FERA Will Furnish Labor, Materials To Build Market Here

Immediate Construction Of $75,000 Plant Authorized At Meeting Today

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration today agreed to furnish the labor and material for the immediate construction of a $75,000 Farmers' Wholesale Distributing Market in this city.

The money needed to purchase the material will be borrowed from the FERA and it is to be paid back with the revenue that will be asked of growers, shippers, and commission merchants who use the Market.

Part of the surplus inspection fund of the State Department of Agriculture also will be used to help repay the loan.

The Market will be supervised by the State Agricultural Marketing Board, which is composed of Governor Shotts, Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo, and State Marketing Commissioner L. M. Rhoads.

Decision to build the plant was reached at a conference in Jacksonville between Jerome A. Connor, state executive of the FERA, Commissioner Mayo, Commissioner Rhoads, and a party of Sanator persons, including Alex. R. Johnson, F. E. Dornier, Rex Packard, and George E. Holmes.

During the meeting, evidence was introduced that Governor Shotts, who had arranged for the meeting, has given his endorsement to the project, and that the plant will probably be one of three to be built in Florida shortly.

Before Mr. Connor had pledged the support of the FERA, he was told that the City of Sanford would furnish the land for the plant and the promise to secure FERA money was predicated upon securing the land in this manner.

It was announced that the Market will not only be a clearing house for fruits, vegetables, and produce that are expected to Central and South Florida points, but it will also be a clearing house for official information as to growing conditions, proper way to protect crops, and in general, a highly specialized branch of the State Marketing Bureau office at Jacksonville.

It was recalled here this afternoon that the Seminole Agricultural Club as well as the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce has been working quietly in this connection for some weeks.

Commissioners Mayo and Rhoads recently addressed a meeting of the Club, and both gave the plan their hearty approval. The plan, they said, should include a cold storage plant in connection, and the announcement made today said that a cold storage plant will be erected as a part of the Market.

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the Altamonte Springs Chamber of Commerce will be well represented at the meeting of the Central Florida Council of Chambers of Commerce at Daytona Beach Tuesday morning at 8:00 o'clock, at which time the chief speaker will be R. Alline, Mrs. Maggie Barnes of Sanford, and Secretary Karl Lehmann, of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce; President Mrs. Lyman and Secretary Mrs. Margaret Haines of the Altamonte Springs Chamber of Commerce; and at least four other officers and members of the Seminole County organization. It will be the largest delegation from any chamber of commerce.

Additional Relief Fund Is Poured Into Stricken Area; Wheat Surplus About Ended

Hopkins Announces Apportionment Of Over Million To Five Western States

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Additional relief funds poured out to drought-stricken states yesterday as federal officials worked through the week-end on the varied program for alleviating distress.

Relief Administrator Hopkins announced the apportionment of $1,300,000 in five states for use in work relief projects by farmers and city dwellers which will center on water and food conservation.

Novada received $500,000, Colorado $500,000, Illinois $500,000, Arizona $100,000 and New Mexico $100,000. With the exception of New Mexico the grant, all of which are outright gifts, were the first to be allotted to these states. Congress will begin consideration today of new relief funds totaling $525,000,000 asked by President Roosevelt in a message which he declared that "unforeseen droughts has visited disaster upon a large part of our country."

The funds would be doled out as follows:

- $125,000,000 for labor relief and work program.
- $75,000,000 for food stock purchase.
- $75,000,000 for emergency food purchase and shipment.
- $50,000,000 for work camps to give employment for young men from cities and towns in the drought area.
- $50,000,000 for buying surplus food and re-loading destitute farm families.
- $25,000,000 for purchasing seed for next year's crop and lending farmers loans to buy seed.

None of these designations will be followed strictly, however, if Congress follows the President's suggestion that "the authority should be flexible" to meet emergency conditions.

Unemployed Youth

Thousands of young persons throughout the United States this month receiving their diplomas from high schools and colleges and are preparing to go out into the world in search of careers.

What can be done to help these young people at a time like this to get started on the proper path in life? A Conference on the Problems of the Unemployed Youth was held in Washington early this month under the auspices of the Department of the Interior.

Three phases of the problems facing youth were considered; namely, those centering in employment; those centering in education and guidance; and those centering in better use of leisure time.

"It is estimated there are in this country at the present time," said United States Commissioner of Education, George F. Zook, in describing the extent of the youth problem, "about 4,000,000 young people between the ages of 14 and 18 who are not enrolled in high schools. Some are excluded from industry by code limitations.

"In the college age level, seven are out of college for every one in college. Not less than 3,000,000 in the age group from 18 to 20 alone are not only out of school but out of work."

A variety of 27 activities which have been developed by various governmental agencies throughout the country to help unemployed youth were brought to the attention of the Conference. Such projects ranged from development of hobby interests through arts and crafts clubs to provision of study centers.

The number of persons 16 to 24 years of age in families on relief in the United States in October, 1933, was estimated at 1,976,691. The Civil Works Administration and its successor, the Work Division of the FERA, have given many jobs to young people.

At least one-third of the 689,350 persons taking part in the education activities in 41 states making reports are under 25 years of age. Together with the young people taking part in other education projects which have been inaugurated and the youths affected by the relief program for college students, this makes a total of 286,352 young people who have received educational training through the FERA.

Gasoline Taxes

Some of the extent to which the owners of automobiles and the buyers of gasoline are being made the supporters of government was shown in a recent editorial in the Tampa Tribune in which it was pointed out that the gasoline tax rate has increased 7,500 percent and the gasoline tax revenue has increased 6,000 percent in the last 14 years.

"In 1933," the Tribune continues, "the motor vehicle tax bill reached a new all-time high above $1,180,000,000. This represented more than 11 percent of all taxes paid to all units of government—federal, state and local. The average tax per motor vehicle in 1933 has been estimated at $50.47, representing more than 25 percent of the value of the vehicle.

"Gasoline taxes alone have made motor vehicle operating costs so expensive in some sections of this country that there has been for two years a drastic and discouraging decline in the registration and use of motor vehicles. The report also shows that, while the average gasoline tax has increased, 1919 to 1933, from .06 cents to 5.4 cents, the average retail price, including tax, for the same period has dropped from 25.5 cents to 17.8 cents.

"As long as the gasoline tax is devoted to highways, there is good chance of its gradual reduction; but with diversion to other purposes an established principle, government will soon be using it as the chief source of general revenue—then a reduction will become impossible."

CLAUDE PEPPER WILL WIN

MELBOURNE TIMES

Claude Pepper, brilliant young lawyer of Tallahassee, because of his known ability and personality, his aggressive campaigning, his forceful speaking and the soundness of his political platform, won the right to enter the second primary against Park Trammell, long-time holder of political office.

The tremendous vote given Claude Pepper together with the many thousands of votes cast for Charles A. Mitchell and James F. Sikes, both capable men who merited support, may well be considered in the nature of a protest against the sort of representation this state has been getting at the hands of Park Trammell.

The senatorial race in the second primary will be a repetition of the second primary between Martin and Sholtz two years ago when the present governor so badly defeated Martin after running second to him in the first primary. Claude Pepper is as good as elected now.

Brevard county gave Pepper a splendid vote Tuesday. It should give him a handsome majority in the second primary and get squarely behind this capable young man who will bring things to pass for Florida when he gets to Washington as the Junior Senator.

REALTORS SEEK TO PUT BRAKES ON TAX LEVIES

Campaign To Equip All State Constitutions With Checks Begun

MINNEAPOLIS, June 11.—(AP)—A campaign to equip all state constitutions with legal brakes on real estate taxes, will be launched here June 29 by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"Constitutional limitation," the association's announcement said, "is the best approach to real estate tax relief. States with such an over all limitation have obtained most satisfactory results in reducing property taxes."

"The way has been made hard for tax officials to disobey the intent of the law. General experience in seven states now having such a constitutional limit is that it can be exceeded in only one case, for levies to retire old indebtedness, whereas evasion is easy under systems where a separate tax limit is set for each class of taxing unit."

In a report on the movement to reduce realty taxes, the Association said progress toward limiting them has been made in 12 states. It listed: Alabama—Reporting that candidates for the legislature are being pledged to support a constitutional limitation of 1 percent on real estate taxes.

Florida—Which will vote in November on a constitutional amendment to exempt homesteads of up to $5,000 value from taxation.

Georgia—Where it found powerful newspaper support for its tax program.

Illinois—Where a 1 percent limit is "urged."

Iowa—Where the Association says tax limitation will be an issue in the Fall legislative campaign.

Maryland—Where the Baltimore Real Estate Board is urging tax limitation.

Minnesota—Where a campaign for statutory limitation is under way.

North Carolina—Where the Association is urging that a tax limit be written into the new state constitution.

Kansas—Where a movement is reported either to abolish the ad valorem tax or lower realty taxes.

Kentucky—Where the Association says tax limitation will be an issue in the Fall gubernatorial election.

Louisiana—Where the governor, in a call for a special session, has urged a $2,000 homestead exemption.

New York—Where the State Real Estate Association is studying the possibility of tax limitation.

Infantile Paralysis Crisis In West Passes

The number of cases dropped last week from 157 to 135. "It's the most encouraging sign we have had," said Dr. Parrish.

House Of Rothschild Is Praised By Metropolitan And Local Critics Alike

Many favorable comments were heard today over the premiere showing at the Milane Theatre last night of "The House of Rothschild" which is now in its thirteenth week in New York City at $2.00 a ticket. George Arliss takes the lead in this picture of which Bland Johnson in the New York Daily Mirror has said, "It is the most impressive film the great Arliss has ever made."
Other noted critics have taken no less of a positive position on the merits of this picture, says Richard Watts, Jr., of the "New York Herald Tribune," "Mr. Arliss is decidedly at his best, playing with ease, crispness, and power. The film records with an effective combination of reverence and showmanship the foundation of the Rothschild fortune. The narrative is invariably skillful. It is done handsomely."
Loretta Young is another star of this already famous picture. She is photographed with some breathless things for milder in the way of gowns, chapeaux, furs, necklaces, and charms. Of her work the society editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle says, "Undoubtedly this is one of the pictures which MUST be seen. Miss Young is more charming than ever in this picture which for once does her justice."

"It was the consensus of opinion among those interviewed here today that the New York critics have not resorted unduly to superlatives in describing this picture. Those who saw it, love it; those who did not may see it tonight and tomorrow."
The story, which Nunnally Johnson based on a play by George Herbert Westley is an ideal subject for Arliss, tracing as it does the fascinating history of the Rothschild family, whose devotion and unity resulted in their sensational rise to wealth and power, and providing for Arliss the role of Mayer the founder and later, his son Nathan, the head of the family.
Although the film focuses on the manner in which Nathan enabled the Allies to conquer Napoleon, and gives a splendid picture of the period, it happily follows the recent trend of such pictures to stress the intimate, human side of epoch-making events and the joys and heartaches of the people who were the leading actors and actresses in them.
Thus, the family life of the Rothschilds—the love of Nathan for his wife Hannah and their lovely daughter, Julie, and Julie's beautiful romance with Fitzroy, the Duke of Wellington's aide, play a major role in the picture and imbue it with added warmth and life.
The cast is so huge and imposing that it would be impossible to give individual credit to each of the supporting actors who contributed an outstanding portrayal, but special credit must be given to Boris Karloff as the villainous Ledran; Loretta Young as Julie—she has never looked as enchantingly beautiful;—Robert Young as Fitzroy; C. Aubrey Smith as Wellington; Helen Westley as the mother of the Rothschilds; Florence Arliss as Hannah; Reginald Owen as Herries; and Alan Mowbray as Metternich.

The scheduled trial this afternoon of W. H. Burns, former negro bell-boy at a local hotel who is charged with forgery and uttering a forged instrument, was continued at the request of State's Attorney Boyle for the reason that George Goldberg, principal witness against Burns, is out of the city.
The docket for the remainder of the week is as follows:
9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning: J. D. Clark, charged with manslaughter in the death of Carl Tompkins, prominent grower of Altamonte Springs who was shot while walking in his orange grove.
9:30 o'clock Wednesday: Annie Belle Pope, charged with an assault with intent to commit murder in the first degree.
9:30 o'clock Thursday: J. T. Fortler, white, charged with a statutory offense.
9:30 o'clock Friday: Willie Smith alias Cleveland Smith, charged with murder in the first degree.
9:30 o'clock Saturday: Reynell Coleman, charged with receiving property he knew to have been stolen.

There was no telling from the air of course, but it appeared likely that every person on the train had been killed. Practically all the agriculture in El Salvador has been wiped out.
