

PRESIDENT WILSON SAYS PEOPLE MUST REQUEST CESSATION OF THE WAR

DOES NOT FAVOR POPES PLAN FOR PEACE AT THIS TIME

President Wilson has again risen to the occasion and demonstrated that he is the greatest American of modern ages. He has no faith in the promises of the military rulers of Germany and Austria and will treat for peace only through the people of Germany when the time comes for peace and he makes it plain in his note that the time is not now. He answers to proposals of the Pope in a manner that leaves no room for doubt and it should spell the doom of the militarists of all the world.

The President says that while every heart got blinded and hardened by the terrible war must be touched by the moving appeal of His Holiness, it would be folly to take the path of peace he points out if it does not in fact lead to the goal he proposes.

To deal with such a power as the present rulers of Germany upon Pope Benedict's plan, declares the President would involve a recuperation of the strength and renewal of the world domination policy of that power, now balked but not defeated after sweeping a continent with the blood of innocent women and children and the helpless poor, as well as of soldiers.

Permanent peace must be based upon the faith of all the peoples and upon justice and fairness and the common rights of mankind, he adds, and we cannot take the word of the present rulers of Germany as a guarantee of anything that is to endure, unless explicitly supported by such conclusive evidence of the will and purpose of the German people themselves as the other peoples of the world would be justified in accepting.

Governor Was Absent Tallahassee, Aug. 29.—Members of Volusia County Board of County Commissioners, their attorney, Judge Bert Fish, a number of their friends, as well as those who came to ask for their removal, left Tallahassee this afternoon, after being informed that the hearing would have to be postponed as the governor was not expected to be in Tallahassee until Monday, next.

He is in Jacksonville now and was there yesterday, when the hearing here, to which the Volusia commissioners were summoned, was to have been held. The executive has engagements for Friday, Saturday and Sunday that will keep him away from the capital.

This is the same hearing to which County Commissioner Chris. Codrington of DeLand was summoned but declined to attend because, he said in a letter to the governor, the trip would be too expensive.

DAY OF FASTING AND PRAYER FOR PEACE IS NAMED

Governor Heads Appeal of the Wesley Bible Class of Ft. Myers

Heading the appeal of the Wesley Bible Class of Fort Myers that a day be appointed as a day of fasting and prayer for peace, Governor Sidney J. Catts has decided favorably and has issued a proclamation to that effect. The governor's letter to Mrs. F. W. Sadler of Ft. Myers under date of August 17th, and the proclamation under date of August 18th, follows:

Tallahassee, Aug. 17, 1917.

Mrs. F. W. Sadler, Fort Myers, Florida:

Dear Madam—I note that you ask me to appoint Sept. 3rd, as a day of fasting and prayer. Since I answered your former letter, I have received so many requests for this day to be one of fasting and prayer that I have decided to do so. I will have a proclamation issued to this effect at once.

Yours very truly, Sidney J. Catts, Governor.

State of Florida, Executive Office, By the Governor, a proclamation: Whereas, it has been suggested to the Governor by the Wesley Bible

Class of Fort Myers, Fla., that Labor Day, Sept. 3rd, 1917, be generally observed throughout the state as a day of fasting and prayer for peace.

Now, therefore, I, Sidney J. Catts, Governor of the State of Florida by virtue of the authority vested in me by law do hereby proclaim Labor Day, Monday, September 3rd, 1917, as a special day of prayer for victory for our flag, and peace and request all churches and organizations of Christian men and women, regardless of nationalities or policies, who believe God answers prayer to join in observing September 3rd, 1917, Labor Day, as a day of fasting and prayer that God will bring peace to the warring nations.

"Any church or organization desiring to join with them will please write some member of the following committee: Mrs. Jennie Morley, teacher; Mrs. Julia K. Matheson, president; Miss Ethel Dupont, secretary.

"In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Florida to be affixed at Tallahassee, the capital, this 18th day of August, A. D. 1917.

(Signed) Sidney J. Catts, Governor.

By the Governor attest: H. Clay Crawford, Secretary of State.

ORLANDO WANTS MARLOWE

Neighboring City Recognizes Good Points of Our Active Secretary

The Sanford Board of Trade has a good secretary. Maybe we do not know it but Orlando knows it and the fact that they want him at an increased salary is proof sufficient that he is a good one and we are glad that they have so recognized his talents. He was called there last week and tendered the position but Mr. Marlowe is looking at other points of the compass and while salary is a great lodestone with all of us Marlowe thinks there are other things in life as well as money and he feels that his work here is only begun and he would be doing Sanford an injustice to quit at this time and take another position just for the money; and the better position. At a meeting of the board of governors last night the following resolutions were passed:

Whereas, We learn that our secretary, Mr. D. C. Marlowe has been tendered a position with another trade body and

Whereas, he has reaffirmed his faith in the future of Sanford and Seminole county, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we the board of governors of the Sanford Board of Trade wish to express our appreciation of his efficient, faithful services as our secretary and our desire that he remain with us if he can possibly do so, and further

Resolved that we pledge him our earnest cooperation should he elect to remain as the secretary of the Sanford Board of Trade.

AUXILIARY DIRECTORS MEET HERE

WELL KNOWN NEWSPAPER MEN HAD BUSINESS MEETING

The Publishers Auxiliary to the Florida Press Association had a director's meeting in this city yesterday at three o'clock and there was so much interest taken in the meeting that they were forced to stay until after the dinner hour, at which time they were the guests of the Board of Trade at the Hotel Carnes. Those present were President Harry Brown of St. Augustine Record, Vice President W. M. Haynes, Sanford Herald, Secretary Goode Querry of the Howey Tribune and Treasurer Chris Codrington of the DeLand News and Executive Agent Gilbert Leach of the Leesburg Commercial.

The directors accomplished much that will be of real benefit to the members and these meetings at the call of the president will be held often enough to keep up with the press of business that the directors have cut out for themselves. The Auxiliary is the working unit of the press association and will accomplish much for the benefit of the members in cooperative action along all lines. While the meeting was in progress yesterday afternoon the ladies were taken for a ride over the city and the farming section by the courtesy of Mayor Davison. They were Mrs. C. O. Codrington, Mrs. Rowland of DeLand, Mrs. Gilbert Leach and Miss Gaines and Master Gilbert Leach of Leesburg, and Mrs. Holly and her sister, Mrs. Jackson of Tampa accompanied them on the trip.

The visitors were entertained at dinner last night at six o'clock at the Hotel Carnes where an elegant menu was served by Miss Host Carnes and after the repast much wit and repartee passed away the time until the guests were forced to depart.

This was strictly a business meeting and the members did not want any entertainment but the Board of Trade was there as usual with Secretary Marlowe looking after our guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ward are in the city for a few days from their summer home at Daytona Beach.

THE RUSSIANS MUST FIGHT FOR COUNTRY

AGITATORS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR COUNTRY'S COLLAPSE

Will Russia stick? That is the all absorbing topic of all the countries that are now engaged in the world struggle and it is especially important to America for if Russia goes to pieces it will make our task more difficult and stupendous. Latest reports from the eastern front state that the Russians are being driven back and losing valuable territory everywhere while the leaders are in council at Moscow endeavoring to bring the thick skulled anarchists and agitators to reason.

At the third general sitting of the general conference, Mr. Froloff, of the engineers' alliance reported that there existed a state of utter disorganization of transportation which unless improved would cause transportation to cease completely by November. The representatives gave warning that the consequences would be terrible both at home and abroad and that the army might turn on the people at home and commit unheard of excesses. The demands of the railway workers, the speakers said, played an important part in this disorganization. They called on all those engaged in the transport service to sacrifice personal interests for those of the country. M. Grusenburg, speaking as the representative of the Jews said they loved their country notwithstanding their unprecedented persecution under the old regime and had contributed greatly to emancipation of the people and the defense against the enemy.

Representatives of the Ukrainians and of western or White Russia, said the people were ready to make many sacrifices for the good of the country. The spokesman for the Letts said Germany would never belong to Germany. Delegates representing the Musselmans said they supported the provisional government.

Gen. Grouzinoff, former military governor told the conference the chief military objective was to save Russia from Germany, and to this end it was necessary to eliminate agitators, strengthen the authority of the leaders, eliminate the powers of soldiers' committee in economic functions and give the commander in

SANFORD CITY SCHOOLS OPENS MONDAY MORNING ATTENDANCE DESIRED

PARENTS ARE REQUESTED TO HAVE CHILDREN READY THAT DAY

The Sanford city schools will open next Monday morning, September 3rd, for the school term of 1917-18 and every parent is earnestly requested to have the children present on opening day as it is very important for the pupil and teacher to meet on opening day. There are many very important matters the first day of school that are necessary to be gone into and while the opening this year is a few weeks earlier than usual it is hoped that there will be no delays occasioned by the absence of any of the pupils. The supervising principal, J. F. McKinnon and many of the faculty have been busy with the local school board, the county school board and the county superintendent getting ready for opening day and a large attendance is expected. The faculty of the schools will meet for organization tomorrow at nine o'clock and many matters of importance to the teachers and pupils will be discussed and it is thought that despite the war clouds that hover over the nation this will be one of the most important and one of the best school years in the history of Sanford schools. The various buildings have been improved in every way and opening day will find everything in place and perfect order for the pupils to start the school year right. The parents and patrons of the schools are earnestly requested to be present on opening day and stimulate the faculty by your interest in educational matters and demonstrate that their work is of sufficient importance to exact your appearance at the various schools.

The general maintained that after the declaration of the rights of soldiers all respect towards leaders disappeared, the officers becoming veritable martyrs and having to pay dearly for the offensive of Aug. 1 and the subsequent retreat. The general cited some remarkable illustrations of this. On one occasion, he said when an attack was being launched the forces which advanced was made up to 28 officers, 20 non-commissioned officers and two soldiers. All the others looked on coldly while these heroes perished.

The general declared it would be impossible to carry on the war to a victorious conclusion unless the strongest possible efforts were made by the provisional government and by the troops themselves to reanimate and regenerate the army.

Returns to Her Home

Miss Jessye Ryder, the attractive granddaughter of Mrs. C. W. Speer will return to her home in Columbus, Ga., after several weeks' visit in Florida. She has been delightfully entertained in Sanford as the guest of friends and relatives. Miss Ryder spent several days very pleasantly at Daytona Beach, also several days at Orlando as the guest of her cousin, Miss Ionia Speer, where she was eagerly sought after and royally entertained. Miss Speer accompanied her to Sanford, where she has spent the past week. Many social events have been given in their honor. Miss Speer will return to her home in Orlando Saturday, where she will resume her studies in the St. Joseph's Academy.

Wilmote Returns

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wilmote returned yesterday from an extended business trip throughout the northern cities covering several weeks. They were accompanied home by Miss Carter, who will be with them at the French Shop this winter. Mrs. McLaughlin, another member of their party is still in New York but will return to Sanford next week.

Cities Change Hands

The Orange County Citizen will pass into new hands today. For seven years, except for a brief time, C. E. Howard has been owner and editor. During this time friend and foe alike have received decent and fair treatment.

The proprietor has never used the paper for political preferment, nor as a weapon against anybody who antagonized him.

For the present he will write editorials for the paper and thus not be entirely out of touch.

Mr. Author G. Ivey, for several years news man on the Morning Sentinel and for some time editor of the Winter Park Post in the new owner.

He is a reliable, hard working young journalist, well known to all and we commend him to our patrons and subscribers.—Orange Citizen.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis and son, Harry have returned from a few days visit to Daytona Beach.

Marlowe Is Scoutmaster

Along with his other multitudinous duties Secretary Marlowe of the Sanford Board of Trade has taken the position of Scoutmaster of the Boy Scouts and is proving to be a good one. He demonstrated his fitness as a commanding officer by taking the boys over to Daytona Beach and spending several days there, the boys doing their own cooking and otherwise acting as real Boy Scouts should while on duty.

On Thursday evening the guests from Sanford at the boys' camp at the beach were Mrs. D. C. Marlowe, Mrs. W. M. Lovell, Mrs. E. A. Douglas, Miss Virginia Brady, Miss Ruth MacDaniel and Lawrence MacDaniel.

The boys enjoying the outing were Reuben Mason, Watson McAlexander, Gall McAlexander, Edward Moyo, Gall Lovell, John Musson, Max Bradbury, Miller Brothoford, Peyton Fortson, Henry McLaughlin.

Congregational Church Program

"A Sermon for Labor Day" will be the theme Sunday morning, Sept. 3, in the evening, "The Man Born Blind."

The following musical program will be given in the morning: "Prelude," "Gavotte Pastorale," "Shackley Anthem," "The Lord is My Shepherd," "Packard," "Offertory," "A Dream," "Bartlett," Postlude, "Festival Postlude," "Use Selfert. The special numbers of the evening will be: "Prelude," "Annette et Lubin," "Ang. Durand; Anthem," "Depth of Mercy," "Voss Allan; Offertory, Mrs. Julius Talbach," "The Lord is My Rock," "L. A. Coerns; Postlude, "March Solennelle," Alphonso Mally.

Gov. Catts sends Seth Woodruff of Orlando a letter in which he says he hears his enemies have a plot to get him out of the state and then impeach him. Almost any lawyer in Tallahassee would have told the governor offhand that such a thing would be impossible. The only way to impeach him without his being present would be for him to commit a felony which would cause him to flee from the state, in which case impeachment would be needless.—Ocala Star.

THIS IS A GREAT COTTON SECTION

RAISED HERE IN EARLY DAYS BROUGHT GOOD RETURNS

The Jacksonville Times-Union has something to say about cotton growing in south Florida:

"It is only recently that cotton-growing has been tried in south Florida, but high prices have tempted several experimental cotton farms in territory where cotton was never before grown."

South Florida has not been interested in cotton heretofore, because of the time it takes to make a crop; but with the price up like it has been for a year or two, the farmers see an opportunity to diversify and still make money."

The above needs to be modified so far as some parts of south Florida are concerned.

Within the past two years a splendid and profitable crop of cotton was grown for several seasons at Apopka, Orange county.

Shortly after the freeze in '98 sufficient crops of corn were grown around about Orlando, to keep a cotton gin going at Macey's factory.

Thirty-three years ago the writer bought a tract of land near Pinecastle that for many years previously yielded a bale of cotton to the acre, without fertilization.

Howard's "Early Settlers of Orange County" records the fact that during the 60's, during the war Captain B. M. Sims had a plantation of fifty acres on South Apopka and raised cotton and corn, 2,000 pounds of cotton being his annual crop."

The same authority states that "when Mr. W. B. Hull of Orlando returned from the war in July, '65, a fellow warrior and he with the aid of a blind horse grew a cotton crop of 1600 pounds which brought $1,550 and that the following year he received $900 for his crop, the price having dropped to fifty cents per pound."

This book also reports that a few years previous to 1865 a little colony of wealthy men settled South Apopka region and with a hundred negroes cleared up several hundred acres of rich hammock land for the raising of Sea Island cotton, but the war coming on, most of the negroes, being freed, left the country.

Thus it will be seen that cotton was a paying crop in south Florida from the earliest times to a comparatively later period.

"It has not been interested," as the T-U. says, "because of the time to make a crop," which at the present prevailing prices did not pay. Partly this and because the price of labor in this section made it prohibitive.

If the price should go to a dollar a pound, as it was right after the civil war, even cotton with labor high and the crop time long cotton will again come into its own in this section; particularly Sea Island, or long staple cotton, of which this is the natural home.

BY DOCTOR'S ORDERS

By GEORGE BREWSTER.

"In fact, become a tramp for at least a month," concluded the doctor. Young Wayne Gilbert had carried out an enterprise in real estate that had taken nerve and hard work, and at its conclusion he found himself shaky. His appetite was gone, he had a touch of insomnia, and every acquaintance he met gave him the same advice:

"Go to a doctor and then follow his advice."

The doctor advised a tramp over country highways.

"Take little or no money," he continued. "In fact, look like a tramp, feel like a tramp and be a tramp for the time being."

Mr. Gilbert left the office sneering at the advice given him, but after a day or two he came to look at it in a different light.

Oh, yes, there is romance in tramping, and when it is recommended by a doctor, his advice should be followed. Young Gilbert came to take this view of it after a couple of days, and set forth.

One summer's afternoon a girl of twenty and her mother and aunt sat on the veranda of a farmhouse fronting on a prominent highway.

The girl was reading—the others were sewing. Of a sudden the reader laid aside her book, rose, and shaded her eyes to look down the road.

"Looking for anybody, Dora?" queried the mother.

"It's a tramp coming, I guess."

"But don't you encourage him to come in here," protested the aunt. "I dreamed the other night that a tramp to whom I was kind rewarded me by cutting my throat, and I don't want it to prove a true dream."

"Dora always pities every tramp that comes along," apologized the mother.

At the Lyric Monday

"But she shouldn't. Every tramp is ready to rob and murder. Is he going to stop here, Dora?"

"He is sitting down to rest. I believe he is ill."

That tramp was Wayne Gilbert. He had given the doctor's prescription a fair trial, and he was more than ready to abandon it. While limping along he had been overcome with dizziness and realized that he was going to be ill. He sat on the grass with his back to the fence when a girl suddenly appeared before him.

"Are you ill?" she asked.

"I fear I am going to be," he answered.

"You—you don't look like most of the tramps that come along here."

"Because I am not a tramp. I have been walking the highways by a doctor's advice. I have money and papers that will identify me. I am going to try to reach the railroad. If I can't do it—"

And the world whirled around him and he fainted away.

The mother and aunt came running down in response to Miss Dora's cries, and a farmer who had been to town stopped his team.

"We must get him to the house," said the girl.

"If you do, I'll leave it!" exclaimed the aunt, who was a visitor there.

"We had better get this farmer to take him to town, word he can be cared for," whispered the mother.

"We shall do no such thing! He shall be cared for in our own house. He is not a tramp. He told me that he had money and papers."

The patient was put to bed, and it was the opinion of the doctor that he would have to stay there a couple of weeks. In reply to the query as to whether he thought the young man a tramp, he laughingly replied:

"Not any more than I am. The chances are that he lives in a city, and was recommended by a doctor, to try tramping to build himself up."

Miss Dora searched the clothing and found money and papers. She and her father and mother were satisfied.

As was to have been expected, the fever was much higher the next morning, but the doctor was not worried.

"We'll break it up in three or four days," he said to Miss Dora, "and then you will come in with your chicken soup and kind words and help him to get well. Last night I telegraphed to some of the addresses given in his papers, and the replies say that he is a fine young man, and charge me to give him every attention. He will be my patient and your hero."

"But, heroes come with steed and sword and lance, don't they?" she laughed.

"Not always. I have known them to be stumbled over in the blackberry bushes. The lad doesn't look much like a hero now, but give him a chance."

It was two weeks before Wayne could sit on the veranda, and a careful nurse sat with him. It was only when he was able to walk in the orchard that the aunt said to her sister:

"Josephine, I believe those two are in love."

"So do I," was replied.

"You do!"

"Yes, and so does John."

"And what are you going to do about it?"

"Nothing."

"Well, I am."

And she walked out and gave Mr. Gilbert her hand and said:

"My brother-in-law, Jake Sharp, says I've made a fool of myself, and if you'll forgive me, I'll be your aunt by marriage any time you and Dora say the word."

Lucky Sanford! Catts chooses Orlando.

Governor Catts calls Frank Clark a cheap politician. Well, such a charge cannot be laid on our governor.

There is a town on the map called Orlando is the title of the latest song by J. Fred DeBerry.

When the people come to elect their congressman and senators again they will elect the men who are for the people and politics will play but a small part in the election.

Edwin Lambright, the shining light of the Tampa Tribune has been made postmaster of Tampa.

Sanford is the natural headquarters for a big tanning and preserve works and we are overlooking a good bet when we stand idly by and let other cities get the cream of this business.

The majority of the leading men of this city are specialists—meaning that they specialize on their own business and never take a part in the public affairs of Sanford.

That long distance debate between Governor Catts and Congressman Clark is getting tiresome. We suggest that both of these belligerents be placed in a ten foot room for the night and the best man walk out the next morning.

Our old friend, W. S. Branch who is Orlando correspondent for the Times-Union says that a Jacksonville policeman remarked that "all the d—n fools either came from Sanford or Tallahassee." Maybe so, maybe so, brother. But none of them are migrating from Sanford to Orlando, although we hear that some of them have been invited to leave Tallahassee and reside in Orlando.

REAL UNION PRINCIPLES

The Artisan, a labor paper published in Jacksonville has the following trite paragraph at the mast head of the paper that speaks volumes for the laboring man who respects their unions and want to make them what they should be:

The Artisan hires no special advertising agents—does not care for "special edition managers" and has no time to lose with or over "get-rich-quick" advertising schemes or schemers.

One of the reasons for the existence of The Artisan is and was the desire to free the labor movement from the incubus of advertising grafters who misrepresent and despoil the movement while robbing merchants and advertisers.

The Artisan is a legitimate labor paper, serving a constituency that requires good service and it is not intended to be a meal ticket for anybody nor can it be used as such by any advertising (?) schemer. That should be plain enough for all to understand. Leave us alone.

KEEP KIDDIES IN SCHOOL.

United States Commissioner of Education, Claxton is waging a commendable campaign for the purpose of impressing upon parents the importance of keeping their children in school throughout the war period.

Commissioner Claxton calls attention to the fact that during the present school year and while the war continues there will be many unusual temptations for parents and guardians to keep their children out of school, making it difficult of efficiency. He emphasizes the fact that it is of the highest importance to maintain the efficiency of the schools at such a time, for the benefit of the nation as well as of the individual pupil.

Those who have the educational interests of the children of America at heart will heed this important call, thereby preventing temporary demoralization among the youth of the land. Slacking in school attendance should not be tolerated any more than slacking in army service.

NEWSPAPER SHOULD PROSPER

"A newspaper that is not a successful institution is a dangerous proposition. Only the paper that isn't prospering as a commercial proposition is to be feared in a community. So it is a blessed thing that a newspaper is operated for profit and that its profit comes from its successful operation."

These two excerpts from a long editorial printed in the Columbus, Ohio, Democrat state a great truth and a truth that it behooves all citizens who value the welfare of their community to study and realize.

This is peculiarly applicable to Florida newspapers and Florida communities and we have instances in many towns to show the truth of the statement made. We have proof that the prosperous newspapers are the builders and developers and leaders. We have the converse in several towns where support is meagre and the newspapers are struggling for weekly bread and a little slice of bacon. In these towns we see newspapers with tendencies to tear down and destroy. It is all that is left to them. Editors with empty purses and empty stomachs are like all other humans whose purses and larders are empty. Of such are the recruits to the ranks that fix the red flag of anarchy and preach the I. W. doctrine and of such are the recruits to the ranks of the backbiters and the violent pessimists. Social rights and property rights mean nothing to a hungry man who repeatedly has been refused food on every hand, nor does a drowning man regard the life of one who is trying to rescue him. Feed the hungry man and see how soon the precepts of civilization lay hold upon him and make a man of him again. Draw the drowning man from the water, resuscitate him and see how readily he accepts the efforts of the one who rescued him.

The newspaper is to a great extent a public institution but too often the citizens of a community forget that all public institutions must be supported and that they fulfill their destiny only to the extent their support makes possible. Too often the idealism ground that a public institution is self-supporting and that it is to be ridden hard without thought of compensation. That is the theory; that wrecked many a promising newspaper just as it has wrecked public libraries and boards of trade and other public institutions.

There is only one way for a community to have a real newspaper—do not ride it, but support it. When it is prosperous, support it all the more, for it is then only that it can do its best work. And remember always that others judge a town by the newspaper it supports.

This is not a plea for support for the Commercial. Thanks to the support we are given, we are willing for Leesburg to be judged by its newspaper—and others tell us they agree. But it does apply elsewhere.—Leesburg Commercial.

COOPERATIVE NEWSPAPER WORK

Florida has a reputation—and a well earned one it is, too—of possessing the best daily and weekly newspapers of any state in the union, population considered.

No state in the Union has newspapers that have shown more self-sacrificing loyalty or that have been more able and enthusiastic exponent's of the state's resources than has Florida.

To the newspapers of this state can be given the lion's share of credit for the wonderful strides that have been made in the march of progress during the last twenty years.

To the newspapers of the state must be given the credit of building our educational institutions to their present high plane; to the newspapers must be given the credit for the construction of hundreds of miles of the best roads in the south; to the newspapers must be given the credit for the millions of dollars in a system of as fine tourist hotels as can be found anywhere in the Union; to the newspapers must be given the credit for the improvement and development of millions of acres of idle lands that are now producing annually millions of dollars in income. In fact, there has been no great development work of any character carried out within the state but must credit its success to the publicity donated by the loyal press of the state.

The organization at Orlando last Saturday by a strong business auxiliary to the Florida Press Association means that in the future the best newspapers of the state will cooperate in community work. It means that where the newspaper of a community has heretofore been going it alone in its efforts to promote the welfare of that community, it will now have the assistance of every newspaper in the newly formed auxiliary. In other words, a strong company of newspapers will be engaged in a battle that has heretofore been waged by the individual.

To be successful in this work, these newspapers must have the loyal support of the communities in which they are published. An unsuccessful newspaper cannot carry on a successful development campaign. It is burden rather than an asset to the community. It should be patronized, not from a standpoint of charity but for the benefit you will receive in return. Be loyal to your newspaper and your newspaper will be loyal to you.—Manatee Banner.

RAISE MEN IN KENTUCKY

132 MEN CALLED. ALL PASSED, NO EXEMPTIONS, ALL GO TO WAR.

They are still raising men in Larue county, Kentucky, where Abraham Lincoln was born. Not a single man there failed to pass the physical examination or claimed exemption from the National Army draft for any cause and the county's record is perfect up to date. Larue county's quota for the National Army was 132 men. Exactly 132 men were examined and every one proved satisfactory from both the physical and patriotic standpoint. They were all frank, lean and lively, just like Lincoln, and all willing to fight that "Government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

It appears from the records in the office of District Board No. 1 of the western district of Kentucky, in session here that everybody called in Larue county answered without delay and that all made good. It is presumed that a double quota was summoned for examination, as ordered, but the second batch of 132 men had their trouble for nothing. It seems that if 132 were needed to defend the country, and the government goes to Lincoln's old home to get them, it is only necessary to summon just that number of men. The records received by the district board show that married men were included in the list of accepted registrants. They also show that none of the married men from Larue county objected to being included.

The district board is greatly overworked; the members have twenty-four counties to look after, and it was only yesterday that they reached Larue. When they reached Larue and took a good look at the documents laid before them they ceased working and began wondering. And they wondered till supper time—that is, Chairman Stanley E. Sloss and Secretary Peter J. Campbell wondered, for the rest of the board had knocked off work for the day about thirty minutes before. Messrs. Sloss and Campbell were so absolutely, completely and totally non-plussed that they had no more work left in them.

This is what they saw in the documents before them:

One list of 132 names each one the name of a soldier, the serial numbers besides each name coming in exactly the order in which they were drawn out of the glass globe in Washington.

Mr. Sloss looked at the documents and passed them over to Mr. Campbell; Mr. Campbell looked at them, rubbed his eyes and passed them back to Mr. Sloss. Then looked at them together and concluded there was no mistake.

Chairman Sloss, after recovering from his surprise, dictated a letter to the draft board in Larue county asking if a mistake had been made. He said everybody knew Larue would do her duty, and more, but it was hard to believe any county on earth could hang up such a record. After signing the letter, he and Mr. Campbell began to study about the matter.

"Well, it looks impossible, but it looks right," Mr. Sloss said. "I don't see any chance here for a mistake of any kind. If the numbers did not come serially, I would say that some men have been rejected or exempted, but the numbers do not come serially. The first is No. 253, which was the first number drawn. The second is the second number and so on down the line. There is not a missing number; they are there just as they were drawn in Washington; every man drafted was examined, every one passed the physical examination and every one was accepted as a soldier."

When Abraham Lincoln was in the White House and asked for soldiers they came from all parts of the country singing "We are coming, Father Abraham, 500,000 strong." Lincoln is not in the White House now, but Woodrow Wilson is. Woodrow Wilson made the last call for soldiers, and when the call reached Lincoln's home the men all stood in line and answered "here."

Town Slouch On His Trip

W. M. Glenn, editor of the Orlando Sentinel and originator of the blank-blankety-blank verses under the caption of the "Town Slouch" is taking his vacation and began his journey into the unknown by embarking on the boat here at Sanford. In the Sentinel he has the following: Somewhere in Seminole County, Aug. —, 19—

It was fine of Editor Holly to have his hand out for us—Haynes and himself—and to auspiciously hand us the keys to the city of Sanford. After an address of welcome and a tour through the Herold plant, Robert conducted us to the old safe discovered in the debris of the new Sanford P. O. Here we observed the old Holly jinx, that 1831, B. B. pennant which Sanford won, a dilapidated check book, a button and a small Indian tomahawk. We shivered at the thought of the early days when Sanford was a mere city. Robert then led us to the new white way posts "made in Orlando" and said it would not be long until His city led the state in the matter of illumination. Mr. B. remarked that Sanford had all possible advantages and with accelerated speed should grow rapidly to a population total of at least 6,500 people. This pleased Robt. very much and he passed the Sanford cigars. Robt asked us to recollect him to his many friends throughout the nation, and we passed on.

The River was still there and wet—it was raining. The old side kick str. Osceola blew up wheezing separately. The captain—brave Capt. L—, stood on the bridge with rain dripping all around him giving Herculean commands to his "black monkeys" far below. The captain reminded us a good deal of Carl Dann standing on his yacht, "Der Flossie" in Lake Conway. The capt. was glad to see us. Indeed after we had introduced ourselves he remembered us quite fluently and bade us come in out of the rain. This, of course, was impossible as it was as wet inside the Osceola as it was in the river. However Sanford enjoys a nice river trade. The amount of freight coming in via Clyde Line indicates plainly that the submarines on the river are not as active as they might be. Some day we hope to see a canal to Orlando via Winter Park.

Sanford was soon left behind—Bob Holly waving a last, fond farewell from the shore. With a sob we turned in to get something to eat.

Ups and Downs. "The problem which confronts the modern housewife," said the would-be philosopher, "is how to raise children and keep down the cost of doing so."

BIBLES FOR OUR TROOPS. Troops Urged by President to Read Scriptures Diligently.

Bibles for American soldiers and sailors, to be given by the Scripture Gift mission of Philadelphia, will carry a foreword by President Wilson urging the troops to read the Scriptures diligently. The president has written this inscription: "The Bible is the word of life. I beg that you will read it and find this out for yourselves—read, not little snatches here and there, but long passages that will really be the road to the heart of it. You will not only find it full of real men and women, but also of things you have wondered about and been troubled about all your life, as men have been always, and the more you read the more it will become plain to you what things are worth while and what are not; what things make men happy—loyalty, right dealing, speaking the truth, readiness to give everything for what they think their duty, and, most of all, the wish that they may have the real approval of the Christ, who gave everything for them, and the things that are guaranteed to make men unhappy—selfishness, covetousness, greed and everything he has to law and mean. When you have read the Bible you will know that it is the word of God, because you will have found it the key to your own heart, your own happiness and your own duty. WOODROW WILSON.

UMPIRING IS—WARI WE know that life is risky where the heavy cannons roar: On every road death's standing at the door: But we'd rather risk the fighting And the points and bullets' smiting Than to umpire a ball game between Boston and New York.

For the soldier has a bayonet, a pistol or a gun, And he has a chance for medals when his fighting day is done, But the umpire hasn't even got a rabbit's chance to run Just before his family starts to wearing mourning.

We know the war in Europe is a very dreadful thing: Not exactly what the bravest of us craves, But we'd rather risk the trenches And the blood of front line trenches Than to umpire a ball game for the Giants and the Braves.

For the soldier has a bayonet, a pistol or a gun, And he has a chance for medals when his fighting day is done, But the umpire hasn't even got a rabbit's chance to run Just before his family starts to wearing mourning.

ENGLISH TREAT PRISONERS WELL

Wounded of Both Sides Get Identical Food.

IT'S DIFFERENT IN GERMANY

Correspondent Allowed to Visit Base Hospital at the Front and Interview the Men—Plenty of Chicken to Eat, and Red Cross Nurses Give Same Care to One as to Another.

"Would you like to see the kitchen?" Inquired the officer commanding the British base hospital, some distance back of the line of fire in France. "Here we specially prepare the food for 2,000 men a day."

Inside there was a broad expanse of tables between the stoves and ovens and part of this level surface was covered by hundreds of little tin pans in which lay appetizing sections of brown, roasted chicken. But the royal medical corps officer was talking of something else. "I want to show you how we save all the fat scraps, boil them and pack the grease in barrels we send to England to make ammunition," writes E. Percy Noel in the New York Globe.

"All these delicious looking fowl, so nice and brown," I asked, "are for the British wounded, of course. You certainly do not give that sort of food to the Germans you have here?"

"Oh, yes!" he returned lightly. "There is no discrimination. The Germans get the same food and the same treatment as our own men." And he continued the explanation of the barrels of fat, how many a week, its use, its economy and all that. But I was fascinated by the thought—chicken for the German prisoners!

"There are several hundred German wounded here. Would you like to see some of the wards?" queried the officer.

Hospital Perfectly Clean. It was the typical ward of a British base hospital—immaculately clean from the floor to the bed coverlets; air, fresh and pure; a few flowers artfully arranged, and reposeful quiet. I spoke to the British Red Cross sister nursing.

"Sister," I said, "how do you like looking after Germans?" Now, she might have answered, "They are human beings, like our own boys, and my work in life is to care for sick and wounded," and so on. But she did not. What she said was, "They are very well disciplined." And by that I know that she admired the way these men behaved when in and out of the operating room, when dressings were changed, as well as through the long, long days while wounds healed—these men who had killed her brothers.

"Do you—do you speak German to them?" "Yes. It is necessary if we are to get them well."

One pale faced German soldier lay reading a German book, a leg suspended in a special splint. He had been years in New York and talked English almost perfectly.

"How are they treating you here?" I demanded. "Very well."

"Good nursing?" "They saved my life. Gangrene. Three days before I was picked up. "And the food, now that you are getting stronger?" "Good."

"Chicken?" "Yes, sir."

"Did you think that you'd get so much kindness on this side?" "Thought that I'd get fair treatment, but didn't expect it to be like this."

"Do German soldiers know that wounded or not, they will be treated well when taken by the British?" "Yes, I am sure they do."

"But not many of them surrender on that account?" "No."

The captain of another military hospital at the base was my neighbor at lunch that day. We were discussing languages, and he remarked he was glad he knew German, and did not intend to forget it. "In fact," he said, "I owe a great deal to it."

When I inquired why he told me that, thanks to his familiarity with German, he had been able to escape from a prison camp.

"You were captured early in the war?"

Different in Germany. "Yes. I was slightly wounded during our retreat, but enough to bleed into unconsciousness. The Germans picked me up. I was an officer in the Royal Army Medical corps then, as now."

"And how did they treat you?" "Badly. From the emergency hospital twelve of us, 'bitting cases', traveled three days and three nights in a third class compartment without medical attention of any kind. We were not once permitted to get out of the carriage during that time. The food that they offered us from time to time during the journey revolted me so that I ate none of it. But the most disagreeable feature of the journey, even compared to the filth of that carriage the third day, was the insults of the crowds at the railway stations. The people were allowed to come to our carriage windows, to curse us, spit on us, spit on us."

Sec. 3. That no motor truck or auto truck having a combined weight of truck and carrying capacity of two tons or more used for the transportation of goods, wares and merchandise, whether operated for hire, or for the personal use of the owner shall be run or operated upon or over any of the hard surfaced roads in the county of Seminole at a rate of speed greater than ten miles per hour.

Sec. 4. Sec. 9. That no vehicle shall be used or so loaded as to permit its load to be scattered over any of the hard surfaced roads or public highways of Seminole county in such a way as to be objectionable to traffic or detrimental to the road.

Sec. 10. That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to place on any part of the public highways of Seminole county any tacks, bottles, wire, glass, nails or other articles, except such substance as may be placed there by proper authority for the repair of construction thereof, which may damage or injure any person, vehicle or animal traveling along or upon said public highway.

Sec. 19. That any person or persons convicted of the violation of any of the terms and conditions of this act shall be fined not more than $250.00, or imprisoned not more than six months.

Sec. 20. That all laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(By the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

DAMAGE NOT CLAIMED.

I have seen prohibition achieved within twenty-four hours in a community of 400,000 without authorization from city, state or federal authorities, and maintained absolutely for nearly a month. The late General Funston made San Francisco, probably as bibulous a city as there is in the country, bone-dry immediately after the earthquake of 1906, and kept it in that unnatural state for three weeks. I do not think that General Funston's authority to put San Francisco arbitrarily upon the water wagon was ever questioned at the time or afterward, although he had no such authority in law. Perhaps one or two saloon owners did protest, but a protest delivered to a man with a Krag-Jorgensen rifle topped with a bayonet comes under the head of little futile things. The liquor thus confiscated and destroyed illegally was at one time valued at some sum in the millions, but those from whom it was taken never filed claims for damages.—W. O. McGeehan, in New York Tribune.

"CONSUMED" BUT NOT CONSUMED

Anticipating increased taxes, distillers have withdrawn large quantities of spirits from the government bond houses. This liquor is officially recorded as "withdrawn for consumption." Consequently the internal revenue reports show this year what the uninitiated believe to be "an alarming increase in drinking." The government reports do not explain that "consumption" in this case is technical, not actual; that the liquor goes into private warehouses to await the retail demand—a demand which is constantly decreasing.

CONVENTIONS CHOOSE DRY CITY.

It was predicted by the wets that Springfield, the dry capital of Illinois, would lose its popularity as a convention city. The prediction is proving false. Indeed, worth while conventions are steering clear of dripping wet Peoria and going to dry Springfield in order to escape any reductions upon the character of their membership.

THE LATEST WORD IN DRYNESS.

Some of the "bone-dry" states are now calling themselves "powder-dry." This expresses, we are told, "the ultimate extreme of dearth, peculiarly apt in view of the importance of alcohol in the manufacture of explosives."

MEANS TRAGEDY AT HOME.

The same actions of a drunken man that you are laughing at someone else is crying over.

Turns Eyes Inside Out.

The garden snail's eyes are on the very tips of a pair of very long tentacles and it has an additional pair of shorter tentacles with which it smells. When any danger approaches the eyes are drawn down within the tentacles and the tentacles themselves are pulled into the body in exactly the same way as you would pull a glove finger inside out.

NO SECOND DRAFT UNTIL THE SPRING

Men Called Now Will Fill Every Camp.

TRANSPORTATION IS TAXED

New Definition of Married Man's Status and That of Aliens is Matter to Be Worked Out Before Another Call Is Issued—Inequities of System to Be Shown by General Crowder.

There will be no second draft before next spring. This is the opinion of army officers in Washington who have been closely connected with the work of drafting the new army and preparing quarters for its training. Every available camp site will be crowded by the 387,000 men called in the first draft, according to these officers, and training and transportation facilities, they believe, will not permit the use of another force of men within the next six months.

General Crowder said the subject of a second draft never had been taken up with him as a possibility of the near future. General Crowder is preparing a complete report on the draft and making recommendations for possible future ones.

Inequities to Be Adjusted.
Inequities of an unavoidable nature will be shown in General Crowder's report. There probably will be some amended regulation based on experience with the first increment, and some amendments may be thought desirable by congress.

It is possible a provision will be made whereby all the sons of a family will not be taken. A new definition of the status of married men may be one of the things acted upon. President Wilson's recent letter to Senator Weeks is taken by many to indicate that a more liberal policy may be found desirable. At present actual dependency must be established to obtain exemption.

Another matter to be worked out is the status of aliens. Still another is the status of men who have passed beyond draft age since being drafted and that of those who have become of draft age in the meantime.

Preparations for mobilization of the first increment of recruits on Sept. 5 began with the receipt by the quartermaster general's corps of meal tickets for the men en route to their camps. Each is made out in triplicate and provides for meals, not to cost over 60 cents apiece. The local boards will issue these tickets to restaurants and boarding houses where the men take their meals after reporting for entrainment. In most cases the men will report from twelve to twenty-four hours in advance of entrainment.

Five Days For Transportation.
Five days will be allowed for transportation of New York's first 30 per cent to Camp Upton, at Yaphank, N. Y. They will be grouped so that a fifth of the men will arrive in camp on each of the five days, beginning Sept. 5. Once the men are on the trains their railroad fares and meal certificates will be turned over to a leader selected by each local board. This man will be responsible for the care of the group from his board.

Railroad officials will provide places where the men can eat or will furnish box lunches. The public is warned that vouchers the leaders will turn over for meals must be accepted when properly indorsed and are as good as cash when presented to the nearest army quartermaster, whose address will be stamped on each ticket.

The war department issued orders aimed toward economy in clothing allowances, and quartermasters are instructed to fill requisitions only for necessities. This will stop the former practice of giving soldiers upon enlistment an extra allowance of $2.05 in clothing.

When the men arrive in camp they will be examined by army surgeons and immediately be provided with uniforms. It is calculated supplies now being distributed will be sufficient to fit all the rookies in record time.

A Soldier's Song

To the valley of the shadow,
Whither Death was drawing me,
Came a hand whose touch meant comfort,
Came the hand of sympathy.

Through the endless round of moments,
Through the long, long course of pain,
Near that valley my soul hovered,
By that hand led back again.

That is all I can remember
Of the blackness of that night,
Round that patient hand of kindness
Memory sheds a glorious light.

When my night of illness ended
And my thoughts came back once more,
I lived o'er the day of battle,
Day of glory and of gore.

Wondering at the source of kindness,
Opened I my eyes to see;
Saw behind the hand unflinching,
Red Cross of humanity.

NO FRILLS ALLOWED IN CONSCRIPT KITS

War Department Specifies Scant Equipment—Ban Is Put on Trunks and Handbags.

Loving mothers, doting sweethearts and kind friends must not load drafted men up with a lot of clothes and comforts when they start to camp on Sept. 5, Provost Marshal General Crowder ruled.

The 200,000 boys entraining for cantonments on that date will be allowed to take very little. Trunks are absolutely barred. Suit cases and handbags will be frowned upon.

The war department prefers that each man bring only necessary toilet articles and one change of linen and underclothing, done up in a neat small bundle.

This is because strict attention will be given the military appearance of the boys from the moment they report at headquarters of their local boards.

The department wishes it understood, however, that it is as necessary that the boys bring the articles mentioned as it is that they bring nothing more.

Members of each man's local board will inspect his kit just before he entrains, rejecting everything that has no place therein and returning the surplus articles to his relatives.
"These men," said a draft official, "are not going on a vacation trip. They are going to study the business of war. They will be supplied with all the necessary clothing and equipment when they get to camp."

According to the regulations, any man can take a toothbrush, a piece of soap, a collapsible drinking cup, a towel, a few handkerchiefs, an extra shirt and collar, a suit of underwear and a pair of socks.

VENISON AS FOOD.

Protection of Deer Urged to Increase Supply of Meat.

While fifteen states will have no big game hunting this year because deer have been exterminated or because the stock has been so reduced that the season is closed, there are thirty-three other states, according to the United States department of agriculture, which will have an open season.

This season ranges from four days in New Jersey and six days in Massachusetts and Vermont to two months or more in some of the southern states. These seasons open in August in Oregon and in most parts of California; in September in the rest of California; in Idaho, South Carolina and Virginia; in October in Maine, New Hampshire, New York, Georgia, Montana, Wyoming, Washington, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico; in November in Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and several of the southern states and in December in Pennsylvania. In about one-third of the states the law allows the hunter one deer a year and in most others two.

The department of agriculture urges all persons to co-operate to secure the best possible protection of deer so as to get the maximum amount of venison as a source of meat. It is estimated that about 80,000 deer are killed legally in the United States each year. These produce nearly 10,000,000 pounds of venison. The biological survey of the United States department of agriculture says that this number of deer can be very largely increased, since only two or three states produce more than 10,000 deer a year and many less than 1,000.

On to Potsdam

[With due apologies to the late Bob Southey and the late John R. Thompson.]
[A Hamburg newspaper's correspondent who has seen Yankee troops in France writes that they "look like the sons of immigrants."]

Perishing has got
An excellent lot
Of immigrants' sons in his column;
They're happy and proud
To be shouting aloud
For Liberty's cause in a turbulent crowd;
And, with all this bold crew,
Nothing will do
While the fields are so green
And the sky is so blue
But to push on the columns to Potsdam.

In the camp you may hear
Every lingo in vogue—
The sweet German accent,
The rich Irish brogue,
And exiled combiners
For freedom at home;
Berlin's Forty-niners
Have grandsons that come,
And with all this bold crew
Nothing will do
While the fields are so green
And the sky so blue
But to push on the columns to Potsdam.

Let Schrecklichkeit tremble,
As free men assemble,
Poles, Irish, Hung, Jews,
Their seal cannot lag;
All one in their views
And under one flag,
For, with all Perishing's crew,
Nothing will do
While the fields are so green
And the sky so blue
But to push on the columns to Potsdam.
—J. A. in Brooklyn Eagle.

UNCLE SAM'S BIG FORCE.

Fighting Total Second Only to That of 1864-65.

More men are actually in service under the flag either as soldiers or sailors than at any time in the country's history, with the exception of the closing year of the civil war. The government gave out the exact number of men at present under arms as nearly as it can be compiled. It shows that 943,141 men are now in uniform. This does not include any of the 387,000 men of the national army. It is estimated that already 100,000 have been accepted and by reason of that fact are now part of the military forces of the United States.

In the months elapsed since the war began approximately 1,800,000 men have offered themselves for service in the nation's fighting forces, or in other words have volunteered. This includes all rejections for the army, navy and marine corps.

WAR EXCHANGE THREATENED

Germany and British Can't Agree on Port to Be Used.

A breakdown is threatened in the plan for the exchange of prisoners of war between Great Britain and Germany. The cause is Germany's insistence upon Southwold as the port of embarkation of German prisoners while the British authorities want Hull used.

Lord Newton suggested in the house of lords that the reason for the German attitude is a desire to keep up the pretense that the Southwold route is the only one open to traffic.

Draft Hurts Farmers.

Delegates to the middle western regional wheat and rye conference report a serious shortage of farm labor due to the draft. They will recommend to Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture, at whose suggestion the conference was held, that the government devise some method of drafting unemployed labor for work upon the farms.
