Story Of Dachau Concentration Camp Related

He then described entering a large warehouse that was stored with everything from books to rifles. "Everybody got interested in everything except in loading trucks."
"He had no trouble in striking the guards, all they had to do was pick up ammunition for the gun they had in their hands. They did a good job of keeping away runners of the camp who were running around loose in striped suits. They were so glad to be liberated they were running around in and out of buildings and routing into everything."
The men then took their personal equipment to the barracks, three buildings each about the size of the Hotel Mayfair, he wrote. "We picked out coats and shoes, except typewriters, one of which I liberated; then set up our cot."
The tools of a building, long warehouses stored with "clean hair oil" and toilet articles. I walked over to their motor pool where they repaired tanks and trucks. There were all kinds of cars and tools and several German civilian mechanics had been there. The prisoners had gotten a hold of them during the fight for the camp and had had them with them."

While we were looking around the motor pool, we heard shouting and gunfire. It was the guards, shooting, trying to calm down the Poles who were in the compound. They were so glad to be liberated that there was all kinds of rejoicing being displayed. There is a canal with swift running water in it, then a ten foot strip of land with a high barbed wire fence; then another canal separating the compound from the rest of the camp.
"Our infantry guards had crossed over to the 10 foot strip of land which had the fence on it and were trying to keep 35,000 men penned in who were so happy and excited that they were out of their heads. Some of them had been prisoners for a long time; some for six years; so try to picture thousands of half dressed skeletons behind a fence on a canal bank, shouting and crying various languages and you will get a slight idea of the sight I saw."
"Then we smelled an odor that I cannot describe as we looked about a hundred feet ahead and saw a pile of dead men about 15 feet high and 60 feet around. This was at the doorway to the crematorium. Stepping inside, I saw two large furnaces with grates that roll out for the bodies to be put on, then rolled back in. Opening a door to the left, I found myself just about to walk into a room the size of a front room half filled with bodies."
"Grif said, 'Step right in,' I said, 'I ain't lost nothing in there,' so about that time I began opening another door and there was another room the same way, half filled with bodies. After that we stepped lively out the way we came in. Around the other side of the building, we went through the gas chamber."
"On May 4 we continued with our work of preparing the barracks for wards. As the Poles cleaned them out we scrubbed and sprayed them. The Poles were so underfed that they had a hard time swinging the heavy mauls but there were about ten men to each maul so they had plenty of time to rest between mauls. Needless to say they like our cigarettes and to pull out our daily ration of candy and eat it in front of them is as mean a trick as eating ice cream come in front of a hungry baby. "After supper we went walking and going along the outside of several buildings, we saw the bodies of dead men lying on pictures, rifles, clothes, etc. (which had been thrown out of the building) that we were walking on beautiful bedspreads, tapestry and even linen table cloths. Following the string of beautiful material to a doorway, we saw several camel hair rugs at the foot of the stairs.

"Advancing up to the second floor, we found it contained all kinds of vases and much cheap army silver ware, but upon going up to the third floor, we saw stacks and rolls of pretty rugs, mattress covers that would make even a pretty bedspread look sick.
"There were Poles in there throwing everything all around; turning over stacks of hand woven tapestry and tramping on it. Large brand new radios, linen sheets made in other countries with hand stitching around the seams, darling pillow cases and precious hand towels, and any other adjectives that you might want to use to describe the stuff. As Mr. Perkins would say, I think it's nice—don't you think it's nice?
"I guess that on that third story which is a quarter of a block wide and a block long that there is or was over a million dollars worth of cloth and dry goods."
"The next day, May 6, as we went to work we were glad to notice quarter master men in trucks, picking up the dead SS troops from around the area. You see, until then all bodies were left as they were for some kind of investigation. Also in the morning air it was easy to sense a smell that we knew off hand was the cremator.
"Going back to hospital area, we went down to a double ward tent which was receiving. There were rigged up a bunch of showers and each patient was bathed. As most of the patients were too sick to stand they were laid on a table and washed, dried and sprayed with DDT powder.
The next day, May 7, Sgt. Robinson was notified by Col. Hill and the Det. Commander that he was N.C.O. who had been put in charge of the hospital. "That afternoon," he wrote, "we heard that the 7th Army had orders to stop firing and it began to look like the war about over."
"I just let these men detail about the trouble the ward men and the nurses have with the patients," he added. "Of course we can't understand the patients and the patients can't understand us. At first they are too weak to eat and are fed dextrose through their veins, and boy have you ever tried to find a vein on a skeleton. You just have to stick where you think the vein is and when you hit it, it is so dried up that it rolls off the point of the needle. Some are given plasma and various other treatment. Their temperatures range from 103 to 105. Some are out of their heads and just yell and get shot at given to put them to sleep."
Continuing another of the daily installments of letters on May 9, he wrote: "The patients are too sick to move, and I doubt if they know what they are doing or if they are even living. They are so thin and humped over that it is difficult to regard them as humans, as much as I hate to say it. They just lie there and stare at space with eyes as dry as death itself; however, some are well enough to moan."
"Many of them don't even know that they are receiving medical treatment and many of those who do, dislike taking the medicine. They are too sick to know or care about sanitation. Thank goodness, we found a roomful of German gowns, caps, masks and rubber gloves."
"One or more from each ward would die each night; so about every hour I would ride up the roads between the wards with the ambulance driver and collect the bodies. We took them to a tent which we had pitched for the mortuary. There an autopsy was done on them and then we took them to the crematory. "The bodies were still piled high at the crematory. We were told that the ambulance driver and I took them to the pile I was in the back of the ambulance straightening out the litters and blankets and the colored ambulance driver jumped in the ambulance and took off like Moody's goose without me and I had to walk back. Though it was only a six block walk, I ripped him up one side and down the other when I got back. I started to make him go back and get the litters but the Colonel in charge of wards said not to go over there anymore at night—just to leave the bodies at the morgue and take them over the next morning.

On May 12, he wrote: "The patients are getting better; some of them are beginning to have personalities. They are able to eat and are stealing food from the trays of people next to them. How can we ever teach them? Some are able to walk to the latrine without the help of a ward man. Some get out of bed and fall everywhere and anywhere. Others hide the bed pans under their beds and the patient on the next cot will fight him for it. They hide bread under their blankets and later pull the blanket over their head to eat it, else the patient on either side will take it away from him. "Some of them will hide under the bed and eat the bread, others will eat it on the floor. One of two of them are wanting to help with the ward work, but helping clean up or helping them get the old scraps out of their traps."

Patient Abuse At Hospitals Is Criticized

Senate Group Cuts Tariff Reduction From Trade Bill; More Gas Coming

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP) Testimony that several soldiers have been court-martialed for abusing patients in the Veterans Hospital at Northport, N.Y., developed during the House committee investigations of the Veterans Administration. Seven civilians have also been fired or quit their jobs because of the investigation. Testimony presented by Col. John Baird, assistant medical supervisor of the Veterans Administration.

The Senate Finance Committee struck from the reciprocal trade agreement extension bill the authority to cut tariff rates an additional 50 percent and then reported the bill favorably. The vote on the amendment was 10-9.

The government's promised increase in most supplies next fall may turn out to be an average of only 6 ounces per civilian for the entire October-December period. This would include most services at public eating places. Consequently, the increase in supplies at butcher shops would be somewhat less, based on latest meat allocations and estimates of 1945 production.

About 25 percent of the nation's 2,500,000 B-card motorists will qualify for more gasoline when the ration ceiling is raised to 650 miles monthly on June 11. The OPA estimated today there are about 3,000,000 B-card holders whose essential occupational driving needs exceed the current regional rationing.

WASHINGTON, June 8, (AP)—President Truman yesterday named Gen. Omar Bradley, famed commander of the 12th Army Group that helped smash Germany's western defenses, as administrator of all veterans' affairs.

The 62-year-old four-star general, who returned from Europe on Sunday, will succeed Brig. Gen. Hines, who is destined for another unspecified job after 22 years of service in the veterans' administration.

3 Day Marriage Law Is Upheld By Supreme Court

TALLAHASSEE, June 8, (AP)—The Supreme Court yesterday upheld Florida's new three-day marriage law, requiring altar-bound couples to wait three days between applying for a license and receiving marriage licenses.

Killing quickly "because of the great public interest" the court dismissed a suit filed directly before it Tuesday by T. Sgt. Charles Herman Light of Camp Gordon Johnston, and Miss Evelyn Jennings of Indianapolis, Ind., who sought to have the law, which was engineered through the Legislature by Senator L. F. Boyle of Sanford, nullified.

They sought to compel Leon County Judge B. A. Maguire to issue them a wedding license without waiting the three days provided by the statute.

Circuit Judge George Molt of Miami previously had held the law invalid because the title was not sufficient to "give a clear idea of the contents of the bill. The Supreme Court decision, in effect, reverses Molt's ruling.

How British Seas Were To Burn

NOW RELEASED is the secret of a British defense against the Nazi invasion that didn't come: the Channel and seas were to be set afire. Underwater pipes were ready, pressured with oil and valves were waiting to be opened at the right moment. The surface oil was to form a thin, inflammable cloud, and the oil-burner sea was to be ignited by shellbursts into a flaming inferno where no ship could live. (International)

Seven Awards Made At Exercises Of Junior High

College Head Urges Quick Peace Draft

Others Ask Congress To Wait Until War Is Over Before Enacting Legislation

WASHINGTON, June 8, (AP)—Action now on a program for compulsory post-war military training was proposed today by Earl Crompton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He told a House committee the United States should establish a "treasonable military program" mentioning a year's training.

Religious, labor and education leaders spoke vigorously against the peacetime draft legislation yesterday on the ground that the issue can wait until the war was over.

Their arguments were made to the House Committee on Post-war Military Policy by spokesmen for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Catholic hierarchy in the United States, the Rabbinical Assembly of America, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

All favored adequate defense but suggested that action on peacetime military conscription should be deferred until after the war.

President Truman Rejects Requests For Wage Hikes

WASHINGTON, June 8, (AP)—President Truman yesterday rejected an urgent request by labor leaders for immediate relaxation of wage controls.

The President told a news conference that the little steel wage formula would stand at least pending a thorough study to be undertaken later of the wage and commodity price schedules.

Only a short time before, President Truman and Chief Justice Warren had called for the White House to press for more relaxation of the wage and commodity price controls which have been in effect since January, 1941.

They expressed fear of a down ward spiral in wartime earnings and employment even before Japan is defeated.

While these appeals were being made at the White House, the WPA was considering the possibility of a general over-all wage index increase.

Japanese Survivors On Okinawa Split Into Two Disconnected Pockets

WASHINGTON, June 8, (AP)—Army and Navy combat casualties since Pearl Harbor have reached 1,012,049, an increase of 9,102 in a week. The Army's were placed at 595,811; the Navy's at 416,238.

Japan appeared today to be on the verge of abandoning all semblance of a military role in a drastic effort to cope with intensifying American air raids expected to reach a new crescendo with the fall of Okinawa where 66,221 Japanese have been killed.

Approximately 200 carrier planes, trained and bombed suicide air force, and Japanese fighters were seen today in the air over the island. The Japanese were reported to be in two disconnected pockets.

Japan Tightens All Control In Face Of Growing Air Raids

Improving weather over the Okinawa area permitted the use of aircraft and tanks in support of the ground operations. For many days the front has moved so much that supplies have had to be transported by hand, ship, and air.

Sixth Advances Mile
The Sixth Division Marines moving slowly southward from the Naha airfield sector encountered fire from machine guns, heavy automatic weapons and dug-in mortars as they pressed to Gin town, on the south side of the Okinawa peninsula, in a distance of more than a mile from the airfield.

Marines of the First Division, immediately east, captured Hill 108, west of Gin town, a high ridge leading to the strategic west coastal city of Itoman, west of anchor of the Yaezu Dake escapement. Advance elements drove to the west coast about 900 yards above Itoman.

Looked out from the Ninth to Sixth Infantry Division advanced about 1,000 yards through hills northeast of Yaezu town, two miles east of Itoman.

In air operations, Privateers of Fleet Air Wing One sank two small cargo ships and damaged another as waters around Kyūshū, south coast of Japan, remained shrouded. Commodore of the same wing sank a cargo vessel and damaged two others in the East China Sea.

American forces on Okinawa crushed the rebuilding of a new Naha air field and put Naha harbor to use today as Tokyo press and radio acknowledged that the "final end" of the Okinawa battle was in sight.

The Sixth Marine Division, which seized the airfield, drove on northward towards a junction with the First Marine Division. The advance was a steady one, the Japanese forces still held out in the hills and mountains of the Okinawa peninsula.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THEN WE MAY ADVENTURE BOLDLY AND FEARLESSLY: Behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all ways, whither thou goest.—Gen. 28:15.

NOAH'S ARK

Robin and rat both share this house, Weasel and wolf and lark. Here is a gull and there a roose, Sound asleep in the dark. Poetry makes strange bedfellows; It builds a Noah's Ark. The donkey walks with dignity, And over his head are stars. In bright procession rides the snake, Like a train of emerald cars. Poetry sung by son can make A zoo that has no bars.

The body of Hitler is claimed to have been found. Or was it one of his doubles? Tampa is planning to resume its Florida Fair and Gasparilla Carnival next winter. Important generals are returning to America so fast they're said to be a dime a dozen in New York.

Francis Maguire

One good thing about having the drought now: we'll probably have more rain later on in the summer when it begins to get hot. Miami complains of smoke from Everglades fires and planes are grounded as visibility becomes zero. Worse than that, some of the richest land in the world is burning up. We fiddle while Rome burns.

Francis Maguire

Florida's legislators are having a much harder time of it this year than they did last year. The veto question, or France, and England over Syria, in fact, the world today is just one big happy family.

A representative of one large America manufacturer tells us that his company has enough orders already on hand to take five years after restrictions are lifted to fill. Given half a chance there should be no slump in business for many years to come.

Japanese balloons have been falling in this country as far east as Michigan proving that the Japs have produced a "secret weapon" of real importance to this country. If balloons can be flown from Japan to bomb Michigan, it would be a simple matter to extend their range to the whole United States within their reach. Further perfection could increase their accuracy. But like some of Germany's most dangerous "secret weapons" perfection may never be attained by Japan before she loses the war.

Francis Maguire

One of the best articles we have seen on conditions prevailing in German concentration camps appeared in The Herald Wednesday and was written by Sgt. Harry Robson who was in charge of the first hospital unit established at Dachau after the U. S. Infantry moved in. Harry was there so soon after the capture that on his first trip to the camp he had to help bury the dead Germans who were still rotting, but that's Dachau. That's war. And those of us who shudder when reading of it, might think of the boys who have to live it.

Francis Maguire

Russia reveals that she intends to take over the whole of Germany, taking over the whole of it within American lines and leaving the other half to Britain, France and the United States. Russia seems to be the latest of the "secret weapons" of the war. We are concerned Russia is taking over Germany. We are concerned Russia is taking over Germany. We are concerned Russia is taking over Germany.

Views About Syria

People talking on a Sunday evening about Syria and the Lebanon expressed three oddly different views. One said, since arguments of various degrees of peace and war had been going on between French and Arabs for something like 400 years, and Arabs have always loved a scrap, it looked as if maybe they just wanted one more good brawl before a United Nations organization came in to enforce peace and boredom for the rest of their lives.

Another, blamed the ruckus on the stiffness of de Gaulle. With all his merits he is no diplomat. A little smoothness and tact might have saved 400 lives and possible serious ill-feeling between English and French.

The third said both sounded possible. He wished he could believe they accounted for all. He couldn't help feeling this might be a manufactured incident, similar to that, seeming small and far away, at Sarajevo in 1914, which started the first World War. The incident, he feared, might spread through the Arab League, thence start a "holy war" of this type, in which Moslems fought non-Moslems, would be more devastating to civilization than anything seen yet. True, even Moslems could not win without the mechanical means of fighting possessed by their opponents. But they could start bloodshed, destruction, bitterness which it might take a century to overcome.

All agreed finally in the hope that this example of what could happen to a confused and war-weary world might prove fortunate, if it roused all the nations to the need of working together from now on.

Too Much New York

"Too much is plenty," according to the old vaudeville joke. Baseball fans will echo this sentiment on reading that the two New York teams are leading the major leagues. The Giants might be forgiven, as they have not been first since 1933. Once in 12 years could be tolerated in a New York team.

The Yankees are a different story. They have won seven years out of the last nine, and were barely nosed out the other two years. Since 1921, when they started their pennant habit, they have won flags in 14 years out of 24.

While it is still early to assume the worst and look for a double New York victory, the situation is dangerous. Perhaps the two teams have heard of the ODT ban on a world's series this fall unless, as last year in the case of St. Louis, both teams should come from the same town. But an all-New York contest would be a high price to pay, even for a world's series.

WIFE'S POINT SYSTEM

A Clearwater war wife after studying the point system devised by the Army to determine which men should be released has prepared a point system for the wives of soldiers. Here is her point system for women:

Ten points for every child of school age and fifteen points for every child under.

Ten points for having a baby without its father being present.

Five points for every war-necessitated move.

Five points for every serious illness of a child which you saw through alone.

Ten points if you lived—without supplementary income—on the pay of an enlisted man.

Five points if you managed a way of living alone for with another war wife instead of going back to your husband's people or your own.

One point for every month your husband has been in the service.—Clearwater Sun.

Drought Is Viewed As Presaging Great Reduction In Citrus Crop

TAMPA, June 8. (Special)—The current Florida drought may be as disastrous in its effect on next season's fruit production as the October 1944 hurricane, which destroyed $5,000,000 boxes of fruit, C. C. Commander, general manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange, declared in his annual report today.

"The loss is so great, particularly in unripened groves, that it now appears Florida will have less fruit in 1945-46 than was marketed this season," he said. "A late bloom may improve crop prospects but the records show that heavy crops usually do not follow hurricanes."

Mr. Commander urged that maximum prices for next season be increased to compensate Florida growers for drought losses, the same as they were adjusted this season because of hurricane losses. "This question is vital to all growers and should be decided before the harvest of new fruit begins," he declared.

Discussing future prospects, Mr. Commander said: "There will be fewer apples but more bananas and other fruits to compete with citrus next season. There will be unemployment in some sections but, on the whole, consumer buying power is expected to continue at a high level. Government purchases of citrus fruits will continue too, but may be smaller than this season. The sudden end of the war with Japan would seriously affect the nation's economy and could change the entire outlook."

The production of Florida fruit will probably increase in the next five years or more at a rate of about 10,000,000 boxes a year, or about the same rate as in the last five years.

Mr. Commander estimated government purchases of Florida fruit this season at 13 1/2 percent of the orange crop and 29 percent of the grapefruit crop, or fresh and processed forms.

Maternity Care Program Finishes Year Of Service

JACKSONVILLE, June 8 (Special)—The nation's famed emergency maternity and infant care (EMIC) program which has been universally supervised by State Boards of Health, reports into its second year this week...

The country had not been in war long until it was obvious that the low pay grade servicemen could not maintain their families...

In Florida 7,700 babies of servicemen in the four lower pay grades have been ushered into the world under the EMIC program...

Dr. Marsh explained that race, creed or nationality is not considered when applications are being processed for this care. Nurses questionnaires are already certified...

A large portion of the mothers and babies receiving care under the EMIC care have been visitors in Florida following their servicemen husbands...

Mr. Allen announced that he had handled 73,960 poisonous snakes since Jan. 1, 1942...

sent to the State Board of Health for certification. After that, the serviceman's wife has no more worries as to where the money is coming from to pay for her baby. The expense falls upon the shoulders of her Uncle Sam, Godfather of nearly 1,000,000 servicemen's babies born during the past two years.

Brownies Give Party For Their Leaders

Miss Mabel Chapman and Miss Sadye Williams, leaders of Troops 2 and 3 of the Brownies Scouts, a girl scout organization, gave a girl scout surprise Monday afternoon at the Scout hut by Brownies at the West Side School. Ice cream and cake were served to the mothers at the close of the meeting, the first one of the year.

To each leader, an identification bracelet having "Brownies," "44" and "40" on it, was presented in appreciation for devoted and unselfish service.

The Brownies Scouts are the youngest members of the Girl Scout organization and range from seven to nine years of age. Troops 2, 3 and 4 have been organized since September and 54 girls are enrolled.

There are no tests or ranks for Brownies. All of the Brownies ideals center around willingness and cooperativeness, especially in the home. A large part of the program is found in the Brownies way of doing things, which is called "Brownie practices." Being kind, helpful, and courteous are what Brownies are always trying to be. The program is based entirely on an understanding of the needs and interest of the little girls.

Each troop has been busy carrying on all its activities. At the invitation of services for each troop, all parents and friends were invited to attend. At Halloween, the Girl Scouts gave the Brownies a party. One troop distributed posters for the Red Cross.

Mrs. and Mrs. M. L. Raborn took part of Troop 2 on a yacht trip. All three troops have gone on hikes and exploring trips. They have cooked, bread, twist and pioneer drumsticks over open fires. All have made bean bags. Small groups within troops have had much fun dramatizing songs and stories for the rest of the troop. Each troop had an Easter Egg hunt. On May 19, all Brownies participated in the event of Brownie Day.

With parents which the Brownies brought in, they purchased a Brownie flag, staff and standard. The leaders of the troops are: Troops 2 and 3, Miss Mabel Chapman, leader and assistants, Miss Sadye Williams and Miss Mary Elizabeth Carver. Troop 4 is led by Mrs. John Rogers.

Dr. and Mrs. Epps Honor Miss Williams

Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Epps honored Miss Doris Sue Williams with a buffet supper held at their home on the Orlando Road Wednesday evening. Miss Williams was presented with a beautiful gift from her host and hostess. The delicious buffet supper was served to the guests at the last moment.

Late Miss Betty Doris Williams was surprised by having a birthday cake complete with candles presented to her, and the party was then served a supper of fried chicken, corn on the cob, salad, cake and coffee.

After a happy afternoon and evening, the following voted to make the event an annual one: Mr. and Mrs. George D. Hop, Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ingley, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Pore, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. McBride, Robert W. Deane, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Swain, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wolcott, Mrs. Russell Simons, Mrs. P. M. Scott, Miss Janet Boyd, Miss Betty Doris Williams, Miss Catherine McNeill, Mrs. Mary R. Cameron, Mrs. Lanell Owens, and Miss Bertie Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, and Mrs. L. I. Frazier. Frank Blair, faithful employee of the bank for many years, served the guests.

Daily Vacation Bible School Begins Monday

Four Sanford churches, the Presbyterian, the First Methodist, the Episcopal and the Congregational churches have united in the Daily Vacation Bible School which begins on Monday morning at 9:30 A. M.

Mrs. Edward Kircher will be general superintendent of the school. The registration of students begins at 9:00 o'clock at the Park Avenue entrance to the Methodist Church. The opening session of the school will be held at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning in the auditorium of the First Methodist Church.

The Beginner's Department will be supervised by Miss Ella Edton and after the first opening session will meet at the Methodist Church. The Primary Department will be supervised by Mrs. R. F. Cole and will meet after the opening session at the

Anna, Ruth Senkarik To Wed Eas. Berkey

Mrs. and Mrs. John Senkarik announce the engagement and an upcoming marriage of their daughter Anna Ruth to Ensign Ward J. Berkey of Johnston, N. H.

The wedding will be an event of Sunday, June 17, at 1:00 P. M. in the Trinity Lutheran Church in Orlando.

Miss Senkarik attended the local schools and was graduated from Seminole High School and from Montreat College in Montreat, N. C. Until recently she has been employed at the Sanford Naval Air Station. Ensign Berkey was formerly attached to the Sanford Naval Air Station and later served in the Pacific He has recently returned to the United States for a 30 day leave.

The father of Madam Chiang Kai-Shek worked at a boy in a silk store in Boston, Mass.

Rev. Ed. F. McKinley Will Preach Sunday

All Methodists and the public in general are invited to worship with the members of the First Methodist Church on Sunday morning. The Rev. Ed. F. McKinley will preach his first sermon at 11:00 o'clock and thus begin his ministry as pastor of the church.

Rev. and Mrs. McKinley and family arrived Thursday evening from Jacksonville, Fla. and will reside at the Methodist Parsonage, 618 Magnolia Avenue. Rev. McKinley succeeds Rev. Joe A. Tolle who has been transferred to the First Methodist Church at Bradenton.

When the father of Madam Chiang Kai-Shek was converted to Christianity by the captain of a steamship he took the captain's name in baptism, "Charles Jones Soong."

Dear Pop:

Once a year we get a chance to thank you for all you've done helping with the homework and getting us out of jams. (Which reminds us, Mr. Berkly, our neighbor, wants to see you tomorrow.) No kidding pop, we think you're a solid sander so we put our heads and greenbacks together and picked out some things we hope you like. The tie is from Limmy. (Don't worry, mom didn't pick it out.) The jacket is from Steve. Hippie he's home by next Father's Day. She gave you a belt that's adjustable after dinner. The ballford is from little Babs, or weren't you hinting? The swim shorts are from me. It's not bad having so many kids after all, is it pop?

Camp Blanding To Have Open House On Infantry Day

CAMP BLANDING, June 8. (Special)—Visitors to Camp

Blanding's Open House program on Infantry Day, June 15, at the Infantry Replacement Training Center will see, in addition to the training demonstrations, how trainee morale is held at high pitch by a full program of off-duty entertainment.

Knowing that the strongest and sturdiest of men must have mental relaxation and recreation, Camp Blanding's Infantry Replacement Training Center offers a new program of athletics and diversion to keep its men in a happy state. Along with learning the grim realities of war the soldiers of this Center are offered a fun-packed curriculum of activities that run the gamut from sports to ball-sessions.

Enthusiastic sponsor of the recreation program is Maj. Gen. E. W. Fales, IRTC Commander, who recalled for his athletic and recreation officers the words of Gen. John Pershing, "Give me a thousand men who are entertained, rather than ten thousand who have no entertainment."

The soldiers' recreation begins in the huts, where ball-sessions with batters help tick off the idle moments. Or, it might be the Company Dayroom where one comfortable surroundings, many furnished by civilian groups, lend an aroma of home. There are stationery for those who want to write the folks back home, games to while away the hours, and a radio to catch the news of the day.

For theatregoers there are eight air-conditioned playhouses where the latest movies may be seen nightly, and Sunday after-noon. Shades of the corner neighborhood general store, or the old bistros are the PX's where the men relax over a cool 3.2 beer, shop for the necessities of Army life, or sip a refreshing soft drink.

Three large Service Clubs, beautifully equipped and well situated are a happy outpost from barracks life. Parties, dances, face masques and variety acts are best places to read magazines to mail friends. Meticulous telephone operators help make that cherished call home, or a lazy nap on the sprawling lawn. Besides the Service Club there are the guest houses where a visit from mom, dad, sis, the girl friend, or a few hours with the one who understands the wife creates an atmosphere of happiness.

A large Open Air Theater on the Parade Ground is the frequent scene of USO Shows featuring top names from the world of stage, screen and radio. Highlights of the Open Air Theater program during the summer are the weekly "Parade Rest" shows produced every Sunday evening by the IRTC Special Service Office. Pretty girls, melodrama and soldier talent from top-notch city branches of the entertainment world adorn the "Parade Rest" cast. Many top-notch entertainers now doughboy trained not only put on shows here but are made available for War Bond and National War Loan rallies in nearby civilian communities.

SOLDIER RETURNS
AUGUSTA, Ga. June 8. (Special)—Pfc. Benny Joseph (Negro) of Route 2 Box 18, Sanford, has arrived at the Oliver General Hospital here from overseas for further medical treatment. Pfc. Joseph, 20, is the son of Queen E. Joseph of the same address. He has been in the Army over a year and served overseas.

The Halifax "Gazette," established in 1782 by John Bushnell, was the first paper to be published in what is now the Dominion of Canada.

The first recorded use of the word "broadcast" to describe a radio service was in 1919 when Dr. Frank Conrad promised such a series to radio amateurs.

Crowns and coronets originally had no regal significance. They were made of leaves or flowers and conferred on the winners in athletic contests.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

TOM: "It's mighty nice to receive a compliment like you've just given us, Judge. We do take our responsibilities very seriously and try to do the right thing with every body. In spite of it, we get criticized now and then."

OLD JUDGE: "I know... you've got to take the bitter with the sweet in times like these. Speaking of criticism, and I mean really unfair criticism, reminds me of the spirit beverage business."

FRANK: "How is that, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Simply this... can you think of any other business in which the seller is responsible for what the buyer does with his merchandise? If a person eats too much cake and gets indigestion, the baker isn't blamed. Nor is the coffee merchant criticized if someone drinks too much coffee and can't sleep. But the seller of spirit beverages gets blamed plenty if one of his customers overindulges. Doesn't seem quite fair, does it, Tom?"

TOM: "Frankly, it doesn't, Judge. We've never looked at it that way before."

Jet Motor Seen Creating A New Plane Industry

Engineers Meet Secretly, Forecast Much Speedier Aircraft

By Peter Kilgus
SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., June 8—A whole new aviation industry growing out of war-time developments in jet propulsion and gas turbines, with incredibly swifter and more comfortable planes, was forecast recently at the end of a highly secret three-day conference which brought 200 of the nation's top engineers here at the request of the Air Technical Service Command.

Although the predictions were blue-ink stuff, R. G. Standerwick, engineer in charge of such developments for the General Electric Company, said they had been unanimously concurred in. Among them, he told reporters, were such things as "low-priced private planes of reasonably high economy, powered by gas turbine driven propellers," and helicopters whose rotor blades also would spin gases down into a jet-propulsion motor.

He foresaw coast-to-coast airplanes with ever-increasing "gas turbine-driven propeller" plants, augmented by jet propulsion. Asked when these might be expected to appear, he said: "I'll take a $10 bet on five years."

Meet at Army request—Mr. Standerwick likewise predicted such developments as new methods of accomplishing aircraft air conditioning out of the power available from a turbine system, "giving up the heat and refrigeration all in one package of reasonably small size."

The conference was organized at the Army's request by the General Electric Company, makers of the turbojet engine powering the new Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star. The Army already has called the P-80 the world's fastest plane, approaching a speed of sound, which would make it near the 700-mile-an-hour class.

An indication of the industry's support of the discussion last week was given by the fact that not only was it attended by engineers from thirty-five aircraft and engine companies, but also by an official British delegation, led by Air Vice-Marshal M. H. B. It was the British jet engine, developed by Air Commodore Frank Whittle in 1930, which led to the burst of American interest in jet development.

Hisender Geard is a training depot chief of engineers at the Air Technical Service Command and first American to attempt to fly a jet plane. He said: "I don't believe we'll get anything really different within our grasp if we can't take advantage of it." Inside a number of fighter wings in the Mediterranean in this war, Col. Geard observed, he said, "an engine obsolete the year it was used to defeat the

RURAL COMMON SENSE
By Spuds Johnson

HOOKWORM CONTINUES A SERIOUS MENACE TO HEALTH IN FLORIDA
While much progress has been made against hookworm in rural areas of Florida in recent years, it still continues to be a serious menace to the health of people whose homes are not equipped with sanitary sewage disposal facilities.

Public health authorities and the hundreds of families who have followed their advice on the matter are to be commended for the advances that have been made on this debilitating disease.
For many years, it has been known that a person suffering from hookworm does not have the energy, strength or general ability that would be his if he were well. Thus, hookworm, particularly when the best efforts of all are needed to win the war, is more than a personal malady but, is a handicap to the war program. At any time it robs one of vigor and strength, it makes him more susceptible to other diseases. It is a serious economic factor for a person who is suffering from it is not as able to make a livelihood or to progress as he would if he were well.

Hookworm is a parasite that is transmitted through sewage to its victims. Therefore, safe disposal of sewage—so that it will not be present in the soil on which people walk—is the only way in which it can be stamped out. A barefoot lad walking in contaminated soil runs the risk of getting the disease—and keeping it perhaps for many years without knowing why he feels tired so often, why he doesn't obtain the good that he should from his food, and why he is more susceptible to disease than other folks.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz traveled from Washington to Pearl Harbor after disaster under the name of "Mr. Wright" and wore civilian clothes to fool the Japanese agents who would have killed him for the secret reports he carried.
Soap was invented as far back as the first century.

Russians Tell Berliners To Open Churches

General Eisenhower Receives Russians Highest Award In Order Of Victory

BERLIN, June 11, (AP)—Berlin's war-scarred churches are being re-opened for Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish worship with Soviet approval, Arthur Werner, German educator and Russian-appointed burgomaster of the city, said today. He reported he was told by Col. Gen. Bezarin, Berlin commandant, "Please educate the children of this city so they will believe there is a God and have fear of God."

Gen. Eisenhower received Soviet Russia's highest award the Order of 'Victory' from Marshal K. Zhukov yesterday and said that the Allies are going to have peace even if we have to fight for it. Eisenhower declared that the European war just finished had been a holy war—more than any other war in history.

In a toast of praise to Marshal Zhukov, commander of Russian operations in Germany, Eisenhower said: "Speaking for the Allied forces, I say we are going to have peace even if we have to fight for it. I want the common men of all nations to have the opportunity that we fought to preserve for them."

Zhukov's speech was made at a luncheon in his headquarters which honored Zhukov, Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, who also received the order of 'Victory', and other high-ranking military figures from the United States, Russia and Britain. Zhukov Pays Tribute

General Eisenhower, praising the Supreme Allied commander, described him as a son of the American people and said he belonged with the immortal great of all time for whose cause he fought. Allied armies of the west out of so many different peoples.

Zhukov spent four hours in Frankfurt. Gen. James de Latour de Tassigny, French representative on the Allied Control Council for Germany, was not here.

Gen. Eisenhower said he was glad to see the Russian order of victory never before in history had been presented to any but Russians and only seven previously had been awarded. Eisenhower was number eight and Montgomery's number nine.

Infantry Show Is Market Board Coming to Sanford Approves Lease For Locker Plant

85 Overseas Veterans To Stage Spectacle To Sell Bonds

221,000 Frozen Food Plant To Be Built At Farmer's Market

"Here's The Infantry" a military spectacle depicting how wars are fought today, will be vividly portrayed by 85 overseas veterans Thursday night at the Seminole High School football field, and airtime night will be played by a 160 piece ground crew band from Camp Blending.

Termed by Ed Lane, chairman of the War Finance Committee's publicity for the 7th War Loan, as one of the greatest exhibitions of its kind, the spectacle will be shown free.

An exhibit of all kinds of fire arms will be on display on the corner of Magnolia Avenue and First Street on Wednesday and Thursday.

The soldiers are expected to arrive here Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock and will stay at the Sanford Armory Wednesday and Thursday nights, an arrangement made possible by the help of the Sanford Naval Air Station through the loan of cots, sheets and blankets.

TAMPA, June 11 (AP)—Florida was the first round of the legal battle to determine the validity of the state's anti-closed shop constitutional amendment when a federal federal court decision against its enforcement. They said the amendment does not appear to be in conflict with the National Labor Relations Act.

FLORIDA WINS

Heavy rainfall on Thursday failed to make up for the drought earlier in the month, and there is a net deficiency of 1.08 inches for the 10-day period, according to B. F. Whitner, weatherman.

Actual rainfall during the 10 day period has been 1.44 inches, while normal rainfall for the period is 2.49 inches. Net deficiency for the year is 7.40 inches, and total rainfall is 10.71 inches.

Australian Vets Make Three Way Invasion Of Northwest Borneo

Ens. H.W. Frazier Tells Rotary Of Pacific Action

Squadron Shot Down 74 Planes, Wrecked 462 On the Ground

Ens. Herbert W. Frazier, fighter pilot, who recently returned from a six-month tour of duty in the Pacific told the Rotary Club at the Mayfair Hotel today some of his experiences striking against Clark Field, Hong Kong and Okinawa in which his squadron accounted for 74 enemy planes in the air and 462 on the ground and damaged ships and ammunition dumps.

Charles Morrison, manager of the Rotary Club's softball team announced that the scheduled game with the Kiwanis Club which was to inaugurate the summer softball season being directed by City Recreation Director F. Kettler, has been postponed until a week later.

Ens. Frazier who was introduced by Randall Chase as a resident of Wallingford, Pa. and a graduate of Swarthmore College, entered the Navy in February, 1943, was commissioned in May, 1944 and began his tour of duty on the carrier Hancock in October, 1944. He is now training a combat team at the Sanford Naval Air Station which he expects to take out with him in a few months.

The Grumman Hellcats which he has been flying, he said, are much better armed than the ones they carry. They carry six machineguns, six rockets each of which are equivalent to a 5-1/2 inch shell, and a 1,000 pound bomb altogether giving them the firepower equal to one salvo from a cruiser. He said the carrier war fare has changed considerably since the early days of the war when a tour of duty lasted 18 months and action was not likely to occur.

Ens. Frazier described an attack on his carrier by a Japanese suicide pilot whose plane blew up only 100 yards from the deck of the ship, and told his squadron leader who returned to his carrier after the tall of his plane had been shot off, and of his own narrow escape when his plane missed the landing deck and landed in the water after his motor had conked out. He said he felt very lonely floating around in the middle of the Pacific until he was picked up by a destroyer which radioed his carrier.

Ens. Frazier said he had been on a tour of duty in the Philippines in which he had to fly through an unusually heavy field of flak which his belly tank was blown off and two of his six guns caught fire. He stuck stuck so that his plane landed on three attempts to land on his carrier, he was waved off. On the fourth trip in, when he had made up his mind to land anyway, he came in just right.

Air Strikes On Japan Continue As Stillwell Says War May Last 2 More Years

The Associated Press General MacArthur visited the Luzon beachhead on Borneo's west coast a few hours after the invasion and was at the front lines during a brief skirmish. Japan's Defense News Agency reported the Parliament committee approved the proposed rule of the country by imperial decree, pending prompt action by the House of Representatives and the peers.

Australian veterans making a three-way invasion of northwestern Borneo have seized the entrance to strategic Brunai Bay. General MacArthur's mission was carried on the most sustained raids on Japan into their fifth consecutive drive.

The Allies captured little of Borneo's interior during the invasion. The Japanese are making an attempt to recapture the island, but the Allies are expected to have it by the end of the month.

The Japanese are talking at radio frequency of changing the war power bill, refusing to sign the Draft Registration Law, and other moves.
