans features the talents of speedster Angela Curry who won the 100, 220 and 440 dashes in last weeks Lake Mary Invitational.

If Curry runs the 440 again she will have Seminole's Martin to contend with. The freshman flash ran a 57.5 in Tuesday's dual meet with Lake Mary.

Seminole is also running Martin in the two mile where it will try to break up Lake Howell's dominance. Lake Howell also has a standout hurdler in Rochelle Spearman and two outstanding high jumpers in Cheryl Brinkley and Kim Hammonree.

Gardening

Don't Overlook Fertilizing Landscape Plants

Anytime during the next two or three weeks is a good time to take care of one of the spring garden activities we often overlook. It's the proper application of fertilizer to our various types of plants in the landscape. Individual plant requirements do vary, so the best way to offer recommendations is to divide the plants into groups. And, to know what different types of fertilizers are available.

The first group we'll refer to is shrubs. Shrubs can be given an all-purpose garden fertilizer, such as a 6-6-6 or 8-8-8. Apply the fertilizer at the rate of one-and-one-half to three pounds per 100 square feet of planting area. For hedges, the fertilizer should be spread evenly along each side of the plants. For other shrubs, simply broadcast it over the entire area.

The next group of plants includes landscape trees and palms. To calculate the correct amount of fertilizer apply, you need to know the trunk diameter of the tree or palm, measured about four feet above the ground. For trees with trunk diameters of six inches or less, apply three pounds of 6-6-6 fertilizer for every inch of trunk diameter.

For trees with a trunk diameter larger than six inches, use five pounds of 6-6-6 fertilizer for each inch of diameter. Fertilize very small trees as you would shrubs.

Palm trees can be fertilized with either a 6-6-6

Alfred Bessesen
Urban Horticulturist

Ext. 181

or 8-8-8 mixture or a special palm fertilizer. Apply the fertilizer at the rate of one pound. If you palm is so small that it doesn't have a woody trunk yet, apply from two to eight ounces of fertilizer. The mixture can be broadcast under the palm's normal canopy.

In addition to the fertilizers mentioned, all landscape plants can benefit from an application of a minor element mixture. Many of the all-purpose fertilizers already contain these minor elements. If not, you'll have to make a separate application. This can be done in the same manner, if dry. Or, you can purchase a liquid minor nutrient spray. These mixes generally contain magnesium sulfate, sulfur and iron sulfate, and they may contain addition elements needed in minute quantities. No matter which method of application you choose, be sure to follow manufacturer's instructions on the container.

Since iron deficiency is very common in our soils, you may want to include a chelated iron formulation in your spring fertilizer program. Mix one ounce of 12 per cent chelated iron in 25 gallons of water, applied to 100 square feet of your landscape. Or, you can apply one teaspoon of iron sulfate dissolved in one gallon of water, applied to one square yard of soil area.

Usually, when we speak of trees and shrubs and the nutrients they need, we emphasize deficiencies, because most of our soils are low in many of the necessary nutrients for good plant growth. One nutrient that is fairly abundant is calcium.

Calcium deficiency is not generally a problem in our soils. Calcium and calcium compounds occur in much of our water and commercial fertilizers. But, calcium is important to plants for several reasons. For one thing, it helps maintain the right pH or soil acidity level in the soil around our homes. Calcium is important because it reduces leaching of nitrogen, phosphorus and other nutrients from the soil in the root zones of plants. Keeping the right pH range in the soil encourages the growth of beneficial soil organisms, making it easier for plants to utilize the elements molybdenum, and reduces plant injury from toxic elements, such as aluminum and excess copper.

In spite of all its benefits, calcium can cause serious trouble for your landscape plants. High levels of calcium increase soil pH beyond the desirable range, making the soil too alkaline. This locks up the minor elements into compounds unavailable to the plants.

Although there usually is enough calcium for normal growth of landscape plants, sometimes it is necessary to add calcium in the form of lime, particularly dolomitic lime, but only if a soil test indicates the need. The higher the pH number, the lower the pH number of the scale, the higher the soil acidity. The higher the pH number, the lower the soil acidity. Anytime you have a soil pH level below 5.5, the soil acid level is higher than most landscape plants desire — the exception being azaleas, camellias, and hydrangeas.

If you're in doubt about the pH level of your soil, have it tested. Tests are done at the Agricultural Center at Five Points, south of Sanford. There is a charge for the service, but well worth it. This way you'll not make a mistake and adding lime to your soil.

For most home garden and landscape plantings, the pH test is all you need, as the major nutrients are rapidly leached out of the soil by the summer rains and over-watering by sprinkler systems. You know that major nutrient elements need to be applied to all of your landscape plants. Check with your favorite garden supply dealer for the best formulations of fertilizers.

Happy gardening!

Once-Suicidal Teen Stresses Reaching Out Is Worth Risk

DEAR ABBY: After watching ABC's television special, "Surviving," which dealt with suicide among young people, I felt compelled to write.

About four months ago, a young man I am very close to tried to commit suicide. His family and friends were shocked. He seemed to have everything going for him. He was doing well at college and there was no visible reason for him to be unhappy — much less suicidal.

No one knew the problems that had been gnawing at him for years, and like the young man in the movie, he felt he had no one to turn to and the only escape from the pain of living appeared to be death.

Take it from an expert, somewhere, somebody cares, and is more than willing to help. If my friend had known this, he may have been able to save himself and his family a lot of physical and emotional pain. He knows it now.

Today my friend is happier than he ever thought he could be. His life is far from perfect, but he knows it never has to be that bad again, and he wants other young people who feel that life isn't worth living to know it, too.

Never be afraid to risk reaching out. Everyone has someone who cares. My friend didn't believe it, but he was lucky enough to live to find out. I know that this is true, Abby, because my friend is me. Sign me ...

DEAR G.: I have received many letters recently from young people who say they are considering suicide. I urge them to get help from their local crisis hotlines. I stress that suicide is a permanent solution to a temporary problem.

I also saw "Surviving," and think it should be shown to every high school in the country.

DEAR ABBY: I just read your column and must comment about a man who complained because the guy he worked with whistled constantly.

I've been married to a whistler for 46 years. According to his mother, he learned to whistle when he was 2, and he didn't stop whistling from the time his feet hit the floor in the morning until he went to bed at night.

My whistler is now employed at a home for the elderly in our town, and nobody has ever complained about his whistling.

As for me, I love it! When other wives tell me they never know where their husbands are, I thank God for my whistler. I always know where he is. I can hear him.

WHISTLER'S WIFE, QUARRYVILLE, PA.

DEAR WIFE: Fortunately, you love your husband's whistling — because it is now a well-established habit that would be nearly impossible for him to break.

I've had many complaining letters about the irritation of living with a chronic hummer, knuckle-cracker, finger-drummer, throat-clearer, nose-sniffer, etc. Lucky you.

DEAR ABBY: The letters in your column from "Formerly Flat," who recommended breast augmentation, reminded me of a friend of mine. She was flat-chested until she had breast implants (at age 40). She was so thrilled with the result, she sent her surgeon an orchid plant with a card that read, "Thanks for the mummies!"

'55 Alive Mature Driving'

American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) is scheduling a 2-class, "55 Alive Mature Driving" at the Deltona Woman's Club, 1049 E. Normandy, Deltona, on Tuesday, March 26, and Thursday, March 28 from 1-4:30 p.m.

Statistics show that 24% of all licensed drivers are over the age of 55, the beginning age of physical changes relating to driving, such as vision-hearing, and reaction time.

Records indicate that older drivers have fewer accidents per driver but when miles driven is considered, drivers over 55 have more accidents per mile than younger drivers.

This course is designed to help compensate for normal aging physical change problems.

Class size is limited in number and by reservation only. A total fee of $7 is charged payable to AARP. This course is created for insurance rate discounts by participating companies.

For information and reservations call Floyd F. Stapleton (904) 789-4522.

Hormones May Help Stem Woman's Acne

DEAR DR. LAMB — What can I put on my face to prevent pimples? About two weeks before I start my period, my face breaks out badly.

DEAR READER — Since this happens only in the last half of your menstrual cycle, it is probably related to your hormone balance. Estrogens tend to prevent acne, but progesterone (progestins) stimulates the sebaceous glands to produce more sebum. This oily secretion is one of the important factors in causing acne. A woman has more estrogen in the first half of the cycle and more progesterone in the last half of the cycle. Progesterone behaves much like the male hormone testosterone. In fact, progesterone is converted to testosterone, which then may be converted to estrogen.

You should see a dermatologist about your acne, since you need a good treatment program. Your gynecologist also may want to check your hormone balance. If you are low in estrogen, he or she may be able to help you.

If you take birth-control pills, you should know that those that are low in progesterone and contain mostly estrogen usually stop acne. Others do not. Enovid-E, Ovulen, Ortho-Novum and Norinyl usually cause this type of acne to disappear.

A dermatologist may want you to use benzoyl peroxide on your skin. This is a peeling agent that helps to dry the skin's oily secretions and kill bacteria in the pores that contribute to acne.

I have discussed the management of acne in the Health Letter, Special Report 29, Controlling Acne.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Two years ago, I awakened with the right side of my face totally paralyzed. My eye wouldn't close, they wouldn't produce tears, and I couldn't move my eyebrows or mouth on the right side. I saw a doctor within 24 hours and he said I had Bell's palsy. He began daily injections of cortisone and prescribed tetracycline. A week later I visited a neurosurgeon, who confirmed the diagnosis and said that nothing could be done about it.

Is there any new therapy, medication or any other treatment for this disease?

DEAR READER — Yours is a fairly typical story about the onset of Bell's palsy. No one really knows what causes it, and it is often confused with a stroke. However, it is believed to be caused by an inflammation of the facial nerve that passes from the brain to activate the facial muscles.

There is not much new regarding treatment of the problem. You were treated properly. Cortisone (prednisone or other steroids) is used but proof is lacking that it really helps.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Trumps are what the game is all about, but sometimes you have to make do with little. On this deal South showed that even a 4-2 fit can be "adequate" with the right declarer.

The two-club bid by North was Stayman, as it would have been after an opening bid of one no-trump. When South was unable to bid a major, North elected to play in what he hoped was at least a 4-3 fit.

There was much to be said for a trump lead, since North was sure to have a distributional hand, but West led the top of his club sequence. Having won with the club ace, East also had a chance to lead trump, but he played a heart "up to weakness." That was all declarer needed. He won the heart ace and cashed the club king, discarding a heart. He ruffed a club low and took the spade finesse. The fourth round of clubs was ruffed with dummy's 10 and overruffed by East's ace. East now belatedly played a diamond. This was won with dummy's jack for declarer's fifth trick.

A spade to the ace allowed declarer to trump his last club high in dummy while the defenders watched helplessly, since declarer was sitting pretty with the diamond king as his eighth trick. Maybe next time these defenders will lead trumps.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
MARCH 16, 1985

There will be a surprising shift in conditions in the year ahead. You will now luck out in areas where you've never had a break before.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You can get over any rough spot today if you treat what occurs philosophically. Laugh and the world laughs with you, cry and you'll cry alone.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Even though you are apt to be a bit more curious than usual today, don't ask probing questions of friends about matters that truly don't concern you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) To succeed in career situations today, it's essential you use your best judgment. Don't base decisions on partial or hearsay information.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A negative attitude today will severely diminish your potential and possibilities. Try not to make things unnecessarily hard on yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Self-discipline is required today so that you won't be tempted to overindulge and eat or drink more than you should. Be health-conscious.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Unfortunately, people you'll be associating with today might not have the deep compassion you feel for others. Maintain your standards, don't drop to theirs.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) People who are trying to help you will withdraw their support today if you're critical about the way they are doing things. Be grateful, not grumpy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There will be ample opportunity around you today but there's a chance you won't recognize it or act upon it in ways that serve your best interests.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You will be reasonably lucky today but your luck is made of fragile substance, so be careful that you don't push it to extremes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's good to have an optimistic attitude, provided you put it to practical uses and don't let it block out your common sense. Be a level-headed realist.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Do not be overly concerned by negative appearances today because if you persist, Lady Luck will be there to bail you out at the end.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Normally, you're resourceful and capable when confronted by challenges but today you might be tempted to toss in the towel early if the going gets tough.

 Morris said more high density residential areas were needed near selected commercial and office areas of the city. This would allow some people the convenience of walking to work, he said.

Presently, about 24 percent of the 13.3 square miles that make up the city are designated medium density. About 27 percent is marked low density and 3 percent high density. Commercial areas account for about 13 percent, industrial 24 percent and parks 8.5 percent.

LaZenby said the commission also needs to consider changing the land use of some medium density residential sections of the city to low density. He said the commission was getting a rash of rezoning requests to change low density areas to medium. This, he said, puts pressure on city services because medium density sections require more services because more people live there.

"What's eating us alive is this medium density," he said.

In response the board recommended that the section along 25th Street to Airport Boulevard be changed from medium density to low density. The board also recommended the section of Third Street from Sanford Avenue to Mellonville Avenue for office space. Right now it is designated for use as office space and high density development.

The board is expected to finish the new plan within the next two months. After that the city commission will study the recommendations, modify them, hold hearings and adopt them.

...Manhunt

LTD was delayed when he stopped to check on a bystander hunched over in the parking lot of the dealership. He then picked up the chase, despite injuries to his legs.

Other lawmen joined in and Lilly's car was found within minutes abandoned in a wooded area between Lake Mary Boulevard and Hidden Lake, near Art Lane.

Bullet holes found in a bloody shirt alongside the car indicated to investigators that Lilly has at least two bullet wounds in his left shoulder.

Lawmen swept into the area and led a futile pre-nightfall search for Lilly. Police tracking-dogs and the Orange County sheriff's helicopter were called in to assist. Because the dogs did not find him, Spolski discounted a theory that Lilly had passed out in the woods because of a loss of blood. Patrol cars were still cruising in the search area late this morning.

In Lilly's car deputies found numerous false Georgia driver's licenses indicating he was using the aliases of Rudy Samuels and Ray Ward. Lawmen believe he may have supplied other false identification documents to others, Spolski said.

A spokesman for Seminole Ford said Lilly had worked at the dealership about three weeks. The spokesman didn't see the incident and was surprised to learn Lilly was a wanted man. He said there weren't many people at the dealership when the shooting occurred.

Lilly is 6-feet-2 and weighs 230 pounds. He has hazel eyes, a mustache and his brown hair is in an Afro-perm style. Spolski said.

Lilly faces charges of aggravated battery and battery to a law enforcement officer in connection with the attack on Butler and other charges are also pending, Spolski said.

Lilly is the second fleeing felon to be shot by 36-year-old Butler, who was back on the job today. Investigators have determined that he was justified in shooting Lilly, despite the wounding of Hughes, Sheriff John Polk said.

A 9-year-veteran with the sheriff's department, Butler was also found to be justified in shooting Meakel Ashley of Sanford in March 1984. Ashley struggled with Butler and tried to take his gun while being arrested on a grand theft charge. Butler shot him in the left leg as he ran into a crowd of spectators, records show.

So Who Says A Gas Pedal Has To Be Just A Gas Pedal?

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Almost from the day in 1885 when Karl Benz took his newfangled invention out for a 'spig' artists have noted the automobile's influence on our lives. Though Benz's test drive ended with a crash the impact of that first horseless mile is still running strong.

Through the auto's golden years as well as the lean of recessions and energy crises, artists have analyzed the machines that drivers ambivalently view as reliable servants and stern masters.

Mention the automobile and art in the same breath to the typical driver and he'll likely launch into a description of the creative aftermath of crashes he's witnessed.

The artist isn't so much interested in the crashes as in the resulting mangled parts he might salvage and recycle into sculpture. Under the car's utilitarian chassis, the artist can see a chariot capable of setting in motion our richest personal fantasies.

"There are some great forms out there rotting away," says artists and teacher Gary Kimsey. "I wish I had all of them."

He has managed to save some, parts of them anyway and he stores them in his studio, what he wife calls his "junk yard."

Kimsey frequently shares his finds with his Seminole Community College students who incorporate them into what passes as art.

"I personally feel to take found objects and create a new piece is not only innovative, but

Code Name: Dumb

'Foxfire' A Cross Between 'A-Team' And 'Charlie's Angels'

By David Handler

People are calling NBC's "Code Name: Foxfire" another "Charlie's Angels," which isn't exactly true. It's more like another "A-Team."

Why split hairs? Because comparisons are everything with a show like this, which is to say a show that's a mid-season copycat, not good and a waste of everyone's time.

Foxfire is actually Elizabeth Towne (Joanna Cassidy), a tough, gorgeous ex-operative who just can't get along with Uncle Sam. Too unconventional. Too ornery. "Her code name has been smeared all the way from here to Moscow," sneers one FBI agent.

Actually, Foxfire's so big-mouthed she can't seem to hold on to any kind of job. "You're overqualified for life in general," suggests Larry (John McCook), the oafish, middle-aged momma's boy who is her government contact. And the president's brother.

Each week, Foxfire's country can't survive without her particular undercover talents. One week, for instance, some nut named Colonel Doom has kidnapped the heads of the three largest banks in America and wants all of their holdings as ransom.

I know. It sounds just like the plot of a Saturday morning cartoon to me, too.

Now it's time for Foxfire to contact the other two members of her crack female Odd Squad and take care of business. And no funny stuff, mister.

Maggie (Sheryl Lee Ralph) is a beautiful black cat-burglar. She picks locks, pockets, you name it. She fronts as a nightclub singer, wears a lot of slinky clothes and paints her fingernails different colors. I have no idea why.

Danny (Robin Johnson) is a flaky hot-rodder with a hoarse voice, bleached blond hair and a Cyndi Lauper wardrobe. She'll drive anything as fast as it can go, be it truck, motorcycle or limo.

Unlike Hannibal Smith's A-Team, there's little rapport or personality between these three. Mostly, they zip around in an assortment of borrowed vehicles and speak in TV street shorthand. ("Honey, we been made!")

To meet Colonel Doom's demands, they deliver a truck filled with greenbacks to an airport, only to discover they been had! Danny floors it back to the bank so fast all the money falls into the street, but no matter — they nail Colonel Doom just as he's about to corner the world's supply of platinum (now that is a cartoon plot — all you need to do is substitute kryptonite for platinum).

There are some decent performers in this show. We know Joanna Cassidy from "Buffalo Bill" and movies like "Blade Runner." Sheryl Lee Ralph starred in the original Broadway production of "Dreamgirls."

But there really isn't enough of a show here. They shouldn't have bothered. I certainly wouldn't suggest you bother.

...There May Be Great Art Sitting Under Your Hood

to recycle pieces now in this technological age is to me a natural thing to do," Kimsey said.

"The artist looks at these pieces as shapes and forms and divorces the feeling that they are auto parts."

One of Kimsey's students, 21-year-old Terry Hulbert, stands in an SCC classroom next to a box of assorted pieces of twisted and dirty metal, selects a pair of hood hinges and a brake pedal and says, "I opened the hinges and they looked like an animal's body to me — the two legs, the arms. I added the pedal for the head. The parts call out and say they're something else. That piece just said, 'I'm a little monkey.'"

To make even more of a monkey out of her sculpture, Ms. Hulbert will add a touch of paint to the body. But she's still searching for the perfect piece of metal for its tail.

"I think if I'm successful people won't look at it and say, 'Oh, there's two car hinges and a brake pedal.' They'll say, 'There's an animal' and then they will look further and see that it was two car hinges and a pedal at one time."

Kimsey, who scrounges around automobile graveyards for his raw materials, said most parts he finds lend themselves to becoming stands or bases for other sculptures, and the discovery most likely to please him is an old foundry mold used to cast auto parts.

"There was a time when before they would cast any mechanical piece they would make a wooden mold first. I really do find those shapes and forms most interesting."

"A lot of the old primitive tools are to me very sculptural with the wooden pieces that have been worn from use and have that patina," Kimsey said.

"I think if I'm successful, people won't look at it and say, 'Oh, there's two car hinges and a brake pedal.' They'll say, 'There's an animal' and then they will look further and see that it was two car hinges and a pedal at one time."

—artist Terry Hulbert

Artists have become fascinated with the car, observes Paul Karlstrom of the Smithsonian Institution's Archives of American Art, for a variety of reasons, not the least being that the automobile has come to represent the American dream: social mobility and democratic values.

"If one accepts this notion of the car's symbolic role," Karlstrom says, "its credentials are firmly established as a true national icon."

Other artists have been attracted not to the car itself but to the elements that serve to accommodate and support them — roads, gas stations, diners, motels and garages.

Artists have posed the car along with people, showing it to be a member of a family, and Grant Wood dramatically cast a four-wheeler as a villain in his "Death on Ridge Road" (1935).

That painting reels like a world out of control. The road snakes across the canvas, telephone poles and wires loom like grave markers. Space is distorted and the car is an evil presence. This depression era work depicts a disillusionment with the car as the symbol of the American dream and challenges technological progress.

Another work represents the auto as a tanklike, battle-painted warrior, replete with gun turrets in its side vents. And one dramatic rendering, a Mercedes limo outfitted with 21 television sets satirically portrays the car as entertainment center.

Even Leonardo da Vinci was interested in horseless transportation. In the 15th Century he drew up plans for spring-driven vehicles, and those drawings are art in themselves.

As far as the design of cars as machines go Kimsey said art takes a backseat to function and he isn't particularly attracted to autos as a whole, but is drawn to their parts, mangled or not.

"They almost suggest that you take them and do something else with them. There's a variety of textures. Artists, I think, would really be aware of the textures."

The design of cars, Kimsey said, "is really an example of form following function. It would be difficult for me to relate the form an automobile takes, with its aerodynamics and everything involved, and compare that shape with a sculptural piece that was not functional. I think the fact that it must be functional forces the auto designer to do certain things that an artist with his sculpture would not have to do."

Most early automobile art took the form of advertising in books and magazines. One of the first non-commercial works featuring an auto was Toulouse-Latrec's 1896 lithograph "The Automobilist," showing a goggled driver in his fuming vehicle speeding past an elegant stroller and her small dog.

The whole auto-as-art movement began after World War II when artists began assembling abandoned auto parts into sculpture. As junked cars became part of the American landscape, along with those clogging our roads, they were scrutinized, painted and photographed.

Artist Terry Hulbert sizes up the artistic potential of a Mercedes-Benz that might go from the road to a museum, or even to your livingroom wall.

Actually, since the turn of the century when autos first hit America's horse trails man has seen beauty in this beast. Drivers have developed personal, even loving relationships with their glittering steeds with shining grilles, headlights and hubcaps.

Artists are people too and their love of the car's varied forms and textures insures cars a place not just on the roads or in our junk yards, but in our homes and museums as well.

Writers' Strike Will Go On

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — No new negotiations are scheduled in the strike of movie and television script writers and both sides predicted a lengthy walkout, which could threaten the new fall TV season.

The immediate effect of a breakdown in what had appeared to be a certain settlement of the eight-day strike will be reruns for such programs as Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show," "Late Night with David Letterman" and "Saturday Night Live."

The strike's first pickets went up today at CBS Television City, a spokesman for the Writers Guild of America said.

NBC spokesman Gene Shepherd said "The Cosby Show," the nation's No. 1 rated sitcom, could be forced into early reruns because it is three scripts short of a full season. "Hill Street Blues" is two scripts short.

Ernest Lehman, president of the WGA, predicted that the striking writers will stage a long walkout after West Coast members rebelled against the proposed new three-year, $84 million pact Monday night.

"My gut feeling is a long strike," guild president

Lehman said. A long strike, he said, could be four weeks to four months, which would disrupt preparation for the new fall TV season.

'Devil' Was No Good; How Was The Food?

DEAR DICK — When I was in the armed forces, I was stationed in Munich, Germany, from 1951 to 1953. Two stars, Gene Kelly and Pier Angeli, were filming a movie there. Our general invited them to our barracks for a meal, which I helped prepare. I have always wondered what the name of that film was. I have wondered about it for over 30 years. A.D.K., Canton, Ohio.

Your wondering years are over. That was "The Devil Makes Three," released in 1952. It wasn't a very good movie, but chances are your cooking was not the problem.

DEAR DICK — Can you tell me why "Hawaiian Heat" was canceled? P.K., Walnut Grove, Mo.

DEAR DICK — I'm a big "WKRP" fan and I would like to know why that show was canceled. T.C., Klamath Falls, Ore.

DEAR DICK — Was there any special reason why "Happy Days" was taken off the air? S.E., Sugarland, Texas.

There is really only one, overriding reason why any show is taken off the air — economics. The network believes it can produce more income with some other shows. In the case of a new show like "Hawaiian Heat," they quickly sensed that it was not catching on with the public and probably never would. The ratings were terrible. In the case of shows like "WKRP" and "Happy Days," they had been around for a while, the ratings were starting to slide and they had become expensive to make — every year a show is on the actors get more money.

DEAR DICK — I saw the movie "Staying Alive" with John Travolta and Cynthia Rhodes, as his dancing girlfriend. Is she also the actress who starred with Jennifer Beals in "Flashdance," playing a dancer named Tina Tack? D.J., New Albany, Ind.

Yes, she's one and the same.

DEAR DICK — Are Julia Barr of "All My Children" and Douglas Barr of "The Fall Guy" brother and sister? P.B., Houston, Texas.

No, they're not. As a matter of fact, Julia is from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Douglas is from Fort Wayne, Ind.

DEAR DICK — My mother and I recently watched "The Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders" on TV. There was a dance instructor who taught the girls their moves. My mother says this is the same woman who plays Maggie Drummond on "Different Strokes." I say she is not. Who is right? C.C., Spring Lake, Mich.

You are. Dixie Carter plays Maggie on "Different Strokes." I don't know who you are referring to on "The Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders" — there were several instructors — but Dixie Carter was not in that film.

DEAR DICK — I enjoy watching "The Brady Bunch" reruns. When did the show first start and when did it end? J.M., Mount Vernon, Wash.

That epic ran originally between 1969 and 1974.

DEAR DICK — I've been watching "Double Trouble" with Jean and Liz Sagal. I'd like to know which one plays Kate and which one plays Allison. B.C., Madison, Wis.

Liz is Allison and Jean is Kate — at least, that's what they say. But, with identical twins, you never can be sure, can you?

DEAR DICK — About two years ago, Gregory Peck and Christopher Plummer were in a TV movie called "The Scarlet and the Black." Is this the name of the book the film was based on? If so, who was the author? M.B.O., Muncy, Pa.

The book that movie was based on was called "The Scarlet Pimpernel of the Vatican," and it was written by J.P. Gallagher.

DEAR DICK — Could you tell me, please, the name of the man who plays Brian on "V." L., Houston, Texas.

Brian is played by an actor named Peter Nelson.

Cocaine Sank Former 'Love Boat' Star

RADNOR, Pa. (UPI) — Lauren Tewes, who played the wholesome cruise director in television's "The Love Boat," says she began using cocaine because of peer pressure, but later gave it up because it was wrecking her career and personal life.

"I wanted to be one of the gang. I am ashamed to say it, but it's true," Tewes told TV Guide magazine in its latest issue.

"The first time I took cocaine I had just gotten the job on 'The Love Boat' and I was on my way to a party. My date said, 'Let's do drugs.' And I said, 'What the heck?'" Tewes said.

Tewes, who played cruise director Julie McCoy on the show until this season, says cocaine abuse cost her thousands of dollars, her expensive home and contributed to her departure from the popular television show.

"All that money didn't go in't go into a bank. It went into my nose," she said. "The feeling it gave me was incredible euphoria. You think you are fine. You think you are stronger, braver. I thought it gave me the courage I missed. It was like going to Oz and asking for courage. But instead, I got cocaine," she said.

Tewes, who said the pressure of wanting to be "Hollywood" contributed to her problems, won out over more than 100 candidates for the female lead in "The Love Boat." Being regarded as one of Hollywood's most attractive women created new pressures, along with the problems of an unhappy marriage.

"I was trying to keep my job, keep my husband, keep my house. I was trying to please everybody and I was destroying myself. I was on drugs. I didn't sleep. I slept at work. I behaved poorly at work, and that is where I made my fatal mistake," Tewes said.

In 1980, Tewes began the withdrawal process.

But kicking the habit did not prevent her departure from the show.

A few months ago I decided I needed to take control of my appetite and eating habits. I was really overweight and tired. My ego was pretty low, then I heard about ASM. I went to ASM and found they were really different. Not only did I learn of a new way of eating, and the use of the patented acu stimi device; it put me in control to assist behavioral change of my habits. They made it easy. I am finally in control.
