Exercise Helps Ward Off Disease

First in a series by doctors at Seminole Memorial Hospital, answering questions about the new Heart Park.

fitness community effort. The Sanford Golden Age Olympics is indeed unique and is now receiving considerable local and national publicity, which certainly is well deserved. Most important, though, I believe it serves as a source of inspiration for our golden age citizens and refutes the widespread belief that vigorous activity and regular exercise are not as important as the years advance.

Sanford should be very proud of the recent development of the lakefront Heart Park by the Junior Women's Club. They and their many contributors, including the Seminole Memorial Hospital personnel, are to b congratulated for successfully completing this major project. Commission Funds Midway Center By DIANE PETRYK

Herald Staff Writer The final roadblock toward the construction of the Midway Community Center was removed Monday when the county commissioners "found" the $7,000 needed to complete funding

After agreeing to accept a construction bid of $72,345 form Schmitt Builders of Winter Park, county officials found they were almost $2,000 short on available funds from a federal grant for the project. They were also short funds to pave the street and parking lot for the center. Unable to raise sufficient funds for street paving, the commissioners agreed to a compromise proposal whereby they would pave the parking lot and settle for clay stabilization Funds transferred to the project come from drainage im-provement monies earmarked for a Midway fire station ($5,000) and Grant-in-Aid contingency funds ($2,000).

SALT May Be Rejected Yet

The dovish Senate Foreign Relations Committee has marched obediently to the Carter administration's drum, recommending ratification of the SALT II treaty after protecting it from any amendment that would annoy the Soviet Union. In doing so, the committee alienated several moderates and the final vote on the treaty was 9-6, less than a two-thirds majority and hardly a resounding endorsement of SALT II's

If the Carter administration pursues the same all-or-nothing strategy on the Senate floor, it may win the battles over amendments only to find itself without the minimum 67 votes required for

As for the treaty itself, all of its least defensible provisions are fully intact, thanks to the occasion with pilgrimages to the former dominant Frank Church-George McGovern wing of the Foreign Relations Committee President's birthplace. The committee's rejection of an amendment requiring that the Backfires be counted toward SALT limits also contradicts the unanimous view economic crises. Hoover took office in March of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

No matter, the Carter administration and the Kremlin are as one in insisting that any change in treaty terms constitutes a "killer amendment" that would wreck SALT II and vastly diminish, if not preclude, chances for further Soviet-American arms negotiations.

The committee resisted even stronger States the right to possess the kind of super-heavy under SALT II. As a sop to treaty opponents, Sen. Church agreed to support a laundry list of mostly cosmetic "understandings, declarations, and reservations" tacked onto the ratification resolution. Only two of these unilateral JACK ANDERSON statements require Moscow's agreement. The rest either have nothing to do with the treaty itself or are not binding on the Soviet Union.

In sum, the treaty now presented to the full Senate is no better than the poor bargain signed by Jimmy Carter last June in Vienna. Its balance nor significantly slow a strategic arms competition that the Soviet Union is clearly Seminole County Sheriff's Detective Bob Simmons will become a nationally known figure this month, at least among readers of detective magazines.

Master Detective, a New York City based publication, has named Simmons National Police Officer of the Month in its December

The magazine credits Simmons, who joined the force in 1973, with being one of the four Seminole officers who cleared all of the county's armed robbery cases in 1976 and helped capture an armed robbery suspect in freelancers scattered around the country. He explained that Simmons was chosen for the honor because of his involvement with the May 1974 case and his work with other major investigations in the county.

Magazine spokesman Walt Jackson said Simmons was chosen from seven candidates suggested by the magazine's writers;

Simmons will receive a hand-lettered scroll as an award for his selection, Jackson added. According to Master Detective, the apprehension of the armed robbery suspect was the only time Simmons has ever had to shoot anyone in the line of duty during his 15-year career in law enforcement. VIEWPOINT

Need For Profit

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN

While political leaders such as President Carter and Sen. Edward Kennedy are demanding passage of a "windfall" profits tax, the economic well-being of the American people requires greatly increased business profits in order that capital investment in industry can be vastly increased.

In the postwar period of American world leadership, profits ran to 13 or 14 percent of national income. Today, they have dipped to 9 percent. Without the retained earnings derived from profits, American business can't modernize facilities and add the machines that mean new jobs.

Many of these fundamental economic facts of national life were spelled out by Dr. Robert Krieble, chairman of the Loctite Corp., in an address at the United States Industrial Council Educational Foundation's conference on the topic: "America's Business and Industrial Future," held in Nashville, Tenn.,

Dr. Krieble pointed out that the Japanese America's gains in productivity have fallen porations. In addition, the U.S. is the only

Clearly, the United States is in trouble in many ways. Our people aren't working hard enough. Government imposes a staggering burden on productive citizens. Investment in research is down. Leesburg Rallies For Comeback Over DeLand

When DeLand head coach Art Parissi turned to an interested spectator and held his nose with his fingers he was insinuating that his Bulldogs weren't playing with the most fragrant odor. At the time in the third quarter DeLand held a seemingly safe eight point lead over the Leesburg Yellow Jackets in the opening night of the Rotary Bowl Tournament at Lyman. Little did Parissi know the smell would become much worse one quarter later as the Yellow Jackets rallied from an 11-married Nov. 3, at 6 p.m. at the Sanford home of the bride's father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Paul. Rev. Omby H. Franks performed the 6 p.m.

The bridegroon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Oglesby of Lake Monroe. Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a floor length white gown with a white furtrimmed lace jacket. She carried a bridal bouquet of white and yellow carnations and button chrysanthemums and wore a spray of flowers in Mrs. Laurie Compton at-honor. She wore a floor-length sheer pastel print gown. James A. Paul served the bridegroom as best man.
