

County Defense Councils Asked To Man 800 Raid Observation Posts

TALLAHASSEE, July 10.—(Special)—County defense councils in Florida were called upon today to recruit and organize 17,840 observers to man 800 raid observation posts in the state within two weeks time.

This request went out from the State Defense Council offices here together with sets of instructions, individually prepared, for each observation post. The instructions sets were made up at Drew Field, Tampa, under the supervision of Brig. Gen. Walter H. Frank, commanding officer, Third Interceptor Command, Third Air Force, who flew to Tallahassee in an Army plane, bringing the envelopes of sets to be turned over to the BDC here.

Completion of the air raid warning service in Florida will place this state second in the nation and first in the southeast in such defense organization.

Lieut. Gen. Albert H. Blanding of St. Augustine, BDC chairman for civil protection and former commander of the National Guard, is spending several days in the State Defense Council of view directing distribution of the instructions and organization details.

General Blanding pointed out that observation posts will be designated spots from which volunteer observers will watch and listen for approaching planes. Each will be located within a few seconds run from a telephone. No towers or other structures or equipment will be provided but volunteers may use their own field glasses if they wish. Observers will be trained by, and will work under the direction of the Army air command.

Details of recruiting and selecting persons from the rolls of those who registered recently for volunteer defense, and all other details of instruction will be handled by the civil protection and labor and personnel divisions of the county councils.

Florida's air defense is the responsibility of the Third Interceptor Command, charged with the protection of the southeastern portion of the United States, south of Virginia and east of New Mexico.

Similar operations will be organized in all the states of the nation.

The thousands of trained watchers who would be called upon in an emergency will not go on duty immediately. They will be put through an intensive training for a few days out of each year, and will be ready to go into action, if and when needed.

Ferms who registered recently for volunteer civilian defense work in this field of volunteer activity should call at the headquarters of their county defense council for further advice or detailed instructions.

Latest scientific devices in air attack and defense, perfected after independent studies by air experts of the United States and Great Britain, will be used in the air defense of the sunshine state.

Florida Publicity Men To Hold Meet

The organization is charged with the responsibility of finding and offering to the public all natural resources of the state now laying dormant.

W. Therikson, agricultural editor of the Miami Herald, is chairman of the program committee.

Census Figures Show Increase In Population

TALLAHASSEE, July 10.—(Special)—Florida's urban population for 1940 had an increase of 77.8 percent over the 1930, while the rural population in 1940 exceeded the 1930 rural by 22.3 percent, according to George T. Gross, executive secretary of the Florida State Planning Board.

In actual figures, there is an increase of 238,613 in urban and 242,190 in the rural classification.

Breaking this down into white and non-white, the study made by the State Planning Board discloses that there was a 35.1 percent increase in the white urban population and a 36.1 percent gain in non-white urban population. In the rural classification, there was a 22.3 percent increase in the white rural and but a 1.8 percent gain in the rural non-white population.

Indicative of the trend away from the farm, Gross pointed out, is the fact that the rural non-farm white population increased 40.9 percent while the white rural farm gained but 11.8 percent. For the non-white, the trend was reversed, as there was a loss of .7 percent in the non-white rural non-farm and a gain of 4.9 percent in the non-white rural farm.

It will be recalled that Florida's total population, according to the 1940 Census, is 1,897,414. This shows a gain of 23.3 percent over 1930. This study of the State's total population, 1,894,365 are white and 618,049 are non-white. There was a gain of 33.7 percent in the total white population but only an 18.8 percent increase in the non-white. The 1940 Census further shows that the total white population comprises 72 percent of the State's total, while the non-white is an even 27 percent, as against 89.8 percent for the negroes in 1930. Figures listed in the census also give the total population together with the total urban and the total rural.

Air Warning Service Is Almost Complete

TALLAHASSEE, July 10, (P.M.)—George L. Burr, Jr., Executive Director of the Florida Defense Council announced this week that county defense council officers have taken hold of the task of organizing the Aircraft Warning Service for the War Department with vim and vigor and believe that Florida will be the first state in the southeastern area to complete such organization.

The plan calls for the establishment of 800 observation posts and locations of such posts have already been selected and named. County officials are urged to complete their organization as quickly as possible, so that report can be made to General Walter Frank of the Third Interceptor Command this week.

The decision from New York to move is 6,108 miles.

Roosevelt Asks 3 1-3 Billions For Navy, Maritime Commission

New Request Coupled With Army Needs Sets Two-Day Sum At Over 8 Billions

Defense Aid Bill Is $52,000,000

Army Service Until End Of Unlimited Emergency' Asked

WASHINGTON, July 11.—President Roosevelt asked Congress today for $3,325,000,000 in cash and contract authorization for the Navy and Maritime Commission.

With the request yesterday for $4,770,000,000 for the Army, today's figures amount to a total of $8,095,000,000 for defense.

Included in the $3,325,000,000 which the President sought for the Navy is $400,000,000 for maintenance and repair of defense installations in government or privately owned merchant ships.

He added, however, in response to a newsmen's question the arming of merchant vessels was not contemplated.

Today's request included the projected cost of defense and loan-loss spending for 1941, $95,000,000.

Sweeping legislation that not only would lift the service limit beyond the present 36 months but also would permit the President to reduce the service of any individual in the armed forces introduced in the Senate Thursday.

The legislation was offered as a series of three bills by Chairman Reynolds, of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, as the House passed and sent back to the Senate a bill granting draft deferment to men who were 28 years old or older on July 1.

The House vote on the deferment measure was 418 to 37. Simultaneously, the Senate passed without a dissenting vote and sent the House a bill authorizing the secretary of the navy to remain in the service beyond the expiration of their enlistment term, provided a national emergency has been declared.

Under Reynolds' legislation the President could keep any member of the armed forces in the service, draft, national guard, or reserve service for a period not longer than six months after termination of the unlimited emergency proclaimed by him on May 27.

Reynolds said he introduced the bill after his committee conferred with Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, Marshall recently recommended the bill on grounds that it be removed.

Reynolds' proposals go even further on the question of extending the service, applying not only to the regular army but to all enlistments, reservists and conscripts of limited time or term, now existing or which may hereafter exist in the armed forces of the U. S. and in every component thereof.

Market Managers Hold Annual Meet At Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, July 11.—(Special)—The annual meeting of market managers and advisory committees of Florida's 23 State Farmers' Markets opened at the George Washington Hotel Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock with each manager reporting on the operation of his market for the last season. More than $3,000,000 worth of farm products were sold through these markets during the fiscal year of 1940 and a considerable increase is expected to be shown by this year's reports.

Many outstanding agricultural, business, transportation and defense leaders in Florida and from other states have accepted invitations to attend the sessions. William L. Wilson, director of State Farmers' Markets, stated yesterday. Numerous problems affecting the marketing of farm products arising from the defense program will be discussed and plans will be made for the protection of farmers and consumers under any possible conditions which may arise.

Governor Spessard L. Holland will attend the conference this afternoon and possibly the banquet in the evening. The morning was devoted to consideration of the new State Agricultural Marketing Board law, the new dealer's bond and license act, changes in general market rules and regulations, accounting and records, insurance, bonds and credit, and the dissemination of market information.

The luncheon today was divided into three sections for those principally interested in livestock, poultry and swine marketing, and fruit and vegetable markets. Special problems were considered in round-table discussions.

Plans for cooperation between Florida markets and similar ones in other states will be worked out this afternoon with the assistance of J. B. McLaughlin, Commissioner of Agriculture of West Virginia; Harry D. Wilson, Commissioner of Agriculture of Louisiana; and Tom Linder, Commissioner of Agriculture of Georgia.

Other discussions this afternoon will include government buying procedure for defense, the new market rules and regulations, insurance, and anti-trust legislation. The sessions will close with a dinner.

English Admit U. S. Workers In Ireland

Foreign Office Says American Technicians Employed By British Government

By Associated Press
The assertion by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that the United States was constructing military bases in Northern Ireland and Scotland, prompted this comment by the British foreign office.

"Some technicians and laborers from the United States are engaged in connection with certain works that are proceeding in Northern Ireland," and added all were "direct employees of the British government."

An angry charge by Senator Taft of Ohio that the United States was building a naval air base for Great Britain in Northern Ireland led Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, to say that he had no knowledge of such a development.

The discussion was prompted by the recent occupation of Iceland, which Taft denounced as "exactly equivalent to aggressive war." After he had said that a base was being built in Northern Ireland, Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, to say that he had no knowledge of such a development.

"We are not being told what the facts are," he said, "and yet everyone of us who chooses to know that American workmen by the hundreds have been constructing a naval base in Northern Ireland for weeks just as they were preliminary to the Icelandic situation."

The discussion recalled an announcement recently that Merrill Chapman & Scott, New York contracting firm, had been engaged by the British to do some construction work in the British Isles. British officials at the time described it as purely an arrangement between the British government and a private American firm.

Thursday's debate also included a fiery speech in which Senator Connally of Texas took Taft to task for his opposition to the occupation of Iceland and shouted:

"I hope to God we don't have to fight, but we must let the gangsters and assassins know that light."

Taft linked his information on Northern Ireland with Wendell Wilkie's appeal of yesterday for the establishment of American bases in Ireland or Scotland as well.

President Roosevelt today asserted he'd not be surprised if American steel had gone into British bases and American workmen all over the world were being paid by the British government.

This, he added, is perfectly legal. He made the statement at a press conference where the question of construction of American bases in Ireland or Scotland arose.

Vichy Finds English Terms Are Unacceptable

Indications Given Fight Will Go On

VICHY, UNOCCUPIED FRANCE, July 11.—(AP)—The Vichy government after studying British terms for an armistice in Syria, today announced it found them unacceptable and indications were that the fight with the British and De Gaulle would continue.

"It added that the terms 'seemed to have been edited precisely to prevent all possibility of eventual agreement on the points in question.'"

The British demands included a complete surrender of arms, and warships, occupation of Syria by British troops and implied Vichy recognition of the De Gaulle movement, according to the Vichy outline.

The French High Command in Syria declared last night that Britain thus far has ignored its requests for an armistice and combats are therefore continuing with their accompaniment of violence and devastation.

The communiqué added that "the responsibility for it does not rest with France."

Observers Say Success Of Planned Drive To Determine Outcome Of War

Germans Admit Attack Stalled

Soviet Losses Set At Million Men By Berlin Agency

LONDON, July 11.—(AP)—A mighty new Nazi offensive, aimed at overwhelming results in underway in Russia, it was reported today. An offensive drive pointed at Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev is to be backed with the full might of Adolf Hitler's mechanized divisions, according to these reports.

On the success or failure of this drive, observers said, may depend the outcome of the Russo-German war.

Germany's drive eastward from the Bialystok-Minsk area is stalled at several places the official German news agency D. N. U. conceded, but an authorized military commentator said the Red Army has lost 1,000,000 men killed or captured and a declared that Russian military collapse is inevitable.

Adolf Hitler's policy of "mystifying the enemy with silence" was countered today by the Russians with a brief, noncommittal communiqué which implied that the Nazi blitzkrieg invasion had been stopped cold, with German legions no longer attacking.

"Nothing particular occurred on the fronts during last night," a Soviet war bulletin said. "Silent on present operations, Hitler's field headquarters went back to the bloody struggle in the forests of Bialystok, reporting the conclusion of this conflict with the capture of 323,438 Red Army troops, 3,332 tanks, 1,809 guns and an enormous quantity of supplies."

The Germans implied the mass of Nazi tanks and infantry engaged in the Bialystok mop-up now would be turned into a juggernaut smash against the Stalin line.

The great Russian-German battle line fell almost silent early today Moscow reported, with the Red armies contending that the first phase of the German invasion had ended with the Nazis fought to a halt on every front.

The fall was general along nearly 2,000 miles of fighting, announced with the phrase: "Nothing particular occurred."

Moscow's announcement of the situation insofar as it reported the highest value also was claimed. The Soviet communiqué today followed earlier claims that yesterday in the sixth day of the greatest single battle since the World War, the real center was holding fast and resilient, that even if the German offensive had passed the peak of its power, at least on the central front.

In this earlier fighting, the Russians reported the destruction of a full Nazi division of perhaps 15,000 men near Lepel at the red center and a "serious defeat" for a second division to the south near Borisov. The seizure of a vast amount of specialized German equipment of the highest value also was claimed.

This morning's Soviet bulletin, apparently referring to the Lepel action, said the German division had been smashed in an effort to break the Russian right flank and had been routed, leaving 3500 dead and wounded on the field.

This assertion, which was 100 percent at variance with repeated German claims to substantial control of the eastern air, was based on Russian contention that the Nazis really were quite short in planes and personnel, the pick of their "elite squadrons" having been destroyed in long combat with the British in the west.

Britain's Ace In The Hole

The promise of Britain to bomb Berlin in the near future with a violence that will make the worst Nazi air-raids seem "like child's play," if it can be carried out, will be the most significant event that has happened since the start of the present war.

Such an attack, we believe will do more to overthrow Hitlerism than even a crushing defeat in the field where the only damage done is to the military forces. Germany has always been conspicuous in its martial history for its capacity for waging wars on the other fellow's home lot, and it has shown an equal capacity for calling it "quits" as soon as its own territory seems to be in danger of wear and tear.

From a purely military standpoint the British have probably been right in confining their bombing attacks for the most part to military objectives. Their forces were too thin and their margin of survivance too narrow to risk pilots and planes on any other mission.

But with its own growing air power and with the arrival of ever-increasing numbers of bombers and fighters from the United States, Britain can now carry out the experiment of testing German civil morale without impairing the effort of the British armed forces.

A despotism such as Hitler's has no appeal to the people only so long as great victories are in the air, but when the going gets tough any system of government that is based on the violation of all human rights and decency cannot, in the language of the street, "take it." Only a people, whose system of rule is founded on the principles of liberty and freedom and respect for the individual, principles that are worth fighting and dying for, could have stood up to the savage destruction such as the Nazi hurled at the people of Britain.

Despite many appearances to the contrary, Hitler is no fool. He understands his people. He knows their dislike for being shoved around and their utter dislike for military action that sees their own homes and public buildings ruined. He knows that they have nothing to fight for except for him, and Hitler sitting on top of a mass of rubble in the center of Berlin won't appeal to many Germans.

Therefore, it can be written in the record book, that before Hitler will see Berlin destroyed, he will throw up the sponge. Remember, the Germans were not defeated in 1918, they merely gave up as soon as they saw that from then on out the war would be fought in their own parlors, and this they didn't like to contemplate. Take the war to them again and they will do the same thing.

Rockefeller's Creed

It is an interesting anomaly that the nimble which signifies in the minds of so many people the greatest accumulation of the so-called evils of the capitalistic system should at the same time be synonymous with charity and should be the cognomen of the author of a creed as fine and all-embracing as that of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., recently published in the newspapers of the country.

Mr. Rockefeller's benefactions run into the hundreds of millions of dollars and the amount of good these dollars have done in alleviating human suffering in all parts of the world and in financing research, establishing hospitals, and promoting education, can hardly be estimated so vast is the accomplishment.

Mr. Rockefeller's creed, which he calls "fundamental and eternal principles," by which he and his wife tried to bring up their children on, is probably a far cry from what the average man might think would come from the mind and hand of the ruler of an oil empire, but here it is, and we believe if such a creed were followed by all of us, the world indeed would be a better place in which to live:

"I believe in the supreme worth of the individual and in his right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"I believe that every right implies a responsibility; every opportunity, an obligation; every possession, a duty.

"I believe that the law was made for man and not man for the law; that government is the servant of the people and not their master.

"I believe in the dignity of labor whether with head or hand; that the world owes no man a living but that it owes every man an opportunity to make a living.

Rogers Outlines New Policies of Theater Chain

Future policies and plans for the Florida State Theaters, Inc., of which the Ritz Theater is a member, were outlined by Frank Rogers, president, at a one-day meeting of managers in the organization held recently at the Roosevelt hotel. A luncheon was held prior to the afternoon business session which was attended by more than 100 managers and executives of the organization. Charles Morrison, manager of the local theater attended. In addition to Mr. Rogers, head of the Florida State Theaters, Inc., other executives present were: B. B. Garner, vice president and general manager; Fred H. Kent, also president and general counsel; Jesse L. Clark, Tampa district manager; Guy A. Keigler, Jacksonville district manager; Robert E. Hyde, Jr., St. Petersburg district manager; E. R. Thomas, West Palm Beach district manager; Rupert Kallenberg, Fort Pierce district manager; and J. Cartwright, Daytona Beach public relations. M. C. Talley, secretary and treasurer, was not present. It was the first meeting since the new executive steps of the Florida State Theaters, Inc. which operates 120 theaters in 28 Florida communities. The 1940 business session was presided over by Fred H. Kent and was held in the theater building.

details of the Paramount deal. Mr. Rogers, a veteran showman of years of experience, told the managers there was a need for showmanship in selling entertainment, and Mr. Garner set at ease the question in the minds of the managers as to any drastic changes by stating that the present forces would be maintained. There will be no changes in policy but each manager will be left on his own to prove his ability as a manager and showman, he said.

The only big change announced was the division of the southern and southern portions of Florida with an expansion of the territory under the supervision of Guy A. Keigler in North Florida and a like larger territory of Jesse L. Clark in South Florida.

New Law Will Allow Farm Co-ops To Purchase Equipment As Corporation

TALLAHASSEE, July 11 (Special) — The 1941 Legislature enacted a law providing for the organization of agricultural associations which may exercise all the powers granted by the laws of the State to corporations for profit, and not for profit, so far as may be applicable to agriculture. These associations are also given the same protection as to liability of the members as is given the stockholders in corporations. Nathan Mayo, commissioner of agriculture, said.

This law was drawn in the interest of the small farmer. Many farmers do not cultivate large enough acreage to justify investing in all the different machines that are needed. Several neighbors can organize one of these associations and purchase on installment machines that can be used co-operatively in rotation.

Better cultivation can thus be made and such machines as plows, tractors, silage cutters, grinders, crushers, mowers, etc., can be made to serve all members of the association, Mayo said.

It is claimed that as a rule small farmers do not produce as fine quality of fruits and vegetables as do the large operators and that this is due to lack of the best equipment of machinery for cultivation and spraying their crops. This entails a loss in price and quantity. The proper use of spraying materials and fertilizers is necessary for both yield and quality. If the small farmer invests in all these things it entails a relatively higher cost for his crop than is incurred by the

Variety Of Crops Earns Money For Calhoun Farmer

Blountstown, June 30 (Special)—J. E. Brown's truck is always more heavily loaded on the way to town than it is on the way home, said County Agent G. T. Higgins in describing one of the good farmers of Calhoun county. Mr. and Mrs. Brown go to town about twice a week, but it is to market their stuff rather than to buy groceries.

Mr. Brown uses his head, keeps informed about new things in agriculture, and tries out different things for himself. He studies bulletins from the State Experiment Station and Extent on Service, reads farm journals and newspapers, and listens to the radio. Talking with him for only a few minutes convinces one that he is both informed and progressive.

He owns 120 acres of land in the farm community, and leases an additional 80 acres. He cultivates about 70 acres each year, and obtains his entire income from the farm. He has been on the same farm since 1911.

"I grow a little bit of everything to eat," said Mr. Brown when asked about his farming operations. "Food for people and feed for livestock is what I grow."

He listed his crops as corn—for both feed and raising cows, peanuts, potatoes, chufas, cabbage, turnip, squash, tomatoes, carrots, strawberries, oats, chufas and other truck and field products. He sells produce in Blountstown, Marianna, and Panama City.

In his winter endeavor, he keeps four or five good grade blood sows and a parbed boar, and raises two litters of pigs a year from each sow. His pigs are all under fence, and generally they are kept on collated land with growing food crops. One year recently he raised pigs on the same land where hogs had grazed, and ran into trouble with parasites as a result that one time was enough.

Mr. Brown is now making five good cases, and raising some cases for feed. He has a good permanent pasture, with carpet grass and lespedeza, and plans to sow some Dallis grass and lespedeza. Surplus vegetables are fed to the cows and hogs. He keeps a flock of good layers and sells chickens and eggs.

He is a supervisor with the Calhoun River Soil Conservation District, and believes in soil-saving crops. He now has four acres of kudzu, and probably will increase this soon. He grew some

Taking Summer Sports Easy At Beginning Is Wise

Summer sports are much like summer sun when it comes to how much to take and how soon. The answer in both cases is, "Go slow." That is especially true at the start of the season.

The wisest women in budgeting their sun time are the expert sportswomen.

Others often try live-as-learn experiments that have disappointing or overpowering results.

You won't hurt your popularity if you insist from the start that you can take only so much sun.

An REA line to his home provides electricity for a pump and a chick starter. Mr. Brown plans to install a water system soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown have raised a family of 10 children, the youngest now 15. Most of them are in business for themselves.

If you're lucky, you'll find construction work. Mr. Brown does a mechanical term in giving the reason for his success. He says he "tries to make every job cut."

Auxiliary Members Return From Beach

Members of the Junior Auxiliary of the American Legion have returned from a houseparty which was held at Daytona Beach, with Mrs. A. R. Ford and Mrs. J. W. Daniel acting as chaperones.

Those attending the party were: Miss Joyce Steele, Miss Valerie Wells, Miss Margaret Myers, Miss Kathleen Bryant, Miss Elsie Barrow, Miss Jean Harper, Miss Joyce Wardwell, Miss Sophia McLaughlin, Miss Margaret Langley, Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Daniel.

Miss Luellen Crawford and Miss Maude Ramsey plan to leave Sunday for Miami where they will board the "Content" for a 12-day cruise through the Bahama Islands, with stopovers in Nassau, Abaco and Eleuthera.

Mines Are Laid In Frisco Bay

WASHINGTON, July 11 (The Navy advised shipping Thursday that mines had been laid in the approach to San Francisco Bay and to stay clear of an area about 20 miles southwest of Mill Point, California.

There was no word whether or not the mine-laying was routine training but the navy hydrographic office said the mines would be in position "for an indefinite period."

16 Additional Danish Ships Seized By U.S.

Maritime Commission Has Acquired 31 Such Vessels Under Requisition Act

One Italian Vessel Taken

Boat Building Program Asked To Exceed British Losses

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—The Maritime Commission announced today it had taken over 16 more Danish cargo vessels laid up in United States ports, bringing to 31 the number of Danish ships acquired under the recently enacted Ship Requisition Act.

The commission has taken possession of one Italian vessel under the act, and President Roosevelt last night ordered forfeited 18 Italian and one German vessel under the 1917 Espionage Act.

President Roosevelt called yesterday for a United States merchant ship construction program to exceed the present rate of losses by Great Britain and her allies.

The commission has an additional $1,898,000,000 in cash and authorizations for the maritime commission, which already had under way a $1,715,000,000 construction program, making a total of $3,613,000,000. The commission said $1,245,000,000 of the money would be used to construct 566 ships of various types; $350,000,000 for the requisition, purchase and repair of existing ships, either foreign or domestic, in connection with the national defense emergency act; and the remainder for the construction of new ships, including the replacement of ships lost in production in 1942, when the peak of the nation's ship building program will be reached, was estimated by the commission at $641,849 deadweight tons, and production in 1943 at 6,582,871 deadweight tons.

Informal sources said these figures, which include, in addition to maritime commission contracts, production under direct British contract in this country, were at least as great as the present rate of Allied losses.

Roosevelt also asked Congress for $1,235,000,000 for the navy, $400,000,000 of which will be used to build and under direct British contract in this country, were at least as great as the present rate of Allied losses.

Replying to a question, he said armament of merchant ships was contemplated, and that the cost of the $400,000,000 undoubtedly would be used for navy ships.

The maritime commission said, plans for the additional merchant ship construction program already had been developed to the point where actual construction of additional facilities could begin early next month.

No announcement was made as to where the ships would be built. Likewise it was not disclosed where the additional shipyards would be located, although it was said they were to be added to existing yards. Officials said this information would be given as soon as possible.

Hill Brings Optimistic Report On New Airport From Washington

Mayor W. C. Hill returned to Sanford yesterday afternoon bearing optimistic reports from Washington regarding the probability of this city obtaining national defense appropriations for its airport, following negotiations in the capital. The Civil Aeronautics Authority has been conducting hearings in Washington during the past week.

Representatives from many of the 190 cities being considered were on hand to present their claims. From the 190 cities certified 149 to be the recipients of federal allocations for the establishment of first-class airports, looking towards eventual takeover by the U. S. Army in its expanding air program.

Mayor Hill, who was accompanied to Washington by Councilman of Commerce Secretary Edward Higgins, declared today he was not inclined to divulge any advance knowledge about the project, preferring rather to wait for information to be released from Washington the middle of next week, at which time he felt the people of Sanford would be in for some good news.

Commenting on the manner in which Senators Pepper and Andrews and Congressman Joe Hendrick co-operated with him and Mr. Higgins in placing before authorities Sanford's plea, Mayor Hill said he was impressed with their "sincere desire" to be of service.

The Mayor left last Tuesday and returned by plane landing at the Orlando airport after a very stormy flight which was his first. As his plane approached the Orlando airport it received instructions to delay landing because of heavy rains. It circled back towards Sanford and started off in a southeasterly direction finally approaching the landing field from the south. Mr. Hill said when the wheels of the ship hit the ground, a sheet of water covered the entire craft, so flooded was the runway.

American Navy Is Not In War, Says Knox At Hearing

Secretary of the Navy Knox was reported to have told the Senate naval affairs committee yesterday that the American fleet had not engaged in combat with any German naval units.

Knox and Admiral Stark, chief three-hour grilling in a closed session. Later committee members, who requested that his names not be used, quoted him as saying that he was against involving this country directly in the European war, adding that he believed it was the duty of the American fleet to remain in the Atlantic and guard the American coast.

Questioned about his statement in a speech at Boston June 30 that "this time to see our navy to clear the Atlantic of the German menace is at hand," Knox was said to have assured the committee members that no orders had been given the fleet to attack.

On the other hand, he was described as having urged strongly that the United States take advantage of the Nazi preoccupation with the Russian front in speed up the delivery of military supplies to England.

Knox and Admiral Stark, chief of naval operations, were called before the committee today for testimony on a resolution by Senator Wheeler of Montana demanding an investigation of published reports that an attack was made on a German submarine by an American navy and that American naval units were engaged in some British merchant ships in the Atlantic.

Besides denying any contact, Knox was said to have stated "emphatically" that the navy was not carrying out any part of the Atlantic patrol duty.

Peace Talk Stops War In Syria Again

General Dentz Enters Into Direct Negotiations Looking Towards Armistice

Hostilities between British-Free French Forces and Vichy troops in Syria and Lebanon ended at midnight, London announces, while from Beirut came word that General Henri Dentz, Vichy commander in Syria has entered into direct negotiations with the British looking toward an armistice.

The French Government yesterday refused to accept the British terms. Tossing the problem back into Dentz' lap.

Vichy rejected British armistice terms last night and indicated that the war would continue in the Levant as long as General Dentz felt like fighting.

The British government balked at dealing with the Gadists as anything but traitors and refused French guardianship of Syria and Lebanon as a solemn responsibility not to be yielded even under an overwhelming force of arms.

General Dentz, commander of Vichy forces in the league-mandated lands, however, virtually was authorized to strike his own bargain with the British and the De Gaulles when he deems it finally necessary to end the unequal struggle.

"The glorious soldier will take decisions made necessary by the situation on the spot," French spokesmen when he deems it finally necessary to end the unequal struggle.

Military reports for Thursday afternoon and yesterday morning said that the British were met everywhere "by the obstinate resistance" of Vichy troops, which at certain points fully made counter-attacks and sudden charges.

JACKSONVILLE, July 12.—(Special)—Cash public assistance payments to Seminole county recipients for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1941, were $85,696.80, according to announcement today of the State Welfare Board.

Cash payments in the three categories respectively were: Old Age Assistance, $49,197.00; Aid to Dependent Children, $13,010.00; Aid to the Blind, $23,489.80.

During the 12-month period, public assistance payments in the 67 counties of the state aggregated $6,232,541. The breakdown was: Old Age Assistance, $3,628,999; Aid to Dependent Children, $903,620; Aid to the Blind, $3,999,922.

Public assistance funds are provided jointly by the state and federal governments and are administered by the State Welfare Board.

"I feel justified in stating that there will be no reduction in Old Age Assistance grants during the present year," State Welfare Commissioner C. C. Godding commented. "An increase may be anticipated in 1942, when new rate track money becomes available. This revenue will consist of the odd cents breaks and an additional take of 5 percent of the play on horse tracks. State law provides, however, that each of the counties must receive the same as during 1940, when they shared equally the revenue produced by a 3 percent take at the horse tracks."

The racing season for the horse tracks will open late in December, he said.

German Shock Troops Reported Storming Northern Wing Of Stalin Fortification

Second Offensive Is Said In Offing

London Says Russia Moving 8 Million New Men To Front

BERLIN, July 12.—(AP)—Authorized German commentators today charged the United States' occupation of Iceland was aimed at getting the United States into the European battlefield, and that President Roosevelt was determined to force this on.

The commentator added Roosevelt is attacking Europe and "violating the Monroe Doctrine."

The Wilhelmstrasse declined to comment officially on what the Germans have alleged to be American designs on Dakar and French West Africa.

German reports asserted today that Nazi shock troops were storming the northern wing of the Stalin Line, but for the fifth consecutive day the German High Command found it advisable to report only that the campaign against Russia was proceeding "according to plan."

The Red Army command, either in triumph or in duplication of Adolf Hitler's official secrecy, declared no major changes had occurred on Russia's western front.

The precise point of the reported Nazi attack was not specified, but the official German news agency D.N.B. said cryptically it was in the "west zone of the Stalin Line." Presumably the north-central sector where the line follows the Dneper River.

First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander said today Britain had had "particularly successful" operations against Nazi submarines for the past few weeks.

Tremendous new battles along the temporarily stalemated Russian-German front were heralded last night in reports of a mighty German offensive and the massing of millions of Russian reinforcements.

Reliable sources in London said the new German offensive already was under way and a British press dispatch from Ankara told of 8,000,000 Russian troops, recently mobilized, moving up toward the front.

Tax Load To Be Fair, Says Comptroller

TALLAHASSEE, July 12.—(Special)—Property which has been carrying its fair share of the tax load will not "suffer from any unfair burden" because of the new law, State Comptroller J. M. Lee told an invisible audience over W. T. A. L. here last night. "Those who make their returns will not suffer from a load that should be carried by those who do not make returns on time," either," he added.

"There are ways to find property that is evading taxation, and I am going to help find it. I refuse to be the tool through which we increase the burden of those who conscientiously and with faith in good government file their returns, while others who make no returns or incomplete returns have their burden diminished."

"I sat through a railroad assessment board hearing Tuesday and heard dubious taxpayers assert about 'It can't be done' and 'I take issue with that attitude. I affirm here and now—it can be done, and I promise you it will be done.'"

"And as we accomplish the purpose of these new tax laws, our activity will mean reduction for those who are now paying by bringing in much property not being now. We are going to find it and get it on the roll for taxation and then we are going to collect."

"Don't fool yourself," he added. "Don't get the idea we'll lie down and let many taxpayers the complete record of his talk pointing to the necessity (Continued From Page Three)
