DEFENSE HOLDS THAT DEATH OF YOUNG TABERT WAS NOT DUE TO WHIPPINGS IN CAMP

THREE MONTHS POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL IS SOUGHT ADMITS FLOGGING

Case is Being Tried at Lake City, Judge McMullen is Presiding

(By The Associated Press) LAKE CITY, Fla., June 5.—Counsel for both the state and defense here today were arguing a motion by the defense for a continuance of sixty to ninety days in the trial of Walter Higginbotham, convict whipping boss, charged with murder in connection with the death of Martin Tabert, of North Dakota. The defense is seeking a continuance on the ground that it has not been able to obtain witnesses and stated that the state of Florida and Georgia and as far north as North Carolina had been combed for them without success. Many witnesses for the defense arrived here today from Cross City and Shamrock, the latter a logging camp city of the Putnam Company. Among these were Dr. T. Capers Jones, lumber camp physician, who is looked upon by both sides as the most important witness in the case.

LAKE CITY, June 5.—A motion for continuance of the trial of Walter Higginbotham, convict whipping boss for from sixty to ninety days was made by counsel for defense before Judge M. A. McMullen here today. Court was recessed until tomorrow morning to allow the defense to draw up its motion in proper form.

Higginbotham is charged with first degree murder growing out of the death of Martin Tabert, North Dakota. Tabert died while serving a convict sentence in a county log camp of the Putnam Lumber company, at Clara, Fla., at which place Higginbotham was employed as the "whipping boss."

The state contends that Tabert died following an excessive whipping administered by Higginbotham and have summoned witnesses to show that from one hundred and nineteen lashes were given this youth. The defense admits the flogging of the youth but contends that only ten or eleven licks were struck and that the primary cause of his death was pneumonia with a social disease complication.

The whipping boss was scheduled to go on trial yesterday morning. Absence of leading counsel for the defense delayed the proceedings until yesterday afternoon. The defense during the afternoon fought hard to keep from going to trial, first protesting that this court was without jurisdiction, which was overruled, following lengthy arguments. A motion then was made for the continuance but not being presented in proper form, the court recessed until tomorrow. The defense contends it has not had time to prepare its case because of the short notice given and today, according to counsel, will show that it will be impossible to procure several important witnesses.

Within the last three weeks Higginbotham has faced three judges. At Cross City, Dixie county, Judge Malloy F. Horne was disqualified by the defense on the grounds of alleged prejudice. Judge Campbell was assigned to the case and a week later at Cross City, he sustained a motion by the state for a change of venue on the grounds that a fair and impartial trial could not be obtained there.

Judge McMullen, who hails from Clearwater, Fla., was assigned by Governor Hardee to try the case here.

State witnesses from all sections of Florida and many from Georgia were here today. They number approximately fifty, some of them being former convicts and convict guards who served with Tabert and Higginbotham at the logging camp of the Putnam Lumber company.

Among them are Nina Bell, a former guard, who told the joint legislative committee investigating reported convict brutalities in Florida at Tallahassee, he counted one hundred and nineteen licks given Tabert by Higginbotham; A. B. Shivers, who said he prepared the "badly bruised and lacerated body" for burial after witnessing (he whipping and Glen Thompson, a former convict who reported Tabert's death following his release from the convict camp, and which resulted in the investigation by the Florida legislature and then attempts to place Higginbotham on trial at Cross City and this place.

POLICEMAN PROTECTS A MOTORMAN

FROM ATTACK OF SEVERAL HUNDRED PEOPLE IN NEW YORK

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, June 5.—A lone policeman, with drawn pistol, held back several hundred persons in order to enable William Mooney, a surface car motorman, to flee from an upper East Side crowd which had stoned the car after it had killed a baby. The mother shouted that Mooney's carelessness was responsible for the tragedy. Under the policeman's protection Mooney escaped through one of the broken windows and sought refuge in a car barn two blocks away.

The defense's principal witness will be Dr. T. Capers Jones, camp physician for the Putnam Lumber company. He told the investigating committee he attended Tabert two days before he died and death was due to pneumonia with a social disease complication. He stated he made out a burial permit, making it ready for general principles that death was due primarily to pneumonia with marital complications. On ascertaining from the state health department that no burial permit had been filed and that the state had no official record of Tabert's death, the investigating committee requested in a drastic resolution that the state board of medical examiners place Dr. Jones on trial so that the medical fraternity could be "purged" of an unworthy member.

Three Governments Approve Turk's Proposed Formula For Judicial Guarantees

Representative Grew Optimistic at the Manner in Which the Judicial System of Turkey Will Be Run in the Future

(By The Associated Press) LOUSANNE, June 5.—The British, French and Italian governments having approved the formula for judicial guarantees relating to foreign residents in Turkey, the Near East conference last night accepted it formally, and Turkey will make a public declaration agreeing to appoint four foreign advisers without interfering with the functions of the magistrates. The advisers will be authorized to follow all cases and make recommendations to the Turkish ministry of justice; they will receive complaints and must be informed promptly of all arrests and domiciliary searches. In deference to Turkish susceptibilities the allies have agreed that there shall be no special mention of foreigners in the declaration which applies to all residents in Turkey.

The allies originally wanted the advisers to have the power of veto in connection with the arrest of foreigners, but Ismet Pasha insisted that the declaration as a spontaneous act of the Turkish government showed how far Turkey was prepared to go to insure justice; she was doing it for her own sake, as well as for foreigners and was not according to foreigners any special rights.

Joseph C. Grew, the American representative, then arose and said he believed the Turkish declaration was intended to inspire confidence in the ability of Turkey to administer justice and secure to foreign citizens and companies the fundamental rights enjoyed under the best modern systems of other countries. He was glad that Ismet had seen fit to specify some of the measures which Turkey planned to introduce.

Mr. Grew continued: "I venture to add one general observation that the really important consideration is the largeness of the spirit in which the entire judicial system of Turkey is to be administered in the future. I am sure that no one realizes more than Ismet Pasha that it is time in the interest of Turkey itself to interpret the terms of the declaration in the most liberal spirit. On the administration of justice within her territories, more perhaps than on any other factor, will depend the economic future of Turkey and the friendly relations with other countries."

The second distinctive feature of last night's session was Turkey's announcement that Armenians now outside of Turkey would not be allowed to return unless able to prove to the satisfaction of the authorities that they intended to "accept the Turkish regime and live as good citizens. Ismet said it was imperative to exclude persons who had caused trouble in the past and suspected evil-doers.

GEORGE GOULD LEAVES ESTATE OF 36 MILLIONS

RECOGNIZES THREE CHILDREN BORN OUT OF WED. LOCK

(By The Associated Press) TOMS RIVER, N. J., June 5.—In the will of George Jay Gould filed for probate in the Ocean county court yesterday, bequeathing an estate estimated at $36,000,000 to his widow and ten children, Mr. Gould made public acknowledgment for the first time that he was the father of George Sinclair Gould, Jane Sinclair Gould and Guinivere Gould born to his second wife, Mrs. Guinivere Sinclair Gould.

Mr. Gould married Guinivere Sinclair, an English actress after the death of his first wife, Edith Kingdon Gould, also an actress and known as one of the most beautiful women in America, by whom he had seven children. Although the three children of his second wife, whose father Mr. Gould acknowledged himself to be in his will, are excluded from inheriting their father's share in the original Jay Gould trust, they are provided for in two trusts set up for their benefit. Their exclusion from sharing in the Jay Gould trust is brought about by the legal definition of the term "lawful issue."

By the terms of the will, the late Mr. Gould's share in his father's estate is distributed equally among the seven children of his first marriage, to Edith Kingdon Gould, Kingdon Gould, Marjorie Gould Drexel, Jay Gould, Vivien Deedes, George Jay Gould, Jr., Edith Gould Wainwright and Gloria Gould.

A trust fund of $4,000,000 is created for the use of Mrs. Guinivere Gould during her life time and is to be divided among her children in the event of her death without a will.

The residuary estate estimated at $18,000,000 is left to the executors to be divided in ten equal parts, a share going to each of the children by both marriages.

Two bodies still are hemmed in the wreckage.

Airtight Booze Orders Issued From Treasury

SHIP LIQUOR LID GOES ON JUNE 10—EMBARRASSMENT FORESEEN

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The treasury tossed on the international doorstep Sunday night its new regulations carrying out the supreme court decision barring all beverage liquors from territorial waters of the United States after 12:01 a. m., June 10. No loopholes have been left, according to a treasury spokesman, and the court's recent construction of the dry law will be rigidly applied.

Having failed to find any way by which conflict with foreign laws could be avoided, the treasury based its new ship liquor rules on a literal reading of the court's opinion and prepared to let come what may. Its only hope of alleviating a situation, which most officials agree will be embarrassing to international commerce, was said to lie in remedial legislation from the next congress.

Except for the exemption granted medicinal liquors, the usual immunity accorded diplomats and the privileges allowed foreign vessels of war the regulations permit of no inbound passage of alcoholic beverages. Consideration is given, however, to ships forced, by the extremity of distress to put into an American harbor. But even such vessel, if they have liquor aboard, must show that the necessity was grave and "the proof must be convincing," after which they will be required to give bond for faithful observance of the American dry law.

Concerning the hope among foreign maritime powers of relief from what is regarded as one of the most drastic interpretations ever given by the supreme court, some treasury officials felt Sunday night that congress might find a way of circumventing the import deadline. Others were convinced that the barred zone was due to remain until a change was made in the eighteenth amendment.

In this connection it was pointed out by the latter that the decision of the supreme court was based fundamentally on the sweeping provisions of the amendment rather than on the enforcement act and that the court held, regardless whether liquor for beverage uses was being imported, its being carried for any such purpose within the three mile limit constituted transportation which is specifically forbidden by the amendment. Legislation to relieve the situation from the foreign viewpoint, it was contended, could scarcely be other than in contravention of the constitution and, therefore, invalid.

As regards the exemptions accorded, the regulations have set down restrictions that requires permits and reports of a character and quantity sufficient to give the government a complete check on all liquor thus brought into the barred zone or landed on American soil. Provision has been made, however, that the seizures directed and the fines allowed to be imposed may not apply to vessels which have left a foreign port prior to June 10 and which reach a port

WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH IN PHILADELPHIA

JUMPS FROM EIGHTH STORY OF BUILDING, INSTANTLY KILLED

A building employe saw her arrive, sit down at a typewriter, then raise a window and climb out. A sheet of paper was found in the typewriter with the words "Forgive me." Members of her family said she had recently been under the care of a nurse.

VETERANS WILL COMBINE FOR THE NEXT CONGRESS

AND WORK OUT PLANS FOR FAVORABLE REMEDIAL LAWS

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 5.—Legislative program in behalf of disabled war veterans will be drawn up by representatives of the Veterans' Bureau and national organizations of former service men for presentation at the next congress. It was announced by disabled American veterans of the world wars. After a conference with the veterans' bureau officials decision was reached to have one Spanish war veteran, two representatives each of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans' Bureau to work out plans for remedial laws needed for disabled soldiers.

Ocoee-Winter Garden Roads Bad Condition

All persons traveling to Ocoee, Winter Garden and westward are warned that the road is now practically impassable and should go by the way of Apopka-Clarensa according to advice from A. L. Wright, head of the county road department. Mr. Wright says that they have left off work on the Ocoee end of the road and have started westward at the Patrick settlement in order that they might use the old road for hauling materials, and that the detour there, while short, has been made so soft by the recent rains that motorists will have difficulty in getting through.

By going north on the Apopka road as far as the railroad crossing at Lockhart and then over to Clarensa, one will have a fairly good road all the way, as the road is either brick or clay with the exception of the strip between Lockhart and Clarensa.

Mr. Wright also said that the road between Ocoee and Apopka was under construction but that work had started at the Apopka end and one would have no difficulty between Clarensa and Ocoee.—Orlando Sentinel.

of the United States the ban is operative.

Although the Washington diplomatic representatives of the maritime powers have been in frequent consultation for several weeks in connection with the liquor question and have acted concurrently, they have at the same time presented their views separately to the state department and any action which may follow application through the treasury regulations is likewise expected to be taken individually.

It is not believed that these countries contemplate at present any retaliatory action in their own ports against American vessels.

'GARDEN OF ALLAH'

Reproduced in Front of White House Attracts Much Attention and Praise

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 5.—Pennsylvania avenue, the scene of many historic pageants, probably never presented a more colorful picture than it did as twenty thousand nobles of the Mystic Shrine marched over its two miles of "burning sands" from the capitol to Washington Circle. As the procession passed through the "Garden of Allah," reproduced in front of the White House it was reviewed by President Noble Warren G. Harding and Imperial Potentate George McCandless and his Divan. The parade was one of four planned for the forty-ninth annual convention of the Shriners which got under way today and which was designated as a big spectacle of the gathering of nobles and it proved all of that.

All yesterday, and far into the night, Pennsylvania avenue was a confusion of noise, and color as each arriving delegation marched to its headquarters behind the band. Typical Washington summer weather greeted the visitors and the marchers found the wide expanse of asphalt on the famous thoroughfare gave back a heat akin to that of the "burning sands" of a desert.

The day's arrivals included the automobile caravan from California. There were some 500 cars in the line, but there remained only a few of those that started from the Golden Gate, a month ago. Western mud had halted many of the original start-ers, but as they came east, the Californians were joined by Nobles from many points in the middle west.

Pennsylvania avenue was a mecca for many of the shrine hosts, during the day, but for as many more, it was a day of sightseeing, with corridors of public buildings crowded.

President Harding, himself a noble, had the entire first floor of the White House thrown open to the Shriners, and the executive offices, lobbies and the famous Green and Red rooms were open during most of the day.

Beginning with that of Imperial Potentate George S. McCandless, of Honolulu, early in the day, there were many pilgrimages to Mount Vernon. The Imperial Potentate and his divan, were welcomed by Governor Trinkle of Virginia, and his staff, and after a formal exchange of greetings, the shriners laid wreath on Washington's tomb.

Incidental to the gathering of the shriners, President Harding dedicated the zero milestone South of the White House, and a reproduction of the boyhood home of John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home," which has been erected in Sherman Square, near the executive grounds in connection with "Better Homes Week."

EX-CONGRESSMAN DEAD

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 5.—John C. Hoock, former congressman from the second Tennessee district, later senator in Tennessee legislature, died here tonight after an illness of several weeks.

HAVE YOU STOPPED TO THINK?

Now that the dolce far niente days have come we do not want to let ourselves be lured entirely away from business and city building.

There is only one way to build a city and that is by letting other people know about it; just as one builds up any business, by advertising it to the world.

Here is what The Fourth Estate has to say on city building, and it is well worth reading:

Have you stopped to think:

That the City that gets the Publicity, gets the Business?

That the City that gets the advertising grows?

That advertising properly done is worth its weight in gold?

That advertising a city is business, not Child's play?

That people will go miles to a good live City to trade?

That the property will increase in value when the outside world knows your City is wide awake?

That people from neighboring towns will come where there is something doing?

That now is the time your city and business needs advertising more than ever before?

That if you don't get out and go after the outside Trade some neighboring City will?

That if they do they will get the business you should get?—Pensacola News.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Forty-five youngsters romped and laughed with Billie Gillen, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gillen of Lake Morton Drive, last Saturday afternoon on the occasion of Billie's ninth birthday, and many were the pretty gifts they brought him.

Billie's birthdays, owing to careful and loving preparation by his mother, are always occasions to be looked forward to and remembered for a long time afterward, and this was no exception.

Pastel shades were used as a color scheme, pink gladioli, yellow Zinnias, blue hydrangeas and lavender cosmos being combined with a charming result. In the center of the dining tables, dear little kewpies kept firm hold on the streamers of a miniature Maypole wound with dainty shades.

An ice course was served with individual cakes and pink and blue baskets of mints "to take home."

A guessing contest was a feature of the afternoon. How many beans were in the jar? Nobody knew, but Mary Gray Hickey and J. B. Streater, Jr., guessed the nearest. Mary Gray's prize was a lovely fan, while J. B. was awarded a wonderful collection of marbles.

Games on the lawn, all sorts of them, were entered in with great zest, and it was a tired but happy crowd that realized at last that it was time to go home.

Mrs. Gillen was assisted in entertaining her son's guests by the following friends: Mrs. T. W. Getzen, Mrs. E. M. McCoy, Mrs. H. K. Clonts, Mrs. W. B. Talley, Mrs. F. E. Langley, Mrs. W. E. Graham, Mrs. A. Ward and Mrs. L. E. Windham.—Lakeland Notes, Tampa Tribune.

912 Biscuits from One Bag of Flour

Here is real economy—a 24-pound bag of MERRY WIDOW FLOUR makes more than 900 biscuits. They are regular size biscuits too—2 1/4 inches in diameter and about one inch thick.

MERRY WIDOW Self-Rising Flour contains just the right amount of pure ingredients, so that you can make delicious biscuits almost as easily and quickly as you can slice bread. All you have to do is add milk or cold water and shortening, then bake.

MERRY WIDOW Self-Rising Flour is made by the Ford Flour Company, millers since 1895; the originators of self-rising flour. In spite of the many imitations, it is holding its old friends and making new ones every day. Here's the proof—over 600,000 more bags of MERRY WIDOW were used in 1922 than in 1920. Try it. You will never change. Ask for it by name.

Now is the time for all good men to come together and get the big work of bulkheading and other big improvements started in Sanford. We can either make a city here this summer or we can go backward and again become a village.

The Growers' Association held another meeting last night and on Friday night the entire membership will meet in the court house and effect the permanent organization, adopt the by-laws and constitution and go to work getting ready for the next season. And again the Herald would ask them one and all to bury their differences and get together this big proposition over and put it over right. And the only right way is to get together and stay together with the growers against the world and let nothing break your solid wall of defense.

Of course you will hear much about the prisoners in the camps becoming unruly since the lash was abolished and how the guards will have a hard time controlling them and making them work. However, in a few years it will work out all right and they will never know the difference. It will mean that more humane guards will have to be employed at higher wages—guards who know how to use their heads instead of the lash.

The Daily Herald is in such demand in the rural districts as well as in the city that the management will make strenuous efforts this summer to get it into every part of the county on the same afternoon it is printed. On account of the mail service in this county the Daily Herald does not reach some places just a few miles away until the next day or two days. We will remedy this by running a truck to all points of the county not served by quick mail service and get the Daily Herald into the hands of all its readers in the county on the same day it is printed.

For several weeks there has been a strong though quiet movement among public men and leading citizens from many parts of the state to induce our senator representative in the legislature, Nathan Mayo, to become a candidate for the office of commissioner of agriculture. Mr. Mayo himself had not had any idea of becoming a candidate, and did not consider it until he found there was considerable strength to the movement.

VALUABLE RESOURCES OF FLORIDA ARE NOTED. No writer in the state is better informed than Moses Folsom of the State Marketing Bureau, and his compilations about Florida are always interesting and valuable.

THEY WOULD NOT BELIEVE. Although more people have remained in Florida than ever before, there have been hundreds and thousands of people who left the state on the first indication of warm weather here.

They have gone back to their homes, despite the very earnest and very friendly urgings of the people of Florida to remain until weather conditions were settled in the north.

We are now getting the usual reports in pathetic letters from the north in which the writers complain that they left Florida too soon. Some of these letters tell of something worse than the mere inconveniences of winter weather that still prevails, but discover to the readers that sickness and, in some instances, death, has resulted from the too early flight to the north.

The warnings of Florida friends were not heeded and some of last winter's visitors will never have the opportunity of coming again, all just because they were in too much of a hurry and would not believe what the people and the papers of Florida told them.—Miami Herald.

WAGES, WORK AND LIVING COSTS.

Babson, the eminent economist, in his review of the labor situation, published in the Times-Union last Saturday, spoke hopefully with reference to the immediate future, largely because he sees "a change for the better in the attitude of labor."

Aside from the excessive burdens, placed on those investing their money in new buildings, due to unreasonable wages being demanded by and paid to mechanics, many of them unskilled and generally more or less inclined to do as little work as possible in the limited work-day—aside from this excessive burden, there has been invited, by laborers themselves, unwanted but compelled idleness.

Wage-earners and their leaders would do well to recognize more fully the dependence of their own welfare upon continuous industry, rather than upon alternating intense activity and depression. The responsibility for this fluctuation is not wholly theirs, but the prevalent attempts to press wages to the limit, accompanied by relatively declining production per worker, now represent perhaps the most serious menace to continued prosperity.

Here, in the foregoing, are principles of economics that can not be ignored without denying the operation of natural law. It has been proved conclusively that money will not be provided for investment when it is an absolute certainty that such investments can not be otherwise than unprofitable or a total loss.

If, as Babson and others hope, labor leaders, and also those in the ranks are coming to realize that the correct principle upon which to proceed, with reasonable expectation of prosperity for all, is that of "an honest day's work for an honest wage" then is there substantial reason to believe that common sense will prevail and that work, of which there is so very much waiting to be done, will proceed, with very great advantage to everybody.—Times-Union.

THE CANDIDACY OF FORD IS CAUSING ALARM.

There has been much speculation as to the persistency and the extent of the "Ford for president" agitation. The editor of The Nation, New York, in a letter to the Times, suggests that the thousands of Ford agents are largely responsible for the campaign.

The letter from the editor of The Nation had as its main purpose to direct attention to an exhaustive article in the current issue of that publication by Oswald Garrison Villard, the editor, under the caption, "Why Ford Should Not Be President."

Villard "views with alarm" the possibility of Ford becoming president of the United States. He concludes as follows: "Yet there is no doubt that the movement for Henry Ford is very strong, and in the face of Dr. Marquis' testimony to his former employer's tremendous political ambition, it is impossible to take seriously the interviews which are beginning to appear setting forth that Ford is really not a candidate."

They—her parents—tried to persuade her to get herself a job, and come down to Earth. So she did not but the kind of a job they put their Stamp of approval on. I should say not. She ran away, and joined a Musical Chorus. At last she was perfectly happy. Nothing to do but dance.

would like to see him try to solve their other problems. "So that is why the best informed political observers say that if Ford is nominated on the democratic ticket he will sweep the country. That is why so many of them think that even without the endorsement of either of the major parties he can run on a third ticket and be elected. If either contingency should come to pass the result would be disastrous to Henry Ford and to the country; it might readily bring about the complete collapse of our governmental machinery, which is steadily sagging to the breaking point. It would be the triumph of unselfishness; it would probably be the final attempt in American political life to fill the presidency on the theory that any American, no matter what his education, his experience, his talent, or his knowledge, is equal to the job of solving the multitude of complex problems that sometimes make it questionable whether any man can be found with all the qualities essential to a successful president of the United States.

AS TO DIVISION OF LABOR

With Changing Circumstances, Generally Accepted Definition Has Undergone Many Changes.

The division of labor is one of the principles evolved from the study of the principles of economics, or political economy, and is based on the claim that industry can best be carried on when each man can best be carried to do. Constant has a special work to do. Constant practice in doing the same thing leads to a perfection which could not otherwise be attained. Though the name of Adam Smith (1723-1790), author of "The Wealth of Nations," has been closely associated with the principle of the division of labor, the importance of it has been recognized before, notably by Plato (427-347 B. C.), in his "Republic," and by Adam Ferguson in his "History of Civil Society." In modern industry very little is done by the direct operation of the human hand; almost everything is done by a machine. The development of steam and electricity as the motive power both of production and exchange, has along with the parallel development of machinery completely revolutionized the conditions of industry, necessitating a division of labor on a far wider basis than that contemplated by Adam Smith. At the present day it is not a mere question of personal adaptation, but of local, national and international fitness and specialization for carrying on different forms of industry. Division of labor has become only a factor in the wider problem of the organization of labor, necessary to the success of every great industrial undertaking.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WRITER'S NAME WILL LIVE

Superficial Criticisms Have Misjudged the Work Given to the World by Sir Walter Raleigh.

It is something of a paradox that the last work of Sir Walter Raleigh, "The War in the Air," should have been the history of a great modern adventure, written upon a large scale. To those who knew Raleigh, whose death a vast number of friends and disciples are deploring, only by his works, he may have seemed somewhat detached from the life about him, and indeed upon the pieties and elegances of style. The most of his books deal with the past, in which the superficial critic might think Raleigh was finding an escape from reality. The superficial critic of course would have been wrong. Like all good writers, Raleigh had an intense interest in all that was about him. Whatever he read he put always to the test of life, and thus found the best, the only commentary for the books which he loved full well.—From "Musings Without Method" in Blackwood's Magazine.

Northcliffe as a Boy

When Northcliffe, Alfred Harmsworth by name, was a young boy the family lived at St. Johns Wood, next to a select seminary for girls of twelve to sixteen, and frequently the boys' ball would be knocked over the fence into the seminary garden, with ensuing remonstrance from the principal. Once when the ball came over the fence into the garden, the story goes, a graceful, dark-eyed girl of thirteen took possession of it, and when Harold Harmsworth clambered after it she refused to give it up. Later Alfred literally dropped in and by a combination of tact and blarney not only got the ball but got the girl's confidence and promise to return the ball when ever it again came over into the garden. Tradition has it that six years later she became Mrs. Alfred Harmsworth.—Kansas City Star.

Gold Found in Nova Scotia

Consul McCann at Yarmouth, N. S., says it is reported that rich gold-bearing quartz has been struck on property at Margra Barrens, Queens county, in the Yarmouth consular district. The preliminary development was concluded recently, and quartz is now being taken out and crushed. It is also reported that a rich strike has been made in areas on the "South Rabbit" lead, Margra Barrens, and that there have been eleven men employed on the workings since early spring. On July 20 a shot fired opened up a five-foot lead of quartz showing rich gold spots.—News.

What Did He Get Then?

Benny, small son of a Montgomery county family, is at the age when instruction on etiquette seems necessary. Sunday, the family was invited out for dinner. While at the table, the hostess served Benny with a second piece of cake. On his noncommittal acceptance of the favor, he was admonished by his mother: "Now, what do you say, Benny?" Hastily gulping down the last fragment of the second slice, Benny replied, with difficulty: "Got any more?" — Indianapolis News.

New Attraction

A man who had been engaged to write a circus poster suddenly found himself at a loss for a fresh adjective. "See here," he said to his employer. "I don't know what to say about this painter. Have you a thesaurus?" The manager of the circus looked at him with suspicion. "No, sir, I have not," he said, "and I don't think I shall do anything about getting one this year. I never heard of a circus having one, either, and I've known some good shows. Where are they raised, anyway, I'd like to know?" —Pittsburg Dispatch.

CHINA DEMANDS GOOD ROADS

Oriental Country Awakes to the Necessity of Immediate Development of its Highways.

A plea for good roads as a necessity for the proper development of China is made by the Oriental Motor of Shanghai, which began publication a year ago to encourage interest in motor use. Asking where the United States would have been if the good roads movement had not been earnestly supported throughout the country, the editor says: "Yet at this time of greatest development in the making of roads China lies dormant. If any nation in the world needs roads, good roads and national highways, it is China. Means of communication in the country are inadequate and medieval, transcontinental travel is only possible by water at the rim of the country, while the great heart of the nation is still inaccessible to any mode of transportation except the most primitive. "China can never become a nation until her roads are developed. With them the penetration of the interior, both for commerce and pleasure, would mean a few hours or a few days by motor. The people of the interior would be brought into touch daily with motors and motorists from all sections of the nation. They would begin to realize that there are parts of the country other than their own province and city, and the great welding influence which would make China a nation united would begin." —New York Times.

UNWORTHY RULER OF ROME

History Accords Low Place to Commodus, Whom Fortune Capriciously Lifted to High Estate.

Commodus was a Roman emperor, notorious for his cruel and voluptuous character. He was endowed with extraordinary strength, and often appeared in imitation of Hercules, dressed in lion's skin and armed with a club. To display his skill and strength in arms he appeared publicly in the amphitheater. As his opponents were armed with weapons of iron or lead, while he was encased in impenetrable armor, he had naturally an easy victory on every occasion. For his amusement he cut nasuter persons, put out their eyes, and mutilated their noses, etc.

Commodus was strangled by the gladiator Narcissus, who was hired to commit the deed by Marcia, the mistress of Commodus, who had plotted with members of his official family, to put him out of the way. When he died the senate declared him an enemy of the state, ordered his statues to be broken to pieces, and his name to be erased from all public inscriptions.—Detroit News.

Searching for Shock

There are so many instances where speech and hearing have been restored by a severe shock that there is a general notion among deaf and dumb persons that their salvation rests in this direction. Consequently they are resorting to airplane trips as a means of restoring their functions. The manager of the air station at Dayton, England, reports that he is besieged with requests from these afflicted persons who are hopeful that an experience in midair might supply the necessary shock. The parents of an afflicted child brought their offspring to the station and made a request that the child be taken aloft with the idea of possibly curing her, but aside from the tonic effect upon the child there was no other result. The child returned to the ground in a very happy frame of mind and was delighted with her experience. It has been suggested that the trip aloft does not have the desired effect for the reason that the various experiences in the air are more or less expected and therefore the element of suddenness and shock are lacking.

Warren Stories

Warren is a Shelbyville boy five years old and fond of cutting. One day he and another little boy were playing soldier, and were shooting both men and women when Warren cried out: "Don't shoot the women, cause they do the cooking." Warren's father was telling about transacting some business matters with a woman and said: "She is so ignorant, she doesn't know anything." Warren looked up and said: "Heckon she knows how to cook, don't she?" One day Warren's nurse was ready to give him a bath. She called to him to come and he said: "Wait a minute." Again she asked why he didn't come and he replied: "I am trying to make my minute as long as mom's." —Indianapolis News.

Holland Restricts Flyers

Flying regulations of the Netherlands government provide that the minimum altitude over closely inhabited areas is 400 meters (1,312 feet). All aircraft must always fly at such a height over towns or public gatherings as will permit of their landing outside of such areas in case of engine failure. No trick flying may be indulged in above closely inhabited areas or public gatherings.

SEMINOLE COUNTY GROVE AND FARM NEWS NOTES

On Saturday the County Agent can be found in his office in the basement of the Court House. At any other time he may be reached through the office of the Chamber of Commerce. Leave all calls there.

COTTON

The boll weevil is in Seminole county and is here in strong numbers. There will probably be little cotton yield where the Florida method of boll weevil control is not given, and furthermore it must be given this week. To delay giving the treatment will mean a greatly increased cost in giving it, and will mean also a very undesirable delay in the fruiting of the plants. The weevil is out of hibernating quarters and is feeding on some part of the cotton plant. If the cotton is large enough to have squares, about eighty per cent will be feeding within the shucks of the squares. The rest will be feeding on the tender terminal buds. Where there are no squares, all of the weevil will be feeding on some tender part of the plant. If you strip the squares and burn them you will destroy in that way about eighty per cent of the weevils. By poisoning the plant with the arsenate of lead or calcium you will get practically every one that is left in the field. The weevil comes out of winter quarters, due to increased temperature; not because the cotton has been planted and reached a certain size. Therefore, where there are no squares if you will thoroughly poison the plants a good control should be accomplished. If the cotton was planted about the last of March or the first of April, it will in all probability take a woman or child about ten hours to strip the squares from one acre. It will take a good man about two hours to dust the acre, and he should use from five to seven pounds of poison dust. The job must be done thoroughly or it will not be worth while. Every square that is plainly visible should be pulled. The poison should if possible be applied the same day that the squares are picked; in five days there are another crop of squares and the weevil must be wiped out before that time. Below is a telegram from Director Newell of the Experiment Station: B. F. Whitner, Jr., County Agent, Sanford, Fla.

Weather Bureau reports present conditions indicate general likelihood showers North Florida all this week but if fair weather comes in prospect later this week will wire you. Temperature records indicate bulk weevils now out of hibernation at Gainesville and Madison advise proceed square stripping immediately working between showers or even in rain making superhuman effort to secure every weevil when picking. Thereafter apply poison as quickly as you think can get twelve hours or more without rain. If poison washed off within forty-eight hours after application report it. All boll weevil treatment should be completed before June 10.

WILMON NEWELL.

Seminole county now ranks high as a cotton producing county. Let's give the treatment and keep the record.

CONVICT OFFICIALS FIND DISCIPLINE PROBLEM DIFFICULT

TALLAHASSEE, June 4.—State officials charged with working out a disciplinary measure for prisoners to take the place of the whip, which was banned by the last legislature in connection and as a result of the abuses, mulled over the subject of how the term "solitary confinement" could be applied to the Mobile road camps. The term is difficult of interpretation for some of the wardens, according to messages sent to the headquarters of the state road department. The state officials are understood not to have arrived at any definite solution of the question. Under regulations issued May 28 by the commissioners of state institution, unruly convicts would be put in solitary confinement and subjected to restricted rations.

The agricultural commissioner also took cognizance of published denials by L. S. McIntosh of a county road camp in Hillsboro county, that he had written him inquiring as to how he should deal with signs of unrest in the Hillsboro camp in view of the elimination of cell strap as a means of punishment.

Capt. Willis of a state road camp in Pasco county, reported a "large proportion of prisoners unmanageable so far as work is concerned."

A division engineer according to communication made public at the road department reported prisoners in four camps in West Florida, Westville, Scott's Ferry, Cottondale and Wewachitka, were "curdling" the captains and guards, and refusing to work.

Who'd believe George Elliott could perform so beautifully and dress so becomingly? Well he'll show you at the High School, June 8th in "St. Slocum's Country Store."

GEORGIA PEACHES ARE DELIVERED TO HARDING BY PLANE

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Two baskets of Georgia peaches, the finest produced in Richmond county peach growing district of that state, were delivered to President Harding yesterday after having been brought to Washington by airplane which left Augusta early in the day.

The peaches were a part of a cargo of two Martin bombing planes, which also carried two bales of compressed cotton for a New Bedford, Mass., mill. The mill will make the cotton into Masonic aprons and the planes will return here with the aprons tomorrow as a feature of the Shrine convention. The peaches were put off at Aberdeen, Maryland, shortly after noon, taken by another plane to Bolling Field here and delivered by air service officials and Cranston Williams, secretary to Senator Harris, of Georgia, at the White House shortly before 5 o'clock in time for the president's dinner.

EXPLAINS WHY HE HAD FLAG LOWERED AFTER DOG'S DEATH

AUGUSTA, Me., June 5.—Governor Baxter in a formal statement yesterday replying to criticisms of his action in having the state house flag lowered to half staff after the death of his favorite dog Garry, last Friday, said that he yielded to no one in his reverence for the flag.

"It may be," he said, "that the comments made upon my action will arouse our people to a new realization of their responsibilities to dumb animals. If this be so, one of my purposes will be accomplished." He expressed the belief that his act heightened the significance of the flag "as an emblem of human achievement that has been made possible largely through the faithful service of dumb animals."

"It is my prayer," the governor added, "that I always may be as unselfish and as loyal to my Master, state and nation, as was Garry to me."

JUVENILE MUSICIANS TO COMPETE FOR HONORS

CHICAGO, June 4.—Approximately 250 school bands, made up of more than 6,000 juvenile musicians are in this city today for what is considered to be the greatest school band tournament ever held in this country. The tournament will be under the auspices of the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce, which opens its convention today and meets until June 7.

From the list of entries it is ascertained that every school band of prominence in the United States will participate in the events, while many bands that have been recently organized and whose ability is unknown, also are entered.

The bands are divided into three classifications: grade schools, high schools and military academies. They will be judged for their bearing while on the march as well as for their musical ability.

The contests for today, tomorrow and Wednesday will be confined to high school bands. On Thursday the grammar school and military academy bands will be judged, and on Thursday afternoon there will be a mass concert in which all of the competing bands will play.

The convention itself is known as the "prosperity convention" and will draw dealers in musical instruments from all parts of the country. The exhibits will contain every musical instrument, from a grand piano to a Jew's-harp.

New York's Market System Condemned By Federal Report

Finicky Palate and One Big Market Habit Makes High Cost

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, June 5.—A finicky palate and the one-big-market habit are the principal reasons why New Yorkers pay so much more for fruit and vegetables than the producing farmer gets for them, says a report prepared by Walter P. Hadden for the Department of Agriculture and the Port of New York authority.

In the first place, it requires 141,000 carloads of the stuff each year to satisfy the hunger of the city's 8,000,000 persons, and all of it, as the first step in distribution from railroad to consumer is dumped in Central Market, a narrow stretch extending for a few blocks along the West Side waterfront of Manhattan.

This custom has grown up, Mr. Hadden explains, because all the jobbers of the city insist on seeing all the newly-arrived fruit and vegetables and on comparing rivals' prices, before they will buy. Thus attempts to break the dominance of the central market have failed.

Then the problem of diversity arises. A few years ago, the report indicates, the public appetite accepted its produce in bulk—orange for breakfast, always, or perhaps apples, and a few potatoes, onions and other common vegetables throughout the week.

Now the average housewife must have California grapefruit for her breakfast table one day, Florida grapefruit the next, Oregon apples the third, New York apples the fourth, Michigan peaches the next, continuing with fruits of varying climate. Going through the day of meals she will require celery, common lettuce, iceberg lettuce, spinach, escarole, romaine, etc., without end.

Thus the shipper, the jobber, the wholesaler, the retailer and, perhaps, the corner store grocery are confronted with the necessity of distributing an infinite number of part-car lots, part truck shipments, part crates and split packages. With each transfer the element of perishability increases and the cost per unit to the ultimate consumer goes up, says Mr. Hadden.

A ship from the gulf or a ferry of carloads from a New Jersey terminal lands at Manhattan in the evening. All night stevedores unload it and arrange it for display in the central market.

Space is so limited that many companies keep motor and horse trucks in line for hours, to get early loads when the market opens at 5:30 a. m. Between ship or car and truck is operated a motor shuttle service, to save room and prevent thievery. This costs $20 a car for unloading, Mr. Hadden figures.

The shuttle loads the waiting trucks, which haul the produce to five outlying jobbers' markets. The cost is $35 a car in Manhattan; $57 in Harlem. The wholesaler makes his purchases at the jobbers and hauls them away with his own trucks. Cost, about $25 a car. Then he delivers to the retailer, adding another $25 a car to the ultimate cost of the fruit and vegetables.

The retailer, if he delivers to his customers, adds the cost to his bill. "Nothing is more certain in regard to the handling of fruits and vegetables at New York City than that the terminal facilities now provided are rapidly becoming utterly inadequate," is Mr. Hadden's conclusion. It is this problem of terminals and the rapid distribution of food that the Port of New York authority, aided by the Department of Agriculture, has set out to solve.

FOR THE MOVIE FAN

The Flirt last night was a wonderful picture. And Osborne sure gave his audience a treat when he gave them a Buster Keaton comedy. And the audience showed their appreciation by their hearty applause.

And tonight is another treat. The mean picture is Betty Compson in "The White Flower."

Betty as a glowing creature of fire and romance, half Hawaiian, half American.

In a story of love and mystery actually filmed in Hawaii.

You'll see Betty riding the rust at the famous beach at Kaikiki. Shocking even the natives with her wild hula-hula.

Also special pictures of the graduating class of the Grammar School and the High School. Which all the Sanford people will want to see.

And International News as an added feature.

And the honor guests tonight will be Mr. and Mrs. Zebb Ratliff and little daughter and will see this special program tonight without cost to them, the treat being on the house.

HAVANA, June 5.—The 15-round bout between Luis Firpo, the South American heavyweight and "Italian Jack" Hermann of New York, has been postponed until next Sunday afternoon. The fight was originally to have taken place Sunday afternoon, but on account of a heavy rain storm it was postponed until last night. The weather conditions proving unpropitious, last evening, it was decided to postpone it until next Sunday.

CRIQUE TO GO ON EXHIBITION TOUR BEFORE FIGHT WITH DUNDEE

NEW YORK, June 5.—Eugene Criqui, France's new pugilistic idol, who toppled the veteran Johnny Kilbane from the world's featherweight throne Saturday at the Polo Grounds, has arranged a five weeks' exhibition tour of New York state and New England before defending his newly won title against Johnny Dundee, New York challenger.

This announcement was made yesterday by Criqui's manager, Robert Eudeline, who said details of the trip would be completed today.

Tex Rickard has entered the field as a bidder for the Criqui-Dundee bout. The promoter informed Eudeline today he was prepared to make him an offer but the latter declared he would give first consideration to the proposition of Tom O'Rourke, Polo Grounds match maker, who staged the championship bout Saturday.

O'Rourke has not made the Frenchman a definite offer as yet but it was understood he was ready to promote another featherweight title match on July 28 or August 4 at the Giants' ball park.

O'Rourke gave Criqui his chance to win the championship and I feel obligated to sign for a Dundee match with him, and particularly to give him a chance to recoup financial losses on the Kilbane fight," declared Eudeline.

O'Rourke had not made public final figures on the bout but it was generally understood his loss was around $50,000 with the receipts totalling but $90,000.

There were 7,285 divorces in Chicago in 1922, and our guess is that not one of the women concerned could make good lemon pie.

COMBINED CITRUS SHIPMENTS CALIFORNIA AND FLORIDA OVER 100,000 CAR LOADS

TAMPA, Fla., June 5.—The combined citrus shipments of Florida, for the 1922-23 season, and California, for its 1923 season, will, for the first time, pass the 100,000 car load mark, according to records compiled at the offices here of the Florida Citrus Exchange. The previous highest crop production by the two states was in 1921, when they shipped a total of 95,000 cars.

Thus far this season the two states have marketed a total of 78,000 cars of fruit. Of this amount, almost 42,000 carloads have been shipped from Florida while California has shipped about 36,000 cars.

The total California movement for the season, including oranges, lemons and grapefruit, is estimated will amount to 61,390 cars. Florida's citrus movement will approximate 44,000 cars, bringing the combined shipments of the two states for the season up to approximately 105,390 cars. Of the 61,390 car crop California is marketing this year, 10,150 cars of lemons, while the remaining 51,240 cars are of grapefruit and oranges. Florida's 44,000 car crop will be divided approximately 25,000 cars orange and 19,000 cars grapefruit.

WONDERFUL FLORIDA.

Continued rains in Lake county have put the watermelon crop out of commission and the truckers have gone gravely to work planting another crop and will wait another year to raise melons. There is where Florida has the advantage of other states in that if one crop fails there is plenty of time to replant and have a good crop of something else in season. Great is Florida.—Taylor County Herald.

MILLIONS WILL BE WON AND LOST ON THE DERBY

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, June 4.—On the occasion of the "Derby," England's most popular horse race, which will be run over the famous Epsom Downs June 6, more money will change hands than on any other sporting event in the world. It is estimated that on this one race $25,000,000 will be turned over.

The actual wagering on the race surpasses anything which takes place on several of the other big races here. It is an occasion when nearly everyone makes a bet, the amounts varying from the office boy's twopenny to the wealthy man's thousand pounds.

But by far the greater amount of money involved is in the sweepstakes which are organized in connection with the event. Every office throughout the land has its list, and here again the amounts invested vary according to the means of the participants.

There are also several sweepstakes open to the public, the most popular of these being the Calcutta Sweep, which offers about $450,000 for the person who draws the winning horse. Then there is the London Stock Exchange Sweep with its first prize of $125,000, and the Dublin Hospital Sweep which pays $50,000 to the lucky winner. The tickets for these lotteries vary from $2.50 to $5.00, and were snapped up immediately they went on sale. They are now at a premium, and are only obtainable by paying enormous sums to those who happened to be lucky enough to secure them when first issued.

The gambling spirit is confined not only to people living in England, for Americans in different parts of the world have shown that they too love a little flutter, hence their friends in London and elsewhere have been inundated with requests to purchase as many tickets as possible on their behalf.

One American woman is said to have secured tickets for all the bigger sweepstakes, and should fortune smile upon her she may win nearly $1,000,000.

The real Aladdin of today is the classified advertising section of the Daily Herald. It is remarkable how Classified ads help folks to live better, to spend less, to put more in the bank!

As an instance: one man swapped some odd pieces of furniture that did not match his set for a fine Victrola that he needed; a sewing machine that was no longer used was sold, and the money invested in a much-desired typewriter; a piano that had stood silent for years was exchanged.

But why go on with the huge list? If you would see how simply and effectively the Modern Genie produces results, turn to the
