Michele Roger, 27, left the John E. Polk Correctional Facility after posting bond set by Judge O. H. Eaton. Roger is charged with killing David Alexander Richmond, 28, a year ago.

Police allege after Richmond was killed, his body was burned, his bones were processed in a wood chipper then mixed with cement and the pieces tossed along Interstate 95.

Red Sea at Courthouse?

No, Moses hasn't cursed the Seminole County Courthouse, causing air conditioning fountains to flow a blood red, rusting pipes cast the spell, said county Central Services Director Cindy Wright. When fountain plumbing developed a leak, lines leading to a rust filter were bypassed until the leak could be sealed, Wright said.

Black man says white officers beat him in Sanford

By VICKI DeBORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Following the precedent set in Los Angeles last year, Anton Sanders, a black man who was allegedly beaten by several white officers during a traffic stop in 1990, has filed a civil law suit in Seminole County.

Sanders charges that the defendants, officers with the Lake Mary Police Department, the Sanford Police Department and the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, violated his civil rights by assaulting and battering him resulting in bodily injury and by the excessive use of force during a traffic infraction.

The suit was filed in Sanford by Miami-based attorney Ellis Rubin, known for the high-profile clients he represents.

In addition to the departments named in the suit, six individual officers are named in the suit: Corporal Virgil Pickelsimer and

Henley not the first school principal on county commission

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — As Carlton Henley takes office next Tuesday as Seminole County's newest county commissioner, he will learn firsthand the challenges of juggling a career as a school executive and one as a local politician.

Gov. Lawton Chiles' appointment last week of veteran Lyman High principal Henley to replace the late Bob Sturm recalled the last school executive to serve on the county commission, Dan Pelham. Elected to the commission in 1968 while assistant principal of Sanford Junior High School, Pelham resigned his commission seat after 1 1/2 years to accept a promotion to principal.

Henley's swearing-in is set for Oct. 12 at 1:30 p.m.

Pelham said he resigned because he thought the learning challenge faced by a new principal would be too demanding to allow him to effectively continue as a commissioner. He resigned in May 1970. Gov. Claude Kirk appointed Sanford businessman Sid Vihlen Jr. to fill the vacancy.

Pelham said his responsibilities of learning the role of principal versus the 30 years of experience that Henley has makes the situations different.

"If I were a long-term principal like Carlton I would probably make the same decision he did," said Pelham, of Sanford. "But there is a tremendous amount of learning at the beginning of becoming a principal."

When questions arose whether he could legally serve as both principal and county commissioner, Pelham said an attorney's LAKE MARY — Former Lake Mary Public Safety Director Charles Lauderdale says he wants his old job back. The U.S. District Court in Orlando has confirmed that Lauderdale has filed a federal lawsuit against Lake Mary.

Lauderdale left Lake Mary in August of 1992, following a series of disputes with City Manager John Litton. He subsequently moved to a small horse ranch in Texas, owned by his elderly mother.

Lauderdale could not be reached for comment this morning.

At that time, the city said Lauderdale had submitted a resignation, which they accepted. Lauderdale contended that he had

Longwood's legal counsel resigns

By SANDRA ELLIOTT

LONGWOOD — City Attorney Becky Vose resigned this morning after a city commissioner called for a vote to terminate her contract Monday night. Vose has been city attorney since March, 1991.

Vose said she had no comment this morning on the call for a "no confidence vote" from commissioner Rex Anderson.

"You might call over to the city," she said, "I sent something over there this morning."

Vose submitted her resignation effective November 30. She said the effective date should give the city ample time to find a new city attorney. She added that if the commission or her replacement should need her assistance after Nov. 30, she would be willing to provide the service at her $180 per hourly rate.

At the urging of Mayor Paul Lovestrang, the commission tabled the discussion of the matter until October 18. With Vose's resignation, the commission will be dis-

SANFORD — Coming to a movie theatre near you: Seminole County's Most Wanted.

No, it's not a new action adventure film starring Don Ealinger as a county sheriff doing battle with bad guys on the silver screen.

But, when you go to the movies over the next few months you'll see photos of some of the county's worst criminals emblazoned across the screen as you munch on your popcorn waiting for the feature film to begin.

"We expect to reach about 132,000 people a month," said sheriff's spokesman George Proechel.

Interspersed with the movie trivia and the

The main factor in determining which schools will be placed on a multi-track schedule is the enrollment figure. More crowded schools will be placed on the multi-track schedule to help alleviate the problem and allow the school to maintain a smaller student to teacher ratio.

On the multi-track system, about 20 percent of the student population will be off campus at any given time. Approximately half of the elementary schools will be on the single track schedule and half on the other schedule.

Those schools tentatively approved for single track are:

"This is an effective and inexpensive way to get this information out to the public," Proechel said. Proechel added that the sheriff believes the public is willing and able to help law enforcement officials capture wanted criminals.

Ealinger said the photos will be limited to wanted people believed to still be in the Seminole County area.

The photos will be taken from bank surveillance photos, and other such sources, Ealinger said.

Donation upgrades fire fighting at zoo

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Central Florida Pipeline Corporation has donated a 6,000 gallon water tank to the Central Florida Zoological Park in Sanford. A ceremony honoring the donation will be held Wednesday morning.

The $5,000 tank will be used to upgrade the fire fighting capabilities of the 109 acre zoo complex. Wharton-Smith, a Sanford and Orlando contractor, facilitated the donation and transported the tank by truck from the Central Florida Pipeline terminal in Taft, and installed it at the zoo.

The tank recently became

Central Florida Pipeline surplus, when the fire fighting equipment at the Taft terminal's truck loading rack was modernized.

"We're gratified by the donation," said Ed Posey, Central Florida Zoological Park director.

"The pipeline has been part of the Orlando area's growth for the past 20 years," said James A. Pasternak, Central Florida Pipeline manager. "The donation provides us with a welcome opportunity to give something back to the community."

A brief ceremony honoring the dedication of the tank will take place Wednesday morning at 10:30 a.m., at the zoo, near the water tank, in appreciation for the donation.

Brutality

Corporal Tom Dale of the Lake Mary Police Department; Officers Ken Kaiser and Kevin Reyer of the Sanford Police Department and Deputies Craig Magee and John Zeh of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

According to the suit, on July 26, 1990 at 2:25 a.m., Sanders was driving northbound on U.S. Highway 17-92 from Lake Mary.

The suit alleges that "upon seeing the flashing police lights (Sanders) voluntarily stopped his vehicle" at U.S. 17-92 and 20th Street in Sanford.

It further alleges that Kaiser jumped on the hood of the car with his gun drawn and ordered Sanders out of the car. His windshield was allegedly broken by the gun.

Though he offered no resistance, the suit alleges, Sanders was "unlawfully allowed to be beaten and brutalized by numerous white police officers," including Piekelsimer, Dale, Kaiser, Reyer, Magee and Zeh.

The suit also alleges that the law enforcement agencies have "condoned policies and customs providing for the beating and brutalization of blacks by white officers" and that these policies "ultimately resulted in the violation of (Sanders') civil rights."

The Seminole County Sheriff's office, the Lake Mary Police Department and the Sanford Police Department were each cited in the suit for "failing to implement adequate procedures in developing a psychological profile which could have identified (the officers) as potential risks for violent activity and failing to adequately train (the officers) in the use of force."

The suit does not specify the specific amount of damages sought by Sanders, but it does state the amount exceeds $15,000.

While the Seminole County chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) was involved in the initial investigation of the incident, president Turner Clayton said their involvement in the case stopped there.

"To my knowledge, the NAACP is no longer involved in this," he said this morning. "Mr. Sanders is paying for his own attorney and the NAACP is not a part of this suit."

Rubin could not be reached at either his Dade or his Broward County offices this morning.

Church morality: Encyclical sets strict boundaries

By BRIAN MURPHY
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY — Pope John Paul II asserts in a long-awaited encyclical today that some human actions are intrinsically evil, and that the church should uphold a basic morality that transcends all eras.

The message had been laid down by the pontiff in advance of the release of the 180-page document "Veritatis Splendor" (The Splendor of Truth), considered one of the defining statements of his papacy.

The pope's comments — and early reports of the encyclical — show the Vatican setting clear moral boundaries at a time of increasing challenges to traditions such as bans on contraception, homosexuality and abortion.

The Roman Catholic church is also seeking to remain a relevant force in the world while some other Christian denominations make changes, including allowing women clerics.

The pope has not invoked papal infallibility in the encyclical, but strongly asserts the church's ability to interpret moral behavior. Unlike many previous encyclicals that were addressed to all Roman Catholics, the latest is addressed to the church's bishops.

Six years in development, the encyclical expresses John Paul's concerns over moral relativism in the church and society.

The pope on Sunday said the church must provide a moral compass for Roman Catholics who are "disoriented between so many discordant voices."

The church, he said, cannot remain silent or alter its message "in order to favor transient ways."

Questioning of church teachings by Roman Catholic theologians will not be tolerated, the pontiff indicated in the sermon that touched on basic themes of his 10th encyclical.

The encyclical includes discussion of mortal sin, referring to the dangers of individuals separating themselves from the promise of salvation by committing evil acts in opposition to God's law. However, there is no direct list of mortal sins.

Although a strong reaffirmation of traditional church tenets was expected by the pope, some liberals have wondered whether it could widen the gulf between the Vatican and many Roman Catholics.

But others believe the 40,000-word document will most interest theologians and have little effect on the lives of most Roman Catholics.

"The encyclical raised many interesting questions about what it means to be a Christian, moral person in the Vatican's eyes. But, in a practical sense, it may have little bearing on the way most people lead their lives," said Lawrence Cunningham, chairman of the theology department at Notre Dame University.

Mystery: Crosswalk commands crossed

By RICK MAMFORD
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — To the befuddlement and amusement of New York pedestrians, someone is doctoring electric crosswalk signs to flash commands such as REPENT/SIN and CONFORM/CONSUME instead of WALK/DON'T WALK.

Traffic officials have two questions — WHO? and WHY? — and a direction of their own: STOP.

"This could be dangerous," said Lisa Daglian, Transportation Department spokeswoman. "Someone could get hurt if they're looking at one of those signs while trying to cross the street."

"It's not a good message to tourists, either," she added.

No, this isn't Kansas. Not with someone — guerrilla artist? prankster? urban terrorist? — climbing up light poles, unscrewing the grille on the light, removing the plastic lens stenciled WALK and DON'T WALK, and replacing it with one bearing an ambiguous message.

Although Daglian said it was unclear how many lights had been tampered with, she cited three cases: A sign at 47th and Third told pedestrians last week to CONFORM and CONSUME; a sign in Greenwich Village flashed WHY? and WHY NOT TRY? for several weeks this summer; and on Thursday a sign outside the Cathedral of St. John the Divine featured REPENT and SIN.

The one outside St. John the Divine gave Tammy Whatley a smile as she was about to cross Amsterdam Avenue en route to her job at the cathedral.

As she waited for the green light to change, she realized the crosswalk sign was flashing "REPENT" in red letters. Then the light changed, and the sign switched to "SIN" in white letters.

"It was like 'sin' was in the direction of the cathedral," she said.

Similarly, Sue Evans, who works in the public affairs office at Cooper Union, the arts and engineering school, has fond memories of the WHY?/WHY NOT TRY? message.

"It was fun to go out to the corner," she said. "I thought it was great. It certainly got my attention."

Doctoring traffic signs in a city whose inhabitants are famed for disregarding them would seem to be an exercise in futility, if not absurdity. Daglian, however, was insistent: "This is not a creative outlet. It's confusing people."

But what is art these days, if not confusing? The entire city is a vast canvas for conceptual artists, including:

— The inventor-designer who rigged up contraptions that allowed him to paint about 100,000 purple footprints over 40 miles of sidewalk. They led to the site of an urban garden, planted by one Adam Purple, that had been razed to make way for an apartment house.

— The Cooper Union art student who built a 10-foot high replica of a standard wire mesh trash can and placed it at the corner of Second Avenue and Seventh Street.

— The artist who decorates the bases of lampposts in the East Village with designs made from shards of dishes.

Artist or no, whoever's switching the crosswalk messages faces charges of theft of government property and tampering with same, Daglian said.

And she issued this appeal to New Yorkers: "If you see somebody crawling up a crosswalk light pole, ask, 'What are you doing?'"

Not so shade-y characters, (l-r), Beverly and Jack Diemer, Lynell Fernandez and Jerry Vogel will decorate your home with window coverings and honest, dependable service.

Has Your Window Become Little More Than A "Pane"?

What a beautiful view you have from your window! Overlooking a peaceful lake, you can watch the ducks swim and an occasional fisherman try his luck with the daring fish. The trees beyond are beautiful - so lush and green. Many birds fly around, nesting from tree to tree. You are so caught up with the serene setting that you probably wouldn't notice if one of those birds flew smack into your window. You catch yourself on the last two words...your window. How it pales in comparison to the gorgeous view. With the fading curtains and torn vinyl shade, your window is not much to look at. But who has the time to do all the shopping and searching it takes to decorate? By the time you find it, the price is usually as high as the blue sky outside of your window or you cannot get the personal service you need to settle all of the details. Omni Window Designs, Inc. can change your point of view about the view of your window.

After receiving your order, Omni will take care of all of the details from manufacturing to installing and top it off with a full guarantee. Your specialty order for vertical and draperies will be prepared out of Omni's facility. Since Omni manufactures some of its own products, the middle man is eliminated and greater savings are passed along to the customer. Omni conducts all of its business out of the manufacturing facility to keep the overhead low. Lower overhead means lower prices. How low are the prices? As Omni says, "Even lower than Home Depot and we install FREE!"

No more hunting for that out of the way store or standing in endless lines. Omni Window Designs brings many different samples and colors to your home. Now you can finally match that indescribable color in your sofa and forget about memorizing the exact measurements for every window in your home. Omni will work with you to stay within your budget by helping you make wise choices based on one of the largest selections of styles, colors, and treatments in Central Florida. They want you to be happy with both the products and services you are receiving without paying any more than is necessary to get the job done.

Omni's eight employees have experience ranging from 4 to 11 years each and will use it to carefully handle your order with your satisfaction in mind. Twenty-one years of sales experience has taught Jack Diemer that it is more important to concentrate on the customer's happiness than on profits. This is one place where the adage "the customer is always right" is backed by honest and sincere people.

During the home visit, your choices will be priced so that you can make an informed decision. If you choose to order at that time, installation can begin within 3 days to two weeks depending on the merchandise you request. Whether you ask for custom made vertical blinds, mini blinds, 2" wide blinds, or draperies, Omni has any one of those and more! If you're looking for Graber, Hunter Douglas, Levelor, Delmar, or Kirsch, you can find it along with many other major brands at Omni.

Jerry Vogel (l) and Lynell Fernandez (r) will be happy to customize window dressings to meet your needs.

Maybe it's time to take another look at your window. Not out your window, but AT it. If you would like to change your view of your window, call Omni Window Designs at 323-1144 or 294-4319. Let them show you how they can make your view of your window look as beautiful as your view from it.

Was the world safer when the Cold War raged?

By MIKE FEINSILBER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — In a single day, Moscow witnesses its worst political violence since the Bolshevik Revolution and Washington loses still more American lives in a peacemaking effort where peace refuses to be made.

Bosnia seems to approach extermination. Civil war starves millions in the Sudan. Pakistan and India scrap over Kashmir, and that conflict, if it turns hot, could turn nuclear.

The Kurds are threatened by Iraq. Eduard Shevardnadze, once foreign minister of the Soviet empire and now leader of a disintegrating state of Georgia, flees for his life.

It almost seems as though the world was safer when the Cold War raged and the doctrine of swift and certain retaliation — mutual assured destruction, it was called — helped keep the peace.

What has happened to the "new world order" that was to follow the collapse of the superpower rivalry and the defeat of a Persian Gulf potentate? People who study world conflict say this about that:

—The promise of a "new world order" was unfulfillable. As long as the world is anarchical, hostility and conflict will be part of it. Ethnic, civil and religious conflicts went on before, during and since the superpower rivalry.

"We weren't noticing those conflicts. To some extent we were co-opting them; there would have been a civil war in Vietnam whether or not the United States intervened," says Raymond Garthoff, a former ambassador to Bulgaria.

—For all its tensions, the world is safer, and better off, with the Cold War over.

"The world is definitely more unstable, a place of greater uncertainty, but the Soviet empire truly represented an evil idea that had been foisted upon an enormous section of humanity," comments Fareed Zakaria, editor of Foreign Affairs magazine.

Canadian Fen Hampson, a former international affairs professor, now a scholar at the government-supported U.S. Institute of Peace, says only some of today's conflicts result from the aftershocks of the Soviet collapse.

Those conflicts, among the old Soviet republics and in the former Yugoslavia, were suppressed by the strong hand of central authority. Soviet strategy dating back to Stalin's forced relocation of Russians into the other republics planted the seeds of today's upheavals.

What the world must now decide, says President Clinton, is where to intervene and where to stay out.

"If the American people are to say yes to U.N. peacekeeping," Clinton told the U.N. General Assembly last week, "the United Nations must learn to say no."

The criteria? He said the United States will intervene "to enlarge the circle of nations" that live under market-based democracies.

"Where it makes most sense and where we can make the greatest difference, we will therefore, patiently and firmly, align ourselves."

Clinton deplored the fresh loss of the lives of U.S. servicemen in Somalia but noted that before the United States intervened 300,000 people had lost their lives to warfare or famine.

U.N. peacekeeping is accumulating a proud, if not much noticed, record. Last month, the largest and most expensive U.N. peacekeeping operation ended, having planted democracy in the killing fields of Cambodia.

The United Nations stopped the fighting, restored civil authority or sponsored free elections in Namibia, El Salvador, Cyprus and in the Golan Heights in the Mideast.

Even the old ethnic conflict in Bosnia shows that the world has changed, says editor Zakaria: In the past, European nations would have intervened to grab pieces of the territory.

"Hundreds of thousands have died," he says, "but it has not turned into a general war in Europe in which tens of millions would die."

That's progress, of a sort.

EDITOR'S NOTE — Mike Feinsilber has been covering events in Washington since 1968.

Roma Peddie and Betty Norwood at Beauty Boutique's Christmas house.

Beauty Boutique for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

'Twas the night before Christmas
And all around town,
People were scurrying
To nail those last minute details down.

I sat back and watched
All the commotion outside,
As I looked about my house
Filled with happiness and pride.

Not a thing was out of place
Down to handmade decorations and stockings.
Sitting by the fireplace was a Christmas bear
In a chair meant for rocking.

Everyone was amazed
At the centerpieces and wall hangings.
As I turned to go upstairs,
At the door I heard banging.

As I threw back the door,
I saw my friends standing there.
Together they cried out:
"Your house looks great and so does your hair!"

"How did you do it?"
"It must have taken weeks!"
But no matter how hard they tried,
I didn't tell that my secret is Beauty Boutique!

Rams on a winning roll

Lake Mary High School junior varsity boy's volleyball player, Mike Reynolds (No. 9), pleads his case with the net official during a 13-15, 15-10, 15-13 victory over Lake Brantley in an SAC game Monday night.

Lake Mary boys whip Brantley

From Staff Reports

LAKE MARY - The Lake Mary High School boy's volleyball team is hitting a winning stride at the right time.

Monday night at the LMHS gymnasium, the Rams dropped visiting Lake Brantley in straight games, 15-10, 15-9, for its sixth consecutive victory.

"We pretty much dominated the match," said Lake Mary head coach Bill Whalen. "It was really the first game we were running on all cylinders. Everybody in the lineup had a good hitting night, with no exceptions. A good indication of that was a 58-percent kill ratio on the night."

The front line dominated the net with the left side combining for 11 kills, the middle combining for 15 kills, and the right side collecting 12 kills.

"Things are coming together real good," said Whalen. "Hopefully we can see Volleyball, Page 2B"

LM girls trim tough Deltona

From Staff Reports

DELTONA - It was not easy, but a win is a win.

Monday night at the Deltona High School gymnasium, the Lake Mary Rams girls' volleyball team showed itself to be the class of Class 5A-District IV as they knocked off a very tough Wolves squad in three hard-fought games, 15-12, 12-15, 15-8.

"We had a crazy night," said Rams head coach Cindy Henry. "It was very hot in the gym and the match lasted 1 1/2-hours. It was so hot in there that I thought I had played. Deltona has a very good team, they have a lot of big girls and are very scrappy. They play hard."

"Nikki Preece was our standout tonight, she started out slowly, but snapped out of it and had a good night. I was pleased with her all-around game."

The junior varsity also had a good night, coming back after losing the first game 12-15 to win the final two games, and the match, 15-7, 15-8.

The varsity improved to 13-4, while Deltona fell to 10-3. Lake Mary will be in action again tonight, traveling to Lake Brantley for a Seminole Athletic Conference match with the JV game starting at 6 p.m.

TRIBE GOES OVERTIME TO WIN

SANFORD - The Seminole High School girls' volleyball team tripped visiting Deltona in straight games Monday at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium, but it took a little extra work in both games.

The Tribe was in control in both games, but the Bulldogs played tough before falling 16-14, 17-15.

"We're playing better as a team," said Seminole head coach Beth Corso. "We fooled around a little bit and let them come back on us, but we did enough to win. It was the first time this year that I saw the girls buckle down and take control of the play when they wanted to. They just decided that they had played around long enough and now it was time to get serious."

Doing the damage for the Tribe were Aubrey Nelson (three kills, six good spikes), Catherine Foye (two kills, five good spikes), Jill Jasewic (one kill, five good spikes), Yuleyma Otero (eight assists).

"Michele Johnson had real good night on defense," said Corso. "She had a lot of digs and even put down a kill coming out of the back row to hit it."

The JV's were not as fortunate falling, 14-16, 11-15. The varsity improved to 2-10 with the win. Both the varsity and JV will play again today as they host Lake Howell in an SAC matchup starting at 6 p.m.

SANFORD HERALD PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Robert Ruffin revives Tribe running attack

By DEAN SMITH Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD - The running game is back at Seminole High School. During the 1970's Seminole was notorious for its outstanding running attack, but during the 1980's, the Tribe offense went more to a pass oriented attack.

Now, in 1993, the run is prominent again with junior Robert Ruffin leading the way.

Last Friday night, against a tough Winter Park 11, the tailback had a game most running backs only dream of, as he rushed for 183 yards on 18 carries, including an 87-yard touchdown scamper that sealed a 23-16 victory for Seminole.

For his efforts, Ruffin is this week's Sanford Herald Player of the Week.

Ruffin won the award in a close vote over Oviedo's Antjuan Battle, who scored three touchdowns in the Lions' 28-14 victory over Mainland.

Also considered for the award were Shawn Sams from Oviedo, Jeff Shaw from Lake Brantley, Carlos Lantigua from Lake Howell and Mike Krupa from Lyman.

Seminole regains some respect in football poll

By DEAN SMITH Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD - Respect for the Seminole High School football team from Florida sportswriters is coming back...slowly.

A week after seeing its point total fall to a season-low one vote, the Tribe doubled their total this week, collecting two votes.

"I never heard of a team losing votes for taking a week off," said Seminole head coach Ernest McPherson after defeating Winter Park last Friday night. "Especially after beating a good team like Oviedo the week before."

"But I think we are about ready to show people that we belong in the Top 10, not just in the receiving votes categories."

Seminole is still the only county squad getting votes, but if Lake Howell and Lake Brantley keep up their recent play it won't be long before they gain some recognition.

The Tribe will play their opening game in Class 4A-District VI when they travel to St. Cloud Friday night.

In Class 5A-District IV play this coming Friday night, Oviedo will travel to Altamonte Springs to take on Lake Brantley at Tom Storey Field; Lyman will be at Deltona; and Lake Howell will travel to Port Orange for a game at Spruce Creek's new on campus field. All games start at 7:30 p.m.

Raines hopes dream becomes a reality

By BEN WALKER AP Baseball Writer

CHICAGO - Sanford's Tim Raines has this vision, so vivid that it almost becomes real when he looks at the empty batting cage at Comiskey Park.

"It's the seventh game, we're down by three runs, in the bottom of the ninth inning, the bases are loaded," Raines says, eyes widening in wonderment.

Whether Bo was imagining the same thing while the Chicago White Sox worked out Monday was uncertain. He wasn't talking as his team prepared for Game 1 of the AL playoffs tonight against the Toronto Blue Jays.

That was nothing, or almost nothing, compared to what he did in the 1989 baseball All-Star game in Anaheim. He led off the first inning with a monster blast into the center-field stands, and went on to win the MVP award.

Caffeine addict needs to kick the habit

MEDICINE
PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 29 and addicted to coffee, drinking as much as 15 cups per day. As a result, my hands and feet are very warm all the time, even on cold days. My doctor has suggested a reduction in caffeine, yet I find this impossible. I'm a housewife and mother of four and need all the energy I can gather. When I don't consume coffee, I'm just plain grouchy.

malfunction of these nerves often leads to vertigo and loss of balance. There are several possible causes, including Meniere's disease, neuritis (nerve inflammation), stroke, and tumors. Usually, these can be differentiated by an ear-nose-and-throat specialist, using special tests, such as an MRI scan.

DEAR READER: Fifteen cups of coffee is too much by any standard; you are ingesting an excess of caffeine. This amount, which would cause the heebie-jeebies in a normal person, may merely keep you going because your metabolism has adapted to it.

Nonetheless, even in a "coffee addict," you'll develop symptoms sooner or later. For example, excessive caffeine consumption can lead to hypertension and overstimulation of the heart, not to mention insomnia and nervousness.

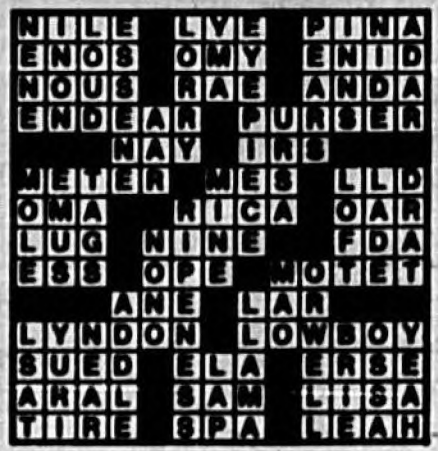

I agree with your doctor. But you'll have to reduce slowly. Cut back by one cup of coffee a day each week, substituting a decaffeinated beverage, if you wish. In three months, you'll be drinking three cups of regular coffee a day, about the limit for good health.

Perhaps as your children grow older and attend school, you will have less need for a "caffeine high." In any case, grouching is not a good excuse to take health risks (and it may be a temporary consequence of caffeine withdrawal). It's OK to be a little cantankerous. Cut down to a reasonable level of caffeine.

DEAR DR. GOTT: For the past five years my husband has suffered from a balance problem, diagnosed as bilateral peripheral loss of his vestibular nerves. We understand nothing can be done for this debilitating problem, yet we continue to hope. Any suggestions?

DEAR READER: The vestibular nerves, deep within each ear, control balance. A

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Which bid causes more controversy in bridge than any other? Right - the psych. Or, to be more accurate, the successful psych. Everybody resents being fooled by a psychic bid.

What is a psychic bid? One that grossly misrepresents your high-card strength and/or suit length. For example, you bid one spade when short in spades and/or with a very weak hand. You hope to bluff the opponents out of their best contract.

Today's deal occurred during the Sydney University Congress, held last April. Sitting South was Lave Bornercrantz, who was born in Sweden but who emigrated to Australia some 20 years ago.

After partner opened three clubs and East overcalled three spades, Bornercrantz threw up a beautiful smokescreen, bidding five clubs.

West raised to six spades because he "knew" his partner was void in clubs. He probably also thought that even if six spades couldn't make, the opponents would sacrifice in seven clubs.

And sacrifice South did, but in seven hearts, not seven clubs. West doubled and, still "knowing" his partner was void in clubs, led the club nine. After the expected ruff, partner would return a spade and several down would be the outcome.

It didn't work out quite like that. Bornercrantz covered with dummy's club 10 and ruffed away East's king. A heart to dummy's 10 drew trumps. Declarer discarded three of his four losers on dummy's top clubs and then ruffed a club. A heart to dummy's eight allowed South to throw his last loser on the club four.

What a brilliant coup!

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osoi
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Oct. 6, 1993

Financial conditions look encouraging for the year ahead, but you might have to be more determined than usual to generate returns that will be in line with your objectives.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You should have good management skills today in most situations that require a deft touch, but you might not have the courage to use them. Libra, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It could be difficult today for you to try to please everyone with whom you're involved. One person may require lots of pats on the back, yet could still think you're too hard on him/her.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you want to make a good impression on others today, sincerity is essential. In situations where you use flattery as a tool, your efforts could turn out to be counterproductive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Measures can be taken today to trim nonessentials from your budget. This will improve your financial position, but it won't be a cure all.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have what it takes to do well in competitive situations today, but if you win, and that is likely, you might not do so with grace.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) When making proposals today you hope will interest others, limit your presentation to hard facts. Appealing to their emotions won't get you customers.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There's a possibilities you might have some type of commercial involvement with friends today. This is on shaky ground and if the matter is mismanaged it could hurt the relationship.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your possibilities for personal gains look good today, provided you don't take some type of foolish risk at the last minute. If you have a feasible plan, stay with it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Associates might lack your drive and sense of adventure today. This means objectives that are significant to you may be of indifference to them. Operate on your own.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you might have to take measures to alter or change something that has been retarding your progress. It may be difficult, but it will be doable. Give it your best effort.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) For good or ill you tend to reflect the behavior patterns of companions today. If your personality is stronger than theirs, you will be the one who determines the mode of operation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Observers will admire your confidence and capabilities today regarding the ways you'll handle difficult assignments. Let them sing your praises instead of tooting your own horn.
