Jury In Faison Trial Is Completed Today

RICHMOND, Mar. 15-(INS)-A jury to try John Wesley Faison or the second_time-on-a-murder harge was completed at noon today in Hustings court. Taking of testimony was to begin at the af-

Faisons was indictell for the slaying of Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes, attractive divorcee, with whom he admitted a love affair. He asserted during his first trial that the woman shot herself while he was in ast November, using his pistol. Faison, married and the father of five children, sits in the courtroom with his wife beside him. She has stood by him since he was accused of the killing. The jury disagreed at his first trial.

Since that time he has repeatedly made those same promises whenever it came time for him to appeal again for votes, but up to the present time the only achievement to which he is able to point is the chairmanship of the Indian Affairs Committee.

We'do not know to what extent Ruth Bryan Owen is versed in Indian affairs. Without wishing to incriminate her in any way, we would nevertheless almost hazard the statement that she does not know much about Indians. She has perhaps read the Leatherstocking thles of Cooper or even the Kirk Monroe books on the Seminoles, but being of the modern era, although a grandmother, we assume that she wolf refer, if elected to the House of Representatives, to devote her time to the more passive problems of deepening rivers, digging canals, and securing federal aid for

The Laboring King

John J. Raskob, chairman of the finance committee of children's laughter at my meals the General Motors Corporation and a vice-president of E. d love to greet me at the door, I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., is quoted in a dispatch in the New York World as predicting that the time is coming when every working man would have two holidays a week and five laboring days.

"Electricity, coupled with the great inventive skill of man, will eventually bring this about," Mr. Raskob is quoted as saying. He continues: "In the cases of most workers these holidays would be Saturday and Sunday. Although all suit of clother that's fit to wear; toilers might not have their holidays over the week-end, it good night's rest when day is is not inconceivable that every one will have two days off some time during the week, as is dictated by the character

And so at last will the laboring man win out over the capitalist and the employer. With only five days work out of every week, the laborer will beat his boss, who, because of his responsibility must stick to the old six-day week and often a part of the seventh.

Machinery will relieve the laborer. He will produce as te me a few things such as much but his effort will be lessened. Not so with the brainworker, the man who can't be replaced by any machinery vet dreamed of. Problems will still have to be solved as before by man himself.

> If we work upon marble it will perish. If we work upon brass time will efface it. If we rear temples they will crumble to dust. But if we work upon men's immortal minds, if we imbue them with high principles, with the just fear of God and love of their fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something which no time can efface, and which will brighten and brighten to all eternity.-Daniel Webster
