AN EXPLANATION

Principal of the High School Explains About First Grade Pupils

To the Editor of The Herald: As there seems to be some confusion in the minds of some of the patrons of the first grade, regarding the work and hours of attendance, I desire to make a statement about it.

As is generally known, the grade meets its teacher in the building formerly used by the kindergarten. There are enrolled in the grade seventy-five little folks, the majority of whom have never been to school. With such a large enrollment the grade must be divided into two sections, because seventy-five children are too many for one teacher to have at one time. Each section of the grade will be given two and one-half hours in school, so that the teacher will give the regular five hours to her work. The morning session will begin at 8:30 o'clock; the afternoon at 12:45.

As has been said above, many of the children have never been to school; some have been to kindergarten; some have been to other schools, and some have been in school here. This, naturally, makes the classification of the children difficult. So, these first weeks have been hard ones for the teacher, but if the patrons will give us a little time, we hope soon to have everything in systematic working order. If the hours have been a little irregular at first, it was because so many children came at one time that the teacher would have to hear the lessons of some and send them home so as to make room for the others, but as soon as parents and children learn what section they belong to this difficulty will be done away with.

Viewed the Macaroni Farm

Misses Allie Knox and Estelle Smith of Winter Park, were in the city Wednesday and being very desirous of viewing the macaroni farm of Murrell & Minshew were taken over the farm by Mr. Murrell. The ladies were favorably impressed by the macaroni culture and will endeavor to have Rollins College plant an acre of these toothsome delicacies for the benefit of the students, macaroni being a great brain food.

Mr. Avant is a man of considerable wealth and will be a very valuable addition to Sanford citizenship. The Herald extends to him a hearty welcome.

BETTER PRICES FOR TRUCKERS

Northern Commission Houses to Act With That End in View

W. F. Holmes, secretary of the Truckers and Fruit Growers Association, organized here, says the Dayton Gazette-News, has been in correspondence for some time with northern commission houses regarding the handling of carload lots of celery and other vegetables. He has received letters from commission houses in Indianapolis, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston and Cleveland, which have been shown us, promising the hearty cooperation of the commission houses in the matter of getting Florida products on the market. Besides these letters, he is in receipt of many others, which all point the same way—that the Florida trucker will get better prices this year than last, and that every effort to protect the interests will be made by the northern selling agents.

If produce is packed properly and care taken in handling, it looks as if prices would surely prevail.

Sanford & Everglades Railway

Work on the Sanford & Everglades railway is progressing, despite the heavy rains. W. A. Ginn has been appointed chief engineer, and assisted by Emory Close, is busily engaged making the new survey which will be run one-fourth of a mile south of Celery avenue, instead of one-half mile as originally intended.

The great Pennsylvania Railroad Company is coining employees of the road and urging them to vote for Taft. The section foremen are instructed to line the section men up, and the same tactics are used as in 1890. The following blank has been distributed all along the line:

"In order to learn how the men stand politically, I am sending you a blank to fill out. This will not affect your position, whatever, regardless of how you vote.

"For Taft—
"For Bryan—
"For Higgen—
"For Debs—"

This is an innocent looking request on the face of it, but the railroad men are aware that it is a hint to line up for Taft. This move on the part of the Company has created much indignation among railroad men, who take the position that their political affiliations are strictly personal matters.

SANFORD'S SMALL GARDENS

Vegetables Seem to Spring up and Grow Over Night

The inhabitants of Sanford are proud of the City's reputation as a center for the growing and shipping of vegetables and few indeed are those who do not have a small kitchen garden near the house where the most delicious lettuce, radishes, turnips, peas, celery, collards, and other vegetables are grown the year round. A stroll over the city at the present time presents to the eye of the visitor the pleasing picture of a green vista made up of growing vegetables and seed beds, and the remarkable growth made in these gardens supplied with Sanford's great sub-irrigation method is wonderful. Sanford soil needs but little fertilizer to hasten the growth, and the seed once planted seems to spring up over night and in a short time the owner of a small garden can harvest the fruits of his industry and not only supply his own table with a great variety of succulent vegetables, but can market a quantity to the local grocers as well.

It is a well known fact that with a few chickens and a small garden in Sanford a living is assured to anyone who is inclined to give the garden any attention.

Many of our business men plant a small acreage in order to give themselves a recreation after business hours, and every morning these staid merchants can be seen pushing a small plow or pulling the bell cord over a mule, and breaking up the land.

THE THEATRICAL SEASON

No Dark Nights at Sanford Opera House This Season

Commencing next Monday night, the Opera House will be opened for the season by the Breton-Runkel Company, and every night thereafter this famous company will hold the boards, giving a first class entertainment each night at popular prices.

The Breton-Runkel Company are no strangers to Sanford theatrical lovers and the announcement of their engagement brings gladness to all. For the past five months the company has been playing to good business at Tampa, and Manager Johns is very fortunate in securing them for a continuous run here this winter.

Their repertoire embraces all the latest and best dramas and comedies, and when anything new comes out in New York, Mr. Runkel is the first to produce it in the south. Monday night "Pald in Full" will be given, to be followed by "The Girl of the Golden West," "Salome," "The Sheath Gown," "The Office Boy," "The Doctor," and many other good plays. During the action of the play a number of the best and most up-to-date moving pictures will be shown with beautiful electrical effects, and there will also be good music, songs and vaudeville interspersed throughout the evening. Change of plays and pictures will be made each night, and the admission is only 10 and 20 cents.

Miss Corinne Runkel is a favorite in the south—particularly in Florida, where she has been seen the past two seasons, and it is safe to say that Sanford people will accord her and the supporting company a hearty and substantial welcome next week. Those who have seen the Breton-Runkel Company will testify to the ability of each member as an actor, as well as to their behavior as ladies and gentlemen.

Samples of engraved visiting cards and invitations in the latest and best styles may be seen at The Herald office.

DEEPENING ST. JOHNS

Jacksonville Board of Trade Working To That End

DEEPER CHANNEL TO SANFORD

Congressman Frank Clark Says Survey for Channel to Sanford Has Been Made

A spirit of genuine enthusiasm in the interest of bringing to a successful realization everything that was for the good of Jacksonville and the state of Florida predominated at a representative gathering of the members of the Jacksonville Board of Trade Wednesday afternoon, says the Times-Union. A movement to secure an appropriation from congress for the dredging of the channel of the St. Johns river to a greater depth; the adoption of a resolution endorsing the project of the Gulf Coast Inland Waterway Association; the adoption of a resolution expressing the hope that the people of the state will patronize made in Florida products, and the remarks of Hon. Frank Clark, congressman from the Second district, in which he promised with proper cooperation, to secure greater and better things for the state, all went to make up the tenor of the enthusiasm that pervaded the big auditorium.

Hon. Telfair Stockton spoke in the interest of a greater depth for the channel of the St. Johns river. "We now have a 24-foot depth of channel and let us start a movement to get congress to appropriate a sufficient amount for the deepening of the channel to thirty feet, so we can float the fleets of the world."

Leland J. Henderson, secretary of the Apalachicola Board of Trade and secretary of the Gulf Coast Inland Waterways Association, spoke in behalf of a project to construct an inland waterway from the Mississippi river east along the gulf to connect with a canal across Florida.

Hon. Frank Clark Heard

Hon. Frank Clark was introduced and spoke along the line of improvements for the St. Johns river:

"I did not come here to speak," said Mr. Clark, "but to hear others speak on subjects of importance to the best interest of our state.

"You are standing in your own light when you don't make a move in the direction of supporting any movement which would tend to increase the opportunities of your city and state."

He spoke of the great benefits that would accrue from a chain of inland waterways connecting the Mississippi river with inland waterways along the coast and through Florida by canal to the Atlantic.

A survey is now pending before the committee on ship canals and railways for a canal across Florida, he said. Half of the committee was in favor of the survey, and the others had expressed a willingness to support the movement. That the project was patent upon its face, carrying conviction of its feasibility. That it would cost as much as the survey is made, millions of dollars will be spent in throwing dirt and the money will all go into the pockets of Floridians. That the committee on canals and railways stands ready to hear the subject as soon as he said so. He wanted the board of trade to name a committee and date for going before this committee in Washington the coming winter and pushing the project.

Channel for St. Johns

He said he had an idea on the river and harbor bill for a survey for deep water from Jacksonville to Sanford in the St. Johns river. That the survey had been made; the government engineer here had made a favorable report, which was approved by Col. Kingman, who is in charge of all government operations in this territory. He said that there was only to run the gauntlet at Washington and the appropriation would be forthcoming.

He spoke of the necessity of getting deeper water for the St. Johns to the southward, in order to allow the people residing along the route better means for transporting agricultural products, etc., to Jacksonville. And on the other hand, to allow people to buy articles here and have the same cheaply transported to their homes along the river.

He could remember when the people residing in other cities and towns were prejudiced against Jacksonville, but that sentiment had changed and all were proud of the metropolis.

Inland Waterways

Mayor Sebring offered a resolution that the board become a member of the Gulf Coast Inland Waterways Association; that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to attend the meeting of the association at Columbus, Ga., and that a committee, to be known as the inland waterways committee, be appointed. The resolution was adopted.

Dexter Hunter offered a resolution that the board co-operate with Congressman Clark in his movement for deeper water for the river and the canal across the state, and the expenses of the river and harbor committee of the board be paid to Washington, in order that the board may urge the congressional committee to act favorably upon the projects.

POLITICAL PROGNOSTICATIONS

The St. Lucie Tribune's Statistician Makes Interesting Figures

Taft cannot hope to carry all the 32 states that Roosevelt carried in 1904.

Taft cannot hope to carry any of the 13 states that Parker carried in 1904.

Bryan will surely carry all the 13 states that Parker carried in 1904.

Bryan will surely carry some of the 32 states that Roosevelt carried in 1904.

Thus we reach the meat of the question. How many of the states that Roosevelt carried in 1904 will Bryan carry in 1908?

Bryan did carry in 1900—the following states that Parker didn't carry in 1904; Colorado, Idaho, Missouri, Montana, Nevada. That is five out of 32 electoral votes.

That Bryan is sure to carry this year, in which he will succeed where Parker failed. Then, there is Oklahoma voting for the first time this year, with 7 votes, sure for Bryan—a total of 39 to be added to the Parker total of 140, making the certain Bryan vote this year 179. He will need 242 votes to win, so, on the basis of the above figures, he will have to carry enough of the other Roosevelt states to give him 63 electoral votes, in addition to the states sure to be for him.

What combination of states will give Bryan the necessary 63? Here are a few of the possible ones, every state cited being recognized as doubtful:

New York, Indiana, Minnesota—65.
New York, Indiana, Nebraska, South Dakota—66.
New York, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas—68.
New York, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska—71.
New York, Wisconsin, Minnesota—63.
New York, Indiana, Nebraska, and any one of the other doubtful states.

Or, without New York, he may win on either of these combinations:

Indiana, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Wisconsin, South Dakota, Wyoming—64.
Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming—63.
California, Kansas, Nebraska, Indiana, Oregon, Wyoming, Delaware, South Dakota, West Virginia—64.

Of course, the figures, however we construe them, make it appear inevitable that Bryan must carry New York to be elected. But New York is not indispensable, if there is sufficient change of votes in the middle west to give him the majority of the doubtful states of that section.

There is no state cited in the above calculations that is not liable to cast its vote either way. Not one of them is to be regarded as a "cinch." The fight that is being concentrated in each of these debatable states for the Democratic ticket ought to bring results—and The Tribune has not yet seen an election forecast, whether emanating from Republican or Democratic sources, that doesn't encourage Democrats in the belief that their ticket will be elected.

Struck a Rattler

While M. M. Smith and Freeman J. Hunter were gliding along in the gray automobile en route to Sanford from Winter Park one day this week they noticed a large rattlesnake coiled in the road. They were upon his snakeship before they had time to avoid a collision, and when the swift car struck him, the snake was tossed up on the step of the car near the feet of Mr. Freeman. By the time Mr. Smith had stopped the car and looked around Freeman was out of the car and hoofing it down the road at a 2:40 clip, and would probably be running yet if Mr. Smith had not called him back.

The snake was still living, but was quickly dispatched and measured five feet and two inches, his caudal appendage being decorated with eleven rattles.

FLORIDA GAME LAWS

Something About Its Limitations and Proscriptions

NON-RESIDENTS PAY A LICENSE

For Privilege of Hunting Within Borders of the State—Some Birds Unprotected

With the approaching game season it will probably be of interest to sportsmen generally to know just what the law is relating to game. Just now, when the closed season is about at an end, violations of the law are most numerous.

Under the laws of this state it is illegal to hunt, chase, kill or molest any wild deer, except during the months of November, December and January. The law provides a maximum fine of $100, or imprisonment for six months.

It is equally unlawful to have deer meat in one's possession during the closed season. In addition to this the law is very explicit in regard to selling the flesh or hides or shipping same from state.

Game Birds

When it comes to game birds, especially turkey and quail, the law is very clear just how many birds of each species may be killed by a single hunter, and the number which a party of two or more persons may kill in a day's hunt. Here is the law:

"No person or persons shall have in his, her or their possession, or shall hunt or kill any wild turkey or quail or partridge in any part of this state, save only from the first day of November until the first day of March, of any year. No person shall kill more than two wild turkeys, nor more than twenty quail, and no party of two or more persons shall kill more than four wild turkeys or more than forty quail in any one day. And no person shall kill more than five wild turkeys in any one year, and no person or persons, firm, corporation, association or company shall sell, expose for sale or have in his, her or their possession for sale in this state, any wild turkey, quail or partridge. Any person or persons, corporation, association or company violating any of the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than $25 or more than $100, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding 60 days or less than 30 days."

May Shoot Ducks Now

It is legal to shoot ducks from October 1 to March 30. If shot at any other season of the year the person so doing is liable to a heavy fine.

One section of the law provides that it shall be unlawful to kill, catch or have in your possession, living or dead, any wild bird other than a game bird. No part of the plume, skin or body of any bird protected by this section may be sold or hid in possession for sale. Only the following are considered game birds: Swan, geese, brant, river and sea ducks, rails, coots, mud hens, gallinules; the semicola, commonly known as show birds, plover, surf birds, snipe, woodcock, sandpipers, tatters and curlews; wild turkey, grouse, prairie chicken, pheasants, partridges and quails; also turtle doves and wild pigeons and robins. It is unlawful to destroy the nest or eggs of a wild bird or have either in one's possession.

Unprotected Birds

Birds which are not included in this section and are unprotected are:

The English sparrow, sharp-shinned hawk, commonly known as the little blue darter; Cooper's hawk, commonly known as the big blue darter; great horned owl, crow, rice bird, meadow lark, jackdaw and butcher bird are not included among the birds protected by the two preceding sections. Nothing in said sections shall prevent any citizen of the state of Florida from destroying birds which are found injuring grapes, fruits, gardens or farm products on his premises, or from taking and keeping in a cage any cardinal red bird or mocking bird for his own pleasure or amusement; provided the same shall not be sold or shipped out of the state.

A license is exacted from non-residents who come here to hunt. The tax is $10 for the season.

Notice of Meeting

On account of a delay in receipt of charter, the meeting of the stockholders of the Sanford Building and Loan Association, called for last Tuesday night, was adjourned to next Tuesday night, October 20th, at 7:30 o'clock, at the office of the Holden Real Estate Co.

Special Correspondence to The Herald, Time's Changes

Gold and crimson leaves were falling
On that bright October day,
We were children blithe and happy,
Romping through the woods at play.

Time slept not; the changing seasons
Came and went in rapid flight,
Years passed by before we knew them,
Like mere phantoms of the night.

Other children have our places,
Other feet and other hands,
Pile the leaves up on the sands,
Build up houses on the sands.

Golden hair is white and faded,
Careworn wrinkles dent our brow,
Another autumn is upon us,
And the leaves are falling now.

◀ A good way to get men to drink plenty of water and pay lots of money for it would be to put an internal revenue tax on it.

◀ The Lakeland News offers a criticism on "my head" as follows:

If the writer who contributes that very interesting department, "Curbstone Gleanings," to The Sanford Herald, would interview the spirit of Mr. Lindley Murray, a one-time language sharp of some reputation, he might be induced to change the expression, "Just Between You and I," which is kept standing at the head of the columns. It is an expression used by hundreds of well educated persons, but we don't believe Mr. Murray would have written it so.
I don't know who "Mr. Lindley Murray" was, but to keep peace in the press family "we" have sacrificed our syntax and now its "me" and not "I."

◀ The "Devil" must be very popular this year as he is being played in all the great cities of the country. The drouth, too, has played the devil with the corn crop and some other growing things in the North.

◀ In looking over my antediluvian mail the other day, I came across the following epigram:

"It takes a rich man to draw a check, a pretty girl to draw attention, a horse to draw a cart, a porous plaster to draw the skin, a toper to draw a cork, a free lunch to draw a crowd, and an advertisement in your home paper to draw a crowd."

◀ "Excuse me," said a lady to one of our prominent business men the other day, "I would like to ask you a question. Are times really hard?" "There is no use trying to conceal the fact," said the gentleman. "In a great many branches of trade the depression has been quite serious." "I am very thankful for the information," she responded, as she hastened to pass out. "If you are worrying about any particular investment I might be able to advise you." "No. It wasn't about anything special. I just wanted to know the truth about the matter. I do not wish to annoy my husband with my expenses, and I thought the best thing to do was to come and find out whether times are really hard, or whether it was the same old story he has been telling me for the last ten years when the fall styles come in. You see, the men are not always to be trusted in trying times like fall seasons when such lovely new styles of hats and gowns are on the market."

◀ "When we are married," said the girl, "will you agree to shave every morning? You know all the girls in our club agreed not to marry any man who does not shave every morning?"

"Well," said the young man, "how about those mornings when I don't get home in time; I belong to a club myself!"

◀ I am reminded by the opening of school that "The Parents Club" held its last meeting April 27th, and adjourned to meet early in the fall. I hope that there will be as much enthusiasm among the members this year as was evinced in the spring. There is no end of good things that a club of this sort can accomplish.

Over at Starke they have a "Mothers' Club" which, during its two years of life, has done great good for the schools of that city. From a letter written by a member to the Starke Telegraph, I glean some facts

The club meets once a month in the school building, that they may see for themselves the rooms and premises occupied by their children; the principal of the primary department is a member of the club and keeps it posted on school work; it has furnished a room for the principal, which is also used as a library for the pupils; it has employed a regular janitor and personally given attention to the sanitary condition of all rooms; it has created a stage fund, and has given a $90 encyclopedia to the library; and besides all this the club has done much charitable work in clothing and feeding the poor, etc.

Before school commences after the summer and Christmas vacation, the club superintends and pays for the buildings and grounds being thoroughly cleaned and put in a sanitary condition. And now this Mothers' Club is ambitious to help build a new school building.

I give these facts in the hope that it will encourage and stimulate our Parents' Club to greater effort.

◀ A man is hardly ever prouder of anything than when he sat in the same smoking room of a sleeping car with some politician and told him what time it was.

◀ The republicans always find the presidential campaign season a favorite time in which to revise the tariff. Let's see, this is about the skeenth campaign in which such revision has been promised, is it not?

◀ I want to give a little friendly tip to some of the aspirants for municipal offices. THEY TALK TOO MUCH! Some of the remarks made by one aspirant about citizens dangerously approaches calumny, and if he would have the good will of many voters he will cease all vituperation. It lowers the dignity of a man when he stoops to defamation of the character of his fellow men. A word to the wise is sufficient.

◀ "Who's going to Africa with Roosevelt?" is asked by a subscriber. Can't tell at present. Don't know how the election will result. It may be that Mr. Taft will go.

His constitution was run down,
At least that's what he said;
His legs were swelled each morning,
And he often had swelled head.
He mixed all drinks with whiskey,
And if they didn't fuse,
He blamed it to dyspepsia,
But he never blamed the booze.

◀ Well, we have seen "The Devil" in Sanford, but we yearn for the sheath gown, "Salome" and "Apache" dances, that we may keep abreast with Palatka, Orlando and other cities that have already been visited by these naughty bachanals. Let's have the whole dose at once, that we may the sooner get the bad taste out of our mouths.

◀ I have said before, and it will bear repeating, that Sanford is as free from the sale of intoxicating liquors as any town of its size in the state. This is owing to the vigilance of the officials, and it is a fact that Sanford is the only place in the county that has prosecuted those convicted of that illegitimate traffic, and since the county went "dry" twelve convictions have been made, and today Sanford has eight prisoners of this class in the road camps. Yet, despite this, a Mrs. Busy Body wrote Gov. Broward that liquor was being sold in no less than three prominent places in Sanford, and that the local officials were unable to cope with the evil. The governor referred the letter to Sheriff Vick, who came to Sanford Friday and made an examination of the places complained of by Mrs. B. B. It is unnecessary to say that the search was fruitless, and nothing of an intoxicating nature found at either place.

There is another species of trouble-maker who should feel the condemnation of all right-thinking people. It is the loafer who sneaks around among the colored people—drinking and carousing with them—only to betray them. There are many among the colored race of Sanford of greater intelligence and honor than this "beast" who hunts them down under the guise of friendship and pretending to give them employment. Chief of Police Lee and his two assistants are well able to look after infractions of the temperance laws without any such lowdown, degraded and sneaking assistants.

◀ Hearst must have purloined the big stick when Roosevelt wasn't looking. Foraker, Haskell, McLaurin, et al, must regard him as a veritable Akkond of Swat.

◀ The idea that should animate a man who intends to become a clergyman, is that he fit himself for the task of endeavoring to uplift struggling humanity, and not for the purpose of entering upon a career synonymous with business, or public life. Nor simply as a means of employment, whereby he is enabled to earn a living, sometime superior to that which may ordinarily be gained in civil life. That Christ is the great character after whom he should pattern his life, and his life work. And if I have studied the bible and Christ's career to good purpose, I have learned that he created no sect save that which may be described under the general title of Christian. That all of his life on earth was spent in lifting up the poor, the weak and the fallen, and in teaching the finest code of morals known. That he built no church edifices and was not concerned as to how much more salary he could get in some other place from that in which he happened to be doing his work. That he was not a prohibitionist nor a meddler in party politics. That he was more concerned in honest trading, moral and clean living, than in theological discussions. That he taught the brotherhood of man. That he favored dancing, music and all healthful, clean and reputable pleasures. In a word, he was a great, grand, broad-minded, liberal man, whose mission on earth was peace and good will, happiness to all, and the uplifting of all mankind.

◀ A gentleman meeting a lawyer friend the other day in the Sanford Hotel lobby remarked:

"Well, things politically are warming up in fine style now that Hearst and Roosevelt are added to the gaiety of the campaign."

"Yes, I am informed by the papers that it has been somewhat chilly politically, until very recently."

"Really, judge, among the candidates for popular favor now before the public, who do you think has the best show?"

"Breton-Runkel."

◀ A kindergarten teacher was recently reviewing her little class on the instruction given the day previous. The following is a part of the questions and answers:

Teacher—Now, children, I told you yesterday about the various materials from which your dresses are made—silk, wool and cotton. Let me see how well you remember. Margie where did the material come from of which your dress is made?

Margie—It was grew upon the back of a sheep.

Teacher—Very good; and yours, Blanche?

Blanche—My dress once grew upon the back of a sheep, and part of it was spun by the silkworm.

Teacher—Correct. And yours, Lucy?

Lucy (with evident embarrassment)—My dress was made out of an old one of mamma's.

Yours for Progress,
THE SAUNTERER.

All Eyes Are Turned Toward Irrigated Districts

To the Editor of THE HERALD: Complying with your request, I take this opportunity to express my opinion as to the conditions in the north, the effect of these conditions upon the future success of the development of this community...

The past season has been one of extremes in the north and middle states. Spring opened with tremendous rains, which continued more or less until the middle of July; these rains interfered seriously with the planting of crops. Since about the middle of July there has been no rain, and crops that were planted were cut short by the drouth, in many instances almost completely destroyed...

All eyes are turned towards the irrigated districts of the country, and the Sanford district is bound to receive its full share of new-comers, for our great advantage of production, climate and shipping facilities place us at once in advance of any other irrigated section.

It occurs to us that the recent movement on the part of some of our citizens towards a drainage system to be instigated at the public expense is by far the most important of any movement yet taken, and such a system should be installed at the earliest possible date...

The fear of over-production, that seems to be in the minds of some of our farmers, is absurd, when one takes into consideration the fact that the value of food products raised in the United States during the season of 1907 was about seven and a half billion dollars worth, and that this amount is practically consumed, it can readily be observed that the little amount...

that the Sanford district can produce will have no material effect of the vast food supply. The facts are, that the possibilities of this community are hardly yet begun. Ten years hence will see Sanford a great garden city, extending east and west for a distance of ten miles, and north and south to Lakes Jessup and Monroe...

Advantages of Florida

To the Editor of The Herald: I thank you for a copy of your valuable paper of late issue, which is a credit to any county or state. The Herald is what is termed a county paper, but its subscribers should not be confined to Orange county; it should become a weekly visitor in every home in the state. The editor is a progressive man, is enthusiastic over everything that is of the most interest of the state of Florida...

SIDEWALK TALK

Do you realize the necessity for a substantial foundation as a part of that sidewalk which you intend building? A nicely finished top lends beauty, but not stability. This is to be attained only when the same care is exercised in selection of materials for the foundation as for the top coat.

With this fact in mind, I am importing clean hard crushed stone, which when mixed with standard engineering specifications, gives an absolutely dependable foundation. If you want a walk in which you can take pride in the years to come, be sure that that foundation is right. This is one of the characteristics of my work. Let me figure on such a walk for you.

OUR GROWING NEEDS

Sanford in a few years will have a population of ten thousand people, and now is the time to prepare the city for future needs. As soon as the money is realized from the sale of the bonds for street improvements, vitrified brick should be used upon First street, and every year thereafter a few blocks can be paved, as the money is available. The city is in need of a good electric-lighting plant and should have one, regardless of who fosters the idea or gains a franchise for this purpose. Sanford will not add one cent to the expenses by granting this franchise, and will have a well-lighted city that will appeal to the strangers within our gates as a place of public improvements.

Next Monday night the council will meet to grant franchises for an electric light plant and a traction railway. Both of these movements are in the nature of a step forward, and both are badly needed. The members of the city council will make no mistake in granting these franchises after they are worked in a manner satisfactory to a majority of the members and do not in any way encroach upon or take away the rights and privileges of the citizens.

It is well to examine carefully into every franchise granted, not only building for today, but for the years to come. And yet too many restrictions cannot be placed upon these franchises in such a manner as to exclude them from opportunity and drive capital from an investment in Sanford. The day is at hand for these much needed improvements.

Will Sanford have them?

ELECT SANFORD FRIENDS

In a short time the people of Sanford will be called upon to elect officers for the city government the coming year. This election embodies the choice of three councilmen to fill the vacancies in the Board of Aldermen, and in this selection the people should use their wisest and calmest judgment.

The coming year will be the crucial one in Sanford's history.

The city should progress; it is wonderfully favored; it has great advantages over many Florida towns, and there is no valid reason why at the end of another twelve months wonderful strides should not be recorded.

But if this progress is made, if the city is to advance and not deteriorate, council men must be elected who are the friends of Sanford, and who will prove it by voting and working for those improvements which must be soon forthcoming or we perish.

Voters of Sanford, prepare your ballots—but be careful how you vote.

BRING IN YOUR CONTRIBUTIONS

The editor of THE HERALD has been appointed by the chairman of the National Finance Committee as a member of the Finance Committee for Orange county, and while the time is short the need is apparent and every good democrat is urged to come forward and subscribe to the cause of Democracy and the election of Bryan. Contributions can be left at THE HERALD office or with Frank L. Woodruff.

The last number of the Suwannee Democrat, published at Live Oak, announces that hereafter the editorial and mechanical departments of that paper will be in charge of F. R. McCormack.

This is gratifying news to the whole press of Florida, for among all the "press gang," "John F. Sherwood" is held in highest esteem, and many, like the writer, have a feeling of deep affection for him. Ever kind, courteous and just, he has greatly endeared himself to all the craft, and happy is he indeed who can call him "friend."

Under Mr. McCormack's able management, the Democrat will rapidly assume its erstwhile prestige, and it is probable that the daily edition will be revived.

When you think of Turkey and Servia, and Holland and Venezuela, and Russia and Japan, it doesn't seem as though the world were turning many of its swords into plowshares.

If you have not already contributed to the National Democratic Campaign fund you should do so at once. THE HERALD will receive all contributions.

Sanford must have electric lights, paved streets and all other improvements needed to keep pace with the rapid growth of the city.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION

By reference to the advertising columns of THE HERALD it may be learned that several candidates are announced for the various municipal offices to be filled at the election December 7th. For mayorality honors we have the present incumbent of that office, Forest Lake, and E. E. Brady, who was previously city marshal. The present city marshal, J. T. Lee, has announced his candidacy for re-election, and opposed to him, so far, is C. C. Moris. The veteran city clerk, is for the ninth time in the race for clerk, treasurer and assessor, he having faithfully served the people in that capacity for eight years, and it is very probable that he will have no opposition.

Up to the present time, no candidates for members of the Board of Aldermen have been announced, though within the next few days it is expected that the names of several prominent citizens will be placed before the voters.

It is too soon to make predictions, or even comment on what the result will be, and, therefore, THE HERALD is content at present to simply place the names of all aspirants before the people, reserving all opinion until all the candidates are announced and their particular claims to the suffrage of the voters made known.

FOR A GREATER SANFORD

Elsewhere in this paper will be found a most interesting and valuable article from Mr. E. A. Howard, who has just returned to Sanford from a visit to the north-west and middle-west. He tells of crop conditions in that country and the effect of those conditions upon the future success of the development of this community. He brings the cheering tidings that all eyes are turned toward the irrigated districts, and that the Sanford district is bound to receive its full quota of comers.

Mr. Howard is a persistent and consistent friend of the Celery City, and in his communication evinces deep interest in all that is proposed for the progress of the community. He confidently believes that within the next decade Sanford will be a great garden city, extending east and west ten miles, and north and south to Lake Jessup and Monroe, with all modern improvements and utilities.

Every Sanford-loving citizen should carefully read Mr. Howard's communication on the third page of this paper.

Buy what you want from our home merchants, advises the Fort Myers Press. If they happen not to have it in stock, get them to order it for you, and quit sending off your money to those "mail order" houses. If you give your home merchant all your trade he will then be in a position to keep a better stock. If you send away to Montgomery Ward & Co., or Sears, Roebuck & Co. for their "shoddy" stuff, he cannot afford to carry the stock he wants to. Buy at home by all means.

We missed the Sanford Herald's "Macaroni Delta" items last week. Bro. Holly should not dispose of his Sanford humorist. The items are too true to nature to be omitted.—De-Land Record.

Alright, Bro. Prevatl, "Hayrube" is still contributing his witty country correspondence to THE HERALD, and we hope to have "Macaroni Delta" represented each week hereafter.

Every one who returns home after a visit to the north, speaks of Bryan's election as a foregone conclusion.

"The Devil in Sanford" played to a large audience at the opera house Wednesday night. John Whitehead in the title role gave the audience a touch of Satanic philosophy that was appreciated. He was entitled to better support in the cast, as the play was much "too heavy" for some of the other members to portray yet the play was thoroughly enjoyed, and Sanford can now rest easy since "The Devil" has come and gone.

Notice to Residents and Property Owners

The city has purchased a sufficient of numbers to supply all, and Mr. Davis will tack these on all houses at a price stipulated by the building committee. BUILDING COMMITTEE.

DEATH OF M. A. SPEER

Popular Citizen Passes Away After Short Illness

M. A. Speer, one of the best known and most popular young business men of Sanford died last Friday after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Speer had been very low for several days and his many friends were hoping against hope that he could rally sufficiently to pass the crisis, but such was not ordained by a higher power, and this young man so full of promise was cut down ere he had reached the thirty-second milestone.

The serious illness and death of Mr. Speer was made more pathetic from the fact that his loving wife and two children were ill at the same time.

Friends and relatives gave the stricken family every care and devoted attention, and while the father was taken, the Lord, in his infinite mercy, has spared the mother and children, and they are recovering slowly.

The funeral services of Mr. Speer occurred last Sunday at the Methodist church conducted by Rev. D. B. Sweat.

His friends were anxious to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory, and the church was crowded, many standing in the aisles and vestibules. The Masons, of which he was a prominent member, attended in a body, having entire charge of the services at the grave. The machinists also turned out in a body to show their respect to the memory of their friend. He was for many years a machinist, employed in the shops of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, and was still a member of the International Machinists' Association.

The pallbearers, selected from the Masons, were as follows: Alex. M. B. Singleton, E. W. A. Brissett and B. H. Herndon. L. R. Phillips was marshal of the day, W. M. Lovell, worshipful master, and C. R. Walker, chaplain. The funeral arrangements were in charge of F. L. Miller, junior member of the firm of T. J. Miller & Son.

The floral offerings were some of the most beautiful ever seen here. A beautiful offering in the shape of the square and compass, the Masonic emblem, was presented by Lodge No. 62, F. & A. M., another was from E. Shephard of Birmingham, Ala. Many smaller offerings of rare beauty were among the collection. The procession was fully a half mile in length. At the cemetery the beautiful and impressive Masonic service was held.

Mr. Speer was a native of this section, born and reared in Sanford. He was identified with the place from childhood, through the thirty-one years of his earthly life. He had been in the grocery business the past year and enjoyed the respect and esteem of everyone with whom he came in contact.

Card of Thanks

The wife, mother and sisters of the late Milton A. Speer wish to express their heartfelt thanks to all the kind friends who so kindly assisted in ministering to him in his sickness, and sympathized with us in our sad bereavement.

KINDERGARTEN WILL OPEN

Location of School Room Has Been Changed

Sanford can now be assured of a first-class kindergarten school, and the parents will be able to send the little tots in the mornings with a feeling of security that they will be in the best of hands and receive the same care and attention as they would at home. Mrs. R. C. Maxwell and Miss Mell Whitner will have charge of the school, and it will be located in the Sunday school room of the Baptist church instead of the old school building as first planned. The change was necessary on account of the great number of pupils, the enrollment being about eighty, at present. The little tots can be assured of better accommodations in their new location, and being isolated from the first grade scholars, the teachers can give their entire time to the real work of the kindergarten methods.

The school will open next Monday morning at 9 o'clock, and the terms will be $2 per month for one, or $3 per month for two children.

Should Use the Big Stick.

One of our citizens who does not live a thousand miles from The Herald office is nursing a badly sprained big toe, the result of a mid-night seizure with a large rat which wandered uninvited into his domicile Sunday night. Our friend attempted to kick his rodent visitor with his bare-foot, but missing the soft body of the rat, his toe came violently in contact with the hard wall. He has been trying to "suppress the story" but neglected to swear the cook to secrecy, hence we have the story. Ah, J. H., next time do not seek to murder a rat with your big toe, go at him with a big stick, a la Teddy.

SANFORD FOR STRAWBERRIES

It Will Soon Become Famous as a Berry Center

Sanford growers have great faith in the fertility of their soil and coupled with the great system of sub-irrigation in which Sanford leads the world, there is no crop in the fruit and vegetable line but what can be grown at a good profit in the vicinity of this city.

Our growers have long contemplated the growing of strawberries and this year will witness between twenty and thirty acres planted in the great crop of strawberries. J. B. Gay of Riverton, who has demonstrated his knowledge of strawberries by making a success of them, was in the city this week on a visit to J. N. Whitner, and while here visited several places where strawberries are growing. Mr. Whitner is very enthusiastic over the strawberry venture and was anxious to have an expert grower view the crop and express an opinion.

Mr. Gay was interviewed by a Herald scribe before his departure for home, and said that never in his life had he seen such a fine prospect for a good berry crop as the fields near Sanford now present. In his opinion they can be grown easier and shipped better from Sanford than from any other point in Florida.

He expects to return to Sanford during the shipping season and will lend valuable assistance in demonstrating the best method of packing and shipping this crop.

Thus, again, Sanford bids fair to become famous as a great center for the growing of strawberries, a crop that will appeal to the man of small capital, and next season there will be a number of growers embark in this profitable business.

Sanford Band Concert

The famous Sanford Band will deliver one of their sacred concerts in the Park pavilion on tomorrow afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock.

These concerts are looked forward to with much interest as our band has gained quite a reputation, being composed of a body of trained musicians. Our city has one of the finest parks and band pavilions in the state, and there are plenty of seats to accommodate the people. Everyone is cordially invited to attend the concert tomorrow. Following is the program:

1. Billy-Medley, march and two-step... Barrow
2. Sincerity-Overture... Barnard
3. Ida Pella... Kipley
4. Evening-Serenade... Kipley
5. Tryphena Waltzes... Morris
6. Cuppers-in Parade-March and two-step... Clement
7. Pastime on the Yukon—Medley overture... Cover

Came With the Birth of The Herald

The spirit of organization seems to have come to the surface in Sanford with the birth of The Herald. No less than four notices of incorporation appear in that paper, and while business men generally are combining their strength for better profits or more economy, which means the same thing, workmen are dragging along in the same old rut, half organized and half starved.

An automobile and two rubber-tired buggies were seen on our streets yesterday. Preacher Goodbelcher is putting new underpinning under the northeast corner of his summer kitchen.

Miss Pansy Sldebottom of Bungalow Corners, is here visiting old Lem Bixler's two girls. Miss Pansy is much afflicted with freckles.

Bicycle riding is becoming quite a fad with our up-to-date young people, and we wouldn't be much surprised to see roller skating going on before winter sets in.

The Slusher family had a reunion last week and forty Slushers, big and little, were quite visible to the naked eye. Grandma Slusher, who is eighty years old, and weighs 200 pounds, rode to church on the Slusher trotter straddle, and looked quite cute.

Much hilarity prevailed in town for a while yesterday. Jim Peters, who wears a wooden leg, sent over to Orlando for a pair of trousers and to have one leg cut off above the knee. He put 'em on for the first time last night to wear to a Newlight social, and when he got 'em on he found the fool tailor had cut off the wrong leg, and the bosom of his pants was on behind and the basement before. Of course, Jim's family was submerged with chagrin.

Philo Corkins come over from Bungalow yesterday to visit his cousin, Gabe Spooner, and while here he assisted Gabe in weaning a six-months-old calf. Philo is a handy relative to have around.

Demetrine Atwater has writ a play entitled "The Cruel Driver, or the Mule's Revenge." Lyeurgus Dollarhide, Cleopatra Smoot and Desdemona Smithers and old Jim Pettingill's mule are all in the cast.

We understand that plans have been made for a new five-room European-plan boarding house in Enterprise. It will be called the Hotel de Smoot, and have a hot and cold water bath tub in the kitchen and two folding beds in the parlor.

Buck Sweezy, who joined the Acaron church last week, has announced that he will sell one of his fox dogs and donate the money to educate the heathen. It is thought that other converts like Buck will loosen up and help swell the fund in the interest of the ignorant and debased people of Europe and Africa.

Lib Mustard, society and horse editor of the Bangstarter, has been invited by the Colloquial Dames society to deliver her lecture on the life and habits of the tapeworm at their next meeting.

Col. Jim Pepper and his family from Sourmash Center, Ky., are here visiting the Horkenspit family. The Peppers belong to the smart set up there and the girls are spicy talkers and full of ginger.

Reuben Blue, our enterprising collar button and shoestring merchant, has erected a new counter and has added cracker jack and ginger pop to his large stock of merchandise. A few years ago Reuben was a poor man.

Them Devilish Bixler boys sneaked into Sister Eph Bunker's back yard last night while her washing was on the line and stuffed her union underwear full of sawdust, and as Mrs. Bunker weighs 285 lbs the underwear presented a very ridiculous if not scandalous appearance.

Punk Jones has become the steady company of Skinny Jane Slocum. Guess the old folks are willin', all right, all right.

Bess McJones, a Kentucky cousin of Cuspedora Horkenspit, has been here a week visiting her uncle Bill Horkenspit's family. Bess is highly cultured and wears tan low cut shoes and a merry widow hat and speaks the Kentucky language quite fluently.

Seth Gulliver's wife, while in great anger, called Bill a bald headed old lobster, and Seth may go home to his father and sue for divorce and alimony. When will women learn that a loving husband driven to desperation, will resort to the cold red-eyed law for redress.

Gil Soper planted his second wife last week. Next!

Ras Funkhouser has had new breeching fitted to his buggy harness.

Miranda Holcomb is said to be engaged to a Chicago soap drummer.

Baldy Corkins and his tallow-faced sister Liz are learning to ride the festive bike.

Seth Baumgardner is being treated by a botanical doctor for a shiftless and sluggish liver.

The Blizzard twins yelled all last night with colicky pains. Their little stomachs were much distended.

Doc Reed has prescribed porous plaster underwear for church picnics on account of the pestiferous red bug.

Some beans are being shipped to southern markets from McIntosh.

Fall vegetables are being received at DeLand, most of which come from Enterprise.

The DeLand orange crop for this season is estimated at between 130,000 and 150,000 boxes.

The pineapple acreage around Punta Gorda is being increased by the setting out of 18,000 red Spanish plants from Caxambas.

Wm. Fields and J. W. Coleman, who own the Austin grove near DeLand, expect to have between 7,000 and 8,000 boxes of fruit.

The crop of the Whidden grove, near Alligator Creek, is being picked. It will be packed at and shipped from Wauchula. The crop is estimated at 5,000 boxes.

C. E. Chambers, of St. Petersburg, is marketing his second crop of Red Bliss apples this January 1. Growers down there say there is no reason why they should not get three crops a year.

At a meeting of the Truckers' Association, at St. Petersburg last week, letters were read from about 25 commission houses, saying they would handle the truck from that section on a special commission basis.

It begins to look as if this would be Plant City's banner strawberry year. The crop prospects were never better than at present, and the man who has the berries in will be the man with the cash in his pocket later on, is the opinion of the Plant City Courier.

Advices from Sanford are that celery farmers are busy with their seed beds and the recent rains have not prevented the planting to any great extent. Many of the beds are sprouting and several growers have plants about ready to transplant. Celery conditions were never better. Cauliflower and lettuce plants are looking fine and promise a good crop.

At Kissimmee City the packing houses are being made ready to start shipping fruit about the middle of October. While the crop is somewhat short the fruit is unusually fine, and the growers are loth to part with it at the low prices at present offered by the buyers. Not a single sale of fruit has been heard of, though there have been several out-of-town buyers looking at the crop. N. Y. Produce News.

Mistaken Courtesy.

A guileless rustic who wished to be employed on an English railway emerged from the examination room and informed his expectant father that he had failed because he was color blind.

"But you can't have!" said his father. "You're no more color blind than I am."

"I know that, feyther," he replied. "but it's all through bein' polite."

"What do you mean? Explain yourself."

"Well, feyther, I went into a room, and a chap held somethin' up for me to look at. 'This is green, isn't it?' he says. 'Come, now, you're positive it's green?' quite pleading-like, and though I could see plain enough that it was red, I couldn't find it in my heart to tell him so. So I agreed with him, and they bundled me out. No more perillence for me. It don't pay."

SOWING THE SEED.
Some are sowing the seed of word and deed,
Which the cold know not nor the careless heed,
Of the gentle word and the kindly deed
That hath blessed the earth in its sorest need.
Sweet will the harvest be,
And some are sowing the seed of path,
Of dire remorse and a maddened brain,
And the stars shall fall and the sun shall wane
Ere they root the weeds from the soil again.
Dark will the harvest be.

All Right Either Way.
General Dabney H. Maury tells in his "Recollections of a Virginian" of an old lady in Fredericksburg who was reduced to taking in boarders in order to make both ends meet. On one occasion of peculiar stress the larder was so empty that the good lady took to her bed and summoned her servant. "Nanny," she said, "there's nothing in the house for my boarders to eat except mush. But give them that. If they are Christians they will accept it in resignation and thankfulness, and if they are not Christians it is a deal too good for them."

Lamarine's Modesty.
Lamarine in 1848 was at the acme of his glory and a cabinet minister. He had just contributed "La Marsaille de la Paix" to the Revue des Deux-Mondes, and Bulwer, the editor, called on him at the ministry. "I believe I owe you 2,000 francs. Here is the money," said Lamarine, producing a bundle of bank notes.

"Eray dednet the amount of the Revue's indebtedness to you for your poem," said the editor.

"I meant to make you a present of it," rejoined the poet.

"Not at all, I insist upon paying you."

"How much?"

"Your own price, whatever it may be."

"Ah, well, if you will have it so I must oblige you," said Lamarine, and, with a magnificent gesture, he swept up the whole bundle of notes representing the 2,000 francs and restored them, with solemn dignity, to his pocket.

Grew Some.
A keeper in a zoo was feeding the pythons. Several live rabbits were tossed into the cage and were immediately and greedily seized by the reptiles. The struggling rabbits, although seemingly almost as large as the snakes, were swallowed whole one after another. The grisly sight prompted the scholarly looking man to exclaim: "Growsome, eh, keeper?"

The keeper turned a glance of scorn upon the professor: "Yass, and you'd 'n' grew some, too, if you'd e't all that live stock, I guess."

A Parting Shot.
Two young persons had been engaged, had quarreled, but were too proud to "make up." Furthermore, both were anxious to have it believed they had entirely forgotten each other.

One day the young man called, ostensibly on business with her father, on which occasion it chanced she should answer the doorbell.

The young man was game. "Pardon me," he said, with the politest of bows—"Miss Eaton, I believe, is your father in?"

"I am sorry to say he is not," the young woman responded without the slightest sign of recognition. "Do you wish to see him personally?"

"Yes," replied the young man as he turned to go down the steps.

"I beg your pardon," called out the young woman as he reached the lowest step, "but who shall I say called?"

Effects of Reason.
Reason, like the magnetic influence imparted to iron, gives to matter properties and powers which it possessed not before, but without extending its bulk, augmenting its weight or altering its organization. Like that to which I have compared it, it is visible only by its efforts and perceptible only by its operations.—Caleb C. Colton.

Fleeing From Fate.

An English village rector while walking out one day noticed an old man in front of him hobbling along as fast as his legs could carry him and apparently trying to escape him. Seeing that it was one of his congregation, who had not been to church of late, the vicar hurried after him.

"Hello, John!" said he. "How is it that I haven't seen you at church lately?"

At first the rector could get nothing out of him, but after a little persuasion he said:

"Well, zir, it be your youngest darter, Nelly, I be afeared of."

"What! Afeard of Nelly, a girl of nineteen and only just returned from school?"

"Yes, zir. You see," replied John. "when I went a-cortin' an old forchin teller told me as 'ow I should be spliced three times, first to a black an' then to a yeller an' then to a ginger. Now, when I buried my poor yeller Sally three months ago an' your darter w' the ginger 'air comed 'ome from school I says to myself, 'I says 'That's 'er. That's the one, 'cos 'er 'air don't keep away from church she'll nab me.'"

In a Bad Way.

The English spoken by the "Pennsylvania Dutch," as the inhabitants of certain districts in the eastern part of the state are popularly known, affords some rare specimens of expression. A man who was passing a small house on the outskirts of "Sous Besseler"—that is the nearest possible spelling of the local pronunciation—heard the daughter of the family calling her brother in to supper. "George," she said, "you come right in now. Pa's on the table, and ma's half et!"

A Careful Man.

When Dawson reached town he was suddenly seized with a terrible tooth-ache, and he flew to a dentist. Investigation showed that the tooth was in such a condition that the only way to extract it comfortably was to put the patient under the influence of gas. Consequently Dawson threw himself back in the chair, and the tube was applied. He did not succumb any too readily, but in the course of time he was sleeping peacefully, and the offending molar was removed.

"How much, doctor?" asked the patient after the ordeal was over.

"Ten dollars," said the dentist, business being dull.

"Ten dollars!" roared Dawson.

"Yes, sir," said the dentist. "It was an unusually hard job getting that tooth out, and you required twice the ordinary amount of gas."

"Humph!" ejaculated Dawson as he paid up. "Here's your money, but I tell you right now the next time I take gas from you you've got to put a meter on me."—Harper's Weekly.

"Ours."

Today a woman's property is sacred—at any rate as sacred as a man's. A certain host remarked before his guests lately that he would send his motor to the station to meet So-and-so.

"Our motor," corrected the hostess, who wants tone.

As the lady had actually bought the motor, the correction was severe and rankled. Next morning the host came down very late to breakfast. He was chaffed about this and explained: "I'm sorry. The fact is I mislaid our trousers."

Schoolmates.

A conductor sent a new brakeman to put some tramps off the train. They were riding in a box car. The brakeman dropped into the car and said, "Where are you fellows going?" "To Atchison." "Well, you can't go to Atchison on this train, so get off."

"You get!" came the reply. And as the new brakeman was looking into the business end of a gun he took the advice given him and "got." He went back to the caboose, and the conductor asked him if he had put the fellows off. "No," he answered. "I did not have the heart to put them off. They want to go to Atchison, and, besides, they are old schoolmates of mine."

The conductor used some strong language and then said he would put them off himself. He went over to the car and met with the same experience as the brakeman. When he got back to the caboose the brakeman said, "Well, did you put them off?" "Naw; they're schoolmates of mine too."

An Unfortunate Participle.
A college professor who preferred the participle "gotten" to "got" telegraphed to his wife: "Have gotten tickets for the theater tonight. Meet me there."

The telegraph operator rendered this into "Have got ten tickets," etc.

Mrs. Professor was delighted with the opportunity of entertaining her friends and accordingly made up a party of eight besides herself, whose greetings to the professor at the rendezvous were probably more cordial than his feeling until matters were explained. He now makes an exception to his customary use of "gotten."

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Items of Interest Concerning Society People.

POINTS PURELY PERSONAL

How Celery City Vanity Fair While Away the Golden Hours—Social Gossip.

No Sympathy Seekers

"Of course I know that I am poor," said a very popular, although an impecunious society woman, "but, somehow or other, I cannot feel poor." "That is the reason you are such a success," commented her friend. "Mrs. Multimillions said the other day that you were the only woman she knew who did not bore her with your troubles, and that was the reason she liked you so much."

Those who are not well off, as a rule, make their straightened circumstances too obvious, and people who have lost money are seen the world when they are ready, no reason why they should do so. They take a back seat, and of course are not urged to come forward, but if they had remained in the front no one would have questioned their right to be there. It is not necessary to spend much or entertain in order to maintain a position once you have attained it. All you have to do is to be agreeable, and not let society see that you are worried. Society is good-natured if you do not exact sympathy, and is disposed to be friendly to its members who have suffered reverses if they are plucky and cheerful about it, and continue to go about.

Of course, if people are morbid and avoid their former associates, the latter cannot be expected to hunt them up; but if they lose their friends it is, in nine cases out of ten, more the fault of the people themselves than of their former associates. Vanity Fair has no time to look after those who fall by the wayside, but people make a mistake in thinking she ostracises her citizens simply because they are poor. It is the concomitants of poverty that she objects to—the shabbiness, the low spirits; and, above all, the pride which apes humility, which is more boring than anything else. —ADELE.

The Club Season at Hand

With the near approach of the winter months, and the long evenings, the various women's clubs awaken and begin to take on a spirit of rejuvenation. The Parents' Club will soon hold its first meeting of the new year, and the newly organized Social Club will speedily get down to business and add much to Celery City social life, while the various dancing and card clubs are already on the qui vive.

The Wednesday Club, which is the oldest of the women's clubs in this city, and which is renowned for its intellectuality and the seriousness of its discussions and deliberations, has formulated a most interesting programme for the twenty-six sessions to be held this season. The first assembly will be held on the second Wednesday in November, which is the 11th. Then the president will make an inaugural address and the members will relate incidents of Summer's Outing. The principal number will be a paper by Mrs. George L. Maris on the "Accession and Reign of George III." Throughout the season the club will discuss English history "From the accession of George III, 1760."

The Wednesday Club was established in 1894, and its present officers are: Mrs. Lucien R. Phillips, president; Mrs. Geo. L. Maris, vice-president; Mrs. A. M. Thrasher, honorary vice-president; Mrs. B. F. Whitner, jr., secretary and treasurer.

A Birthday Party

Last Monday was the birthday anniversary of Miss Nora Amick, and the occasion was most fittingly celebrated with a party given in the evening to her gay friends. The evening was made happy with vocal and instrumental music and social games. A dainty course of refreshments was served, and Miss Amick was the recipient of many beautiful tokens from her friends. Those present were:

Ladies' Social Club

The ladies of Sanford, recognizing the need of more social features to while away the golden hours during the coming winter season, formed a permanent organization at the Sanford House yesterday, with twenty-five charter members present. The following officers were elected:

Mrs. Forest Lake, president; Mrs. B. F. Whitner, vice-president; Mrs. Samuel-Puleston, secretary; Mrs. John Dickens, treasurer.

The following board of managers were elected: Mrs. DeForrest, chairman; Miss Charlotte Keeler, Mrs. H. P. Driver, Mrs. Cruse Barnes and Mrs. G. S. Derry.

The Social Club proposes to hold regular meetings at the Sanford House, temporarily, although a club house will be arranged for at an early date, in which many social features will take place during the season. The Social Club should prove a success, and will do much toward advancing Sanford as a social center.

BEST HOTEL SERVICE IN FLORIDA

Traveling Salesman Speaks Highly of Sanford House

A well known traveling salesman who lives in Jacksonville and makes a tour of the state from Jacksonville to Miami, was in the city one day this week and remarked to one of our merchants that "the Sanford House was the only hotel on his route that deserved the name of a hotel."

This is certainly a strong recommendation for Sanford's famous hostelry, and demonstrates that the excellent cuisine and accommodations furnished under the able management of Harry P. Driver are being appreciated.

It is a well known fact that traveling salesmen are well able to judge the merits of a hotel, and their opinion is prized highly by the proprietors of first-class hostelries.

The Sanford House is not a winter hotel, although especial efforts are made to attract the tourists to make it their headquarters. Mr. Driver has made it a year-round hotel and the good service is kept up to the standard at all times, thus insuring the traveling public real hotel accommodations all the year. The Sanford House this year will have the largest tourist trade in the history of the city, and already Mr. Driver has booked a number of tourists for the season. SANFORD is rapidly growing a reputation as an educational center and the enrollment this year of over 400 pupils as against last year's enrollment of 265 shows the remarkable growth of Sanford and the confidence placed in the school by the people living in the Celery Delta. Much of the success of the Sanford High School is due to the able management of the School Board and the efficient work of Prof. N. J. Perkins and his able assistants. The rank of the High School has been raised to that of a State Senior High School and thus claims a share of the State's special appropriation for these institutions. Thus the Sanford High School is keeping pace with the growth of the city and is gaining fame throughout the State as a temple of learning second to none.

THE NEW RAILROAD

First Shovel of Dirt Thrown Last Monday Morning

IT OPENS UP A RICH SECTION

The New Road Offers Great Promise To Growers and Sanford People Generally

Monday and Tuesday of this week marked an epoch in the history of Sanford, for on those days the real work on the Sanford & Everglades Railroad was commenced. For many weeks past the papers have been full of notes about this new road and the survey work taking place, but this week the reality was forced upon the people when the work of grading actually began. All day Monday and Tuesday large parties drove out or walked out to view this most important start in Sanford's march of progress.

The right of way starts from the connection of the Oveido branch of the A. C. L., near Park avenue, and crosses Sanford avenue near the Close place, taking a southeast course through the celery delta and the richest farming country in the entire south.

Men and teams are as busy as bees breaking the ground and filling in, and preceded by an efficient corps of engineers under the supervision of Chief Engineer Ginn, the work is being rushed through, the company expecting to have the first five miles ready for cars the first day of February.

Leaving outside the great benefits to be derived by the celery growers and the people of Sanford, this new road, after leaving the celery delta, will traverse some of the richest timber tracts in Florida, and the right of way to the southern end of Florida will do much toward opening up this vast region which for years has laid idle, only awaiting the advent of the steel rails to awaken it into life and civilization.

After the completion of the first five miles through the celery delta, the Sanford Traction Co., which has already obtained a charter from the city, will connect with the railroad and build a traction road through the streets of Sanford, thus giving the people within a radius of five miles on each side of the city a chance to market their crops and ship direct from their farms.

It will also prove a great boon to owners of suburban property, as they can reside some distance from the business center and still transact business in the city proper.

In fact, there is no end to the possibilities or great benefits to be derived from the Sanford & Everglades Railroad and the Sanford Traction Co., and only the future can unfold Sanford of after years. The traction company will co-operate

A. C. L. SURGEONS MEET HERE

About One Hundred Came Up The St. Johns River

The fourth annual meeting of the Association of Surgeons of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company convened in Jacksonville, Tuesday morning. There were about one hundred of the members present from points throughout the great railroad system.

The first session was held in the Board of Trade building in Jacksonville at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and 3:30 in the afternoon the association boarded the Clyde Line steamer City of Jacksonville for a trip up the St. Johns river to Sanford, arriving here at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The wives and daughters of many of the members made the trip also. During the trip a session of the association was held at which the following program was given:

Surgical indications for the operation of Gastro-enterostomy, Dr. John E. Boyd, Jacksonville, Fla.; The treatment of certain fractures, and results, Dr. S. T. Carswell, Citra, Fla.; Solution hydrogen dioxide, Dr. E. Blackhearn, High Springs, Fla.; The railroad trespasser, Dr. Lucien Loftin, Emporia, Va.; A simple system of draining the gall-tracts, Dr. E. Dickinson, Wilson, N.C.; papers (titles not announced); reports of cases.

This gathering of surgeons of this popular railroad system annually is a source of pleasure to the members of the association, and each year surgeons from all over the system gather in profitable reunion, and this year was no exception to the rule.

The trip up the river was an innovation and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

While in this city they were guests of the Sanford House, and were driven about the city and through the celery delta, leaving on the afternoon train for Jacksonville. Many of the members expressed great pleasure at viewing the famous celery fields, of which they had heard so much, and for an inspection of which the trip was in part planned.

New Line of Steamers
The Sanford and Geneva Steamboat Co. has organized in shipping circles, and the new company will operate a daily steamer between Sanford and Lake Harney. C. L. Pagenhart is general manager of the new company and has recently added the new steamer Alligator to the line. This will give the Lake Harney section an opportunity to ship their fruits and vegetables, and will mean another industry for Sanford, making this the central shipping point for the lake region.

The new steamship line will make special provisions for carrying passengers, and this beautiful trip through the lake region should be quite popular among the tourists.

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

On the theory that justice should be the foundation of law, Judge Gordon of the criminal court of Pinellas county last week set aside a jury's verdict of guilty and discharged the prisoners—Robert McNamee and Emilio Garcia—charged with aggravated assault on the editor of a Cuban paper in Tampa. The editor has left the country.

Hon. B. E. McClain, commissioner of agriculture, was in Ocala, having arrived Friday from Alachua county, where he has been looking over the state convict camps of Dutton & Co. He is well pleased with the manner in which the convicts are being handled by the various lessees over the state at present. He had intended making a more extended tour of the state, but urgent business called him back to Tallahassee.

Attorney E. W. Davis was recently sent a box of guavas by a friend and sent a negro boy to the depot for them. On the negro's return to the house without them, Mr. Davis inquired why he did not bring them. "Boss, dey ain't dere." Mr. Davis phoned and was informed that they were there. The negro went again, but soon returned and said, "Boss, dar is er box down dar fer yo', but whatever is in it is sho dead."—Tavares Herald.

Jacksonville Times-Union: All the newspapers of the country raising money for the Bryan and Kern campaign fund have been able to send in only about $100,000 to the national campaign headquarters. This is not nearly enough for the expenses of a country-wide campaign. Consequently, another urgent call has been sent out for funds. The question is, "Shall the democracy allow this election to go by default? What may be done is shown by the success of the two gentlemen of Tampa who raised $250 in a few days, canvassing only the business section of that city for the fund. They expect to secure much more money before they cease.

The citizens of Mount Dora, together with some of those of the surrounding villages, met on the 14th inst. and organized a branch of the Florida Orange Growers' Association, for the purpose of assisting in the distribution and marketing of the Florida orange crop.

Christina Kelly, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, was shot and instantly killed at Fernandina, October 17th, by Bernard Cons, 14 years old, while the children were at play at the Cons home.

Mr. John Eastman, wife and six children, traveling in a typical up-country wagon, passed through Waycross, Ga., October 17th, en route from West Virginia to Lake City, Fla., having been on the road since July 23. Mr. Eastman said he was making the change on account of his wife's health, and that he would settle near Lake City.

F. M. Brown, the hotel proprietor at Silver Springs, charged with robbing the postoffice at that place, came into notoriety October 17 by attempting to commit suicide. A few days ago Brown was arrested and confessed to the charges of robbing the postoffice on two different occasions. He was brought before the United States commissioners and required to give bond for $1,500.

Jerry Crowley, a prominent young merchant of Lake City, committed suicide last Friday by taking laudanum. Brooding over the death of his wife is supposed to have been the cause of the suicide.
