Lake Mary Opts For New City Hall

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer
The Lake Mary City Commission Thursday night abandoned plans to move into the CIA (Community Improvement Association) Building in favor of building a new City Hall soon in the downtown area, and scheduled interviews for six city manager finalists for Dec. 9 and 10.

Commissioner Buzz Petsos, who led the crusade to build a new City Hall now and save the money which would have gone to renting the CIA building, said he would like to see the municipal complex in the downtown area (near the present City Hall at 158 N. Country Club Road).
"I think this is the city," he said.
The man who had fought for renting the CIA building, Commissioner Charles Webster, then said he had come to favor building a new City Hall.

At the start of the meeting, A. R. "Doc" Jore, chairman of the Capital Facilities Committee, gave that committee's final report and recommendations. He said the city should consolidate all city services into one complex and build it on city-owned land on Rinehart Road, about three miles from downtown, for economic reasons. He said

Youngsters Die In Dryer

MIAMI (UPI) — Police said they will present to the state attorney's office a case involving two young children found dead inside a clothes dryer.
Anthony Grant, 4, and his brother, Maurice, 3, were found dead by their mother.

The mother, Linda Grant, 32, said she left home at 7 a.m. Thursday to go to work in an elementary school cafeteria, according to police spokesman Juan Santos. Grant's common-law husband, John Dillard, also left in the early morning.

Lottery Start Waits On Lawmakers

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer
While voters may have approved a statewide lottery to boost education funds, don't start looking for tickets to buy soon because implementation is at the discretion of the legislature.
Frank A. Mirabella, executive director of EXCEL, the non-profit organization that placed the issue on the ballot by collecting signatures, said it would be reasonable to assume a lottery could be in place within 90 days of implementation by the legislature. The unknown element, he said, is when the legislature will consider the issue.
Mirabella said the legislature is scheduled to be in session in April. It could consider the issue then or be called into special session before then. He said either Gov. Bob Graham or governor-elect Bob Martinez, when in office, could call for a special session to implement the lottery.

Bail Or Jail

Being delivered to the American Cancer Society's jail are June Lormann, Longwood's deputy mayor, left, and Larry Goldberg, Longwood mayor. Unlocking his cuffs is Seminole County deputy Hank Blerly. The Longwood officials as well as other community leaders in the county are being arrested during the Jail-A-Thon which ends Saturday. "Prisoners" are transported to the society's jail at Sanford Gardens in Sanford where they must raise 'bail' that will go to benefit the society.

Zoo Weighs Options After Tax Defeat

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer
Although officials will continue to look for a place to relocate the Central Florida Zoo, most options discussed Thursday in wake of the zoo-tax defeat in Orange County involved keeping the facility right where it is near Sanford.

"Where do we go from here now that the Orange County voters have voted down a tax which would have funded relocation of the zoo from Lake Monroe to Turkey Lake Park in Orlando?" was the question in the minds of members of the Central Florida Zoological Society board, Al Rozon, director of the zoo, said today.
The final results of Tuesday's referendum were announced Thursday afternoon by the Orange County Elections

'We're not a bunch of quitters. We are going to keep on trying to find a new site for the zoo.'

-Al Rozon

Supervisor's Office as follows: 61,013 votes 'yes' (for the tax) and 68,487 'no'.
Rozon said the board discussed several options for the future of the zoo including a $1 million five-year repair and maintenance program to upgrade the zoo at its present site.
"This would not be improving or expanding, but keeping what we have and maintaining it a little better," he said.
Another option would be to get permission from the Department of the interior and the state Department of Natural Resources to ask the county to expand the size of the zoo into the park area using 16 acres to the west.

When the zoo move plan first came up, primary reasons cited were no room for expansion and the location being too damp for hooved animals.
A third option under consideration is to ask the county to buy the 5.1 acres owned by the Central Florida Zoological Society in the middle of the project and include the long term lease for $1. The funds would be used to upgrade zoo exhibits.
"We're not talking about the $37,000 or so we've already asked the county for to rebuild the large group shelter in the park. We had gone to the Parks Advisory Committee because the

"All I am concerned with is that we get the best running lottery as possible for our educational system," he said.
Mirabella said it will be up to the governor to get with legislative leaders and decide when the issue should be introduced. It will then be the task to decide how it should be run and regulated, he said.
EXCEL, based in Tallahassee, will be phased out, Mirabella said. The organization was founded in mid-July 1985 to collect signatures and put the lottery issue on the ballot. With that accomplished, and subsequently passed, Mirabella said the organization has no purpose.
He said no decision has been made as to what may be done with excess funds. If any, the organization raise.

Death Warrant Signed For Stano

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Death warrants have been signed for serial killer Gerald Eugene Stano, who claims to have killed 41 people, and for Sandy Creek multiple-killer Walter Cree Stenhorst.
Gov. Bob Graham signed the death warrants Thursday. The executions are scheduled for Dec. 2 at 7 a.m. EST.
The death warrant for Stano, who has been called the most prolific mass murderer in American history, was for the murders of Susan Bickrest and Mary Kathleen Muldoon in Volusia County.
Court records show Stano abducted Bickrest from her

Sanford P&Z Favors Zoning Changes

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer
The Sanford Planning and Zoning Board listed as top priority "the rights of the community as a whole" Thursday night when beginning a review that may open more parts of the city to elder-care facilities and quell recent controversy over four such operations cited for violating zoning laws.
Only one member of the X-member board expressed opposition to the proposed zoning revisions.

Lon Howell said he felt Sanford already has sufficient areas for elder-care operations. Opening additional zones for the profit-making operations also could open the door to other businesses, he said.
Howells' comments were rebutted by board member Eddie Keith, who asked, "Why limit the elderly to where they should live? There's no

In Lake Mary

Mail Volume Spotlights Growth

For a town that six years ago didn't have any local mail delivery, Lake Mary Postmaster Naomi Wallace thinks it's pretty impressive that they now have more than 4,000 customers in the city and 10,000 stops in the greater Lake Mary delivery area. With five new developments of regional impact, predictions are they will be delivering mail to more than 38,000 addresses by 1995.
What's more, a new Mail Processing Center is in the wind for Lake Mary that would take 40 acres, serve a tri-county area and employ thousands of people. And the town's little post office has received approval to build a new building six times bigger on seven acres, to serve the growing needs of the area.
"Our workload has tripled since I came here in 1983," said Mrs. Wallace, who has been a postmaster 19 years. "In 1983 we had six employees, now we have 17, and we work a 6-day operation," she added.

With the 900 postal boxes, total delivery in Lake Mary city is more than 4,000. "And to think, in 1980 all we had were 1,000 postal boxes and no city delivery." She thinks the town of Lake Mary is well on its way to being a major metropolitan area.
What has convinced her?
She pointed to the primary mini-communities and commercial developments going up in Lake Mary right now:
• Heathrow, planned for 4,000 residences near Interstate-4, 11 million square feet of retail and office space, and two hotels;
• The Crossings, off Lake Emma Road near Longwood/Lake Mary Road, planned for 5,000 homes;
• North Point, a business and commercial development off Lake Emma Road planned for 10 buildings with 10 million square feet plus a 300-room hotel;

• Timacuan, off Rinehart Road, planned for 1,100 units, a country club and golf course;
• Primera, across from Heathrow at Lake Mary Boulevard and I-4, planned for 625,000 square feet of retail space, a commercial center, 112,000 square feet for a health center, and a 500-room hotel.
Mrs. Wallace also mentioned the arrival of Channel 35 in Lake Mary last month on Skyline Drive, between Lake Emma Road and I-4.
The Lake Mary Post Office serves a broad area between State Road 46-A south to State Road 427, and area which is fast developing and keeps City Hall and Planning & Zoning people busy several nights a week.
"It's so fast growing," Mrs. Wallace said. "Last year there were no shopping centers. Now there are several, two under construction, on W. Lake Mary Boulevard, an Albertsons and a Publix, and another planned for Heathrow."

Hundreds Turn Out For City Drug Forum

Sanford officials are hailing the success of a drug-prevention seminar they sponsored Thursday, after turnouts of more than 300 municipal employees, their families and city residents.
Three more sessions, each focusing on preventive strategies, are slated at the Sanford Civic Center in coming weeks. These will be held Nov. 13, 18 and 25.
City commissioners approved $10,000 for the seminars, which are being coordinated by the city's personnel department and provided by Grove Counseling Center representatives. All sessions are held from 3 to 5 p.m., then repeated from 7 to 9 p.m.
"I'm extremely pleased. The turnout was terrific and so was the interest displayed," Mayor Bettye Smith said today. "I'm looking forward to similar participation at our next three sessions."
Employees are able to attend the afternoon sessions on city time. A majority of them did

Simple Math: Howell Tough Test For Lyman

By Mike Andrew
Special to the Herald

When one compares the records and statistics on Friday's Lake Howell-Lyman matchup, it looks like no contest.

Lake Howell is 6-1, Lyman 4-3. Lake Howell has scored 133 points while giving up only 50. Lyman has been outscored by its opponents, 72-57. Lake Howell is in a three-way tie for first place in the District 5A-5. Lyman has no chance with a 0-3 record in its District 5A-4 race. In fact, Howell is a 23 1/2-point Dunkel Index favorite.

Add to that Lyman's loss of both of its quarterbacks, Darren Boyesen (neck injury) and John Burton (academically ineligible) and Lake Howell's stock rises even more. Sophomore Steve Jerry will get his first action tonight at QB for the Greyhounds while all-purpose Scott Radcliff will also see a lot of time. Promising JV signal caller Mike McNamee also joins the competition.

Rival Or Not, Reborn Rams Ready For Pats

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

The Lake Mary Rams were 1-3 three weeks ago and going nowhere. Three weeks and three wins later, the Rams are 4-3 and going somewhere. They still have an outside chance at winning the district and could be in line for a bowl game with a 7-3 finish.

What makes the Rams' rise more noteworthy is they have pulled it together without the services of starting quarterback Shane Letterio.

Letterio, the Sanford Herald All-Conference QB last year, suffered a broken collarbone three weeks ago in the Rams 7-0 victory over Spruce Creek. It was first feared he would be lost for the season. Letterio, who wants badly to play against rival Lake Brantley, has healed quickly and may be available for this Friday's Seminole Athletic Conference showdown at Lake Mary. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

"He has thrown the ball really well in practice."

Oviedo Takes 3A-6; Locals Fall In 4A-9

Knutson, Hughes Lift Lady Lions

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

OVIDEO — Jill Knutson provided the finesse and Suzanne Hughes added the power as the Oviedo Lady Lions won the District 3A-6 finals over St. Cloud, 15-5, 15-17, 15-9 Thursday night before 201 vocal fans at Oviedo High.

Oviedo upped its record to 23-2 with its 14th consecutive victory and advances to the 3A-3 Region playoff where it will host the winner of District 3A-5 Tuesday night.

"We played an all-around good match," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "We had fine setting and hit the ball very well."

The Lady Lions' all-around performance is what finally overcame the strong serving of the Lady Bulldogs. Serving is what enabled the Lady Bulldogs to win the second game and stay close in the final game.

Knutson demonstrated her talent in the opening game as the Lady Lions played an excellent all-around game, preventing the Bulldogs from gaining any momentum.

St. Cloud's best service in the first game came from Lori Kinser who antagonized Oviedo with her serve's all night.

With the score 2-1 in the first game, Knutson served three straight points including an ace to get the Lady Lions going.

The teams traded points until Kelly Davidson served four straight points to lift the Lady Lions to a 13-4 lead. Jodie Switzer came up and served the final two points in the game which came on a Kelly Price kill and a Knutson dump.

The second game was a question of strengths: Could Oviedo return the booming serves of the St. Cloud? Not just yet. The Lady Bulldogs' serves were on target as four were not returned and two more fell in for aces.

The Lady Bulldogs flexed their strength for the only time all night in the second game using the front row play of Shelly Hancock and Kinser.

Oviedo fell behind 2-0 in the early going off the serves of Anne Thorne. The Lady Lions tied the score at 3-3 on Barbara Malone's serve.

After Oviedo had fallen behind, 6-3, Price provided them with a shot in the arm with two consecutive kills. Price first produced a side out with her first spike, she then powered the ball through an attempted block to cut the score to 6-4.

The Lady Lions could pull no closer and the Lady Bulldogs went on to build a comfortable 12-8 lead.

Knutson and Hughes then both came alive to spark Oviedo and tie the score at 14-14 on Cindy Wood's serve. Wood's service was aided by two kills by Hughes and another Knutson kill to place the Lady Lions back in the game.

Knutson credited Hughes with the kills in the match "I had some good hits by she (Hughes) was the one who was really on tonight," Knutson said.

St. Cloud called a time out and Oviedo coach Anita Carlson might have been slightly perplexed during the second game Thursday night against St. Cloud, but she figured out the solution for the winner-take-all third game. Oviedo won its 14th consecutive match and District 3A-6 title.

Seminole, Hawks Seize Early Wins, Then Falter

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

PORT ORANGE — Both Seminole High's Lady Seminoles and Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks outplayed their opponents for one game Thursday night in the semifinals of the 4A-9 District Tournament. Unfortunately, it takes two games to win a match.

Seminole, the sixth seed in the tournament, kept on the upset warpath as it downed second-seeded DeLand, 15-10, in the opening game, but the Lady Bulldogs bounced back with a little luck and a lot of C.C. Hayden to claim a 10-15, 15-4, 15-5 victory.

Lake Howell, the fourth seed, played inspired ball in the first game of its match against top-seeded Spruce Creek as the Lady Silver Hawks won, 15-11. But Lake Howell then fell asleep and "Sudden" Sam Osterman came alive and ignited the Creek to an 11-15, 15-2, 15-5 victory.

In Thursday night's finals at Spruce Creek High, the host Creek Lady Hawks needed just a little over a half hour to sweep DeLand, 15-1, 15-10 for the district title. The Creek, which plays either Orlando Oak Ridge or Orlando Boone next Tuesday in the region, improved to 19-3 for the year.

Although the loss for Seminole was disappointing, coach Beth Corso said the Lady Tribe can be proud of the way it played the last week of the season. Seminole won as many games this week as it previously had in the entire season. The Lady "Noles" finished up at 4-13.

"We're happy with the way we played the last three matches," Corso said. "But we felt we had a shot at the finals. We just couldn't keep any momentum in the second or third games against DeLand."

Seminole and DeLand played point for much of the first game with the strong serving of Cindy Bengé and a scrappy defense led by Maryann Calibuso and Faronda "Feroocious" Brown leading the way. DeLand had problems with missed serves but the hitting of

Volleyball

Hayden and Becky Thyhsen kept the Lady Bulldogs close.

With DeLand holding a 9-8 lead, another missed serve gave Seminole a side out and Adrian Hillsman served two points for a 10-9 Seminole lead. Liz Long's spike beat Hayden's block for the ninth point. Hayden's next block was good for a side out but a missed serve gave it right back to Seminole and Long served a pair of points for a 12-9 lead. Sheri Peterson's spike accounted for the 12th point.

Thyhsen put down a spike to give DeLand the serve and the Lady Bulldogs closed to within 12-10 on Shawna Streetman's serve. But the seventh DeLand missed serve of the game gave Seminole a side out and Aretha Riggins served the last three points of the game. Cindy Bengé had a pair of spikes for winners during the rally.

"I thought we had it after the way we played in the first game," Corso said. "We were hitting well, got our serves in and played really well on defense."

Seminole had its share of missed serves in game two while all the bounces went DeLand's way. The Lady Bulldogs built up a 6-1 lead with Thyhsen serving two of the points and Hayden three. Seminole's only real rally of the game came when Bengé served two points to make it 8-3. But a mixup on the Tribe's coverage gave DeLand a side out and Christie Eaby, who missed her first three serves on the night, then served DeLand to a 13-3 lead. One of Eaby's serves was an ace while Hayden contributed a spike and block to the rally.

Seminole made it 13-4 on a spike by Long but DeLand got it back and won the second game on Caryn Fennell's serve, the first an ace.

Hayden's hustle at the net prevented Seminole from getting anything going in game three.

Quitters Dim Qualifying Bids For Tribe Thinclads

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

All season long, Seminole High girls coach Cindy Branum and boys coach Sid Blackwell pointed toward the 4A-5 District meet as the time for their teams to peak. Both felt they had a shot at qualifying for the regional meet provided their teams came on strong in the district.

Now, however, Branum and Blackwell will never know how good their teams could have been. Both have had key members of their squads quit, leaving both the boys and girls teams as doubtful regional qualifiers.

The 4A-5 District Championships will be held Saturday morning at Trinity Preparatory School. The coaches meeting is 8:30 a.m., followed by the girls' two-mile race at 9 and the boys' three-mile at 9:30. The top six teams and top five individuals qualify for next Saturday's 4A-3 Region Meet at John Price Park in Boca Raton.

For the Seminole High girls, junior Shownda Martin, the team's number one runner and a possible regional qualifier as an individual, dropped off the team following the Seminole Athletic Conference meet two weeks ago.

"We just had some conflicts that we tried to work out but we just couldn't work them out," Branum said. "I don't see how we can qualify without Shownda. She's really a good runner and I expect she'll be back for track season."

In almost every meet this season, Martin was in the top five or 10 individuals and it was her ability to finish high that gave the Lady "Noles" a chance at finishing with a good enough team score to qualify for regionals.

Cross Country

Junior Viola Posley, sophomores Sherri Burgess and Michelle Pearson and freshmen Nadrian McGill and Ginger Skces will be the Lady Tribe's top five Saturday.

"I just want the team to go out and run well," Branum said. "I've got a really young team and want them to go out and run for their best times."

On the boys side, junior Alan Seward quit the team because of a conflict with work. Seward gave Seminole a tough top five but now freshman Joe Peeples and junior John Herberger will have to take up the slack if Seminole is to qualify for region.

"It's going to be hard to qualify without Alan (Seward)," Blackwell said. "But the team has been running really well the last two weeks and sometimes someone will surprise you and go out and run really well at district. We need to get four of our runners in the top 25."

The four runners who Blackwell is counting on are juniors Rufaro Matpano and John Skces and sophomores David Johnson and Jason Katsner. Those four all finished in the top 20 as Seminole took fourth in the SAC meet.

While Seminole High's season may end on a sour note, Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks are looking to build momentum toward the regional and state meets. Lake Howell goes into the district meet ranked second in the Joan Zimmerman relaxes with a back-ground of her paper creations.

Ancient Tradition With A Modern Touch

This Paperwork Can Be Exciting

Many artists create designs on paper, but some, such as Sanford's Joan Zimmerman, create paper as a part of their art.

Following ancient tradition and recipes, but with a modern twist, Mrs. Zimmerman throws used rag-stock paper into her blender, whips it up, drains off the water and pours the slush out on a screen to dry into a new "recycled" sheet of paper.

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

She might also use the same process to make paper from onion or garlic skin, or any number of forms of plants and bark. The plants have natural cellulose, which causes the mix to bind together when dry making a paper sheet, Mrs. Zimmerman said. She may also throw in a bit of human hair or rag-stock paper to strengthen her plant-base created paper.

From that process, which Mrs. Zimmerman said she finds to be very relaxing, she ends up with stockpiles of paper in various sizes, textures and colors. She tears those sheets and works that paper into the designs of her mixed-media creations.

In some of her works bits of Sunday newspaper comics characters peep out. "You can see the little faces," she noted in looking at her "Secrets of the Hearts."

That piece, which also contains some of her own hair and in some sections reflects her own skin tones, mixed into a multi-heart design, "reflects our being together and sharing ideas, our secrets," she said, of herself and an artist friend.

"Most of my work is like a painting," she said of her designs. Some of the pieces have dried flowers, tassels, or even small drawings added.

Mrs. Zimmerman said she became interested in paper when she and her husband Jack lived in Japan for three years. While there she studied painting, but she didn't get involved in making paper until she returned to America and took a half-day workshop while living in Lynchburg, Va.

Since moving to Sanford about four years ago, Mrs. Zimmerman said she has filled her large home with stacks and stacks of self-made paper. Her husband, she said, wouldn't dare throw away a sheet of paper he found lying on the floor.

In addition to making sheets of paper, to be torn and incorporated into designs, Mrs. Zimmerman said she can also mold partially dried paper into various forms to create three dimensional works.

As her skill has increased, Mrs.

Zimmerman said, it has become a matter of her choosing to make specific pieces of paper to fit a particular design, or creating a piece of paper, which itself can inspire a complete work.

"When I first started I made many sheets of paper. I would look at the paper and it would suggest something to me. I might see a little bird in it or a shell or something. It would remind me of water, of sand, or something and that would stimulate me.

"More and more I'm working on designing the piece before I start," she said, pointing out companion pieces, one of an old time folding-fan and the other a hand paddlefan design with tassels added to create a smile and braids for a woman in the design.

She is beginning to branch out and has plans to begin painting onto her paper designs. Mrs. Zimmerman is also working on jewelry made of a mix of her paper and copper, which she oxidizes, for light-weight creations.

She is experimenting with creating papers from various plant forms, some of which must be cooked and others that need to be treated with lye, while some need nothing more than a few swirls in the blender to make them into paper-yielding mush.

Mrs. Zimmerman has books with recipes for paper and others interested in this art can study the craft through such books, she said. Sometimes, on request she holds workshops, but mainly her work with paper is her personal creative outlet.

"I've been a creative artist all my life, but not in the visual arts," she said. "The piano as a child. Singing, dancing theater. I was so into all of those things and in writing. Then later on I studied pottery. Then when I was 30, I started studying painting.

"I think the growth goes back to your childhood. I think from every art experience you have it causes something to come together in creative ideas."

And for now Mrs. Zimmerman's creativity is focused on paper, which is her passion.

A Comparison To Marilyn Monroe

By Vernon Scott

UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Melanie Griffith, a beautiful blonde with a little-girl voice who is often compared to Marilyn Monroe, has become the nearest thing in Hollywood to the traditional sex goddess.

Griffith, still shy of 30, frequently appears on screen in the nude or semi-nude. Her roles run to hapless young women, victims of predatory males, which further encourages identification with Monroe.

But more than anything else, Griffith's sensuality invites comparisons with the late movie idol and her films foster the impression: "Body Double," "Night Moves," "One on One," "Joyride."

Griffith's new — and by far her best — film is "Something Wild." She plays an uninhibited free spirit who picks up a square New York corporate type (Jeff Daniels), gets him drunk, seduces him and sets off for her high school class reunion posing as his wife.

The drama, with many a comic highlight, affords Griffith an opportunity to display her talents as never before. She plays almost half the picture in a black wig with stunning effect.

For her next film project, the actress heads to Santa Fe, N.M., for a top role in "The Milagro Bean Field Wars," which Robert Redford is directing.

Bundled up in a white nubby sweater and blue patterned pants for a recent interview, Griffith in no way resembled the image she projects on screen. Her multi-toned blonde hair was spiky and tousled as she lounged in an office at Orion Pictures.

The first thing she did was open her bag to display snapshots of her 16-month-old son, Alexander.

In 1976, Griffith was married to "Miami Vice" star Don
