Ninety-two men from Seminole and Volusia Counties registered for the Usher Short Course held Sunday afternoon and Monday evening at the Christian Missionary and Alliance Church.

The men attending the course sponsored by the Seminole County Ministerial Association and the Seminole Kiwanis Club, represented in different churches.

Dr. Sam Hedrick, professor of Practical Theology at the Boston University, conducted the course through arrangements made by the General Extension Division of Florida under the supervision of Troy Wakefield. The short course is being held in several cities around the state.

All members present said they were very appreciative of the information and inspiration Dr. Hedrick brought through his instruction.

He offered practical suggestions for uniform ushering service in churches. He stressed the important role of the usher in helping establish the right atmosphere for worship services.

Trio Of Newcomers In Featured 9th Race Tonight

A trio of newcomers to Grade A could provide some fireworks in the featured ninth race tonight at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

Pocket Rocket, Diane Kay, and Percylon Lad haven't seen service in the top class here previously, but each won the last time out and each appears to boost the speed necessary to go all the way against tough opposition.

Fast-finishing Pocket Rocket, fresh from an impressive victory in a three-eighths race Friday night, will be shooting for his fourth win of the campaign.

The Huron Kennel's brindle speedster is named after ice hockey star "Pocket Rocket" and brother of famed Maurice "Rocket" Richard.

Record 10,293 Lbs. Of Milk Reported For Jersey Cow

A record of 10,293 lbs. milk containing 516 lbs. fat was recently reported for a registered Jersey cow owned by Fairglades Jersey Dairy, Geneva, Fla.

The record was announced by The American Jersey Cattle Club on Butterking Nadine Mimi who began her official Herd Improvement Registry test at the age of 8 years. The production was for a 305-day period.

Four other cows in the Fairglades Jersey Dairy herd were tested by the national breed organization for meritorious production records.

The University of Florida supervises the HIR tests of the Fairglades Jersey Dairy herd in cooperation with The American Jersey Cattle Club, Columbus, Ohio.

U. S. To Put Simple Form Of Life In Baby Moon

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States will put a simple form of life in one of its baby moons to be launched between now and March, it has been learned.

Dr. Hilten T. Cox, executive director of the American Institute of Biological Sciences, told the United Press Navy scientists are now altering satellite designs to accommodate a culture of yeast cells.

Cox said this simple form of life will yield "infinitely more significant data than putting a mammal, such as a dog," in space at the present time.

He conceded that Russia got a bit of propaganda mileage out of getting a dog in Sputnik II. He said there are indications that Russia will put simple life in future satellites.

Cox said "it is possible" yeast cells will be put in the next U. S. attempt to shoot a six-inch moon into orbit with a Vanguard rocket at Cape Canaveral. He said he did not know definitely which of the four tests will carry the simple life into space.

The United States plans to make another attempt soon to use a test satellite into orbit, although officials have pointed out that this is not the primary purpose of the next test.

Russia has announced its Sputnik I disintegrated Jan. 4 and its second satellite which carried a dog will burn up soon.

Rear Adm. Rawson Bennett, chief of naval research, told the United Press some "of the boys in the back room" are pushing to get some kind of life aloft with the test moons. But he said "as far as I know the next test will just be another test."

Gen. Albert Myers, first United States weather forecaster, was named first head of the weather bureau in 1870. The bureau was in the Army until 1890.

Body-Mind Drugs Combined To Aid Allergic Attack

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Staff Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—Medical science has combined body-mind drugs for the benefit of the allergic. One drug is intended for the relief of an allergic attack and the other is used to relieve anxiety which goes along with an allergic attack.

It is a promising approach to a medical problem like the problem of which came first, the chicken or the egg? Some scientists argue that anxiety often comes before the allergic attack and thus its cause. Other scientists feel the attack produces the anxiety which makes it worse.

Dr. Earl B. Brown and Thomas Seldman of New York's Montefiore Hospital tested the combined drugs by the scientifically favored "double-blind" technique in 97 allergic patients who ranged in age from nine years to 76.

The combination used of the synthetic hormone, prednisolone, which is a standard drug for the relief of allergic attacks, with hydroxyzine which is one of the newer of the "tranquillizing" drugs.

The 97 men, women, and children were in need of medicine to control a variety of allergic conditions from asthma and rhinitis (runny nose allergy) to hives. The asthma and rhinitis subjects were in the majority.

The doctors divided identical vials into four groups. Into one group they put a week's supply of the combined drugs. Into a second and third group they put the hormone alone and the tranquilizer alone. In the fourth they put an inert substance, a placebo, which, chemically, should have no effect whatever.

All were in tablet form and looked alike. The vials were identified by code number and at the time the doctors distributed them to the patients, they had no idea of what patients were getting which drugs or the placebo. The patients kept a diary of their week's experience with the medicines.

Diaries Compared
These diaries when compared with the code numbers revealed that 73.6 per cent of the patients had had "excellent" results with the combined drugs but only 49.3 per cent had had such results with the hormone alone and only 32.1 per cent had had them with the tranquilizer alone.

The doctors, in their report to the American Academy of Allergy, said they had some indications that the tranquilizer might permit small doses of prednisolone to be as effective as large ones. They're now investigating that possibility.

RED MEMBERSHIP DRIVE
ROME (UP)—Italy's Communists, trying to regain the membership lost during their worst postwar crisis, threw the party's doors open to any repentant rebels today. Number two man in the party, Luigi Longo, announced the policy before leaving for Moscow Monday. He said "the doors of the Communist Party are always open to those who in a moment of confusion abandoned its ranks and now honestly recognize the error they made." The party has lost an estimated 200,000 members during the past year.

HOWE UNDERGOES EXAM
DETROIT (UP)—Gordie Howe, the Detroit Red Wings' high-scoring star who fractured two ribs against the Bruins in Boston was expected back home today to undergo examination at Detroit's Cosmopolitan Hospital. The Red Wings have not yet decided on a replacement for Howe, who probably will be lost to the club for about four weeks.

Communist In Line For Title Would Sit With Lords

LONDON (UP)—Only the life of an 83-year-old Baron keeps an avowed Communist out of the House of Lords.

The Baron is Lord Milford. His son and heir, the Hon. Wogan Phillips, is an admitted and active Communist. Phillips will automatically be entitled to don the ermine robe of a peer of the realm when his father dies.

A few Communists have won election to the House of Commons. But never before has the law of noble inheritance put one on the threshold of Britain's upper house.

As the law now stands, nothing can prevent Phillips from becoming the second Baron Milford with the right to sit in the Lords. He cannot abdicate the succession.

Phillips was born in 1902, the eldest of four brothers and hence, the heir. He went to the Spanish civil war and joined the leftist International Brigade. He was wounded.

He stood as a Communist candidate in the 1950 British general election and lost.

Both his parents are the children of churchmen.

Lord Milford, a hereditary baronet, was high sheriff of Hampshire in 1915 and has played a prominent part in country affairs wherever he has lived. King George VI elevated him to the peerage in 1930.

Lord Milford is now the leader of the landed class in Wales, and lives in rambling Llanstephan House in Llyswen, Brecon.

His eldest son and heir was educated privately before attending Eton, Britain's most exclusive school, where breeding and not money is the chief qualification. From there he went to Magdalen College at Oxford.

At Oxford, he could be classed as one of "the angry young men," the group that clamored for change.

Wogan did not go into society on his return from Spain. His turn to Communism had alienated his family, and he preferred the quiet of farm life and local work for the Communists.

He married in 1928, but the match was dissolved in 1944. He then married the daughter of an

Money Needed To Quid Russians At Worlds Fair

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The United States will be upstaked again by Russia at the Brussels World Fair unless Uncle Sam loosens his purse-strings, says actor-politician George Murphy.

Back from three days of meeting with Washington brass, Murphy said the Reds will blow twice as many rubles on the fair as the U. S.

"Our original appropriation was 15 million dollars," the dapper executive said. "But it was cut to $11,800,000 with a big chunk being taken out of the entertainment program. We've been reduced from 2 million dollars to half a million."

"Robert Montgomery the President's TV adviser and I are on the entertainment committee, and we're doing our best to put on a better show than the Russians."

"But it is going to be a tough job unless our appropriation is enlarged."

Murphy was pulled into the situation as a member of the State Department's Committee on Cultural and Artistic Exchanges. He was briefed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on his trip to the national capital.

According to Murphy, Russia is sending the great Bolshoi Ballet troupe to Brussels along with their world-famous circus. Red China is contributing the Peking opera.

"So far the American National Theatre Academy of New York has set up a program with a double of ballet and opera stars," Murphy went on. "And Walt Disney is doing a thing on film."

It's Murphy's hope that Hollywood will ride to the rescue with stars giving their time for nothing.

"I'm attempting to get such people as Crosby, Sinatra, Como, Jack Benny, Bob Hope and Danny Kaye each to spend a week over there entertaining visitors from all over the world. The fair begins in April and runs for six months. Some 40 million people are expected to visit the exhibition."

"Most of the stars would donate their services. And it is my job to get as many people as possible to make up the small budget we have to work with."

Murphy hastened to explain that the bulk of the U. S. exhibit will be devoted to our scientific, technological and cultural advances—and rightly so. But he adds that the entertainment factor is important, too.

REFUGEE PROBLEM SOLVED
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP)—Yugoslavia reported today it had solved the problem of nearly 20,000 Hungarian refugees in little more than a year. Belgium and Switzerland Monday issued the final entrance visas to the last group of Hungarians who wanted to emigrate to Western Europe. A total of 19,781 Hungarians poured south into Yugoslavia from their revolution-torn homeland in October 1956. Since then, 2,713 have returned home, 634 have been integrated into the Yugoslav economy, and 16,374 were resettled in 27 European and overseas countries.

Railroad Industry Is Suffering Dangerous, Urgent Problems

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Those numerous individuals who would like to substitute for the American way of life a father-knows-best system of state socialism should find considerable comfort in the plight of the nation's railroads.

The railroads are in trouble. The trouble is so serious and deeply imbedded in the industry as to give the situation the color of a national calamity.

Railroad troubles are as bad and probably as dangerous as are the troubles afflicting American farmers. They are as urgent and just about as closely related to national defense as are the troubles the United States is having with its satellite—launching rockets.

If railway managers were as numerous as farmers, there would be here in Congress a powerhouse railroad bloc capable of and determined to divert great chunks of the taxpayers' money to the relief of the carriers. The comparison is a good one because what afflicts the railroads is just about what afflicts the American farmer—high costs and low income.

Mad Little Hope
Twenty-four presidents of United States railroads recently were in Washington to attract Congressional attention to the industry's distress signals. They came with much hope and probably left with less.

The railroads are stuck with a popular conception that goes back toward and beyond the turn of the century—that the roads are a filthy-rich monopoly and hogwash for profit. The airplane, buses, trucks and privately-owned automobiles have vastly changed the transportation industry in 50 years. Today's railroads are about as monopolistic as deep dish apple pie.

Railroad presidents who assembled here to testify before a Senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee complained, that nonetheless, their carriers are taxed, regulated and bedeviled like true monopolies. They complained, especially, that, whereas the railroads must provide their own facilities, such as stations and right-of-way, and must pay taxes for the privilege of doing so, their chief competitors do not.

Buses and trucks, they argued, the public highways, comparatively tax-free. Airplanes take off and land on airports usually publicly provided and owned and public stops are guided by publicly installed flight beacons. Barge lines on the national waterways enjoy similar advantages.

Ahead of the industry the railroad presidents foresaw either new federal regulatory and new general tax policies or bankruptcy and, ultimately, resort to the socialistic device of government ownership and operation.

U.S. Urged To Lay Up Protective Supplies

Increased Postal Services Needed Here Says Field

In many respects Sanford is different from most any place else in the United States. But in some respects Sanford is just like many other communities across the country. One of the similarities is the need for increased postal services, particularly extensions of delivery service to curb boxes in front of new homes or to house receptacles, said Postmaster Joel Field today.

Before delivery by foot carrier can be extended to a new street, the Postmaster said, the following conditions must be met:

1. Homes or places of business must be erected on 50% of the building lots.
2. Streets must be paved or improved to permit travel of post office vehicles at all times without damage or delay.
3. Continuous sidewalks must be installed in sections of the city where traffic hazards or extreme weather conditions preclude use of the street by the carrier.
4. Street signs must be placed and homes and business places must be equipped with proper numbers.
5. Mail receptacles or door slots must be installed.

The requirements for delivery by carriers in motor vehicles to curbline boxes are the same as those shown above for foot delivery except that sidewalks need not be installed and it is not necessary that 50% of the building lots have buildings erected on them. Field explained.

Before a new street can receive delivery service, it must be inspected by a qualified postal supervisor. A request from a single person (petitions are not necessary) is sufficient basis for initiating an inspection to determine eligibility of a street for curb or house delivery.

Call regarding extensions of service are welcome at FA 2-2832 "If the answer you seek is not in the brief information given above, please let us help to solve your special problem," Sanford's Postmaster said.

SHS Counsellor Discusses Work At Pilot Meeting

"Working with young people to the most revealing experience a person can have" declared Mrs. Sidney Ives III who serves as counsellor for Seminole High School students in conjunction with the Seminole County Mental Association's program, as she spoke to members of the Pilot Club at their dinner meeting held in the Yacht Club last night.

In its second year of operation, the Seminole County Mental Health Association of which Mrs. B. E. Chapman serves as president, instituted a program of education and rehabilitation at the school level with Mrs. Ives serving as counsellor. Beginning Apr. 1 there will also be a full time Mental Health Worker associated with the County Health Unit which is headed by Dr. Terry Bird.

Mrs. Ives cited a number of actual cases, which through counselling, have resumed normal attitudes and lives. "A child," she stated, "sometimes refrains from talking freely because of fear of exposure. You must first gain their confidence and then assure them that the confidence will not be violated."

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government today was urged to lay up vast stockpiles of critical supplies to insure America's survival in event of nuclear attack.

The Army at the same time set June as the operational target date for protecting New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Chicago with its new Nike Hercules missiles. They will carry either high explosive or atomic anti-aircraft warheads.

Existing Nike-Ajax sites will be converted at a cost of $1,250,000 each for the new defensive system. The Army said it is the start of a nationwide program to enlarge Nike-Ajax sites to accommodate the higher-powered Hercules.

Other developments:
—The Air Force test fired its 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile successfully for the sixth time in 11 launches.
—Activity increased around the Army's Jupiter-C rocket at Cape Canaveral indicating an attempt was imminent to launch an earth satellite.

—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) charged the administration's mobilization to meet Russia's space age threat was not enough. He said it was clear "what we plan to do is inadequate."
—GOP congressional leaders said President Eisenhower would try to speed Defense Department reorganization by sending the lawmakers a series of special messages, rather than include his plans in "new packages."

—Retired Navy Capt. Howard T. Orville said Russia soon might have the ability to control the weather with chemicals. The head of the President's Weather Advisory Committee said the Soviets might be able to flood the East Coast, freeze Florida or turn the Midwest into a dust bowl.

—The House Armed Services Committee said it would investigate plans by the administration to trim 40,000 men from the National Guard.

YANK SALES HIGH
LONDON (UP)—American forces stationed in Britain spend an estimated 224 million dollars a year, according to Chancellor of Exchequer Derek Heathcoat-Amory. Asked in Parliament Tuesday whether there was any sign that the British economy was "suffering from a policy of Yanks go home," Heathcoat-Amory said that sales to U. S. forces were as high as ever.

Drink Box Riflers Arrested
A wholesale breaking and entering of old drink machines was solved yesterday afternoon when the driver of a car admitted "heading up" the operation in which juveniles rifled drink boxes as the automobile circled the block waiting for the job to be accomplished.

Deputy Sheriff H. R. Daugherty of Volusia County said this morning that Walter E. Krasemann, 43-year-old white man, "admitted the operation."

The automobile in which the drink box rifling operations was entered was stopped in Seminole County by Florida Highway Patrolman Gray near Casselberry after local officers were notified by Volusia County to watch out for the car.

Krasemann was accompanied by Donald Walter Krasemann, 20, and two 18-year-old juveniles whose names were withheld. They were spotted in DeLand and Volusia County officers radioed car license number, description, and route.

Lookouts were set up throughout the county.

Krasemann, Walter E. and Donald Walter, and the two juveniles were turned over to Seminole County Deputy Sheriff J. L. Kris. The driver of the car was charged with operating a car while drivers license was revoked.

Memberships in the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce have hit a new high, according to a release in the Sem-O-gram published by the local Chamber of Commerce organization.

The membership campaign for 1952-53 under the leadership of Bralley Odham has broken all records.

A goal of $10,000 set in October has not only been met, but exceeded. "Indications are that final over-the-top figures will be at least $11,500," the Sem-O-gram noted.

During the membership campaign 73 new members were obtained and 70 members increased the amount of their dues. "Average is now $35 instead of the previous high of $25," the paper said.

Congratulations for the fine work on the membership campaign committee were: J. Bralley Odham, chairman, C. D. Brown, Carroll Durley, Marvin Crandall, B. H. Grumley, Dr. A. W. Eggs, Jr., John Fitzpatrick, Jim Grant, Jack Hall, Art Harris, Wilson Horne, John Ivey, John Kader, Al Lee, Tom McDonald, Clifford McKibbin Jr., Frank Mebane, H. L. Perkins Jr., Art Pleva, A. L. Wilson, Dr. A. W. Woodall, M. L. Babcock, Sr., Clarence Redding, Francis Hummalt, K. Y. Shoemaker, George Andrew Spoor, and Gordon Sweeney.

Wright To Discuss Citrus Situation At Jaycee Meet
Members of the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce will hear about the citrus situation in Central Florida at their luncheon meeting tomorrow at the Yacht Club.

Dan Wright, vice president of Patrick Fruit Corp. will be the guest speaker at the Thursday Jaycee get-together.

His subject will be on the citrus industry in general and particularly about the Central Florida situation.

Large Local Delegation To Attend Canal Talks

A large delegation from Sanford and Seminole County will attend the meeting called by John Krider, Manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, to discuss "the ultimate effort to determine why the Sanford-Titusville Canal has not received approval of the Army Corps of Engineers."

"We will have representatives from many Florida organizations and cities," Krider said this morning.

The meeting will be held Friday at 11 o'clock at the Anshilt Hotel in Orlando in order to accommodate a number of the representatives who will come to the meeting in their private planes.

Already slated to go from Sanford are: Mayor Merle Warner, Joe Nicholas, representing the Sanford Boat and Ski Club, M. L. Raborn Jr., representing the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees, Al Lee of the Chamber of Commerce Waterways Committee, John Brumley of the Sanford Boat Works, Harry Robson, local sporting goods store operator, and Lester Bush.

Krider said this morning that Col. Herbert Gee, of the engineering firm of Gee and Jensen will attend the meeting in order to discuss the technical phase of the Sanford-Titusville Canal.

Also attending the meeting, said Krider, will be Dr. R. W. Bradbury, who will come from Gainesville. Dr. Bradbury prepared the economic report for the Army Corps of Engineers.

Others attending are: Earl Brown and four others who represent the St. Johns-Indian River Improvement Association; Admiral Fortson who will represent the Cross State Barge Canal group; Admiral H. S. Duckworth of the Atlantic Gulf Intercoastal Waterways Association; and George King who will represent the Canaveral Harbor Association.

The Orlando area will also be represented said Krider. Orlando's mayor, the chairman of the Orange County Commission, and other dignitaries interested in the waterway development of the state will attend.

Purpose of the meeting, Krider said, is to develop strategy to overcome the apparent death-blow struck by the Corps of Engineers in their report of Jan. 10.

Pilot Makes Emergency Flameout Landing

Lt. Col. F. L. Evans, member of Commander Naval Air Force U. S. Atlantic Fleet Staff, executed an emergency flameout landing in a Navy Panther jet east of the Naval Air Station, Sanford, yesterday afternoon at 3:55 p. m.

Lt. Col. Evans, whose present home is in Norfolk, Va., was making practice carrier landings to the east-west runway at the Naval Air Station when he experienced total engine failure.

The aircraft landed in a cabbage patch due east of the naval reservation, skidded across a small country road, and came to a stop in a plowed field.

Capt. Lionel A. Arthur, Commanding Officer of the Naval Air Station, and Cdr. L. L. Hamrick, who were airborne in the station's helicopter were on the scene in a matter of seconds.

Winter Visitor Dies Early Today

George A. DeWitt, 71, passed away at 7:59 this morning at Seminole Memorial Hospital following a short illness.

Mr. DeWitt was born Sept. 7, 1881 in Brattleboro, Vt. and was a retired car salesman. He had lived in Sanford for the past one and a half months having come here for the winter.

The remains will be shipped to Brattleboro, Vt. for services and interment.

Brison Funeral Home is in charge.

He said tax cuts were needed for low and middle-income bracket families.

TV In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
 Called Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD — A movie and TV station soon will beam "invisible" messages to Southern California televisioners via subliminal perception — a method of reaching the audience's subconscious mind.
 Station KTLA will begin with public service announcements, such as "contribute to the March of Dimes," and "drive safely."
 If all goes well the next step will be commercials. And therein lies an explosive issue. Commercials that register on the mind without conscious consent of the viewer smacks of brain washing. During the course of an innocuous musical show or horse opera a blurb for soap could be flashed on TV screens several times a minute influencing viewers to buy a product they don't want.

Will Try It
 "There is no federal commission ruling on subliminal perception yet," says Lew Arnold, KTLA vice president. "So we're going to give it a try."
 Thus far the FCC hasn't taken a stand, other than advising broadcasters to refrain from experimenting with soap commercials.

Report Cites Rise In Union Dues

CHICAGO — The National Industrial Conference Board reports that dues paid by the majority of the nation's union members increased by 162 million dollars from 1955 to 1957.
 The board said dues income amounted to an estimated 620 million annually at the end of 1957.
 Dues in 1955, according to the board were 458 million a year.
 The board based its estimate upon a survey of 191 unions whose available dues rates and membership figures were analyzed.
 The unions declared a total membership of approximately 18,350,000, of the total, million members belonged to union affiliated with the AFL-CIO. The remainder belonged to independent unions.
 Of the declared membership, the board said about 17,400,000 were members of unions in the United States and constituted approximately 98 per cent of the country's total union membership. Nearly one million of these members work in Canada where they comprise about 75 per cent of that country's total union membership.
 The NIBC said the added dues revenue was the result in part of an increase of nearly one million members in the 191 unions. It also was attributed to the fact nearly 25 per cent of the unions raised dues during the two-year period.

Electronic Brain To Steer Satellite Is In Production

OAK CREEK, Wis. — An electronic brain smart enough to steer a satellite into orbit or a space ship to the moon and back is in production.
 The announcement was made by the AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors Corp., which opened complicated systems of wires, gyroscopes and electronic tubes, that provide "thinking power" to three of the nation's military missiles — the Air Force Thor, the Navy Regulus and the Air Force Matador — were displayed.
 Martin Caserio, AC manager in Milwaukee, said that although "guidance is still in its infancy . . . we have a system in production capable of putting a satellite into orbit, or of guiding a space ship to the moon and back."
 Putting a satellite into orbit involves only one crucial time as far as a control mechanism is concerned. That is when the satellite's missile, launched directly away from the earth, must fire the satellite at an angle more closely parallel to the earth.
 A moon missile would have this complexity multiplied, particularly if it were to return to earth. Then crucial times would occur on leaving the earth's atmosphere, finding a path to the moon, meeting the moon safely and reversing the whole procedure on the return trip.
 The guidance system, tinkling at 186,000 miles per second — the speed of light — keeps the missile on course despite disturbances such as wind or combustion changes in the rocket motor, AC said.
 The first inauguration of George Washington was delayed more than a month because of travel difficulties.

Membership Gains

The smallest dues increase was 25 cents a month which brought the United Mine Workers monthly rate to $1.25. The largest overall increase was $5 paid by members of the AFL-CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. The hike brought the association's minimum rate to $10 a month.
 The board said local unions, rather than the national or international organizations, retained most of the dues. Of the estimated 620 million dollars collected, about 254 million went to the internationals.
 The board also noted the 620-million-dollar figure may be a minimum. It explained no exact figure on how much dues money collected was available because many international union constitutions allow the locals considerable latitude in determining dues rates.
 The NIBC said 49 of the 191 unions reported membership gains of 2,000 or more during the past two years. The AFL-CIO Machinists reflected one of the largest increases with 98,200 additional members. However, most of the added members were gained when the Machinists Union absorbed independent United Electrical Worker districts and locals in several states.
 The board said 18 unions had membership losses of 2,000 or more. It said the total membership loss of the 18 unions was 250,832.
 The losses were particularly heavy among some railroad unions because of recent decreases in the industry's labor force. Losses also were sustained in the textile field which, the board said, to a large extent reflected the shift of the industry to the South.

 The winners were: Tommy Lee Simmons, Tallahassee; Augustus Wright Bloodworth Jr., Lake City;

Agriculture Dept. Sets Up Two New Research Labs

BY GAYLOR P. GODWIN
WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department has set up two special pioneering research laboratories, has obtained charters for three more, and plans to establish additional units of basic research.
 These special groups, organized around outstanding scientists, are being established in various divisions of the Agricultural Research Service (ARS). Their basic function is "to explore the scientific unknown beyond the present limits of knowledge."
 The two special groups in full operation are the pioneering laboratories for mineral nutrition, in the soil and water conservation research division, and the pioneering laboratory for plant physiology, in the crops research division. Both are located at Beltsville, Md., the department's research center.
 Charters have been approved for three additional laboratories, also at Beltsville. They are for blood antigen research, in the animal husbandry research division, and for insect pathology and physiology, in the entomology research division. Pioneering research groups in a number of other ARS divisions still are in the planning stage.
 Two Experts Named
 Dr. Sterling B. Hendricks and Dr. Harry A. Borhwick already have been selected to conduct that research project now underway.
 Hendricks is chief chemist of the laboratory for mineral nutrition. He and his associates will work toward developing a better understanding of processes related to the mineral nutrition of plants. At the outset, their research will involve studies of how plants accumulate inorganic ions and how these ions function inside plants. Borhwick is assigned to the laboratory for plant physiology. He is the co-discoverer with Hendricks of the fact that light-sensitive pigments control flowering, seed germination, and other behavior of many plants that exhibit the phenomenon known as photoperiodism. He and his associates will seek clearer understanding of how plants are influenced by such factors in their environment as light, temperature, and chemical substances.

 More Basic Research
 Dr. Byron T. Shaw, ARS administrator, said the pioneering research units are to be established only in subject-matter fields for which research funds have been authorized and in which it can be expected that new basic findings will substantially advance agricultural science.
 Shaw emphasized that the new groups will do only a part of the basic research undertaken by ARS. The regular research divisions will continue to plan and to carry out fundamental investigations aimed at supplying new scientific facts and principles research that is not concerned with solution of immediate problems, but rather with broadening and deepening man's understanding of the physical world and of life processes.

 "The new facts they discover will make all our applied research more effective," he said.

NAGGING ENDS IN DEATH

JACKSON, N. C. — Robert Lee Epps, a Negro tenant farmer, faced a charge today that he choked his wife to death because her nagging ruined his 34th birthday celebration. Officers quoted Epps as saying he had "stood her nagging as long as I could."
 Shaw said the pioneering groups will help to meet the need for more basic research — research that is not concerned with solution of immediate problems, but rather with broadening and deepening man's understanding of the physical world and of life processes.
 "The new facts they discover will make all our applied research more effective," he said.

Friday Provides An Opportunity To Speak Your Piece For Growth

Friday, January 31, is an important date for every citizen in Sanford and Seminole County—the entire State of Florida, as a matter of fact.

At 11 o'clock Friday, all interested citizens will meet at the Angebilt hotel to discuss the Sanford-Titusville Canal to hear reports from those who have digested and studied the review report released by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Strategy will be developed at this meeting to overcome and combat the apparent death-blow struck by the Corps of Engineers in their report of January 10.

Certainly, those of us in Sanford and Seminole County can feel most the effect of the report in which it was stated that "the Sanford-Titusville Canal is not feasible at this time."

In one sense of the word expansion was stopped dead still for through the Sanford Docks and Terminals project and the Sanford-Titusville Canal came the oay avenue of vast expansion industrially and commercially. It was literally the "death-blow" and Manager John Krider of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce described it.

Citizens interested in the growth, expansion and development of our natural resources and the area in which we live have an opportunity now to express themselves and offer constructive help in reevaluating our need in the strongest terms possible—in terms that the biggest man politically or otherwise, in our federal government Rivers and Harbors Board, will understand.

There is no backing down on the stand we have taken relative to the value of the Sanford-Titusville Canal to the Sanford-Seminole County area. It will bring an era of prosperity here that has never been known in any section of the country—there's no doubt about it.

The Sanford-Titusville Canal will connect Sanford and Central Florida with a world that it has not yet known and the industrial value will rise to a point that Central Florida will feel prosperity greater than has been seen and felt to this point in our history.

Friday's meeting will provide an opportunity for a full and open discussion, with—as John Krider has stated in his letter to many interested citizens—"the ultimate effort to determine why this much needed and beneficial waterway has not received approval of the Engineering Corps."

Those who have faith in the future of Sanford and Seminole County will certainly have faith in the project that will mean more to the development of the area, in respect to every phase of industry, agriculture, commerce, and the community economic problems.

Interested citizens should turn out "full force" to speak their piece and to make known whatever ideas might be beneficial in making the "100 year dream" come true.

Stop The Modern Medicine Men

Despite his villainy, the old-fashioned medicine man was frequently a welcome visitor to the small town where he stopped. There was something exciting about the fervor with which he sold his snake oil, the wildly extravagant promises he made: "Who will be the first to purchase a bottle of this highly efficacious medicine, balm to the suffering, new life to the feeble? A formula imparted by the mystics of the West—a bargain at four times the price."

The coming of the Pure Food and Drug Acts put an end to the activities of the medicine man, and it was good riddance. For all the color he added to the American scene he did a great deal of damage. Yet a recent news story, detailed Washington, indicated that the old time charlatan is reappearing in modern dress. Federal authorities are investigating the fraudulent claims of some manufacturers of patent medicines. These claims range from promises that you can lose weight without dieting to assurance that certain pills are "astounding discoveries" for the treatment of gout, arthritis, and rheumatism.

National advertising groups, made up of people in the advertising profession with a high sense of ethics, are co-operating with federal authorities in stopping such rackets. There are few more vicious schemes than those which raise false hopes in the hearts of people who suffer the fear and pain that comes with disease.

The public, too, can do a great deal to stop the profits of the phony pill and potion peddlers. We need not take every claim at its face value. When there is doubt, a simple check with a good doctor can end all guesswork. Those who would endanger people's health for the sake of profit are despicable. We all have our responsibility for stopping them cold.

Government financing is puzzling to the average citizen under any circumstances. It is especially difficult trying to figure out how taxes could be cut, more billions spent and the budget balanced all at one time.

A suggestion that driver education be made mandatory in public schools might get unanimous endorsement were it not for the fact that education isn't always put to practical use.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—I saw the child of the century the other night in the back row of a little Greenwich Village theater—black-shit as nearly always, impassive as usual—or, to be accurate, almost impassive. There was still the faint hint of the mocking, sardonic smile about the lips in the "brachycephalic head," as Burton Rascoe described it once, as he sat there and did what he has been doing all his life—watching the race of man.

The child of the century—the title is his own and he used it for his autobiography—is, of course, Ben Hecht and he was present at an early dress rehearsal of Winkelberg, his new play. How good the play is, I cannot say; I am one of those who consider Hecht the writer of my personal century and as such I am not objective. I have his books (they are endless) spread across my shelves as I sit in the study and type these lines. I have read them all, over and over.

When I saw him at the play rehearsal, I wondered at the thoughts that might be going through his head as he sat in the little playhouse—here he was in the heart of the same village to which he came in the long ago, as writers and artists came from everywhere.

In the crooked streets outside, bearded poets and T-shirted sculptors argued in dimly-lighted bars over Whittier Life. Just as he had when he first blew into town full of pith and elder. . . . and on stage some actors were depicting the life and strange times of Maxwell Bodenheim, the Winkelberg of whom Hecht wrote.

IN THE TWENTIES, Hecht and Bodenheim were, I'm told, friendly, whimsical enemies. There always was a new young female in Bodenheim's life and Ben one day decided to immortalize this phase of Max's career by writing his novel Count Bruga. In a fit of rage or pleasure—no one is sure which—Bodenheim wrote Duke Herring, a book purportedly based on the notes among the several kings of the Village, Max and Ben, and if Hecht was the one with the greater talent and the ability to fit himself more readily into the heavy going of life, it didn't matter to the Bohemians. Each had his followers. For each, existence was full and sweet. Not too many dozens of months ago, Bodenheim died a violent death. Shortly before, he had gone to visit Hecht in Ben's Nyack, N. Y., home.

"The eyes regard me as if I were a grave with withered flowers strewn across it," Ben wrote in A Child of the Century. "He pauses, bows sardonically, sits down, extricates a pint bottle from a hip pocket, takes a long swig from it, emits a fierce and salivacious cackle and speaks in a voice I remember well, a voice with a slight stutter, and full of taunt and triumph, as if every sentence it uttered were a victory won. "And how is my cynical friend on this exquisite winter morning? Still writing?"

It was a sad, painful reunion of the friendly enemies. As the snow fell in the darkening evening, Bodenheim began to weep. "I am tired of living," he said in a child-like voice. "Honestly, Ben, I am sick of the whole thing. Beauty, art, poetry—yes, I am even sick of poetry, sick of pretty words starting at me."

Later, as he was about to leave, there came a faint memory of the similes that used to spill from his mouth in torrents. "The falling snow," Max whispered "is like a wreath of daisies in the night."

BEN JERRED AT MAX GOOD-NATUREDLY in the days of their youth, but inside, he never lost respect for the man who became "remarkably renowned as a failure." "Not only poetry came out of the brain under this mop of blond hair," Ben says, "but depictions of sham and garblings of fraud were its constant product." Like so many great writers, Hecht has spent most of his shafts puncturing the ally balloons of pomposity and false dignity—and so did Bodenheim, less famously.

Now, in the back row of the playhouse, one of the friendly enemies sat and watched his play about the other one. Now and then, producer Lee Falk interrupted the dress rehearsal to straighten out some small bit of business.

Finally, came the intermission and the watchers went up the aisles and into the lobby for cigarettes. A young female looked puzzled and spoke to her escort. "What a strange man, Winkelberg," she said. "Why was he so angry at everything?"

Look Ahead At Top World News

NEWS OUTLOOK
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
United Press correspondents around the world look ahead at the news that will make the headlines.

Toward The Summit
European diplomats still regard West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer as the best bet to start secret talks with Soviet Russia on reducing world tension. Llewellyn E. Thompson, Jr., United States ambassador to Moscow, has flown to Washington for consultation. But Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is attending the Middle Eastern Treaty Organization conference in Turkey. Adenauer is sending a top flight delegation to Moscow Thursday to resume trade talks. He has already made a firm proposal to Russia to start secret "detension" talks. Diplomats believe the talks may start either through the trade delegation, led by ace diplomat Rolf Lahr, or through Wilhelm Haas, German ambassador to Russia.

Big Ears
It's being kept hush-hush, but the United States has set up potential missile-tracking stations and other look-and-listen posts on uncharted islands off the Red China coast. The Reds, suspecting that missiles may follow, are pulling back some of their main fighter plane bases from the coast.

Resumption
On the diplomatic side, Washington expects talks between the United States and Red China, suspended since Dec. 12, will be resumed several weeks from now. The talks have been going on sporadically for two years in Geneva, Switzerland, between American and Chinese ambassadors. The United States believes the talks, though they don't get headlines, have deterred the Reds from attacking Nationalist Chinese island outposts and resulted in the freeing of numerous American prisoners. The Reds are shooting for American trade.

Clean Up
It won't be announced. But Tokyo says that the recent trials on brutality charges of Marine non-commissioned officers at the United States prison at Sasebo have touched off a clean-up of military brigades throughout the Far East. Base commanders, who rarely went near their brigades, are watching operations closely. The reason: Trial publicity hurts enlistments.

Battle Next?
Diplomats believe President Fulbright Batista of Cuba may possibly be the next Latin American "strong man" to fall. Opposition to him is growing. Rebel violence at the eastern end of the island is increasing. Batista's strengths are that he still has the loyalty of the army and the nalional police, and that the opposition is split wide open politically. Navy loyalty is a bit shaky. Any sign of defection in the Army and Air Force would be regarded as the beginning of the end.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay
Shooting Santa Claus is not supposed to be a popular pastime. While Florida cattlemen didn't really shoot him, they did tell him to go peddle his gifts somewhere else.

Freezing weather and floods have given Florida cattlemen fits this winter and some of them are facing bankruptcy as a result. They need feed for their cattle and need it badly but are still an independent group and refuse to lower themselves to crawling to Uncle Sam for aid.

Last week Palm Beach county cattlemen, hard hit by cold and flood, rejected the government's offer of free feed on the grounds that they were unwilling to meet the requirements demanded for such assistance. 32 cattlemen went on record as willing to pay for feed rather than sign a pauper's oath for its equivalent to get the help they need.

Instead of accepting government surplus feed as a gift they urge that they be permitted to purchase it from the government at $1 below the present market price. This $1 per bushel discount would help tremendously and still not be too great a burden on the American taxpayer.

County agent M. U. Mounts of Palm Beach said that when cattlemen found that they could not purchase the feed but must accept it as a dole after signing statements that they were practically paupers they voted to turn down the government offer.

Mounts explained that they need assistance and need it badly, some cattlemen are in dire straits, but despite this situation they still wish to maintain their independence and their dignity and would rather go broke than accept the label "pauper."

If the situation were not so serious it would be laughable when we consider how much government surplus we have given away to foreigners who don't appreciate it and simply wait an opportunity to stab us in the back. The same situation exists as far as our itinerant workers are concerned. Thousands of them who came here to work in our groves, cane fields and truck farms are now on the point of starvation due to crop losses.

It is much easier to secure funds for foreign aid than it is for local sufferers whose problem is just as acute and just as demanding as those that exist in India or Yugoslavia or somewhere else.

Isn't it time we sat down and counted our change and gave some thought to the situation that exists in our own country. If we can send billions overseas on the gamble that it might create goodwill and friendship, is it unreasonable to ask that when disaster strikes at home we be equally willing to extend aid to our own citizens, especially when they are not asking favors and are willing to pay to the extent of their ability.

Florida has paid into the coffers of Uncle Sam much more than she has ever gotten back and Florida has asked no special favors. If we can feed and employ countless thousands of foreigners, provide them with equipment and material at taxpayers expense on the gamble that it might make friends couldn't we be a bit more considerate of our own citizens when they face disaster through no fault of their own.

Maybe I'm nuts and don't understand international diplomacy but my hat is off to the cattlemen for their courage and independence and if they insist on shooting Santa Claus I'll be glad to serve as a pall-bearer.

Huge Crowd Attends Talent Night At Mayfair Inn Monday

An estimated four hundred attended Talent Night Monday evening at the Mayfair Inn. The ballroom filled early, and a good crowd was still there when the orchestra stopped playing at mid-night.

Emphasis was placed on fun for the evening. Master of Ceremonies was Frank Mebane, manager of the Mayfair Inn. Mr. Mebane introduced Dave Harrell of W.I.O.D., who sang two songs, accompanied by Pete Bukur and the Populizes. Mr. Harrell sang "Just One of Those Things" and "The Nearness of You."

Causing much excitement was the announcement and presentation of the contest for the High Fever Queen. Winner of the contest will have a week at Holiday Hotel in Fort Lauderdale, with her husband. The Queen entered the ballroom and her name was called. They represent civic clubs and organizations throughout Seminole County.

Contestants are: Mrs. Mickey Deen (Hollywood), Mrs. Patty Gaecheil (Gainesville), Mrs. Virginia Pope (Gainesville), Mrs. Ida May Spillum (Lutz), Mrs. Vula Lamberton (DeBary), Mrs. Jean Klinefelter (Jaycees), Mrs. Sally Wright (Eggs), Mrs. Joy Crocker (Longwood), and Mrs. Virginia Fredrick (American Legion).

Next on the entertainment slate were Deanna McManus and her partner, George Wiggin, who danced the tango to the music of Pete Bukur.

The Sanford Male Chorus was at last revealed, and under the direction of Harry Weil, sang several songs. Mrs. Lulu Bailey accompanied them on the piano. It was evident that this group is really working hard. They received a large ovation.

Rock and Roll practically rolled the audience in the aisles when Pete Bukur and the boys stunned them with this modern music. A sacha by two delightful hotel guests followed. Mr. and Mrs. Shane enjoyed their dancing as much as those watching.

One of the stars of last year's Follies, who has since been married, Mrs. Fina Harrison, thrilled the audience with her singing of "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "I Could Have Danced All Night". Mrs. Harrison was completely charming as she danced and gestured as she sang.

At the conclusion of the floor show, Mr. Mebane introduced the general chairman of the High Fever Follies, Mrs. Don Brubaker. Mrs. Brubaker thanked the appreciative audience for coming and urged all of them to turn out for try-outs and rehearsals.

The director, Chris Carter, was then presented. Mr. Carter briefly

Story League Hears Mrs. C. C. Welsh

The highlight of the January Meeting of the Sanford Story League was the telling of the story of the Continent of Dark Africa as told by Mrs. C. C. Welsh who is a master story teller. She held her audience in complete silence for one-half hour, which is good for any public speaker. Mrs. E. C. Williams reported that she had told stories to 140 school children. These expert story tellers give much of their time to instructing and entertaining children, as well as grown-ups in the Art of Story Telling.

Mrs. H. L. Moore, president was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Clarence Snyder was Recording Secretary. The Theme of the January meeting was "Horizons Toward the Continent of Dark Africa. The Land Where black men and mud huts are found; Where ivory, diamonds and gold abound."

Mrs. A. P. Kyle, mother of Mrs. Moore, was the hostess for the evening assisted by her daughter. The meetings are held in the Parish house of Holy Cross Episcopal Church on the fourth Monday in each month. The table was overlaid with handmade luncheon cloths and the hostess served delightful homemade pastry cups filled with whipped cream topped with marichino cherries and hot coffee, assorted nuts and candies.

Father John Thomas, Rector of the Church, joined the group for the social hour and extended greetings to this splendid group and wished them success and happiness in their work for the year 1958.

Although the membership of this group is not large, it is a sincere and enthusiastic organization and most definitely has a religious tendency. Those present for this pleasant occasion were: Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Mrs. J. P. Thurmond, Mrs. O. E. White, Mrs. E. C. Williams, Mrs. Pearl Hannell, Mrs. C. R. Jones, Mrs. C. L. Keyes, Mrs. R. C. Long, Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, Mrs. R. F. Moulle, Mrs. S. J. Nix, Mrs. Mabel Brown, Mrs. Jay H. Beck, together with the presiding officers and hostess and program chairman.

The February meeting will be held on the fourth Monday in February at the Parish House at 8 p. m. Theme for the evening will be "Horizons Toward the Far Northland." The frozen north beckons us to come; And learn of the land of the midnight sun." Mrs. C. C. Welsh and Mrs. R. W. Tench will be hostesses. The program chairman will be announced later.

Singing up those in the audience for the Follies were members of the Gamma Omega Chapter of I. S. A. They were given in short formals. They paper stockings were given to the guests as they entered the ballroom by the hostess. Assisting were Mrs. Eugene Estridge, Mrs. Jack Schirmer, Mrs. W. R. Jennings, Miss Barbara Rhoad, Miss Lois Baraban, and Miss Patty Walker. Also helping as hostesses were Miss Betz, Ashley and Miss Mary Ann Bukur.

Chairman of Follies Committees were in attendance, as well as officers of The Hospital Auxiliary. In charge of arrangements for Talent Night was Mrs. Robert Conn.

Ware Bible Class Has Chicken Feast

The Ware Bible Class of the First Methodist Church met in McKinley Hall for the regular meeting. Business was preceded by a chicken pilau supper. Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Goodspeed, Mrs. W. T. Warren and Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford. Mrs. Carl Williams, president, conducted the business meeting. The devotional was given by Mrs. C. E. Chorpene.

Hosts for the February meeting will be Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Schueneman, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Tillis and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tyre.

Those present were Mrs. Carl Williams, Mrs. H. W. Goodspeed, Mrs. W. T. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Moye, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Norman, Mr. and Mrs. R. U. Hutchison, Mr. T. R. Buis, Dr. R. E. Rutland, Mr. D. M. Paul, Mr. R. W. Ware, Mr. and Mrs. John Carver, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kirchhoff, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Azareello, Mrs. Gretchen Crowell.

Also, Mrs. C. E. Chorpene, Mrs. L. H. Harney, Mrs. Ethel Riser, Mrs. M. L. Tillis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reesley and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tyre.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA COVYN, Sunday Editor

Have a note here—before I forget it—Used Christmas cards may be left at Kents Garage, 201 Commercial Ave., and Mrs. Kent will see that they are taken to the Harry Anna Crippled Children's Home in Unadilla, where the children get year round pleasure from them.

Now that Talent Night is over, I can breathe a sigh of relief—and thank all those who helped—like the girls of Gamma Omega who made such pretty hostesses—and Frank Mebane who did such a good job as master of ceremonies—and fellow members of the Follies, who were only too glad to get back in again. In case you may not have recognized them, those showing the way were Camie Bruce, Floyd Palmer, Guy Strickland, Georgia Ball, Sally Green, Hilda Powell and your reporter.

It was much fun for us, and we are only sorry we can't do it again this year. But the way, Mary Munte made new signs, which were put together by Anita Hadden of Scenery, Betty Brown (Props) brought the other equipment. It is plain to see, is it not, that this Follies bit is not so small. A great many people (around 300) are working together to make the production a success. This has become a time of "putting behind them" all those little grievances one might have with his or her fellow man. The workers have the attitude that "we are going to do it, so let's do it well."

This is a time of strain and excitement—sacrifice and pleasure. Last year the Follies was a tremendous success with a tremendous amount of opposition. This year it is hoped that most of the opposition can be eliminated.

Aside from the good cause in benefiting the hospital, the production is fun, and good spiritually for the soul. Or do you follow me? Hard to explain, but I think it does us all good once in a while to be forced into a position where we have to listen to others (even those we may not completely want to do). The High Fever Follies is a splendid example of co-operation all the way around.

Talent is still needed for the Follies. Dancers, singers, skits. Skits will be rehearsed Friday night, specialties Saturday. So Turn Out. Solos and specialties will also be Saturday afternoon at 2:00 P. M. at the Elk's Club. Rehearsal schedule for Thursday, 9:30 to 11:30 A. M. at the Elk's Club 7:30 to 11:30 P. M. at Mrs. Don Brubaker's on Mellonville Ave.

All rehearsals will be held at the Elk's Club, morning and night—9:30 A. M. to 11:00 A. M., and 7:30 P. M. to 11:00 P. M. Latest word from Betty McStratnie, talent chairman, is that dancers are still needed badly, morning and night. So turn out, all you good sports. Just come to rehearsals and you will be placed.

An amusing (to us) incident occurred Monday night when one of the Mayfair Inn guests inquired of a hostess "What's going on tonight?" The hostess returned, "This is Talent Night". Guest: "Well, honey, I hope you win."

Helping her celebrate were Joan Jones, Redia Epstein, Cassie Greene, Dianna Beesley, Linda Williams, Sandra Hamrick and her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Baggerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Walker are leaving today for Canton, Ohio, where they will visit Mr. Walker's sister, Mrs. Vera Allen. While in Canton, they will attend the wedding of their niece, Miss Annette Gallely on February 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Campbell have as their guest, Mrs. Campbell's mother Mrs. Cara Whitmire of Fort Payne, Ala.

NEW YORK (AP)—High School basketball is the answer to United States world supremacy in the sport. St. John's coach Joe Lapchick asserted today, and there's no possibility of Russia's or any one else "catching up" in the near future.

"Those extra four years are the reason that our boys retain their edge in international competition," explained the one-time skyscraper of the original Centies.

"It gives us an edge which, plus a superb level of intelligence competition, figures to keep us on top."

Lapchick, a modest man who still calls 'em as he sees 'em, figures that the five poorest players on our Olympic team could win the title at the international games in Rome in 1960.

English Teacher Coached
"It used to be that anybody at all taught high school basketball," Lapchick said. "They'd take the English teacher, as example, and tell him to buy a book and coach basketball."

"In those days, he continued, the big boys who were too awkward to 'move', were shunted to the sidelines because the 'coaches' didn't know what exactly to do with them."

"Then we had the 'goon' period," added Lapchick, who coached the New York Knickerbockers for nine years before going back to St. John's last season. "They were basket-hangers. But today,

Advance Major League Ticket Sales Underway

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer
The Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants are starting to mine the gold they struck in California, a United Press survey of pre-season baseball ticket sales disclosed today.

Fifteen of the 16 major-league clubs reported their advance sales for the 1958 season are running even or well ahead of last year, with the Chicago Cubs the lone exception. But the transplanted Dodgers and Giants were bidding to "out-Milwaukee" those fantastic Braves' crowds.

"At this date our sales are about twice what they were in Brooklyn on opening day," exulted Dodger ticket manager Harold Farrot. The Giants will be playing in 25,000 seat Seals Stadium instead of 33,000 seat Polo Grounds, but even so a Giant spokesman reported sales are approaching $2,000,000 — "at least twice" what they were in New York a year ago.

"The park is smaller," he admitted, "but we'll just sell out here oftener, that's all."
The Dodgers have taken in $1,000,000. Farrot said there was one big burst when it was announced the team would play in Wrigley Field; since the shift to 105,000 seat Coliseum was announced, "we have reopened the box seat sales and it's been more terrific than ever."

Boys Hunting Club Organizational Meet Termed Successful

The organizational meeting of the Seminole County Boys Hunting Club was termed as successful by J. P. Sizelove, its director. The enthusiasm of parents and boys is very gratifying to me, said Sizelove as he referred to the many personal interviews and phone calls concerning the newly organized group.

The next meeting will be held in the recreational building in Fort Mellon Park Saturday night at 7:30 p. m. at which time official entry blanks will be handed to each boy interested in becoming a member.

The purpose of this club is to set up criteria for a worthwhile leisuretime activity, promote interest in the out-of-doors, teach the necessary fundamentals of safety, respect for others, first aid, study animal habits, tracking skills, hunting dog handling, and sportsmanship. Awards will be given in each of these achievements.

Plans are underway to secure interested personnel to organize a Junior Rifle Club worked in conjunction with the National Rifleman's Club for children.

"Naturally, said Sizelove, great care will be taken and ample instruction given before live ammunition is handled. The instruction will be by an expert rifleman.

"We offer an open invitation to any parents or interested person to assist or visit at any time," said Sizelove. The meetings are open to all and "we encourage you to come down and bring along your boy," he said.

Sizelove concluded "Your boy will enjoy the night and you will be glad to have a part in helping some youngster to find himself in the great out-doors."

Mrs. J. McGraw Honored Recently At Sports Luncheon

Sanford friends of a well-known lady who has been spending the winters at the Mayfair Inn for the past ten years will be pleased to learn that she was honored at the All-Sports luncheon held in the Empire Room of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City, just before her arrival here, recently.

Mrs. John J. McGraw was the recipient of a parchment scroll for her great interest in sports through the years. Present at the luncheon staged in honor of the former New York Giants by the "Banhees", an organization made up of some of the greatest figures in the sports world, were Mrs. George Herman (Babe) Ruth, Mrs. Lou Gehrig, Mrs. "Rube" Marquard, James (Jim) Farley, Horace Stoneham, Eddie Brannick and many others.

John J. McGraw, known as "the Little Napoleon of Baseball" was the manager of the N. Y. Giants for 32 years. He died almost 25 years ago but "he lives in the

THE NEW YORK YANKEES pitching ace Whitey Ford will be one of the great baseball stars competing with Mickey Mantle, Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and golf greats Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Patty Berg and Dot Kieley in a series of golf matches and tournaments at the Mt. Plymouth Spa and Country Club in Sorrento, Jan. 25 through Feb. 2. All proceeds of the eight-day tournament will go to the Damon Runyon and the Hodgkins Disease Funds.

JOCKEY RECEIVES AWARD

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Jackey Merlin Volzke will receive the George Woolf Memorial Award Feb. 21 in a ceremony at the Santa Anita race track. The 32-year-old Volzke, who rode his first winner in 1942, never has been set down for a riding infraction.

RAMOS NAMED MVP

HAVANA (AP)—Pitcher Pedro Ramos of Cienfuegos has been chosen most valuable player in the Cuban Winter League. Ramos also pitches for the Washington Senators.

HEAVYWEIGHTS SIGN

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Heavyweights Cleveland Williams of Georgia and Gene White of St. Paul, Minn., have signed for a 10-round bout Feb. 4. White is Minnesota heavyweight champion.

Major College Basketball Ratings Told

NEW YORK (AP)—West Virginia, Kansas and San Francisco were 1-2-3 in the United Press major college basketball ratings today for the second straight week but Cincinnati replaced Kansas State in fourth place.

The 35 leading coaches who rate the teams weekly gave West Virginia 28 first-place votes and a total of 333 points. Kansas drew two first-place votes and 277 points and San Francisco received three first-place votes and 241 points.

Cincinnati, boasting college basketball's top scorer in Oscar Robertson, advanced from fifth to fourth with the remaining two first-place votes and 234 points.

Kansas State, fourth last week, dropped to fifth but was close behind Cincinnati with 230 points. The coaches based their ballots on games played through Saturday, Jan. 25. Thus West Virginia's 72-68 upset loss to Duke Monday night did not effect the balloting. Only 103 points separated the top five teams. Each coach chooses his 10 top teams in the balloting. Points are distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first through 10th place.

Oklahoma State remained sixth with 123 points but there was some shuffling of places among the remainder of the top 10.

TOP SPRINTERS MEET

NEW YORK (AP)—Dave Sims and Ira Murchison, two of the best sprinters in the world, will meet at Madison Square Garden Feb. 8 in the 60-yard dash of the Millrose Games. Sims won two out of three races from Murchison Saturday night in the Washington Evening Star meet.

Oviedo Lions Beat Titusville 51-31

By Marion Jones

Oviedo put off a fast start last night. Carl Fabry put in the first basket for the local team but Titusville quickly came back. The first quarter was close but finally ended 10-4 in favor of the local boys. From then on Oviedo maintained the lead even though Titusville tried to bottle up the tall center and captain Carl Fabry. However, his teammate Wallace Kelsey ran him a close race for high point man up to the very last. Kelsey shot some beautiful long shots both from the center and sidelines, at the needed times.

by one of the teachers. Mrs. Ives praised the cooperation of the various organizations and county agencies.

Mrs. Ives invited those present to a meeting at the Womens Club on Apr. 16 at which time Dr. Mel Reid, with the State Board of Health in Jacksonville, and Miss Margaret Margrove, secretary of the National Mental Health Association, from Washington, D. C. will speak. It will be an open meeting, she said, to which the public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Chapman introduced the speaker and Mrs. D. K. McNab presided over the meeting.

The group voted to sponsor the Easter Lily sale for the Crippled Children's Society as one of its continuing service projects. Among its major projects at present are the Milk Bank which furnishes fresh and canned milk to indigent families in Seminole County, and maintenance of a room at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. McNab announced that the club's pro-rata share of the benefit night at Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club this year amounted to $100. This will be used toward the club's various projects.

Registration Assn. Mid-Year Confab Stated This Week

The mid-year conference of the Florida State Association, Supervisors of Registration, will be held Friday and Saturday of this week according to Mrs. Camilla Bruce, Seminole County Supervisor of Registration.

Several state officials will be present, among them Secretary of State R. A. Gray, Mrs. Rose Kitchen and Wilson Wright of the attorney general's staff, and representatives of Comptroller Ray Greene's office.

James L. Graham Jr. of Tallahassee, association attorney, will speak. Mrs. Dixie Barber, Orange County Supervisor of Registration is president of the State association.

The group will make plans for the annual convention, to be held at West Palm Beach in June, and will discuss election and registration laws.

This week's conference will be held at Orlando's Angeltel Hotel.

25 Country Club Estates Homes Are Completed

George H. Garrison, contractor-developer of Country Club Estates, announced today that 25 of the first 40 homes are already completed and ready for occupancy.

Foundations for 45 more homes will be laid within the next four weeks, said Mr. Garrison, and this speedy construction will continue throughout 1953. Eventually, this tremendous new development of medium-cost homes will contain 334 houses covering the area between 20th and 23rd streets and west to Hardy avenue.

The homes are situated on large landscaped lots, and are of concrete block construction, consisting of two bedrooms, living room, dinette, kitchen with custom built formica-top cabinets, tile bath, tile sills, furred walls, jalousied windows, utility room, screen porch and car port. Floors are corkstone. Purchasers have a choice of floor plans and elevations. They may choose from a variety of color combinations achieved by Mary J. Garrison, interior decorator. All homes will be under FHA insured financing. Priced at $7,800, with a down payment of $485 and the balance payable at $35 per month.

Country Club Estates model home is located on West 20th street, four blocks west of French avenue. Mayfair country club, Sanford schools and shopping areas are all within minutes of the development. Eventually there will be a private park within the subdivision for the enjoyment of residents.

Pat's Shadow Shows Stretch-Running Ability Tonight

Pat's Shadow, who has come from virtual oblivion to gain ranking as a leading contender for top honors at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, displays his stretch-running ability again tonight in the 10th race.

The Circus City Race faces the track's fastest lineup of greyhounds, including Go Suzie, Frank Best, Ed's Deacon Jones and Fable Costess.

Though he has posted only three wins this season, Pat's Shadow has collected six seconds, running worse than second only twice in 11 tries against championship opposition.

Pat's finest performance of the campaign came in the top race of last week Saturday night when he gained four lengths on Go Suzie in the stretch to win by a nose. Until that defeat, Go Suzie had won four straight to vault into the lead for seasonal honors.

Business Recession Apparent In State

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Florida is in the midst of a business recession, according to Comptroller Ray Green.

He said Thursday an indication of the slump is that the state sales tax division is holding $106,000 in worthless checks, compared to the normal total of $20,000. He said five times the normal amount of bad checks is a certain indication of the recession because the merchants are not going to pass out bad checks if they have money in the bank.

Some of the rubber checks are for $5,000 he said. Green pointed out one large corporation that has never defaulted on its sales tax payments but this year gave the state a $6,000 check that was worthless.

The magnitude of the business slump will not be known until early in February when tax collections from December sales are all in, Green said.

The colonists used to sell muskets to the Indians in exchange for pelts, which were stacked up until they equalled the length of the barrel. The longer the gun, the more pelts it brought.

28 years, 16 of which were spent in the Los Angeles area where he built luxury homes in the $20,000 class. Since moving to Florida 2 years ago, Garrison has built 78 homes in Winter Park Village and 56 in Temple Terrace. After long and careful study, Sanford was decided upon for the third and largest Garrison development to be known as Country Club Estates.

Summerfield Says Refusal To Raise Postage Will Be Seen At State Fair

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield told Congress that refusal to raise out-of-town letter postage to five cents would be unthinkable.

He said increased postal rates, including the new five-cent stamp, is one of the most "urgent" items in the administration's budget message to Congress. Failure to act, he said, could force another increase in the national debt.

Several congressmen have said they would fight the nickel stamp proposal.

Summerfield appealed for support of the administration's postal rate plans in testimony before the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee. He sought a five-cent charge on out-of-town letters, four cents on local letters and other rate increases.

He spelled out the warning President Eisenhower outlined in his budget message last week—that the post office will run nearly 700 million dollars in the red next fiscal year unless the postage increases are approved. And even with these increases there will be a deficit if pending wage raises for postal workers are granted, the administration says.

Summerfield said the five-cent rate is "completely justified" on the basis of current costs alone, and it would be "even more necessary" if Congress approves postal workers' pay increases.

He estimated that by the end of the current fiscal year, the total "post-war postal deficit" will hit six billion dollars.

Summerfield said if postage rates are not increased, cumulative Post Office Department deficits over the next five years could alone "compel" another five billion-dollar increase in the national debt.

"If we are to maintain a balanced budget and an adequate defense posture, we must face realistically the task of reducing the federal budget," he said.

Atomic Display Will Be Seen At State Fair

TAMPA (UP)—A dramatic display of peacetime uses of atomic energy will highlight the 12th annual Electrical Exposition at the 1953 Florida State Fair next month.

The display will include a model of a nuclear power plant, an exhibit on atomic fission and a demonstration model of the Van De Graan electrostatic generator. Two scientists from the U. S. Atomic Museum of Atomic Energy at Oak Ridge, Tenn., will give daily talks during the show Feb. 4-15.

Fair officials said the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies and the Florida Nuclear Development Commission are cooperating with the Tampa Electric Co. in the exhibit.

LOW-COST PLYMOUTH LOOKS, RUNS LIKE NEW—AFTER 58,000 MILES

It's America's biggest automotive value—when you buy it...and when you trade

Dramatic braking test made before top automotive editors. The Plymouth on the right had just completed a 58,000 mile cross country run. Other tests included acceleration, ride smoothness, gas economy, handling ease. The 58,000-mile veteran performed like new!

One of the Plymouths above is fresh from the assembly line. The other, a veteran of the toughest test run of all time: 58,000 continuous miles in 58 days. A thousand miles a day through 37 states.

We put both of these Plymouths through the same exacting tests. Acceleration. Gas economy. Handling ease. Braking efficiency.

The results: The Plymouth that had driven 58,000 miles—the equivalent of 6 years on the road—could hardly be told from new. Like the new Plymouth, it zoomed from 0 to 40, 40 to 60 in a matter of seconds. In a 40-mph "panic" stop, it halted within 38 inches of the new car. And in the vital area of gas economy, careful tests proved that the 58,000-mile car delivered almost the exact same mileage as the new Plymouth. It rode with a smoothness and handled with an ease that astounded even veteran test drivers... men who had thought they'd seen everything.

What does it all prove? Just this: from the day you buy it, to the day you trade it in, your new Plymouth will take you to wherever you're going... faster, smoother, easier, safer. You get more value now... and you get more dollars when you trade.

Get your Plymouth dealer's fair appraisal of your present car and see how easy it is to own America's biggest automotive value.

Plymouth stays young and proves it!

Ancient Skull Is Found In California

OCEANSIDE, Calif. — A human skull believed to be five times as old as any other human fossils found in the United States has been unearthed in the San Luis Rey Valley near here.

Estimated at 50,000 years of age, the fossilized skull resembles the head of a Neanderthal man, according to Dr. J. J. Markey, president of the San Luis Rey Historical Society which has been doing archeological research in this area for 30 years.

The skull was found about six feet below surface level in the same cave which previously has yielded relics from the era of the Spanish conquistadors. Society researchers have been working the cave since it was uncovered about six years ago.

Dr. Markey and Dr. Eileen Herber, a co-worker, said that the oldest human fossils found elsewhere in this country are estimated at about 10,000 years old.

Old Colons Found

The owner of the skull found in the fertile valley which runs eastward from the sea was "definitely a low-brow," Markey said. Comparing the Neanderthal man, he intimated that the top of the San Luis Rey man's skull is barely higher than the eyebrows.

On another research project two years ago, the society found a mass grave containing skeletons of both Spaniards and Indians of about 400 years ago. Artifacts found with the human remains have led Markey and his associates to the belief that the white men were members of the Francisco de Ulloa party, first Europeans to discover the San Luis Rey Valley.

Ulloa, a lieutenant of Cortes, was on an expedition at the time to find the fabled golden Seven Cities of Cibola. All but three of Ulloa's party, including Ulloa himself, died of scurvy and dysentery.

Recently, San Luis Rey Historical Society workers have found many old European and Moorish coins which appear to be part of the booty Ulloa reportedly took ashore and buried in the vicinity of Oceanside before he died.

You can deduct all the expenses you incur in the collection or in the production of taxable income, including all the expenses of determining your tax liability, or contesting your tax liability, and this includes all kinds of taxes.

"In the case of an individual, there shall be allowed as a deduction all the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year —

- (1) For the production or collection of income;
- (2) For the management, conservation, or maintenance of property held for the production of income; or
- (3) In connection with the determination, collection, or refund of any tax."

This section provides that an individual who has elected to itemize his deductions shall be allowed as a deduction all the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year for the production or collection of income, or for the management, conservation, or maintenance of property held for the production of taxes, or in connection with the determination, collection, or refund of any tax.

Here are a few expenses that are easily overlooked although they are fully deductible in many cases.

Abandoned property. Accident insurance premiums. Accountant's fee. Advertising. Alimony. Allowance to customers. Amortization of improvements. Bond premium.

...ing of uniforms... if they are required by... use, or your employer, and are not adapted to general wear. Collection costs. Commissions paid. Contributions. Conventions, cost of attending your trade. Custodian's fees. Damages you pay. Delivery. Depreciation. Discounts allowed. Drivers license fees. Dues.

This listing is not intended to be a full and complete list of all the costs and expenses deductible in the production of taxable income. This is only intended to give you a broad general idea. Almost anything that you spend in the production of taxable income, before taking any of these deductions, please be sure to refer to the instructions for exactly how to do it.

Sanford — you've loved Mrs. Filbert's "New Recipe" Margarine...

Now-discover Mrs. Filbert's special recipe Mayonnaise!

Here's why you'll like it:

Mrs. Filbert's is real home-style mayonnaise, made with the same extra care and attention you devote to your own "special" recipes. All mayonnaise is not the same. Mrs. Filbert's has subtle but important differences in flavor and texture—the result of special recipe secrets developed by the Filbert family. Mrs. Filbert's gives your salad combinations a delicate flavor "extra" that enhances their natural goodness.

- Here's how the Filbert family does it:
1. We start with the finest whole eggs and we pay a premium to get them... whip them with extra yolks for richness and body.
 2. Next, a secret blend of the flavor hearts of imported spices for a special zest and bouquet.
 3. Then we add real lemon juice and aged apple vinegar (expensive extras not found in ordinary mayonnaise), for natural tanginess.
 4. Next, a cooler blend of fresh-pressed salad oils, sealed in to make Mrs. Filbert's light and delicate, never too heavy or oily.
 5. Finally we whip the whole delicious mix to just the right firmness (look for the distinctive "dimple" when you open the jar—only Mrs. Filbert's has it).
- That's our special recipe for real home-style mayonnaise with a fresh-off-the-eggbeater flavor. We're genuinely proud of it. And if Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise doesn't please you, we'll cheerfully give you double your money back.

Now...re-usable refrigerator jars

You can scoop out this delicious mayonnaise so easily from the straight-sided jars—no waste at all. And they're perfect for storing left-overs... for preserving... for dozens of household uses.

P.S. - Valuable coupons on every jar, too!

Senator Proposes 'Health For Peace' Program For U.S.

WASHINGTON (UP)— Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.) has proposed that the United States launch a program of "health for peace" through both domestic and international efforts.

In a speech prepared for the Senate, he also criticized President Eisenhower for budgeting less this year than Congress voted last year for research in combat cancer and heart disease.

"Cancer offers a striking example of the unfortunate contrast between word and deed," he said. "The President is asking us to pool our efforts in a broadened fight against cancer, yet in his budget message he is cutting back our own domestic fight against the disease."

The President submit additional budget requests for research in cancer and heart disease as long range programs in the same fields.

U. S. participation he expanded in international programs fighting cancer and heart disease. There should be an exchange program between U. S. and Russian scientists working in those fields.

An international clearing house of medical research information should be set up within the framework of the World Health Organization.

Chairman Victor L. Alfuso (D-N.Y.) announced Wednesday that his consumer study subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee would hold a public inquiry in the matter at West Palm Beach, Feb. 1. The hearing will be conducted jointly by Alfuso's panel and a marketing subcommittee headed by Rep. George M. Grant (D-Ida.).

THE CARD OF THANKS
 Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIAM" NOTICE
 It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasing recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How sweetly sweet are the echoes that start
 What memory plays an old tune on the heart."
 Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE
 Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column line.

Hitler Started Decade Of Gangsterism 25 Years Ago Today

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—Twenty-five years ago today President Paul von Hindenburg signed a proclamation appointing a new premier and creating five million Germans to be thus—legally and bloodily—that Adolf Hitler took over the chancellorship and embarked on a decade of gangsterism which crowned Europe in blood.

But even today they unhesitatingly recall the fateful proclamation a quarter of a century ago.

Did not trust Hitler Hindenburg disliked and distrusted Hitler and only four days earlier had declared he would never appoint "the little Austrian corporal" as chancellor.

But by Jan. 30, 1933, the 85-year-old President, apparently alarmed by rumors of a violent government coup in the making, finally agreed to accept Hitler as chancellor.

that once Hitler was in office, they could control and manipulate him.

Less than two months later on March 23, a Nazi-packed parliament voted Hitler dictatorial powers.

Six months later, all other parties had been dissolved or banned and Germany became a totalitarian Nazi state.

constitution which did not require parliament's approval.

Majority Impossible The country had been run by this clause since 1930, when continued squabbling in parliament made it impossible to form any kind of majority.

But Hindenburg's choice was a popular one. More than 17 million Germans of 39 million voted Nazi in the relatively free elections Hitler called two months later. He then banned the Communists to give his party a majority. The "legal revolution" was complete.

Hitler launched a vigorous program of fulfilling his election promises. He created jobs for the country's nearly six million jobless. He began raising an army to "right the wrongs" of the Versailles Treaty. His savage persecution of the Jews was another thing he had promised the voters.

ment Hindenburg wanted when he accepted Hitler, he certainly got it. Goebbels wrote in 1933 that "Once we have power, we never will give it up. They would have to carry our bodies out."

Exactly 14 years and 3 months after Hitler was sworn in, he was carried out as a corpse—along with Goebbels.

Today, 25 years after Hitler began to shape Germany's policies, the country is split three ways, with two eastern sections under Communist German and Polish control.

THE SMALLEST TRANSFORMER in the world, said E. S. "Gene" Johnson, president of Johnson Electronics, Casselberry, as he spoke to the Chamber of Commerce Coffee Club this morning. (Staff Photo)

President Of Electronic Firm Talks At Coffee Club

Members of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce attending this morning's Coffee Club at Mrs. Appleby's Restaurant in the Valdez Hotel, received a vivid description of Johnson Electronics in Casselberry.

E. S. "Gene" Johnson, president of the firm, displayed a number of items manufactured at the plant which employs 100 people and uses 14,000 square feet of floor space in its operation.

"This is, as far as we know, the smallest transformer in the world," Johnson said, as he held up a small item hardly visible to the eye. He described it as having 5,500 rounds of wire and used in hearing aids.

Johnson surprised the Coffee Club audience when he showed a "memory coil" which records data and holds it for a period of six months.

"The electronics business is made up of many gadgets and parts," he said, "and we manufacture components."

Johnson told the Chamber of Commerce group that "90 percent of his employees are from the immediate area of Casselberry—Sanford, Altamonte Springs, and Longwood.

"We've experienced our seventh year in Florida after starting with three people," he said. "And now we feel that in the next eight months we will increase our personnel to 200 people.

"We could talk to you a week about electronics," Johnson said, "but we know that high school students are avoiding mathematics and we want to ask you to help us get students to take math—the biggest thing in engineering."

Johnson invited Chamber of Commerce members to visit his plant "laid out for the comfort of our employees."

"We are a small company and we're growing, but there's no short cut to good business," he said.

Johnson, his executive vice president, Ralph Webber, and the son of the company's president, E. S. "Gene" Johnson Jr. were introduced by Charlie Morrison, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Coffee Club committee.

UF Budget Committee Makes Fund Allotment

The Budget Committee of the United Fund with approval of the Directors has made an allotment of funds from the recent campaign, and the seven participating agencies will get approximately 20 percent more for their 1958 operation than they received from their own individual drives, according to Pres. George Touby.

The exception to this is the Mental Health Assn. whose budget request was not 20 percent higher than the 1957 collections, and they are being allocated the sum for which they asked, it was said.

The figures for the various agencies are: Girl Scouts—$2,540; Salvation Army—$4,080; Boy Scouts—$1,720; Children's Home Society—$1,920; Mental Health Assn.—$1,750; Red Cross—$6,720; U. S. O.—$1,920.

Chm. Harold Kastner and his fund-raising committee turned over to Roy Mann, treasurer, $23,281.36 in money and $1,782.13 in pledges and it was these figures that the allocations to the agencies were made. Adding the amounts subscribed to the individual campaigns last year, the budget committee learned that the 1958 donations had exceeded them by 20 percent, and it was on this basis that the division was made.

A statement of current condition submitted by Treas. Roy Mann shows that all of the campaigns donated their services and the only expenses incurred were for printing and supplies used. They came to $289.84, which according to the Fund president speaks well for the drive workers, for most professional fund raisers feel that five percent is a reasonable cost of any fund drive.

As pledges are paid and other subscriptions are given to the United Fund, they will be included in future allocations or made a part of the 1959 fund, Touby said.

Mothers' March On Polio Friday Night Between 7-8 p.m.

Thousands of porch lights, symbols of the annual Mothers' March on Polio, will light up in Sanford and Seminole County tomorrow night when women in every section of the county pay their annual visits to all homes to receive contributions for the March of Dimes.

Lights will go on between the hours of 7 and 8 p. m. as the women's army goes from home to home, knocking on every door where porch lights or lamps signal a willingness to help speed the polio fight. More than 30 women will take part in the annual fund-raising event which will start at 7 p. m. and last exactly one hour.

Home owners wishing to contribute, said John Sauls, general chairman of the Seminole County March of Dimes, will turn on their porch lights or place a lighted candle or lamp in a front window. People who live in apartments will tie a handkerchief or piece of ribbon over their door-knobs.

The marching mothers will deliver a special message of importance to each family.

"Our Mothers' March tomorrow night will assure continuation of March of Dimes Research, professional education and rehabilitation for thousands of polio patients," Mrs. R. E. Spencer, chairman of the Sanford area of the Mothers' March on Polio said.

"Millions of women across the nation will join in this observance of the 20th anniversary of the March of Dimes," she added.

"From 1938 to 1958, our volunteers have written a magnificent record. They have provided direct financial aid to 325,000 victims of polio, saving many families from financial disaster. The nation counts on 'Mom' to make it possible to continue this vitally necessary service."

Senator Says U. S. Needs Bombers, Missile Subs

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson said today production of B32 hydrogen bombers and missile-launching nuclear submarines must be increased immediately if Americans are to "stay alive."

Jackson called for pumping $15 million dollars into Strategic Air Command SAC bombers and jet tankers and boosting the number of Polaris submarines to 15.

He said it was "incredible" the administration had decided against building more SAC SAs. Present plans call for three Polaris missile

Mrs. McGraw Given Standing Ovation At Coffee Club

A standing ovation was given Mrs. John J. McGraw this morning at the Coffee Club meeting of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. McGraw attended the meeting accompanied by Frank McMane, general manager of the Mayfair Inn.

Pointed out was the book Mrs. McGraw has written about her famous baseball husband whom Charlie Morrison described as the "greatest baseball manager the world has ever known."

Mrs. McGraw was saluted by the biggest crowd ever to attend a coffee club meeting of the local chamber of commerce.

More than 60 Sanford and Seminole County businessmen packed into Mrs. Appleby's Valdez Hotel Restaurant for this morning's half-hour program which began at 10 o'clock.

Others introduced this morning by Charlie Morrison, emcee and chairman of the coffee club committee, included Bill Hemphill, new general manager for Heller Motor Sales here; Peter Schaal, formerly of Sanford; Fred Hermann, owner of the Valdez Hotel; and Bill Halback, of Roy Wall Plumbing Co.

Clifford McKibbin, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, thanked those who assisted Bralley Odham in the membership campaign just concluded.

"We appreciate the confidence you have shown in the Chamber of Commerce," he said.

Scout Executive Praises Boys' Organizations

"They learn to be leaders," Central Florida Council Boy Scout Executive C. D. Caldwell, told Sanford Kiwanis Club members yesterday as he praised boys' organizations such as the Key Club.

Young people need this leadership, he said. Some of us are facing the fact that we can't keep up, Caldwell reminded the civic club members.

Speaking about the Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. last year, the Central Florida Council Boy Scout Executive said "It was give and take that the boys learned."

Caldwell also spoke about a canoe derby in which boys did not want to stop, even though faced with adverse conditions. "The kids today have just as much mettle as any—but we don't want to give them credit for it."

"You as a Kiwanis Club, have an opportunity to help a lot of boys have a lot of fun," Caldwell said as he appealed for the support. (Continued on Page 8)

VAH-5 Is Apparent Winner Of Derby

Excitement ran high as plane crews from VAH-1, VAH-3, and VAH-11, competing in the fourth quarterly bombing derby landed their A3D Skywarriors following simulated bombing runs on Atlanta, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla., Charlotte, N. C. and Savannah, Ga.

At the end of the second phase of the derby yesterday, VAH-5 held a formidable lead in the competition. In yesterday's simulated bombing missions, which also included celestial navigation, VAH-5 continued to hold the lead and came out in front, in unofficial scores, with an approximate 400 point triumph over its nearest competitor, VAH-11.

Commander Joseph M. Tully Jr., Commanding Officer of VAH-5, was on hand early this morning watching the scores go up at the completion of the last flight.

Final, unofficial tabulation, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning showed that VAH-5 came out "on top" with 2011 points out of a possible 3000. VAH-11 scored 1281 points and VAH-1 took 1374 points.

Squadron scores were posted, along with the final scores of the derby. In VAH-5 Ledr. Phil Harward and his crew racked up 721 points. Ledr. Bob Osterholm's crew came in with 704 and Lt. (jg) Dean Ortman's crew total was 591.

Scores will yet have to be checked for the final and official tabulation before the winner is announced and trophies awarded.

The VAH-11 squadrons came in with the top bombardier-navigator when Ensign Bill Foulk emerged winner in individual competition.

Plane commanders and crew members declared that "This was by far the toughest derby competition so far."

Official announcement of the fourth quarterly bombing derby winners will be made when Heavy Attack Wing One completes checking data for the final scores.

Captain J. R. Reedy, Commander of Heavy Attack Wing One, will it is expected, present trophies to winning crews and individuals at a ceremony and inspection in the near future.

Blind Composer Visiting City

By J. Marion Harman Sr.

Augusta, Ga. I was about to quit and that was just about a year ago. "And it sells best of any I've written." (Continued on Page 8)

Frank Pond, 91-year-old composer said yesterday in Sanford, "but there's a lot of difference between people."

Frank Pond has spent his life traveling — from coast to coast and from border to border—even though he is totally blind.

And he isn't dependent upon anyone either. He travels by bus, has no seeing eye dog, and no one travels with him.

He's probably the oldest salesman on the road today. Frank Pond sells his own music and his 25 years of blindness have been spent composing music and lyrics and then getting them in circulation.

"A great many handicapped folks lose grip on themselves," the music composer and salesman said yesterday in his Hotel Valdez room, "and I've been a help to many of them."

Faith just won't let me quit, he said. Several times I've been on the verge of quitting — as a matter of fact — just before I wrote my last song it was that way, in
