Facing Dope Charges 3 Suspects Arraigned

By MARION BRETHER
Two defendants arrested in an April 2 weekend drug raid by sheriff's department vice squad agents, heard their cases for arraignment before Circuit Judge Domnick Salfi this morning.

Village Approves Expenses

By ANN RILEY
NORTH ORLANDO—Ordinance 81, concerning expenses for councilmen, was accepted on the first reading last night at Village Council meeting. It calls for pay of $86 a month for the mayor and $28 for each of the five department heads.

The arraignment of Ronald Revels, 18, charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics in three separate cases, was continued until April 27 at 9 a.m.

An apparent misconception over defense of the youth arose when last week the court was advised that attorney Carroll Burke would represent the defendant. Burke was listed on the arraignment docket as Revels' attorney, with the public defender as alternate.

This morning, Burke appeared briefly and told the court that he did not represent Revels, and subsequently Julian was appointed as defense counsel. Julian told the court that the defendant's mother had called him and advised that neither she nor her husband could be present this morning due to employment commitments.

Letters To The Editor SJC Appreciates Herald

Editor, Herald:
All of us at Seminole Junior College are keenly appreciative of the fine news coverage given our activities by the Sanford Herald. The publicity we have received has aided us greatly in performing our community services. We were very pleased with the excellent editorial "Seminole Junior College: Unified Effort Wins" and your interest in our dedication ceremonies. We have also been pleased with the manner in which our athletic program has been covered. The Tournament Editor of the Herald was a fine exhibition of the continuing cooperation we have so steadily received.

Seminole Junior College thanks you for your support. Sincerely, Earl S. Weidon "For" Seminole Junior College District Board of Trustees

I read the article about the railroad crossing on West SR 46. True, it is rough going across it, but after crossing over it one time you would think people would slow down for it the next time. Also by law, you are supposed to slow down for a railroad crossing anyway.

By 'We Care' Need Volunteers

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI
The Seminole County Mental Health Association with Ralph Pezold president, is engaged in an intensive effort to enlist volunteers for a given important phase of mental health service to this community. This is the "We Care" program.

The crisis lines have been in existence in Orange County since October of 1968, having been started by the Mental Health Association. The number has been listed in the Sanford area so that troubled citizens of this community might avail themselves of the assistance.

Volunteers who have been screened and trained do the telephone counseling. They have been trained in crisis intervention which means that they are ready and willing to help a caller who has reached a point from which he feels there is no visible means of return.

Teacher Threatens To Quit

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Roy Mitchell, University of Florida's only black administrator, threatened Monday to resign and take 200 black students with him if University President Stephen C. O'Connell didn't grant amnesty by April 23 to arrested black students.

Mitchell, the university coordinator for minority affairs since 1969, discussed recent disturbances on campus with black student leaders on the university campus last night.

Republicans To Hear Incorporation Talk

DEBARY—Dr. Paul Douglas, chairman of the department of political science at Rollins College, Winter Park, will be the featured speaker at the monthly meeting of the DeBarry Republican Club Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the DeBarry Community Center.

Dr. Douglas, who has been recommended to the DeBarry public affairs committee as the most knowledgeable authority on the advantages and disadvantages of incorporation for small towns in Florida, will present an impartial analysis of the pros and cons of incorporation.

Questions may be presented from the floor at the conclusion of his discussion. Dr. Douglas' discussion is the first of a program recommended to oblige the Volusia county secondary road funds to guarantee the $14 million toll bridge construction over the Halifax River. He will present a petition asking that a voter referendum be offered on this commitment of county road funds by the Volusia County Council.

Rejects Brevard Request Volusia Extends Canal Support

By MARION BETHA
It has been announced that the Volusia County Commission has rejected a request by the Brevard County Commission to join efforts in halting construction of the St. Johns-Indian River Canal, which the Seminole County Commission has also refused to consider. John Kridler, chairman of the district, asked that the Volusia County Commission proceed with the canal until studies are completed by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers upon the realignment of the canal from Lake Monroe to Lake Harney. The long, arduous battle which Kridler has waged through the years, almost unanimously brings to mind efforts of other civic leaders from the recesses of the past, and which are found in the history of Sanford from 1926-1928.

BUICK BARGAIN DAYS ARE HERE

Buick Bargain Days are saving days

A bargain price on a stripped-down car is no bargain. But a Buick or Opel at a bargain is something else again. Because we're not selling some special stripped-down model. We're selling Buicks and Opels, the same great cars we sold all year.

With one difference. The deals have never been better. Which means that you can move out in a new Buick or Opel at a price that's hard to believe. What Buick talks about a bargain, we give you something to believe in.

Your Buick-Opel dealer will give you better reasons to buy a new car now than anybody else.

The business of auto safety.

Auto safety is everyone's concern. But it's our business. And we think the attention that's being paid to auto safety now is a good thing. Because it will result in better driving for everyone.

And, frankly, better driving for everyone means better business for us.

We say Buick is something to believe in. That's why we're trying to make it easy to be safe by putting in safety features that work by themselves. And rest. And sober. We're all in this together. And together we can solve the auto safety problem once and for all.

And the time is now.

Penn Central Operation Aired In Thick Report

By H.L. SCHWARTZ III
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A confidential 1969 memo from the files of the Penn Central railroad sought a pay raise for a bookkeeper, praising his "imaginative" work which a federal agency indicated helped conceal impending financial disaster.

The memo cited C.S. Hill, then manager of Penn Central's accounting division. He has since risen to controller and is one of the few men still working for the railroad who were in high positions during the plunge toward bankruptcy proceedings.

The Penn Central filed for reorganization under the federal bankruptcy laws June 21, 1970. The railroad has a new top management team under control of five court-appointed trustees.

The memo praising Hill is one of the highlights of a 1,500-page report on Penn Central issued Monday by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The 12-page report discloses nothing sensational that has not been reported previously. But its wealth of private memos, notes, letters, reports and meeting minutes provides the most comprehensive picture to date of the Penn Central demise, plus a rare glimpse into the executive suite.

In one exchange of letters, a former director wrote in December 1969 that facts were being withheld from the public. But his plea for complete disclosure was spurned by the chairman of the board.

Main points of the report are that the Penn Central continued to pay huge dividends while its troubles increased; that these troubles were concealed from the public and that contrary to statements by some officials the line's acquisition of nonrail road properties generated little operating cash.

Unlike a series of earlier reports by the House Banking Committee — the ICC study makes no charges of wrongdoing. An agency spokesman said the ICC may publish conclusions after completion of a second report later this year.

The memo concerning Hill was written by former controller W.S. Cook to David C. Bevan, then finance chairman. Dated Oct. 3, 1967, the memo sought a raise in Hill's pay from $25,500 to $27,500.

"He is extremely creative, is an excellent manager, is very cost-conscious," wrote Cook. "His imaginative accounting is adding millions of dollars annually to our reported net income."

Rotary Observes Birthday

The Sanford Rotary Club held its golden anniversary at the Trophy Lounge. The dinner was attended by members and former members of the Sanford Rotary Club, their wives, and guests who included, District Governor Mark Hollis and his wife, Jan.

Virgil Bryant, local president, presided at the meeting, with George Touhy giving a short history of the first 50 years of the Sanford Rotary Club.

The main address of the evening was given by Jim Bill, who is known as "Mr. Think Positive." Bill has made over 2000 appearances as a speaker to conventions, sales and civil groups, also conducting creative thinking seminars.

After some brief remarks by Hollis, he presented Bryant a plaque from President William Walk of Rotary International in commemoration of the club's 50 years service in Rotary. Hollis then cut a birthday cake and presented the first piece to "Mr. Sanford Rotarian," Touhy.

All of the wives present were presented with an ask tray inscribed with 50 years of Sanford Rotary Club and the Rotarians were presented with golden anniversary pins as mementos of the occasion. Martin Neiswander was chairman of the anniversary dinner and celebration.

Maintenance Way To Cut Pollution

"Where there's smoke, there's fire," goes the old saying.

The same formula doesn't necessarily apply to air pollution. Just because there's no visible sign of pollution coming from your car's exhaust pipe, it may not mean your car isn't polluting excessively.

Visible exhaust smoke generally appears when the engine is malfunctioning. Burning oil in the engine or an excess of unburned gasoline helps create the exhaust smoke.

There are obvious signs that your car is polluting.

However, there are times when an oversupply of unburned hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxides cannot be seen. If this is the case, how can you tell when your car is polluting?

Look for these warning signs:

- A. Increased oil consumption
- B. Loss of acceleration
- C. A noticeable drop in fuel economy
- D. Hard starting
- E. Stalling
- F. Rough running and idling engine

These conditions mainly stem from faulty ignition, compression or emission control devices.

Take the case of a misfiring spark plug. A five per cent rate of misfire can increase unburned hydrocarbon emissions by 300 per cent.

Consider a clogged PCV valve or dirty air cleaner. These can almost double the pollutants from your engine.

In addition, a University of Michigan engineering school study showed that emissions of unburned hydrocarbons were reduced an average of 55 per cent following tune-ups.

To make certain your car is as pollution-free as it was originally designed to be, the following should be checked at your favorite service outlet:

ENGINE TUNE-UP: A complete tune-up every year or 16,000 miles restores efficient combustion. In addition, an engine check should be performed every 5,000 miles. Tune-up should include new spark plugs, points and condenser plus other basic services your engine needs.

COMPRESSION TEST: Check for worn piston rings and burned valves which allow excessive smog-producing pollutants to escape from your engine.

EMISSION CONTROL DEVICES: To be effective these components must be serviced regularly as directed.

HOW ABOUT THIS!

Did you know that it would take you about 95 years to visit all our National Forests and enjoy their recreation opportunities, natural wonders, scenery and historical sites? And that's even if you spent the entire year camping, staying at each campground just for a week!

by your car owner's manual.

Cars of today are 80 per cent more pollution free than those of 1964 and in a few years the internal combustion engine will be virtually non-polluting. But conscientious maintenance will still be needed to keep them that way.

New Handbook On Safety Says . . .

Don't Blame The Cars

The Safe Driving Handbook, Grosset & Dunlap, 127 pages. Since the first self-propelled vehicle moved over a road, there have been thousands of improvements made in the car. In that time, there have been no basic improvements in the operator: man.

Based on this premise, the Aerospace Education Foundation, with an assist from the United States Air Force, has published The Safe Driving Handbook, which, it is hoped, is a step in the right direction to help improve the driver.

The foundation makes reference to the difference between the flyer and the automobile driver. They conclude that driving on a city street is more complicated than flying. Their reasoning is that conditions on the ground are more challenging than in the air.

The Safe Driving Handbook covers the whole spectrum of driving situations, including considerable emphasis on driver personality and attitude, important factors in the overall safety of the operator. It also states that boredom, a main reason for driver inattention, is involved in nearly every form of unsafe driving.

The handbook reduces safe driving techniques to basic fundamentals: where and how to sit in the driver's seat so you become less fatigued and therefore more alert; techniques in braking, speeding, passing and stopping; information on recovering from a skid; importance of conscientious automobile maintenance, estimating following distance for safe braking; right of way at intersections, and hundreds of other well-explained and illustrated tips.

The book also describes in detail how a driver can judge his own driving ability. This factor is important when you consider that even the worse drivers feel they are among the best, according to the authors. This observation was made when scientists interviewed drivers who were in bad collisions and it was learned that 80 percent of these drivers were convinced that the other driver was to blame.

When asked if they thought a refresher course in operating the automobile would help them avoid accidents in the future, only one in 20 thought it could teach them anything. Only two percent of these drivers thought that courtesy was important in any way when driving.

For emergency situations the handbook even has tips on "How To Choose What To Hit" to help avoid possible serious injury. Choose a utility pole, for instance, instead of a large tree or a boulder and the impact is cushioned.

The information in the booklet has been successful in reducing the number of automobile accidents among Air Force personnel and reducing fatalities by 25%. It is scheduled in the course of study for airmen. It could also be studied usefully as just starting or have been driving for 30 or 40 years.

Equipment such as that in use at the Auto Club of Missouri's St. Louis diagnostic center takes the guess work out of car service. This machine checks ignition condition in a matter of minutes with complete accuracy. It's just one of the new tools available to technicians to help them do their work more quickly, accurately and at a lower cost to the motorist.

Electronics Used To Speed Repairs

In automotive service, necessity has literally become the mother of invention. New developments in service equipment and techniques have been brought about by a growing shortage of mechanics.

In 1960, there was one mechanic for every 60 cars. Today the ratio is over one to 90 and conservative estimates raise for 120 cars during the present decade.

How to handle the increased load? The automotive service industry has come up with several approaches to the solution, not the least of which is improved facilities, from building design to space-age equipment.

Electronic instrumentation, power equipment and specialized tools make it possible for mechanics to diagnose and correct car troubles in a fraction of the time it took just a few years ago. Imagine having four tires installed, wheels aligned and balanced . . . all during a lunch hour stop!

Accident repairs which would have been prohibitively expensive if not impossible, now are routine, thanks to impressive new equipment which scientifically "decrashes" the car.

Electronic testing equipment makes it possible for a technician to analyze an engine's condition with extreme accuracy, pinpoint potentially troublesome components and put the car back into optimum performance condition in much less time actually, than the old fashioned "guess and replace" tune-up used to take.

In the long run, such service is a true bargain, since the owner is paying for the parts and service he needs, yet no failure-prone components go overlooked.

The tremendous increase in the popularity of air conditioning in cars has added another dimension to automotive service. Whereas these units once were handled only by a limited number of specialists, many shops now offer air conditioning service.

Developments in tools and training techniques have made this possible.

New training facilities are being made available to service stations and repair shop personnel by car factories as well as by manufacturers of parts and service equipment.

Want To Enjoy A Picture-Perfect Trip?

Before leaving on a motor trip, the average driver is likely to have his car inspected to make sure it is running properly and smoothly.

In the same vein, the camera depended upon for the vacation record should also receive the same careful inspection. There is nothing as aggravating or disappointing as discovering those fabulous pictures you thought you took are all a blur or nothing at all.

The easiest way to check the camera, especially if it has not been used for a while, is to shoot a test roll of film. If the pictures are satisfactory, you can be reasonably sure your camera is working properly. If not, take it to a dealer and have him check it.

the greatest effect on color film. In summer, don't place your camera or film in the trunk, glove compartment or on the rear deck. The best place for the camera is on the seat beside you. Extra film can be carried in a cooling chest,

While it's possible to take good pictures from inside the car, it's better to get outside the vehicle, especially in a scenic spot. Even in the sunshine, using a flash bulb will lighten the effect of the photo as it eliminates shadows.

Are You In Shape?

It's one thing to get your car in good condition for that vacation trip. It's equally important to make sure you are in good condition — both physically and mentally — for those long hours behind the wheel.

The following are suggestions on making sure your trip will be a safe one as well as a pleasant one:

- If you are tired, stop driving. Face yourself; apply common sense.
  - Eat lightly to avoid sluggishness.
  - Don't rely on drugs or pills to prevent drowsiness. Keep something handy to chew. Light snacks help keep you alert.
  - If you are driving alone, talk, sing, whistle or play the radio. This also keeps you alert.
  - Never drive more than three hours without stopping for a stretch or a cup of coffee.
  - Avoid driving at a constant speed. By varying your rate of travel slightly, you can help combat "highway hypnosis."
  - Keep at least one window or vent open for a steady flow of fresh air.
- FOR THE ROAD
- Rely on reflectorized road markings for visual clues. Use shoulder lines to keep "to the right" or roadway, especially on two-way roads.
  - Keep glancing across the road surface between center and shoulder lines to keep eyes alert and functioning properly. Don't focus your vision on a single light or line ahead. This tires eyes.
  - Drive slower at night to compensate for darkness.

Altamonte Takes Elementary Unit

By RAY KNIGHT

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Tuesday's council meeting saw Altamonte Elementary School annexed to the city, on a motion by Councilman Helen Keyser, with a unanimous vote. In the discussion, Mayor Lawrence Swofford explained that the school will connect into the water and sewer service, according to the City Charter. The State Board of Health will specify it also.

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

It was bound to happen, after displaying that photo of the Sanford airport barracks being burned. Complaints from two areas of thought... about pollution and "why didn't they try to sell it or give it some needy families!"

The city did try to "give 'em away," but ran into the usual red tape of having the contractors who were interested put up bonding, insurance, etc., where the costs ate-up any profit from salvage rights.

Secondly, on pollution... I just don't have an answer. Those old "shacks" just had to go. The city did their part... how else would you have handled it?

A mother called me this a.m. about her son presently serving in Nam... said something I'd like to share with you: "Mom, if I have to die, I know I'll go to Heaven... cause I'm surely in Hell right now!"

And the other caller who referred to our Calley petition... the last line said, "God Bless America."

The gentleman said it ought to have said God Bless This Earth. Why should we be greedy in our requests? He has a point... he has a point.

FLASH... a London clothing designer just introduced his newest line of woman's apparel... A Bra which is called a "Booby Trap"...

Sorta makes one wonder... I mean about a reported body in the St. Johns River, and yet no one to my knowledge has shown any interest in same.

Closest to that came on a call from a Sanford resident about a missing relative from upstate New York... thinking that possibly this could be one and the same.

And yet... out of all the people... only the curiosity-seekers express an interest... Did I get you wondering?

From the Mailbag: "Since I've got the infernal (SIC) Revenue in the mail, and I have a stamp left, I may as well pass a little humor on to you."

Somehow I find it very difficult to laugh or find anything funny about paying taxes. Of course I don't really mind... it's each of our duties and responsibility; however, when those elected, indiscriminately pour it down into any convenient rat-hole... that's what "bugs" me.

On the city's part, Swofford suggested the connection fee be reduced for this school to half. Councilman Daniel Dorfman suggested it be kept high enough to recover actual out-of-pocket costs to the city. This found ready agreement.

At this point, Mayor Swofford noted that the parochial school of St. Mary Magdalen is due the same consideration, since it is performing the same service to the community, at no tax cost to the rest of the community.

In the same vein of generosity to the community, Mrs. Keyser laid her salary increase surplus ($75 a month — which she had voted against) on the line to help defray the costs of improving the Altamonte Community Building.

Supt. Don Bundy provided cost estimates for installing a drop-ceiling, insulating and air conditioning the building. On a motion from Thomas Radloff, seconded by Mrs. Keyser, it was decided to take it one step at a time, advertising for bids. Ceiling and insulation will be first.

School Compliance Is Noted

Seminole County Meets High Edict

By BILL SCOTT

The landmark U.S. Supreme Court decision rendered Tuesday relates to three specific school districts and does not relate to Seminole County.

This was the opinion of Douglas Stenstrom, School Board attorney, based on first accounts of the high court's decision.

Stenstrom said, "We have a unitary school system here under the order of Orlando District U.S. Court Judge George Young, which became effective August 1970."

Asked about the situation affecting Midway Elementary School, which is located in a predominantly black community and contains only a sprinkling of white students, Stenstrom said, "Midway may not be a problem but we'll have to wait to get the full decision."

Two New Things

He added, the court said two new things in its decision: The existence of some schools mostly of one race does not necessarily mean there is not a unitary school system.

"The decision on busing is bad as far as the three involved counties, but there is an indication the Supreme Court for the first time has indicated you could have either an all-black or all-white school and still have a unitary system and that you do not have to have in each school a percentage of black and white faculty and students," the attorney added.

Andrew Bracken, school administrative aide, who assisted in the drawing up of the acceptable Seminole County desegregation plan, said today the new ruling would have no effect on the county, since schools here have been paired, zoned and pupils have been bused.

"We have done all we were required to do by the court," added Bracken.

Possible Problems

However, he admitted that the only area of possible problems might be at Midway, which is a black community school with only a few whites who live in the affected attendance area.

Tuesday afternoon, the School Board redrew some South Seminole attendance zones to place pupils in the new Forest City Elementary School, which will open in September.

With a capacity of 660 students, some students have been shifted from overcrowded condition at Bear Lake, Spring Lake and Altamonte Elementary Schools to the new facility.

These shifts will affect areas like Sleepy Hollow, Sanlando Springs, Mobile Manor, Oakland Hills, Rolling Hills and etc., but this does not involve any racial implications, and anticipated no difficulties with the federal government since the new school must have pupils.

RICHARD Jay Payne, a ninth grade student at Crooms High School in Sanford, has been sponsored by Senator Kenneth Plante to serve as a Messenger in the Senate. His term of service will be during the week of May 24. Payne is the son of John D. Payne, 376 Pinetree Lane, Lake Mary.

DET. PAUL WHITLEY on the scene

Mellonville Resident Held In Wife's Murder

A 37-year-old retired Sanford man has been charged with first degree murder in the shooting death early today of his 33-year-old wife.
Det. Paul Whitley said today that Peter D. Owens, 1600 Mellonville Avenue, was charged in the death of Winifred Tyson Owens, his wife, who was found on arrival at Seminole Memorial Hospital at approximately 2 a. m. today.
Whitley said the woman was shot by a .32 caliber pistol but declined to release any further information about the killing, explaining that he was instructed by Assistant State Attorney Fred Leone not to reveal any other information to the press.
Coroner Robert Carroll said today Mrs. Owens was shot in the chin, the bullet coming out the back of her neck. Owens is expected to be arraigned this afternoon. A preliminary hearing will be set later.
A post mortem is being conducted by Daytona Beach pathologist Arthur Schwartz.

Boosters Club Honors Local Legislators

By MARILYN GORDON

The newly organized Legislative Boosters Club will honor Republican members of the Orange-Seminole legislative delegation at an appreciation dinner

June 12 at Mid-Florida Country Club. Tickets are available from Mrs. Gary Baumbaugh, of Longwood, at 431-0395, or the group's treasurer, Robert Brunner of Rolling Hills.
The Legislative Boosters Club was recently formed in Seminole to show appreciation to the Republican legislators and to aid them while they are serving in Tallahassee. Mrs. Baumbaugh stated, "While they are in Tallahassee so many times they feel isolated from their constituents and now they have a group they can contact to get the feeling in this area on certain bills."

At present the group is trying to help Rep. Lewis Earle revise the "right-to-work" bill.
On the opening day of the State Legislature, the boosters sent red, white and blue carnations to each of the Republican members of the delegation... a gesture especially appreciated as these were the only flowers they received.
The boosters group is not Republican per se as it is also open to Democrats and independents. Members include both men and women from Seminole and Orange Counties. There are no meetings or dues and only a dollar initiation fee. The treasurer is the only officer.

CATTLE OWNERS south of Sanford seemingly are unaware — or have forgotten — that (then) Gov. Fuller Warren pushed through a state law abolishing open range privileges on state highway rights-of-way. Last week two accidents occurred on U. S. 17-92 when vehicles and cattle collided. This photo of cattle on the berm along Onora Road extension was taken at 6:45 this morning.

Charges Dropped

By MARION BETHA

The state nolle prossed (dropped) two cases again yesterday. The case of Donald Gallentine, charged on two counts of breaking and entering, a felony, and grand larceny, was nolle prossed as was the case of Michael Crume, charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics.
Patlie Ferguson, charged on two counts of sale and possession of narcotics, entered a guilty plea to possession of narcotics. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Judge Clarence Johnson Jr.
Donald Sowers, charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics, entered a guilty plea to possession of a dangerous drug, a misdemeanor. A PSI was ordered by the court.
Blake Ferguson, charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics, entered a guilty plea to possession of narcotics and a PSI was ordered by the court.

BULLETIN

The case of former District 6 Constable Robert Jane, charged with falsification of public records went to the jury shortly after noon today.
Closing arguments were presented this morning by Assistant State Attorney Fred Leone for 35 minutes, and by James Dausch, defense attorney, for 20 minutes.
Leone spent five minutes in rebuttal, and asked the jury to bring in a guilty verdict and to look "the defendant straight in the eye" as they read the verdict.

in the case, James Lester entered a guilty plea previously to the lesser offense of grand larceny.
Also set for trial on May 3 are the cases of Herman Rembert and O'Dell Hunt.
Rembert, 26-year-old former Head Start school bus driver, is charged with lewd and lascivious assault on a child. He was arrested on Jan. 28 and accused of fondling the child, who was a passenger on the bus. Motions were granted for statements, taking depositions, for witness lists, exchange of witness lists and for continuance.
Hunt, former sheriff's deputy, is charged with extorting $32 from Willie Jones and Carolyn Harvey after threatening to jail them of charges of trespassing at a lovers lane tract last November. Motions to produce witness lists and exchange witness lists were granted. The court reserved ruling on a defense motion to suppress evidence.
