'Go Ahead' Given Lakefront Project

County Okays Extensive Road Program

By Paul Brookshire
The Seminole County Commission today adopted resolutions approving an extensive primary and secondary road improvement program for the county.

The board of commissioners met later in the day with State Road Department officials in DeLand to present the programs to the state.

No. 1 priority goes to the widening of State Road 46 (25th Street) from French to Mellonville Avenue to four lanes.

Eleven other primary projects were approved and 16 secondary projects.

In other action this morning the commissioners adopted new subdivision requirements on roads, clarifying and updating previous regulations.

County Engineer William Bush said they were necessary to get better road construction in subdivisions.

He described them as "not as tough" as state road regulations but in line with those in Orange County.

The new regulations will go into effect immediately and all contractors and developers will be notified of the new rules.

The commissioners also accepted a low bid from the Case Power and Equipment Company of Winter Park for two tractors one bid for a tractor, backhoe and loader, was for $5,800, and another for a tractor and mower was for $2,729.79. Five bids on the two items were opened.

The board denied a rezoning request for Hillside Estates in Altamonte Springs from R-1A to R-1. A petition was presented to the board objecting to the zoning request.

Commissioner Lawrence Swafford made the motion to deny the rezoning. It was indicated the zoning change was requested so horses could be stabled on property in the area.

Malcolm McClellan, representing the West Lake Brantley Civic Association, appeared before the commission to request the paving of the West Lake Brantley Road.

He brought a petition containing two pages of signatures to ask for the paving. McClellan said the road got in such bad condition at times that many automobiles using the road were badly damaged.

The commission turned the complaint over to Swafford to investigate.

Commissioner Chairman John Alexander said the request would be "given serious consideration."

County Agent Cecil Tucker also gave the commission a report on the county citrus groves. He said the fruit was sold for $3,036.70 with about 200 trees of Valencia left.

North Warmer Than Florida

The Pacific Northwest and New England states basked in more springlike temperatures today, separated by cold air from the Canadian prairies that chilled the Northern Plains with near-zero cold.

Snow flurries drifted through the upper Mississippi Valley but brought insignificant snowfall amounts.

Temperatures in New England started out warmer today than those in northern Florida where frost once again threatened citrus and truck farm crops.

Scattered light rain and snow fell in the eastern Dakotas to the Alleghenies in the face of the arctic front cold front that poured into the north central states.

'Army Of Indignant' 100 Guerrillas Faces Ala. Troopers

A buildup of forces in this semi-rural city in central Alabama continued through the night, aiming at one of the largest demonstrations in the South.

King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference headquarters said it was dispatching three chartered buses from Atlanta to Selma, bound for delegations from as far away as San Francisco, Chicago and Washington who flew in by plane.

A spokesman said indications were that close to 1,000 persons from all over the United States would be in Selma by early afternoon to bolster hundreds of Negroes already engaged in a seven-day civil rights drive.

At Montgomery heavy Viet Cong battalions attacked the camp with mortar and recoilless rifle fire.

Knowles, Burton To Draft Criteria

"Go-ahead" signal for development of the Lake Monroe waterfront development was given by the City Commission Monday evening after presentation of a planning outline by Seminole County Chamber of Commerce committee members.

John A. Burton IV, local architect and committee member, outlined a proposal to request marine and dredging contractors to submit bids for a landfill area of 15 acres and bulkheading in what he termed "specialized criteria type bidding."

Commission members directed Burton and City Manager W. E. Knowles to draft specifications and submit them to contractors, designers and engineers for bids.

These specifications would include the 15-acre landfill, the bulkheads and a marina with approximately 240 boat slips. Further development—such as restaurant, motel, boatel, recreation area, natorium, etc.—would be left to the bidders' imagination.

Knowles presented to the Commission a detailed study which would place the cost of the lakefront development at $795,231, as compared to the estimate of $1.7 million presented by Maurice Connell Associates in an initial report.

It was pointed out that the $795,231 cost would be covered in franchise fees, and would not require increased taxation.

"One of the first changes proposed," Knowles said, "is to relocate the site to a point opposite Palmetto Avenue so as to use this public right-of-way for direct access to the downtown business area. This eliminates the off-site expense of acquiring private property for the connection and reduces utility costs."

Knowles also proposed to reduce the initial number of wet berths to 176 and to substitute the growing practice of dry storage for other berths for a portion of the smaller size boats. . . . To reduce investment costs, this can be arranged on a ground lease to private capital.

He also proposed the marine supply and shopping center be moved into the landfill neck near the (Seminole) boulevard and to utilize parking lot No. 1 to supplement the reduced parking on the landfill area.

The city manager also stated city personnel can design, construct and operate "several items at less expense than any report proposes."

Commissioners instructed City Atty. William Hutchison to proceed with drafting proposed enabling legislation concerning ownership of the lake bottom and clarifying the city's title to off-shore land.

Knowles was instructed to have the city's fiscal agent draft financing plans for a $970,471 bond validation plan, including $795,000 for the waterfront development plan and $175,000 for future fire and recreation improvements in the city.

Those were the words of Naval airman James R. George, 23, of Atlanta, Ga., in testifying how six men ignored his pleas for help as he battled a howling gang of 15 to 20 youths trying to rape a 15-year-old girl they had pulled from a subway station platform.

George, his right eye swollen shut and his left eye puffed and discolored as evidence of the beating he took at the hands of the mob, testified at a hearing before County Judge Juanita Kidd Stout for eight boys, 15 to 17 years old, charged with the attack.

Cowboy-Drifter Found To Be 'Drowned' Man

NEWCASTLE, Wyo. (UPI)—He was just Clay Hollister, another in a line of cowboys who drift from job-to-job and don't really attract much attention.

But Hollister, the cowboy, was really someone else—33-year-old Norman H. Briggs, a Troy (N. Y.) insurance man who "drowned" in a reservoir near his home almost five years ago.

The fantastic story of Briggs, married and the father of two, and of Hollister, the drifter, was unfolded by his family in New York and friends in Newcastle.

Briggs, himself, had dropped out of sight, although it was believed he still was on the Kenneth Atkins ranch, a sprawling spread near this northeastern Wyoming community of 4,300.

The man known as Briggs disappeared near Troy July 17, 1960, after telling his wife, Gail, he was going skin-diving in the Tom-Hancock reservoir near Troy.

His boat, glasses and trousers were found in the water. There was no sign of the body.

His wife, who presumably collected $120,000 in insurance policies after his disappearance, obtained an annulment in Alabama and later remarried. An attorney said she planned to repay the money.

Briggs' two children, Charles, eight, and Barbara Jean, six, now are living with their stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Koenig of Wynantskill, N. Y.

Briggs—by new Hollister—was first noticed last summer while working as a surveyor in Colorado ski resort areas of the Rocky Mountains. He met a Denver school teacher—now Mrs. Hana Brucker of Aspen, Colo.—who became curious about his past.

"He told me he remembered coming out of a lake at one time," Mrs. Brucker said. That and other things aroused her suspicions and she finally traced Briggs through Cornell University where he went to school.

"He told me he worked in Salt Lake City and I think he said he's been in California," Mrs. Brucker said. "I think he was giving me clues right along."

Mrs. Brucker called Briggs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis W. Briggs, of Brunswick, N. Y., to tell them their son was alive.

"They were just completely stunned," she said. The elder Briggs couple decided to check out the story.

"When his father and brother first found him, he was hysterical and it took quite awhile before they got him quieted down," Mrs. Briggs, his mother said. "He was very upset and probably just ill."

She said once they were satisfied it was their son, they notified his wife and the state police. Briggs went home for two days last Thanksgiving.

Briggs—using the name Hollister—now was working on the Atkins ranch in Wyoming. Mrs. Robert Atkins, sister-in-law of the owner, said he was a "regular cowboy." He apparently had little trouble learning to ride a horse or picking up ranching skills.

Following a spaghetti supper served by Mrs. Dorothy Bass, lunchroom manager, and her staff, the Future Farmers and their guests viewed a movie, "Four Star Farmers," which depicted the four top Future Farmers in the United States.

Potential Alcoholics

NEW YORK (UPI)—There are more than 20 million potential alcoholics in the United States, according to a survey conducted by Dr. Harry J. Johnson, of the Life Extension Foundation. This, he said, is in addition to an estimated more than 10 million present drinkers who can be classified as alcoholics.

Warning signs of a potential alcoholic, Johnson said in an article in Coronet magazine, are: drinking of six ounces or more of alcohol daily on a regular basis; week-day consumption of alcohol equal to or in excess of weekend consumption; and pre-dinner cocktail breaks stretching into two-hour or longer sessions.

Local University Request Upped To $4.4 Million

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A revised list of multi-million dollar construction projects at Florida universities with new schools in Pensacola and Orange County at the top was on its way to the state budget director today.

The new list, ordered by Gov. Haydon Burns for the benefit of the two new legislative-approved schools which "would never get built otherwise," seeks $58 million in construction funds for the state university system during the coming biennium.

The revised list was submitted by Dr. J. Broward Culppeper, executive director of the State Board of Regents, which resigned en masse a week ago.

It includes $2.9 million in top-priority funds for the University of West Florida at Pensacola and $4,399,000 for the second school to be built in Orange County at the Seminole County line three miles south of Oviedo on SR 520.

The Governor and Cabinet recently recommended a total of $37.9 million in building funds for the universities throughout Florida during the coming biennium with $7 million allocated for east-central Florida and $5 million for the university at Pensacola.

The Board of Regents had inserted $2.9 million for west Florida and $4.3 million for east-central Florida after the first priorities for existing universities on the original construction list, but Governor Burns balked at the "shunting aside" of the two new schools.

The Governor has not appointed any successors to the board, but Culppeper said the old board had knowledge of the revised priorities although they did not get a chance to vote formally on them before the members quit.

The revised list was approved by the Council of University Presidents.

Puzzling Plaster Medallions

Sam's Fantastic Marble Palace

By Bruce Boleant

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The woman's face showed annoyance as she shuffled along the corridor. I asked her: "Are you lost?"

"Yes," she replied. "This building gives me a fit!"

She was deep in the subterranean layers of Washington's newest colossus, the white marble Rayburn building. About to become the official home of 169 U. S. congressmen, it's the costliest and perhaps the most controversial government edifice in the capital's history.

The woman lost at the sub-basement level has plenty of bewildered company as senior lawmakers and their staffs begin slowly filling the massive structure.

On my own thoroughgoing tour of the building, I lost my bearings several times. Once, strolling down a corridor, I encountered a man standing outside an office door. I barely glanced at him but he asked: "Trying to get out?" It was the obvious question.

With only a few dozen congressmen moved in, the halls today offer long, empty vistas. When bells ring to summon lawmakers to the House chamber, they have the lonesome sound of a telephone jangling in an empty apartment.

Plodding these passages, I had the eerie feeling that if I opened some door along the way, it might suddenly close behind me and leave me stranded in a lush underground apartment of the sort favored by James Bond's enemies.

In the weeks ahead, of course, much of this unfamiliarity and lonesomeness will pass. Human chatter will be steadily, rather than isolated, as now, in widely separated oases of life. Policemen won't have to walk the corridors with little hand charts telling who is where. Signs may appear.

Most of the offices presently occupied are along the building's northern side, commanding a superb view of the Capitol dome. It is a view, indeed, seldom enjoyed except in Washington offices depleted by Hollywood.

EDIFICE REX: This colossus of Capitol Hill, known as the Rayburn Office Building, may easily cost taxpayers $125 million.

Seniority dictated who got these choice spots, so this section already has been dubbed "Old Men's Row." It might as easily be called "Southern-erner's Row." Safe southern seats and seniority go together, and the name plates along the north corridors give you congressmen from Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, the Carolinas.

Despite mutterings about inadequate design, the three-room congressional suites seem sensibly arranged, built to high standard, decorated with good taste. Cabinets and files drawers are recessed in the walls. A tiny kitchen and two bathrooms are among the side features.

I found Rep. Herbert Bonner, North Carolina Democrat, a bit dazzled in his new setting, but totally convinced that a present-day congressman's immense workload justifies the luxuriant spaciousness.

A lawmaker for 24 years and an aide to a congressman for 15 years before that, Bonner could provide a little perspective:

"Back in 1925 we didn't have much to do. We got eight to ten letters a day. If a prominent visitor came to town, we'd close up the office and go sightseeing. Now if it's quiet we get 50 to 75 letters a day. If things are stirred up we get hundreds.

"It's the only job I know where the longer a man stays in it the more he has to do."

Perhaps few would quarrel with the lawmakers' need for great new working space. But some visitors to the Rayburn building may echo the businessman who, after seeing the Supreme Court building and several other imposing government structures, asked:

"Do we have to have all this MARBLE?"

If the late Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas were still alive, he would answer "yes." He oversaw nearly every significant detail of the building's design, including many of the changes which helped run the cost to an estimated $125 million (the new Senate office building finished in 1959 cost $23.5 million).

"Edifice Rex," as it is sometimes called, has 60 acres under roof. Aside from congressmen's offices, there are nine major committee rooms plus ample space for subcommittee offices. In the lower reaches are long rows of document storage rooms.

Other features include a maple-paneled gymnasium, a "stumber room" for tired lawmakers, whirlpool baths, a 60-foot-long swimming pool estimated by Fortune magazine to cost $500,000. The three-level underground garage holds 1,600 cars.

Since the building site drops 60 feet from east to west, the exposed eastern foundation has a heavy granite facing—much-criticized, giving rise to waspish descriptions like "Texas penitentiary." Six states provided the granite, though Georgia supplied most of the matching white marble.

One critic has said that the nine-story monument to Rayburn could only be defended militarily. In dire emergency it might well serve as a last redoubt, assuming a previous hit on the Pentagon.

Even when filled with brimming activity, the Rayburn may always remain something of a puzzle. A guard stationed at the entrance to the new tunnel running to the Capitol pointed to some plaster medallions of historic figures. Unlabeled, only a few, like George Washington, were recognizable. The guard commented:

"Who are they? Why are they here? Nobody explains . . . and that's the whole building!"

and treasurer's report was given by Jimmy Brown.

The association will furnish the beverage and provide roast turkey for the supper and those attending are asked to bring covered dishes to round out the menu. There will be no charge for the meal but donations will be accepted at the door. Front end "Geneva" auto tags will be on sale during the evening.

In other business of the meeting, the association voted to hire a custodian to clean the hall and grounds on a monthly basis.

Appointed as a telephone committee to keep members informed as to plans for meetings, were Mrs. Pearl Yarborough, Mrs. Henry Simpson and Don Atwood.

Those attending the Friday meeting went unanimously on record in praise of Yarborough, county commissioner for the district, backing the statement made by John Thomas that "Yarborough has had more improvements made in the area within the past few months than have been accomplished in the past 12 years."

Jury Deliberates Sentence For Husband Slayer

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI)—Authorities planned to file a guardianship petition in nearby Ontario Superior Court over custody of convicted husband-slayer Lucille Miller's children.

The court will be asked to decide who will assume responsibility for Debbie Miller, 14, and her brothers, Ronnie, 11, and Guy, 9.

Mrs. Miller, 35, who is expecting her fourth child in June, was convicted of first-degree murder in the fiery auto death last Oct. 8 of Dr. Gordon Miller, 39, a well-to-do dentist.

A jury of eight women and four men in the courtroom of Superior Judge Edward P. Fogg begins deliberating today on whether the attractive defendant should be sentenced to die in the gas chamber or go to prison for life. No pregnant woman has ever been sentenced to death in California.

The same jury deliberated four days before convicting the attractive housewife at her second trial.

The first trial was declared a mistrial last December by a judge who feared publicity given the case might have prejudiced a jury.

The prosecution claimed that Mrs. Miller drugged her husband and then set fire to the family car in nearby Montclair to collect double indemnity insurance worth about $140,000.

Post Office OK'd For Lake Mary, Chamber Learns

By Frances Wester

Four amendment changes to the by-laws were voted into effect at the regular monthly meeting of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night held in the Fire Hall.

The month for the nomination of officers was changed from March to May. The election of officers and their installation will be held in June instead of April. The offices of secretary and treasurer will be combined into one office. The month for the annual membership drive was changed to September.

Members also voted to have the Chamber go on record as being in favor of the extension of service by the telephone company to the southern end of the county for toll free dialing.

It was voted to continue sponsoring Boy Scout Troop 242 and to send out cards to Chamber members for extra contributions to help with their present needs of the troop, such as money for the charter and insurance. The troop now has a total of 45 members.

The Chamber voted to go on record as approving the building site on Second Street and Wilbur Avenue that was chosen for the new post office that has been approved for Lake Mary.

It was announced that the road project to secure the necessary rights-of-way on Lake Mary Boulevard to permit paving from Seventh Street to Interstate 4, prior to obtaining an interchange, is progressing very well. Only six more are needed before it will be completed.

The members were urged to get behind the Talent Show project and reminded that it is a fund raising drive. Tickets may be purchased from any member for the show to be held on March 20 in the Lake Mary School auditorium.

Rev. Durrance To Speak For Holy Cross

The Rev. Alfred L. Durrance will be the guest preacher at the regular Wednesday evening Lenten service at Holy Cross Episcopal Church Wednesday, in the church at 7:15 p.m.

Fr. Durrance was born in Jacksonville, graduated from High School in Miami, and received his degree from Alabama Polytechnic Institute. After working several years in the world, he returned to The Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest in Austin, Tex. where he received the Bachelor of Divinity Degree.

He has served as vicar of St. Luke's and St. Peter's Church in St. Cloud, and has been rector of Good Shepherd Episcopal Church in Maitland for the past two years. He is well known in this area for his concern and knowledge in the field of spiritual healing.

Visitors will be welcome at all Wednesday evening services. Some members of the parish are gathering at 6:30 each Wednesday evening for a covered dish supper before the service.

AARP Reserves Two Buses For Area Tour

By Mrs. John Leone

One full bus, and nearly all seats on a second, have been reserved for a tour by DeBarry Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons, to Busch Gardens in Tampa and Sunken Gardens in St. Petersburg, to be made Thursday, March 18.

Each bus has seating capacity for 38 persons, rest room and air conditioning. Remaining seats on the second bus are being reserved on a first come, first serve basis.

Buses will leave from DeBarry Fire House at 8 a.m. sharp with return expected to be by 6 p.m. Reservations remaining should be made with paid fare, to Harry Bell, 245 Linda Vista, DeBarry.

Choirsters Give Program In DeLand

By Mrs. John Leone

DeBarry Choirsters, under direction of Laura Platt Brown and sponsorship of the DeLand Tourist Club, presented a program at the DeLand High School.

Artists taking part in the program were Theresa Kuiper, Emily Armstrong, Robert N. McGee, Ruth Creasey, Louis LaChat, Charles Moore, Gertrude MacNaughton, Beatrice Muller, Isabel Rearick, George and Vera Gerling, Thelma Smith, Evelyn Dalck, Marie Vos, Caroline Little, Hazel Dentler, Lillian Park, Ruth Lovanna, Iva Goodson, Ruth Huestace, Marie Goodride, Marion Roberts, Tillie Boyer, Marguerite Fisher and Mable Green.

Disaster Net

DALLAS (UPI)—A new radio network gives 10 Dallas hospitals direct two-way contact 24 hours a day. The network would aid in channeling casualties in any major disaster.

Officials said the network would be a tremendous help since, during emergencies, hospital switchboards tend to get jammed.

Talented Groups Lined Up For Hootenanny

By Jane Casselberry

More talented acts have been lined up for the South Seminole Junior High School PTA Hootenanny to be held at the school auditorium in Casselberry at 8 p.m., Friday, March 26.

Mrs. C. L. Cooper, who co-ordinated last year's Hootenanny, is again serving in that capacity and hopes to make this one even more successful than the last.

One of the most charming groups to participate will be a group of pupils from the South Seminole Elementary School who will appear in costume to sing a group of Japanese folk songs under the direction of the music teacher, Miss Ann Wright.

"The Ramblers," a group which brought down the house last year, will be back featuring C. L. Cooper at the wash tub and guitar; Don Miller, drums; Gene Denmark, guitar and fiddle; and vocals by Mrs. Cooper and Miss Pat Halsay.

The well known "Trade Winds" from Lyman High School, folk singers, Bill Wharton, Terry Harmon and Jim Jarrard also will be back by popular request.

Mrs. Colleen Wiggins, local folk singer, plans to participate as do "The Equines," a rock 'n' roll group.

Tickets will be available at the PTA meeting Tuesday, from students, or at the door.

National Merit Tests Scheduled At Lyman High

By Jane Casselberry

The National Merit Scholarship qualifying test will be given at Lyman High School at 9 a.m., Saturday, for students who will complete high school in 1966 and enter college the same year. Since 1956, 9,100 students have received merit scholarships in the United States.

The extent of a winner's financial need determines the amount that can be received by high scorers on the examination. Participating students pay $1.50 fee, but any interested student unable to pay the fee should consult James Bowers, guidance counselor.

After receiving scores, students are able to make comparison with high school students across the country and to use this information in making educational and vocational plans. Thus a student can learn his educational strengths and weaknesses whether or not he or she plans to attend college.

Geneva Library Benefit Mar. 20

By JoAnn Hays

Henry A. Simpson, of Geneva, has donated to the Young Woman's Library League one of his "auto saftee switches" to be auctioned off to the highest bidder when the library sponsors a combination rummage sale, bake sale and auction on Saturday, March 20, in Geneva.

Simpson's own invention, the switch is made and distributed from Geneva Manufacturing Corporation. It has received reviews in the New York Times, in several of Florida's leading newspapers and will be subject of a feature article in Popular Mechanics within the next six months.

Proceeds from the auction, as well as those from the rummage and bake sales, will be used to equip and decorate a part of the library for use of pre-school children. The events will take place in the vacant lot between Geneva Grocery and the Church of Christ. Support of the public is invited.

AUTO SWITCH is presented by its inventor, Henry A. Simpson, of Geneva, to Mrs. Charles Hays, chairman of the Young Woman's Library League, to be sold at March 20 auction to benefit the new Geneva Public Library.

Death Of A Landmark

Say San Francisco is junking its cable cars. Say Chicago is draining Lake Michigan. Say Boston is banning beans. But don't say New York is closing Coney Island.

But it is all too true. Unless a miracle intervenes, Steeplechase Park, Coney Island's famed 25-acre amusement park that has drawn millions of fun-seekers to Brooklyn's Atlantic coast over the past 60 years, will not reopen this year.

Swimming pool and sea bathing facilities were abandoned last year. The closing of the park, due to declining business, virtually insures the eventual demise of whatever activities will remain at Coney Island.

Stark and still stands the thrilling parachute tower. Immobile and shrouded in gloom is "the world's largest Ferris wheel." Mournful is the cry of the lonely seagull.

The site will, however, make an excellent apartment house development.

Typing - Boon To Study

Any idea that may help children learn more, learn it faster and like it is worth looking into in this day of "exploding knowledge."

Back in 1959, three major universities—Columbia University Teachers College, Boston University and the University of Illinois—tested what effect typewriters might have on the educational achievement of elementary school students.

With a grant from a typewriter manufacturing firm (Royal), which provided manual portable machines, studies were conducted with 900 fourth and fifth grade pupils in 86 classrooms in seven cities. The results showed that the kids took to the typewriters eagerly, that the quality and quantity of their work improved and that their reading, spelling and vocabulary achievement was greater than that of pupils without typewriters.

A recent follow-up study of some of the children who were matched with a control group of nontyping children indicates that this generally superior achievement has been maintained over the past five years.

One surprising bonus that may allay the fears of traditionalists: Handwriting of the students actually improved because of the typing experiment.

Thought For Today

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

Scared Of Showdown

United Press International Railroad union leaders are running scared — terrified might not be too strong a word — from a showdown on the union shop.

Conservative senators and representatives should be aware of this foot race before President Johnson begins twisting arms to obtain repeal of section 14 B of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section permits states to outlaw the union shop.

Big labor has been trying for nearly 20 years to scuttle section 14 (B). During this period, 20 states legislated against the union shop. Indiana repealed its so-called right-to-work law during the current legislative session.

The opening for a union shop showdown was created by non-operating employees of the Southern Railway and affiliated lines. The Southern is on the shop.

The story began about 10 years ago when some Southern employees sued in Georgia courts to prevent their union shop leaders from spending union money to help elect political candidates whom the protesting employees opposed. The Georgia courts found the argument reasonable inasmuch as the protesting union shop employees were captive workers who had to belong to the union to keep their jobs.

The union leaders carried their case to the U. S. Supreme Court, with understandable confidence which was not wholly disappointed. The Supreme Court held that it was okay for the union to use dues money to support political candidates opposed by captive members. The court also held, however, that the unhappy captives could demand return of that portion of their dues money that had been diverted from union business to politics.

That did not sound very promising but it has turned out very well for the protesting employees. The case was sent back to the Georgia court and former Superior Court Judge Mallory C. Atkinson of Macon, Ga., was appointed auditor to work out the formula by which the diversion and amount of refund could be determined for each protesting employee. There originally were 287 protesters, of whom 145 were eliminated for one reason or another. The union leaders surrendered to the remaining 122 by means of a stipulation. The union leaders agreed to this stipulation after being ordered to produce their money records.

UPI was informed that this stipulation provides that each of the remaining 122 plaintiffs may elect to receive a refund of ALL his dues and be dropped from union membership without prejudice to the right to hold his job or he may elect to forego the refund and to remain a member of the union shop agreement.

The refund will range from nothing for some persons to something over $100.

One of the protesting captive employees was Miss Nancy M. Looper of Washington, D. C. She is understandably delighted with the terms of the stipulation agreement. To UPI, Miss Looper said:

"The unions never will dare to produce their records for an actual accounting and risk having to reduce dues for several hundred thousand workers."

WASHINGTON (NEA) — While debaters over the Vietnamese situation argue about the validity of the "falling domino" theory in Southeast Asia, Communists forces are already busy chewing at the base of the next major domino — Thailand.

The theory, of course, suggests that if South Viet Nam is lost to the Reds, then the other Southeast Asia countries will topple in succession.

Brushing past weak Cambodia and Laos, the latter already largely a lost cause, we find distributing signs in Thailand's vulnerable and populous northeast.

The Thai government is sufficiently upset over rising Red infiltration to have sent 300 men of its national police force to that sector. The problem is not yet grave enough, however, to warrant dispatch of regular army units.

Government leaders have been voicing steady concern since early January. Not the least of their unhappiness is caused by stepped-up propaganda efforts by a clandestine Communist radio station they believe is located in North Viet Nam.

This station now has put a name to the subversion being undertaken in the northeast—the Independent Thailand Movement.

Officials in Bangkok, aware that their own station in the capital is too weak to reach the trouble zone, are moving to set up two new radio stations in the northeast to combat the Red barrage.

They also have increased river patrols on the winding Mekong, much of whose length serves as the Thailand-Laos border.

The Red agents, helpers and sympathizers fall into several categories — Chinese (Thailand has 3 million), dissident Thai natives, infiltrated Communist in Thailand's northeast, it is a very real and growing problem.

No area of the menaced country is more suitable for the "soft assault" the Communists love so well. Between the northeast and neighboring Laos, there are both tribal and language bonds.

Moreover, the northeast is economically distressed and hence potentially ripe for the siren song from Peking and Hanoi. The government is pushing economic programs designed to ease the difficulties, but improvements necessarily are slow.

Thailand is not a country scarred by great discontent. Yet the Communists, those practiced teachers of discontent, are hammering an area that may be convertible from distress to something more dangerous.

Red action in Thailand hardly suggests Peking and Hanoi are ready in Southeast Asia to rest on the oars of "neutrality" if America will only invite them to the bargaining table.

Communist Pathet Lao from across the Mekong, and Vietnamese refugees from the French Indochina war of 1946-54.

Originally these refugees totaled 70,000, but the Thai government has managed to dispatch elsewhere all but 20,000. They are largely sympathetic to Ho Chi Minh, the North Vietnamese Red leader, and many are reported to have been engaged in subversion for years.

Documents seized as far back as 1959 indicated some of these refugees were working their way into sensitive Thai military posts, keeping a close watch on activities and even collecting classified information.

On Feb. 8, the Red Chinese in Peking announced from their own radio the existence of a "patriotic front" aimed at overthrowing the established Thai government and taking the country out of the western-oriented Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Peking Radio called on "all patriotic Thailand people to unite and wage a resolute struggle to drive out U. S. imperialism . . ."

The point of consequence is that the deeds are matching the words.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Herald:

The newly reorganized Seminole County Humane Society wishes to thank the following for donations of dog food and cat food: Hunt's Tuxedo, Thriftway Market, Atlantic & Pacific, Ethel's Store and Bagg's Grocery.

We also wish to thank the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club for a donation of $50 and their good wishes for the success of the Humane Society.

At the present time we do not have an animal shelter but hope to have one in the near future. A general meeting, open to the public, will be held on March 23rd . . . where the meeting will be held to be announced at a later date.

Watch for the meeting announcement, plan to come and bring friends. The third Thursday of each month will be meeting date.

We need your support if we are to have an animal shelter and a successful humane society in our county.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Nancy can change her grandmother and also improve her own popularity rating within 30 days by following the prescription outlined below. Girls, if you want to be popular, you must follow the definite blueprint, for you don't inherit popularity! You must create it yourself. The sooner you start, the better!

CASE V-432: Nancy N., aged 15, is the unhappy teenager who now lives with her grandmother.

"Dr. Crane," she added, "I'd hate to think I might grow up like Granny because she always looks on the blue side of life."

"She constantly expects trouble and takes a dim view of everything."

"How can I prevent becoming like her?"

Cultivate the daily habit of accentuating the positive.

Join my "Compliment Club," in which you deliberately become a social detective, ferreting out virtues or good things about your companions.

Then offer them a bit of honest praise thereon.

For most of us keep too tongue-tied.

We accept a lot of favors from our parents or mates, yet fail to say "Thank you."

And this ingratitude is universal as well as age-old.

You Bible scholars will thus remember that Jesus saved 10 men from sure death by curing them of leprosy.

He didn't ask a penny for these cures nor expect an invitation to dinner.

But he probably thought they would at least say "Thank you, Master."

Do you remember how many expressed their gratitude? Just one!

The other nine gaily went home to enjoy life, without so much as a "Thank you" for this release from a death sentence!

So we human beings must train ourselves and encourage our children to verbalize praise.

Employ spoken words that phrase compliments for the good deeds and talents of those around you.

Most of us are so preoccupied with inflating our own ego that we forget the hunger for appreciation by our comrades.

"I Want To Feel Important" is a tattoo on everybody's chest.

Praise your comrades and you win friends!

Alas, the great majority sit around waiting for the other fellow to voice some praise about us.

But he, too, is silently hoping we'll voice a compliment about him!

In this tragic dilemma, we both sit tongue-tied, growing more hostile or cynical every minute, just because we are not appreciated.

Instead, learn to speak first, even if you are seated by a stranger.

"Pardon me," you can start out, "but I've been admiring your frock (or tie) and wonder where you got it?"

This immediately breaks the social ice and makes the other person feel happier.

For every compliment we receive helps increase our sense of importance.

Maybe your companion is so shy and introverted that he hardly knows how to carry on gay conversation, even though you have broken the ice.

But he will gurgle happily or blush in delighted confusion—and like you!

So Nancy can change her grandmother's entire outlook by a daily compliment.

Meanwhile, Nancy can also become a jolly, popular extrovert and win friends galore (as well as boy friends), by praising her companions.

So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

It can change your personality within 30 days!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Dick West's The Lighter Side

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are some things that the average person does but once in a lifetime, if at all. One of these is attending the grand opening of a new bird cage.

Consequently, it seems to me altogether fitting and proper that such an occasion should be treated as a social highlight and that the guests should be dressed in semi-formal attire.

But when the National Zoo sent out invitations to the opening of its new bird house this week, it caused a good deal of jocular comment.

The levity was generated by the fact that the invitations specified "black tie."

It is true, as certain parties have pointed out, that business suits were worn at the recent presidential inauguration. But I see nothing incongruous about that.

After all, presidential inaugurations are held every four years, rain or shine. A new bird house opening, on the other hand, is almost as rare as Hally's comet.

Furthermore, this is no ordinary bird house. It cost $850,000. A brochure describes it as a "modern bird-hotel."

After taking part in a press review of the premises, I could easily understand why. As aviaries go, this one pulls all the stops. It appears to have been designed for the bird who has everything. I expect that it will eventually become known as the "Canary-Hilton," or perhaps the "Sheraton-Titmouse."

It has perches with electric foot-warmers. Dr. Theodore H. Reed, the zoo director, explained that birds hate cold feet worse than anything, including cats.

It has a "central flight room" with split-level viewing areas. Which should make suburban type birds feel right at home.

The room has controlled lighting that grows brighter gradually so as not to startle the birds. Presumably, they all join in singing "The World is waiting for the Sunrise."

It has a secluded area where birds can go for privacy when they want to get away from people. Reed said there was some concern that the birds would become "too friendly" with the human visitors. I am not entirely certain what he meant by that.

It has a simulated rain forest, complete with a sprinkler system that can produce sudden summer showers.

It has a spacious kitchen with stainless steel fixtures where chefs prepare balanced gourmet menus. Kookaburras, for example, are fed ground meat, mixed seed, ground egg, chopped greens, fresh bananas and oranges, and dead mice. Before the mice are served, the tails are carefully removed.

Any kookaburra that doesn't appreciate that kind of service must be some kind of a kook.

Lake Monroe Jottings

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson
Well, here we go again. We stood by and watched another fire company come and help at putting out fire that destroyed not ONE but TWO homes and doing other damage. The two homes destroyed were on the Upsala Road and were burned to the ground Saturday afternoon. The home of Mrs. G. B. Sapp was the first to go and right behind her's another home was destroyed also. It's a shame that all these houses are being destroyed and we have to watch someone else doing a JOB that should be the responsibility of another community. It is not everyone's fault because, goodness knows, it was tried very hard to get a volunteer fire department out here. Okay, what do we do now? Just keep on letting someone else do our job? Who has an answer? Let us hear from you.

The Perry Wheatland family motored to Cross City last weekend to visit Frankie's mother, Mrs. W. R. Bass, who was celebrating her birthday. Mrs. Bass returned home with them for a short visit. Jerry Wheatland surprised her grand mother by singing the Lord's Prayer in the Cross City Baptist Church Sunday evening.

Sidney Hawkins is confined to his home because of the mumps. Now Sid will have to make up at school for tests he has had to miss. Mrs. D. C. Spivey (Pauline) has been confined to Seminole Memorial Hospital. We wish you a speedy recovery, Pauline. Also on the sick list is Mrs. Talmadge Melts of Orange Blvd. and Mrs. Tolar (Voncille) Rabun Voncille has the Asian Flu. Hurry and get wed girls. Also in the hospital is Mrs. Alfred (Barbara) Greene of Jewett Lane (Children Alfred and Shirley tell me they know that mother will get well soon. Lynn (Mrs. James) Giles and daughter Sylvia sang a beautiful duet at the morning service of the Upsala Presbyterian Church Sunday.

Talking of churches both the Upsala Presbyterian Church and the East Baptist Church of Lake Monroe are now in a very extensive cleanup program. Both churches are doing painting, repairing and cleaning work which is improving the church and the grounds. Mr. and Mrs. William Carroll St. have returned from Binghampton, N. Y. where they were called by the passing of Mrs. Carroll's mother. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family. Mrs. C. E. (Olga) Hunter is now home after undergoing a few tests at the local hospital which required her staying there a few days. S. A. and Hazel Chambliss spent the weekend in North Florida. The Lake Monroe 4-H Handy Helpers Club were delightfully entertained with a party by the Homemakers Club last Saturday. At this time the girls received their certificates for successfully completing the Junior First Aid Course. A novel decoration on the serving tables at the party was a "First Aid Tree." It was made by Joanna DuBois and got a lot of attention from the many parents who attended the party along with their daughters. Mrs. Dan (Rebecca) Pelham is now home after being in the local hospital because of injuries she received in a recent auto accident. So glad that she was not hurt seriously. But she is anxious to get back to work. Our thought this week... Good judgment comes from experience, and experience... well, that comes from poor judgment.

Fishing Club

Delbart Fishing Club will meet in regular session this Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Fire Recreation Hall. A travel film will be shown by Elmer Thompson and all members are urged to attend. Plans for another deep sea fishing trip will be discussed during the business session conducted by the president, Norvin Bosch.

JAMES REDMOND presents a television set to Mrs. Edith Thompson, 274 Wilma Road, Longwood. The set was granted prize at "Hollerball" weekend sales event and automobile display sponsored by Holler Motor Sales, of Sanford, and the Seminole Plaza Merchants Association, of Casselberry, of which Redmond is president.

ATTENDING recent party to celebrate completion of Lyman High's yearbook, this year based on the theme, "Space Age," were Edie Herota, one of the assistant editors, and Robert A. Baird II, editor, who, with his parents, was host for the evening.

'The Greyhound' Theme This Year Is 'Space Age'

By Maryann Miles
Staff of this year's Lyman High yearbook, "The Greyhound," was entertained by the editor, Robert A. Baird II, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Baird, at their Lake Brantley home to celebrate completion of copy for the 1965 edition.

Theme of the book is "Space Age," as suggested by Maj. and Mrs. Harry Williamson, of Forest City, who were special guests at the party. Through courtesy of the Major, a group of Lyman students earlier this year were given the VIP treatment as they toured Cape Kennedy.

The host and hostess served the group barbecue burgers with all the trimmings and various games were enjoyed and Jim Jarrard and Terry Harmon, of the "Tradewinds," played for dancing during the evening.

Highlight came with the discovery by James Barnes, teacher advisor of the annual staff, that his car had been completely wrapped, inside and out, with crepe paper, by members of the student staff as a prank which, in reality, was an expression of their affectionate fondness of his leadership and guidance.

Other than the editor, students attending were Edie Herota, Marcia Easterling, Shari McKinley, Tom Milwee, Libby Sherwin, Barbara Ellis, Chuck Benson, Giffy Gammege, Eric Nath, Don Patrick, Suzy Lakolosh, Austin Saville, Cindy Legg, Lynn Baraman, Bonny Laymon, Chuck Wagner and Lynn Deans.

Spring Phys Ed Program In Full Swing At Junior High

By Jane Casselberry
The spring physical education program at South Seminole Junior High School at Casselberry is in full swing and its purpose is to promote fun, companionship, and competition.

Tennis is being sponsored by Mrs. Georgia McDaniel for both boys and girls. The group has practice on Thursday and a lesson each Tuesday at the Orange Tennis Club in Winter Park by Joseph Jasek. A similar tournament is now underway.

More than 100 girls are taking part in the intramural Red and White Basketball Tournament under the sponsorship of Miss Livista Blawell. The thirteen teams from grades seven, eight and nine play on Wednesday afternoons.

A track and field meet will be held each Monday of this month under the direction of Mrs. McDaniel and Coach Jim Clark. Events for boys and girls will be run simultaneously.

Dave Miller and Bill Edwards are coaches for baseball and they have high hopes for a successful season. The 11 game schedule begins this Saturday with a game with Leesburg.

The newly organized golf team for boys practices at the Land O' Lakes Country Club in Casselberry as guests of the owner, Ralph Park. There are four members and two alternates on the team. Three meets tentatively have been scheduled by the coaches, Herb Drausing, George Poore and Wayne Ivety.

Club To Meet

The Lake Monroe Extension Homemakers Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Community Building. Program on "Safe Use of Pesticides" will be given by County Agent Cecil Tucker. Mrs. C. E. Hunter, president, urges all members to attend this informative and interesting program.

On The Wagon

KENNETH WICK, Wash. (UPI) — The young patients in the pediatric ward of Kennewick General Hospital are going on the wagon.

The bright red wagon, a gift of the Kennewick Junior Chamber of Commerce, is used to transport youngsters from their rooms to x-rays, laboratory tests and surgery. Nurses say the gay conveyance helps relieve children's fears.

Some tigers are fierce. Some tigers are ferocious. We build both.

It's getting so that choosing between our Wide-Track Tigers is as distressing as it is enjoyable. For instance, should you choose the incredible GTO with its extra helping of horsepower (360), or the way it comes (335)? Or should you go for the Le Mans with a 285-hp V-8, a 250-hp V-8, or 140-hp six? Either way they're all tigers with bucket seats, carpeting and lots of Oh-you-kid!

Young Champion Stakes Open Up Thursday Eve

Henry Caswell's Dave Hall, dropped from grade A competition last week after failing to make the money in three straight feature events, gets another chance to prove himself at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club tonight.

The 68-pound speedster won a grade B start in impressive fashion Thursday night to earn the promotion back into grade A competition.

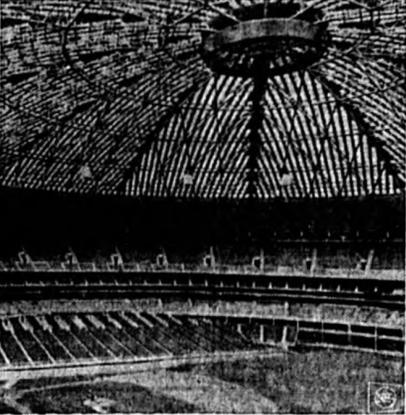

Also running in the featured 10th event of the evening will be W.D.'s Gamiel, Gena Faye, Barbary Hugh, Quite Nice, R.B.'s Edrad, Viole Kaup and Pleasant Maid.

The eliminations for the Young Champions stakes get underway Thursday night with three races featuring juvenile sprinters. Three more events will be held on Friday night as the competition continues to find the best puppy at the track.

The finals are scheduled for March 22.

BUBBLED DOME—Roy Hofheinz in set, looks down on miracle stadium he has wrought in Houston. The huge sports site is sheltered from the elements by a dome of Lucite.

Houston Astrodome

Texas Tall Tale Come True

By Harry Grayson

HOUSTON, Tex. (NEA)—The new $31.6 million Houston Astrodome makes all the tall Texas tales you ever heard gross understatements. And when you meet Judge Roy Mark Hofheinz, the man responsible for baseball's finest installation, you believe everything you ever heard about Texas.

For four years the great baseball mystery has been why Gabriel Paul left Houston and the golden opportunity under the transparent plastic (Lucite) dome.

When Gabe Paul departed Cincinnati, where he had been firmly entrenched for years, he gave as his primary reason for forsaking the Midwest that building a new National League club in Houston would be a great adventure.

Paul, who has had nothing but migraine headaches in Cleveland since, lasted only a few months and never revealed why he walked out on a three-year contract as vice president and general manager of the Houston Colt .45s who this season become Astros.

It was a good question to ask Hofheinz when we got him alone in his carpeted box 15 stories above right field in the Astrodome. Hofheinz, a big, good-looking man of 53, must be considered extraordinary even in Texas. He shoots answers to questions straight from the hip.

"I guess I scared the hell out of Paul," replied the judge who with his unobtrusive partner, R. E. (Bob) Smith, owns 96 per cent of and have $14 million invested in the Houston Sports Association.

"Paul had been in baseball too long to have the imagination required for the job we needed done here. Gabe wanted to play at old Buff Stadium until a new one could be built. It had only one road leading to it and no parking and we could add only enough seats to make the capacity 20,000.

"Give them big league baseball and they'll go anywhere," said Gabe, but I told him he was wrong.

"You may know Cincinnati, but I know the people here," I told him. He kept telling me he had a reputation in baseball to uphold. It was when I suggested building a temporary park to be used the three years it would take to build the Astrodome that Gabe evidently decided he was in above his depth.

Colt Stadium and its more than 82,000 seats cost $2 million.

To be frightened off by Hofheinz is no rap against Paul. Here was a man telling him that football and baseball alone no longer could support a stadium. It had to be an all-purpose arena.

Never before, for example, had climate control been attempted in an enclosed arena of such size. The $3.5 million Carrier system is the fifth largest in the world to serve a single building.

The other National League owners viewed Hofheinz with considerable apprehension until they saw the completed Astrodome during the baseball meetings in Houston in December.

As a promoter, Hofheinz makes Bill Veeck look like a peanut but cheer suffering from the financial shorts.

A lawyer at 19, a member of the Texas Legislature at 22, Hofheinz served four terms as Harris County judge beginning when he was 24. He was a millionaire when he became a judge.

Florida won 142 1/2 points during the meet, Alabama 103 and the University of Georgia came in third with 100.

Florida's Blanchard Tual set a 100-yard freestyle SEC mark at 55.4 and Tom Dioguardi swam the 100-yard freestyle in 48.5 to tie the standing record.

Selena is the Greek word for moon.

gan two terms as mayor of Houston at 40.

Hofheinz made his fortune in radio, television, land slugs, oil and real estate. His partner, Bob Smith, 70, started in oil and went into real estate. He owns half of Harris County and eight ranches in Texas. I asked Hofheinz when Smith was worth.

"You can start at $100 million and go up," he replied.

Changing the Colt .45s name to Astros was Hofheinz's idea.

"The ball club is in Houston—Space City," he pointed out. "We play in the Astrodome. Our training headquarters is in Cocoa, Fla., near Cape Kennedy—Launch Pad, USA. I just wanted to wrap everything in one package."

Judge Roy Hofheinz has been wrapping things in one package for years—big packages.

35-Foot Puff Wins $10,000

PENSACOLA (UPI)—Doug Sanders pocketed first place prize money today for the first time in a major tournament since 1963 on the strength of a 35-foot puff in a sudden-death playoff in the Pensacola Open.

It was a $10,000 prize for Sanders, who last won a major victory in the 1963 Greensboro Open and matched his 1962 performance here.

Sanders and Jack Nicklaus battled each other for four days in the 72-hole regulation play to finish up tied at 277, 11 under par.

The end came when Sanders sank the crucial putt on the third hole of the playoff after Nicklaus had missed one by an inch from 40 feet away.

Lion Cagers Have 'Guts,' Coach Avers

By Paul Brookshire

"We feel like we've got a good chance to win it," Coach Paul Mikler, of the Oviedo Lions, says concerning the state basketball tournament at Gainesville this weekend.

"I believe this is as fine a team as we've ever had here," he adds.

That's a strong statement considering the fact that Oviedo has gone to the state event eight times since Mikler became coach at Oviedo in 1947.

Oviedo won the state class C championship in 1947 and was runner-up in 1955. The 1955 team won 27 straight games before bowing in the title affair by three points.

This will be the Lions' first trip to Gainesville as a Class B school, however. Oviedo moved up in classification last year.

There are no stratagems in the starting lineup for Oviedo. All five boys measure the same height — five feet, 11 inches.

How, then, did Oviedo make it this far? "They don't know when to quit," says Mikler. "They've got a lot of guts."

They've also got talent. Mikler admits his team has some of the best outside shooting he's seen in high school basketball in a long time.

He's got two boys, Jim Courier and Rex Brooks, who average close to 20 points per game. Both are good shots, both are husky and strong and both have speed.

Courier and Brooks, along with Ted Bellhorn, also are well experienced. They are all seniors.

Billy Mikler, the coach's son, and Tim Colbert, make up the starting five. They also are good shooters.

The Lions excel at the full court press and they've succeeded time after time of throwing taller teams off balance with their harassing tactics.

The Lions, who meet St. Cloud in the tournament opener at University of Florida Friday, have an 18-7 record. They have won 12 of their last 13 games, including group victories over Father Lopez and Bunnell and regional decisions over Lake Butler and Madison.

During the season they have beaten several schools in higher classifications. Among their victims are Lyman, Ellsworth, Maine; Eau Gallie and Cocoa Beach.

They also defeated last year's Class B champions, Zephyrhills.

In addition to the starting five, other members of the varsity team are Arden Arndt, Bobby Stewart, Mike Martin, Charlie Miller, Gardner Preedy and Walter Beasley.

Seminole Host 3 Track Teams In Metro Tilt

By David Higginbotham

Herald Sports Writer Seminole High School track team will hold its fourth meet of the season Wednesday at 4 p.m. when it hosts Oak Ridge, Bishop Moore and Edgewater at Buddy Lawson Memorial track.

In this Metro Conference affair the three Orlando teams are not strong all around but each is strong in different areas.

The Seminoles beat Edgewater in a Metro meet earlier in the season, but they have not run up against Oak Ridge or Bishop Moore.

According to Seminole coach Dick Williams, "These Orlando schools could provide us with some tougher competition than we have had this season. On Friday of last week we ran against Seabreeze and Titusville for the first time and defeated DeLand for the second time. Titusville and Seabreeze beat us last season, so beating them lifted our spirits quite a bit. We're improved over what we were in our first three meets this season."

Since the basketball season ended the Seminoles have obtained a number of boys who were out for track and lettered last year and some new boys. Jack Hunt, Paul LeRoy, Mike Gray, Frank Murray, Don Nicholas, Terry Echols, Bill Frisby and Buddy Burton are all expected to strengthen the team.

The Tribe will be trying for their fourth win of the season to boost their Metro record. Williams predicted that this year's team would be one of the best at SHS and there fast proving it.

Federal Funds Loom

Outdoor Resorts Looks Up

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—

The regional director of the U. S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation said that, thanks to an early start in planning, Florida may get up to $3 million a year for the next 25 years in federal funds for outdoor facilities.

"The State of Florida is in a particularly enviable position with respect to outdoor recreation matters," Jerome F. Anderson said. "Anderson said his agency has been charged with administering the land and water conservation fund of 1965, which is a matching program for states or their political subdivisions."

He said the federal fund would amount to an estimated $200 million a year, of which 60 per cent would be available to states on a matching dollar-for-dollar basis to plan, buy and develop outdoor recreational facilities.

In Florida, the state outdoor recreational planning committee will administer the program and all federal matching funds must be fun-nelled through the state agency.

At the present time, the state committee is completing

Braves Manager 'Sees' Pennant

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI)—Manager Bobby Bragan thinks the Milwaukee Braves will win the National League pennant this year and what's more important to him, is that his players think so, too.

"If I were the only one thinking that way, I'd put it down to that usual optimism in the spring," Bragan explained, "but my optimism is shared by my players and my coaches."

"That means I'm not whistling in the dark."

Carter Favored

LONDON (UPI)—Hard-working Rubin (Hurricane) Carter is the 3-1 favorite to add Harry Scott of England to his list of knockouts tonight at sold-out Albert Hall.

development, much of which will be financed from the sale of bonds backed by a tax on sporting goods.

"This state got an early start in its planning," said Anderson who hinted that states with readily-available matching funds would probably be first on the federal government's list.

Vanderbilt Tops La. State 106-69

ATLANTA (UPI)—The fifth-ranked Vanderbilt Commodores tuned up for their bid for the national basketball championship Monday night by closing out their most successful season with their highest scoring showing of the year.

The Commodores, who will take their first Southeastern Conference championship to Lexington, Ky., Friday night to play either Eastern Kentucky or DePaul in the NCAA Mid-east Regionals, raised their record to 23-3 by routing Louisiana State 106-69.

Better Golf - Through Exercise

By Gary Player

Written for NEA Foot and leg fatigue are commonplace to the weekend golfer. This exercise is designed to reduce this complaint by developing the muscles of the calves and ankles.

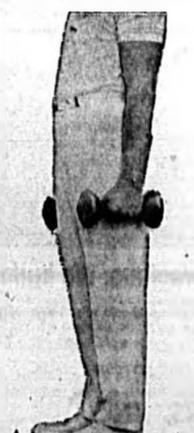

With a dumbbell in each hand and feet flat on the floor at position A, raise up on your toes as far as possible to position B. Start at 15 repetitions and work up to 25.

After you have reached 25 repetitions, advance to the following.

Do the exercise from A to B 10 to 15 times with the feet parallel, as before.

Now do the exercise 10 to 15 times with the toes pointed outward.

Finally, repeat the exercise 10 to 15 times with the toes pointed in.

West had opened the king of diamonds. South won, drew trumps with two leads and led his ten of clubs. East won with the ace and returned the deuce of hearts. South played low in order to be sure of his contract and wound up making exactly four odd.

By Dottie Austin
EAST MEETS WEST has been set for the theme of the Bombing Derby cocktail party slated for April 9 from 8 to 11 p.m. in the NAS Ballroom.

Decision was made with the approval of Capt. James Mayo by Naval Officers Wives Club board members. Accordingly, the ballroom will take on an Oriental-European setting, highlighting the fact of course, that the Sanford Naval Air Station is a base for world wide naval operations.

Kitty O'Gara, first vice president of the board will head a group of representatives and volunteers from each club who will construct and arrange the decorations.

NICE DONATION of $100 was made by the NOWC to add to other contributions for the new all wives meeting room decorations. Betty Wilhauck, co-ordinator for the room planning asks that all trading stamps which are being donated toward furnishing of the room be turned in to her by Wednesday. The stamps are to be used to "purchase" cups and saucers and lamps.

MEMO to all teenagers whose daddies are Navy Chiefs: Don't forget about the teen dance being sponsored for you March 18 at the NAS Ballroom from 8 to 11 p.m. Special invitations have been extended to those teenagers who live aboard the station. Bring your dates — The Showmen will play for dancing and there is a small admission charge.

CPO Wives are planning a luncheon at Creighton's Restaurant Thursday at 12:30 p.m., and by the way, there will be a CPO Wives local meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Alvera Kelly.

RVAH-3 EM Wives, the newest club on the station, has a regular meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the NW meeting room. This is an important meeting at which several important items of business will be discussed, such as a name for the club, passing of the by-laws, setting up of committees and plans for a social function for club members.

NAVY WIVES Club 211, through their representative Reba Cooper has announced that they will donate a United States flag to be used in the Navy Wives meeting room.

Other donations include $20 from the Station Officers Wives.

Arrangements are being made by Sella Hodges and Denaria Farrell of RVAH-13 to hang nine paintings done by local Navy personnel in the meeting room, which will be used as a sort of rotating art gallery to display the talents of Navy artists.

TWO BOOTHS will be set up for the RVAH-13 lake sale which starts at 8 a.m. Thursday. One will be at the Navy Exchange and the other in Thirteen's hangar. Lou Schweers and her committee have made great progress with this project and will have all sorts of delicious goodies to tempt their prospective customers.

This committee had themselves a ball working on this event, especially the creation of the posters. Chief Joe Pickens and Chief Art Moore were a great help with this work, which was greatly enhanced by the serving of delicious refreshments to the hard workers by the hostess.

Thirteen wives have scheduled the showing of a film on cancer March 18 at 1 p.m. at the Navy Wives meeting room, under the direction of Ann Sclerowski. A doctor will also be present to answer questions.

JANE MERRITT and Ruth Donaldson were co-hostesses for the RVAH-7 O Wives monthly coffee last week. They used a St. Patrick's Day theme, featuring an arrangement of Bells of Inland and green mums in the living room. On the serving table, white mums surrounded a leprechaun's hat. Door prizes were won by Emily Joyner and Donna Ord.

SEVERAL NEW MEMBERS and some visitors were welcomed at the RVAH-3 Officer's Wives coffee at the Afterburner last week.

Judy Derryberry, Jane Davidson and Juliana Urbanek (all wives of students); Mary Kauffman, (whose husband is retired) and Mrs. Beverly Nemmers, sister of Cdr. Neal Johnson, all were welcomed by the members. Mrs. Nemmers is visiting here from Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Bridge is scheduled at 9:15 a.m. Thursday at the Afterburner with Carol Bakke as hostess. Regular coffee is set for April 1.

A SMOGASBORD was the most recent event of the RVAH-3 Enlisted Wives, who gathered at the home of their president, Millicent Wigg.

The club voted to buy a 30 cup percolator for their parties, luncheons and dinners. Games were played and prizes won by Faye Bellamy, Alice Howard and Helen Scherzer.

A cancer film is scheduled for their meeting at 8 p.m. tonight in the Navy Wives meeting room. All enlisted wives who have not yet seen these films are invited.

RUTH MICHELSON, who has been visiting at home for a while was welcomed back by RVAH-5 Officer's Wives at their monthly coffee last week at the home of Kathy Russell. Pat Scott was co-hostess. Special guests were Mrs. John Ferguson and Mrs. Herbert Lee, grandmother and aunt of Joanne Herzog.

A POTLUCK SUPPER is being planned by Officer's Wives of RVAH-9, with five wives as guests at the home of Gloria Gehrig real soon. Everyone is to bring their favorite dishes and fun and games are planned.

Aviva Atkinson, who has a new little daughter, Julia Ann, was presented with a silver picture frame by chairman Donald deGanahl at the recent coffee meeting, hosted by Shirley Youngblade and Caryl Marshall.

Ginnie Sullivan and Kathy Henson will be in charge of the April coffee luncheon which just happens to fall on April 1st and you know what day that is — better be on your guard. Those gals may have some tricks up their sleeves.

EVELYN HIGGINS, field representative for the Navy Relief Society was the guest of Ruth Swanson at the Station Officer's Wives Coffee, Thursday at the home of Emily Law on Silver Lake. Ruby Conder was co-hostess.

Mrs. Higgins discussed Navy Relief activities briefly and answered question posed by members. She is presently conducting the training course on the station.

Main points of the business meeting, conducted by Eve Rogers, concerned the Navy Relief Bridge and Tea to be hosted by the Station Wives and plans for the Bombing Derby.

Lovely Revere bowls were presented as farewell gifts to Alice Haupt and Lynn Dietrich who will be leaving soon. Alice and her husband Lt. Elmer Haupt are being transferred to Norfolk while Lynn and Don Dietrich will be leaving the Navy for civilian life as Don takes up his private law practice.

Ann Gabel, new Thrift Shop chairman, announced that she and Peggy Berndt would work on the next station day at the shop.

SIX LOVELY officers wives have been chosen to model in the NOWC luncheon-fashion show at Creighton's Garden Restaurant, March 18.

Posing in the latest styles of half-don, fashions, shoes and millinery will be Dora Griffin of RVAH-13; Shirley LaBocca of RVAH-11; Ann Johnson of RVAH-11; Sara Jane Smith of RVAH-9; Mary Durant of RVAH-3 and Carolyn Dennison of RVAH-11.

DORA GRIFFIN of RVAH-13 terms herself a "book bug" as she enjoys endless reading in a great variety of literature.

Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Jim Griffin, who are the parents of James, eight, and Glyn Carol, three, have been stationed here only a few months but already claim they like the friendly community.

Dora, who is active in the choir of Grace Methodist Church, was a journalism major at the University of Tennessee before marrying.

MODELING is nothing new to Shirley Larocca of RVAH-1 who off and on for a few years has modeled for officers wives fashion shows as well as was featured in college and country club fashion shows before her marriage.

The mother of two boys, Frankie, five, and Robb, three, Shirley still finds time to sew, play a little golf, bowl on the RVAH-1 Officers' Wives Team, play bridge and serve her squadron as publicity chairman.

A graduate of South Georgia College, Shirley taught school as well as did re-retail work prior to her marriage to Lt. Joe LaRocca.

When the couple was stationed in Meridian, Miss., Shirley took an interest in writing as well and for over a year she wrote a weekly column in the Meridian Star Newspaper.

"When it comes to clothes," Shirley says, "I am definitely the tailored type and find myself wearing a lot of black as it is usually smart in appearance no matter what the occasion."

ANN JOHNSON of RVAH-13 is a gal who likes comfortable straight lines in fashions and who favors shades of blue, green and brown.

Ann, who was a Navy nurse for five years before her marriage to Lt. Cmdr. Guy Johnson, has furnished their home in a contemporary style. Her home also features hook rugs which she fashioned herself and a variety of treasures she worked for while stationed in Japan and Guam.

The mother of two children, Jeff, four, and Jenny, two, Ann serves as treasurer for her squadron wives club. The Johnsons have been stationed here nearly a year.

Ann, who is tall and lovely, said, "I guess everyone picks me to model because of my height as I also did some modeling while in the service."

SARA JANE SMITH of RVAH-9, who stays quite busy as the mother of three young boys finds relaxation browsing through old shops in search of antique furniture which she dearly loves and collects for her home. Among her other activities,

Sara Jane serves as the Hostess to the NOWC board, is a Pink Lady at Seminole Memorial Hospital, is a Gray Lady, plays bridge, enjoys a game of tennis and is active in Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

MARY DURANT of RVAH-3 is readily known as one of this city's most active young naval officers wives and was recently elected president of the NOWC board.

Mary's position keeps her quite busy as do her four youngsters, but the petite blond still finds time to squeeze in Navy Relief work as well as teaches in the nursery of Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

Lt. Cmdr. Michael Durant and his family have lived in this city for four years and according to Mary they really like the area as they are tennis and water ski enthusiasts.

ANOTHER very popular young officer's wife who has modeled for several years here and in her hometown of Corpus Christi, Texas is Carolyn Dennison of RVAH-11.

Lovely Carolyn, who looks every bit the model with her slender figure and eye-catching frosted coiffure, worked as a private secretary but also modeled for a photographers studio as well as department stores.

Lt. Dick Dennison met his wife in Corpus Christi a little over two years ago and from there they came to this city where Carolyn has been very active in a variety of fields.

Carolyn serves her squadron wives club as rep to the NOWC board and spends several hours each week doing work for Navy Relief. In fact she is the local Navy Relief office manager aboard the station.

Carolyn also manages to find time for her hobbies of bridge, water skiing, sewing and knitting. She recently returned from a three month trip to Europe while her husband was deployed.

Pack the whole family's sleepwear and toiletries in one bag when traveling. That way, only one bag has to be removed from the car on overnight stops.

Pre-Nuptial Party Honors Miss Nyleene Albers

The home of Mrs. Jack Benton Jr., 1807 Adams Avenue, was the setting for a bridal shower recently complimenting Miss Nyleene Albers, bride-elect. Assisting Mrs. Benton as co-hostesses were Mrs. Harry Kenny and Mrs. Cleo Fleet.

Creating an enchanting bridal atmosphere throughout the party area were lovely floral arrangements combining white chrysanthemums, blue and white daphniums, bells of Ireland, baby's breath and podocarpus.

The guests participated in bridal games and contests with prizes awarded Mrs. Robert Bradbury, Mrs. Edith Nimberly and Mrs. Marie Sundvall.

Highlighting the evening was the opening of the many lovely gifts the bride-elect received.

Centering the refreshment table, which was covered in white damask, was a hand chased silver punch bowl with matching cups surrounded by tropical greenery and flanked on either side by silver candle holders containing white tapers.

Accenting the attractive table was a four tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Silver appointments were used for serving slipper minis and toasted nuts.

Mrs. Amarot Hopkins Feted At Supper Party

By Evelyn Lundy

A delightful evening was enjoyed recently when Mr. and Mrs. Theo Aulin Jr. entertained at their lovely new home on North Division Street in Oviedo. The occasion was to honor Mrs. Amarot A. Hopkins of Nashville, Ark., who spends several weeks each winter with her sister, Mrs. B. G. Smith, of Oviedo.

Picnic tables were set up in the attractive screened patio and barbecued ribs, baked potato and tossed salad were served to the guests.

George Kelsey was the chef of the evening, but no one in Oviedo can surpass the delicious tossed salads that Novella Aulin puts together. Conversation was the entertainment enjoyed by the guests and many events were told as they reminisced of by-gone days.

Mr. Hopkins and Mrs. Dora (Aunt Dora, as she is affectionately known by everyone in this area) were classmates in the local schools and both graduated in a class of five just past the turn of the century. Mrs. Hopkins who lived on Lake Howell came in to school by horse and buggy in those days.

All five of this class are still active, and the other three are Mrs. J. W. Lawton and Mrs. Mary Aulin of Oviedo, and Mrs. Anita Crawford of St. Petersburg.

MRS. AMAROT HOPKINS, left, was a recent honor guest of a supper party at the home of Mrs. Theo Aulin Jr., center, in Oviedo. Mrs. Dora Kersey, right was among the guests. (Herald Photo by Evelyn Lundy)

Other guests invited to honor Mrs. Hopkins were Mrs. B. G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Kelsey and daughter, Mary Jane, Emmett Kelsey, Mrs. Nettie Aulin, Fay Stoner, Diane and Ted Aulin.

S. Seminole Young Women's Club To Present Fashions

By Jane Casselberry

Models for the fashion show to be presented at a coffee sponsored March 21 by the Young Women's Club of South Seminole may literally flip their wigs over the dreamy fashions from Matthew's in the Winter Park Mall.

Mrs. Marylou Boyle of "Wigs of Distinction" was at the models' meeting Wednesday night held at the home of the fashion coordinator, Mrs. Jane Staley, in Tanglewood, to fit the girls for style and color.

Woman's Club Meeting Highlighted With Parade Of Original Chapeaux

The Woman's Club of Sanford held the General Business and American Home Department meeting recently at the club house on Oak Avenue.

The president, Mrs. W. L. Merritt, presided over the short business session.

Elected to serve on the board of directors were Mrs. B. Brinson, first vice president; Mrs. Wade Shealy, recording secretary; and Mrs. W. L. Gramkow, treasurer.

The following were elected as new chairmen of the various departments: Mrs. DeWitt Matthews, American Home; Mrs. Frank Shautest, Fine Arts; Mrs. C. L. Redding, Civic; and Mrs. Stanley Perce, Social.

Mrs. C. M. Flowers reported on the recent County Federation of Women's Clubs meeting at which Mrs. W. L. Gramkow Sr., immediate past president of the Sanford Woman's Club, was elected president.

Mrs. George Wells recently represented the local club at the Salvation Army's 100th anniversary banquet and reported the event was outstanding with stirring speeches, good food and great music.

Mrs. DeWitt Matthews, chairman of the American Home Department, asked the members for names to be submitted on the guest list for the forthcoming membership tea in April.

The annual "Animated Magazine" will be presented March 17 at 2:30 p.m. at the club house. Mrs. Roy Tillis is planning an enlightening program.

New members welcomed were Mrs. R. H. Tucker and Mrs. Harry Hahn.

Mrs. Donald Flamm, program chairman for the American Home Department, narrated a "Crazy Hat Parade" with the genuine authenticity of a real pro as the members strolled across the stage modeling their own creations to the soft piano background music of "Easter Parade," played by Mrs. N. V. Farmer.

Mrs. Flamm wore a "newsy creation" fashioned from the Sanford Herald with tassels of striped newspaper.

One ingenious expectant mother adorned her chapeau with nursery toys and the hats were all so very clever that the panel of judges found the decision of judging the winners a most difficult detail.

Mrs. Wade Shealy's creation was judged the craziest hat. She used kitchen utensils and plates imprinted with the club's various projects in a dish drainer for her prized chapeau.

The prettiest hat was worn by Mrs. Roy Tillis. Adorning a corolla basket with artificial flowers was a real bird nest surrounded by natural foliage beautifully created by Mrs. Tillis.

MRS. IRVING PRYOR displays most original hat—a lone blooming petunia growing in an authentic onion patch.

For the second year, Mrs. Irving Pryor took top honors for the most original hat. A lonely pink petunia growing in an onion patch with real dirt surrounded by a miniature fence was perched atop her head.

The program received such a tremendous ovation that the members asked Mrs. Flamm for a repeat performance next year.

Theta Epsilon Will Participate In Cancer Crusade

The March meeting of Theta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held recently at the home of Faye Stetson.

Pat Lergen and Pat Helms conducted a most interesting program on "People," beginning with the toddler's stage through senior citizens. Following the program, a question and answer period involved a general discussion on friendship and its interpretations.

Corresponding secretary Sherry Bolte read a letter from Mrs. Geraldine Keith thanking the chapter for its recent contribution to the Little Red School House.

Each year Theta Epsilon participates in the Cancer Crusade. Representing the chapter this year when the crusade gets under way will be Betty Erickson, Sherry Bolte and Nancy Reynolds.

Plans for the upcoming rush season were announced and the first party honoring the rushers will be March 9. A model meeting will be held March 16, followed by a couple's party on March 27.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Jan Cahill; vice president, Sherry Bolte; secretary, Pat Helms; treasurer, Jo Kuhle; and corresponding secretary, Nancy Reynolds.

The "Girl of the Year" will be elected at the March 16 meeting and all members are encouraged to attend that meeting.

Finnie Harrison McCaskill Honored With Reception On 90th Birthday

Finnie Harrison McCaskill (Mrs. J. M.) was honor guest of a delightful reception on the afternoon of Feb. 28 in commemoration of her 90th birthday.

MRS. J. M. (FINNIE HARRISON) McCASKILL, seated, was honored on her 90th birthday, February 28, 1965, with an afternoon reception in the recreation room of Seminole Lodge. Standing from the left are Mrs. Walter L. Carter, hostess; Mrs. J. W. Senterfeut, Orlando, sister-in-law of the honoree; and Mrs. Dawson Gunter Sr., Orlando, the honoree's niece.

Mrs. Walter L. Carter, a neighbor and close friend, was hostess for the celebration in the recreation room of Seminole Lodge, which was transformed into a charming party area as friends from far and near gathered to congratulate the honoree on her birthday.

Mrs. McCaskill received the guests from her wheel chair in a silk print frock of brown tones which was enhanced by a beautiful corsage of red roses and white mums, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Rossetter. The honoree was showered with many lovely personal gifts and floral bouquets.

Centering the refreshment table, which was overlaid in an exquisite white Madeira embroidered linen cloth, was a magnificent floral arrangement of pink carnations and white mums in a handsome silver bowl, a gift from the entire staff of Seminole Lodge, accented by a six branched antique silver candelabra containing tall pink tapers.

Gracing one end of the table was a three tiered white cake embossed with pink roses and topped with the numerals "90." A book edged in gold and imprinted with "Happy Birthday" was at the base of the cake. Tea and coffee were poured from antique silver service at opposite ends of the table.

Mrs. Roy Holler poured with Mrs. Dawson Gunter Sr., Orlando, niece of the honoree, cutting the cake. Others assisting were Mrs. O. K. Goff, Mrs. Kerfoot Bryant and Mrs. F. E. Roumillat.

Mrs. McCaskill was born in Norwood, Warren County, Ga., Feb. 28, 1875. She has been a resident of Sanford since 1926, having moved here from Lakeland. She was actively engaged in civic and social circles all through the years. At the First Methodist Church, where she is a member, she attended the Daughters of Wesley Sunday School Class regularly. She is a charter member of the Rose Circle of the Sanford Garden Club and was also active in the Woman's Club and the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. McCaskill operated a feed store prior to his death three years ago. The couple had no children and Mrs. McCaskill resided at 2068 Grandview Avenue before entering Seminole Lodge.

Zeta Xi Chapter Announces Schedule For Baby Contest

Dora Lee Russell was hostess for the March meeting of Zeta Xi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

A luncheon honoring the rushers was planned for Saturday, March 27, at the Windjammer.

Kitty Corley, Ways and Means chairman, announced that seven babies have been entered in the annual baby contest. Entries and sponsors are Scudder Bunnell, Sanford Seminoles Jaycee Wives, Deborah Emerson, Anna Miller Circle, Jeffrey Todd Kipp, Credit Women's Breakfast Club, Timothy Alan Farrens, Pilot Club, Kimberly Jean Harvey, Ladies Auxiliary of the Fleet Reserve Association, Tracy and Tyler Johnson (twins), Women's Medical Auxiliary, and Karen Michelle Brisson, Civitan Club.

The babies' pictures will be displayed in the various stores, March 14 April 3, for the public to view and cast their votes. The Little Red School House and other charities will benefit from the results.

Another Ways and Means project is the packing of boxed dinners to be sold to local plants on March 23.

Jan Cara, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers to be elected at the next meeting: president, Eleanor Butler, vice president, Dora Lee Russell, recording secretary, Flo Wansa, corresponding secretary, Jan Cara, treasurer, Grace Marie Stinebaugh, coordinating committee member, Marchella Dorminey, and alternate, Pat Heers.

Several members recently were guests of Mrs. Hayden Burns, honorary member of Zeta Xi Chapter, in Tallahassee.

Kitty Corley conducted the program, "The Meeting of Beta Sigma Phi."

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Melba Bach, Marchella Dorminey, Flo Wansa, Eleanor Butler, Kitty Corley, Jan Cara, Flora Mae Wells, Kathy Downer, Dora Lee Russell and Grace Marie Stinebaugh.

Horoscope Forecast

WEDNESDAY, MAR. 10, 1965

GENERAL TRENDCIES:

Only by being very still and listening to the voice of your intuitions will you be able to have calmness and a collected mental quality during this otherwise very difficult day. You want to break up conditions—and others are equally willing—so it's best to work alone as much as you can and keep controlled.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Rushing around here and there is just no good, so be sure to compose yourself and carry through in a steady fashion. Don't try to buck the ego of others. There could be serious boomerangs.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) While you may not be commanding the profits you would like, this is not the time to make any radical changes. Await a better time to improve present system. Get work done in serious fashion, without complaint.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) It would do you no good to lose your temper, since this could also be very costly. Look at your problems objectively. Then right any errors with enthusiasm and wisdom. Others respect you more.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) While you would rather ignore certain problems, it is best you handle them wisely and confidentially. Control your emotions. Then give a helping hand to others who need it badly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take no notice of any fretting and fuming on the part of some friend who is oppressed with worry, etc. Don't start arguing with anyone yourself. Handle own problems intelligently.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Show that you give more than enough time to the keeping up of good credit. Others may be dashing about in a worried fashion. See that you don't fall into this category.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) While you may want to get into new outlets, which is fine, you must now carry through with whatever you have at hand and complete same. Take time to study in P.M. Be well prepared.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't feel thwarted because you cannot follow your deepest desires now, since this is not the right time for such. Be careful to get bills paid. Be devoted to mate, since you may have been a little neglectful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Refrain from uttering those critical words with a partner or you will surely get into trouble. Be kind instead, also with others. Then you see everything works to your benefit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are being sought to do a great deal of labor, for which you have no time. Be gracious nonetheless. Take time to help others yourself. Don't be so self-enclosed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Fine new plans are preferred, but they require more study before you put them into operation. Keep aloof from any trouble that one at a distance can start. Be aloof.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't sever connections with one close to you because there is not sufficient warmth, you think. It may be just a temporary indisposition. Assist those who may be in trouble.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, there is much need and desire to delve into whatever is cultural and philosophical, so be sure you have the best books and persons around very early in life. The trouble-shooter is definitely integrated in this chart, whether from an educational, acting, or police standpoint, so be certain to slant the education along such lines. Send to a good college.

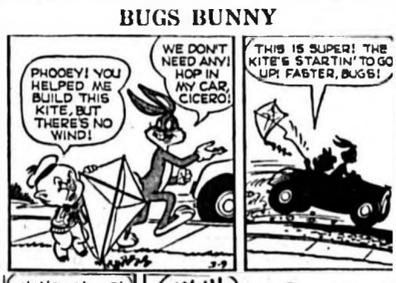

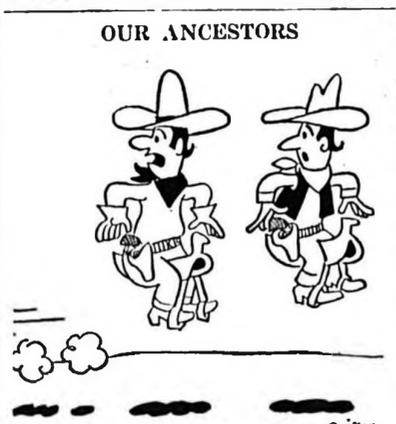

"The Stars Impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Dusty Boots Show Scheduled March 21

By Margaret Cooby

Regular monthly meeting of the Dusty Boots Riding Association was held at the home of the president, Howard Lloyd, Driftwood Lane, Lake Mary. There was a record turnout of members attending the meeting.

Joining the association was Mrs. John (Jesse) McCarthy, a newcomer to Sanford who brought her big black jumping horse "Midnight" with her from Virginia.

It was announced that Vice President Bob White brought home more ribbons from the Sandspur Riding Club horse show in South Daytona. Dusty Boots members decided, unanimously, to renew membership in the Florida Horsemen's Association.

Ida May Sjoblom was present and related some of the details of the forthcoming 100-mile competitive trail ride she has entered which is sponsored by the Florida Horsemen's Association. The organization expressed its desire to be of help to her in the venture, but she reported being as completely prepared as possible for the event.

For the Sunday, March 21 horse show, the association decided on the following events: Junior and Senior Keyhole, Cloverleaf, Polebending and Flag Race. Open events will be Pick-Up Race, Western Pleasure, Hollow Log and Sack Race.

The March gymkhana, it was pointed out, will be the fifth in a series of six shows in which riders are accumulating points toward the Junior and Senior High-Point Mitchell Trailer Trophies. President Lloyd reported that top riders in the junior division are Christine Coplen, Valerie Alfred, Evert Shoemaker, Bruce Brown, Darlene Ferrell and Shirley Durley. In the senior division, top riders are Jack Kelley, Van Sturt, Norma Baldwin, Larry Cannon, Don Knight, and Dale Ferrell and Joyce Kelley.

The March 21 show will be held at the Roden Arena on Osora Road and will start at 1 p.m. The electric timer will be used again timing events to within 1/100th of a second.

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Police reported someone set fire to a painting in the foyer of the North Carolina State campus theater during rehearsals of the play, "The Lady Is Not for Burning."

English Estates PTO Accepts Resignation From President

By Jane Casselberry
Tom Moses, president of the English Estates Elementary School PTO, submitted his resignation at a meeting of the organization held Tuesday night. First Vice President Mrs. W. Taylor Douglas will serve out the remainder of his term.

He also has resigned as Building, Planning and Zoning Official for the city of Winter Park to accept a position with Gypsum Association of Chicago.

A gift was presented him by the PTO in appreciation for a job well done.

The nominating committee presented a slate of officers for the coming year and they will be voted on in an election to be held at the April meeting.

Nominated were Mrs. Patrick Riazzi, president; Mrs. Carlson Blue, first vice president; Bill Pyle, second vice president; Mrs. William Roberts, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Creedon, treasurer, and Mrs. Harold Card, assistant treasurer.

Plans were announced for the Spring Music Festival planned by the PTO as a fund raising event and scheduled for Friday, March 26, at 7 p. m., in the auditorium.

Children, parents, and teachers will participate in the event and there will be a nominal admission fee with children's tickets at half-price.

A poster contest will be held to promote the music festival.

Legion Auxiliary Hears Talk On Values Of Civil Defense

"American women are part of our Civil Defense," so said Howard Harrison in his talk to members of the American Legion Auxiliary 53 at the recent monthly meeting.

"Civil Defense is a bargain and most women like bargains. A good Civil Defense cannot be bought with mere dollars. In the event of another war, which may well be fought with the atom bomb, guided missiles and all the nuclear and chemical weapons of the atomic age, the mother and housewife who worries over safety of her men folk on the front lines will have more pressing worries. She will be concerned with protecting herself and her family from injury and death by these weapons of modern warfare.

"Modern concepts of warfare bring war close to home. In other words, World War III, the war we are trying so hard to keep from happening might reach Park Avenue and First Street, right here in Sanford, even your neighborhood or your own backyard."

Continuing with his talk, Harrison said, "Civil Defense can help to keep us at peace and home preparedness is our answer to the threat of atomic attack."

He urged all the Legion Auxiliary members to take the Civil Defense Course and be prepared in case of emergency.

A question and answer period followed the talk. Members will take steps toward taking the required amount of hours in this training course.

Mrs. Paul Pezold, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. T. N. Dillard, chaplain, led in prayer.

The American Legion will celebrate its 46th anniversary this month. The local Legion and Auxiliary will have a covered dish supper next Monday at the Legion Home.

Mrs. H. L. Johnson was appointed chairman to prepare for the supper with Mrs. Olga Hunter and Mrs. Betty Luecker assisting her.

Mrs. Charles Webster, Americanism chairman, announced winners in the essay contest sponsored by the Auxiliary. The essays were written on the theme of "My Challenge to Communism" by students at Sanford Junior High School. First place winner is Brent Armstrong, second place, Patty Howland and third place, Janice Irah.

Mrs. Pezold appointed a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Madeline Covey, chairman, and Mrs. Hazel Tench and Mrs. Webster.

The April meeting will have Dr. Luis Perez speaking on Communism and Mrs. Hunter will give a short program on Costa Rica.

Bear Lake PTA Fashion Show Set For April

By Maryann Miles

The April meeting of the Bear Lake Elementary Parent-Teacher Association will feature a fashion show with men's clothing being shown from the Varsity Shop in Forest City and midday's styles from Morse's in Seminole Plaza.

Plans for the event were announced at this month's meeting of the PTA by Mrs. Kaye Viets, president, who conducted the business meeting preceding a program by sixth graders of Dexter Wilson, Clay Carroll and Mrs. Helen Leinhardt on the theme, "Around the World," under direction of Mrs. Raymond Holton, music teacher.

A presentation on physical fitness, by Jim Pigott, Seminole High School coach, also was given during the evening. Room count was won by Wilson's sixth grade.

U. S. Jets Aid Staving Off Disaster

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. Air Force B57 jets teamed with Vietnamese troops have broken the Communist grip on Binh Dinh Province and staved off disaster, a U. S. military spokesman reported today.

The province is an area about 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Communists, using the same tactics which defeated the French in the Indochina war, had threatened to cut South Viet Nam in two there and had severed east-west highway 19, the vital supply road between Pleiku and the port of Qui Nhon.

The spokesman said the situation now is under control. Communist activity remained intense and the Viet Cong killed a U. S. Marine officer and wounded another Tuesday night in an abortive attempt to capture a district capital in Binh Dinh.

But in doing so the Viet Cong suffered the second major setback of the week, losing 63 dead.

The first was on Monday when American-trained mountain tribesmen killed more than 100 Viet Cong who attempted to seize their mountain stronghold 15 miles north of the Qui Nhon Pleiku highway.

The battle in which the Marines were casualties took place only 20 miles away.

The Communists estimated at two battalions strong—up to 600 men—attacked and overran three outposts on the perimeter of Hoa An, district capital in Binh Dinh Province.

Then they set an ambush for a government relief force.

The ambush backfired and when the fighting stopped the bodies of 63 guerrillas were strewn on the battlefield.

Vietnamese losses were reported at 18 killed and wounded in addition to the American military advisers. They were not part of the Marine reinforcements which landed at Da Nang.

Four Vietnamese Skyraider fighter bombers aided in driving off the Communist ambushers but a military spokesman in reviewing fighting in Binh Dinh Province credited B57 strikes for much of the success.

He'll demonstrate his sophisticated home-made device whose electronic "sensors" can detect and identify liquid, solid or gas.

Seminole Memorial patients are receiving a personal note from Administrator Bob Besserer, apologizing for the noise during the $1 million expansion program. "We are sorry," Bob writes his "guests," "that construction work is noisy. We wish that somehow the excavating machines, trucks, drills and hoists could operate silently... but they cannot. Please be patient and understanding and be assured that we will do everything possible for your comfort and welfare while here."

Among others who received that note from Besserer, was his "boss," A. B. (Mr. Bart) Peterson Sr., chairman of the hospital's board of trustees, who is battling a siege of bronchitis.

Staff Planner Employed By Seminole Co.

Julius A. Goodin Jr., of Titusville, has been hired as county staff planner by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners.

Goodin was employed by the board Tuesday afternoon and will be attached to the county zoning department.

He has been a planner for the East Central Florida Region Planning Commission in Titusville.

Goodin was hired effective April 1 on a four-day week basis and will go on a full-time status July 1. His salary will be $9,600 a year.

The new planner is a native of Miami and a graduate of the University of Florida. He holds a master's degree in planning from Georgia Tech.

His other experience includes work with the Housing and Home Finance Agency and with the DeKalb County planning office in Decatur, Ga.

Commission Chairman John Alexander said Goodin's work in Seminole County would not be confined to zoning.

"He will determine the best proper development of the county," Alexander said. "He will analyze the county for the best land uses for today and for the future."

The commission chairman said Goodin's job would be as a professional land planner and would be a comprehensive one.

Alexander also pointed out that the federal government in expenditures for roads requires the county to have a professional planner to qualify for funds.

EASTER SEALS for the benefit of the Crippled Children's Society of Seminole County will be placed in the mail later this month. U. S. Decries Alabama Violence

United Press International
They marched 10,000 strong down the main street in Detroit.

They stood in front of the White House with their homemade signs. They prayed on the statehouse lawn in New Hampshire and they sprawled on Chicago's busy streets.

They swarmed out of Harlem and picketed the FBI office in New York. They locked themselves to the post office in Baltimore. They staged a sit-in at Los Angeles, paraded in Cleveland and were driven from the ballroom halls of the Justice Department in Washington.

All across the North Tuesday, whites joined Negroes in protesting racial violence in Alabama.

The largest demonstration took place in Detroit, where Michigan Gov. George Romney and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh led an estimated 10,000 persons down Woodward Avenue.

Cavanagh said the march was "one way of showing our great shock, anger and concern over what has taken place" in Alabama. The demonstrators, most of whom were white, carried signs reading "Send marshals to Selma," "We Shall Overcome," and "We are all brothers."

A civil rights protest rally drew 3,000 persons at the University of California Berkeley campus and nearly 1,000 persons paraded for two hours in front of the White House.

Thirty members of the White House group met with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to discuss what they called "a vacuum of moral leadership on the part of the federal government."

THIS WAY OUT—Washington racial demonstrators have been centering their attention on the office of Nicholas Katzenbach, U. S. attorney general, demanding federal intervention in Alabama. When it comes time for the office to close, police assist the sit-downers to the exits.

Mock Warfare Ends Abruptly
CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (UPI) — "Exercise Silver Lance" ended abruptly Tuesday, three days in advance, when U. S. Marines scored successfully with a pincer movement that defeated the aggressor "Merlin" forces in "Lancelot."

Later in the day, Merlin made surrender overtures.

Lancelot was a friendly mythical nation besieged by guerrillas from Merlin who were supported by Madred.

Lancelot, Merlin and Madred were synonymous with South Viet Nam, North Viet Nam and Red China.

In the decisive maneuver, which battled the Red Chinese and North Korean armies in Korea—made a classic land-air attack that assured Merlin's defeat.

About 50,000 men and 60 ships were involved in the scheduled 18-day exercise, which began last Feb. 23.

A Russian vessel, the tug Arban, observed most of the maneuvers from offshore.

Osteen Bridge Pushed
Seminole County's primary and secondary road requests were presented to the State Road Department at the annual budget hearing for the Fifth District in DeLand Tuesday afternoon.

Along with the road improvements the Seminole group was joined by the Volusia County Commission in pushing for a new span over the St. Johns River at Osteen.

The bridge would replace an old drawbridge on State Road 415.

At the top of Seminole's 13-point primary road program was a request for four-laning State Road 46 from U. S. 17-92 to Melloville Avenue in Sanford.

Dick Judy, State Road Department comptroller, said Seminole would get an estimated $436,900 in secondary

County Joins 'Operation Beautify'

Seminole County Commissioners voted Tuesday to cooperate with the City of Sanford and the Seminole County Beautification Committee with maintenance of plantings along the Seminole Boulevard lakefront drive from I-4 to the city limits.

Sanford area chairman Jack Bolt presented a resolution from the city asking that the county request the State Road Board to permit the use of secondary funds in maintaining, watering, fertilizing, weeding and pruning sabal palms, Spanish bayonets and other hardy plants which will be planted in "island groupings" along the lakeshore.

Beautification officials were to meet at Sanford Naval Air Station this afternoon to accept plants from the base nursery and later at the home of William Heinbuch on Hwy 17-92 to accept a donation of petunia plants.

Mayor Crapps Hospitalized
Mayor J. H. Crapps was admitted to Seminole Memorial Hospital late Tuesday for observation and tests.

The attending physician said today that the Mayor is "not ill, we just wanted him to come in for a check-up. However, we want him to rest and have ordered that he have no visitors."

Former Mayor A. L. Wilson will take over Mayor Crapps' official duties for a few days, City Manager W. E. Knowles informed The Herald.

Minister Hurt Seriously In Rights Clash
SELMA, Ala. (UPI) — Negroes, angered by the beating of three white out-of-town ministers on a city street, vowed to march on the Dallas County courthouse today to protest segregation practices.

One of the ministers, the Rev. James Robb, 38, of Boston, received a severe head injury and was rushed to University Hospital in Birmingham Tuesday night for surgery. His condition was described as "very critical."

The three ministers were part of a number of clergy, many who came to this central Alabama town to participate in a civil rights march to Montgomery Tuesday.

The march, led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., turned back quietly, however, after passing the spot outside the city limits where state troopers and mounted police used tear gas and clubs to break up a similar march Sunday.

State troopers again barred the path of the marchers Tuesday but they stepped aside after granting King and his followers permission to pray. King then turned around and led the marchers back to their rallying point in a church.

Sen. Holland Sees 'Change Of Heart'
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) said he felt the Labor Department's having a change of heart about some aspects of its policy banning importation of farm workers into this country.

"I think the secretary of labor is having a change of heart in regard to cane cutters," he said, after citing a case in which the department tried to get domestic workers to harvest sugar cane in Louisiana.

"I think there is some softening of the policy in other areas, too," he said.

Burns Deciding On Regent Board
PLANT CITY (UPI) — Gov. Haydon Burns reiterated here his intention of representing the vital professions when he appoints his Board of Regents to replace the one which resigned last week.

The chief executive, who attended the opening of the strawberry festival here, said his board will include a doctor and an agricultural expert. He said it was "almost a virtual certainty" that one regent would come from Hillsborough County.

Jackie To Fly
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy will fly to England for the May 14 dedication of a memorial of the late President by Queen Elizabeth.

The monument, financed by private contributions, is being erected at Runnymede, south-west of London, where the Magna Carta was signed in 1215.

Jumper Survives 150-Foot Fall
ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — A Pinellas Park man was plucked from Tampa Bay by a helicopter Tuesday after surviving a 150-foot fall from Sunshine Skyway Bridge.

Police said the man, identified as William L. Russell, was the first of about 20 jumpers to survive the fall.

Russell complained of back pains at Mound Park Hospital, but doctors could find no broken bones or internal injuries.

On-Farm Value Up $3 Million, Tucker Avers

By Paul Brookshire
On-the-farm value of agricultural crops in Seminole County increased $3 million during the last complete season, County Agent Cecil Tucker said today.

In a report to the Seminole County Board of Commissioners, Tucker said the value of crops during the last season was $16.2 million.

Tucker said the agri-business value of Seminole crops was $30.8 million. This included the value of the agricultural product after processing, marketing and transportation.

All produce brokers, marketing firms, harvesting and picking crews, citrus packing houses, processing plants and the many trucking firms are included in this group, Tucker said.

The citrus crop heads the list in value with $7.8 million. Vegetables follow with $3.3 million value.

The Tucker report said the value of Seminole County's agricultural products at a retail level are $47.4 million.
