Officials Against Unified Service

of Air Invasion Outlined in Speeches Before Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The committee on aeronautics, which is studying the general efficiency of the United States air service as compared with those of other countries, Secretary of War and Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, Monday told the committee.

"I feel we are not behind," Secretary testified. "As far as the navy is concerned, the comparison is satisfactory, except that other nations have not any better than we have."

"I am confident our particular conditions will be taken into account. We are not hoping for a different settlement, but rather for a fair one."

United States, the admiral said, was far ahead of any other country in the development of aircraft for use on land, sea and air.

Secretary Wilbur and Admiral Moffett disagreed with suggestion that the next war would be entirely in the air, as that the necessity for bases and their relatively large range of action would subordinate them in importance to floating ships.

of the possibility of an invasion of the United States in the war by means of aircraft was described by Admiral Moffett as foolish. Such an invasion, he said, could be made by use of floating bases, such as carriers, or permanent bases on the American continent.

Secretary Wilbur and Admiral Moffett disagreed with suggestion that the next war would be entirely in the air, as that the necessity for bases and their relatively large range of action would subordinate them in importance to floating ships.

It also said weather will prevail over the country on Christmas Day. Although temperature moderated somewhat in northern New England, the Lake Region, Central Valleys, Plain States, Gulf States and portions of the Rocky Mountain Region will have much colder weather again, over spreading the Northwest and Plateau Region.

AUDITOR FINISHES CHECK OF TICKET AGENT'S ACCOUNT

Alleged Shortage Is Placed Near $2,500 Though Exact Amount Is Unknown; Company Is Protected by Bond

Through an audit of the books of J. C. Burrows, former ticket agent at the Sanford station of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Monday, Superintendent T. L. Dumas stated Tuesday that the exact amount of the shortage would probably not be known for a month or six weeks.

Burrows alleged peculations are said to extend through a period of six months, which ended when he disappeared the day before his successor was to have relieved him a week ago Monday.

The reason the shortage in Burrows accounts cannot be determined at once, officials say, is that there is no way of arriving at the number of tickets that were sold for transportation over other railroads.

"Well, it might have been," the physician replied.

of the question asked Hight should be made public.

"I asked him," said Anderson, "what was incongruous or reasonable about that sentence. The body of a young woman cut into 18 or 19 pieces was found in the park; it was believed that she had committed suicide."

"That was his answer?" queried Thompson.

"He said he could see nothing unreasonable in it," replied Dr. Anderson.

Another question the doctor said he had asked was: "If a man earns $20 a week and spends $14 a week, how long will it take him to save $300?"

Paper and pencil were barred and Hight could not do the problem correctly in his head, Dr. Anderson alleged. The question was said to be for a 10 year old mentality and was typical of the examination.

Plan To Build Radio Station Is Approved

Two Commission Members Are To Help Chamber of Commerce Committee On Plan

Because of complaints that the long trains of the Atlantic Coast Line are blocking the crossing on First Street for periods of more than five minutes, the limit set by the city ordinance, Roy G. Williams, chief of police, was directed to station an officer at that point with orders to make arrests, when the City Commission held its regular fortnightly meeting Monday.

T. L. Dumas, local superintendent for the railroad, declared Tuesday that he had received no notification of such a step.

In discussing the alleged blocking of the crossing by the railroad, it was stated that the practice had become a nuisance and that energetic steps would be taken to break it up.

The recommendation of the Chamber of Commerce that a municipal radio broadcasting station be erected was accepted by the commission and the committee from the chamber was augmented by two additional members from the commission.

Seeks An Exceptional Position Because Of Her Lack Of Armed Strength, Note Says

Note Means Long Delay In Affairs

Germany Ought To Be Allowed Privilege, Minister Declares

GENEVA, Dec. 23.—Summing up the problem of German armaments, Germany has sent a note to the League of Nations, touching the question of Germany's joining the League.

In the note the German government declares its view that should international conflicts arise Germany should remain absolutely free under the League covenant to determine how far she would take an active part in such conflicts.

The text of the note, which is published by the league secretariat Monday night, shows that Germany desires an exceptional position as a member of the League because of her lack of armed strength, though she denies any intention of asking for special privileges.

Germany maintains that if she is obliged to participate in all of the League military sanctions she would be compelled to waive her right to neutrality "the last defense of a disarmed people."

The reaction in league circles to the German note, which the Berlin government also transmitted to all the governments represented in the council, is that it will be certain to necessitate lengthy negotiations with the powers and presumably delay the application for admission to the League if she ever does. It inevitably links the League question with the general problem of international control and future investigations of German armament which may be carried on by the League.

Approaching the problem, if it be a problem, from the viewpoint of a vivisectionist, it appears that there are only three main classes to shop for. These are, of its simple, men, women and children.

Of course, there are individual differences between women, between men and between children but, likewise, there is a compensating variety within each of the three classes of articles offered for purchase as gifts.

Just as there are all kinds of people for whom gifts must be purchased, there are all kinds of purchasers for these same gifts.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the foreign minister himself, penned the note given out Monday night, which forms the second chapter of the negotiations inaugurated when Germany despatched her first communication on the same subject direct to the powers having seats in the council.

Dr. Stresemann began by saying that the German government was being favorably considered, is of the opinion that political developments during the past three years have rendered it possible for Germany to join the league.

The foreign minister remarked that the replies received justified the conclusion that Germany's wish to have a seat in the council but that the replies concerning the operation of article 16 of the covenant had not yet led to a satisfactory conclusion.

Dr. Stresemann declared in a note that Germany's apprehensions assumed to be not sufficiently appreciated by the powers; hence Germany had no other alternative than to submit the problem to the League itself in the hope that the League would arrange immediately for a discussion of the subject.

Florida and It's Opportunities

HEREVER men of serious mind gather today in the discussion of profitable investments, there Florida and Miami are prominently mentioned. The reasons are all too obvious. Florida today is in the early stages of splendid development. Her area is greater than that of the State of New York. Her population is approximately that of the city of Cleveland. Her resources—almost illimitable—are virtually untapped. And the 75,000,000 people who live within 45 hours of Miami's doors are coming in greater crowds every year, not alone to spend their money here in enjoyable living, but to take advantage of the opportunities which present themselves on every side for making more money.

Men of unquestioned leadership in financial, industrial, publishing or political circles in every part of the country are hearing the call of Opportunity in Florida. Their investments are large not only in railroads, steamship companies, banks, bond and mortgages, hotels, apartment houses and business buildings, but in Everglade acreage, rubber growing, sugar plantations, fruit groves, and real estate developments that are making Florida a paradise for Northern winter visitors and all-year-round homeseekers.

But investment in Florida is by no means confined to the Millionaire class. It appeals to everyone, and the acid proof of its soundness and stability is found in the fact that its opportunities are taken advantage of not only by the man who comes here in his yacht or private Pullman, but in a far greater degree by those who come in flivvers or day coaches. They come—one and all—at first for pleasure, sunshine, ideal body-building out-of-door life; in every human protest against the comforts and dangers of the Northern winters. They come to enjoy; they stay to invest.

It is just as hard to resist Miami's opportunities for investment today as it is to resist the calling of Miami's climate in the depth of winter. Every State in the Union—every City of size in the entire country—has its representatives on the red-letter list of Miami investors.

Miami points with paronable pride to many notable achievements—achievements of which any city of twenty-seven years' incorporation might well feel proud—but to none which have played and are playing a more important part in her development than her beautiful suburbs. And the greatest of these is Coral Gables.

Coral Gables has attracted country-wide attention by virtue of the fact that it is today the most notable example of city-region building in the United States, as well as the most successful attempt to build a beautiful residential city on one unified plan of design. Miami at its most beautiful and best is Coral Gables, and the title which has been bestowed upon it—America's Finest Suburb—has never been questioned by its most critical visitors.

Coral Gables' supremacy has been attained not only by its wondrous beauty and tropical settings, not only by the really notable endorsement which it has received alike from winter visitors and Floridians, but by the most practical of all tests—that of actual sales. In its first year these sales reached a total of $1,500,000, in the second year the figures were $1,000,000; and in the nine months ending October 1st of this year the sales amounted to $10,000,000.

There is no investment in Miami or Florida which offers better return than Coral Gables homesites or homes. There is none which offers better safety and security to investors.

You are invited to come with us on a special free Sight-seeking Trip to Miami and Coral Gables—the biggest and best sight-seeing trip in this country. It will be one of the most enjoyable experiences of your life to make this trip in our Deluxe Highway Coaches, which leave this city every week. CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—The valley of the shadow of death, became the "Darkest ravine." Stillwaters became "refreshing waters," and the "comfort of the reed" and "stead" is left out in a translation of the 23rd psalm made by University of Chicago scholars under Professor J. M. P. Smith given out yesterday.

By Martha Haskell Clark. As Brisbane Sees It. We have contrast. But we lack safety. "Right." "Wrong." We want supremacy. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Dec. 22. Life and climate in the United States are not monotonous. Vivid contrasts make existence interesting. For instance, this train left on Tuesday over the Southern route from San Francisco where the average summer temperature is 50 and the average winter temperature is 10. It is now, on the Union Pacific system, going from Wyoming into Nebraska, the conductor tells you, "It's like now zero now and getting colder."

THE OMAHA Morning Bee quotes President Coolidge as opposed to any armament competition with other nations. The President is right, as usual. There should be no competition, but absolute unquestioned supremacy. This nation should be beyond competition, it should have everything needed to make successful attack impossible, and it should stop regardless of what others do.

gifts that may be purchased without a twinge of conscience.

Clothing, for any person in the world, except perhaps a Hindu priest or a cold natured Eskimo, shoes, hats, shirts, hose, and at least a column of accessories to match are found. The desire for utility may be combined with ornamentation to the extent the purchaser may desire. There are Thrasher and Woolfruff, The Churchwell Company, The McKinnon-Markwood Company, Baumert Specialty Shop, The Lloyd Shoe Store, and others ready to meet any demand.

A profusion of toilet articles, tobacco products, stationery, cameras, candies and other things are on display at the drug stores such as Roumillat and Anderson's Prescription Shop, The Rexall Store and others.

Fire arms, sports goods and virtually everything in the hardware classification may be seen on display at the Ball Hardware and Hill Hardware companies.

Automobile accessories, radio sets and parts, electrical equipment and the hundreds of other articles that may be suggested from these classes, pass before the shoppers eyes.

Christmas decorations—enough to deck half of the trees in the Everglades, may be found at Woolworth and McCrory's stores. Likewise, there is at each place a profusion of articles offered as gifts.

Last of all, but not least, don't forget the Chamber of Commerce. There attractive folders and valuable information may be found. Perhaps it is not appealing to the more esthetic senses of some givers but it is probable that it will result in a large Christmas present for Sanford by bringing here some valuable investment or citizen.

New English Cabinet For Lack of Hair Are Dubbed As "Baldwin"

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The newly formed Baldwin cabinet, already called a "ministry of silk hats," and a "cabinet of Londoners," has achieved another distinction that is likely to prove the nickname "baldwins," already given by the press most appropriate.

For most of them are bald. Only Lord Birkenhead, the Secretary for India, and Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister, can boast of anything like an abundance of hair on their heads, and Mr. Baldwin himself exhibits a distinct cleavage between the desert and the oasis. The rest are beyond all aid of paraffin, coconut oil or the thousand and one other preparations guaranteed to cover even a billiard ball with a growth of luxuriant foliage. Unkind critics say not never before has the old phrase, "leather-headed tory" been so strikingly illustrated.

The war minister, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, is accounted the baldest of the baldwins. Then there is Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, whose lack of hair is a distinctive feature. Lord Balfour is bald, and the lord privy seal, Lord Salisbury, is "just bald," while Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the home secretary, has only a few hairs left but is the possessor of what is courteously known as a high forehead with a ceding line in 27 in front.

ONE IN 27 IS REALTOR

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 23.—By Lindsey, deputy tax collector, figures that every 29th person in St. Petersburg is a real estate salesman, basing his calculations on the 1,700 licenses issued by the city. With the season barely under way, it is believed that the number will be increased to between 2,000 and 2,500 when the peak comes. 220 licenses were issued in one day last month, it is noted.

Pat Moran, Frank Chance Are Among The Star Diamond Performers To Succumb; John Daubert Is Another Veteran Whose Passing Is Mourned By Baseball Fans

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The ranks of the baseball fraternity in 1924 have been thinned by the deaths of a number of well-known players and others prominently identified with the game. Two of the active club managers in the major leagues have passed away during the year now drawing to a close.

Early in the year Pat Moran, manager of the Cincinnati Reds and for a number of years a diamond star of the first magnitude died at Orlando, Fla., after a lingering illness. He died fighting his last grim battle with the same determination he showed on the baseball field.

On Sept. 15 Frank L. Chance, manager of the Chicago White Sox, died at Los Angeles. For years Chance had been an outstanding figure in the national game, reaching the peak of his career as manager of the famous Chicago National League teams of 1900-1910, which won four National League pennants and two world series.

Another noted veteran to make his final exit was Jake Daubert, captain of the Cincinnati Reds, whose death occurred in Cincinnati on Oct. 9. Daubert had a long career in the minor and major leagues making his greatest reputation as first baseman of the Brooklyn club, which position he held for nine seasons. Twice he led the National League in batting.

Thomas J. Lynch, one of the foremost umpires the game of baseball has known and for several years the president of the National League, died at Hartford, Conn., on Feb. 27. His connection with baseball dated back to 1880, when he began his career as a pitcher for the Nationals of Washington.

Bill Roper Again Selected To Coach Princeton In 1925

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 23.—W. W. (Bill) Roper, head coach of the Princeton football team will remain at his post for another year, according to announcement Monday by Dr. C. W. Kennedy, chairman of the board of athletic control.

A year ago Roper announced that at the end of the 1924 season the pressure of professional interests would compel him to withdraw from coaching, but recently he was asked by the board of control to reconsider. Today, he announced his willingness to remain for another year and his appointment was formally voted.

Roper's record as head coach at Princeton since the war is best shown in the following results of games among the "big three" universities, Princeton, Harvard and Yale.

1919—Princeton 10, Harvard 10, Princeton 13, Yale 0.
1920—Princeton 14, Harvard 14, Princeton 20, Yale 0.
1921—Princeton 10, Harvard 3, Princeton 7, Yale 13.
1922—Princeton 10, Harvard 3, Princeton 3, Yale 0.
1923—Princeton 0, Harvard 5, Princeton 0, Yale 27.
1924—Princeton 34, Harvard 0, Princeton 0, Yale 10.

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN

For unsightly skin eruption, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows the next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Son And Daughter Find Father Gone 14 Years In Jail

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—A Christmas reconciliation effected by Ellis Parker, Monmouth County (N. J.) detective is to take place this week in the Wayne County jail at Detroit. Clifford S. Heller, the bank embezzler arrested fourteen years after the discovery of his crime, will be reunited to his son, Clifford B. Heller, and his daughter, Mrs. Raymond Bowne, of Asbury Park, both of whom believed until Monday that their father had died in 1910.

New Jersey courts declared Heller legally dead after his disappearance and on his failure to return. But Heller, after two years of incessant travel to quiet his conscience, changed his name, went to live in Detroit as Luther W. Smith and became a substantial business man, donating liberally to charities and evincing a special interest in finding jobs for ex-convicts.

While Heller is in a cell awaiting extradition on charges of having absconded in 1910 with $18,500 of the Mount Holly National Bank's deposits, his two children are on their way to Michigan, having announced their full forgiveness of their father's crime. He has lived down the past, they feel, and they are sure he is prepared to make restitution.

As the prosperous Mr. Smith, of Detroit, Heller, in 1917, married Miss Catherine Stanius, having read of the death of his first wife in 1913. The second Mrs. Heller—or Mrs. Smith, as she was known—never knew of her husband's history, nor did any of his business associates and friends in Detroit dream of connecting him with the missing bank embezzler.

"What pleases me about this," Parker said Sunday, "is the way Heller's children have taken it. You might think that they would be mortified at becoming reunited with their missing father in circumstances. Not a bit of it. They are taking the Christmas spirit with them and are prepared to fight in his behalf with every dollar they have. They're true white—and it's the kind of thing keeps a detective from becoming all brain and ice."

The reconciliation will be warm, Parker said, even if the grown children should find difficulty in recognizing their father at first. Heller faces not only the bank charge but also a second indictment, alleging embezzlement of $3,800 from a building and loan association, of which he was treasurer at the time of his disappearance.

Will Be Tried In Mount Holly

DETROIT, Dec. 23.—Removal of Clifford S. Heller, former assistant cashier of the National Bank of Mount Holly, N. J., to that city for trial on a charge of embezzling $18,510.14 from the institution fourteen years ago, was authorized Monday by Federal Judge Charles C. Simons.

Permission was granted the prisoner to remain in the county here for a week or ten days to arrange his business affairs.
