

Doubt Is Cast On Theory That Pain Is Felt Less By Stoical Russians

NEW YORK, (AP)—If you stub your toe, does it hurt you less than it does a Russian if he stubs his toe? Does a gink in Minsk suffer less from an appendectomy in Pinsk than a Chicago Irishman does in New York? Can he bear up under it better?

These and other questions concerning the phenomena in the world of hurt have been raised by a London specialist in neuritic nerves. He raised them in a column in the British Medical Journal.

Dr. McCraith criticized the old theory that the Russian's mental blood had something to do with his ability to stand up to pain. He said that the Russian's mental blood had something to do with his ability to stand up to pain.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

The resurrection of the Saviour caused a titanic sensation and every convert became a full time preacher. Converts used up their accumulated capital very speedily even to the poor shared the treasures of the rich.

The Tampa Tribune has been acquitted of "Communism". The House Un-American Committee has killed the bill proposing an investigation of the paper.

A New York psychologist has got it figured out why some people are unhappy, frustrated, and suffer from tensions.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson seems to want Russia to get on with the war now if it is determined to make war.

The House of Representatives in the State Legislature voted 63 to 23 in favor of lifting the iron curtain from around the privileged few who have been profiting from State Welfare aid.

A New York Times survey of 72 major colleges in the United States takes note of a dangerous trend in American education—a creeping paralysis of freedom of thought and speech.

A new defense for almost any crime has been worked out by a young mathematician who has been studying Einstein's theory of relativity.

Dean Acheson who says he is not going to resign as Secretary of State, is expected to take the stand this week in defense of his Far Eastern policy.

Another one of former Mayor O'Dwyer's friends, Louis Weber, the king of the numbers racket, has been convicted of lying under oath to the Kefauver committee.

Death Of A Hero

Will American movie-goers accept a tragic ending? Most producers seem to assume that they will not, that all movie audiences want is light entertainment.

One test could come with importation of a new British film dealing with the life and death of "Scott of the Antarctic." Capt. Robert Scott, a great soul and a great leader, set out in 1911 to reach the South Pole, which no one had ever attained.

The weather, which had been with him on the way to the Pole, soon turned bad. He and his men stumbled through blizzard after blizzard, often being obliged to stop completely.

Their bodies were found three months later, with an unfinished journal by Scott which ranks among the most moving pieces of twentieth-century writing.

Books About Peoples

The best way to get to know the people of the world is to visit the countries in which they live and to learn firsthand of their customs, ideas and manner of living.

James Michener, whose first book, "Tales of the South Pacific," won a Pulitzer prize and was made into a musical comedy success "South Pacific," has returned from another trip to the islands which were the source of his inspiration.

Michener writes sympathetically of what he sees and hears, and he reports with a fine descriptive quality that makes the work valuable to people who would like to know more about the world they live in.

"Healthy" Gambling

Nevada's action to restrict interstate ties with its legal gambling enterprise is an interesting development in the nationwide inquiry into gambling and its effects.

Whether legal gambling can be healthy is a debatable question; the majority in most states seems to think that it cannot. But of the damaging influence of illegal gambling there is no doubt.

Wagner Rollins

W. Stephens, second vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Thomas P. Johnson, of Pittsburgh, part owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Roger Shaw of Hartford Conn., and Mrs. Paula Dommerich Siedenburgh of Greenwich, Conn.

W. J. (Funie) Steed, attorney for Wagner, said papers in the suit will be served on the four trustees living in Florida immediately.

Wagner charged two of the 11 were not legally members of the board because their terms had expired last February, and that two others had already tendered their resignations.

He said one trustee wanted him removed because Dr. Wagner had stopped an oil deal by which the trustee would have made $182,000 a commission.

Wagner charges that in 1950, Carrison, chairman of the finance committee, presented a proposal for the college to buy 182,000 shares of Becher Oil Company stock at a total cost of $3,640,000 with Carrison to receive $182,000 from the college as a commission in handling the transaction.

Wagner said he questioned the advisability of the transaction and propriety of the commission.

He said all members of the board attending a Feb. 28 meeting and voted for the reduction of the staff because the financial security of the college was impaired.

The dismissals, with a few exceptions, were to be made on a basis of seniority, although the trustees agreed that "seniority" applied blindly and without consideration of the competence of younger teachers in a dangerous role, seldom in the best interests of any college, he said.

The seniority rule was not to apply to part-time instructors, faculty members who could retire with Social Security at the end of the 1951-52 academic year, or to those who were the only ones in their divisions qualified to teach a particular subject that is considered essential.

He declared he was following the unanimous instruction of the trustees in dismissing the 23 according to a formula on seniority devised by the board, and that after the move became unpopular the trustees sought to undermine the confidence placed in him by the faculty and students by making it appear he was responsible.

Wagner charged also that the New York meeting was not attended by three-fourths of the trustees as required under the college by-laws for removal of the president.

He declared Bancroft and Walton are not legal members of the board because they were appointed to fill unexpired terms of Milton J. Warner and Dr. Lawrence Duggan, which expired last February, and that they were not re-elected.

He said Stephens and Shaw had already tendered their resignations; that Bancroft announced at the Apr. 14 meeting that he had the resignations but the two continued to serve and voted for his dismissal.

Among the overt, or illegal acts which Wagner alleged the trustees committed are: Appointment of a special investigation committee by Bancroft, and service by Carrison, Walton and Haynes as members of such committee.

Recommendation by the committee that Wagner admit to faculty and students that the dismissal order was a mistake and that he should take a year's leave from the college to raise funds.

Suggestion by investigating committee of the Apr. 14 meeting that Wagner resign and the subsequent adjournment of the meeting to reconvene in New York.

Efforts to force Wagner's resignation by spreading rumors among the faculty and student body and by aiding in the preparation of a special issue of the Sandspur "wholly given over to vicious, and malicious attacks upon the plaintiff."

Pvt. Paul Lawrence Completes Training

Pvt. Paul E. Lawrence, son of Mrs. J. T. Lawrence, Star Route, Enterprise, has recently completed a 14 weeks training cycle with Battery C, 45th Field Artillery Battalion of the famed 8th Infantry Division at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Pvt. Lawrence was inducted into the Army last February. He attended Enterprise High School. During his 14 weeks of training Pvt. Lawrence fired most of the light infantry weapons, engaged in practical squad and platoon problems, and underwent intensive physical training in preparation for duty as a combat or service type replacement.

sentatives in the House. Morgan's Appropriations Committee brought in a bill calling for expenditures of only $244,000,000 and he fought bitterly against every one of the amendments which increased the House bill to a final figure of $268,053,037, with no money provided for new buildings.

Although the Senate's appropriations measure calls for expenditures of $278,684,096, it actually is lower than the House measure since the senators earmarked $10,790,659 for construction purposes.

Senate President Sturgis of Ocala hasn't named the Senate's conference committee yet. Appointment of the House appropriations conferences was the prime development of a dull morning in both houses.

Afternoon and evening meetings are scheduled, but no controversial measure are expected to be brought up in either house.

Final passage of the bill to liberalize the strictly-phased, but not strictly-observed, Sunday blues laws met an unlooked-for delay in the House.

The representatives refused to accept a Senate amendment to their bill which would have imposed a minimum $50 fine on violators of the Sunday closing laws.

Rep. Carlton of Duval led the fight against the Senate amendment. He said the Senate proposal was too stiff and argued the fine should be left to the discretion of the courts.

mass in front of the 2nd Division that wasn't there before.

"Then came 10 P. M., and I wanted more information. The boys in the office were all smiles now. Reports had just come in that there weren't as many Chinese massed up there as they had thought, after all.

"It's pretty confusing, don't you think?"

Newspapermen, trying to report the war, find it pretty confusing too. They receive four or five different reports a day on one situation.

To find anyone to quote directly on the situation is pretty tough, too. And when you finally do, nine out of 10 times the military censor won't let you have the source. They have their very good reasons.

"We're not crying wolf when we suddenly come up with a few hundred thousand troops who apparently weren't there before," the officer said. "After all just remember that the Chinese are now operating in some of the sandest country in Korea. They can hide and come out and then hide again.

"A niler goes up and looks over the hills and woods and can't see a thing. A couple of hours later those same hills and woods are crawling with Chinamen. And that's the way it's been all the time.

"It's pretty confusing."

committee, named in 1949, has just concluded a similar inquiry. A bill to appropriate $2,500,000 to start work on the proposed University of Florida Medical School was introduced by Rep. Deble of Taylor county.

Board powers to investigate illegal gambling and corruption of public officials was advocated for the attorney general and state attorneys in a bill by Senator Branch of Tampa.

Branch proposed that the attorney general or any state attorney should be allowed to inquire into the crimes as carried on across county lines.

The officials would be directed to investigate the crimes upon written request by the Governor or by the Legislative Council.

The officials would be given the power to subpoena witnesses. Penalties of such crimes would be made to the Governor or Legislative Council and made available to any grand jury, prosecutor or legislative committee.

A proposed constitutional amendment by Senator Kiew of Winter Haven would permit the legislature to pass laws creating in every Florida county five school districts and setting an uniform machinery for collection of district taxes.

The representatives learned from their legislative committee that it cost $13,905,051 to run the House chamber in here for the current session.

Wilbur Shaw thinks so much of this new Chrysler, he has selected it as a Pace Car for the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

WILBUR SHAW, AMERICA'S MOST FAMOUS DRIVER, DRIVES NEW 1951 CHRYSLER—REPORTS TO YOU ON REVOLUTIONARY FIREPOWER ENGINE AND HYDRAGUIDE POWER STEERING

Here are Wilbur Shaw's reactions—in his own words—as taken down by a recording machine in the car: "The '51 Chrysler has it! With this new engine and power steering, the best on any U.S. car, it's a whole different automobile. I'm completely bowled over by the ease of steering! This steering combined with the automatic transmission... is the nearest thing to an automatic pilot for a car I can possibly imagine.

"This engine... I can't get over the amount of power and snap in this engine... it's incredible! I drove 111 miles with the feeling I had expended no more effort than in driving around the block. When Mrs. Shaw drove, her comments just about squared with mine. Here's what she thinks of the 1951 Chrysler..."

Mrs. Shaw: "At first I could hardly believe the ease with which I could turn the wheel. That's important... especially in the summertime. Often after I have parked a car in the average parking space, I feel I should taxi home, shower and get dressed again. But with Hydraguide Power Steering I parked it with one hand. It practically drives itself!"

Shaw inspects FirePower, the greatest new engine in 27 years.

Smartly styled Chrysler convertible to pace Indianapolis 500-mile race.

"In fact, I think so much of this car, I've selected it as Pace Car of the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race!" (Mr. Shaw's comments are reprinted through the courtesy of Popular Science Magazine.)

Mr. Shaw refers of course to standard passenger cars—not racing cars or special models.

The Lamplighter

By TOM DOYLE

We have on previous occasions discussed films which were outstanding. Once again, there is another, currently released, which deserves the attention of every one...

This film will do more to further the cause of good music, than any other has done. There will be music and more music, the story definitely playing second fiddle...

Some who see this film will have only a vague knowledge of who this man, Caruso, is. Some will leave the theater feeling their contention that grand opera is as much long-bore as has been justified and verified...

Opera, as an art form, translates human experience. The plight of Madame Butterfly is seen in all its poignancy and pathos. If someone were to sit down and relate the incident, the listener would be casually compassionate...

At any rate, getting back to "The Great Caruso", it is recommended heartily as a colorful portrayal of opera's golden age, and as a vehicle for the chief-dramaturges of operatic repertory.

Confusion from last week, the "Big Mo" is stationed in Norfolk, Va.

The L.H. picnic which was scheduled for May 25 has been postponed indefinitely.

Those attending the picnic of the Junior Classes at Mr. and Mrs. G. Pelham were as follows: DeLoose, Supple, Sandra, Luke, Sandra Peterson, Kenneth, Holsack, Larry Hart, Louis, Albert, Herman, Allan, Billy, Schultz, Mimmie Peterson, John Peterson. Lunch and drinks were served.

Mrs. J. S. Peterson took her car to help with transportation to New Smyrna.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Alban have moved into their new home on the Osteen Sanford Road.

The boys and girls camp which is being built 2 miles north of Osteen is beginning to take shape. Several buildings are already up. I understand the camp will be open about July 1. Herman Morris is head of the camp.

Fried chicken takes on extra goodness when served with hash of brown potatoes and broiled tomatoes; or serve the chicken with corn fritters, crisp bacon slices, and maple syrup.

Floor Show Given At Service Center

Naval and local talent combined Saturday night to present an interesting floor show at the Service Center in a program sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary as a climax to Armed Forces Day.

The Center was crowded to capacity as servicemen and junior hostesses attended in large numbers.

Phil Gard, former orchestra leader of Evansville, Ind., now stationed here with the Navy, scored a hit with his imitations of Frankie Laine, Phil Harris and other band leaders. He was introduced by Mrs. Richard Lattell who also announced that plans are pending for an amateur night program at the Center.

Miss Ann Whitaker opened the program with a brightly tap dance and drew much applause. Equally applauded were the brilliant feats of Miss Norma Page Harvey, aerobically dancer. Both girls are Seminole High School students.

Lieut. Conde Trapson of the Third Air Group added an exciting program in a series and led off announcing a Paul Jones match with Mrs. Edward Lane accompanying on the piano. The balance of the music for dancing was furnished by the phonograph.

Mrs. F. A. Covington was chairman of the senior hostesses and was assisted by Mrs. M. E. Baker, Mrs. Roy Tills and Mrs. B. I. Miller. Mrs. Lane had charge of the decorations which included large baskets of flowers. Refreshments were served. Mrs. S. C. Graham had charge of the registration of junior hostesses.

CHASE & CO. PICNIC
More than one hundred executives and employees of Chase and Company enjoyed a picnic at San Lando Springs last Saturday afternoon. Those wishing to socialize gathered early in the afternoon then assembled around the picnic tables where a delectable menu of fried chicken, sweet corn, broiled salad, pickles, olives, potato, lima beans, coffee and Coca Cola had been prepared by a committee headed by Al Duxbury.

Recital Is Planned By Duxbury School

The Duxbury School of Dancing will present the annual recital for the benefit of the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The recital, under the direction of Mrs. Doris Duxbury, will be in the Seminole High School Auditorium Friday night at 8:00 P. M. The theme of the recital will be "Happy Landings."

rate in the first three months of this year—up $42,000,000,000 since the Korean fighting began.

This was reported last night by the Commerce Department, which declared that "the fundamental driving force" that pushed the gross national product to new record heights was the government defense program.

Analysis of the supporting figures showed, however, that some of the gain was more apparent than real. Price inflation has caused dollar totals to rise more rapidly than physical output. (The $279,800,000,000 gross national product of 1950 amounted to only $153,000,000,000 by the yardstick of dollars of 1939 purchasing power.)

Defense purchases hit a rate of $25,000,000,000 a year roughly twice as great as in the first half of 1950. Wages and salaries advanced by $7,000,000,000 to a $162,000,000,000 a year—21 per cent higher than a year ago.

Korean War

on the west-central front, AP correspondent George A. McArthur reported.

In this sector, Reds retreated through a driving rain. Front line dispatches Monday night told of Communist withdrawals before advancing Allies across more than 20 miles of the front.

Reds were reported abandoning their bridgeheads below the Pukhan and Hongchon rivers, and pulling back toward Chunchon in the center.

Most of the Red casualties were inflicted by the U. S. Second Division which the Communists set out to destroy. The Eighth Army said the Second Division killed or wounded 37,750 Reds in five days.

"We've taken the starch out of the offensive," Almond said. "And I feel certain that if they come at us in even greater numbers we can handle them again."

The Reds threw 1,250,000 men at this sector in their second spring offensive, Almond said. The first all-out smash began Apr. 22 and lasted through the end of 10 days.

In their new drive, the Reds fell before the tremendous fire power of U. S. artillery, planes and automatic weapons... were trapped on barbed wire entanglements... blown up by mines.

The enemy "may be getting ready to strike again," Almond said, "and if he does we are prepared to meet him."

"We have a line across the peninsula and we are holding it. We have a line of fire that operates day and night, rain or shine. Our capability of bringing down instant fire whenever we sight these people is tremendous."

Much of Sunday's record casualty toll, he said, was compiled when artillery caught the Chinese trying to carry off their dead all along a two and a half mile valley.

Eighth Army reports and field dispatches had given no hint of heavy Red assaults Sunday.

U. S. forces suffered "comparatively few casualties" from the Reds' human sea wave attacks, Almond reported. "And the Second Division is still in good shape."

Haley Committee

to listen to them," he added.

Haley said if the pair accepts the public invitation to testify the committee would like to hear their stories Tuesday night. He explained that committee will spend Wednesday and Thursday writing its report.

Haley said it had been decided not to subpoena Craig and Pritchard because two days would be needed to get the papers to Miami.

"Then those served would have two days to respond. That wouldn't put them here until Thursday," Haley said.

The committee has issued three other public invitations without success. Dog track operator William H. Johnston and industrialist Lou Wolfson, heavy contributors to the Warren campaign, were invited to appear voluntarily after subpoenas issued for them were returned unserved because they were outside the state.

Lester Velle, author of a re-telling of Johnston's alleged influence in Florida government, also was invited to testify.

None of the three has responded with an appearance.

McWhorter was released from subpoena by the committee after his testimony Saturday night. Haley said he understood the witness has returned to Miami.

McWhorter told the committee Craig had told him "if there was a possible change in this Legislature" he was going to get Warren impeached.

Craig spent $50,000 without success in an effort to get the 1949 Legislature to legalize bookmaking and was angered because Warren had refused to help him, McWhorter said.

The witness said he had worked as a bartender in two of Craig's gambling establishments and had spied on other gamblers for Craig.

He also testified that he had worked as an investigator for both Dan Sullivan, director of the Miami Crime Commission, and Dade County Sheriff Jimmy Sullivan and at the same time.

McWhorter told the committee he had seen Pritchard hand the fat brown envelope to Younger in the dining room of the McAllister Hotel. He said he had happened on to the incident after dropping into which he said couldn't be given—that Russia would not enter the fighting.

George said he couldn't see why Chiang Kai-Shek couldn't be permitted to use his Nationalist troops from Formosa to harass China.

"Well," Bradley replied, "from the military point of view there is no objection, as I see it, to removing any restrictions on his (Chiang's) doing these things, provided he doesn't get mixed up in such a way as to involve our own forces."

He added, however, that if the Nationalists took such losses both in men and equipment that they jeopardized the security of Formosa the military thinking might be different.

MacArthur's proposed Korean strategy includes a naval blockade of Red China, bombing of Manchurian bases, and looting Chinese forces for operations against the Chinese Communists. The Nationalist Chinese are now "neutralized" on Formosa.

MacArthur, when testifying before the Senate inquiry into his dismissal, contended his program could be carried out without any great increase in military strength.

Bradley disputed that. He said MacArthur's proposals would mean "spreading our effort a great deal more than it is spread at the present time."

Toubling on the global necessities of the present time, Bradley said it was important to build up security forces in Europe because Russia would be immensely strengthened if it took over Europe. He said the mere loss of U. S. Allies there would mean losing "some very important bases" for air strikes at Russia in event Moscow forces the world to war.

Bradley also said he expects the world tension stirred up by Russia to continue for a long time. "We don't seem to have the immediate answer to stop it."

Bradley was before the two Senate groups conducting the inquiry—Armed Services and Foreign Relations—for three hours today. He was asked to come back at 9 A. M. tomorrow. On the spot of MacArthur's dismissal, Bradley said it was approved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff because MacArthur was out of sympathy with the administration strategy of confining the war to Korea. He said they felt that MacArthur's public statements had "endangered" the principle of civilian control over the military authorities.

But under questions Bradley the hotel to make a phone call.

McWhorter testified "it was he who gave Governor Warren the information about the alleged envelope passing."

He also testified he had seen Younger in Craig's home on Harley Road, Miami. He claimed he was not mistaken in his identification of Younger.

High Court Decision Kills Fair Trade Laws

WASHINGTON, May 21—(AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that state "Fair Trade" laws do not bar stores from cutting prices if the stores refuse to sign pricing agreements.

Justice Douglas delivered the 6-3 decision which attorneys told the high court in advance would have the effect of killing the fair trade laws now in effect in 45 states.

Such laws have been adopted by all states except Vermont, Texas, Missouri and the District of Columbia. They permit the fixing of minimum retail prices by agreements between manufacturers and retailers.

Joining Douglas in the court majority were Chief Justice Vinson and justices Reed, Jackson, Clark and Minton.
