Floridians afraid of crime

JACKSONVILLE - a new poll shows half of Floridians are afraid to walk in their neighborhood after dark, but only one in five had been closely affected by crime.

Thepoll was conducted by Florids International University and indicates perceptions of the crime rate are based more on what the media and friends and family are saying than personal experience, says the director of the university's Center for Studies in Criminology and Law.

SANFORD - Whether to pursue ordinances calling for stronger security in local convenience. stores and restrictions on yard sales will be considered by the city commission at 7 p.m. tonight at city hall, 300 N. Park Ave.

The commission will vote whether to draw up an ordinance requiring two clerks in each convenience store between 9 p.m. and 5 a.m. Other regulations would require better lighting in store. parking lots, visibility into store windows and security cameras.

Corporate representatives representing about 15 convenience store chains have lobbled against the ordinance at two recent city commission meetings. The group claims increasing store personnel increases the risk of violence, and argues that voluntary regulation within the industry would be more effective than measures mandated by the CITY.

Henry Marots Jr. of the Florida Food and Fuel-Retailers said his group would challenge the constitutionality of any such legislation adopted in See Commission, Page 5A

Greek freighter seized; U.S. files ties the burder and saired entry to that house

MIAMI — The U.S. government Sunday acized the Greek freighter Elpis and filed a lawsuit charging the crew was negligent in allowing the ship to run aground on a coral reef in the Key Largo National Marine Sanctuary. The grounding was the third in as many weeks off the environmentally sensitive Florida Keys. The 470-foot Elpis was floated free at high tide Saturday, less than 15 hours after it hit Elbow Reef, about 5 miles cast of Key Largo in the Key Largo National Marine Sanctuary.

Largo National Marine Sanctuary. Federal agents ordered the ship to sail to Miami and seized it when it arrived at the Port of Miami early Sunday, said Diane Cossin, spokeswoman for the U.S. Attorney's office in Miami. The ship was still anchored off the port awaiting berth space Sunday. The crewmen were not arrested and were permitted to come and go at will. Cossin said.

The U.S. Attorney's office filed a civil complaint seeking unspecified monetary damages. Cossin said. The suit alleged that the crew was negligent and that navigational devices were defective. The ship had just passed a 140-foot light tower shortly before midnight Friday and was near the Elbow Key light, which is visible for five or six miles, said sanctuary manager Mike White. The captain was saleep down below and the first mate was at the helm, White said.

"He saw the light and realized it was too close, but before he could accurately determine his position, he ran aground." White said. "He was using a satellite system to fix his position. He should have been using his radar. It's more accurate."

All the officers on the bridge at the time tested negative for alcohol use, White said. Divers with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration were still surveying the reef Sunday to determine the extent of the damage.

"Any time you have a ship of that size on the reef, you're talking about considerable damage." White said."The wind shifts, turning it and changing the heading. It's like a large razor cutting across the reef."

The ship draws 24 leet at the bow and 30 feet at the stern and was sitting in 20 feet of water, he said.

Named as defendants are the Greek shipping company of EFHI Compania Naviera. S.A., Pstrino Unostantino, and E.D.F. Man (Shipping) Ltd. Cossin said.

The events wrapped up at 3 p.m. Saturday with the Track and Field sports including shot put, discuss throwing, high jump and dash events.

"We're pretty happy with the turnout of events. The weather was super. The people in the community really turned out. It was a good operation." Jernigan said.

It was in 1965 that Thomson discovered a tumor on her left arm over the elbow. It was removed that year at the Or-lando Naval Training Center. Her husband, Jim, is a retired Navyman, she explained. For the next two years, she was closely monitored by doctors at the naval hospital. But the tumor reappeared, this time in the form of cancer of the cartilage cell, a rare condition which can spread through the blood to the organs, she said.

"It appeared to grow faster. It never hurt." Thomson said. In July of 1967, the tumor and a nerve were removed in surgery. Her arm reveals a jagged 8-inch-long acar which extends from just below the crosse of the blow up. But Thomson said she considers herself lucky in that she is cured and her arm is intact because years ago, it may have had to been amputated just to be sure the entire cancer was removed.

The condition didn't discour-age Thomson from competing in the senior games later that year. "I just didn't feel like runn-ing." she said. Still, she said she

This year is the first time that Thomson has participated in running since her operation. She ran in the 50 and 100-yard dashes, but only won in the 220-yard dash. Thomson, her face glowing with victory, re-ceived cheers and applause from her friends as she dashed up to accept the medal which was placed around her neck.

As long as Ted Koppel and others counted the days of their suffering, and the American people tied yellow ribbons around their trees, the hostages can not be forgotien. We have not done so well since. Anderson's face has long since drifted off the front pages. Hostage-taking is a fact of life, or death.

In one sense, institution is for the good. Obsessive attention to terrorism only gives greater power to fanatics. But we must not forget Anderson and the others: efforts must continue to free them.

We also should remember that eight U.S. servicemen died trying to rescue the embassy hostages. We were willing to sacrifice much to save lives, although it was patient negotiation, not military force, that won freedom for the hostages.

Perhaps that says something about this nation's strength. The hostage crisis reminds us that ultimately it is moral courage that keeps a nation's spirit free.

DAVID S. BRODER Blacks move ahead despite racism

WASHINGTON — It was a very good day for Democrats in Tuesday's off-year elections and a very bad day for Republicans who espoused the rigid anti-abortion position that President Bush has defined as orthodox GOP doctrine.

But on the day when L. Douglas Wilder's narrow victory in the unofficial Virginia tally gave the nation its first black elected governor. while other blacks won mayoral contests for the first time in predominantly white cities from New York and New Haven to Seattle, it is the race-relations message in which Ameri-cans can take most satisfaction.

But there is no reason for smugness. Wilder and David Dinkins, the winner in New York City, had much closer calls than the preelection polls indicated and both trailed badly behind their white ticket-mates. Although each apparently won about one-third of the white vote, iwo-thirds of the whites found reason to oppose these notably moderate, non-threatening candidates. John Danieis, the new mayor of New Haven, and Norm Rice, the winner in Seattle, did better with their white constituencies. These barrier-breakers and others elected or -reelected as mayors in cities like Atlanta. Cleveland and Detroit join a growing battalion of black officials. The Joint Center for Political Studies (JCPS), a Washington research center on matters of special concerns to blacks. counted 7.226 such elected blacks as of last Jan. 1, up almost 6 percent in a single year and almost 50 percent more than a decade carlier.

But Eddie N. Williams, the president of JCPS, cautioned in an interview and a recent speech at the University of Wisconsin-Madison that the progress in elective politics has to be seen in a context of "pervasive racism." Even as New York voters were choosing Dinkins, Williams noted, the City's police department reported a 200 percent increase in "biasrelated crimes" between 1983 and 1988. The Urban League's annual report pointed out the irony that on "the 200th anniversary of the adoption of the U.S. Constitution that defined adoption of the U.S. Constitution that defined blacks as 'three-fifths' of other persons': for the purposes of apportionment, "black income is well below" three-fifths that of whites. The black middle-class has increased signifi-cantly in size and increasingly shares neighborhoods and friendships with middle-class whites. But a black under-class has become the locus of the nation's worst crime and drugt methods. and drug problems.

Even acknowledging the problems. Williams is right when he says the victories like those recorded Tuesday "are symbolically eloquent" of positive change in America. Defeated white opponents, he noted. "avoided any hard-core use of the race issue," and significant numbers of white voters "were ready to support black candidates and, by implication, some of the interests of black constituencies."

Jease L. Jackson, who can rightly claim that his two presidential candidacies opened the eyes of many other black politicians to the possibility of their prevailing in their pre-dominantly white constituencies, argued that

Tuesday's voting was another sign that "we're changing the psyche of America." Clearly it is important when Colin Powell becomes national security adivser to the President and, now, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. It is important when William H. Gray III, a Democrat, becomes the majority whip of the House of Representative and when Ronald H. Brown becomes chairman of the Democratic Party. It is significant when Bill Cosby's televi-sion family becomes the model of endearing middle-class domesticity; when Bill White becomes president of the National League and Frank Robinson American League manager of the year: and when Oprah Winfrey is described by a news magazine as "the most power-ful woman in America."

It raises the sights of blacks when they see other blacks succeeding on such a scale. And it changes whites' attitudes when we deal with blacks in such positions of such power and prestige.

Two-thirds of the whites found reason to oppose these notably moderate, non-threatening candidates.

But do not exaggerate the change. In the political world, blacks may now have one governor - of 50; 24 Representatives - of 435: there are still no black Senators. Williams is undoubtedly right when he says that expansion of political power will increasingly require coalition-building of the kind Dinkins and Wilder and the other Tuesday winners demonstrated, for the new black victories in the Ninetics will come mainly in majority-while constituencies white constituencies.

But the paths for progress are not a matter for easy agreement. Williams, in his Madison speech, urged that blacks seek "a more balanced partisan alignment" with Re-publicans, instead of their overwhelming attachment to the Democratic Party. Jackson saw Tuesday's victories being achieved by blacks who "clearly distinguished themselves . from the Republican Party and its philosophy.

that his main assignment 'is to raise money for the Republican Party. We had asked Bush for a response before we published our assessment. but at press time, the White House staff was still ignoring our requests. The belated answers have now arrived, together with more insight from other quarters. It was a beleaguered Dan Quayle, under intense political fire, who was sworn in as vice president last January. He seemed ill at case, fastened like an ill-matched Stamese twin to Bush.

Friends acknowledge that Quayle settled awkwardly into office, and found himself a conservative surrounded by pragmatists. That increased his feelings of isolation.

He kept quiet at strategy sessions. He still has little to say in the policy making councils. But his defenders say he is gaining con-fidence and feels like his role is to provide ideological balance. In the daily huddles with the White House "orat pack" of presidential staffers, Quayle is the conservative advocate.

Some sources say Bush's advisers spend time with Quayle merely so they can keep him out of trouble. But other sources say Quayle is doing his homework and is mastering some issues.

Here is the official word:

Presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater ratiled off examples of the challenging tasks Quayle has tackled, saying that the vice president led out on the administration's policy on wage negotiations and budget strategy. Fitzwater told our associate Jim Lynch that Quayle has taken on tough foreign assignments in Cambodia, El Salvador and the Philippines.

Quayle's spokesman; David Beckwith, claimed that our White House sources who called Quayle a "lightweight" had missed the mark. Those sources still insist that Quayle's successes on the road have been exaggerated. Beckwith acknowledged that Quayle was not a key adviser in the most recent foreign policy crisis — the aborted coup in Panama. But then, as often. Quayle's job was to do damage control on Capitol Hill.

When Bush has to deal with Congress, Quayle is the first person he calls, according to Beckwith.

On a typical work day Quayle arrives at the office at 7:45 a.m., gets a briefing from the CIA, meets with the senior staff and then joins Bush in the Oval Office for briefings by National Security Adviser Brent Scowcroft and White House Chief of Staff John Sununu.

Quayle has constant access to the president. His schedule shows he breakfasted or lunched with Bush nine times between June and August. But the vice president's influence on Bush is difficult to gauge because their conversa-tions are private. Quayle learned his vow of silence from Bush, who consistently refused to talk about his own weekly vice presidential meetings with Ronald Reagan.

WASHINGTON - Senate and House leaders wanting to shut down the Capitol by Thankagiv-ing still face a top-heavy agenda of legislation that must be considered before Congress can adjourn for the year.

Beijing residents boycott cabbage

BELJING - Beijing residents, cowed into submission by the military crackdown on democracy protests in June. have found a silent but effective way of expressing discontent - boycotting cabbage.

The latest government effort to resolve the crisis was an order today that every household must buy 661 pounds of the leafy greens. The city will foot half the bill and provide trucks for delivery.

The harvest and transport of cabbage, a staple of northern Chinese winter diets for centuries, has been governmentsubsidized since the communists came to power in 1949.

At less than one cent a head, city residents considered the supply of cabbage a gesture of good will by the government and dutifully bought up their allotted amount.

But by mid-November, with the mercury dipping further below freezing each night. Beijing was facing a full-blown cabbage crisis.

Trucks piled high with the greens continued to roll into the city, depositing their contents onto sidewalk piles that are spilling into the streets. According to a report in the English-language China Daily, more than 600 million pounds of the vegetable have been transported to every corner of the capital, with another 400 million pounds piling up in suburban warehouses.

San Salvador was tense into the night Sunday as the rebei attack, which began late Saturday, persisted unabated. The attack was in contrast to the normal hit-and-run tactics the FMLN has used against the U.S.-backed government in its decade-old civil war, which has left dead about 70,000 people, most of them civilians.

Most of the fighting was on streets in northern neighborhoods of the capital. where rebels had used cars and Red Cross said 15 people had buses as roadblocks and had

East German crossings slow down

EAST BERLIN - The whir of activity loward democratic reforms maintained its pace in East Germany as the number of its citizens lining up to cross the porous border into West Germany eased at some points today.

The ruling Politburo agreed Sunday to call a special Communist Party congress likely to lead to a purge of party members and give impetus to the reform program promoted by East German leader Egon Krenz.

The Central Committee was expected to meet today to rubber-stamp the Politburo proposal.

Westbound traffic was "almost nil" at most of the smaller crossing points on the border, frontier officials reported today.

The West German border authorities said that only the major crossing posts reported sizable numbers of some 3.000 East Germans by early today.

Traffic back-ups also were minor on the East German side of the border after automobile queues neared 40 miles long over the weekend.

Checkpoints at the wall also were deacribed as "quiet to fairly busy" in contrast to the hundreds of thousands of East.

and a second second

Berliners who poured through Sunday.

As speculation about a purge grew, one newspaper said three communist officials. despondent over rapid changes, committed suicide.

The newspaper, Welt am Sonntag, indentified the dead communist officials as: Herbert Heber, a party leader from the Halle area: Gerhard Uhl, a leader from the Dresden area: and Helmuth Mieth. a politician from the Schwerin area.

The newspaper, citing local party sources. attributed the suicides to "mental presaures" resulting from the present political situation and the rapid pace of change. All three were believed to be hard-line conservalives.

As Krenz moved quickly amid the chaos to consolidate his power, the mayors of East and West Berlin opened a new passage though the Berlin Wall, triggering champagne celebrations among East and West German border guards.

In a symbolic ceremony, the mayors met. embraced and opened a new crossing at Potsdamer Platz, once the busiest square in Berlin and a crossroads for Europe before World War II.

However, with the situation threatening to spiral out of control, East German troops with automatic rifles arrived as hundreds of West Berliners eager to celebrate the city's reunion surged toward the newly created breach demanding entry to East Berlin.

Order was quickly restored and West German President Richard von Weizaecker crossed into the communist East through the breach.

The incident came as authorities on both sides of the hated barrier took additional steps to ease congestion at border crossings. An estimated 1.3 million East Germans flocked into the West Saturday and East Germany said frontier posts had issued 4.298.375 temporary visas - about a quarter of the entire East German population - between Thursday and Sunday.

East Germany announced Monday the immediate abolition of the "forbidden zone" on its borders with West Germany. At one time, border troops would open fire without question on anyone who entered the zone. which ran up to 3 miles wide, except for people living or working in the area.

As hundreds of thousands of East Germans made their way west. Krenz reaffirmed his commitment to "radical reform" in East Germany, once one of the most hard-line communist states in the, Soviet-dominated East Bloc.

Brown Bess gets national fame

ARCADIA, Calif. - Brown Bess, a 7-year-old California mare, emerged as one of the nation's top grass course runners by racing to a 1 3/4-length victory in the $400,000 Yellow Ribbon Stakes Sunday at Santa Anita.

Staying in the middle of the field of 11 until the turn for home, the daughter of Petrone came between homes under the guidance of jockey Jack Kaenel to reach the lead 1/8 of a mile from the finish and then drew away from the iate-closing Darby's Daughter.

The heavily favored Claire Marine faded badly to finish fifth.

In scoring her rich victory, Brown Bess was timed in 1:57 3/5 for the 1 1/4-mile hillside and infield turf course to set a new record, clipping a full second off the mark set by Queen to Conquer in 1981.

The time was only a fifth of a second off the world and course record set by Double Discount in 1977.

"It'll be close," said Lake Brantley coach Clay Parnell. "It's two different kinds of meets. But we should do well at the state meet. I think it'll be close. We'll have to go a lot faster, which we will.

'Most of our swimmers weren't rested for the meet and that was the same case for Winter Park. The top eight from each team weren't rested. But they'll be completely rested for state meet and that's when eveyone should swim their fastest."

Lake Brantley's trip of Jodi Schwab, Jodee Lake and Ryan Pauley all were double winners on Saturday as the Patriots took seven of the 11 individual titles and qualified girls for the state meet in nine of the 11.

Currently, Jennifer Moon, Cara Duncan, Beth Rosenbluth and Dant Ohnsman have also qualified for the state meet. Shannon Stevens, Jill Spiller and Becky Peacock may join that group when the at-large berths are announced Tuesday.

"If everything runs true to form, we should have about 11 qualify," said Parnell, who sees next week's meet as being a near repeat of this past one.

'It should be us and Winter Park again. I don't know of any other schools that should be in the team race. The thing about the state meet is that there are a lot of good swimmers there. Everybody has a couple, but we and Winter each have about eight scorers.

According to Lyman coach Don Clark, the same should hold true in the boys' team competition.

SANFORD - T.J. Scaletta and Tony De Jesus combined for 56 points as Seminole Community College men's basketball team upset highly touted Brevard Community College 96-89 to win the Raider Tournament title on Saturday night. To pull out the game, which was played at SCC's Health and Physical Education Center, the Raiders had to withstand a furious comeback attempt by Brevard. In the consolation game, Gulf Coast Community College used clutch free throw shooting and a patient offense to hold off Patrick Air Force Base 65-55. Graf looking for revenge

NEW YORK - So solid is Steffi Graf that she has come within two sets of enjoying a perfect year.

Graf, a winner of 75 matches in 1989, has lost only to Gabricia Sabatini at Amelia Island, Fla., in April, and to Arantxa Sanchez-Vicario in the French Open, both in three sets. The loss to Sanchez-Vicario denied her what would have been a second successive sweep of the Grand Slam Championships.

Graf has compiled a match record of 147-5 during the last two years and has but one more piece of business left this season, when she will be in the rare position of seeking revenge. The 20-year-old West German is the top seed in the $1 million Virginia Slime Championships, and will be hoping to make amenda for last year, when she was beaten in the semifinals by Pam Shriver.

Sanchez-Vicario will be playing in this season-ending championship for the first time, and she is delighted at the opportunity.

The Buffalo Sabres extended their undefeated streak at home this season to nine games even though Dave Andreychuk's game-winning goal came with the green light signaling the end of the game activated.

The 6-5 victory over the Edmonton Oilers Sunday night gave Buffalo an 8-0-1 home-ice record.

"It was the most exciting goal I have ever scored, '' said Andreychuk. "As soon as he (Oilers goalle Grant Fuhr) started backing up I was going to shoot it all the way. It went between his legs. He's a great goaltender but he can be beaten between the legs.

The boys' soccer team of Lake Mary will try to go all the way this year after having been stopped in the state semifinal game last year. It will be interesting to see how the Seminole High School girls

Dickerson intercepted a R & B pass minutes later to put the Cowboys back in scoring position at the 10-yard line, but a good defensive stand by the R & B team pushed the Cowboys back to the 15-yard line, where they were forced to turn the ball over on downs. The half ended with the Cowboys ahead, by the 6-0 count.

A few adjustments by the R & B team at halftime made the second half very interesting. With 11:36 to play in the game, Rob Brown of R & B scored on a 30-yard run around right end and the game was tied at 6-6. The try for extra point was good when Eddie Key ran around left end and R & B led 7-6.

But the Cowboys refused to wilt and came right back with a score of their own. Dickerson again did the damage, going 37 yards for a score. He ran to his left then cut back over the middle, avoiding several tries for his flag, and the Cowboys led 12-7 with 9:23 left to play. The extra point try again failed. The R & B team was moving

But Scaletta, the tournament's Most Valuable Player, was magnificent. He hit eight of nine phots, including two three-pointers, to score 20 first half points as SCC raced to a 50-43 advantage at halftime.

The first ten minutes of the second half was all SCC as the Raiders came out smoking on offense. A three-pointer by De Jesus with 15:53 to play gave Seminole its biggest lead of the night, 65-47.

But the Titans, behind Sharp and West, started a comeback of their own. West scored 10 points and Sharp nine as BCC outscored the Raiders 21-12 over the next seven minutes to cut the score to 77-68.

Brevard could get no closer than five, however, as De Jesus and Scaletta took turns making three-pointers to keep the Titans at bay.

Scaletta finished the night with 34 points, including five three-pointers, seven assists and four rebounds. He ended up making 11 of 13 shots (five of seven from three-pointer range) and seven of 10 from the freethrow line.

De Jesus followed with 22 points (including six threepointers), six assists and six rebounds. The only other SCC player in double figures was Rishard Brown with 11 points. Sharp and forward Leon Pierre led the Titans with 18 points each. Ex-Seminole High School star Craig Walker had six points and nine rebounds for BCC.

SCC had advanced to the finals with an easy 99-66 victory over Patrick AFB on Friday night. All 14 players that dressed for SCC scored at least three points as De Jesus and Eric Hylton each had 12 pointsh and Scaletta added 11. Lyndon Henderson and Tommie Albright led Patrick AFB with 13 points each. SCC led at halftime 50-20.

Brevard earned the right to play Seminole when it bested a determined Gulf Coast squad 74-68. BCC led 45-33 at halftime as Duke and Pierre scored 10 points each, but Gulf Coast came Continued from 1B back behind 12 points from Byron Davis to take the lead in the second half.

In the end, the shooting of Ed Snead and the free-throw shooting of Duke and West pulled out the victory for Brevard. Duke had 17 and Snead 16 to pace BCC while Davis ended with 19 for Gulf Coast.

Gulf Coast jumped out a comfortable lead and led 31-24 in the consolation game before Patrick made a valient comeback effort. Anderson Wright and James Staten paced Gulf Coast with 14 and 13 points, respectively, while Henderson led the way for Voters were to choose 182 provincial and 1.769 district mayors, along with local assembly members in five re-gions. President Alan Garcia voted early in Lima in a polling place at the Foreign Ministry.

"We are a working people, of substance, and a few demented revolutionaries are not going to impede our voting in municipal elections." Garcia told reporters. In addition to the guerrilla violence, Peruvians must contend with an inflation rate of

SOFIA. Bulgaria - The sudden resignation of President Todor Zhivkov after 35 years of authoritarian rule sent a shock wave through Bulgaria, but it appears unlikely the Balkari state will join the reform movement sweeping Eastern Europe. "We have waited for him to step down," a dissident, who asked not to be identified, said

Sunday. Zhivkov, 78, who also served as the Commu-nist Party leader, resigned Friday and was replaced immediately by the more moderate Peter Mladenov, 53, the foreign minister.

Zhivhov, a hard-liner who took power in 1954. a year after the death of Soviet leader Josef Stalin. had been the longest reigning active ruler in Eastern Europe and the second longest in the world behind Kim II Sung, who has led North Korea since 1948.

He had been one of the Soviet Union's staunchest allies but moved away from Moscow in recent years as Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev led the way toward "perestroika." or reform, which the Stalinist Zhivkov rejected.

Zhivkov's resignation leaves Romania's Nicolai conserve the last remaining postwar Stalinist leader in the Warnaw Pact.

He was like a monarch." another dissident

He said Zhivkov opposed the personality cult when he assumed power but later developed his own cult not unlike Stalin's.

It is still not completely clear why Zhivkov resigned. Although Miadenov piedged to form a "demo-cratic and constitutional state" following his confirmation as party leader, the phrase merely echoed similar statements Zhivkov has made. He also said he would build "a truly successful socialism and civilized state." It appeared unlikely Bulgaria will implement Gorbachev-style reforms because Miadenov is close to Zhivkov. Some analysts think Zhivkov chose him as his successor.

A clearer picture of what Miadenov's ascension to power means for Bulgaria should emerge following a party meeting scheduled in 10 days.

"Further changes in the party politburo are expected to be made." a Communist Party source

Petho Signionov, a member of an independent group that supports perestroiks, said Miadenov, who signed the 1975 Helsinki international agreement on cooperation among the European nations, will be obliged to observe human rights and will "stand on the ground of the accepted values by Bulgaria."

"Mladenov, however, has not made any statements so far which would indicate he is reformiat or conservative." Stemionov said.

Antoni Zaprianov, an activist in an independent human rights group, told the Polish Solidarity newspaper, Gaseta Wyborcsa, there are hundreds of political prisoners in the country.

"They are beaten, windows in the prisons are covered with planks and there were revolts of prisoners in some prisons," the newspaper quoted him as saying.

A Communist Party source said Bulgaria remains isolated from historic events sweeping through some of its East Bloc sister states."

"The television has not shown anything about East Germans dancing on the Berlin Wall or exodus of refugees to West Germany." the source said.
