Longwood Eyeing Fluoridation Of Its Water Supply

If the residents of Longwood want fluoridated water, it can be made available, says City Administrator David Chacey.

The Longwood City Commission decided unanimously Monday night to include a fluoridation mechanism in the plans for a new well currently under construction off Range Line Road in the northwest section of the city. Whether the mechanism will be put into use will be up to the residents, however.

When the city mails out its next set of water bills, a small questionnaire will be included on the form. Water customers will be asked whether they favor fluoridation of the city's water supply.

State funds will be used to pay for the fluoridation system's installation and operation for two years afterward, said Chacey.

Fluoride-treated water is a proven deterrent to tooth decay in children.

Longwood's water supply already may have two parts per million (ppm) of fluoride in it. Chacey said fluoride may be present if the city's water is anything like Sanford's, which has been measured at 2 ppm of fluoride.

Sanford adds an extra 6 ppm of fluoride to its water, however. Chacey said adding the fluoridation mechanism in Longwood would cost approximately $500.

Commissioner Russell Grant said some cities on Florida's east coast have been fluoridating their water for years. Those cities often experience clogs at the end of water lines because of fluoridation, he said.

One commissioner has conducted his own poll of Longwood residents to see whether they favor fluoridation.

Commissioner Steven Uskert said he stood in front of the Longwood post office last week asking people about fluoride. He said 102 persons favored it, 21 were opposed and 32 were undecided.

"To me, that's like a public hearing, almost," Uskert said.

The commission also went on record as favoring a new proposal for distribution of federal welfare money, known as "Workfare." Welfare checks and food stamp distribution would become the responsibility of the City Commission if Workfare becomes a reality.

Workfare is currently only a dream of U.S. Rep. Bill Nelson (R-Melbourne). Nelson was able to have the Workfare proposal tacked onto the Farm Bill, S 884, which is currently in conference.

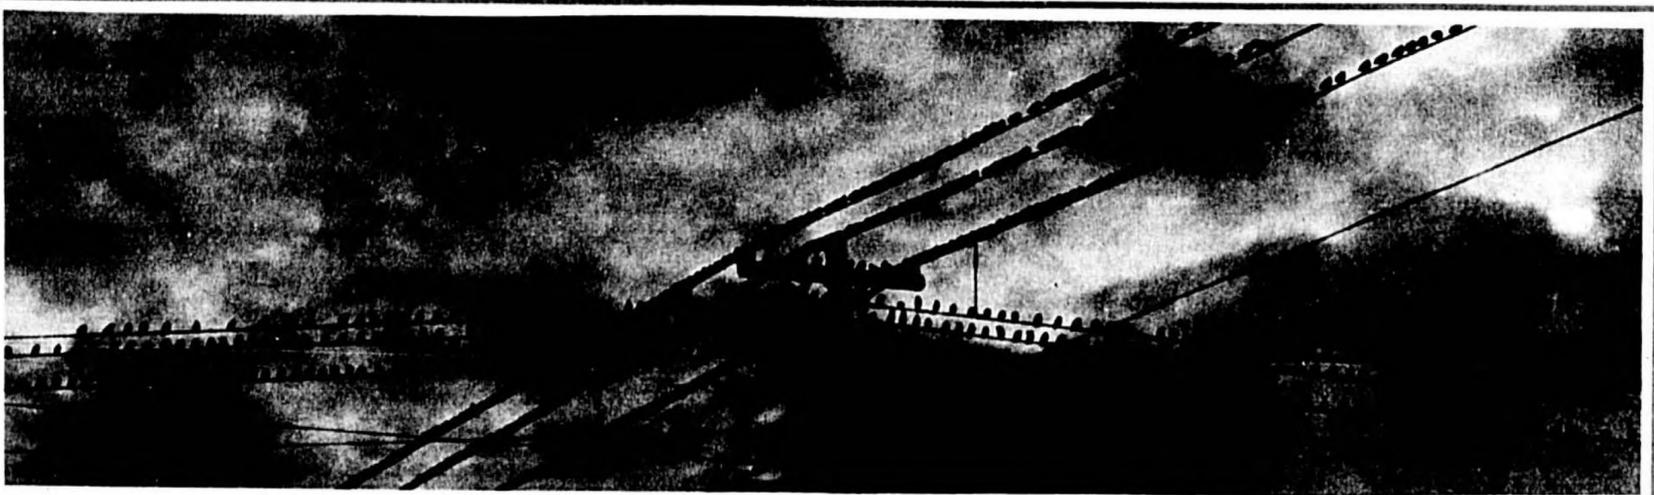

If Workfare becomes a reality, each city commissioner in Longwood would make recommendations for welfare and food stamp distribution in his or her district. The program would require able welfare recipients to work for their money or food stamps, Chacey said.

Longwood city workers and residents also received recognition at Monday evening's meeting. Police Detective Terri Trautman was named police officer of the year.

Lt. Michael Hockenberry received the firefighter of the year award, Frank M. Brown was named utility services man of the year, Jack Wallace, public service man of the year, Mrs. Dorothy Fisher computer technician of the year, and Percy White senior citizen of the year.

Chacey also received a special commendation from the commission. It praised Chacey for his work on the city's land-use plan, bringing a gray water test pilot program to Longwood, and other achievements. — LEE DANCY

BIRDS OF A FEATHER...

Proving that birds of a feather flock together, these winter visitors from the north gather each afternoon on power lines at Highway 17-92 and Seminola Boulevard in Casselberry to exchange a little gossip before retiring for the night. Possibly they're discussing plans to star in a remake of an Alfred Hitchcock movie. But whatever they're talking about, we'll never know what it is — It's strictly for the birds.

County Ponders Link To Aid Home Buyers

Opportunities to buy or build homes in Seminole County at a lower-than-average interest rate on the loan remain an uncertainty.

The Seminole County Commission met with Sam Marzotta, Orange County Housing Finance Authority (HFA) executive director, Monday during the commission work session.

Conversation circled around the possibility of Seminole County's allying itself with the HFA.

No decision was made, however.

If the alliance occurs, certain first-time home buyers eventually would be able to purchase single-family homes at interest rates below those available on the regular mortgage market.

Money for lower-interest home loans would come from the sale of federal income tax-exempt bonds. Orange County recently completed the necessary steps to arrange the sale of $150 million in tax-exempt bonds for multi-family housing, Marzotta said.

Three county commissioners initially voted to investigate the possibility of an alliance with the HFA. Commissioners Robert Sturm, Barbara Christensen and Sandra Glenn voted yes, while Robert G. "Bud" Feather and Bill Kirchhoff voted no.

Mozzotta said Seminole County could participate in the $150 million bond sales program for multi-family housing if it so chose. Seminole also could go to market on its own bond issue to provide money for the sale of single-family homes rather than participate in the multi-family program, he said.

Feather and Kirchhoff oppose the proposed alliance with the HFA for essentially similar reasons.

Feather believes Seminole's growth rate is sufficient. He said he does not think the county should enter into an agreement that would increase growth before it began to better accommodate its current population.

The county should concentrate on improving roads and transportation in Seminole rather than ally itself with the HFA, Feather said.

Kirchhoff also believes Seminole County's growth rate is sufficient. The sale of tax-exempt bonds would unfairly compete with more traditional revenue bonds for sewer plants, roads and schools, he said.

The commission agreed to bring up the issue of the alliance at its Jan. 5 regular meeting. Feather said Monday he thinks he can persuade at least one commissioner formerly in favor of the alliance to vote against it.

Prior to joining with Orange County on any housing-finance venture, a housing-needs survey will need to be conducted. The survey's cost would not be reimbursable if Seminole County decided not to ally with the Orange County agency.

Feather and Kirchhoff both say the risk of spending thousands of dollars on the survey without the possibility of reimbursement is too great.

"As more and more commissioners realize the potential risks involved with the needs survey, I think they will change their minds," Feather said. — LEE DANCY

Tentative OK Given On Sheriff's Raises

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer

With one exception, Seminole County sheriff's deputies and officers could soon be making identical salaries to their public-safety counterparts.

Three of the five county commissioners gave tentative approval to suggested pay raises for Sheriff John Polk's employees Monday. New Sheriff's Department income levels considered by the commission in its Monday work session will cost the county an extra $95,956.

Proposed raises were developed through a three hour meeting between Polk, County Administrator Roger Neiswender and Office of Management and Budget Director Eleanor Anderson. Commissioner Barbara Christensen was ill and did not attend the work session.

Disapproval of the raises came from Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, who said circumstances precipitating the county Public Safety Department's and Sheriff's Department's raise requests differed considerably.

Kirchhoff said Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser was faced with Orange County's decision to "build" a countywide fire department. This decision, he said, was drawing many experienced firefighters away from Seminole and toward Orange County, which pays better salaries.

The commission also realized it took Kaiser between two and three months to fill a firefighter vacancy, Kirchhoff said.

Polk's department is receiving no such temporary competition from surrounding departments, he said. It is also much easier for the sheriff to replace a deputy because numerous qualified applicants are kept on file at all times, he added.

Commissioners Robert Sturm, Robert G. "Bud" Feather and Sandra Glenn favored the raise proposal developed by the three department heads. The issue was scheduled for board action at today's regular commission meeting.

If the commission approves the salary hikes, income for starting-level sheriff's deputies will climb from $11,916 to $12,988 annually. Trained firefighters began earning $12,988 per year Dec. 6.

Along the same lines, pending commission approval, sheriff's sergeants at a starting level would see their annual income jump from $14,640 to $16,387. A comparable rank in the Public Safety Department is lieutenant, but they will not be making the same pay if the board approved the sheriff's raises.

A public-safety lieutenant currently makes $15,004 annually at a starting level. Neiswender's report explained that the difference in the two salaries for jobs requiring comparable experience hinges on a sheriff's sergeant's increased job responsibilities.

Sheriff's lieutenants will see their annual income increase from $15,828 to $17,938 if the commission approves the raise request. Public-safety district commanders currently make $17,938 annually.

Sheriff's captains would get $21,869 each year — up from $17,856 — if the board approves their raises. Public-safety battalion chiefs currently earn $21,869 annually at the starting level.

Raises for the sheriff's employees represent a 7 1/2 percent increase for deputies and 5 percent jumps for all other officers. Public-safety employees received 7 1/2 percent raises for firefighters and lieutenants, 10 percent raises for district commanders and 12 1/2 percent hikes for battalion chiefs.

Money for the raises will come from the county budget's general contingency fund. The fund was beefed up with an extra $16,718 after the budget's approval due to an oversight in the formulation process this summer, Mrs. Anderson said.

Commissioners also gave tentative approval, by the same vote, to raises for sheriff's communications workers.

Raises for the communications workers will cost the county an added $11,856 from the general contingency fund. The pay hikes are comparable to salary increases given public-safety communications workers recently.

Algeri Heads Firemen

Casselberry Hires Chief

A retired New York City fire lieutenant has taken the reins in Casselberry as fire chief of that department's 18-member crew.

Paul Algeri, 46, was on the job Monday following his appointment Friday to the $18,369-a-year post by Mayor Owen Sheppard.

Algeri is replacing Fire Administrator Ken Gaines, who resigned as fire chief in October to take a firefighting job with the Orange County Fire Department. Gaines had been filling in part-time as fire administrator until a new fire chief could be appointed.

"I like this area," Algeri said of Casselberry. "My wife, Patricia, and I purchased property in the area about seven years ago and we've been living here since our home was built in October."

Algeri, who retired from the New York

City Fire Department after 23 years of service, said he feels Casselberry offers him a "challenge" and that "any morale problems the department may have experienced prior to my coming are in the past."

At the time of Gaines' resignation from the department, he and three other firefighters cited low morale and better advancement opportunities with Orange County as their reasons for leaving.

"We currently have three shift lieutenants, 15 firefighters and about 20 volunteer firefighters," Algeri said. "We plan to begin immediately to hire two more firefighters to bring us up to full complement. After that we will also be looking at people to fill paramedic positions, a program the people of Casselberry recently approved by referendum."

Algeri said he supports the paramedic program, "because that's what the people want." However, he said he has never been trained as a paramedic.

"I've worked as an emergency medical technician and with basic life support," he said. "The paramedic program is an advanced life-support program."

Algeri said he spent his first day on the job "becoming familiar with things and the area. Ken Gaines has been very helpful in getting me oriented."

Gaines will continue with the department for about two more weeks.

"I'll be around a couple of more weeks to help out until he becomes familiar with the job," he said.

"I love fire service," Algeri said. "I'm looking forward to this challenge, and it is my desire to have and maintain a professional fire department."

In Fargo, N.D.

Drug Bust Nets 2 Oviedo Men

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Two Oviedo men are being held on $500,000 bond each in the Cass County jail in Fargo, N.D., following their arrest Sunday night in that city on charges of illegal delivery of cocaine.

According to Assistant U.S. Attorney Rod Webb, Fred J. McConeghy, 58, and Alex Lee Tindall, 43, both of Oviedo, were arrested along with a West Palm Beach man, Buford Higgs, 27, shortly after the twin-engine plane in which they were traveling landed at Fargo's Hector Airport. Webb said about 18 ounces of cocaine with a street value of $250,000 was seized with the plane, which flew to North Dakota from Florida.

The three men were arrested after state and federal drug agents arranged to buy the cocaine.

"The arrest is the result of a lengthy investigation," Webb said. "Whether or not the deal originated in Florida I can't say."

At the bond hearing held at 5 p.m. EST Monday before

U.S. Magistrate William Hill in Fargo, each man arrested objected to the amount of bond set, saying it was "excessive and unfair."

Hill told the three men the bond "will stand at least until the preliminary hearing to be held within 10 days, or until your attorneys seek a bond reduction hearing." None of the men appeared at the bond hearing with legal counsel.

Hill said he agreed with Assistant U.S. Attorney Gary Annear's bond recommendation because none of the men, "have contacts in North Dakota and because of the seriousness of the charge against you." He added that because it is still uncertain what role each man is suspected of playing in the alleged offense, the bond would remain at $500,000 each.

After studying financial statements concerning the three defendants, Hill determined that only Higgs may receive state-appointed legal counsel. He said McConeghy, a roofing contractor, and Tindall, a self-employed poultry farmer, are financially able to secure their own legal counsel. Higgs is employed as a farmer.

Reagan's Rookie Year

Had Its Ups And Downs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration is giving itself a first-year report card that won't be all A's, a spokesman said.

Presidential counselor Edwin Meese and chief of staff James Baker have been assigned to release today the thick document tracing the freshman year of President Reagan.

"It's not just going to be a puff piece. It will have some warts in it, too," said deputy press secretary Larry Speakes.

Rapist Gets Life...Again

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — "Ski mask" rapist Jon B. Simonis, who told police he committed 81 rapes and assaults across the nation, has pleaded guilty to seven more attacks and received an additional 15 life terms plus 1,389 years in prison.

Simonis, 30, was arraigned in two court appearances Monday on charges stemming from seven attacks on families in East Baton Rouge Parish. His total penalty on convictions from four separate investigations in Louisiana now stands at 18 life terms plus 2,406 years in prison.

Liz And Warner Separate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor and her sixth husband, multimillionaire Sen. John Warner, have announced they have agreed "amicably" to separate but have no immediate divorce plans.

"Each party accepts this change in their relationship with sadness but with no bitterness between them," said a statement released Monday by Miss Taylor's publicist, Chen Sam. "Neither party presently intends to seek a divorce."

SS Checks To Poland

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the military crack-down in Poland, 3,200 Polish recipients of Social Security benefits will be mailed their checks next week, a federal official says.

The January checks total $970,000 and are being mailed early to Poland because of holiday-season mail delays. The checks, going mainly to retirees and widows, will be mailed even as officials review their options — such as suspending the payments — in light of legal requirements.

Hinkley Trial Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John W. Hinkley Jr., who is charged with attempting to assassinate President Reagan and shooting three other people March 30, may not go on trial until at least the end of January.

Hinkley's trial was to have begun Jan. 4, but U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker postponed it Monday to allow a federal appeals court to rule on questions concerning the use of certain documents as evidence. Parker ruled earlier that the documents were illegally seized from Hinkley's cell.

NATIONAL REPORT: Winter stomped across the nation, hurling more snow, freezing rain and sleet today from Colorado to Maryland, and stinging the South with bitter cold for the third straight day. At least 11 deaths were blamed on the wave of icy storms. In Ohio, where a 3-inch snowfall and freezing rain closed schools and made driving treacherous Monday, residents braced for accumulations of up to 6 more inches. A new storm system today was dumping heavy snow in the mountains of Colorado, where as much as a foot of snow was expected. Travelers snow advisories were in effect in the mountains of Utah and New Mexico. Residents of western Maryland and the West Virginia Panhandle, where roadways already were coated by up to 1½ inches of snow and ice, were told to expect more snow. Winter storm watches also were posted for northern Indiana, lower Michigan and the northern half of western Pennsylvania. Florida got some respite Monday from frosty weather that damaged citrus crops during the weekend and sent tourists scrambling for long underwear, but temperatures fell to 15 degrees overnight in Tallahassee.

Gunman Makes $22,600 Heist

Altamonte Man Robbed At Home

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

An Altamonte Springs man was robbed at gunpoint in his home around 8:30 p.m. Monday and the thief made off with approximately $22,600 worth of property, including the victim's vehicle.

Gene D. Blakney, 38, of 404 Spanish Trace Apt., told Seminole County sheriff's deputies a man came into his home, pulled out a .357 pistol and told him, "Lie down or I'll kill you." Blakney complied with the man's order and was tied up with electrical cords, deputies said.

Blakney said the man stole four gold chains, several diamond rings, a watch, three guns, cash and Blakney's Cadillac.

Deputies were searching today for a suspect in the case.

MAN AWAITS SENTENCING

A Sanford man who admitted in Circuit Court that he burglarized the Midway Grocery store last summer, is being held in the Seminole County jail without bond pending a Jan. 8 sentencing.

Arthur Lee Mitchell, 20, of 501 S. Sanford Ave., is facing up to five years in prison for the burglary. Two other charges — arson and petty theft — were dismissed in return for the guilty plea.

According to fire officials, the grocery store sustained about $15,000 in damage as a result of a fire there on July 12. Investigators said the fire was started to cover up the burglary, in which beer and several other items were reported stolen.

A second defendant in the case, Donald E. Turner, 18, of 2431 Jitway Ave., Sanford, is free today after charges against him were dismissed by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. Assistant State Attorney Steve Johnson said the state was not prepared for trial.

In other court action, the stepdaughter of Assistant Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. Sara Irrgang is serving five years on probation following her sentencing for stealing jewelry from her stepmother last year.

Kathleen Irrgang, 25, of 217 Meadow Hills Dr., Sanford, pleaded guilty to a charge of grand theft. The charge stems from a Sept. 1980 theft of a $2,240 ring belonging to her mother.

BANK ROBBERY SUSPECT JAILED

A Longwood man is being held today in the Seminole County jail on $5,000 bond following his arrest Friday on charges of robbery of the Flagship Bank in Apopka.

John Franklin Burris, 18, of 108 Cambridge Dr., was arrested around noon Friday for robbing the Wekiva branch of the Flagship Bank, 500 Hunt Club Blvd., sheriff's deputies said.

According to the bank manager, Karen Beal, a man wearing a stocking mask came into the bank at about 11:10 a.m. and made off with an undetermined amount of money.

Deputies said Burris was arrested a short time after the incident when a deputy, driving near the bank, heard the robbery call over the radio and saw a man fitting Mrs. Beal's description of the suspect. The suspect was arrested after money began falling from a sack he was carrying.

SALADMASTER ROBBED

Burglars broke into the Saladmaster of Central Florida, 437 Lake Howell Road, Casselberry, Monday and stole a stainless steel cutlery set valued at $620.

According to sheriff's deputies, the perpetrators entered the building by forcing a plywood panel cover from a rear jalousie door.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS TAKEN

Someone broke into the home of a Sanford woman at about 11:05 a.m. Monday and stole $300 worth of jewelry from several Christmas packages in the living room.

Virginia Stadig, of 111 Sharon Dr., told police someone removed the screen from a window in her home, pried the window lock loose and entered her home. Once inside, the thieves ransacked the dresser drawers in three rooms and stole the jewelry before fleeing, police said.

Sandy Creek Murderer Will Be Tried Again

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — A prosecutor plans to seek a re-trial of the last defendant charged in connection with the 1977 Sandy Creek slayings of four persons who went swimming and stumbled onto a group of marijuana smugglers.

A Bay County Circuit Court jury of six men and six women found Charles Everett Hughes guilty of third-degree murder Monday in one of the slayings but said it was hopelessly deadlocked on three counts of first-degree murder in the other three.

Circuit Judge Larry Bodiford declared a mistrial of the first degree murder counts. State Attorney Jim Appleman said he would seek "a new trial in 90 days."

Bodiford ordered a presentence investigation before he sentences Hughes on the third degree murder conviction within 45 days. The maximum penalty for a third-degree murder conviction is 15 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Hughes showed no emotion when the verdict was read. The jury deliberated four hours and 20 minutes.

In closing arguments before the case went to the jury Monday afternoon, Appleman disputed defense claims that Hughes was forced to participate in the slayings and said he should have to account for his actions.

Hughes, 38, faced three first-degree murder charges in the deaths of sisters Sheila, 18, and Sandy McAdams, 14, and Douglas Gene Hood, 21. He was charged with third-degree murder in the death of the fourth victim, George Harold Sims, 39.

The four were slain Jan. 23, 1977, after stumbling onto a marijuana smuggling operation in the woods of Sandy Creek near Panama City. Their bodies were found in August of that year in a Taylor County sinkhole near Perry, weighted down by concrete blocks and wire.

Police said the four were slain because they surprised a group of men unloading marijuana from a boat.

The trial before Bodiford began Dec. 14 and went to the jury at 2:50 CST Monday.

Hughes was on the FBI's most wanted fugitive list when he was arrested at Myrtle, Miss., last April. He had been living there under the name of George Hacker and was working as a mechanic.

Two other men, Walter Gale Steinhorst of Live Oak, Fla., and David Monroe Goodwin of Panama City, also were convicted of first-degree murder in the case and sentenced to die. Goodwin's sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment.

Defense attorney John Daniel said the real killer was Steinhorst, who he accused of forcing Hughes at gunpoint to go along in the slayings and coverup.

In closing arguments, Daniel said Steinhorst repeatedly threatened to kill Hughes if he did not obey orders to help dump the bodies in the sinkhole near Perry in Taylor County, some 100 miles away from Sandy Creek.

"Don't add another body to Sandy Creek," Daniel said.

Appleman, however, argued Hughes had "plenty of opportunities" to escape but chose to go along with his friend.

"There is only one verdict you can reach in this — guilty," Appleman said.

The defense attempted to call Steinhorst as a witness for the defense, and Steinhorst was brought from death row at the Florida State Prison to the Bay County jail in Panama City. But sheriff's deputies said Steinhorst refused to testify.

Toddler To Plead Own Case

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Diane Becker's 3½-year-old son is going to court to defend himself against charges he dumped five large bags of trash 22 blocks from his home.

"When he goes to court, he'll do his own talking," Mrs. Becker said Monday of Daniel, one of her five children. "He's a real good talker. I'll let him tell his own story."

A policeman from the city's Sanitation Department spotted Daniel's name and address on an insurance form dug out of the trash found Dec. 7 in the southwest part of Philadelphia. He sent Daniel a citation ordering him to pay a $25 fine.

"That's an awful long walk for that baby," Mrs. Becker said. "I wouldn't walk it with one bag."

Mrs. Becker said Daniel has decided not to pay the fine. The child will wait for a summons ordering him to appear in Municipal Court. Daniel plans to defend himself and even present witnesses, such as his nursery school teacher.

The litter law does not provide for a jail term. The city could, however, place a lien against any property the boy owns.

Shotgunning Shoplifters

EAST MOLINE, Ill. (UPI) — Aside from not crying and pouting during the Christmas season, you better watch out for shoplifting, burglary and robbery in East Moline or Santa's shotgun patrol will get you.

While bundled-up toddlers discuss their Christmas requests with the white-bearded elf, uniformed police officers stroll the sidewalks and store aisles with shotguns firmly in hand — and in plain sight.

It's all part of the Police Department's 14-year-old holiday tradition of providing security during the Christmas season.

"The officers in the program provide merchants and shoppers with a feeling of safety," said Police Chief Nick Kupresin.

The patrol, which consists of off-duty officers who receive special overtime pay, makes regular appearances in the downtown business district, as well as shopping centers and some isolated retail stores.

Towing Fresh Water To Saudi Arabia

By TOM TIEDE

HANOVER, N.H. (NEA) —

Everyone laughed a few years ago when a Saudi Arabian prince announced that he was going to try to tow icebergs to the Persian Gulf to provide fresh water for his parched kingdom. Observers said the notion was naive in the extreme and perhaps a tad adrift.

But Prince Muhammad al Faisal al Saud went ahead anyway. He established an elaborate office in Paris, he hired consultants from several nations, and he spent at least $1 million of his personal fortune to finance research, to conduct seminars and to encourage testing and experimentation.

Now, after three years, scientists are no longer so sure that the scheme is naive or, for that matter, simple-minded.

It may be that it's merely impractical.

That's not much of an improvement in attitude for $1 million, but it's apparently enough to, ah, keep the project afloat. Despite disappointments and scientific realities, the prince will not let go of the dream; he still retains the consultants, for instance, who are still looking into the matter.

One of the consultants is Malcolm Moller, an engineer with the Cold Regions Research Laboratory here in Hanover. He says quite frankly that it's probably going to be some time (if ever) before the icebergs can reach the world's deserts, but he adds that at least the idea remains virtuous.

For one thing, Dr. Moller says the world needs fresh water from anywhere it can get it. And 67 percent of all the fresh water is locked in icebergs. The antarctic icebergs by themselves constitute an annual potential water source that is equal to five times the world's present domestic use.

And ice, this water might be gotten at an acceptable cost. One paper on the subject suggests that even small icebergs could be delivered to dry areas for between 5 cents and 20 cents a cubic yard; by comparison, the cost of desalinated water in Saudi Arabia is now 90 cents a cubic yard and escalating.

Finally, Dr. Moller says the idea of hauling icebergs around is not as odd as it seems. In fact it's going on today. Oil companies working off the coasts of Newfoundland and Labrador must regularly employ tugboats to push and pull icebergs that might otherwise drift over their drilling rigs.

This is the proposed route for towing icebergs from the Antarctic to Saudi Arabia to provide fresh water.

And yet it's one thing to nudge the ice a few degrees off its course, but quite another to chaffeur it halfway around the world. Moller says he is not denying that it can be done, but he says the towing would involve monumental complications that, as of now, seem virtually insurmountable.

Moller points out for starters that nobody knows how the bergs would hold up over such journeys. They are full of cracks and crevices that presumably would be enlarged by the friction of towing. Wave action alone would likely undercut the cubes, and cause avalanches and other costly erosion.

And of course the bergs would also melt. Dr. Moller says an isolated block towed from the antarctic to Australia, 5,000 miles, would lose half of its mass to evaporation; and if the icebergs were towed to Saudi Arabia, 12,000 miles, it would disappear about three weeks before arriving.

But the biggest problem would likely be the towing itself. Antarctic icebergs are monstrous enterprises, many of them 600 feet thick, and there is no tugboat in existence capable of towing one alone. The world's largest tugs pull up to 200 tons; a small iceberg can weigh five times that.

Several tugboats could be used for pulling, Moller says. Or other concepts in transport might have to be adopted. Prince Faisal talks about using the feathering paddlewheel, some people think a sail might work, and then there is a group that has designed a 50-foot iceberg propeller.

See, how impractical it gets?

There is even a plan to kedge the bergs. That is, if all else fails, an anchor could be repeatedly thrown ahead of the cube, and it would thus be winched forward in the water. Dr. Moller groans at the mention of kedgeing. He says it's part of the reason that few take the iceberg proposal seriously. Still, he refuses to withdraw from the research, or split with Prince Faisal. "I'm not ready to say that it's possible," he says, "but I'm not totally pessimistic either."

Accordingly, he thinks it's now time to test the idea, if on a modest scale. He thinks a very tiny berg should be lashed in the antarctic, inspected for integrity, insulated to the extent possible, and taken to Australia. "If we fail, we fail; if we succeed, we may really be on to something."

Graham Names Third DOT Head This Year

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Sticking with a longtime state engineer, Gov. Bob Graham has tapped Paul Pappas to head the giant Department of Transportation.

Pappas, 48, of Tallahassee became the third person to head the troubled agency this year. Graham had named him acting secretary when Jack Varn resigned Nov. 6 to return to private law practice. Varn had succeeded Bill Rose, who resigned in January.

Mother Nature On Agenda

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The 1982 session could be a major environmental one if legislators don't get tangled up in reapportionment and insurance reform. Bills have been introduced that toughen the coastal construction setback line law restricting building on beaches, expand the jurisdiction of the Department of Environmental Regulation and reform a 1972 law that was supposed to prevent big construction projects in environmentally sensitive areas, but hasn't been working.

Money Talks, Cops Listen

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Saudi Arabia's Prince Turki bin Abdul Aziz, stripped of his police security detail by orders of Hollywood's police chief, has a new squad of helpers from the neighboring Hallandale Police Department.

Prince Turki had been recruiting his bodyguards from a group of 150 Hollywood policemen eager to work for the $11 an hour paid to provide security around the three floors rented by the royal figure at the Diplomat Hotel.

Nuclear Unit Needs Repair

CRYSTAL RIVER (UPI) — Florida Power Corp.'s nuclear unit was scheduled to be brought to a hot standby today to enable technicians to check out an electrical component problem inside a terminal generator in the auxiliary building.

"The problem will have to be evaluated, but right now we believe a minor repair can be made," company spokesman John Jendro said Monday. "If more time is necessary, then the problem will get more attention." Jendro said the problem involves an "exciter," an electrical component that carries current inside the non-nuclear generator. A problem of the component vibrating was discovered over the weekend as the unit was brought up to 100 percent production after having been down for 11 weeks for routine refueling and maintenance.

Labor Unrest Continues; Polish Priests Enter Fray

By United Press International
Captive Solidarity leader Lech Walesa was allowed to see his family despite reportedly refusing to help quell Poland's labor unrest. Church sources said Catholic officials had stepped in to negotiate the release of thousands of jailed Poles, and priests offered mass for miners staging underground strikes.

Radio Warsaw said Monday that Walesa, whisked away from a union meeting at Gdanek when the crackdown began nine days ago, was held in Warsaw under "good conditions."

Search For Dozier Stalled

VERONA, Italy (UPI) — Police say kidnapped U.S. Army Gen. James L. Dozier faces fierce Red Brigades interrogation on NATO activities, but investigators had no hard clues today to find the "people's prison" in which he was kept.

"So far, we don't have anything concrete," said Verona Police Chief Pasquale Zappone, Italian authorities were being aided in their search by U.S. experts and Israeli intelligence, police and news reports said Monday.

Red Brigades terrorists posing as plumbers abducted the 50-year-old general, the highest-ranking U.S. officer at NATO regional headquarters, from his Verona apartment Thursday.

'The Best Christmas Yet'

HOUSTON (UPI) — A Michigan family, separated because the parents went to Texas to find work, was reunited in time for Christmas — all because Victor Franco made a personal promise to help others after he survived a boating accident two years ago.

"It's the best Christmas yet," Barbara Hiltz said Monday, weeping and hugging her children at a Houston Intercontinental Airport reunion financed by Franco, a stranger until a month ago. "He is the greatest. We love him."

Franco, 51, a wholesale auto dealer, puts aside money each month — up to $2,000 or $3,000 a year — to help other people. "These people had a good life and they lost everything," he said. "They deserved something better."

Gregory Hiltz, 32, and wife Barbara, 35, were laid off as machinists at Ford Motor Co. in Michigan two years ago. Unable to find other jobs in their home state, they came to Houston two months ago because friends told them jobs were plentiful.

Their children — Chris, 14, Shelly, 12, Mike, 11 — and the family's four dogs were left behind in Ypsilanti, Mich., with Mrs. Hiltz's mother.

But the couple had trouble finding good jobs in Texas and couldn't afford to send for their children. "People are misled. Jobs are plentiful only if you're highly skilled," Hiltz said.

That's when Franco stepped in. The prosperous businessman decided to help the Hiltz after he saw them telling of their plight on a national television program. He helped them lease a home. And since the jobs they found did not pay enough to finance the reunion of their family — Hiltz works as a shop helper, Mrs. Hiltz as a waitress — Franco went a step further.

For Christmas, he paid the air fare to fly the couple's three children and four dogs from Michigan. He estimates the whole piece of generosity cost him "a couple grand."

Franco, a father of four himself, stood aside Monday as the Hiltz children ran to their parents' arms in tears. The family poodle, Tootle, jumped out of her carrying box to join the waiting-room reunion too. Three Doberman dogs traveled in freight.

"If everybody was like him there would be no starving people in the world," a tearful Hiltz said of Franco.

"I try to help three or four people every year. It's a spontaneous thing," Franco said. "Christmas to me has not meant much lately. Too much commercialism, I guess."

Franco said he began helping others two years ago when his sailboat capsized off Key Largo, Fla., and he was left floating alone with no life preserver. He said he was "promising everything" to the Almighty in exchange for rescue.

Franco's wife, Juanita, saw the boat as it capsized a half-mile offshore and found a stranger, Richard Weinberg, who took a small boat out and rescued him.

"This will be an extra special Christmas," Franco said. "I'm not a rich man but I do what I can."

This is the first time Franco has gotten any national publicity and it's changing his life, but he said "I love it." He has not, however, decided what to do about the requests for aid that have begun rolling in.

Consumer Prices Creep Up; Inflation Under 10 Percent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer prices rose 0.5 percent in November, the government reported today — a moderate increase virtually guaranteeing that the inflation rate for 1981 will stay below the double-digit level.

For the first 11 months of the year, the Consumer Price Index — the key government measure of inflation — climbed 9.2 percent, Labor Department analysts said.

That makes it almost certain that the annual rate for 1981 will end up below 10 percent for the first time since 1978 and well below 1980's rate of 12.4 percent.

Only a December rate of 1.4 percent or higher — something analysts already rule out — could spoil a year's inflation rate ending in single digits.

Less expensive fuel and clothing costs, combined with smaller increases in food prices, held the increase for November down to 0.5 percent. That is slightly higher than the 0.4 percent monthly rate for October — but less than half of September's 1.2 percent increase. All figures were seasonally adjusted.

Clothing costs actually moved down in November, with apparel and upkeep getting less expensive by 0.2 percent.

Transportation costs slowed to two-thirds of the October rate, increasing 0.8 percent. The costs of energy measured alone went down 0.2 percent.

Food costs repeated the moderate 0.2 percent increase of the previous month.

Mortgage interest costs went up, offsetting a decrease in house prices, carrying the overall housing index up 0.4 percent. The housing index did not change at all in October.

Medical care kept its reputation as the most consistent inflation builder, going up another 1 percent for the month, the same as in October. Medical costs have climbed more than 0.9 percent every month of the year so far.

Entertainment costs were up 0.7 percent and a miscellaneous category of all other goods and services was up 0.5 percent.

The Labor Department set the November Consumer Price Index at 280.7, which means it cost consumers $280.70 to buy the same "market basket" goods and services that cost $100 in 1967.

If November's price changes were spread out over a year, the increase would be 6.2 percent after seasonal adjustment, the Labor Department said, the third-lowest month for inflation of 1981 and more good news for the administration. Last year, inflation was 12.4 percent.

The one figure that caught most analysts by surprise in the November report was the 1.9 percent increase in mortgage interest costs. The government-insured FIA rate, which applies to about 11 percent of mortgages, has been coming down. Commercial rates also have been dropping, but the phenomenon has been disguised within "creative financing" arrangements and often missed by the government's statistical process.

The substitution of rents for home ownership costs, a change the department plans to make in the index in January 1983, would not have changed the November report. The department's experimental rent substitution model also showed a 0.5 percent increase.

Food prices rose slowly in November because increases were largely offset by declines in the prices for beef, pork, poultry, fish and dairy products, the department said.

Restaurant meals and alcoholic beverages both became 0.5 percent more expensive in November.

Gasoline prices went up 0.5 percent in the government report, a figure sure to provoke further protests from oil industry analysts who say the seasonal adjustment factor is responsible for the increase, while in real terms gasoline prices have been slipping downward. Fuel oil prices also went up, reversing a downward trend of the past seven months.

Gratuitous Provocation

Ever since the Six-Day War in 1967, which we should remember resulted directly from Arab aggression, the Israelis have left little doubt about their determination to retain the Golan Heights, wrested from Syria.

And for good reason. For years, Syrian forces entrenched on the Heights had shelled the valley below, inflicting numerous casualties and jeopardizing food production in a prime Israeli breadbasket. Equally critical, the Heights command the Sea of Galilee, a precious water resource for Israel.

Whatever their differences on almost every other issue, Israelis generally agree that retention of the Golan Heights is one of the conditions of their national survival. And, they see no contradiction in their viewpoint with U.N. Resolution 242, which calls upon Israel to withdraw from territories occupied during the Six-Day War in exchange for Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist within secure boundaries. The Israelis are convinced that, without the Golan Heights, there is no secure border for the whole of northeastern Israel.

Very well. But why should Prime Minister Menachem Begin push through a formal annexation of the Golan Heights at a time when Israel's de facto annexation of that Syrian territory was quiescent? Why precipitate another firestorm of criticism against Israel throughout the world? Why embarrass the United States, Israel's only significant supporter in the international community? What could Israel gain from this? And why now?

As Prime Minister Begin above all would know, the Arab world, the Third World, the Communist World, the Moslem World, and Europe, Japan, and the United States are all in a dither. Understandably so. This was an unusual gratuitous provocation if ever there was one, even when measured on the normally abrasive Begin scale.

Despite extensive news coverage, we are still without benefit of Mr. Begin's reasoning or that of his cabinet or the Knesset. We may assume that the Prime Minister is pondering while he was in the hospital recuperating from a broken bone, was influenced by several considerations, which taken all together led to the controversial move.

First, there is a growing clamor by Israeli nationalists to block Israel's final withdrawal from the Sinai next spring under provisions of the peace agreement with Egypt.

The Golan Heights move blunted this domestic problem. Moreover, Israel undoubtedly wanted the Golan annexation accomplished while Egypt could be counted upon for a restrained reaction in order not to jeopardize the Sinai settlement. This important consideration has already been confirmed by Egypt's President Hosni Mubarak, who quickly advised that "if Syria decides to start war with Israel, it is their business."

In addition, there is the increasingly belligerent attitude of Syria, one of the most militant of Israel's foes; the unresolved issue of Syrian missiles in Lebanon; the assassination of Egypt's President Anwar Sadat; and the Reagan administration's apparent shift toward Saudi Arabia, an implacable opponent of the Camp David accords.

But, confirming as it does the worst Arab view of Zionist treachery, Israel's formal annexation of Syrian territory must increase Middle Eastern tensions and rebuke those moderate Arabs, too few in number, who have joined the United States in a search for a permanent Arab-Israeli peace. It is a real setback for any settlement possibility at this time. Washington's surprise, embarrassment, and annoyance, therefore, is all and more that the Begin government might have expected, even extending to talk of sanctions by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

But such a threat is unrealistic, as the administration conceded in passing the word that it would veto any U.N. resolution imposing sanctions on Israel.

Actually, beyond a public reprimand, there isn't much the United States can do to control Israel that wouldn't be counterproductive for American interests.

BERRY'S WORLD

It wasn't for lack of competition that Seminole High basketball coach Bill Payne sought greener pastures this year and took his Fighting Seminoles to Merritt Island for holiday tournament action.

Even though the Tribe had won the Oviedo Outlook Christmas Tournament two years running, Payne had simply grown weary of playing Oviedo, Lake Howell, Lyman and Lake Branley time after time, year after year.

"It got to the point where we'd play them four, maybe five times," Payne said earlier this year. "That's too much. We needed a change."

So when the assistant principal at Merritt Island, who is a good friend of Payne, beckoned the ex-Colonial standout didn't hesitate to pull up his Seminole County roots for a shot at the Mustangs, Titusville and Rockledge on Wednesday. There will be no tournament trophy, but all participants are ensured three games.

Payne's situation is quite a dilemma. All of the coaches probably agree with him that too much county competition — preseason jamboree, two conference games and district play — gets stale after a while.

Basketball, however, does not draw well. Payne had to win 31 games before he filled the Seminole High gymnasium two years ago.

County rivalries, however, are a must when it comes to making some money. Even with the county rivalries, the Rotary Bowl Preseason Tournament was a financial disaster. It was cut back to one night — a jamboree — this year.

As is just about the case everywhere, basketball takes a back seat to football. In this area, though, it takes an empty seat.

A perfect example is taking place right now. Oviedo's Dale Phillips is putting on the Outlook Christmas Tournament for the seventh year.

Phillips is a classy guy and the tournament is always well run. The facility — Seminole Community College — is centrally located and the admission won't be much.

The crowds, though, won't be much either. Now, you could blame it on the fact that the students aren't in school. This doesn't wash, however, because when they are in school they don't go either.

Payne once joked, "It's too bad my principal couldn't make it tonight, it cut our crowd in half." Payne was talking about the Seminole-Evans game of two weeks ago.

Tribe Principal Wayne Epps, who is as ardent a sports fan as you'll find, was away at the principal's convention in Dallas and unable to make the game.

Payne, of course, was exaggerating somewhat. But his point is well taken. People don't come to basketball games. The fact that Sanford is 3-6 doesn't help, but a losing record shouldn't hurt your home attendance as drastically as it does.

Is there a solution? If there was one, somebody would've found it by now.

Lyman plays its varsity boys and varsity girls on the same night. This leaves the junior varsity girls and JV boys to place on separate nights or together.

The idea is to have one big crowd instead of two mediocre ones. You can imagine, though, what junior varsity basketball draws if the varsity is lacking.

As a reporter, the Lyman idea appeals to me. I find the Seminole JV's interesting to watch because I know a lot of the players. Otherwise, I could care less about someone else's JV.

Varsity boys and girls together, though, have a little of both worlds. Girls basketball has gotten to the point where it is exciting to watch. The days of the constant jump ball are finally over.

An evening of boys and girls varsity basketball is something to see. Apparently, however, not everyone feels as I do.

DON GRAFF The Polish Lesson

If the situation weren't so tragic and potentially disastrous, there would be something almost funny about the Polish crisis.

And that is the solemn warnings coming from the intensely interested outside parties against outside intervention.

If they are heeded, it will be a notable first in Polish history.

Poland's real problem, now and always, is not political or economic in nature but geographic. The country has never been able to escape the consequences of its location athwart the historic highway — and invasion route — between east and west.

Except for a period when they ruled a loose empire stretching from the Baltic to the Black seas, the Poles have been boxed in by peoples more powerful than themselves — Swedes, Germans, Russians. Four times Poland has been partitioned, effectively erased from the map of Europe.

Its recreation twice in this century was on terms dictated by the needs of others as much as Poland's own. After World War I the manipulator was France, wanting an ally on defeated Germany's eastern border and a buffer between Western Europe and the Soviet Union. After World War II, it was the Soviet Union that wanted a buffer of its own against the West.

The Poles unquestionably have plenty to complain about in their treatment by others. But they also have themselves more than a little to blame for their historic misfortunes.

They remained an essentially feudal society long after other peoples, even such latecomers to the European scene as the Russians, were coalescing into nation-states. Their elective monarchy, perhaps an admirable institution in theory, became the pawn of foreign dynasties that cared much less for theory than for power politics, at which they were ruthless experts.

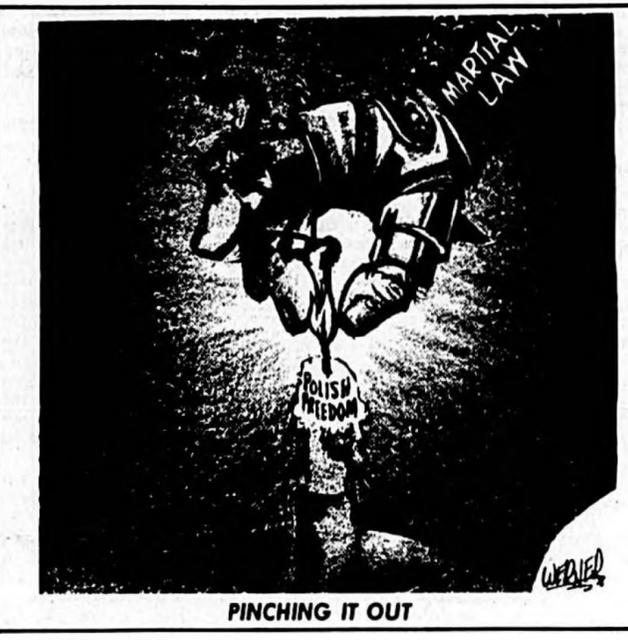

Pre-World War II Poland was not your typical brave little democracy falling victim to Nazi aggression. Its military-dominated authoritarian regime was out for what it could get in the crumbling European order until the next to the last moment, picking up a few scraps from the German rape of Czechoslovakia.

And it could be argued that the Poles have blown opportunities to better their difficult situation since World War II. It can be done, even under the suspicious eye and heavy hand of the Kremlin.

Ungreat that stopped just short of revolution in 1956 had more than a little to do with bringing on the subsequent anti-Soviet uprising in Hungary. But the Poles did not make much of their reprieve. Their home-grown Communist leadership, left to a considerable extent to itself by the Soviets so long as it stayed in line politically, has been not only inept but corrupt.

The Hungarian Communists, in sharp contrast, have quietly but steadily transformed the devastated Hungary of 1956 into the most liberal and prosperous of the satellite societies today. All with Soviet armies in continuous residence.

With the stunning successes last year of the free-union movement, it appeared the Poles might be on the verge of doing even better by themselves than the Hungarians.

BUSINESS WORLD How To Get Your Money

By MARIANNA OHE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite dramatic progress in the past 10 years, women still earn less than men.

But they can improve their earnings potential by finding out their precise worth and negotiating to have their salary reflect it, says Thelma Kandel, author of "What Women Earn."

Women also can boost their income by going into the "hot" career areas for the 1980s — computer technology, engineering, accounting, human resources and personnel, marketing and sales, and — yes — secretarial work, said Ms. Kandel.

And they should move into the profit-making areas of business — those affecting the bottom line.

Ms. Kandel, a financial writer, drew upon government and private sector data and "hundreds and hundreds" of interviews with executive recruiters, personnel agencies, college placement offices, and women executives to compile her comparison of salaries in more than 50 professions, published by The Linden Press-Simon & Schuster.

"One of the hardest things to get people to tell you is exactly what they earn," Ms. Kandel said. "Almost none of the women executives I talked to would disclose their incomes."

What you should do, she said, is try to get a salary range for your position from someone — preferably a man — in a similar job in another company and compare this with your range. "If his range is $18,000-$22,000 and yours is $12,000-$16,000, then you know you're underpaid."

The next step is to have another job offer, not just to say you have one, but to really have one.

"Then go to your boss and tell him 'I received a job offer for $6,000 more a year than I'm getting here, and the money is very important to me. What should I do?'"

"If he says 'Lots of luck,' that means you have no future there, and you should take the other job. If he says 'We don't want to lose you,' then you do have a future. Either you get a $6,000 raise, or you compromise, say, on $3,000."

Women have a harder time discussing money than men because of inexperience, Ms. Kandel noted. "In one of my first jobs, I got a promotion and my boss asked me 'How much do you want?' I replied, 'Oh, you'll be fair.' And he wasn't. The next time I asked for what I thought was fair. He gulped, but I got it."

Only eight-tenths of one percent of full-time working women in this country earn $25,000 or more, compared to 12 percent of men, Ms. Kandel said. Male high school dropouts on average earn as much as $1,500 more than female college graduates, and only one out of ten women workers earns as much as men in similar jobs.

The computer industry is expected to grow by leaps and bounds, Ms. Kandel said, with demand in the coming decade projected at 75 percent above the 1980 level. Average projected salaries for programmers by 1990 are $33,000-$43,500, for systems analysts $38,000-$52,500, and for data base managers $49,500-$67,000. Median earnings for female computer specialists currently are $15,135, $3,714 less than men.

Ms. Kandel said women can make as much as men on Wall Street where earnings usually are based on commissions. "There are probably more women making $100,000 and over on Wall Street than anywhere else," she said.

And she counsels women not to be proud they can't type. Entry-level secretarial jobs are projected to pay $15,100-$22,700 by 1990 and positions requiring three-years-plus experience $19,500-$28,900. And in many fields secretarial jobs are routinely seen as stepping stones to higher positions.

Fields to avoid, according to Ms. Kandel, include such female-intensive areas as teaching, social work, nursing, retail sales, library work, factory work and clerical work.

ROBERT WAGMAN Who Pays For Three Mile Island?

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (NEA) — The cleanup of the Three Mile Island nuclear plant here is continuing more or less on schedule. The process that began within three days of the March 28, 1979, accident will take at least another six years to complete.

Although the cleanup is progressing "normally" from a technical standpoint, one large question still looms: Who will pick up the estimated $1.1 billion tab for the job?

The accident released some 600,000 gallons of highly contaminated water into the containment building of Unit II. Removing this radioactive water is the first task of the Bechtel Corp., which has the prime contract to restore the plant.

So far, about 200,000 gallons have been removed and run through a specially designed filtration system that eliminates more than 99 percent of the radiation. The radioactive residue is being stored in a pool originally designed to hold spent nuclear fuel and will be shipped to a still undisclosed location for permanent disposal.

While the engineers have come up with a system to restore the plant to use, the politicians are having a harder time deciding who will pay the bill.

It was clear from the start that General Public Utilities, the plant's owner, could not afford the massive cost of restoring the plant or even the lesser cost of removing the accumulated radioactivity. Because the company owns power plants in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, its demise would have caused serious problems to the entire region.

Therefore, the need for a cost-sharing plan was apparent from the start. Pennsylvania Gov. Dick Thornburgh came up with a proposal that most parties thought was likely to work. The problem now is to get all of those parties to pay what Thornburgh thinks is their fair share.

About $760 million of the $1.1 billion cleanup cost will remain to be met at the end of 1981. Thornburgh proposes that half of that amount come from what he calls "national sources" and the other half from "area sources," including GPU, its insurers and the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey. New Jersey is included because power generated by the plant was intended to go into a grid serving that state as well as Pennsylvania.

The latter part of the plan has received general acceptance. GPU will pay $245 million of the cleanup costs and its insurance companies will come up with $90 million more.

Neither state's legislature has formally appropriated the money. But there is a general understanding that Pennsylvania will contribute $30 million and New Jersey will kick in $15 million once the rest of the plan is in place.

The hitch in Thornburgh's plan is the $380 million that is to come from national sources. The governor wants this sum to be borne equally by the nuclear industry and the federal government.

The industry has agreed. The Edison Electric Institute, the electric utilities' trade association, has pledged to raise $192 million over the remaining six years of the cleanup.

Blood Bath Bad As El Salvador's

WASHINGTON — While the Reagan administration has trained its Central American rhetorical artillery on the violence in El Salvador, little has been said about an even worse situation in neighboring Guatemala.

The killings and repression in that unhappy country have reached the proportions of a blood bath in recent months. And while it is at least arguable that the ruling junta in El Salvador is not directly responsible for the terrorism that is tearing the country apart, no such case can be made for the right-wing regime of Maj. Gen. Romeo Fernandez Lucas Garcia in Guatemala.

Impartial groups such as Amnesty International and the Organization of American States have asserted that the violence in Guatemala can be traced directly to the highest level of the government. As Amnesty International concluded recently, "the selection of targets for detention and murder, and the deployment of official if extra legal operations can be pinpointed ... to secret offices ... under the direct control of the president of the Republic."

Reports of atrocities — such as destruction of entire villages by government troops — have caused serious concern among members of both parties in Congress. The Guatemalan government, as one source told my associate Lucette Lagnado, has been "killing 10,000 to get 10 Communists."

What bothers the lawmakers is evidence that the administration is planning to send a modest amount of military aid to Lucas Garcia — about $1 million worth of helicopter spare parts. Under the Arms Export Control Act, military aid amounting to less than $7 million can be dispatched without congressional approval; all that's necessary is for the administration to notify Congress after the fact.

This has led some members of Congress — both Republicans and Democrats — to suspect that the White House will delay its decision on the Guatemalan arms package until Congress adjourns for the holidays. This would avoid any immediate outcry from Capitol Hill if the administration's decision is to go ahead with the sale.

Congressional sources report that State Department officials have secretly visited key legislators in the House and Senate to test their reactions to the proposed military aid. Among those who have reportedly been called on are Sens. Charles Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Edward Zorinsky, D-Neb., ranking minority member of the Latin American subcommittee; Reps. Michael Barnes, D-Md., chairman of the House Inter-American Affairs subcommittee, and Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y.

According to Capitol Hill sources, the State Department emissaries have met almost universal negative responses in their visits to Congress. But at least some of the legislators got the impression that the administration was not deterred by their objections.

Zorinsky, a vocal critic of the Guatemalan regime, hopes to prevent an end run around Congress during the holiday recess. He has insisted that — whatever the actual amount involved — any military aid to Guatemala should have the concurrence of Congress, in advance.

Zorinsky's concern prompted Percy to promise on the Senate floor that "I will request that the State Department consult with the (Foreign Relations) Committee prior to any and every increment of military assistance, including private sales, to Guatemala."

Percy also promised to oppose any such assistance until the committee has had a chance to review the proposals. Zorinsky later wrote a private "Dear Chuck" letter to Percy, pointedly reminding him of his pledge. And Reps. Barnes and Solarz have introduced legislation designed to prohibit military sales to the Guatemalan dictatorship.

Ram Girls Blast Mainland; Boys Take On Osceola Tonight

Lake Mary's girls basketball team scored a school-record 61 points Monday night as it walloped Mainland's junior varsity, 61-26, at Daytona Beach.

Sophomore Michelle Schwartz led the way with 17 points and six rebounds. Teammate Lisa Gregory tossed in 12 points and collected three steals.

"We played pretty well," said coach Bill Moore about the Rams fifth victory in seven outings. "Our zone press was pretty effective, but our free throw shooting was poor."

The Rams jumped to a 20-7 first quarter lead and never looked back. Freshman Gourtney Hall had eight boards, while Wilease Buggs led the Rams in steals with four.

Freshmen Donna Peterson and Kim Averill added seven points apiece. The Rams are off until Jan. 5 when they play Lake Highland at 8:30 p.m. at home.

Turning to boys basketball, coach Willie Richardson's junior varsity will have quite a task on its hands tonight at 7 when it plays Kissimmee-Osceola in the Osceola Tournament.

Junior guard Jimmy McCrimmon fired in 40 points including four slam dunks as Osceola rolled over Tampa Berkley Prep, 86-70. Lake Mary is 1-2.

Will OTs Play in Peoria?

By United Press International
"But will it play in Peoria?" former President Richard Nixon once asked one of his aides.

Oh, did it ever.

Peoria, Ill., home of Bradley University, Monday night was the site of the longest major college basketball game in history, with Cincinnati finally defeating Bradley, 75-73, in seven overtimes.

Doug Schloemer hit a 15-foot jumper with just one second left in the seventh overtime. Bradley's Terry Cook almost took the proceedings to daylight when his 18-footer at the buzzer bounced off the rim.

Schmidt Signs For 6 Years

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — When he was 21, Mike Schmidt had to make a decision on his career: either he could play professional baseball or go into his father's ice cream business.

Schmidt chose baseball, became one of baseball's biggest stars, and Monday he signed a contract that will keep him in fudge ripple up to his ears for most of the remainder of this decade.

Tribe Tramples Mustangs, 73-50

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Those quick and fast Seminole High guards Bill Payne has been looking for never looked quicker or faster than Monday night at Merritt Island.

Seniors Richard Grey, Marvin Butler and Chris Detreville joined junior Vernon Law in harassing the host Mustangs into 20 turnovers as Sanford blew away Merritt Island, 73-50.

The victory snapped a three-game winning streak by the Mustangs and brought Payne's crew's victory akin to three straight. Seminole is 4-6 for the year.

Today at 5:15 Seminole takes on Titusville, who crushed Daytona Beach Seabreeze, 73-53, Monday. Titusville whipped Sanford in overtime at the Rotary Tip-Off Classic earlier this year.

In Monday's other game, Rockledge nudged DeLand, 54-51. Seminole will play Rockledge at 5:15 on Wednesday for its final tournament game.

"Our defense just killed them," expounded Payne after the game. "The guards didn't let them down the floor and the forwards denied them the ball."

Junior Calvin "Kiki" Bryant, who's developing into one of the best pure shooters ever to don a Tribe uniform, was again devastating from the outside.

"When Kiki shoots we're gonna be effective," noted Payne. "He's just too unselfish. We try to get him to shoot more, but we also preach to get inside and he always looks there."

junior varsity last year, shot enough to score 24 points. He connected on 8-of-14 floor shots and dropped in 8-of-10 charity tosses. He also muscled 10 boards.

Sophomore Willie Mitchell had another good night too. The 6-2 center moved well inside the lane for 16 points and hauled in 10 rebounds.

Sanford's 6-4 Stuart Smith topped all rebounds with 12 and popped in nine points. Junior Torie Hendricks, back after a bout with the flu, canned 10 markers.

While the offensive exploits were impressive, they paled when compared to Sanford's silky defense. Speedsters Grey and Detreville make things miserable for the island's guards all night.

On two successive occasions, both Grey and Detreville picked their opponents clean and broke loose for easy layups or passed off for a score.

Law, who doled out 10 assists, and Butler also had key steals as Seminole blew open the game in the beginning of the third quarter. The steals generated into seven assists for Grey and five each for Butler and Detreville.

Sanford trailed, after one quarter, 16-12, due largely to a horrendous 3-of-15 shooting performance. The Mustangs' 6-9 center Willy Perdue blocked several shots, a couple which brought vociferous noise from coach Payne.

Midway through the quarter, a hair-trigger official slapped the colorful Tribe coach with two of the quickest technical fouls ever called.

"Big Bill" quieted down after that, but so did the Merritt Island shooting. During the second and third periods Sanford outscored the hosts, 41-13.

Smith hit a free throw early in the fourth quarter for the biggest margin — 29 points — at 59-30. The Mustangs were without a field goal until 22 seconds remained in the third quarter when sub Kenny Stammer fired in a 20-footer.

Merritt Island hit 1-of-11 shots in the third frame, while the Tribe dropped 9-of-12. In the fourth quarter Payne flooded the floor with reserves as Sanford coasted home.

Mustang Jeff Wickersham, a highly-sought quarterback, led the losers with 14 points, eight of which came at the foul line. Bryant Chesser chipped in 13 points.

WIGWAM WISPS — Payne will dress out sophomores Steve Alexander and William Wynn for tonight's contest. Alexander is the leading JV scorer and Wynn is a fierce rebounder.

San Diego Charges Into Playoffs, 23-7

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Somehow it seems terribly unfair.

The people of San Diego have a nearly perfect year-round climate, miles of unspoiled beaches sloping gently into the Pacific, a relatively low crime rate, clean and uncrowded streets and permanent sunbathers.

And, for the third consecutive year, they have a championship football team to root for.

The San Diego Chargers made sure of the last item Monday night, thrashing the defending Super Bowl champion Oakland Raiders, 23-7, to clinch the AFC West title. The Chargers thus became the only division champion from last season to repeat.

A loss or a tie would have eliminated the Chargers from the playoffs and would have given the Denver Broncos the AFC West crown. Both teams finished with 10-6 records, but the Chargers got the nod because of a better division record.

The pre-game buildup between the Chargers and division-rival Raiders was

Colts Ax McCormick, Hire Kush

OWINGS MILLS, Md. (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts followed their abysmal 2-14 season by firing one coach known as a "nice guy" and hiring another one known as a "tough guy."

Frank Kush, coach of the Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Canadian Football League and a man whose allegedly harsh actions toward players has stirred considerable controversy, Monday was signed to a five-year contract to replace Mike McCormick, a coach who never has won in the NFL.

Kush, 52, told a news conference he is devoted largely to the numbers game. Oakland had won 14 Monday night games in a row and had posted an amazing 18-1-1 record over the years in the nationally televised games, last losing a Monday night game when Gerald Ford was president.

But the home team had won 11 consecutive Monday night games this season, giving the Chargers the psychological edge in that department.

The game, however, didn't turn out to be a battle of statistics and numbers. The Chargers gained 361 total yards, just 25 more than the Raiders. And Oakland had a 229-214 edge in passing yards, the area where the Chargers usually put an opponent away.

Despite the close stats, the game was a rout.

San Diego took a 7-0 lead midway through the opening period on a bruising 28-yard run by James Brooks, who ran over or through five defenders on his way into the end zone.

Oakland's Chris Bahr kicked a 34-yard field goal on the first play of the second half to cut the deficit to 7-3, but from then on it was virtually all San Diego.

Rolf Benirschke's first of three field goals, a 24-yarder, gave the Chargers a 10-3 lead and Dan Fouts and Charlie Joiner teamed on a 29-yard TD pass in the closing minutes of the half to give San Diego a 17-3 lead.

Oakland made it 17-10 in the third period on Mark van Eeghan's 1-yard touchdown run, but Benirschke then kicked field goals of 27 and 39 yards to put the game away and send the Chargers to Miami, where they play the AFC East championship Dolphins Jan. 2.

Fouts passed for 222 yards, completing 14-of-27 passes to set NFL season records in all three categories. His TD pass to Joiner gave him 33 for the season, tying him with Y.A. Tittle for third place on the NFL's all-time list for TD passes in a season.

Ingredients needed to win in high school, college or the NFL.

In Baltimore, Kush takes over a demoralized team that went from a hopeful pre-season to the laughing stock of the league. The Colts' 1981 season was marked by intra-team squabbles including a long-standing row between McCormick and talented quarterback Bert Jones.

The Colts had the worst defense in the NFL in 1981 and are several players short of fielding a competitive team.

Confident Bucs Ready For Dallas

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers, who stormed back from a 5-6 record to win the Central Division of the NFC at 9-7, feel they can play with any team in the NFL and are ready to challenge the Dallas Cowboys in the opening game of the NFC playoffs Jan. 2.

"We're good enough to play Dallas," Coach John McVay said Monday. "We moved the ball extremely well on them (last year.)"

"We're ready to play," he said. "I feel comfortable playing them."

McVay, speaking at his Monday news conference, credited the Bucs comeback of four victories in their last five games, including a 20-17 championship victory Sunday over Detroit, with the players regaining their confidence.

"I think it's our play the last four or five weeks that has given the team what you have to have to even be alive, you have to believe you can win," McVay said. "You have to have confidence."

"We're not void of talent, I think we were void of confidence," he said.

McVay said he talked to the players about ability and confidence after their Nov. 15 loss to Denver, the second straight lackluster game they played, and lost.

"If anything turned this thing around it's when I talked to them about 'if you're going to lose and not play up to your ability it's disgraceful. If you play up to your ability and get beat, we just picked the wrong guys in the draft of something else and I didn't think we had done that kind of a job," McVay said.

"I think the guys we picked are pretty good players," he said.

McVay said despite winning the Central Division title twice in three years, the Bucs still have room for improvement.

"We still need some other players but I do think we have nucleus here because of our youth," he said. "We are still a young football team. We don't have anybody right now that we say we have to phase out in the next year, or two."

"I think that's the important thing we have. We still have a long way to go, but we don't have as far as some other teams," McVay said.

The Bucs came out of the Lions game with no major injuries and the two-week layoff before the playoff game will give those that are battered and bruised time to heal.

The Bucs were greeted on their return Sunday night by a boisterous, and sometimes unruly crowd estimated at anywhere from 7,000 to 10,000 fans, and safety Cedric Brown, who escaped the Lions' game without injury, was accidentally struck on the forehead by a bottle as a happy fan turned wildly as Brown was getting off the bus from the airport.

Five stitches were taken to close the cut.

Monday's opening night of the seventh annual Lion-Outlook Invitational Basketball Tournament, was dominated by Seminole County teams as host Oviedo, Lake Brantley and Lyman won their first round games along with visiting Lakeland Kathleen to qualify for the semi-finals tonight.

In the initial game Monday, Oviedo rode the 20 points of their blue chip junior Ronnie Murphy to outlast visiting Mt. Dora, 53-47.

The Lions struggled through the first three periods, but wore down the Hurricanes in the final period.

Cochair "Digger" Phillips took advantage of his bench, keeping the Lions fresh for the pivotal final period, while Mt. Dora played the minimum five players throughout the game.

Phillips was surprised with the play of the visitors.

"Mt. Dora played better than we expected," he said. "We just hung in there until we got ahead, that's the sign of a good ball club."

Aiding Murphy in the scoring were guard Kevin Angel with 10 points and Grey Myers with eight.

The victory advances Murphy and the Lions into the semis opposite Lyman who overpowered visiting Lake Gibson, 92-66.

Cochair Tom Lawrence's Hurrin' 'Hounds, fresh from two big weekend victories, used their ferocious man-to-man press and running game to bury Lake Gibson.

The Braves hung within nine through the 3rd period when Lawrence unleashed the Greyhounds press and quickly put the game away.

The 'Hounds outscored the Braves 30-13 in the final period to end the Gibson hopes of a upset.

The balanced production of the 'Hounds triple-threat of guards, Antoine "Pop" Lemon (21), William Scott (20), and center Eric French (17) was just too much for the Braves.

Lawrence was pleased with his troops' effort. "I was real happy, especially with our substitutes, they played really well."

As for the semi-final meeting with the Lions, who whipped the 'Hounds in their season opener, the Lyman boss added, "We have to stop Murphy, He's a player.

Prop Basketball

"We'll try a little bit of everything."

In the other bracket, the Lake Brantley Patriots used their "run-and-gun", hot shooting offense to shoot down the out-manned Groveland Greenbacks.

Senior guard Billy Powers shot over the Groveland zone to lead the way with 25 points.

It was never a contest as the Pats opened up the game in the first quarter on the inside play of Fred Baber and the shooting of powers.

The radical Greenbacks fought back but the Pats were just too much.

In this lackluster battle of fouls, Brantley increased its lead to 60-36 in the third when Brantley skipper Bob Peterson installed the subs to finish off the visitors.

Powers' game high 25 was followed by Mike Gregory who pumped in 13.

The Pats will take on Lakeland Kathleen in the semis tonight. The Red Devils, who are ranked first in the state and sport one of the top 25 players in the nation in guard George Almones, thrashed Lake Howell, 90-45, to earn their spot in the semis.

Almones paced the Kathleen attack with 29 points as the Lakeland crew improved to a spotless 8-0 record.

Kathleen bolted to a 45-26 halftime bulge and never looked back.

Hawk swingman Mark Layton tossed in 22 points to pace Howell who fell to 0-6.

Brantley boss Peterson was also pleased with his team.

"We played well as a team tonight," he said. "I was pleased with their performance."

As for how to attack Almones and Kathleen Peterson added, with great respect, "Maybe we can take down the goals."

"He's a tough kid (Almones), definitely a Blue Chipper, but by no means are they a one dimension team."

"They also have several other guys who can play."

Peterson also assured us that there is no way the Pats would roll over.

"Anytime you get a shot at the number one or two team in the state, you jump at it."

Tonight's semi-finals open-up in the SCC gym at 7 with the Oviedo-Lyman contest, followed by the Lake Brantley-Lakeland Kathleen dual at 8:30. The two winners will meet Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. for the title with the consolation scheduled for 7:00 p.m.

The Colts and the Vikings both pushed their records to 2-0 Saturday with victories in the Sanford Intermediate Boys Basketball League.

The Colts dumped the Eagles 56-39, while the Vikings crushed the Rams 73-38.

The Colts took a 13-8 first quarter lead over the Eagles, but by the halftime break the Eagles were ahead 37-25. The lead was short-lived as the Colts outscored the Eagles 20-3 in the third period to take a commanding lead.

Richard Whittaker paced the Colts with 21 points, while Charles Ruffins scored 15 and Andre Williams added 10. James Buie led the Eagles with 12 points, while Raymond Curry scored 11 and Thad Brown 10.

The Vikings only out-scored the Rams 15-8 in the first period, but then put the game out of reach by out-scoring the Rams 28-12 in the second period and 22-10 in the third quarter.

Andy Castle Latest Raider To Claim Tournament Crown

This has been an outstanding fall season for the Seminole Community College Men's Tennis Team. Raider players have won several major men's events as well as the four city team competition between Orlando, Atlanta, Richmond and Sanford.

Several dual matches were won against area schools and the latest major event to be won by a Raider player was the Vistana Junior Classic. This is perhaps one of the top junior tournaments in the state and was won this year by Andy Castle (no relation), a Seminole freshman, from Sussex, England.

Andy was unseeded in this event because the tournament committee did not know him. It made little difference though as he ran through the draw without losing a set. In fact his only tough match was against another SCC player — Dan Merritt of Brooksville. This match took place in the semis.

On the way to the championship, Andy beat several of the top juniors in Florida including Bo Johnson, the No. 1 seed in this tournament and No. 4 ranked junior in Florida.

Andy, only 18 years old, is the fourth ranked junior player in England and is in his first year at SCC. Of all the fine players Seminole has this year, Andy has perhaps the most raw talent and possibly the most potential.

Tall, rangy and extremely mobile, Andy possesses all the shots but is particularly effective when coming to the net. His flair for the inventive and difficult shots make him fun to watch and sometimes brings his game to an extremely high level.

Andy has a good future in tennis and

Larry Castle Herald Staff Writer

folks around SCC are glad he's here.

Lake Mary High hosted a mixed doubles tournament last weekend at the new facilities on Lake Mary's campus. This was a fund raising project and over $600 was raised for the tennis teams. Candy Crocker and David Holt won the event beating Andy McNeil and Glennie Mann in the finals. The score was 6-7, 6-3, 6-3.

A tip of the hat to Doug Malczowski and Don Reynolds for getting the Lake Mary program off on the right foot.

John McEnroe has had lots of criticism lately — most of it deserved but I believe his performance in the final singles match against Argentina in the Davis Cup will go down in tennis history as one of the greatest performances of all time.

I am now a McEnroe fan — I was in awe of his great competitive spirit — his loyalty to the United States and above all his character in winning that match. He almost singlehandedly (a little help from Peter Fleming) won the Davis Cup for the U.S.

When the flag is at stake, McEnroe is there — I for one appreciate that...

VFW Post Helps Seven Families

VFW Post 5405 provided Christmas baskets for seven large needy families in the area this year. The baskets were taken to the recipients on Dec. 17.

On Dec. 22, members of the post and auxiliary will be going to the Navy Regional Hospital. They have invited Santa Claus to go with them, and even though it is a busy time for him, he has agreed to go along to pass out gifts to all the patients.

The post and auxiliary members will sing carols and serve the patients cookies and punch. Mary Rowell, president of the Ladies Auxiliary, says they all enjoy visiting the patients each year.

This year will be the first time members will be allowed to visit the maternity ward.

Winter Springs Elementary had a busy day Dec. 18. The day started with a Holiday Parade through the school, giving students the opportunity to see all the decorations.

After the parade the kindergarten children presented a holiday program to the student body. Somewhere during the day the teachers conducted classes before the holiday party started. The pod mothers provided refreshments to the pods.

On Dec. 17, the students at Red Bug Elementary were treated to a marionette production of "Rumpelstiltskin." The show was put on by Mr. and Mrs. Traveres of the Stens Puppets.

Mrs. Vi McLoughlin, vice-principal, says the marionettes are individually designed and hand carved. She says that Mr. and Mrs. Traveres go North to work in the summers and come back to Florida in the winter. This is the fifth year they have come to Red Bug to put on a different puppet show.

On Dec. 18, Jim Neville, principal, along with

Mrs. Virginia Ulrichko, music director, led the Special Holiday Sing for the students. The fifth grade select chorus also sang. The students were then treated to movies.

The last 45 minutes of the day was spent having a Holiday Party. The pod mothers served the refreshments and the pod teachers prepared individual programs for their pods.

Mrs. McLoughlin said, "The air is electric and the decorations are gorgeous." Sounds like everyone had a good time.

The Sterling Park Elementary fourth and fifth grade chorus gave a performance at the Altamonte Mall on Dec. 15. They also performed at the PTA meeting on Dec. 17.

Kindergarten and the first grade put on a musical show called "Music Around the World" for the PTA and again on Dec. 18, for the student body.

Sterling Park, like the other elementaries, was bustling with the holiday season on Dec. 18. The pod mothers and the teachers hosted a holiday party in the afternoon.

Seminole Middle School Student Advisory Board held a canned food drive for needy families in which they collected 1350 cans of food.

Also, a Christmas dance was held and the students raised $186 which will be donated for the needy. Gladys Wilson, social worker for SMS, will bag food and distribute it.

The chorus provided the student body with festive holiday music on Dec. 14.

On Dec. 16 there was a band concert and open house for the band parents.

I would like to take this time to say our farewells to Ruth and Dave Leather, and their children Michael and Jennifer. Dave is getting out of the Navy and returning to civilian life and the Leather family is moving to Virginia where Dave will be working.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Moore hosted a farewell party on Dec. 19, with many of the neighbors attending.

Your neighbors in Winter Springs will miss the four of you. We aren't always fortunate enough to be blessed with good neighbors that we can call friends as well.

Dave, we'll miss seeing you jogging around the neighborhood.

Ruthy, we'll miss that friendly smile and knowing if we needed you for anything you'd be there to help.

Thank you, from so many of us who have had to go to the hospital, for the meals you sent to our families.

God Speed!

To all my readers I would like to wish a Merry Christmas or Happy Hanukkah.

This time of year brings out so much good in people. Wouldn't it be great if we could capture the Christmas spirit and keep it alive throughout the whole year?

Documents Given To DAR Chapter

Several documents of historic significance have been presented to the Sallie Harrison Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, by A.B. Peterson Jr., Sanford, in memory of his family.

One of the documents was his grandmother's framed certificate of membership into the national Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution in 1913. The grandmother, Elizabeth Starling, founded the Sanford DAR Chapter and named it for her sister, Sallie Harrison Sims in 1917.

The December chapter meeting was held at the Palmetto Avenue home of Mrs. William S. Brumley, regent, who presided over the meeting.

A program on "Developing Your Ancestral Chart" was presented by George D. Walker Sr. and Julius Ryals of the Central Florida Historical and Genealogical Society.

Joining Mr. and Mrs. Peterson as guests were: Mrs. Vea Griffith, mother of Mrs. Raymond G. Fox of Lake Mary, and Mrs. Margaret Moore of Deltona.

Twenty-five members and guests were served refreshments in a Christmas setting.

Light-Fingered Girl Carries A Heavy Load

DEAR ABBY: I'm 15 and an only child. My family is upper middle-class and I guess you could call me a straight-laced conservative teenager. For the last six months I have been on a shoplifting binge. It's not peer pressure. I'm always alone when I do it. I never go into a store intending to steal, but I immediately look for floor walkers and mirrors. I usually have enough money to buy whatever I need, so I can't understand why I take things. (I will buy a pair of pants and steal a pair.) I've even taken stuff I have no use for.

If I tell my parents, they'll never trust me to go anywhere. Please don't suggest that I talk to a priest. I just couldn't. I'm getting scared, Abby. I hate to leave the house for fear I'll go into a store and steal something.

You may print this if you think it might help somebody else, but please don't use my right name or town.

LIGHT-FINGERED IN IOWA

DEAR LIGHT-FINGERED: You could be a victim of kleptomania — a persistent neurotic compulsion to steal without economic motive. Kleptomania can be cured with treatment.

The fact that your conscience bothered you enough to write to me proves that you are not a common thief. If you absolutely can't tell your parents, please talk to your school counselor. If you're to be helped, you'll have to reach out for it.

DEAR ABBY: I recently ordered a birthday cake from a high-class, well-known bakery. It is famous for its beautifully decorated cakes. When I went to pick up my cake, it was sitting on the display counter, uncovered — no cellophane, tissue, or anything at all to protect it from the possibility of contamination. The bakery was crowded, and people were leaning over the cake as they were being waited on.

One child, about eye-level with my cake, had a bad cough, and she was coughing and blowing her nose not six inches from the icing on my cake! Abby, I am not a fanatic about germs, but I do think this is a very unsanitary practice. I immediately lost my appetite for that cake, and when it was served that evening I couldn't take even one bite.

If bakeries want to display their work, shouldn't they protect it?

I haven't mentioned this to anyone else for fear of appearing foolish. Also, should I let the bakery know how I feel?

SQUEAMISH IN BALTIMORE

DEAR SQUEAMISH: You would be doing the bakery a favor by mentioning it to them.

I agree, bakery goods should be covered. And your complaint together with this item should cover it.

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote in to say that the blare of rock music and the noise of small children in public were as much of a public nuisance as smoking, and you answered, "Don't tolerate it. Go to the source and complain!" Abby, how could you? What has happened to make us a nation of complainers? Why should we complain every time someone offends our ears or noses? That's what's wrong with society today. No one is willing to tolerate anything that is even slightly annoying. No wonder there are so many divorces and so many unhappy people nowadays.

Come on, Abby, let us all be more tolerant. What's wrong with the old adage, "Live and let live?"

TIRED OF COMPLAINERS

DEAR TIRED: I'm all for living and letting live, but the right to swing one's arm ends where the other person's nose begins.

Dolls, Choppers And 'The Animal'

Dear Santa Claus,
I want some toys like the animal on the Muppet's show. He is called "The Animal." And I want a doll of Rudolph and a toy "Chips" helicopter set and the electronic motorcycle game, a radio-controlled dune buggy from Radio Shack and the remote-controlled Moon Space Man Robot.

Thank you,
Love,
Kevin Lee Scudder, 10 years

Dear Santa,
I have been a real good boy so please bring me a Trans Am, red bike, hair drier and a smoke alarm for my bedroom. Also a desk. I'll do a favor for you. You can have some cookies and hot chocolate since its cold out there.

Merry Xmas.
Signed,
Bryan Hunt

Dear Santa Claus,
My name is Ryan Holt. I am 5 years old. I am a good boy. Please, I want a Star Wars case with Yoda on front. I also want a remote-control Batmobile and Captain America's car, a real doggie to be my friend. He has to be small for the house. Super heroes punch out book would be nice, too. Merry Christmas and ho! ho! ho!

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Hair On Your Face Isn't Whole Story

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 19-year-old male and I think I have a delayed puberty. I have gone through the first stages all right. When I was about 15 my voice changed and I grew slightly and developed pubic and some axillary hairs. Not much has happened to me since and that was four years ago. I'm now 5 feet 9 and weigh 135 pounds. I don't have facial hair yet and still don't have a full growth of axillary hair. I look underdeveloped and don't have much muscle mass. I was wondering if hormone treatments would be beneficial in aiding my problem. I have heard that this can produce undesirable side effects. This problem has depressed me and hampered my social life. I need your advice.

The use of sex hormones to develop muscles is often associated with undesirable consequences. I would encourage you to see a doctor and perhaps have a test to see if your hormone production is normal. When he is able to talk to you and examine you, he may be able to tell that you are perfectly normal. Your weight is all right for your height. If you want to develop more muscles perhaps you would benefit from a strength-training program.

DEAR READER - There are a few more important anatomical changes associated with becoming a mature male than how much hair you grow on your face. To give you an illustration, American Indians and most Oriental ethnic groups tend to have sparse facial hair growth compared to the Anglo-Saxon male, and they are just as virile.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have heard so many different opinions about the value of vitamin C in combating and preventing the common cold that I am confused and would appreciate your views. Does a normal balanced diet usually provide the body with its daily requirement of vitamin C? Do excessive amounts of vitamin C tablets aid the body's resistance or is the excess simply eliminated?

The important questions are your sexual development and your bone growth. The latter has to be studied by X-rays to see if your bones have stopped growing or not. Most boys go through puberty between ages 11 and 17 but there are a handful who are slower. That doesn't mean they are abnormal. It could mean their life spans will be longer.

DEAR READER - There appear to be no sound studies that demonstrate that vitamin C in any amount prevents cold, regardless of when the large dose is taken. Most reputable authorities would agree with this statement. A few studies suggest that large amounts of vitamin C may diminish or shorten some symptoms of the common cold but the reports are conflicting.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, December 23, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY December 23, 1981
This coming year you should be able to bring to fruition ventures or projects which thus far have seemed to be unproductive. Don't give up on your dreams. Changes are in the offing which will make this possible.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Focus your efforts on secret ambitions you've been hoping to fulfill. Conditions are starting to shift in your favor. Predictions of what's in store for you in each season following your birthdate and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your new Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're the type who has the ability to make friends easily. Your splendid qualities will be even more accentuated today.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Concentrate your efforts in this period on goals which are truly important. You are now in a cycle which holds the promise of major successes.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Trust your decision-making ability today, even if you have to make snap judgments under pressure. You have the facility to size up situations quickly and accurately.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Normally you do not like to have your routines disrupted, but today you may welcome change because you'll use it to your advantage. Be flexible.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Dan Cupid tends to favor you today in matters of the heart. You should be lucky in love as well as fortunate in other areas.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) This should be a very productive day, because the busier you are the happier you'll be. Take pride in each of your tasks and you'll be amazed at what you can accomplish.

WIN AT BRIDGE

team championship North was S.J. (Skid) Simon author of that great book, 'Why you lose at bridge'. South was Harrison Gray, an extraordinary dummy player. The bidding is modernistic from 1981 standards. Gray cue bid to ask Simon to choose a suit. Simon passed it back to Gray by a cue bid of his own and Gray went to four spades.

WEST started with three rounds of clubs. East ruffed dummy's queen with the 10 of trumps. Gray overruffed and led the king of spades. East chucked the four of diamonds and threw two more diamonds as Gray led his nine-eight of spades. A heart to queen came next and the ace of spades was cashed. Poor East had to throw another diamond and South discarded a low heart. A diamond was led next and now declarer had developed his deuce of diamonds as a winner since East had been forced to hold on to all his four hearts. Good play, but Gray pointed out later on that East could have beaten him by discarding his ace and queen of diamonds rather than small ones.
