

Cook Of The Week

Guests Love Gourmet Crepes

Fran Colosimo has always loved cooking. "I remember how I used to fuss with children's parties," smiles the attractive Maitland housewife, mother of two grown daughters and a son. She and her husband, Frederick, moved to Central Florida almost five years ago from New Jersey where they had a plastic textile factory in which they both worked for 17 years.

Her interest in cooking has led to her attending several gourmet cooking classes as well as a course in bread baking. In 1974 she won the vegetable category in a cooking contest sponsored by a local newspaper, and won a second time the following year. Her prize winning recipe for French Fried Cauliflower appears in the Gene Burns Cook Book.

Mrs. Colosimo has served as second vice president of Altamonte Springs Homemakers, and has also been active in garden clubs, antique clubs and sewing clubs. She has taken upholstery and furniture refinishing courses offered by Seminole County Extension Home Economics Dept., and is a member of Catholic Daughters of America.

In honor of the Christmas season, Mrs. Colosimo has chosen to share some of her favorite holiday hors d'oeuvres recipes with Herald readers, as well as some gourmet crepe ideas.

SUNSHINE CREPES
One-third cup butter
1 cup orange marmalade
2 lbs. sugar
1 lb. cornstarch
3 large bananas (sliced)
3 hot crepes
Confectioners sugar or sour cream
grated nutmeg

Cook butter and marmalade, stirring until marmalade melts. Pour several tbsp. batter in pan and slowly stir in butter and marmalade. Cook over medium heat until smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat. Stir in bananas. Spoon on center of crepes; roll. Top with confectioners sugar or sour cream. Sprinkle with nutmeg.

BASIC CREPES
2 cups flour (all purpose)
1/2 tsp. salt
4 eggs
1 cup cold milk
1 cup cold water
4 tbs. butter (melted)
salad oil

Combine flour, salt and egg; blend well. Blend in milk, water and butter; mix well. Refrigerate batter for two hours which allows flour particles to swell and softens so that crepes will be lighter in texture.

Brush the bottom of a 6 or 7-inch crepe pan or heavy skillet lightly with oil and heat pan over medium heat until just hot.

Pour several tbsp. batter in pan and quickly tilt to run in all directions. Cook for one minute, shake loose and flip. Cook for half minute more.

Makes 22 crepes.
(These may be served for a company breakfast with your favorite jam or jelly or preserves. Roll up and serve warm, sprinkled with granulated sugar. Can also be filled with chicken or tuna for lunch.)

COCKTAIL MEATBALLS
(Great to do in advance of a party)
1 1/2 oz. bottle grape jelly
1 bottle chili sauce
2 lbs. lean ground meat
Roll meat into small meatballs.

ITALIAN BRANDY COFFEE
Serve 1 1/2 ounces brandy per coffee serving or cup. Add a piece of lemon peel before serving.

Kwiatkowski, Williams Disagree On Report

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County Grand Jury that indicted four county officials Tuesday also was critical of an unnamed county commissioner who, the jury says, persuaded another member of the commission that nearly $1-million in public funds would draw higher interest in an Orange County bank.

Today, two commissioners disagreed on the matter, Commissioner Richard Williams, in an interview this morning, said that the official who told him higher interest would be paid if the funds were transferred to Orange County was Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski. Kwiatkowski was among the four county officials against whom indictments were returned Tuesday for violation of the state's Sunshine Law, a misdemeanor.

Contacted at his Orlando office, Kwiatkowski, said he doesn't "remember talking to him (Williams) about any interest."

"I don't remember," Kwiatkowski said. "Hell, we talked about so many things—in the sunshine of course."

Williams disagreed.

"Kwiatkowski brought the transfer up and pushed for it," said Williams. He said he and Kwiatkowski discussed the issue at an open meeting.

On Aug. 28, Kwiatkowski made the motion to transfer almost $1-million to the Southeast First National Bank of Maitland. That decision was rescinded Sept. 9.

The grand jury probed circumstances surrounding the county commissioner's decision to transfer almost $1-million in Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funds from a Seminole County bank to Maitland.

Kwiatkowski's motion to transfer CETA money was seconded by Williams and Commissioner Mike Hattaway's vote finalized the transfer.

After press reports centered on the transfer, the commission—at Williams' insistence—rescinded its decision and returned the funds to ComBank—Casselberry.

On Sept. 9, Williams made the motion to return the funds, and the commission vote was unanimous.

Following the Aug. 26 decision to transfer funds, both Hat-

County Workers Benefit

By JOE ASKREN Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County taxpayers paid $600,820 in fringe benefits for the county's 650 employees during fiscal 1973-74, according to the county finance department and John Gray, personnel director.

Among those fringe benefits enjoyed by county workers are the county's 175 vehicles to and from work by individual department heads, building inspectors, and directors.

—$7,445 for uniforms for firefighters, security guards and animal control officers.

—Free use of 26 of the county's 175 vehicles to and from work by individual department heads, building inspectors, and directors.

—$11,500 in travel expense (used primarily for department heads).

—Regular pay for time missed for jury duty in addition to the jury duty pay.

—Free training fee for fire and emergency division personnel at Seminole Community College.

—The county provides free hospitalization coverage and a free $4,000 life insurance policy for employees, eight paid holidays, and 10 days paid vacation after one year service (three weeks after 10 years).

Orange County, by comparison, pays 75 per cent of hospitalization coverage for its 2,200 county workers, according to Gary Wheeler, assistant personnel officer.

Seminole County also provides one day a month paid sick leave, accumulating to a maximum of 90 days.

County employees can retire at age 55 with 35 years service, or at age 62 with 10 years service.

Pension benefits are provided under the state retirement system where the monthly benefit is 1.6 per cent multiplied by the sum of creditable years service, multiplied by the average final compensation during the last five years (if that's the highest of the last 10 years), and all divided by 12.

MOTOR BANK OPENS DOORS

Sanford Atlantic National Bank officially opened its motor bank branch on French Ave., in Sanford on Wednesday when a car-load of local officials drove this 'Glasick' through the drive-in facility. On hand for the occasion were (from left) Mayor Lee Moore, John Krider and Atlantic National President Howard Hodges. Driving the Glasick is Atlantic National employee Rick Smith.

At Least Six Named, Only Four Indicted

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

The original Dec. 3 Seminole County Grand Jury report on a county government probe named at least six persons but indicted only four persons.

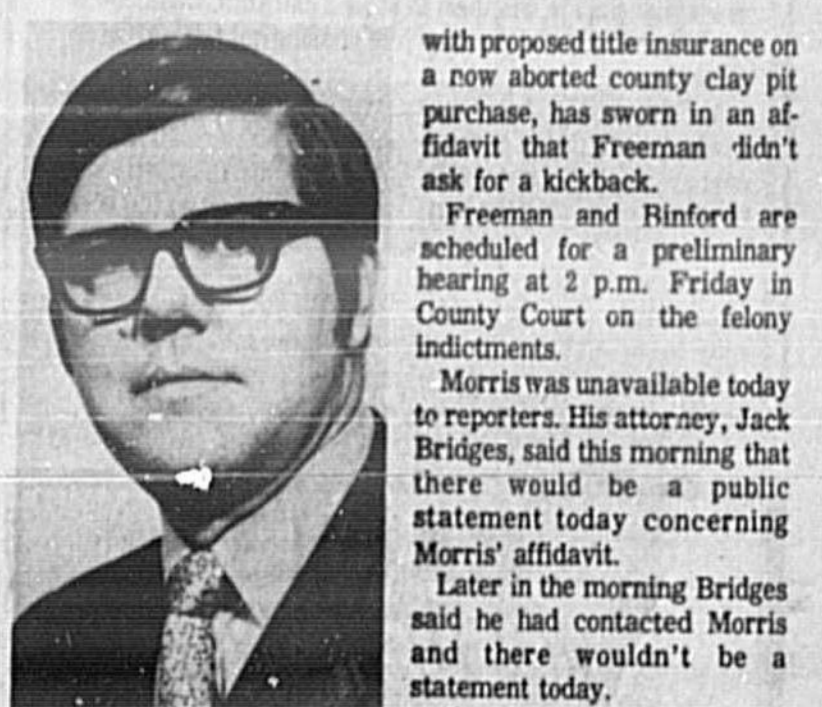

The original report, ordered sealed by Circuit Judge Joe A. Cowart Jr., also described other persons, according to a Dec. 5 court order, previously sealed, but made public today.

The original report and indictments were bounded back to the grand jury by the court because they contained "improper matters."

On Tuesday the grand jury reviewed and returned a revised report and indictments against two county commissioners, the county attorney and the chairman of the Seminole County Port Authority.

The revised jury report, as made public, failed to name unindicted conspirators, referring to them as "John Doe."

County Commissioners Harry Kwiatkowski and Mike Hattaway and County Attorney Thomas G. Freeman were indicted on a misdemeanor charge in the Sunshine Government in violation of the Sunshine Law and conspiracy charges. They were indicted

JOHN MORRIS Unavailable for comment summons to appear on the charges in County Court on Jan. 2.

Freeman was also indicted on the felony charge of soliciting unlawful compensation and Port Authority Chairman Tom A. Binford was indicted on a felony perjury charge in connection with qualification for a 1974 bid for a county commission seat.

Meanwhile, John Morris, of Chelsea Title and Guaranty Co., official that Freeman is accused of soliciting a $12,400 kickback from in connection with proposed title insurance on a new aborted county clay pit purchase, has sworn in an affidavit that Freeman didn't ask for a kickback.

Freeman and Binford are scheduled for a preliminary hearing at 2 p.m. Friday in County Court on the felony indictments.

Morris was unavailable today to reporters. His attorney, Jack Bridges, said this morning that there would be a public statement today concerning Morris' affidavit.

Later in the morning Bridges said he had contacted Morris and there wouldn't be a statement today.

Also this morning, Bridges and J. Cheney Mason, attorney for Freeman, and Assistant State Atty. William Staley petitioned in circuit court to get Morris' testimony before the grand jury transcribed.

When Morris' affidavit basing the felony indictment against Freeman is "totally false" surfaced on Wednesday, State Atty. Abbott Herring hinted that there may be a perjury investigation.

Herring said Morris had personally, in front of a witness, told Herring "information that is contrary to the affidavit."

Herring also said his office has a tape recorded statement from Morris that is contrary to the affidavit.

Sources said today that Herring likely will hold off on requesting Gov. Reubin Askew send in a special prosecutor to probe what may be perjury testimony from Morris' grand jury testimony is ordered by the court.

In other developments, Binford's attorney, Roger Berry, revealed that he has confirmed that Binford called State Attorney General Robert Shevin's office on April 8, 1974, with questions on residency

County Courthouse Annex Memo Is Expected

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

County Attorney Thomas Freeman is expected to produce a memo outlining which departments can be switched from the Sanford courthouse to a new annex in South Seminole County, Roger Neiswender said.

Neiswender, director of county development, said he expects to have Freeman's memo sometime.

Neiswender also is looking for some direction from the Office of Management, Analysis and Evaluation (OMAE) as to the exact footage requirements needed to meet space requirements.

The total project is expected to be completed in a year, Neiswender said. "That's the minimum" he added.

Though county officials have been discussing purchase of the Montgomery-Ward Building in Casselberry, Neiswender said other buildings and perhaps even locations other than South Seminole are viable.

County commissioners are advertising for an architect who will ensure the building selected by the commission will meet space requirements.

Neiswender said the Freeman memo will determine which departments, or parts of departments, may legally be moved from the county seat. He said county officials now are looking at the feasibility of moving entire departments as well as sections.

Neiswender will deliver a progress report to the commission on Tuesday. The project to purchase a new building has been assigned top priority by the county commission.

Neiswender says the need for additional space has already been outlined in an OMAE report submitted to the commission earlier this year.

The county has approved bonding as the method to finance the venture. At the time that approval was granted, the commission was looking only at the $1 million purchase of the Montgomery Ward building. However, Neiswender said

Sen. John Vogt Elected Delegation Head Again

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Over objections from Rep. Robert Hattaway (D-Altamonte Springs), State Sen. John Vogt (D-Cocoa Beach) was re-elected chairman of the Seminole County Legislative Delegation by his republican and independent colleagues Wednesday night.

Hattaway as he did a year ago when Vogt was first elected chairman after Rep. Gene Mooney's defeat by Hattaway at the polls, insisted the delegation chairman should reside within the county.

"I am the representative from Seminole County and receive 99 per cent of the telephone calls," Hattaway said.

Rep. Vinces Fechtel (R-Leesburg) nominated Vogt and Sen. Lori Wilson (I-Merritt Island) announce her support Hattaway cast the only negative tally.

In other action, the report at the January delegation meeting on its independent findings and recommendations if any.

NATION IN BRIEF

House Preparing To Vote, May Override Tax Cut Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today sustained President Ford's veto of a bill extending 1975 income tax cuts, virtually assuring that most working Americans will pay higher income taxes beginning New Year's Day.

The vote was 305 to 187 with two members voting present. The tally was 17 votes short of the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto.

If the existing tax cut law dies on schedule, the typical worker's taxes will increase $3 to $4 a week starting Jan. 1.

Prior to the vote, House Speaker Carl Albert accused the White House of trying to "brainwash the Republicans" by telling them that they will get some kind of bill anyway.

Death of the bill means an automatic January jump in most Americans' taxes unless some emergency legislation is worked out between now and New Year's Day.

Ford Must Decide On Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — After prodding Congress for a year to face the nation's energy problems, President Ford now must decide whether to sign a bill that would temporarily reduce fuel prices while phasing out federal price controls.

A Federal Energy Administration official said Wednesday that Ford apparently has tipped his decision on the energy bill to no one. But FEA chief Frank G. Zarb has recommended that Ford approve the measure as the best he is going to get from Congress.

Zarb said Wednesday night he plans to meet with Ford today to discuss the bill, and he indicated the President may make an immediate decision on the measure. Asked if he thought Ford would sign the bill, Zarb said, "When I see him, perhaps you'll know."

Measure By Sen. Wilson Would Regulate Utilities

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The "hue and cry" raised by out-of-city customers of city-owned utility systems of "exorbitant rates" has led State Sen. Lori Wilson (1-Merritt Island) to again propose legislation which would require the state's Public Service Commission (PSC) to regulate the operation of city-owned water and sewer companies.

Sen. Wilson, in response to a complaint from County Commission Chairman J. Michael Hattaway concerning the purchase of General Waterworks Utility by the City of Casselberry, said Wednesday night she would file again the bill which was "beat to death by the Florida League of Cities" last year.

She said her proposed law would call for regulation by the state agency of municipally-owned utilities that serve areas outside their boundaries.

Hattaway, speaking for the five county commissioners and "at least 5,000 residents" in the south end who feel their rights are being abused at best, urged that legislation be passed on a statewide basis.

A spectator in the audience said that homeowners in developments pay for utility lines placed by developers as part of the cost of their home and pay again for the lines in "exorbitant" rates when the utility is sold.

Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Cal DeVoney objected to the legislation, saying it expects that the PSC could regulate all utilities belonging to cities in the state is ridiculous.

DeVoney, speaking of his city's regional sewer plant, said Altamonte has no choice of rates, that rates are set by the federal government.

Quoting from a newspaper report dated last August, a representative of the Seminole League of Civic Associations, noted that Casselberry officials, by purchasing the utility company, hoped to provide "incentive for annexation into the city."

Seminole City Manager Warren E. Knowles said the legislation proposed by Sen. Wilson would "use every city with the same brush" and that any legislation should also include a mandate to the county to take over and operate utilities in unincorporated areas.

"We have utilities outside the city that we have been trying to get rid of for years," Knowles said, adding that Sanford taxpayers, through property taxes, supported its utilities for years.

Young Woman Assaulted

By AUDIE MURPHY
Herald Staff Writer

A 19-year-old woman was assaulted early today as she walked home from work.

The woman, a dancer at a Fern Park night club, reportedly was walking along SR-409 around 1:30 a.m. when a white male in a small white car pulled up along side her and asked if she wanted a ride.

After declining the ride, the woman continued walking, but when she neared the Italian Fisherman restaurant, the same man reportedly emerged from behind a building and told her he wanted to "walk with her."

The man then walked with the woman to the corner of SR-409 and South Street, where he pulled a knife and ordered her to a nearby wooded area, where the assault took place.

After the man fled, the woman walked to a motel where she was staying and notified the sheriff's department. Ironically, Sheriff's Deputy H. Morton said in his report that he had passed the couple in his car while they stood at the corner of SR-409 and South Street, shortly before the assault took place.

Morton said he slowed his car as he passed the couple and they looked in his direction, but "everything appeared to be okay."

County Use Of Library 10 Per Cent Of Total

The director of the Orlando - Orange - Osceola - Seminole Library system said Seminole residents are accounting for about 10 per cent of the 200,000 items checked out through the 11 locations in the system each month.

Mrs. Sara Harrison, head of the Sanford Public Library, which is in the three-county system, said circulation is up more than 1,000 books per month, over the same period last year.

Glenn Miller, system director, said in the first 60 days after the new system was opened Oct. 1 to Seminole residents, a total of 13,533 Seminole citizens registered for free library cards.

Added to the 5,715 people who already held cards for the Sanford Public Library, that makes 19,249 currently registered library users in Seminole County, said Miller.

By comparison, the City of Orlando has 29,004 active cardholders, and the total current registration in three counties is 122,658 which are new or have been renewed in the last two years, he said.

Seminole residents checked out 39,943 books, records and films in the first two months of the new service.

About 41 per cent of the materials (15,987 items in two months) were borrowed by Seminole residents from the central library in downtown Orlando. One-third of the circulation (13,229 items) was through the Sanford Public Library and the rest (7,857 items) were checked out from the Bookmobile and other community libraries, Miller said.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Florida Unemployment Drops, Trend Expected To Continue

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Unemployment in Florida dropped last month and most businessmen in the state expect the trend to continue, officials say.

The Commerce Department reported Wednesday that the unemployment rate in November declined to 12.9 per cent from 13 per cent in October and that 56,500 more people had jobs.

"That's an indication there's some activity out there we didn't have before," Commerce Secretary Edward Trombetta said.

Meanwhile, the Florida Chamber of Commerce said a survey of members found that 68 per cent expect the state economy next year to continue its recovery from the recession, accompanied by lower unemployment.

Traffic Toll Set At 31

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Some 31 persons will be killed in Florida traffic accidents during the 102-hour Christmas holiday, the Highway Patrol has predicted.

The estimate is based on deaths during the past three Christmas holidays and an 11-per-cent decrease in traffic fatalities in the first 11 months of the year, the patrol said Wednesday in a news release.

A maximum number of troopers will be patrolling roads during the holiday period from 6 p.m. Wednesday Dec. 24 to midnight Sunday, Dec. 28, said a patrol spokesman.

Man's Ashes Found In Car

TAMPA (AP) — The cremated remains of a 70-year-old man have been found neatly boxed and labeled in the trunk of a car being prepared by police for auction.

Officers said Wednesday that when they broke into the trunk of the 1966 blue sedan they found a small paper box with a label stating that the ashes inside were the remains of Marion Bove Olds, 70, who died in November 1967 and was cremated Dec. 4 of that year.

Airlines Pull Out Stops

MIAMI (AP) — As Florida tourism interests anxiously await the seasonal crush of shivering northerners, competitors of two strike-bound airlines are "pulling out all the stops" to find enough seats for the invading horde.

"Outside marketing people are coming in off the street to work in the ticket offices, in the cargo department or to work from the office calling travel agents and commercial accounts that might have trouble reaching us," a spokesman for Delta Airlines said Wednesday.

"We're pulling out all the stops."

At Altamonte Elementary School

Fire Protection Called Inadequate

By JOE ASKREN
Herald Staff Writer

A Robin Hill resident Wednesday night cited the Seminole County School administration for what he termed "inadequate fire protection" at the new $1 million Altamonte Elementary School on Pineview Street.

John Pettigrew, who said he is on the board of trustees of the Robin Hill Homeowners' Association but has no children in county schools, showed the school board members pictures of a hydrant installed near the school. Layer said the cost of the hydrant, estimated at $400, will be paid by the school board since it will be on school property.

Pettigrew told board members he called Layer about the problem two weeks ago but nothing was done about it.

Board Chairman Robert Feather requested Layer's staff to inspect other schools, too. Both Layer and Hugh Carlton, director of auxiliary services, said there are a few other schools also without fire hydrants installed, but they are covered by insurance. Carlton said any school can be cleared within three minutes.

"We're on the lowest (insurance) rating on fire control now," Carlton said. Layer agreed.

Pettigrew said he is on the board of trustees of the school and the City of Altamonte Springs "won't let anyone touch it until it gets approval from the county, school board and fire department."

Superintendent William P. Layer said this morning he will meet today with Donald Bundy, Altamonte's public works official, to get a proper hydrant installed near the school. Layer said the cost of the hydrant, estimated at $400, will be paid by the school board since it will be on school property.

"unhappy that taxpayers spend that much money on a school and it is not fire protected."

In other action, the board agreed to "switch easements" with Jesse Graham, the developer with Sterling Park Inc., to allow a private road to be widened to 32 feet and eventually accepted by the county for maintenance.

Layer said the road, Eagle Circle Drive, "as built by the developer, does not follow the original easement which was granted to the School Board."

Board Attorney Douglas Stenstrom said Graham hopes to close an $11 million federal loan by Dec. 24 and is asking the board to deed the original easement back to Sterling Park which, in turn, will grant a new easement for the site on which the road is actually built.

Stenstrom said the board got the Eagle Circle south easement when the planned unit development (PUD) project began, but the plans for use were changed by the developer because of federal financing problems with the result the road was constructed partially on the school easement.

Board member Davis Sims suggested, and the board agreed, that deadlines will be included in the switch easement arrangement, for the developer to widen the road to meet county specifications and install promised bicycle paths in the area.

The bicycle path installation cost is estimated at $2,700, Stenstrom said.

Peddlers, Solicitors Ordinance Stalled

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — A proposed ordinance to control the activities of peddlers and solicitors which was passed last year after protest from city residents and resurrected last week when a new provision surfaced, was sent back to limbo by City Council Chairman J.R. Grant this week.

Grant stopped discussion of the proposed law after a 30-minute workshop, saying, "If we take everything out of it, there's going to be nothing left."

Councilman Gerard Connel, noting he favors the ordinance generally, questioned the need for a health card and fingerprints from Boy and Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls etc., who might be selling cookies or candy in the city.

When Public Safety Director Douglas Keller, in answer to a question from Connel, said the right index fingerprints taken from applicants for a peddler's or solicitor's licenses would be sent to Tallahassee and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Mayor James R. Lermann indicated that action would be going a bit too far.

Keller indicated he and City Attorney Ned Julian Jr. had informally agreed to delete charitable organizations from the requirements for fingerprinting and paying fees for the permits.

Government Reform Protects Consumer

Ralph Nader and others in the consumerist movement have been quick to criticize President Ford's new program designed to make federal agencies more responsive to the needs and complaints of the people they are supposed to serve. The program is no more than window-dressing and a deception, says Mr. Nader, calling it an attempt by the President to soften the political impact of his expected veto of a bill now clearing Congress to set up a new Consumer Protection Agency.

Granted, Mr. Ford is on the spot politically. So was Congress when it was besieged by Mr. Nader's troops in an intense lobbying effort for the consumer agency bill. However, while Congress gave in, the President has not. He presumably is ready to gamble that voters will not misunderstand the point he would make in vetoing a bill with the attractive label of consumer protection.

Mr. Ford's own program can hardly be called a deception. He has been saying all along that in cases where the consumer has been ill-served by government regulatory agencies the solution lies with those agencies, not in creating a new one. For several months he has been pressuring the 17 cabinet departments and independent agencies which deal one way or another with consumer protection to shape up. They have, or are committing themselves to do so, and the substance of the President's program is the new machinery they are setting up to be more responsive to the public.

That is exactly the aim of the proposed new consumer agency — to force all the others into a more consumer-oriented attitude. But they are now committed to do so without the addition of a new agency to the federal bureaucracy.

It is hard for anyone in politics to stand up to the Ralph Naders who complain that the consumer is being neglected by the government. By doing so on this issue Mr. Ford can emphasize a fact that has tended to be obscured during the rise of consumerism as a political cause. The consumer who is actually the citizen, or the public — has been the justification for creating most of the regulatory agencies which fill acres of real estate in Washington.

Consumer advocates have been sharply critical of those agencies, and Mr. Ford is on their side. Some of their agencies have become too preoccupied with their own bureaucratic interests to stay in touch with the problems of the people they are supposed to serve. Some have appeared to be captives of the industries they are supposed to be regulating in the public's interest.

Mr. Ford's program gets to the heart of the matter. It places responsibility for consumer protection where it has been all along. By setting wheels in motion for reforms in agencies which have allowed their purpose and responsibilities to become blurred, the President's handling of this issue should be a political plus — not a liability — and he will be on even more solid ground in vetoing the consumer agency bill.

Judges Overreact

Recent events again have raised a serious confrontation between news media which are protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution and the legal profession which seeks to ensure the impartial justice guaranteed Americans in the Sixth Amendment.

In one case U.S. Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun and the Nebraska Supreme Court said that the press cannot publish a confession and other evidence in a mass murder trial — after the information had been disclosed at a public hearing. American tradition does not contemplate restraint of speech before publication.

In another case the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis said it would not allow William A.H. Williams who had been convicted on charges of extortion after he abducted Editor Reg Murphy. Among other things, the court held that publicity had prejudiced Williams' rights.

The common and troublesome element in both of these cases is the belief that the smattering of information a prospective juror gets before a trial outweighs the detailed volume of information that he gets throughout a trial.

Around The Clock

Once again it's been called to our attention that an organization passing itself off as the "Police Benevolent Association" is soliciting over the telephone in the Sanford area.

And, once again we're reminding all our readers to disregard these calls, because, according to Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the telephoning organization is in no way connected with the Sanford Police Department.

Horne said, "We recommend people not to support them when they call, because they refuse to give information about who they are and hang up when questions are asked."

An organization, which referred to itself as the Police Benevolent Association operated in this area last year, and is once again soliciting funds from area telephone subscribers.

If you're contacted by any organization passing itself off as belonging to any law enforcement agency, it might be wise to ask the caller plenty of questions, then check with local law enforcement agencies to see if they or any of their personnel are involved in the fund-raising efforts.

Too, if you have sufficient information, contact the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

A 16-day holiday shutdown of all but essential operations will begin at Florida Technological University (FTU) at 5 p.m. on Friday (Dec. 19) in compliance with instructions from the Chancellor of the State University system.

As a result of this action, classes which were to begin on Jan. 5 are now expected to start one day later due to a revised registration schedule.

Registration for the winter quarter will begin at 8:30 a.m. on Jan. 5 at the Village Center assembly room. Orientation for new students will begin at the same time in the center multipurpose room and academic advisement for new students will begin at 10:30 a.m. the same day.

Students who have received an appointment time by mail for registration on Jan. 2 are asked to honor that same time on Jan. 5.

Any changes in the revised schedules will be announced as soon as possible, according to FTU officials.

During the holiday shutdown, FTU's faculty and staff have been asked to take annual leave or leave without pay to meet the current money shortage crisis, although such action is not compulsory.

Those opting to report to campus will be assigned tasks, said vice president for business affairs John Phillip Garce.

However, Garce noted there will be no air conditioning or heating at FTU during the shutdown.

Okay, here's a quickie quiz on safety: You only have one fire extinguisher in the home, so where should it be kept?

A — Bedroom? B — Kitchen? C — Near a doorway?

According to Underwriters Laboratories, there's only one place for that lone fire extinguisher in the home and that's in the kitchen, "because so many fires are started in that area due to hot cooking appliances, grease, etc. The furnace area and the garage are also important areas for a fire extinguisher."

Ready for another one? So you store it in the kitchen. In what part of the room should it be stored?

A — In a cabinet? B — Over the stove? C — On the wall away from the stove?

If you chose 'C' as your answer you're absolutely correct.

The extinguisher should be readily seen and available. A fire around the stove might make it impossible to reach if mounted near the stove and NEVER 'hide it' in a cabinet.

Rep. Gilbert Gade, R-Md., says he will introduce a bill in Congress to expunge J. Edgar Hoover's name from the FBI's new building in Washington because of "the abuse of investigative and police powers" by the late director, chiefly his "smear campaign" against Martin Luther King Jr.

At least a couple other congressmen have indicated they will either introduce or support similar legislation.

It will be surprising, however, if this movement gets very far — not because of any great residue of admiration for Hoover on Capitol Hill, or the nation at large, but because this sort of postmortem retribution smacks a little too much of the historical revisionism as practiced in the Soviet Union.

If we are to de-Hooverize the FBI's headquarters, it is logical about it we ought also head-quarters, to be logical about it we ought also de-Johnsonize and de-Kennedyize a host of monuments bearing these men's names. Both presidents were responsible for, or permitted, abuses of the investigative and police powers of the nation's intelligence agencies.

Indeed, we could go back as far as Franklin D. Roosevelt, who, it has just been revealed, ordered the FBI to collect dossiers and make reports on Americans who opposed U.S. involvement in the war in Europe.

In the case of Hoover, far better had someone in Congress had the guts to stand up to this arrogant man while he was living. The fact that no one did, whether or not the rumors are true that Hoover "had something" on everyone in Washington, is a sorry enough commentary on the recent history of the Republic.

In case you didn't know, "The nation's longest and most severe postwar recession ended in spring."

That at any rate is the judgment of economists with the Prudential Insurance Co., writing in the company's recently released Annual Economic Forecast.

Looking ahead to 1976, the economists expect a sustained business recovery, although expansion will probably be less vigorous than after previous postwar recoveries.

Real growth should average 5.5 per cent as a "modest and hesitant" improvement in consumer durables and housing are joined late in the year by an upswing in capital spending.

The unemployment rate will continue to decline and will reach a level below 7.5 per cent at the end of the year. A great improvement over the 9 per cent recorded at the depth of the recession, this will still be "an uncomfortably high level."

Overall, they say, "economic performance in 1976 should make a positive contribution to the nation's Bicentennial celebration."

The hottest transportation issue cooking on the political stove is the question of deregulation. Let's not forget that the real fight over regulation is between the Department of Transportation and the Interstate Commerce Commission. And let's also face the fact that DOT is a Cabinet-level function reportable to the President, whereas the ICC reports to Congress. Therefore, we have a classic fight shaping up as to whether the legislative branch continues to control transportation or whether the President, through DOT, will control it.

I think it is high time we began to defend our rights. I am not talking about our rights as motor carriers. I am talking about our rights as American citizens. I am talking about the right to an efficient transportation system at a reasonable cost. We've got it now and we should be allowed to keep it.

But we face a small minority of self-styled experts who want to take these rights away from us. Of course, they do not claim they are doing this.

They even refuse, in the face of insurmountable evidence, to admit we have this kind of efficient, reliable transportation system. No society of people can progress beyond its transportation service. We have about 214 million people in this country. Of the 214 million people in this country, it is the use of the big lie to those who are attacking transportation

WORLD IN BRIEF

Castro Blasts CIA Assassination Attempts

MIAMI (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, in a marathon, seven-hour speech, has charged that the CIA's attempts to assassinate him and other leaders of the Communist government in Havana are unparalleled in history.

In the three-part speech Wednesday opening the first Cuban Communist Party Congress in Havana, Castro recounted a list of crimes allegedly carried out against his country by the CIA, including the assassination plots revealed by U.S. congressional investigators.

Castro said the speech would continue today.

Demand Threatens Meet

PARIS (AP) — The International Conference on Economic Cooperation started today while delegates from the industrialized countries sought more details of a surprise Algerian demand threatening to dead-end the meeting.

After speculating Tuesday and Wednesday, the conference blueprint called for establishment of four negotiating commissions to thrash out plans during the next year for a new and more stable world economic order.

U.S. May Leave Confab

PARIS (AP) — The United States may walk out of a conference sponsored by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) because it approved a resolution on the Zambian-rotavirus resolution adopted by the U.S. General Assembly last week.

The U.S. delegation was awaiting instructions from Washington. Observers believed it would stage a walkout.

The 26-nation conference is drafting a declaration of guidelines for the arms trade to use in strengthening peace and international understanding and in combating war propaganda, racism and apartheid.

Judge's Report Released Today

requirements for a county commission candidate.

"Binford followed their advice," Berry said.

The indictment against Binford charges him with false swearing and perjury in connection with contradictory statements under oath when he qualified as to his residence.

Berry said Binford had moved to the Longwood address and that his house at the other address was up for sale at the time.

The grand jury's four-week county government probe centered on the county commission's contract to buy 100 acres in south Seminole for use as a day care and the abrupt abrogation of the land deal on Oct. 14.

When Judge Cowart sealed the original jury report and indictments, Herring unsuccessfully tried to get the local court to release the indictments. The Florida Supreme Court rejected Herring's appeal.

In the Dec. 3 court order, released today by Circuit Judge Volie A. Williams Jr., Judge Cowart said that examination of the Dec. 3 jury return revealed that the persons and facts referred to were related to one series of "inter-related and inter-locking facts and circumstances and named at least six persons and described others and four persons were indicted but the others were not..."

Cowart indicated that the legislative intent of a state law protecting undisclosed co-conspirators "would be thwarted if any of the matters in any of the related documents were the subject of publicity or public comment" before the persons were given an opportunity under the law to challenge the documents.

The Supreme Law violation indictments against Freeman, Kwiatkowski and Hattaway charge that there were meetings "out of the Sunshine" to decide and set up the appointment of Freeman as county attorney and a conspiracy that resulted in Freeman's selection.

The indictments also allege that others, including an unidentified co-conspirator were involved in the behind-the-scenes meetings.

Freeman says his arrest on the misdemeanor and felony indictments was "a political arrest instigated by a political State Attorney."

Herring has denied that politics entered in any way into the probe that led to the indictments.

Two Commissioners Have Disagreement

Freeman and Kwiatkowski said they voted in favor of the move to "spread the money around," but county officials in charge of CETA told a reporter that the money should remain in a local bank.

A number of banking officials from the Maitland bank testified before grand jurors.

Although the report leaned no indictments in connection with transfer of CETA money, it says "at least one county commissioner was persuaded in favor of such a proposal, on the representation of another commissioner, that higher interest would be paid by the bank in question."

"The grand jury further finds the funds which were the subject of transfer would in fact not be entitled to draw interest from any bank, since they would be time deposits."

The jury recommended that the commission, in the future, allow the circuit court clerk to seek bids for time deposits.

It also advised the commission to seek the advice of the Florida Bankers' Association in selecting depositories for county demand funds.

The jury indicted County Atty. Thomas Freeman, Commissioners Hattaway and Kwiatkowski and Port Authority Chairman Thomas Binford.

Freeman, Hattaway and Kwiatkowski are charged with violating Florida's Sunshine Law, a misdemeanor. Freeman, also is charged with soliciting compensation other than that provided by law from John Morris, an official of a local life insurance firm.

Binford is charged with perjury and false swearing in connection with his try in 1974 for a county commission seat.

The charge against Binford and the second count against Freeman are felonies.

In And Around Sanford Doctors, Politicians Celebrate

Medical doctors and politicians "partied" Saturday night, but not together. However, several did attend both parties.

An old-fashioned Christmas was in full focus at the lively home of Jean and Bill Norris for the annual Christmas party of Democratic Women's Club of Seminole County. Their spouses and guests — who included the County Democratic Executive Committee.

Jean and Bill, whose hobby is growing plants, arranged beautiful decorations, featuring live artistic creations, including a Scotch pine Christmas tree that nearly reached the ceiling. Each member prepared her culinary specialty for the dinner, and the Christmas feast was superb. Bill portrayed Santa Claus, as he presented gifts to some 60 persons attending the holiday fête.

It just happened to be Myrtle Gradick's birthday, so she was honored at the party.

Among those assisting the hosts, particularly with the K.P. detail, were Peggy Hattaway, Anna Mae Wells and Mary Blair.

Attired in Christmas cranberry gowns, the melodious voices of the Central Florida Chorus drifted through "The Forest" Friday night when they performed under the auspices of Lake Mary Women's Club.

The event attracted a full house to enjoy some of the favorite tunes the group sang last summer when they toured Poland, and also a medley of Christmas music. Proceeds will benefit the Little Red Schoolhouse.

Club President Pila Hughes, who had never heard the group sing said, "They are so professional. We are very happy over the turnout and feel that it was most successful."

decor, were featured throughout the home and on the candlelit patio where the throngs gathered to eat, drink and be merry. The beautiful buffet featured a tempting variety of divine cuisine.

The dessert table in the dining room was highlighted with a bowl of party pink punch to match the white Christmas tree, adorned with pink ornaments, in the living room.

Annette greeted the guests wearing a flowing Christmas gossamer gown, embellished with jewels. Frank Mebane stole the gentlemen's fashion scene, wearing holiday red pants, red shirt, white tie and a red and white striped jacket.

Winston will be leaving for a tour of duty in Korea in January. During his absence, Marianne and the children will make their home in Sanford.

The Stricklands' other daughter, Frances Lowden and her daughter, Mead, were photographed in the Spring when Frances entertained her parents at Buena Vista on Mother's Day.

Cathy and Jim Stowell entertained her son, Terry Christmas, in a birthday party Saturday night at their lively home. Guests were young friends of the honoree. Her home state, Pennsylvania. They visited relatives and friends and were entertained at festivities surrounding the holiday season.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Nearly a year ago, after 24 years of marriage and four children, my husband asked me for a divorce.

It seems that although we were the same age when we got married, I suddenly got "too old" for him, so he found himself a girl his daughter's age and traded me in for her.

Somehow I survived the blow, but listen to this: Yesterday he called me and we had our exact words, "Honey, if I sent Marcia (his young wife) over, would you please give her some cooking lessons? She's a great kid, but she never learned how to cook."

I was so shocked at his casual nerve I didn't know what to say, so after a long pause I said, "I'll think about it and let you know."

Abby, the last thing I want to do is give my girl cooking lessons. Am I wrong? How should I handle this hot potato?

DEAR ONE: With asbestos mittens. Tell your husband that you've thought it over and decided to let him eat raw.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 2-year-old grandson about whom I am worried. His father gives him "sips" of a martini, beer or anything he happens to be drinking.

I have tried to tell my son-in-law that it is harmful to the child, but he says it won't hurt the boy, and he continues to ignore me.

I have seen that baby take two, three and four sips of a martini. Everyone laughs and makes him think it's cute, so he is encouraged to take more.

Is it possible for a child to become an alcoholic this way? Or will he be (as my son-in-law says) develop a tolerance for it?

NEW JERSEY
DEAR NEW JERSEY: The possibility of developing a "taste" for alcohol is greater than developing a tolerance for it. Your son-in-law must have eaten many meals with wine.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's parents died nine years ago, and we inherited the family home. The other children were given various items by the will, and we thought everything was fairly divided since by no one.

Tips For Beauty, Fashion

When applying cheek blusher, start by smudging. The fullest part of your cheek is where the color should go, applied horizontally if your face is long, in a triangle if it's full, and following your natural cheekbone if your face is oval shaped.

The woman of wide girth is best advised never to wear a shirt or sweater inside skirts or pants. This cuts the torso in half and draws attention to size by the line.

Quilted jackets, long-sleeved or cap-sleeved, provide up-to-the-minute styling with that Oriental look and can be worn over skirts, pants, sweaters and shirts for a variety of looks.

Floor-length skirts, in plaids or solids, are adaptable for day or evening wear. For night, add a black velvet vest or jacket for a dressier look. During the day, try a turtle neck or tailored shirt.

For a long, slim look it's a good idea to wear vertical stripes as opposed to horizontal stripes which emphasize the width of the body as opposed to the length.

False eyelashes should always be trimmed to play down their unattractiveness. And, unless you can carry it off, don't wear more than one pair at a time.

Students Perform 'Fantastick' Show

An enthusiastic star-making occasion greeted Seminole High School students Wednesday night following the opening performance of the musical comedy "The Fantasticks" in the school auditorium. Impressive was the relaxed, full delivery of Bryan Harden, who plays the young hero, Matt. His leading lady, Vicky Lambert playing Luisa, combines a sweet voice with vivacious acting. Anthony Sutton, recently recovered from a bout in hospital, gave a fine performance, doubling as both narrator and El Gallo. What his voice lacks in range he makes up for with a confident and lively delivery. Scene stealers were Kent Thorne and Clifford Cauthen as the doddering old Henry and Mortimer. Jim Covington and Lilly Gregory as the father, and Ester Edberg as the mute also gave commendable performances. The second and final show will be Friday night at 7:00 p.m., admittance $1.00. One word of caution—be sure to get a seat right up front as the favorable impact of the young voices is diminished with distance from the stage.

Dads Serious About 'Fathering'

Some men start "fathering" early these days — in the delivery room. According to Dr. T. Berry Brazelton, Director of Child Development Unit at the Children's Hospital in Boston, men who attend classes in prenatal care and assist their wives at childbirth are definitely on the increase, reports the Institute of Life Insurance. "A father's decision to help in the care of a new infant at home, whether it's giving the baby a bath, changing diapers or just enjoying the baby at fussy times," Dr. Brazelton told the Institute, "not only strengthens a marriage but is very important to the family's future. "Sharing their roles as parents early on," Dr. Brazelton believes, "gives credence to the couple's mutual sense of responsibility for each other and the new baby. The supportiveness is an important indication of their future as a family unit." The spirit that has propelled men in increasing numbers to participate in the care of their infant children has in recent years been responsible for the growing interest American men are taking in all phases of parenthood. Not only are more fathers assisting their wives in baby care, but some men are even taking time from their jobs these days to play a more active role in raising their children. There is a growing audience for the spate of new books dealing with "parenting" for fathers as well as greater participation by men in forums where male roles and responsibilities are discussed. And, in at least one large city, men, married and single, participate in surrogate-father courses given to those who wish to take care of children by day in their homes.

Choose With Care When Buying Toys

It's time to buy Christmas toys — but carefully. While most toys you will see at Christmas time are safe, there are always exceptions. Here are some suggestions for parents who are playing Santa for youngsters this year. When shopping, stay away, if possible, from toys you can't inspect. Many stores do not permit unwrapping of toys for inspection. As soon as you get the toy home you can avoid disappointments later by checking to see that all the parts are there and in working condition. Pass up toys which are shoddily-designed.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE 080L For Friday, December 19, 1973

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your biggest source of frustration today will come from the domestic area. Not one major blow-up—but, more something out of proportion likely, a series of explosions. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Mentally, you're prone to spread your resources too thin today. If you must do something to challenge your imagination, concentrate on something creative. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Before assuming new financial obligations at this time, measure with a critical eye that which you have to keep solvent. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't put your self out on a limb today. You can probably handle some difficulties, but not if you have to worry about others. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Matters that should have been attended to will be coming back to haunt you today. Don't let them collect any more cobwebs. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Advance planning is fine, but this is not the time to lay out money for something unneeded. Wait until your position is more stable. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Avoid situations today where the opposition has the advantage going in. Hold back a bit till you're in a position to operate on your own terms. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) If you don't watch your step today, you could blow something out of proportion that would involve and possibly hurt some friends. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) It's good to be loyal to your pals, but today you could go elsewhere and get a better price. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Seek advice of trusted counsel or learned friends before making any legal moves today. If you go on your own and make a mistake it'll be a lulu. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You attempt to live off more than you can chew today, physically and mentally. You'll even irritate those who try to pick you up. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's no pie in the sky or get-rich-quick scheme that will make you wealthy overnight. Play everything close to the vest. You'll survive. YOUR BIRTHDAY Dec. 19, 1973. There will be some unusual circumstances this coming year that will make you more enterprising and eager to enhance your income. Stay in familiar areas in order to succeed.

Medical School Policies Noted

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Why do medical schools hesitate to enroll students seeking admission if they have a history of diabetes? I am so at a loss to know why. DEAR READER - I'm not sure that I can accept your statement as a fact. Getting accepted to medical school these days is very complicated, because the number of applicants far outnumbers the places available. The reason here is obvious. The college enrollments have increased many fold over the past 20 years, and the size and capacity of medical schools have not increased anywhere nearly as much. The end result is many times the number of qualified applicants for medical school than there used to be. It is true that a selection committee might weigh a significant health factor in terms of the advisability of using one of the spaces available for a given applicant. To illustrate the point, there would be much wisdom in selecting an otherwise well-qualified student who has cancer with a limited opportunity to live five years. Also the practice of medicine is very demanding, far more than most people seem to realize. The average doctor commonly puts in 60 to 80 hours a week at a minimum. The physical stamina to do this requires a health. There are few, if any, other occupations or professions that require so much constant hard work as does the successful practice of medicine. Even so, a number of people with significant, obvious medical handicaps have completed medical school successfully and become outstanding doctors. So, there is no black or white answer to your question. Those who want more information on diabetes can send in 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 3-10. Diabetes, known as Sweet Sickness, with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Just send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 150, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

whether 'tis better to suffer a small penalty or to test the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune and risk a seven trick set. I'll try the latter. Then he led dummy's king of hearts, overtook with his ace and led his 10 of diamonds. The finesse worked and all was well at Castle Elsinore. The finesse was not as much of a gamble as it might have been. West's bid had marked him with a lot of high cards and he was more likely than not to hold the king of diamonds. Ask the Jacobys A California reader wants to know if his opening bid of four hearts holding: ♠ A K Q J 9 4 3 ♠ A Q J 8 5 ♠ A K Q J 9 4 3 ♠ A Q J 8 5 was correct. His partner had passed. Our answer is that it was sound. He had 10 tricks all his own, but a forcing two-bid opening would have been far better. In spite of his partner's pass, there might well be a slam. CARNIVAL

by Dick Turner

DEAR DR. LAMB - In a recent column you mentioned using a product made for babies who cannot tolerate natural milk. You suggested that it could be used by anyone as a substitute for cream. I have just looked in our store. It carries three brands of canned products supposed to be for babies and upon reading the label I find everyone of them contains some coconut oil. I did not find any sort of powder. DEAR READER - Try another store. I do not wish to encourage the use of milk substitutes that contain lots of coconut oil. These products contain far more saturated fat than ordinary milk. One of the brands that uses soybeans as a base is what I mean. I have seen a product by Mead Johnson's such a product and can be found in many stores nationwide. If your store doesn't stock such an item, it is a local problem since such items do exist. You can usually find them in the baby food section of a store. If you can't, ask your store manager to start stocking such products. ProSoy comes in a liquid concentrate, just as canned condensed milk. It can be diluted to use as milk or used undiluted as a cream substitute.

Some Don't Believe There's A Santa

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
 Herald Staff Writer

The "season of goodwill" has been shattered in the Longwood area by violent reaction to two families who have expressed their religious beliefs by hanging Santa Claus in effigy.

Members of a small Holiness church in Sanford, the families do not celebrate Christmas and hold the opinion that the popular attitude toward Santa Claus is "heavenly idolatry" and a "sin."

Since Allen Cutcher, who lives on a quiet street outside Longwood city limits, displayed a figure of Santa Claus in a "heavenly idolatry" and a "sin."

Cutcher also said he had a small plastic Santa Claus in his truck, and while visiting friends in Longwood for a barbecue the neighbors became upset and called the police.

Cutcher said the City Council Chairman J. R. Grant arrived, he quoted the official as saying, "Boy, you better take it down. Do you want to be run out of town?"

Cutcher said he was threatened with arrest by officials who said they had 15 persons ready to swear out warrants against him and "it only takes eight" on a charge of disturbing the peace.

"Even the mayor was there," he added. Cutcher believes his freedom of religion and speech are being threatened.

Grant said today that he asked Cutcher to take down the Santa from his truck because children "were crying in school and along the roadside" because of it.

"Nearly everybody in town knew about it," Grant said, when asked if he came to the home in response to neighbor's complaints. Grant said he did not want anything about it in the newspaper as it would be "bad for the children."

Santa Claus, hung in effigy, is the subject of controversy near Longwood.

Grant is in charge of the annual Longwood Children's Christmas party. He traditionally plays Santa at the event.

Cutcher's wife, Brenda, said some friends in Longwood, who had also hung a figure of Santa, were forced by officials to take it down because of numerous complaints. She said children of the other family had come home from school upset because their teacher had stamped their hands with a Santa as a "reward" but their father scrubbed it off.

The Cutcher quote Revelation 22:14-15 to substantiate their belief that "whosoever loveth and maketh a lie" will go to Hell.

"The parents make the lie and the children love it," said Mrs. Cutcher. A lie is a sin, no matter how beautiful it is," she added. "How can they relate these bunch of lies to the birth of Christ?" Cutcher asked.

Mrs. Cutcher said that if others are allowed to display spotlighted Santas on their roofs, which offend her, she and her husband should have the right to display Santa in the way they wish, even if it should offend some.

Although they know they are opening themselves to threats and criticism for challenging the popular myth at a time when "Santa" is evident at schools, shopping centers and even some churches, the Cutchers say they are "bound by God's word and have to do what it says."

Special Prosecutor Requested Askew Gets Jury Report

By ED PRICKETT
 Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County Grand Jury report, indicting four top-ranking county officials, arrived in Florida Gov. Reubin Askew's office this morning, according to Askew aide Maurice Harling.

However, Harling said Askew was in Miami today and wouldn't consider the report from the grand jury or a request from State Attorney Abbott Herring for a special prosecutor until the governor returns to Tallahassee next week.

Askew has the power to remove from office elected or appointed officials who are under indictment by a grand jury. The governor, however, has been quoted as saying his office has no specific policy, but that he decides each individual case on its own merit.

Harling was unable to name a specific date when the governor will decide whether or not to remove Commissioners Harry Kwiatkowski and Michael Hattaway and Port Authority Chairman Tom Binford.

"The governor's decision will depend on the charges. He will have to decide if removal is justified and if he can sell it to the Senate," Harling said.

According to Harling, the Florida Senate must approve a governor's decision to remove an official. Meanwhile, a 2 p.m. hearing today could determine whether or not the state has a felony case against County Atty. Thomas Freeman, who is charged with asking John Morris, a Sanford title company official for a $12,400 kickback plus an attorney's fee in connection with title insurance which was to be issued for the county's aborted purchase of a $17,000 clay pit.

Freeman, Hattaway and Kwiatkowski are charged with violating Florida's Sunshine Law. Morris, an official of Chelsea Title and Guaranty Co., has signed a statement saying grand jury charges that Freeman solicited unlawful compensation are "totally false."

The Morris affidavit prompted Herring to request that Askew name a special prosecutor to determine if Morris has perjured himself by issuance of the affidavit.

If Morris' affidavit, denying the grand jury charges, conflicts with sworn testimony before the grand jury or to Herring's office, Morris could be charged with perjury, which is a felony.

On Thursday Circuit Court Judge J. William Woodson ordered Morris' grand jury testimony transcribed by official court reporter, Norman Robbin.

The court ordered Robbin to furnish copies of the testimony to Morris' attorney, Jack Bridges, and to J. Cheney Mason, defense attorney for Freeman, and to Asst. State Atty. William Staley.

The court order came as a result of a motion filed by Staley accompanied by the affidavit signed and sworn to by Morris on Tuesday.

Staley's motion stated that the Morris' affidavit, "if true, might constitute perjured testimony, either in the affidavit or before the grand jury, or both."

Herring also says he has a "sworn tag" statement which contradicts the affidavit Morris gave Freeman.

The state attorney said Morris' affidavit is making a "mockery" of the judicial system.

Binford is charged with one count of perjury and one count of false swearing in violation of state election laws.

The Sunshine indictments center on the county's aborted purchase of the clay pit and Freeman's appointment as county attorney.

In both instances, indictments charge secret meetings were held in which decisions were made that were relative to the aborted clay pit purchase and to Freeman's appointment.

The Sunshine Law states that all meetings by elected officials shall be in the open and attended by the public or by members of the press.

16 Countries To Be Represented

Foreign Students Arrive Sunday

Some 47 graduate students and leaders from 16 foreign countries are expected to visit Sanford and Winter Park Sunday, for the second year in a row as part of the National Council for Community Services to International Visitors.

"This is our answer to 'Yankee-Go-Home' and is the best foreign diplomacy we could hope to accomplish," said Jack Horner, executive manager for the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

This is the eighth year that the U.S. State Department has made arrangements for about 300 foreign visitors, who are students at various universities around the nation, to spend the Christmas holidays with American families, according to Dr. Luis M. Perez, president of the Mid-Florida Council for International Visitors.

The students will be welcomed by Miss Florida at the Mount Vernon Motor Lodge, off U.S. 17-92 in Winter Park, at 8 a.m. Sunday, Dr. Perez said.

From there, they will be escorted on a tour of the Central Florida Zoological Park at 2:30 p.m. by Al Hozon, executive director of the Zoological Society.

The students will be entertained at the Sanford Civic Center at 4:30 p.m. during a concert put on by the Lyman High School's "The Company." The concert is free and open to the public.

Horner said the visitors will be served Christmas egg nog and dinner by the Tri-County Road Runners, a club of citizen's band radio operators.

"The night will be filled with fresh mullet, hash, puddings, baked beans and navel oranges. Since the seating capacity is limited to 200, Horner suggested those planning to attend the dinner, should call the Chamber for reservations. The visitors will be bused back to the Winter Park lodge where most of them will be staying until Dec. 27.

"We want them to really learn what makes the American people tick by getting down to the grass roots of the American people... It's what we call 'fraternal diplomacy.' They are goodwill ambassadors," Dr. Perez said.

Each foreign country pays for their students' tuition while attending American institutions, Dr. Perez explained, and the purpose of the program is to allow each student to specialize and increase his skills and return "as an asset" to his own country.

Horner said last year, 375 adults from 67 foreign countries visited Central Florida during the holidays, including 72 top military leaders from Peru. Most of this year's visitors will be spending Christmas Eve in Cocoa Beach, Dr. Perez said.

He said he hopes to place seven judges expected this week from South Korea in the county. Perez, 47, who is also vice chairman of the national council, said his recent dinner guests have included the secretary of the treasury of Argentina, and secretary of education of Haiti.

The students expected to visit Sanford are:

- From Afghanistan: Dr. Mohammad R. Masud, Sardar Mohammad Rohan, Dr. Mohammad Y. Salehi.
- From Brazil: Laercio B. de Araujo, Paulo G. Cysneiros, Miss Heloisa Luck.
- From Egypt: Fathalla M. Abdeen, Hany M. El-Dakrouy, Mohammad M. E-Karim.
- From Ghana: Johnson E. Kanika.
- From Guyana: Mrs. Mayleen O. Cumberbatch.
- From Indonesia: Wahjudi P. Benjamins, Santono Haradjolukito, Mukhlis Rasyidi.
- From Korea: Chyung Man-Cho, Jin Sung Kyu, Kim Kyung-Han, Lee Jae-Hoo, Shin Chang-On, Yang Ho.
- From Liberia: Gatumbo Abu, Miss Beatrice U. Johnson, Miss Affade C. Murray, Wilfred K. Selimah, Mrs. Evelyn B. Yarsiah.
- From Nepal: Bhola R. Pradhan, Gajendra M. Shrestha, Madan M. Shrestha, Shree R. Paudel.
- From Nigeria: Samuel A. Adeyemo.
- From Philippines: Jose A. Carreon.
- From Singapore: Yew-Choon Lam and his wife.
- From Tanzania: Francis M. M. Chale, Nicholas R. Swingwa.
- From Thailand: Khong-udine Chanay, Miss Nipaporn Pongairai, Miss Niskorn Boorankitawee, Mrs. Waijai Plabodwatt, Pornleart Verabalin, Savitra Anantarat, Miss Sirpen Ratanakul.
- From Turkey: Gazi S. Ercel, Ozer Guney.
- From Yemen Arab Republic: Ali Mohammed Abdul-Aziz, Mohammed M. Logman.
- Three students living in Central Florida will accompany the foreign students: Miss Laura Bailey, 19, studying languages in Orlando; Miss Renee Puzio, 21, studying history and Russian in Winter Park; and Miss Wanda Yuchua, 20 studying Spanish in Orlando.

Policy On Milk Bidding Prompts Written Query

The Seminole Legislative delegation has decided to send written inquiries to the Seminole School Board concerning the method of bidding for milk for the school children of the county.

The four-member body, composed of Sen. John Vogt, Sen. Lori Wilson, Rep. Vince Pachel and Rep. Robert Hattaway, also agreed to correspond with Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington, urging the state official to consider pursuing a study on the method of milk bidding in the state for possible discussion by the state school board.

The action was taken after Robert Brunner, who indicated he has a connection with the dairy industry, said current practice of bidding in Seminole County and several other counties in the state causes higher milk prices for students locally.

Brunner, saying the same company has been successful bidder for Seminole's school milk for the past 22 years, pointed to the requirement by the local school system that the bidder furnish refrigerated cabinets as the cause for few bids.

He said the local bid is 12.5 cents per one half pint and since the policy is not to give change in pennies the children locally are charged 13 cents.

He said in other counties, such as Leon, where the school system furnishes the refrigerated cabinets, the bid price is 9.19 cents per half pint and students are charged 10 cents.

Brunner said if the local school board would furnish the cabinets and continue its current milk charge the cabinets would be paid for in one school year.

Brunner added that if the school board's reasoning for not buying the cabinets in the past has been that it does not want to get involved in maintenance of refrigerated equipment.

School Benefits Outlined

By JOE ASKREN
 Herald Staff Writer
 (Third in a Series)

Fringe benefits for Seminole County's 2,629 school employees including 1,532 teachers — cost taxpayers about $3 million during fiscal year 1974-75.

Roger Harris, assistant superintendent for finance, said the largest part of the $1,967,372.78 total cost (not including vacation pay to taxpayers was $1,537,978.81 in retirement benefits paid out under the state retirement system. Employees can retire at age 55.

The other fringe benefits included:

- $982,843.23 in social security payments to match employee contributions.
- $162,551.72 for health and life insurance coverage costs.
- $200,000 for substitute teachers, in sick leave payments.
- $20,000 for uniforms, including $12,000 for maintenance personnel and $8,000 for transportation personnel.
- Free use of half a dozen vehicles to and from work for three department heads, chief electrician, chief mechanic and chief plumber, who are on call.
- Paid time for jury duty when the actual jury duty pay is returned to the board.
- Annual physical for all bus drivers.
- Two days paid administrative leave per year allowed for a closing on a house, for example.
- Harris said costs for allowable travel in one figure at 14 cents per mile will be about $44,000 for the 1975-76 school year, excluding travel expenses at each of the 35 schools.
- He said the total ad-
