Large Voter Turnout Predicted For State, Seminole

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Closely contested races for U.S. Senate, governor, and state referendums on a lottery and casino gambling have state and Seminole County election officials braced for a high voter turnout in Tuesday's general election. In addition, voters here will select a new judge and state representative.

and decide between incumbents and challengers in school board and county commission races.

County elections supervisor Sandra Goard predicts a 78 percent turnout of the county's 95,602 eligible voters, meaning that 74,569 ballots may be cast.

That number approaches the 75,799 total eligible voters in the last gubernatorial election year of 1982. Fifty-eight percent of eligible county voters went to the polls then.

State Deputy Secretary for Elections Dorothy Glisson is predicting a 83 percent voter turnout Tuesday, which means state-wide, that 3.5 million of the state's 5.6 million eligible voters may go to the polls.

According to Ms. Goard and Ms. Glisson, the referendums on casino gambling and a state lottery have sparked voter interest, as well as the fierce battles for office between Democrat Steve Pajcic and Republican Bob Martinez for governor, and Democrat Bob Graham and Republican Paula Hawkins for U.S. Senate.

"There are alot of good things for people to vote on," Ms. Glisson said.

Ms. Goard said her office and staff is ready for the big turnout, but says it may mean a later wait for results to be known in her County Services Building office in Sanford.

"I think we're all set," Ms. Goard said. "We've just been wrapping up last minute details so things will be smooth Tuesday," she added. "I hope we'll be

Freed Hostage's Feelings Mixed

Others Still 'In Hell' He Says

WIESBADEN, West Germany (UPI) — David Jacobsen, freed by pro-Iranian Shiite Moslems, arrived from Lebanon today after 17 months in captivity, saying he had "mixed feelings" because other American hostages are still "in hell."

"I can't tell you how very, very happy I am here today," Jacobsen told reporters on his arrival at the Army's Wiesbaden Air Base.

"But, it is really mixed feelings," he said, referring to the five American hostages he left behind in Lebanon. "The guys are in hell and we've got to get them out."

Jacobsen was checked into the hospital at the air base near Frankfurt soon after his arrival.

Jacobsen, clad in a maroon sweater with blue and tan stripes and brown trousers, sported a trimmed beard. He looked haggard but was talkative and obviously in good spirits despite his long ordeal. He declined to describe the 17 months in captivity.

Church of England hostage mediator Perry Waite accompanied Jacobsen to West Germany in a government-chartered orange and white Learjet that landed at the air base at 11:45 a.m. After a brief news conference, he was taken in a black limousine to the Air Force's nearby Regency Medical Center for medical tests.

But before he slipped again out of public view, Jacobsen thanked President Reagan and the U.S. officials who worked for his release, saying: "They are great people."

Jacobsen, 55, was freed Sunday morning in Beirut after 17 months of captivity by a Shiite Moslem group calling itself Islamic Jihad. He was released near the abandoned U.S. Embassy compound in Moslem West Beirut and taken by U.S. Embassy officials to the new embassy in Christian East Beirut.

He was the administrator of the American University Hospital in Beirut when he was seized by his Lebanese kidnappers on May 28, 1985.

Hopes that five other American hostages in Lebanon also might be freed soon were dashed by the fact that Waite, who tried to negotiate their release, left Beirut with

Body Under Highway Bridge

Altamonte Man Found Murdered

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A body discovered under a bridge in east Orange County has been identified as an Altamonte Springs man.

Officials believe James G. Tetrault, 31, of Altamonte Springs, was murdered about 36 hours before his body was found 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Tetrault, a Navy veteran, graduated from Lyman High School where he played football.

His mother, Carol Tetrault, also of Altamonte Springs, said her son enjoyed hunting and fishing and evidently got a ride to the area where he was found. "I have to find out who did this," she said. "It was a terrible jolt. I still can't believe it."

Mrs. Tetrault said she was out of state when the incident occurred which put the initial burden on her daughter, Tetrault's sister Denise Conely, a city of Altamonte Springs employee.

Mrs. Tetrault said her son is divorced and has one child.

Tetrault had severe injuries to his upper body but the exact cause of death has not been determined, officials said.

Mrs. Tetrault said the family is awaiting autopsy results to ascertain the cause of death.

A fisherman discovered Tetrault's body under a bridge across the St. Johns River on east Route 50. It was under the westbound lanes of the bridge. A fishing pole was next to him.

Rides To Polls Offered

Seminole County voters who don't have a way to get to the polls can get a free lift from the county Democratic and Republican parties. Phone calls to either group will bring a ride to and from the polls for those in need at no cost.

The Democrats "ride line" is 657-6279, and the Republican party can be reached at 682-6287 or 682-6284, party spokesmen say. Polls will be open 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Faulkner Aims To Solve Funeral Home Flap

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Because of a suit that has been filed against Longwood by funeral home chain owner Cy J. Case, Commissioner Perry Faulkner said he will propose a list of 18 conditions under which Case could operate a funeral home on his property to the city commission tonight. The suit was filed last week in Seminole Circuit Court.

Longwood will meet in special session at 6 p.m. at city hall, 175 West Warren Ave. to take up the issue two others.

Faulkner is the only commissioner to vote against denying a conditional use request for a proposed funeral home on State Road 434, which the commission has voted down three times.

Attorney Gary E. Shader, Maitland, has filed suit on behalf of Case, who owns 18 Garden

Chapel funeral homes around the state. The suit claims the city acted improperly denying a conditional use request for Case to operate a funeral home at State Road 434, 100 feet east of Oleander Street, by basing its decision on the emotional effect it would have on the patients of a doctor whose office is adjacent to the proposed funeral home. The suit contends the city should have only considered zoning guidelines.

In denying the conditional use, the commission also cited the additional traffic a funeral home would generate on State Road 434.

Case is asking to judge to overturn the commission's Oct. 6 decision. The Land Planning Agency on July 23 recommended approval of the request. On Oct. 20 the commission refused a request by Case that a third public hearing be held.

Dr. James Hynick and his patients presented a petition with 291 signatures asking the request be denied because the proximity of the funeral home would depress his patients and be bad for business.

Faulkner said by presenting a list of conditions, the commissioners would have at least fulfilled their obligation. Faulkner said he wants to prevent going into court and getting more bad publicity for the city.

Bids and proposals for special equipment for the new police station will also be discussed at the special meeting. The $732,997 facility is due for completion next month.

Study: College

NEW YORK (UPI) — Half the college students in three states said they believe in Adam and Eve, and one-third believe in Allah, the last city of Atlanta. The poll results, released Monday by Texas researchers, also showed that students who believe in Allah are less likely to be conservative and have lower grade point averages than those who do not. Overall, the higher you go on the creationist scale, the lower your grade point average.

Airline Detectives Dig Dirt On Victims, Survivors Say

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Investigators for Delta Air Lines are intimidating witnesses in order to discredit survivors and victims of last summer's crash, lawyers for the families say.

Howard Barwick, who represents Delta in many of the damage lawsuits, said the airline would never condone going outside the limits of the law in preparing a case. He said background investigations of crash victims are done only so they can present a complete picture to a jury.

Delta Flight 191 crashed just short of the runway during a thunderstorm at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport Aug. 2, 1985, killing 137 people. The flight originated in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. and about 35 families have suits pending in south Florida. Dozens are pending elsewhere, and 50 people have settled out of court.

lawyers for the airline produced testimony that Fort Lauderdale resident Paul Reynolds, who died in the crash, used cocaine, had a drinking problem and had not filed a tax return since 1980.

Bill Hoppe, the attorney for Reynolds' widow, said the investigation of the Reynolds amounted to a "shakedown." Investigators made surveillance films and sent a letter to a neighbor saying, "Call us so we don't have to subpoena you," Hoppe said.

The Delta testimony contradicted claims by Katherine Ann Reynolds that the marriage was "idyllic and made in heaven" and that her husband had been an energetic businessman whose future showed promise.

Delta attorney Frank Finn called the widow's description "fairy tales," and produced witnesses who said Reynolds' oil well investment business was in

IN BRIEF

Issues Become Top Campaign Issue In State Elections

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Oregon voters, in what might be called a "referendum," must decide if they want to buck a national anti-drug trend and legalize possession and use of small amounts of marijuana.

That is just one of more than 200 controversial, trend-setting, offbeat or merely important issues that will appear on 43 state ballots Tuesday.

Voters across the country will be asked to decide issues such as the fate of state-funded abortions in four states, whether to ban AIDS victims from teaching or handling food in California, whether to scrap all property taxes in Montana or increase education funding in several states.

It seems a sure bet that lotteries will be legalized in at least five of the six states which have the issue on the ballot. Twenty states and the District of Columbia already have them.

Again this year, taxing and spending questions are the most common ballot issues, if not necessarily the most newsworthy.

Most of the headline-grabbing issues — such as the AIDS question and an effort to make English the official language in California — got onto ballots via the initiative process, in which citizens can force questions to a vote by gathering enough signed petitions.

1986 Campaigns Costliest Ever

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The costliest election campaign in American history came to an end with many candidates pouring the last of their cash today into a television and get-out-the-vote blitz.

Senate and House candidates raised $344 million and spent $300 million — both record highs — through Oct. 15, and the final count, not due until after the elections, could raise the total in both categories to $400 million or more.

Senate candidates, running for 34 seats, raised $156 million through Oct. 15 — more than enough to pay all their $75,100-a-year salaries for next half century.

Those figures mean the average 1986 Senate race costs about $4.5 million, and final totals could jump that average to more than $5 million per race.

This year's costliest Senate race is the California clash between Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston and Republican challenger Rep. Ed Zechau.

The Florida race between Republican Sen. Paula Hawkins and Democratic Gov. Bob Graham is second costliest, with $11.23 million raised and $9.9 million spent through Oct. 15.

Informers: Mob Boss Got Loot

NEW YORK (UPI) — A mobster-turned-informant says he never got the cut he was promised from the brazen 1978 Lufthansa airline robbery and said the mastermind of the heist and a Mafia capo got most of the $5.8 million loot.

Henry Hill, 42, the subject of "Wiseguy," Nicholas Pileggi's best-selling book about the Mafia, said James "Jimmy the Gent" Burke and Paul Vario, 73, reputed Luchese crime family capo, got most of the stolen money.

Hill is one of the few survivors of the robbery. Nine men and two women involved in the heist have either been killed, gangland style or have vanished. Only one person has ever been convicted in the Lufthansa robbery.

Hill said the stolen money was invested by Burke in dress shops, drugs, restaurants and real estate. Burke is serving a life sentence for murder as a result of Hill's testimony.

Farmers May Flex Election Muscle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farmers now make up 3 percent of the nation's population but they could still flex some considerable political muscle and make a difference in the battle for control of the Senate.

Several farm-state elections are razor close, and Republican control of the Senate is so tenuous that farm families and small-town neighbors also hurt by the farm crisis could decide the outcome of that battle.

They could be decisive in close Senate races on Tuesday, especially in South Dakota and North Dakota, and maybe in more economically diversified states such as Oklahoma and Missouri.

Farmers and their neighbors also could send a message to Washington by tipping the balance in some House races, particularly in Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, South Dakota, Missouri, Texas and California.

Molestation Defendant Claims Total Innocence

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — In his first public interview since being arrested more than two years ago in the mammoth McMartin Pre-School molestation case, Raymond Buckley said he is innocent and that vengeful prosecutors are making him a scapegoat.

"They've ruined my life," Buckley, a former teacher at the now-closed preschool in suburban Manhattan Beach, told correspondent Mike Wallace in an interview with the CBS news magazine "60 Minutes" that aired Sunday night. "They've... need a scarlet letter on me that I can never get rid of."

Buckley, 28, and his mother, Peggy McMartin Buckley, 59, who also taught at the school, are the only defendants remaining in a case that began with seven arrests and more than 300 charges involving dozens of children.

Buckley said he and his mother — who was freed on bail following nearly two years in custody — remain under prosecution because authorities have "got to have a scapegoat."

"I've watched them ruin my family. I've watched them ruin my mother's and grandmother's lives," he said. "I've watched them ruin my sister's career." Initially charged with Buckley and his mother were his grandmother, Virginia McMartin, 78, who founded the pre-school, and four other teachers, including his sister, Peggy Ann Buckley, 29.

All claim the case has destroyed their lives, and most have filed suit alleging wrongful prosecution.

"I was just starting at that school. I didn't, hadn't made up my mind of what I wanted to do in life," Raymond Buckley said. "I don't know what kind of life I would have (if cleared of the charges). I can't trust people anymore because I've seen too much of the politics, the corruption, the evil, the anger, the ignorance."

Several parents of the alleged victims watched the program, which included accusations from the district attorney that his predecessor had filed the charges with virtually no investigation. At least one parent expressed disapproval of the program.

Democrats, Republicans Vie For Senate Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One day before the elections, Democrats appeared poised to seize control of the Senate, but Republicans counted on a final campaign blitz by President Reagan and a $22 million voter turnout drive to stop them short.

Democrats, eyeing slim leads in key races, expressed increasing confidence that they will recapture the Senate by picking off Republican one-term wonders who rode into office in 1980 on Reagan's coattails.

But Republican National Chairman Frank Fahrenkopf said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," "There are eight races so close they are dead heats."

"If they break our way, we'll keep control," he said. "If they break the other way, we'll lose."

White House political aide Mitch Daniels told reporters the GOP would retain control of the Senate by a "very thin margin" and Senate Republican leader Robert Dole said, "We're going to be the majority when the polls close."

But Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd said, "It's going to be 52-48 Democratic."

Going into the election, Republicans hold a 53-47 majority in the Senate and the Democrats need a net gain of four seats for control.

A net gain of three would produce a 50-50 deadlock, the first tie since 1880, which then would be broken by Vice President George Bush in favor of the GOP.

With few Democratic targets to shoot, Republicans have run into trouble coast to coast trying to hold on to their Senate seats.

Some have been all but written off: Democrat Barbara Mikulski is a heavy favorite to beat Linda Chavez in Maryland; Florida Gov. Bob Graham has been leading Republican Sen. Paula Hawkins since the start of the campaign; and Democratic Rep. Harry Reid has opened an almost double-digit lead over Jim Santini in Nevada.

Republican problems do not end with those three states, with toss-up races in North Carolina, Idaho, North Dakota, South Dakota, Georgia and Washington.

Losing control of the Senate for the first time since 1980 would pose serious problems for Reagan in the last two years of his presidency.

Without a stronghold on Capitol Hill, Reagan would be faced with Democrats pressing their agenda in advance of the 1988 presidential elections and would probably force him into more compromises or rule by veto.

GOP Seeks Gains In Governor's Races

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans have historically waged unsuccessful battles in gubernatorial races but the tide seems to have turned and some GOP candidates could emerge victorious on Election Day.

Of the 38 governors' posts up for grabs, 27 are now occupied by Democrats — thus improving Republican chances for cutting into the 34-18 Democratic majority in governorships.

While GOP victories in gubernatorial elections would have the most impact in individual states, they also carry significant national implications.

Major gains in the states for Republicans could put the GOP in a better position for redrawing congressional districts after 1990. In addition, big wins by several candidates of both parties could advance their hopes for national office.

This year's races also give women an opportunity to gain a firmer foothold and write some political history, with one state — Nebraska — having the nation's first woman-to-woman governor's race.

Women May Make Political History

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The voting booths on Election Day will feature the largest number of statewide races ever held with women candidates, who stand to make a political breakthrough and add a few footnotes to history.

Analysts say 1986 is a year of many firsts for women candidates who have spent a decade working their way up the political ladder and finally are seeing it pay off at the ballot box.

In what has been called the "Year of the Woman," the first Democratic woman senator could be elected on her own and the first Republican woman governor could win office.

Women stand a good chance of more than doubling their numbers as governors and increasing their numbers as lieutenant governors.

For the first time in history, two women in Nebraska are running against each other for governor — Democrat Helen Bossalis and Republican Kay Orr, who has a slight edge in the polls.

For only the second time, two women in Maryland are vying for a Senate seat — Democrat Barbara Mikulski and Republican Linda Chavez. Mikulski, who is favored to win, would become the first Democratic woman elected to the Senate without succeeding her spouse.

In another Senate race, Missouri's Democratic Lt. Gov. Harriet Woods is in an uphill fight against former Republican Gov. Christopher Bond for the Senate seat being vacated by retiring Sen. Thomas Eagleton. Bond is favored to win.

Vermont could become the first state with two women holding the top two jobs if Democrat Madeleine Kunin wins reelection as governor and Republican Susan Auld wins on a separate ticket to become lieutenant governor.

Canadian Cold Chills Northeast

By United Press International

A blast of cold Canadian air chilled the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley and the Northeast for a second day today, pushing temperatures into the 20s, and skiers welcomed up to 2 feet of snow that blanketed parts of Colorado.

Freeze warnings were posted for northern Indiana and northwest Ohio today, and a frost warning was issued for central Indiana, the National Weather Service said. Forecasters said temperatures would dip into the upper 20s and low 30s.

A 26-degree reading early today at the airport between Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, Pa., tied a record low temperature set in 1951, and in Concord, N.H., the temperature dropped to 21 degrees.

It was also cold in Minnesota, with Warroad reporting 25 degrees and Bemidji 34.

High temperatures Sunday climbed only to the 30s and 40s from the Rockies across the middle Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes to northern New England.

Forecasters said the cold snap, in its second day today, was not unusual for the season.

"Temperatures have been running a little below normal, but still for this time of year it's not that unusual," weather service forecaster Paul Fike said.

Storms centered over Arizona Sunday dropped 5 inches of snow on Hannagan Meadow and small hail on Douglas.

The wintry weather also swept into Colorado, where a weekend storm dumped 3 feet of snow on Nathrop, Colo. A foot of snow blanketed Geacon in the mountains of northern

IN BRIEF

Apathy, Ignorance Blamed As More Women Skip Prenatal Care

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Palm Beach County health officials blame a combination of poverty, ignorance and bureaucratic delays for the growing number of women who fail to seek prenatal care.

A report published Sunday in the Fort Lauderdale News and Sun-Sentinel says 743 babies without prenatal care were born at St. Mary's in West Palm Beach and Bethesda Hospital in Boynton Beach last year, accounting for 14 percent of the babies born in Palm Beach County.

Women skip prenatal care because of poverty, ignorance, apathy, drug addictions, long waits in the county clinic, and the bureaucratic quagmire that faces them when they apply for tax-assisted clinic care, health officials said.

A 1985 report said a quarter of white mothers and almost half of black mothers in Florida do not seek out adequate prenatal care. Many of those mothers are poor teenagers, whose babies are more likely to be retarded, paralyzed or victims of cerebral palsy.

Paula Augustus, 23, did not see a doctor at all while she was pregnant with Reggie, a healthy 3-week-old boy. She lives at a Salvation Army home with Reggie and her three other children.

"Really, I didn't want a baby. I didn't care what happened to him. I didn't. Because I had too many (children). I'd rather take care of the ones who are already here," Augustus said.

CecCec, 18, spent the last four months of her seven-month pregnancy filling out forms and waiting for the arrival of needed documents such as her husband's Social Security card.

Her first doctor's appointment was scheduled for Oct. 15. She gave birth the day before.

4 Prison Escapees Recaptured

By United Press International

Two of five prisoners who escaped from a Dade County jail over the weekend have been recaptured, one when he hobbled into a local hospital with a broken foot, and two inmates who escaped from Monroe County Jail were also picked up.

Three of the five who used a hacksaw blade to saw through reinforced window bars at the Interim Central Detention Center in Miami Saturday were still at large Sunday.

"We don't know how they got (the hacksaw blade)," said Capt. Jerry Meece, director of operations at the detention center.

Paul Dillard, 22, broke his foot when he jumped from his second-story cell at 7 p.m. Saturday, said a Metro-Dade County police spokesman. Five hours later, he tried to get treatment at a local hospital and was handed over to police.

Moses Dixon, 23, was picked up Sunday in northwest Dade County after a car wreck and a foot chase by police.

Dixon was driving a 1976 Buick registered to one of his relatives in northwest Miami when he was spotted by police. After a brief chase, Dixon and his two passengers bailed out of the car and he was captured three blocks away. The two passengers escaped.

"Here it is, 12:30 on a Sunday afternoon, with the street full of kids, and these guys bail out of a car going down the street at full speed," said Robbery Det. Laurence Noon.

Woman Living In Woods Arrested

An indigent woman living in a Casselberry wooded area was arrested on a charge of resisting arrest without violence after she reportedly ran from an officer then ripped up no-trespass papers.

Officer W. A. Toole reported that the woman and a companion were living behind a store off the Oxford Extension in Casselberry. He said he located the woman and she signed the paperwork but then grabbed the papers and ran. By the time the officer caught up with her, she had ripped the papers, he said.

Toole said her actions prevented him from performing his legal duties.

Arrested and charged with resisting arrest without violence was Lois Ann Finkerbinder, 44. Bond was set at $500.

GUN IN CAR

A Winter Haven man was arrested in Sanford following a traffic stop and the discovery of a loaded gun in his car.

The arresting officer said he stopped the man's vehicle because it was traveling on the wrong side of the road near Magnolia Avenue. When he asked the man to see the vehicle registration, he opened a console between the seats and took out some paperwork.

The incident occurred 12:30 p.m. Friday.

When the officer asked him to get out of the vehicle, he reportedly put his hand in the console and onto the butt of a loaded .22-caliber pistol.

Arrested and charged with driving on the wrong side of the road, possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony and carrying a concealed handgun was Joseph C. Dorlus, 24. He was being held without bond Saturday. According to the arrest report, at the time of his arrest he was out on bond on a charge of possession of cocaine.

ARRESTED IN WOODS

A Winter Springs couple were arrested on marijuana and other charges after officers investigated why they were in some woods.

According to arrest reports, the officers saw a vehicle enter a wooded area and a short time later followed. There the officers found a couple "reclining on a blanket in a state of undress." The incident occurred at Shore and Panama roads at 2:49 a.m. Saturday.

After identifying themselves and talking with the couple the officers noticed what appeared to be marijuana on the blanket and a small brown bottle of an unknown material with the woman's cigarettes. The man, who had put on trousers, was reportedly uncooperative with the officers and when they told him he was under arrest he reportedly struck one of the officers. A second officer jumped on the man while the other pulled his gun and ordered the man to "freeze."

The couple was taken into custody and further charges are pending analysis of the bottled material.

Charged with possession of marijuana under 20 grams was Norman Wallace Smith, 39, of 7 Gumtree Court, and Karen Elaine Pollard, 42, of the same address. Smith was also charged with resisting arrest with violence and two counts of battery to a police officer. His bond was set at $1,000, hers $500.

FIRE CALLS

Sanford firefighters have responded to the following calls, details based on fire department reports:

FRIDAY

—9:09 p.m., 518 E. Eighth Street, assault. A 26-year-old woman declined treatment of possible injuries.

—9:54 p.m., Airport Boulevard and Old Lake Mary Road, car accident. A 60-year-old woman received a cut over her right eye. She declined hospital transport after the injury was bandaged on-scene.

SATURDAY

—3:27 a.m., 23rd Street and Oak Avenue, car accident. No reported injuries; no action required.

—4 a.m., 1410 W. 12th Street, rescue. A 21-year-old woman reported abdominal pain. She was transported to the hospital by private vehicle.

—7:30 a.m., 200 W. 15th Street, rescue. A 26-year-old man, reportedly intoxicated, was found by the side of the road. No apparent injuries. He was transported to the hospital for medical check.

—10:16 p.m., Celery and Elliott avenues, rescue. Reported "man down" rescue call cancelled enroute by Sanford police.

SUNDAY

—6:54 a.m., 19th Street and Mellonville Avenue, car accident. A 28-year-old woman received cuts on her mouth and bruises on her lower legs. She was transported to the hospital.

Stan Bainter For Legislature

The race for Florida State Representative District 27 pits Republican Stan Bainter against Democrat Jeff Book.

Mr. Bainter has been a resident of Florida since 1959 and is an insurance agent in Tavares and is a cattle rancher. He lives near Altoona.

Both have been active in civic and political affairs. Mr. Book as chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic Party in Lake County.

Mr. Bainter is the director and vice chairman of the Seminole Electric Cooperative and has been active in various civic endeavors for many years. He was named conservation farmer of Florida in 1976.

Mr. Bainter has taken a no nonsense view of state government. He believes that waste exists in governmental spending and has vowed to try to find it; he believes in strengthening criminal penalties; he cuts through the rhetoric in approaching the drug problems and proposes to take the causes of the problem by controlling drugs and alcohol and imposing stiffer penalties for violations.

Mr. Bainter has also taken a realistic approach to one of the most vexing environmental problems in Central Florida — Lake Apopka. Cited as a "dead lake" more than a decade ago, efforts in restoration have proven to be too little, too late so far. His ideas on treatment of the mucklands surrounding the lake coincides with the expert opinions of many environmentalists and is consistent with good, long-range planning in rebuilding an ecosystem in that area.

He is a successful businessman, a family man, and a committed civic leader.

He has the experience and dedication to be an effective legislator. His agenda is commendable and he deserves the opportunity to put his ideas to work.

The Evening Herald endorses Stan Bainter for State Representative, District 27.

Evening Herald Recommendations

There are those who say that Tuesday's election turnout will be less than desirable because voters have been turned off by the negativism contained in some candidates' advertisements and pretty much will tell them all to drown in their own muck. And then there are those who are predicting a larger than usual turnout because of the several important referendum questions as well as some key races of vital interest to voters. Either way, we who live and work in Seminole County will be affected in some measure by the outcome. It is, therefore, imperative that as many of us as is possible get out Tuesday and cast a ballot.

To that end, the Evening Herald recommends the following candidates, and repeats its position on referendum questions:

- United States Senate: Bob Graham
- Governor: Bob Martinez
- Secretary of State: George Firestone
- Attorney General: Robert A. "Bob" Butterworth
- Comptroller: Gerald Lewis
- Treasurer: Bill Gunter
- Commissioner of Education: Betty Caster
- Commissioner of Agriculture: Doyle Canner
- State Representative, District 27: Stan Bainter
- County Commission, District 2: Bob Sturm
- School Board, District 1: Bill Kroll
- School Board, District 5: Jean Bryant
- Circuit Court Judge, Group 4: Ned N. Julian Jr.
- Amendment 1, Authority of Attorney General to Appoint Statewide Prosecutor: Yes
- Amendment 2, Casino Gambling: No
- Amendment 3, Homestead Exemption Revision: No
- Amendment 4, Supreme Court Opinion on Proposed Initiatives: Yes
- Amendment 5, State Operated Lotteries: No

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON WORLD

Thoughts While You're Going To Vote

By Arnold Bawlsak
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tomorrow is your lucky day.

Tomorrow, you can vote for people to run the government for the next couple of years.

If you want to know why that makes you lucky, close your eyes and put your finger on a map of the world. The chances are you touched a place where people either don't get to vote or don't have a choice if they do.

There is a modern theory of political science that a low turnout on election day means that the people are satisfied with the public officials who already are in office.

There is an older theory that could be applied to voting: "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

The second one probably is older because it is truer.

Some people who don't go to the polls say one vote more or less isn't going to make a difference.

Two years ago, four votes decided a congressional election in Indiana. The man who lost says he was robbed and is running again this year. All he needs to do is find five people who believe their votes don't mean much and change their minds.

Jack Paar used to tell the story about an elderly woman who, when asked how she cast her ballot in the presidential election, replied, "Oh, I never vote for any of these candidates. It just encourages them, you know."

That's probably as logical a reason as anyone has ever given for not voting.

We celebrated the centennial of the Statue of Liberty last July 4, but the real 100th birthday of the great symbol of freedom was just last week.

If it seems to be a bother to go out of your way to vote tomorrow, you might reflect on the distance that was traveled by the millions of people who passed the Lady in the Harbor on their way to new homes ... and, for many, the new privilege of voting.

If you don't like the way things are being run in the country, remember:

Bullets are the ballots of tyranny.
Ballots are the bullets of democracy.

Think of it this way: voting is a way to celebrate the end of all those 30-second television commercials telling you who you should vote for.

If the public opinion polls show that the candidate you support is losing, that is a very good reason for voting and talking a few friends into joining you.

As anyone who voted for Harry Truman way back in 1948 can tell you, there are few experiences more joyful than to make monkeys out of the experts.

In some countries, you can be fined for not voting. In this country, nobody can make you vote. That's another good reason why you should.

Some Day My Prints Will Come

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Photography, according to a Florida psychologist, "reveals things about you that you never realized."

He should know. Probably no other state inspires more snapshots per square foot.

Suppose in capturing on film a visit to Disney World, all of your pictures when developed are out of focus.

Does that mean you should see a psychiatrist? Or does it mean you should have read more carefully the instructions that came with the camera?

I opt for the latter. If, or course, you chronically cut off the heads or feet of your spouse and kiddies, that is another matter.

Although not a crime in most states, photographic mutilation of loved ones could be the result of a deep-seated phobia that only a shrink can diagnose.

When I return from a vacation trip, I always play a game of "It Might Have Been."

"I'll tell you how to play and then you can make up for own rules. Basically, it involves inventing occupational puns. As in:

"I might have been a photographer but the very thought makes me shudder."

Now that you know my rules, you are strictly on your own. Here are some other samples I picked up along the way:

"I might have been a librarian but I wasn't too well stacked."

"I might have taken another coffee-break but it might have been grounds for dismissal."

"I might have been a poolhall huster but I kept missing my cues."

"I might have been a surgeon specializing in organ transplants but my heart wasn't in it."

"I might have been an astronaut but I couldn't get a launch time."

"I might have been an Army officer but I just didn't have enough brass."

See? I tried to warn you this could get bad. But if I take time to look through your latest photographic album, the least you can do is put up with a few more of my puns:

"I might have been a mortician but that was not my undertaking."

"I might have been a transvestite but it was a drag."

"I might have opened a tobacco shop but I didn't feel up to snuff."

"I might have worked for a gasoline station but I couldn't get the lead out."

Pentagon Demands Satellite Control

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon is quietly pressuring commercial satellite operators to take costly precautions against terrorists and pranksters, even though many industry officials are convinced the safeguards are unnecessary and a waste of their money.

The controversial satellite-security policy, put in effect by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger a year ago, is based on President Reagan's National Security Decision Directive 145. It requires operators of commercial satellites to lease channels to government agencies or contractors to meet expensive standards approved by the National Security Agency for all satellites launched after 1989. The intent is to protect the satellites from unauthorized commands that could disrupt national security-related communications.

NSDD 145 gives a government task force, headed by the military, the authority to protect all types of government information and communications. As we previously

VIEWPOINT

Torn By Terrorism

By Lee Stokes

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Greece has for centuries maintained close ties with the Arab world, says the Greek Orthodox patriarch, but even such ties on a government level have not made it immune to Arab terrorism.

"We Greeks cannot just forget over a thousand years of common heritage because of an historically recent spate of terrorism," said Diodoros, Greek Orthodox Patriarch of Jerusalem, whose flock is almost entirely Arab.

Since 1981, Socialist Prime Minister Andreas Papandreu has cultivated this "common heritage." This foreign policy strand — especially his close ties with the Palestine Liberation Organization and radical Arab states like Libya and Syria — has brought harsh criticism from his Western allies.

And it hasn't bought freedom from Arab terrorism.

Government critics claim the recent assassination in Athens of a high-ranking PLO official has made Athens again an international terrorist and espionage center.

Papandreu's decision to stand by Syria, snubbing Britain in the process, is not new. In May, he refused to impose diplomatic sanctions on another state accused of sponsoring terrorism — Libya.

Western diplomats say Greece has tacit agreements with the PLO and countries like Libya and Syria prohibiting acts of Arab terrorism on Greek soil.

But this "understanding" did not prevent the assassination this month of Brig. Moudar Jaoudad Abu Gazala, 44, described by the PLO's diplomatic representative in Athens as commander of the organization's navy.

Three other high-ranking PLO officials have been assassinated in Athens since 1983. In June, unknown assailants shot to death Col. Khaled Ahmed Nazal, 38, a senior member of the Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine, outside a downtown Athens hotel.

Other victims of terrorism in Greece have included U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, U.S. Navy and U.S. Air Force officers, diplomats from Western and moderate Arab states, and Libyans and Syrians opposed to their country's leaders. None of the assassinations have been caught.

Papandreu's Socialist government, which believes it can act as a bridge between the Arab world and the West, sees many benefits from cooperating with radical Arab states.

Alternate Foreign Minister Theodore Pangalos feels the Greek role is vital if Western Europe is to continue to have a say in the Middle East peace process. Cutting diplomatic relations with Syria, as Britain did, was like cutting off your nose to spite your face, he said.

The Socialists have also exploited close ties with hard-line Arab states, and the tension it creates in relations with the West, to sway leftist voters who might otherwise support the small but powerful Communist party.

Papandreu's Arab connections, including support for the Palestinian cause, have failed to attract the kind of investments he hoped. But Middle East trade remains crucial for the stagnant Greek economy.

U.S. experts believe terrorism in the Mediterranean, including Greece, is likely to increase.

SCIENCE WORLD

Odysseys Into The Heliopause

By Deltha Ricks
UPI Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Shortly before the turn of the century, before the next era in space exploration begins, two aging spacecraft are expected to penetrate a boundary never before encountered by manmade objects.

That boundary is the heliopause, the end of the sun's field of magnetic influence and an area of mystery to space scientists who are uncertain just where on the outskirts of the solar system the sun's influence ends.

But despite the unknowns, scientists expect the boundary to be sharp, swamped in charged particles and to figuratively provide a portal from the planetary system to interstellar space.

Voyagers 1 and 2, twin planetary explorers launched days apart in 1977, are the probes that will make the journeys beyond the orbits of the planets and into the depths of the cosmos.

"We have never had a spacecraft exit the sun's magnetic field so we're really not sure what that environment is like," said Jet Propulsion Laboratory space scientist Ellis Minner.

JPL scientists now are preparing for what they might discover sometime between 1997 and 1999 if all goes as planned with the Voyagers.

Scientists do know that the sun's sphere of influence extends for trillions of miles, stretching to an area of the universe where the sun appears as nothing more than a very bright star.

Based on current hypotheses, scientists think the heliopause is an environment of charged atoms similar to the interplanetary environment created by the solar winds. Solar winds are streams of ionized hydrogen and helium from the sun that put about 1 million tons of gas per second into the planetary system.

Solar winds moving near Earth, the third planet away from the sun, travel at an approximate speed of 450 miles per second.

Miner expects each 1-ton spacecraft to survive passage through what is most likely a highly charged environment, the final frontier of the sun's sphere of influence.

But scientists are unclear not only about the magnetic properties of the heliopause but also where beyond Pluto, the most distant planet in the solar system, the heliopause lies and the solar system ends.

The company reps were understandably concerned about who will foot the bill. And so, how are we enjoying our work today? enormous bill for the NSA-directed satellite security. The government's answer confirmed their worst suspicions: The satellite industry will pay.

The costs would be substantial. A Pentagon study three years ago estimated that protecting satellites to conform to NSA standards could add $3 million to the original cost of a satellite and $1 million a year to its operating expenses. These costs would be passed on to consumers.

Adding to the industry's discomfort is the fact that no specific NSA guidelines have been issued so far. This forces the satellite makers to take their protection plans to NSA on a time-consuming case-by-case basis.

As a practical matter, some satellite company executives told us they may simply stop soliciting government contracts because the costs of meeting the NSA security standards will be prohibitive.

to contain no information that could remotely be considered dangerous to national security. They did, however, include embarrassingly candid criticism of the satellite policy by executives of GTE-Spacenet, Western Union, RCA and other major satellite companies. These industry experts complained that the Pentagon's policy was "vague," and questioned whether "such a mandate was in the best interest of the country."

The minutes of a closed-door meeting of industry and government officials on Jan. 29, 1985, make one thing clear: The Pentagon's insistence that its security standards are necessary left the industry representatives totally unconvinced.

For example, when the government argued that terrorists could wreak havoc by sending false commands to a satellite with their own electronic equipment, an industry expert offered a devastating rejoinder: Terrorists could achieve their purpose much more simply by heaving a grenade over the fence of

This may be so, but the ominous direction the policy could take is suggested by the fact that the National Security Agency refused to let our associate Donald Goldberg see documents that described the debate over the satellite policy — even though the documents are not classified.

We obtained the documents from other sources, and they turned out

WORLD IN BRIEF

China Demands Full Soviet Pullout From Afghanistan

PEKING (UPI) — China said today the Soviet Union's recent partial troop withdrawal from Afghanistan was "void of practical significance" and demanded a complete pullout as soon as possible.

In the first official comment on the partial withdrawal that took place between Oct. 15 and 31, a Foreign Ministry spokesman told United Press International that Moscow used the pullback as an attempt to sway world opinion.

"Recently, the Soviet Union has given wide publicity to its partial troop withdrawal from Afghanistan," the spokesman said.

"We consider that this action by the Soviet Union is designed to alleviate the pressure by the international community and therefore is void of practical significance."

"The way to settle the question of Afghanistan lies in the presentation of a timetable for troop withdrawals by the Soviet Union and the complete withdrawal of its troops from Afghanistan as soon as possible."

The Foreign Ministry statement coincided with commentaries in the official Peking Review magazine and the Communist Party People's Daily, describing the Soviet withdrawal as a "trick."

People's Daily said the Kremlin used the much publicized pullback of six regiments — 6,000 to 8,000 troops — as a "feint" to deceive public opinion.

"But its trick can deceive nobody and world public opinion has exposed the true Soviet intention and demanded its rapid and unconditional withdrawal from Afghanistan," the paper said.

Sinn Fein Not Welcome

DUBLIN, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Prime Minister Garret FitzGerald said today his government will have "no truck" with members of Sinn Fein, the political arm of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, who win and take seats in the Irish parliament.

FitzGerald reacted angrily to Sinn Fein's vote Sunday to lift its 65-year-old boycott of Parliament and to accept any seats it manages to win.

The prime minister said, "My government will have no truck with any of their candidates elected to parliament."

In an interview on Irish radio-television RTE's morning news program, FitzGerald described Sinn Fein as "an IRA party" that supports a brutal campaign of violence.

Sinn Fein's members carry a rifle in one hand and a ballot in the other, he said. "Their intention is to continue a murder campaign while at the same time trying to hold the balance of power in parliament."

Canadians Win Allied Stores

TORONTO (UPI) — Canadian real estate magnate Robert Campeau has won control of Allied Stores Corp., including its Jordan Marsh subsidiary, for $3.5 billion in a negotiated settlement that ended a two-month struggle for ownership of one of America's leading retailers.

Hasenfus Confirms He Was Gunrunner

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Captured American Eugene Hasenfus acknowledged in court that he confessed to running guns to U.S.-backed rebels, but said he had no "direct personal knowledge" to back up his claim the CIA ran the smuggling operation.

The former U.S. Marine from Marinette, Wis., appearing Sunday for the third straight day in court, examined a four-page handwritten confession the prosecution said he signed during interrogation.

"It is my document," Hasenfus told the court through an interpreter. "It is my signature."

The prosecution said Hasenfus's confirmation was equivalent to a guilty plea.

In the confession, Hasenfus, captured Oct. 6, a day after he parachuted out of a supply plane shot down by Sandinista troops, said he was hired to help ferry guns, ammunition, food and other supplies to the U.S.-supported Contra rebels in their war against the Sandinista government.

Only Hasenfus, a cargo handler, survived the crash, in which two American pilots and a Nicaraguan radio operator were killed.

The confession also said he made four flights out of the U.S.-built air base at Aguacate, Honduras, and six out of the Ilopango air base in El Salvador.

Hasenfus was asked to clarify part of the confession that said two men who ran the supply operation — identified as Max Gomez and Ramon Medina — "worked for the CIA" and that Gomez was a friend of Vice President George Bush.

Bucs Outgun Bills In Burn-The-Tape Battle

By Ira Kaufman

TAMPA (UPI) — Burn the tape. In a grimy battle between NFL lightweights, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers outlasted the Buffalo Bills 34-28 Sunday as the teams combined for 214 yards rushing and 204 yards in penalties. The final play of the game was most fitting as a Jim Kelly pass went through the fingers of Robb Riddick in the end zone. Riddick was hampered by a cast on his left hand that protected a fractured wrist. Two fumbled kickoffs by Buffalo helped Tampa Bay to a 20-0 halftime lead and the Buccaneers hung on to pin a 21st consecutive road loss on the Bills as both teams reached the 2-7 mark.

Football

"We needed a confidence builder to start the second half of the season," said Tampa Bay tailback James Wilder, who rushed for 97 yards and caught five passes for 50 yards.

Quarterback Steve Young threw for 193 yards and rushed for two short touchdowns and Donald Igwebulike kicked a pair of field goals as the Buccaneers overcame a sensational effort by Jim Kelly. The Bills, however, were unable to overcome their inept play of the opening half and the Buccaneers ended a five-game losing streak.

Howell Is Best But Still Needs Break For Title

Lake Howell's Silver Hawks have proven that they are the best team in District 5A-5. Yet, there is a solid possibility that the Hawks will not win the district and make the state playoffs.

After Lake Howell handled Evans, 14-7, Friday night, the Silver Hawks showed that they can win the big games. Back-to-back victories over Winter Park (31-14) and Evans figured to give Lake Howell the inside track to the playoffs.

Instead, however, Lake Howell has to hope that the outcome of two other games goes its way. Lake Howell, Winter Park and Apopka are all 3-1 but it is Apopka that is sitting pretty in the playoff hunt, thanks to a 10-7 win earlier in the year over the Hawks.

Apopka, though, has come on strong after being blown out by Lake Mary (19-7) and Winter Park (25-0) its first two games. The Blue Darters pulled out a 17-14 overtime win over then-No. 1 Evans to turn their season around.

If Apopka beats West Orange in two weeks it wins the district. If Apopka beats West Orange and Lake Howell beats Lake Brantley, the Blue Darters will still win the district. Howell needs to win. Apopka has to lose and Winter Park has to beat Evans. If that would happen there would be a three-way tie in the district.

Ironically, the only other district championship for Lake Howell was won in that manner when coach Sam Weir's club won a three-way playoff among Howell, Apopka and Spruce Creek in 1980.

The district, nonetheless, takes a back seat this Friday as Lake Howell will travel to Lyman in a key Seminole Athletic Conference game. Lyman is 4-3 overall but 3-0 in the SAC. Lake Howell comes into the game with a record of 6-1 and 2-0 in SAC play.

"Every week is another obstacle for us," Blaceglia said. "It just seems like every game is a big one."

•The Silver Hawks offense has gotten most of the attention so far this season but it was the Hawk defense that kept the highly talented Evans offense in check. "I really can't say enough about our defense," Blaceglia said. "They won this one for us."

After Evans tied the game with a late touchdown in the second quarter, Terry Gammon, a senior speedster, took the ensuing kickoff and raced 89 yards for a touchdown. "I was running out of gas at the end," Gammon said. "I have wanted to return a kick all season and I finally got a chance to. There was really good blocking on the play."

•The Lake Mary Rams were 1-3 three weeks ago, and could have written this season off. Much to the Rams' credit, they have not given up winning their last three games.

Lake Mary came into last Friday's game against Mainland ready to play. The Rams had not showed their offensive potential all season long but showed their offensive capabilities against Mainland in a 25-12 victory.

The victory, along with Spruce Creek's 9-0 shutout over Lyman, keeps the dim Lake Mary playoff hopes alive. Lake Mary and Spruce Creek are 2-1 in District 5A-4. DeLand is 3-0 in the district and was idle last Friday. The Bulldogs will host Creek in a key district game in two weeks.

Mainland rolled up 235 passing yards but the Rams countered with workhorse John Curry. Curry rushed for 111 yards on 27 carries and scored a touchdown. Carlos Hartafield also did a solid job in his second quarterback start.

Lake Mary will host Lake Brantley in an SAC game on Friday. The Mary-Brantley rivalry is one of the best in the county. Quite simply put, these two schools don't exchange Christmas cards.

Mike Licht, Chris Hebert and Dave Hofer may have been just spectators at Saturday's Seminole Athletic Conference Swimming and Diving Championships, but what they did the day before gave Lyman's Greyhounds a big boost toward the meet title.

Licht, Hebert and Hofer finished first, third and fourth, respectively in Friday's diving competition, at Longwood's Sharidan Aquatic Club, to give the 'Hounds a lead they would not relinquish. Lyman won the SAC crown for the second successive year with 490 points compared to 432 for Lake Mary's Rams. Lake Howell was third at 307 followed by Lake Brantley at 249, Oviedo at 84 and Seminole at 72.

Licht's 198.05 points were good for first place while Hebert's third and Hofer's fourth gave Lyman 51 points after the diving competition compared to 27 for Lake Mary which took eighth, ninth and 10th place.

Brantley's Talent Rules In Girls' Competition

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

The superior talent of Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots was evident in Saturday's Seminole Athletic Conference Championships as the Lady Pats took 10 of 11 possible first places.

But, in a meet in which practically everyone who showed up scored, Brantley needed some depth to pull out the victory. Along with impressive front-line performances, the Lady Patriots also came through with enough depth to win the SAC meet at the Sharidan Aquatic Club in Longwood.

The Lady Patriots finished with 475 points compared to 453 for Lake Mary's Lady Rams. Lyman was third at 304 followed by Lake Howell at 247, Oviedo at 144 and Seminole at 50.

In Saturday's meet, the top 16 places in all events were scored and that enabled the solid depth of the Lake Mary team to stay close to the Lady Patriots.

"Lake Mary was actually winning after the midway point of the meet," Lake Brantley coach Clay Parnell said. "That

Swimming

"One of the main reasons we won the meet was our three divers," Lyman coach Don Clark said. "We felt if we had a good cushion after the diving we could win it. Lake Mary's a strong team, but we didn't think they could outswim us."

With the big lead going to the pool on Saturday, the 'Hounds kept the momentum going and won six individual firsts and one of two relays. Sophomore Chuck Reinighaus and senior Charlie Rose had big meets for Lyman as both won two events.

Reinighaus won the 100 freestyle with a time of 49.64 and later won the 100 breaststroke at 1:04.22. Rose, state champion in the 200 individual medley a year ago, won that event Saturday with a time of 2:01.87 and he also won the 100 butterfly with a time of 54.68.

"The kid that really had a killer meet was Chuck (Reinighaus)," Clark said. "I knew Rose could win his two, but Chuck really came through. He won two conference titles when he wasn't even in the top three in any event last year."

Lyman also got individual firsts from Nick Radkewich in the 500 free (5:01.04) and Tom Mooney in the 100 backstroke (57.57). Lyman also won the 400 free relay as the team of Rose, Jim Bandy, Doug Bandy and Radkewich combined for a time of 3:33.74.

Another standout performance for the Greyhounds came from senior Jason Mendelsohn who turned in a personal best 54.8 in taking sixth place in the 100 free.

Lake Mary made a run at the 'Hounds by winning three of the first four events on Saturday. The Rams opened the meet by winning the 200 medley relay with a time of 1:45.17 compared to 1:45.27 for Lyman. The winning Lake Mary team consisted of Steve Kostowicz, Doug Dittmer, Wes Simecek and Jaime Bojanowski.

Bojanowski then claimed first in the 200 free with a time of 1:49.95 while Kostowicz won the 50 free at 22.83.

kind of surprised me but it didn't worry me. Even though they were scoring so many places, I still knew we had the strength to win."

Brantley's "Fabulous Four" of Christy Bridgewater, Manda Davis, Lisa Moon and Kristen Pauley dominated the individual events, combining for seven first places.

Bridgewater won the 200 free (2:05.06) and the 500 free (5:45.76) while Davis took firsts in the 200 IM (2:15.39) and 100 breaststroke (1:09.14). Moon won the 50 free (25.88) and 100 free (55.79) and Pauley took first in the 100 fly (1:02.47).

Brantley also scored big by winning both relays with the 200 medley recording a time of 2:00.29 and the 400 free relay coming in at 3:53.88. The medley relay team consisted of Keri Kosch, Dani Ohnsman, Pauley and JoDee Lake while the 400 free team was Moon, Davis, Kathy Spiller and Bridgewater.

Brantley also got a first in the diving competition on Friday as Meg Bonella compiled 239.9 points.

While the front-line swimmers performed well, Brantley also got a boost from Lake, Ohnsman and Kosch in individual events. Lake, only a freshman, turned in personal bests in finishing second in the 100 free (56.3) and fourth in the 200 free (2:08).

The only individual event Lake Brantley did not win was the 100 backstroke where Lake Howell's Stephanie Troiani, a state placer in that event last season, churned to a time of 1:07.04.

Brantley, however, got second and fourth place finishes in the backstroke as Ohnsman was second (1:08.4) and Kosch fourth (1:11.0).

Lyman's top performer in the girls meet was senior Karen Long who took second in the 200 free and third in the 100 fly. Another outstanding swim for the Lady Greyhounds was turned in by Shannon Mellon who swam a personal best 2:16.3 for sixth in the 200 free.

Seminole High's top performer was freshman Cissy Burgess who finished second in the 100 fly (1:04.55) and broke her own school record in taking fourth in the 200 IM (2:25.55). The Lady Tribe also got a sixth from Kristie Keeling in the 50 free (29.0).

No Trophy: Lady Rams Eye District

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

With five of six runners turning in their best performances of the season, Lake Mary's Lady Rams figured to be high in the team scores at Saturday's Saints Invitational at Trinity Prep.

However, when the final team scores came in, Lake Mary's actual second-place finish did not show up on the results printout. The Lady Rams were the only 4A school to run in the mostly 1A meet and race officials felt Lake Mary should not be entitled to its second-place finish.

Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson, though, found personal victory as his team got the feel of the 4A-5 District course and built momentum going into this Saturday's meet.

Lakeland Christian, last year's state champion in class A, won the meet with a score of 24. Lake Mary's score of 62 was actually second, but officially St. Petersburg Shorecrest, with 66 points, was awarded the second-place trophy.

"They (meet officials) said before the meet that we could not win a team trophy," Gibson said. "They told me we could be in the team scoring, though."

The Lady Rams' main purpose for being at the meet with mostly class A schools was to run the district course before the district meet this Saturday.

"We ran very competitively Saturday," Gibson said. "The main reason we ran the meet is so the girls would know the course before next week."

The Lady Rams were joined by the Oviedo boys and girls squad to represent Seminole county. The Oviedo boys took second place and the girls took fourth.

"We didn't run all that well on the second mile," Gibson said. "Heather Heikkila dropped an entire minute and the rest dropped a large amount of time, too."

Heikkila led the way for the Lady Rams Saturday with a time of 13:05.9 for seventh place while Allison Snell's personal best of 13:19.3 was good for ninth place.

Third for the Lady Rams was Lisa Shelby, running her best time ever with a 13:36.2 effort good for 11th place. Debi Smith was next for Lake Mary with a time of 14:01.9, finishing 16th overall and rounding out the Lady Rams, top five was the only runner who failed to improve on her season's best.

All Seminole County teams will be active in their respective districts this Saturday.

The Oviedo boys were led by Brad Bolton's second-place finishing time of 17:01 over the three mile course. Luther High School's Kevin Houk won the race with a time of 16:13. Bolton was backed by the efforts of Mark MacDonald who finished eighth with a time of 17:41, and Derek Bates who came in ninth at 17:41.

The Lady Lions were unable to place a runner in the top ten but still managed to come away with fifth place. Cathy Champ led the way for Oviedo with a 12th-place time of 13:40.8. Oviedo will now attempt to qualify for regionals in District 3A-4 this Saturday.

Faculty Pulls Red Sox Swoon, Loses To Alumni In 9th

It was shades of the Boston Red Sox Saturday afternoon at Seminole High when the Seminole High Faculty baseball team blew a 7-4 lead in the top of the ninth and wound up dropping a 9-7 decision to the Alumni before 101 fans.

"Both teams had a lot of fun," Seminole High baseball coach Mike Ferrell said. "I believe we started something we can do every year. From now on, though, we're only going to play seven innings. We could barely walk off the field when it was over."

The Alumni rallied for five runs on six hits in the top of the ninth off hard-luck Faculty reliever Mike "Schiraldi" Powers.

Chad Roll doubled to lead off the ninth for the Alumni and scored on Billy Griffith's single up the middle. Designated hitter Andy Griffith then singled to left and Sam Raines followed with a base hit to right to score Billy Griffith, cutting the Faculty lead to 7-5.

Levi Raines then delivered the big blow as he smacked a Powers pitch for a double to right center to drive in Andy Griffith and Sam Raines to tie the score at 7-7. Nick Brady's sacrifice fly to right scored Levi Raines with the winning run.

Baseball

"I went to the mound a couple times in the ninth but Mike (Powers) said he was all right," Ferrell said. "Now I know how the Red Sox feel."

The Faculty had taken an early 1-0 lead in the first when Powers walked, took second on a wild pitch and scored on Ferrell's single up the middle off Alumni starter David Wiggins. The Alumni tied the score in the second when Rodney Turner blasted a mammoth home run to

The Alumni went up, 2-1, in the third when Sam Raines doubled, took third on Levi Raines' fly out and tagged up and scored when Tim Raines lined out to right. Raines, the six-time Montreal Expo all-star left fielder, played seven innings and contributed just an RBI sacrifice fly.

The Faculty came back with two runs in the bottom of the fifth for a 3-2 lead and, after the Alumni tied it in the top of the sixth, the Faculty scored three times in the bottom half for a 6-4 lead.

Greg Register and Jeff Farno drew back-to-back walks to lead off the inning and advanced on a wild pitch. Sammy Griffith then came on in relief for the Alumni and struck out Roger Beathard for the first out. Chris Spillotis then walked to load the bases and Griffith then walked Lundquist and Powers to force in two runs. The third run of the frame scored when Ferrell bounced into a fielder's choice.

After coming on in relief in the fifth, Powers held the Alumni in check until the fateful ninth.

Marino, Dolphins Shoot Holes In Houston Decoys

MIAMI (UPI) — The Houston Oilers came to the Orange Bowl with potent offensive weapons in quarterback Warren Moon and receiver Ernest Givins and turned them into lifeless decoys in the first half of Miami's 28-7 win Sunday.

Moon entered the game with 2,035 yards passing and was facing a Miami pass defense ranked 27th in the league, but threw the ball only 7 times in the first half as the Dolphins took a 21-0 lead. Givins, a speedy rookie from Louisville, handled the ball only on punt returns in the first 30 minutes.

By the time the Oilers decided to open up their offense, Miami was ahead 14-0 and the Dolphins were expecting the pass. The result was an interception by Dolphin safety Donovan Rose that led to a Miami touchdown.

Miami quarterback Dan Marino threw four touchdown passes, three in the second quarter, as Miami won its second straight game and improved to 4-5. Houston lost its eighth straight game after a season-opening win over Green Bay.

Mike Rozier scored Houston's only touchdown on a 1-yard run with 12:46 left in the game.

The Oilers ran 10 plays before attempting to pass and Moon was sacked on that play. The Oilers failed to throw on 19 of their first 20 plays against a Miami defense ranked 22nd against the pass.

"I feel we should throw the ball more," said Moon, who suffered a minor foot injury and was replaced after the first half by Oliver Luck. Givins ran three reverses in the second half for 52 yards and caught two quick screens for 15 more before he was carried off the field on a stretcher after being hit by Miami safety Bud Brown. Givins suffered head contusions and a neck burn and was hospitalized overnight for observation.

"We didn't want to turn the game into a Frisbee throw," said Houston Coach Jerry Glanville. "It was our game plan to run more than pass. We thought we could control the ball and keep the ball away from Marino." Despite the four touchdown throws, Marino struggled against a Houston pass defense ranked fourth in the league. He completed 12 of 29 passes for 220 yards with two interceptions. He has 21 touchdowns and 15 interceptions on the season.

Marino threw an 85-yard scoring pass to Mark Duper in the third quarter and also had touchdown tosses of 38 yards to Nat Moore, 3 yards to Tony Nathan and 8 yards to Mark Clayton.

WEEK 9

New York, New York: Giants, Jets Wrest Command Of Divisions

United Press International

New York, New York.

Those are the teams atop the NFC and AFC East and they could very well arrive in Pasadena, Calif., on Super Bowl Sunday, in the country ready for more high-fiving New Yorkers?

Five days after toasting the World Series champion Mets, the Big Apple celebrated a New York Giants victory over their most-hated rival and a New York Jets blowout over Seattle. The victory for the Jets was a team-record seventh straight.

At East Rutherford, N.J., Joe Morris ran for 181 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Giants to a 17-14 victory over the Dallas Cowboys. Dallas, which usually finds a way to beat the Giants, was hurt by two missed middle-range field goals, a 6-yard punt and three costly penalties on its final drive.

The victory gave the Giants back-to-back victories over Washington and Dallas — its two major foes in the NFC East. At 7-2, the Giants are tied with Washington atop the division. The Cowboys are 6-3.

"You try to put the past behind you, but some things are hard to put out of your mind," Giants linebacker Harry Carson said. "This is special. Dallas and Giants games have always been pretty intense, and it's good to have this one behind us."

At Seattle, Ken O'Brien passed for 431 yards and four touchdowns and the Jets neutralized the Seattle Seahawks's takeover game to post a 38-7 rout.

Seattle entered the game leading the AFC with 13 more takeaways than giveaways. The Jets improved to 8-1 and stayed two games ahead of the New England Patriots in the AFC East.

"I'm always shocked when we win by a margin like that," Jets receiver Wesley Walker said. "When we play hard and don't make mistakes, we can compete with anybody."

The Jets, beset with injuries all season, were without Pro Bowl nose tackle Joe Klecko and inside linebacker Lance Mehl, but still reduced Seattle to 5-4.

O'Brien, who entered the game as the NFL's most accurate passer with a 63.8 completion rate, connected on 26 of 32 passes, including eight in a row in one second-quarter stretch, and 17 of 18 spanning the second and third quarters.

Patriots 25, Falcons 17 — At Foxboro, Mass., Irving Fryar returned a punt 59 yards for a touchdown and Tony

Football

Franklin kicked four field goals to lead New England, 6-3. Atlanta, which started the season 4-0, has gone 1-3-1 in its last five games.

Bengals 24, Lions 17 — At Pontiac, Mich., a 49-yard pass interference penalty against Demetrius Johnson positioned Larry Kinnebrew for a 1-yard touchdown run with 40 seconds to play to lift Cincinnati, 6-3, over Detroit, 3-6.

Browns 24, Colts 9 — At Indianapolis, Bernie Kosar threw three touchdown passes, including a 72-yarder to Herman Foutenot, to help the Browns, 6-3, keep Indianapolis, 0-9, the lone winless team in the NFL.

Cardinals 14, Eagles 10 — At St. Louis, quarterback Cliff Stoudt, inserted for the struggling Neil Lomax, engineered two touchdown drives in the final 5:04 to lift St. Louis, 2-7, over Philadelphia, 3-6. Stoudt pitched the winning TD with 36 seconds left.

Saints 23, 49ers 10 — At New Orleans, Ruben Mayes rushed for 128 yards and two touchdowns, and the New Orleans defense produced four turnovers to allow the Saints, 4-5, to surprise San Francisco, 5-4.

Steelers 27, Packers 3 — At Pittsburgh, Mark Malone threw three touchdown passes to Reggie Thompson to carry the Steelers, 3-6, over Green Bay, 1-8. Malone completed 20 of 31 passes for 195 yards.

Broncos 21, Raiders 10 — At Los Angeles, Sammy Winder caught a 3-yard touchdown pass from John Elway and rushed for 83 yards, helping the Broncos, 8-1, snap the Raiders' five-game winning streak and take firm control of the AFC West. The Raiders, 5-4, have been beaten twice by Denver this season.

Chiefs 24, Chargers 23 — At San Diego, Nick Lowery kicked a 37-yard field goal with seven seconds to play, giving Kansas City, 6-3, a victory over San Diego, 1-8. In Al Saunders' debut as the Chargers' head coach.

Redskins 44, Vikings 38 — At Washington, Jay Schroeder concluded a 378-yard, two-touchdown passing performance by throwing a 38-yard scoring strike to Gary Clark 1:46 into overtime and George Rogers rushed for three touchdowns to carry Washington, 7-2, over Minnesota, 5-4.

IN BRIEF

Pizzolato, Waltz Post Wins In New York City Marathon

NEW YORK (UPI) — Orlando Pizzolato ran for posterity and that stopped him from winning a third straight New York City Marathon.

Gianni Poli employed Pizzolato's usual strategy and staged a pack-of-the-pack surge to win Sunday's race in 2 hours, 11 minutes, 6 seconds.

"I usually run from the back and try to win," said Pizzolato, the early leader who traditionally runs from the rear. "But this time I tried to give this marathon a good time — not a world record — but like a 2:08."

"I was stupid to be in front at the beginning," said Pizzolato, who finished fourth. "(Poli) ran an intelligent race. I ran a stupid race."

Antoni Niemczak of Poland came on strong to finish second while a weary Rob de Castella of Australia was third.

Grete Waltz shook off early competition from Australia's Lisa Martin and Italy's Laura Fogli and late leg cramps to win her eighth New York race, in 2:28:06 for her 11th sub-2:30 performance.

Waltz's eighth New York victory tied her with John J. Kelly for the most victories in a single marathon event. Kelly won the Yonkers Marathon, then the National AAU Championships, from 1956 through 1963.

Earnhardt Clinches Winston Cup

HAMPTON, Ga. (UPI) — Dale Earnhardt kept the pact he made with himself and as a result clinched the Winston Cup championship.

"When I climbed out of the car I wanted to be able to say we drove a smart race, and I feel we drove a competitive and a smart race," said Earnhardt Sunday after winning the $421,395 Atlanta Journal 500 that assured him of the Winston Cup title.

"I ran the car's pace," added Earnhardt, who collected $67,950 for the victory. "We did that pretty much all day long."

Earnhardt dominated the race, finishing in a record speed of 152.523 mph. There were 19 lead changes among eight drivers. Earnhardt led four times, for 162 laps, including the final 72.

Richard Petty was second in a Pontiac, one-lap off the pace. Petty took over second when Neil Bonnett, who was running in that position, ran out of gas on the final lap. Bill Elliott took third in a Ford, Tim Richmond finished fourth in a Chevrolet and Buddy Baker placed fifth in an Oldsmobile.

Earnhardt posted his fifth victory this year and 19th of his career.

Rams To Hold Mortgage Burning

Lake Mary High School plans a "Mortgage Burning" Friday prior to the Lake Mary-Lake Brantley football game, Frank Schwartz, spokesman for the school, said Friday.

Schwartz said the school will make its final payment on the loan which was accomplished three years earlier than expected. The original six-year loan was paid in three years and two months.

Lake Mary opened its doors in August of 1981. In February of 1983, booster members Chuck Schmitt and Don Ames along with Lake Mary Principal Don Reynolds proposed the stadium.

Construction began in June of 1983 and was completed four months later. Schwartz said the final installment of the $213,275 loan will be paid Friday.

January Claims Seniors Title

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Don January spent some time with the younger golfers on the PGA Tour this week and said the camaraderie helped him win the Senior PGA Tucson Match Play Championship.

January claimed the title Sunday with a 70-71 victory over Bob Charles. Under the tournament's medal match play format, matches are won on the basis of total strokes over the course of a round, rather than by the number of holes won.

Becker Makes It 3-For-3

PARIS (UPI) — Boris Becker of West Germany Sunday won his third tournament in three weeks by pounding Spanish qualifier Sergio Casal, 6-4, 6-3, 7-6 (7-3), in the final of the $625,000 Paris Open indoor tennis tournament.

Becker, 18, the top seed, needed only two hours, 15 minutes to dispatch the 24-year-old Casal and equal John Newcombe's 1974 achievement of winning consecutive tournaments on three continents.

Thorpe Hustles Match Victory

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Jim Thorpe resorted to his past as a golf hustler for an edge in the PGA Tucson Match Play Championship.

Thorpe, who won his second straight Match Play title with a 67-71 victory over Scott Simpson Sunday, admitted to playing for cash in his younger days.

Hayes Grabs Tallahassee Open

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Golf is fun again for Mark Hayes.

Hayes, 37, shot a 2-under par 70 Sunday for a four-round total of 15-under 273 and a one-stroke win over Russ Cochran in the Tallahassee Open at the Killlearn Country Club.

Dickson Overcomes Torn Sails

FREMANTLE, Australia (UPI) — New Zealand's Chris Dickson overcame three wind-torn spinners, gear failure and mainsail havoc to beat Dennis Conner's Stars & Stripes by 58 seconds and retain a first-place tie with America II in the America's Cup challenger series.

:36 — Bell Tolls For Auburn

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Fifth-ranked Auburn will now try to answer the musical question: "How Do You Mend A Broken Heart?"

A hobbled quarterback and an injured wide receiver combined talents Saturday to leave the Tigers in need of a spiritual M.A.S.H. unit. Just one minute away from their best start in 18 years, the Tigers instead will try to recover from a shattering 18-17 loss to Florida.

Gator quarterback Kerwin Bell, who missed his third consecutive start because of a sprained knee, capped a fourth-quarter comeback from a 17-0 deficit by hitting Ricky Nattiel with a 5-yard touchdown pass and running it in himself on the 2-point conversion with 36 seconds remaining. Auburn, which led by only 14-0 at intermission despite forcing six first-half turnovers, then moved to the Florida 36 before Chris Knapp was short on a 52-yard field goal attempt with one second left.

"This is the biggest win of our lives," said Bell, who replaced an inept Rodney Brewer

Football

In the second period and hit on 17 of 31 passes for 192 yards despite wearing a massive brace on his left knee. "The offensive line gave me time and I should have completed a lot more than I did, but I was still timid with my leg. On the conversion play, we were hoping to get it to Nattiel, but my man broke through the middle and I put a move on him. It seemed like it took all day, but I made it into the end zone."

Nattiel played the fourth quarter with a slightly separated shoulder, but neither injury nor the Auburn defense could slow down the Gators in the final period. Bell plunged in from a yard out to make it 17-7 at 2:51 of the quarter and Robert McGinty — a transfer from Auburn — kicked a 51-yard field goal with 7:10 remaining. Webbie Burnett's fumble recovery at the Florida 34 with 1:41 left gave the Gators a final chance. Bell hit Nattiel for 25 yards to the 5-yard line and then led his favorite target into the left corner of the end zone to bring the Gators within a point. Coach Galen Hall went for the victory and Bell's scramble evened Florida's record at 4-4 and gave the Gators their first Southeastern Conference triumph in four attempts.

"This is the toughest loss I've ever experienced," said Auburn senior Brent Fullwood, who ran for 166 yards and a TD as the Tigers fell to 7-1. "We didn't take advantage of their turnovers in the first half and I didn't play as well as I should have today."

The Tigers were looking for their first 8-0 start since the 1971 team, led by Helman Trophy quarterback Pat Sullivan. Reggie Ware scored from a yard out and Knapp kicked a 31-yard field goal, but the Tiger offense didn't operate like a unit averaging 39 points per game.

"We didn't take advantage of what Florida gave us," said Auburn Coach Pat Dye. "It was one of those gut-wrenching, heart-breaking losses. Kerwin Bell was the difference."

Stocks Slightly Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened mixed today in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which climbed 45.55 last week, was off 0.58 to 1877.25 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 279-198 among the 728 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 3,530,600 shares.

Analysts said investors will be watching this week's sales of $29 billion of Treasury notes and bonds to see if interest rates could head lower.

A stronger U.S. dollar has led some people to think the Federal Reserve could let interest rates decline without risk of a dollar collapse.

Ricky Harrington, technical analyst at First Interstate Securities in Charlotte, N.C., said this week the market may use some pre-Election Day nervousness as an excuse to take profits.

"The market will see further profit-taking and consolidation of the gains we've seen," he said. But Harrington called action since the Sept. 11-12 plunge "extremely constructive" and predicted that the Dow would not retreat below 1800.

"The market is very healthy," Harrington said. "The Dow will move to new highs before year-end and surpass 2000 in the first quarter of 1987 before it retreats again."

Allied Takeover Settled

TORONTO (UPI) — Canadian real estate magnate Robert Campeau has won control of Allied Stores Corp. for $3.5 billion in a negotiated settlement that ended a two-month struggle for ownership of one of America's leading retailers.

Toronto-based Campeau Corp. and Allied, based in New York and parent of such high-fashion stores as Ann Taylor, Brooks Brothers, Bonwit Teller and Jordan Marsh, announced the agreement Sunday, saying both would withdraw litigation filed in courts in New York and serious debt and was under investigation by authorities.

"If I were a juror I would want to know the truth," Finn said. "No one has intruded inappropriately on behalf of Delta.

Robert Katz, one of 27 crash survivors, complained to a federal judge through lawyer Jon Krupnick that a private investigator working on Delta's defense team tried to intimidate his former secretary into testifying as an unfavorable character witness.

The investigator told the woman he had several witnesses who would testify that she was having an affair with Katz, according to a sworn statement the secretary made.

Krupnick asked a federal judge to limit the investigators, accusing them of using "false and heavy-handed tactics of intimidation and deception." Without hearing from Delta lawyers, U.S. District Judge Norman C. Roetiger forbade investigators from intimidating witnesses.

"You crash in an airplane and people think they throw money at you. It's not that way at all," Katz said. "I think people ought to know what goes on."

Delta lawyers said they were not aware of any such investigative methods, and denied allegations that the airline is trying to force settlements. Delta has admitted liability in every case in which the victim's families are not seeking punitive damages.

Bob Montgomery, attorney for the parents of Scott Ageloff, 29, who died in the crash, objected when Delta lawyers said they might introduce evidence that Ageloff allegedly was homosexual and thereby increased his risk of exposure to the fatal disease AIDS. Delta lawyers said that might have affected Ageloff's future earning capacity and life expectancy.

When the case was tried in Miami last month, the judge barred mention of the allegations, and the jury awarded Ageloff's parents $1 million.

"Whether he was a homosexual or not, it had nothing to do with his life expectancy or his job prospects. It was just an effort to bludgeon (Ageloff's parents) into accepting the $400,000 settlement they offered," Montgomery said.

Robert Albert, company's senior vice president overseeing claims against Delta, said the airline and Delta's parent company, U.S. Aviation Underwriters, are obliged to defend themselves in court.

The insurance company will make a settlement offer for every person who was killed in the crash or survived, regardless of whether they have filed a lawsuit, Albert said.

Also up for discussion will be a report from the city's consulting engineer on bids received for the proposed Grant Street Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Bids on the Grant Street plant were received on Oct. 22. According to a letter to the mayor and commissioners from Rachel R. Christensen, project manager for Dyer, Riddle, Mills & Precourt, Inc., consulting engineers, the apparent low bidder is Wharton-Smith. The firm submitted a lump sum base bid of $1,515,200, however due to the complexity of the project and alternatives available on the bids, she said, they are not prepared at this time to make a recommendation of award to the commission. Dyer, Riddle & Smith regarding the deducts which were offered and additional deducts to the contract which may be advantageous to the city.

The cost of constructing the Grant Street plant is an important factor in the city's decision on whether or not to tie in to the county's Greenwood Lakes treatment plant instead of expanding its present sewage plant in the Skylark area.

Jacobsen, also accompanied by the U.S. ambassador to Cyprus, Richard Boehm, praised the U.S. administration and the Church of England trouble-shooter.

"It is a pleasure to see this guy," he said of Waite. "But not because he has a beard like me. Last Christmas Eve as we sat on the floor with our underwear. He gave us hope that we would be free men again."

There are 18 other foreigners missing in Lebanon — seven Frenchmen, six Americans, two Britons, an Irishman, a south Korean and an Italian.

Before leaving Larnaca with Jacobsen, Waite told reporters: "I hope to be back in Lebanon soon to pursue the course of the other hostages."

Jacobsen was filled with a mix of joy and concern for the remaining hostages.

"I feel just great, absolutely great," he said with a broad smile. "It is a tremendous pleasure to be here."

"The joy is only greatly lessened by the fact that Terry Anderson and the others are still hostages," Jacobsen said. "My closest personal friend, Joseph Cicippio, is still in custody. I pray to God that Joe will get out."

Cicippio, 56, deputy commander at Beirut's American University was kidnapped by five gunmen on Sept. 12. Anderson, 38, Beirut bureau chief for The Associated Press, was abducted March 16, 1985, by three gunmen.

Jacobsen, who is from Huntington Beach, Calif., was flown by a Navy helicopter from Beirut to Larnaca, Cyprus, where he boarded the Learjet today.

He met briefly with reporters in Cyprus and asked for a representative of the Associated Press to "just tell you that

Different Treatments For Lung Problems

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I was recently diagnosed as having emphysema. I had a drain inserted to remove fluid from the pleural cavity. There was no infection, so I received no antibiotics. There's no new liquid forming, but enough was left in so I'll probably have to have another drain. Is this the most appropriate treatment?

DEAR READER — Not for emphysema. Emphysema is a form of chronic lung disease characterized by a loss of the feathery air sacs within the lungs, where oxygen and carbon dioxide pass between the bloodstream and the air.

In the normal lung, there are billions of these tiny air sacs. The thin linings of the sacs provide an enormous surface area for the diffusion of gases. In emphysema, these air sacs coalesce to form larger sacs that are less efficient for gas exchange because of decreased surface area. In addition, emphysema patients have difficulty exhaling stale air because the abnormally large air sacs do not empty; there is a bottleneck where they meet the smaller bronchial tubes.

In effect, emphysema causes an overinflation of the lungs, so that patients cannot expel used-up air and replace it with oxygen-rich air. Treatment usually is directed toward improving the mechanics of breathing (with exercises), reducing spasm of the bronchial tubes (opening the tubes widely to enhance exhalation) and increasing the amount of oxygen in inspired air (by administering oxygen from a machine).

Pleural effusion — the presence of liquid in the chest cavity — is not ordinarily a part of emphysema. Obviously, with fluid present, lung tissue is compressed and shoved aside. Therefore, breathing becomes more difficult. Emphysema patients, who already have trouble breathing, will have further reduction in breathing capability if there is fluid in the chest cavity — as there may be with heart failure. However, the presence of a pleural effusion usually indicates another disease or late complication of emphysema. Although pleural effusion can sometimes be "medically" drained using diuretic drugs (kidney stimulants), surgical drainage with a tube or catheter is preferable when there is a large amount of fluid. The drainage will improve breathing and can be lifesaving, but it is not, strictly speaking, a treatment for emphysema.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
There is nothing wrong with playing bridge imaginatively to prevent the dangerous opponent from gaining the lead. Yet it's regrettable if the declarer sees that play but misses something more obvious.

Since South was not a new-fangled player, he did not have the negative double available when East overcalled with one spade. (Such a double would show four hearts and would command North to bid.) So he took a sensible choice when he bid one no-trump. North had no trouble raising to game.

Declarer won the jack of spades with his king. Realizing the danger of allowing West to gain the lead, he refused the club trick. After all, there was some slight chance that West would hold the singleton king. And South did not mind if East made a trick with the club king, since the 10-8-6 of spades in dummy would then provide another stopper. Alas, West won the second club and produced the two of spades to set the contract.

Declarer must overcome his natural bridge instincts to make the contract. He should allow the spade jack to win the first trick. His king of spades will next drop under East's ace, and he will never get a trick in spades, but he can then safely take the club finesse, knowing that West will not have another spade to lead if he does hold the club king. He will make nine certain tricks and his contract.

Flimsy Holidays Result In Surfeit Of Sentiment

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the grandmother who felt slighted because none of her grandchildren remember her on Grandparents' Day really got to me. Then she complained to her daughter-in-law about the oversight, and was told that she (the daughter-in-law) had never even heard of Grandparents' Day!

The commercialism of Mother's Day and Father's Day was bad enough, but hucksters and retailers have found yet another source of income. Next can we expect Aunt's Day, Uncle's Day, In-Law's Day, Cousin's Day, Minister's Day, Dog's Day, Cat's Day, right along with Secretaries' Day and Boss's Day? Where is all this going to end?

ROARING MAD IN ROARING GAP, N.C.

DEAR ROARING: It ended in a senseless tragedy according to this Michigan reader:

DEAR ABBY: These so-called holidays are being blown up way out of proportion.

Last June, a grandfather waited until evening, and still no Father's Day card, so he wrote a note expressing his despair at being forgotten. First he shot and killed three members of his family, then he killed himself! Sad? And worse yet, he had the date of Father's Day figured one week too early, so he killed three people and himself for nothing.

ANN PRATT, HOLIER, MICH.

DEAR ABBY: Your recent column on how to discourage "junk mail" disturbed me greatly. The American Printing House for the Blind relies on direct-mail fund-raising to provide numerous services to the visually impaired. Fund-raising costs have soared in the past few years, and the last thing we need is a large number of people returning our postpaid envelopes filled with everything except money.

Since 1928, the American Printing House has produced and distributed the Braille Reader's Digest with funds donated by the public. In 1939, the recorded edition was begun. Every month, we ship over 20,000 copies to libraries serving visually and physically handicapped patrons, free. Weekly, over 11,000 copies of the recorded edition of Newsweek are mailed to reading handicapped patrons across the country, free, because of contributions received by mail. Funds raised from the public buy the buildings, equipment and tools we use to produce school materials provided to students under the federal Act to Promote the Education of the Blind, saving the federal government significant sums of money.

Public contributions to hundreds of organizations like ours fill real needs that exist among a variety of groups of people. Without this support, a multibillion-dollar burden would fall on local, state and federal government.

Opening a few envelopes is a small price for all of us to pay for the significant contribution of philanthropic organizations to our society. CARSON Y. NOLAN, PRESIDENT, AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Classes Begin To Stop Smoking

Get a jump on the Great American Smokeout by attending the Smoking Cessation classes being offered by Central Florida Regional Hospital starting Nov. 17 and ending the 20, the day the national event is scheduled.

A free introductory session is set for Nov. 10 from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the hospital while the 4-day course runs from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. the 17th through the 20th.

The Great American Smokeout takes on greater significance as more and more employees heed rising health costs due to smoking and the hazards it presents to co-workers who do not smoke. State and local governments are joining the parade in favor of cleaner air on the job and are instituting stringent rules in order to decrease the threat smoking presents. Kay Bartholomew, CFRH's director of marketing, says.

Four "insurance" maintenance classes are set for 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Nov. 24 and Dec. 1. For additional information call CFRH at 321-4500 or 668-4441.

MMA Grants Full Cadet Status To Sanford Youth

Marine Military Academy Cadet Gary Wayne Thomason, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey G. Thomason of Sanford, has been granted full Cadet status as a member of the Corps of Cadets, and is now eligible for promotion at the Marine Military Academy in Harlingen, Texas.

A new Cadet, regardless of age or prior military training in a Junior ROTC program, enters MMA as a "plebe." He has been commended by the Commandant of Cadets, Colonel Evan L.

Parker Jr., USMC (Ret.), the entire MMA staff and faculty on his meritorious achievement.

The Marine Military Academy is a private, military, college preparatory boarding school for boys in grades 8-12. Post high school specialized instruction is also offered. It is the only school in the world which offers military leadership training based on the traditions of the United States Marine Corps. The combination of fundamental academic education and Marine oriented military training is directed toward producing self-disciplined scholars who are mentally alert, physically fit, and responsible citizens.

Gross To Give Conservation Program For Woman's Club

The regular monthly general business meeting and luncheon of the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc. will be held at the clubhouse Wednesday, Nov. 5. Club president, Mayor Bettye Smith, will conduct the business meeting beginning at 11 a.m. followed by a catered luncheon at noon.

During the meeting, several new members will be inducted in the club. After lunch, Jerry

Gross will present a program on "Conserving Historical Buildings."

The luncheon committee includes: Martha Yancey, chairman, Irene Brown, Carolyn Bute, Virginia Burney, Catherine Clouse, Phyllis Conklin, Carolyn Cornelius, Becky Courson, Gayle Cox and Estelle Davis.

Members are reminded to bring recipes for the dishes they plan to prepare for the club's Holiday Tasting Luncheon on Dec. 12 at the Sanford Civic Center. According to Hazel Cash, vice president and chairman of the tasting luncheon, the recipes are needed in advance in order to have them computerized by Dec. 12 when they will be offered for sale at the luncheon.

The club will host the Golden Age Games Bridge Tournament on Friday, Nov. 14, from 1-4 p.m. Hostesses are: Emy Gates Bill, chairman, Roxie Bowman, Marty Colegrove, Melba Cooper, Mary Drew, Derry Harris, Toni Hobson, Florence Korgan, Tempa Parks and Isabel Wilson.

WSFD Saves Lives, Helps Missing Children's Center

At 10:30 a.m. Nov. 6 at the Winter Springs Fire Department, 102 N. Moss Road, proceeds from recent CPR (Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation) classes will be presented to the Missing Children's Center, Inc., Winter Springs.

Lt. Steve Roberts, who arranged for the CPR classes at the Winter Springs Fire Department, will present Joan Hopkins, executive director of the Missing Children's Center, Inc., with a check for over $200. "This is just the beginning," says Roberts, who plans to sponsor more CPR classes in the future with proceeds to go to the Missing Children's Center.

"We are all in the business of helping people," states Joan Hopkins. "It's really great when the service organizations can help the community and each other at the same time. We're grateful to the Winter Springs Fire Department for their support."

The Winter Springs Fire Department and The Missing Children's Center, Inc., are also cooperating on another community service by offering the new Lifesaver I.D. tags that were recently introduced in Reader's Digest as a means of identifying young children when they are lost or injured. The tags are available at both of the above-mentioned places, free of charge. For further information, please call 327-2332 or 695-HELP.

Different Treatments For Lung Problems

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I was recently diagnosed as having emphysema. I had a drain inserted to remove fluid from the pleural cavity. There was no infection, so I received no antibiotics. There's no new liquid forming, but enough was left in so I'll probably have to have another drain. Is this the most appropriate treatment?

DEAR READER — Not for emphysema. Emphysema is a form of chronic lung disease characterized by a loss of the feathery air sacs within the lungs, where oxygen and carbon dioxide pass between the bloodstream and the air. In the normal lung, there are billions of these tiny air sacs. The thin linings of the sacs provide an enormous surface area for the diffusion of gases. In emphysema, these air sacs coalesce to form larger sacs that are less efficient for gas exchange because of decreased surface area. In addition, emphysema patients have difficulty exhaling stale air because the abnormally large air sacs do not empty; there is a bottleneck where they meet the smaller bronchial tubes. In effect, emphysema causes an overinflation of the lungs, so that patients cannot expel used-up air and replace it with oxygen-rich air. Treatment usually is directed toward improving the mechanics of breathing (with exercises), reducing spasm of the bronchial tubes (opening of the tubes widely to enhance exhalation) and increasing the amount of oxygen in inspired air (by administering oxygen from a machine). Pleural effusion — the presence of liquid in the chest cavity — is not ordinarily a part of emphysema. Obviously, with fluid present, lung tissue is compressed and shoved aside. Therefore, breathing becomes more difficult. Emphysema patients, who already have trouble breathing, will have further reduction in breathing capability if there is fluid in the chest cavity — as there may be with heart failure. However, the presence of a pleural effusion usually indicates another disease or late complication of emphysema. Although pleural effusion can sometimes be "medically" drained using diuretic drugs (kidney stimulants), surgical drainage with a tube or catheter is preferable when there is a large amount of fluid. The drainage will improve breathing and can be lifesaving, but it is not, strictly speaking, a treatment for emphysema.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, LIVING WITH CHRONIC LUNG DISEASE. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
There is nothing wrong with playing bridge imaginatively to prevent the dangerous opponent from gaining the lead. Yet it's regrettable if the declarer sees that play but misses something more obvious. Since South was not a new-fangled player, he did not have the negative double available when East overcalled with one spade. (Such a double would show four hearts and would command North to bid.) So he took a sensible choice when he bid one no-trump. North had no trouble raising to game. Declarer won the jack of spades with his king. Realizing the danger of allowing West to gain the lead, he refused the club finesse. After all, there was some slight chance that West would hold the singleton king. And South did not mind if East made a trick with the club king, since the 10-8-6 of spades in dummy would then provide another stopper. Alas, West won the second club and produced the two of spades to set the contract. Declarer must overcome his natural bridge instincts to make the contract. He should allow the spade jack to win the first trick. His king of spades will next drop under East's ace, and he will never get a trick in spades, but he can then safely take the club finesse, knowing that West will not have another spade to lead if he does hold the club king. He will make nine certain tricks and his contract.

What The Day Will Bring...
YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 4, 1986
Fresh hopes will awake in you during the year ahead through involvements with new friends. Be a joiner and take an active interest in your favorite club or cause.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Should circumstances require it, you'll be inventive and resourceful today. Even people who never thought of you in this light will marvel at the Edison in you. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Conditions in general are extraordinarily favorable for you today. However, it might take a day or two for you to fully appreciate the impact of today's events.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Starting today, several pals will play beneficial roles in your affairs. A friend who will help you the most might be someone with whom you're just getting cozy.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be successful in an important endeavor today. The best in you comes out when the competition stiffens; this is when you turn into a tiger.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's a good idea today to touch bases with your long-distance contacts. One of your friends from afar might have helpful information for you.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) If your cohort is as ambitious as you are, substantial rewards are possible from a joint venture today. Each must be equally motivated, however.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone who you think of as always being rather lucky could also be lucky for you today. See if there is a way you can join forces.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Larger-than-usual opportunities will show themselves today in your work. You'll have to move fast once things start breaking.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Sometimes it's not a wise policy to socialize with business contacts. But this may not hold true for you today with a dynamic person you've recently met.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be very resourceful today, especially under stressful conditions. If you get in a bind, use your ingenuity to maneuver out of problems.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you have an important topic to discuss with an associate today, be spontaneous. Instead of following a script, solutions you improvise will prove to be your best ones.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Lady Luck will be trying again today to do all that she can to help improve your financial position. You can facilitate things by doing everything you can, as well.
