

If Your Feet Bother You Try A Bigger Shoe Size

By HERMAN R. BUNDSMAN, M.D.

FEET bother you? It's no wonder. About 90 per cent of the nation's population has some sort of foot trouble sooner or later. With odds like that, chances are you're among that 90 per cent.

The chief cause of foot trouble? Shoes Don't Fit

Poorly fitting shoes, of course, and we can do away with much foot discomfort.

Let me give you a few buying tips.

First, take a look at your present shoes. If they fit properly you'll notice the first signs of wear on the sole under the ball of your foot.

If this is the case and the shoes have been comfortable, tell the salesman about them. The shoe last is a good one for you and maybe he can fit you with a similar pair.

Ask the salesman to measure both of your feet while you are standing on them. Don't insist on the same size shoe you've been wearing. You may need a larger size this time.

Just one-sixth of an inch, remember, is half a size.

Be sure the shoe has plenty of depth at the toe. The widest part of the shoe should correspond with the widest part of your foot. The heel should be snug so the shoe doesn't slip.

It's a woman's privilege to have lots of shoes. In fact, it's even advisable from a health standpoint. Women, you see, do well to have a variety of heel heights.

You should have shoes with heels of at least three different heights, ranging from high to medium to flat.

Wear them in succession, a different height each day, and you'll always feel comfortable, whether in flats or high heels.

Built-up leather heels generally are more resilient than covered heels.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. A.: I have begun to work under fluorescent lighting. I now notice that I am becoming bald. Could this type lighting be causing it? I am a woman of 24.

Answer: No. If anything, fluorescent light would stimulate the scalp rather than cause baldness. For this type light gives off some ultraviolet rays.

Dr. Sowder Says Public Health's Future At Stake

JACKSONVILLE (A)—The State Board of Health said a recommended job classification and pay scale plan for 14 agencies covered by the Merit System Council would demoralize the board.

Dr. Wilson T. Sowder, state health officer, said "The future of public health is at stake."

Dr. Sowder held a morning long conference with 15 of his division and bureau heads regarding proposals released by the Public Administration Service—a Chicago organization that was hired for $35,000 to produce a uniform employment system for the various agencies.

Dr. Sowder released a memorandum to his bureau and division directors, county health officers, and other supervisors concerned saying "In general the job specifications are not satisfactory and are not as good as those under which we are now working. We intend to make every effort to eliminate all phases of this plan and proposal which would make it difficult for all of us to carry on an efficient public health program."

Ruth E. Mettinger, head of the division of public health nursing, said "All of us are dissatisfied because the classification plan for nurses is misleading and leads to misinterpretation and consequently would lower nursing standards."

John A. Mulrennan of the Bureau of Entomology claimed the plan would put his new $200,000 biological laboratory at Vero Beach out of business. "The way the classifications are set up, scientists it would be impossible to bring anyone worthwhile into this state. You cannot hire a top scientist for $7,520 a year. It's like some high school kid wrote up classifications."

Dr. Albert V. Hardy of the Bureau of Laboratories made the point that the plan would pay less money to a chemist concerned with the poisoning of people than to a chemist who examines horses for the Florida Racing Commission.

Frank S. Castor of the Bureau of Narcotics said "I think they've overlooked the word 'merit'. The system is devoid of any merit and if it is put into effect it will demoralize our bureau."

James E. Scatterday of the division of Veterinary Public Health said "We would not be able to hire any veterinarians."

DO THE TURKEY TWIST

These perky yeast-raised turkeys are in the bright spirit of Thanksgiving. Plan to fill your bread basket with them often during this season.

TURKEY TWISTS

- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 6 cups sifted enriched flour

Scald milk and stir in 1/2 cup sugar, salt and shortening. Set aside to cool to lukewarm. Measure water and 3 lbs. sugar into large mixing bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture and eggs. Add and stir in half the flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour or enough to make a dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 8 to 10 minutes, or until surface is smooth and satiny. Pat dough into greased bowl and brush top with melted shortening. Cover with cloth; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 37 minutes. Punch down dough, pull sides into center, turn out on board. The turkey twist is a reverse S-shaped roll with curly ends. Start with a rope 1 1/2" long and 1/2" thick made by rolling a piece of dough with palms on board. To shape make a clockwise circle, letting pointed end of dough stick out at the top to form beak. Curve dough up then down to shape neck and continue down to begin body. Now make counter clockwise circle 4 times as big as first, winding dough in spiral toward center. Add a small wedge-shaped piece of dough along upper right of circle to form tail feathers. Brush tops with melted fat. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Bake at 425°F. (hot oven) 12 to 15 minutes or until brown.

Macaroni products need to be cooked in a large amount of boiling salted water to keep them from becoming sticky.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I am a Korea veteran. Part of my military service was spent at a civilian college, enrolled in a regular college course. Will this service count toward my entitlement for Korean GI Bill training?

A. It will not. Under the law, time spent in a civilian school studying courses offered to civilians may not be counted toward Korean GI Bill entitlement.

Q. My husband, a World War I veteran, died recently. I am planning to file an application for death pension. If my application is approved, what will be the effective date on which payments will begin?

A. If you file within one year from the date of death of your husband, the payments, if approved, will begin as of the day following his death. If you wait longer than a year to apply, the payments, if approved, will begin as of the date of your application.

Q. I have arranged for the beneficiary of my GI insurance policy to receive monthly payments in case anything happens to me. I have named no other beneficiaries. What happens if the beneficiary dies before all the insurance payments due have been paid?

A. The remaining unpaid installments will be paid in a lump sum to your estate.

Q. Would it be possible for a disabled serviceman to begin Public Law 894 training while in the hospital, awaiting discharge, even though he is not yet a veteran?

A. Yes. He may begin his training while in the hospital, awaiting discharge. However, he could not receive subsistence allowances before his military discharge. The law prohibits payments of the allowance concurrently with active service pay.

Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their various GI benefits should write or visit the VA office.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER FOR 1957

Here's the glamorous, low-priced 1957 Chrysler Windsor V-8

Announcing the most glamorous car in a generation!

You never looked or felt as good in anything before!

Other cars have changed models... this one changes motoring. Look at its rich, racy lines... at the long, low silhouette... at the dramatic upsweep of the rear fenders that plume back from the waist like the wake of a hydroplane. It's a streak of a car with the elegance of the boulevard and the spirit of the speedway.

Get into this car, drive it into traffic or out on the open highway and you enter a new domain of travel. In the 1957 Chrysler, with its new Torsion-Aire Ride, motion has a new "feel". And wait till you toe the throttle. A new Pushbutton TorqueFlite Transmission teams with a mighty airplane-type V-8 engine, developing up to 325 horsepower, to give you a new high-velocity getaway, matchless passing power when you need it.

Come in this week and visit our showrooms. See and drive the most completely new car of the year!

Torsion-Aire Ride pours the road under you!

Try Chrysler's new Torsion-Aire Ride and you'll think some of the laws of gravity, motion and inertia have been suspended in your favor. No more rock and roll. No more pitch when you stop. Chrysler's new torque rod suspension and lower center of gravity give you a brand new ground-skimming "feel" of the road. The wheels ride the contours... but you don't. The road just pours under you.

Mellonville Ave. Extension To Be Completed By Jan 1

"The extension of Mellonville Ave. from First St. to the lake front to join Seminole Blvd. which is to be extended from San Carlos Ave. to Mellonville will be completed by Jan. 1," City Manager Warren E. Knowles said recently.

The extension of the two streets was made necessary because of the closing of San Carlos Ave. from Seminole Blvd. to East First St.

The closed street will serve as an entranceway to the Mayfair Inn Annex which is now under construction and planned to be completed by the first of the year.

Completion of the Mayfair Inn Annex will bring to Sanford one of the most modern structures of its kind.

Beginning of the construction of the Mayfair Inn Annex follows closely on the heels of the building of a new York Giants dormitory building on Mellonville Ave. which is to house the New York Giants Farm System and the baseball players who train each year.

Official Explains Provisions Of New Farm Loan Program

Provisions of the new farm operating and development loan program for farmers who have part-time employment off the farm were explained this week by Curtis J. Green, the Farmers Home Administration county supervisor for Seminole County.

He said although the main purpose of these loans is to help farmers who live in areas designated for the rural development program, there may be other farmers having part-time employment off the farm who may be eligible for operating and farm development loans.

To be eligible the applicant must be of legal age, a citizen of the United States, unable to get credit from other sources and have had farm experience or training sufficient to indicate reasonable prospect of continuing successful farming operations.

Storm Windows Require Very Careful Handling

By HERMAN H. BUNDLEN, M. E.
IT'S time to get up the storm it's not so tiring to either of you windows again. But this year, let's and it's a lot safer.
give it a little thought before you have to replace a pane lacking a job that nobody really of glass in one of the windows, be like to do.
While I can't actually help you sure to carry it correctly.
tackle the job, maybe I can give you a little advice that will make the chore easier and—more important—safer.
Dry-ON Job
First, don't try to put up storm windows when you come home from the office or factory at night. Wait until you have a day off. You won't be so tired if you tackle the job fresh in the morning hours.
Also, you'll probably approach the task with a much better mental attitude. Doing a job grudgingly is a good way of asking for an accident.
Calm Day
Be sure to choose a calm day. Remember, you'll be climbing a ladder using a pretty good-sized window. A stiff wind might blow right into a tuberculosis hospital right off the ladder and into a hospital.
Have Help
It's always best, of course, to try to use these sweaters if they have someone help you. That way you're properly cleaned.

Raceway President Thanks Seminole County Voters

"I want to express my sincerest appreciation to the people of Seminole County who cooperated in the overwhelming mandate for the ratification of the harness horse referendum," William H. Kemp, president of the Seminole Raceway Park said this morning. "Every precinct in the county gave us a majority," he said, "and we are proud to share in the victory."

Kemp said, "We feel humble for the expression of confidence in the efforts of my associates and myself to bring this new industry to Seminole County."

"I wish to assure the citizens of Seminole County that the peoples' confidence will never be misplaced and we re-emphasize our determination never to bring any activity which will in any way discredit or embarrass the people of our county," he said.

"As we build this new plant and bring to this community the economic advantages which are part and parcel of our efforts, the trust which our friends have placed in us will be amply justified," Kemp stated.

Kemp said that their new building program will get underway immediately and they expect to build Seminole Raceway Park, one of the finest plants of its kind in the country.

"We are very proud of the many new friends we have made in Seminole County and we are looking forward to working with them in this Central Florida endeavor," Kemp said.

The bids for the two tractors to the Florida Georgia Tractor Co.

In the discussion on the purchase and awarding of the bid for a tandem roller to the Square Deal Machinery Co., Crenshaw, representing the Florida Equipment Co., spoke again to the Board.

The Board refused to go into executive session in order that a letter which Crenshaw said would not get into the press.

Crenshaw explained to the Seminole County Commissioners that his tandem roller met all of the specifications where the equipment proposed for purchase did not meet the county's requirements.

The Board of Commissioners reversed its decision and awarded the contract for the purchase of the roller to Florida Equipment Co.

Combined bids for the three pieces of machinery came to a total of nearly $35,000.

Ministerial Assn. Nominating Group To Make Report

A nominating committee to report next month was appointed at the yesterday's meeting of the Seminole County Ministerial Association.

Members of the committee are the Rev. W. P. Brooks Jr., the Rev. Fred Ensminger, and the Rev. David S. Carneliv.

Other matters considered at the meeting held in the Board Room of the Educational Building on Commercial Ave. included the appointment of a three-man committee to head a blood bank group for the association.

The board of commissioners extended an invitation to Myron Beck, General Manager of Radio Station WTRR to meet with the Ministerial Association to discuss public service religious programs.

Mosquito Plague To Be Over Soon

The mosquito plague which has been harassing Sanford and Seminole County people will be over in a few days—provided there is no more rain.

Swarms of the pesky mosquitoes have been infiltrating homes and business places for the last ten days.

J. A. Mulreanan, director of the State Board of Health's Bureau of Entomology, said today the most noxious pest at the moment, there are 67 varieties of mosquito in Florida—is commonly called the Glades mosquito, a fresh water nuisance.

It lays its eggs in little shallow or along the edges and they stay there perhaps for years. Nothing happens unless there are unusually heavy rains such as have fallen recently.

This species lives about 10 days, Mulreanan said, so after this long hot drier there won't be any more until the area dries off and the pest lays more eggs and it rains again. The insect must have a dry spot to deposit its eggs which last sit there in the flatlands areas until a lot of rain comes along. Then the swarms hatch.

Mulreanan said there's not much you can do in mosquito except scatter insecticide about or scratch.

Adlai Didn't Make Most Of Chances

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson had some cards stacked against him from the start. But he didn't make the most of the cards he held.

Former President Truman said at the Democratic Convention last August that Stevenson was no fighter. This was not quite correct. Stevenson fought as hard as he knew how. History may say the trouble was he really didn't know how.

This as a personal defeat for Stevenson, not for the Democratic party. He ran behind the party as the close contest between Democrats and Republicans for control of Congress showed.

Perhaps another man, better able to get his ideas across, might have done better than Stevenson. Perhaps not.

Because of the peace and prosperity under President Eisenhower, the country felt no need for change. Stevenson's job was to show a change was needed. He didn't get that across to the voters.

One reason because people were content, the issues were thin. But they were thin for another reason too: Stevenson and Eisenhower basically have the same views on domestic and foreign problems and their solutions.

This meant Stevenson had to strain to point up any differences between him and Eisenhower. The strain showed. At times he seemed to be floundering around to find an issue. For example: his proposals toward ending the draft and the H-bomb tests.

Stevenson, even though he had been through the 1952 campaign never learned how to get his ideas across. Most of the time he talked in generalities. But when he criticized the popular Eisenhower's performance he needed to be convincing, to back up his charges with facts and figures. He had a tendency to ignore them.

He failed also to understand the elementary task of reaching the most people with what he said through the newspapers. He worked over his speeches, polishing them, until just before delivering them to perhaps an audience of thousands.

This meant he got his speeches into the hands of reporters late—and therefore into the papers late—although the papers reach millions in every town and city.

News men who accompanied him said he was forever toting down the speeches prepared for him by his speechwriters. It's no wonder they lacked fire. More than that he had a knack for approaching problems obliquely instead of head on.

For example: He said he wouldn't make Eisenhower's health an issue. But when it did, he couldn't seem to bring himself to talk of it forthrightly. He kept referring to it by asking if Vice President Nixon would make a good president.

Stevenson was credited by some people with having a literary style. He seemed to think so, since he worked over his phrases so much. But Truman had a better style, political and literary; he was more vivid and understandable.

Ethical Level Of Society Is Not Rising As Fast As Our Prosperity

We are all living through the most intense and history-shattering events since 1945. An era has ended, and with it the thought of that era has been rolled away. We must think anew in terms of a world situation which already has begun to change and which will continue to change rapidly and, as it were, in depth.

The events of these last few weeks are ir-reversible. But, most understandably, this can be confusing to many of us Americans. How are we going to keep our bearings? How are we going to adjust our policies and our thinking? How are we going to put our thoughts in sufficient order so that the on-rush of events will not drown out our logic? The issue is still freedom. As Americans read and hear of the new crises, they should keep this in mind. What is good for freedom? What is bad, menacing to freedom? These questions should serve well as basic test questions.

Above all else, it is freedom which counts. A new, if tragic, reinforcement of this lesson was provided by the events in Budapest. It

Major Crime Increase

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reports that during the first half of 1956 a major crime was committed in the United States every 12.2 seconds, on the average. This was a 14.4 per cent increase over the same period in 1955.

How is this to be explained? Possibly it cannot be explained with much accuracy, although many persons reputed to be authorities on social conditions have come up with their views. It is especially perplexing in view of the fact that the country is in a period of virtually unprecedented prosperity and abundance.

Could it be that the explanation lies in the very fact that we live in an era of such plenty? How incongruous it seems that lawless acts of men against their neighbors mount in a time when flourishing economic conditions ought to be a potent force spreading the spirit of brotherhood. Yet it does appear that whenever there is an unusual flow of money, avaricious hands reach out to grab an extra share.

That may be what is happening now. The unpalatable fact seems to be that the ethical level of our society has not risen as fast as our prosperity has risen.

'Dictionary Of Charlestonsese'

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK (U.S.)—Nothing makes an American feel more like a stranger in his own land than to strike up a conversation with a man from another part of the country—and suddenly realize he can't understand what the guy's saying.
 A Texan driving through Brooklyn who stops and asks a native the directions can hardly believe his ears. Surely this must be a different language.
 In a way it is. Brooklynese is one of many regional American languages. There are so many, in fact, that some bright publisher thought to come out with a verbal decoder that will guide the hapless tourist safely through all the strange accents of his homeland, from Maine French to Pennsylvania.

A step in this direction has just been taken by the Charleston, S. C. News and Courier. It has just published a "Dictionary of Charlestonsese," to help outsiders understand a form of English handed down since 1670 in the venerable port city which is to the old South roughly what Mecca is to the Moslems.
 That is why a Yankee visitor is completely lost when he hears a Charlestonsian motorist ask, "Can I police pack hair? I'd pre-shade it" — and receive the courteous answer, "course, with chafe."
 But it's really simple, and anyone who had lived in Charleston only two generations would have no trouble understanding the exchange. The motorist asked, "Can I please park here. I'd appreciate it." And he was told "Certainly. Right here."

Here — skipping from A toward Z — are a few typical examples of Charlestonsese and how they can be translated by the trained ear:
 Abode — Wooden plank.
 A hood — Approximately.
 Balks — A container, such as match balks.
 Barter — Something to spread on bread.
 Beckon — Meat from a pig, often eaten with peas for brashness.
 Caller — Part of a shirt that is a lesson eminently worth repeating. In all that is happening the question remains: What is good for freedom?

Monaco's Population Query

We venture to suggest that brows, as well as tiny garments, are being knit in Monaco these days. For though the impending blessed event is awaiting with delight by both rulers and subjects of that bite-size principality, there is an attendant problem.

Not to be too coy about it, the problem is this: Suppose the birth of an heir inspires emulation among the loyal populace? Result—a booming birth rate. Result—a housing shortage.

It is generally supposed that the only way to add housing in Monaco would be to erect higher buildings, since there is no room for outward expansion. However, following our policy of being helpful to all, we offer two suggestions. The first is that the palace be remodeled into apartments. Anticipating that the royal pair might not react warmly to this, we have an alternate proposal—houseboats on the blue Mediterranean.
 The more we think about that idea, the better we like it.

Foreign Affairs

Again and again, we Americans complain and even grow angry because of an increase of anti-American feeling abroad. Aware of the nation's dwindling prestige, we even goad ourselves into dislike of the peoples of other nations, and vent our wrath in bursts of isolationism. When we reach this point, it is well to pause and reflect.

A declining interest in foreign affairs is evident all over the United States. We give much less time to reading and thinking about world problems than we should. Yet, if we want to play our role in the world, if we are going to continue asserting and believing America is the leader of the free world, then we need quickly to put our minds, our energies, and our faculty of attention to work.

We say truly that there is a struggle between the free and the totalitarian worlds. If the free world does not win and survive, then everything which we cherish will go down. All that we hope for in the future can be lost, even irretrievably. To prevent this we want others, both in Europe and in the non-committal or neutral nations of Asia to side with us. There are many aboard who do side with us. They look to us. They are convinced that without our leadership and our wise use of power and resources they, too, will go down.

But how are they going to feel, and how much energy and hope can they maintain, when they learn that in the United States there is a growing apathy toward foreign affairs? If we cannot quicken the interest of more Americans in issues that involve the survival of the free world, how can we expect to energize people abroad?

There is a dangerous inconsistency in the minds of many Americans. This is the inconsistency of having the cake you eat. In this situation, we cannot afford indigestion. Too much is at stake.

"Don't forget the light bill, dear."

Agriculture News

CECIL A. TUCKER, II
 Seminole County Agriculture Agent
 It's still not too late to plant something "Green for the winter." This applies to home owners who want green lawns as well as the cattlemen, dairymen and poultrymen who need green range for this fall and winter.

Ordinarily the winter annuals such as ryegrass, rye, oats, clover, etc. should be planted in October in order to have as early a green cover (lawns) or grazing as soon as possible. While we may miss some early "green cover" or early pasture we can still plant through the middle of November with good results.

For the homeowner, Italian Ryegrass is perhaps the best winter lawngrass. It should be broadcast at the rate of 5-8 pounds per 1000 square feet. After seeding, Ryegrass should be watered frequently to germinate the seed. For best results Ryegrass should receive equal if not better care than the lawn ordinarily receives. You will have a nice green lawn, until a short period next spring when the ryegrass dies back and the established lawn starts its spring growth.

The dairyman or the cattlemen shouldn't overlook the possibility of providing a large part of winter's supply of feed through winter grasses or clover, particularly clover. Winter clovers endure frost and can go a long way toward meeting winter pasture needs. In fact, a large portion of the animal's protein needs may come from clover, since it may have a protein content of as high as 20 per cent on a dry weight basis.

Clover being a legume, also furnishes nitrogen to the ground. This nitrogen then can be used by companion grasses and thus produce more total forage. Some of the nitrogen fixed by the clover remains in the soil for three to five months after the clover has completed its growth.

Clover can be planted on a prepared seedbed or on a grass sod. If it is planted on a grass sod, the grass should be grazed closely and the surface scarified lightly before seeding. Prepared soil should be well settled before planting, or may be firmed or packed lightly with a cultipacker or roller at planting. Usually lime is needed for best clover growth, since clover thrives best at a pH of 6.0 to 6.5. Also the clover seed should be inoculated with the proper bacteria culture before planting.

If you keep poultry—whether few or many—it may well pay you to consider providing green range for this fall. Green feed not only furnishes important nutrients for your birds, but it reduces your feed costs as well. Green feeds can be used to supply up to 15 per cent of the laying diet for hens. Young green succulent green feed also adds necessary bulk to the diet as well as protein, carbohydrates, minerals and all of the vitamins needed for the bird except Vitamins B12 and D.

Such grazing crops as oats, rye, wheat, clover and greens such as collards, cabbage, kale and mustard may well help you so save some money, since feed cost account for more than 50 per cent of all cost of poultry production.

Five people from Seminole County attended the area Water Resources meeting that was held in Orlando Nov. 1. They were: Dr. R. W. Ruprecht, Experiment Station; Ben Wiggins, Soil Conservation Service; W. W. Linz, Co-chairman for Seminole County Water Resources Committee; Henry Simpson, Geneva; and the County Agricultural Agent—heard the State Chairman, Byron Herlong, read the tentative recommendations that will be presented to the next legislature. Afterwards a number of people put into the record their feelings on these rather broad recommendations.

At the Florida Citrus Mutual growers meeting at Altamonte Springs last week the County Agent joined with a number of citrus growers in hearing the latest reports on water conservation, the citrus outlook and a film on the Mediterranean Fruit Fly. W. W. Shivers USDA took part in answering questions on the Med fly and nematode. It was brought up in discussion led by Lou Marshall, Lakeland, that the present campaign by the State Plant Board against the burrowing ne-

More Research Is Needed On Method Of Fly Detection

LAKE ALFRED (U.S.)—More research is needed on newer methods of fruit fly detection and control, a federal fruit fly expert says.

L. F. Steiner, head of fruit fly chemical control research for the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Hawaii, said methods used in the current Mediterranean fruit fly outbreak in Florida have been very successful but there is still need for more research, especially on methods of using radioactive materials.

For the past six months Steiner has been technical adviser to State Plant Board and U. S. Pest Control officials working on the eradication program.

He said nearly 80 per cent of the infestations have been cleaned up. Leaders of the campaign have said they hope to achieve primary aims by the end of the year, although mopping up and checking operations may continue another year or longer.

ASSISTANT MANAGER APPOINTED

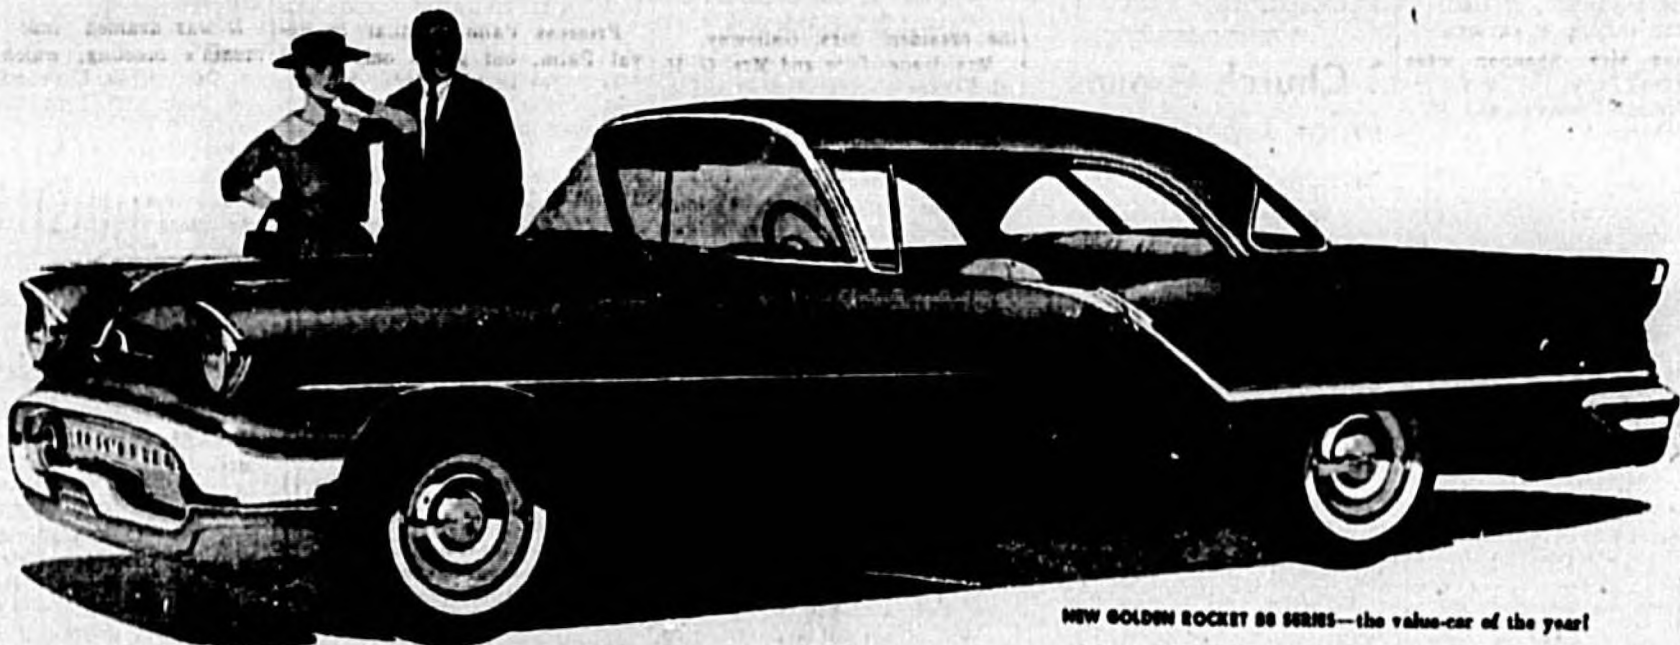

LAKELAND (U.S.)—Florida Citrus Mutual has appointed Herman F. Steele, former administrative coordinator, to be assistant to General Manager Robert W. Rutledge. Frank D. Trovillion, a veteran member of the staff, has been named director of the market information division.

nematode is one of containments rather than eradication. Nematodes at the present time cost the growers of Florida some 50 million dollars. If it is not contained and is allowed to spread, the cost to the growers in lessened production would well be over 200 million dollars in 10 year's time.

It was also brought out that reports that were pushed seven years ago and treated (at the present recommendations) are still free from nematodes. Present recommendations from the State Plant Board are to push all infested trees plus two rows of trees on each side out with a bulldozer. The area is treated with a fumigant and not planted for two years.

Karen Keeling Feted At Home On 3rd Birthday

Miss Karen Keeling was honored Saturday afternoon with a birthday party given by her mother Mrs. John Keeling at their home on Santa Street, in honor of little Miss Keeling's third birthday.

The porch and backyard of the Keeling home was decorated with pink and white flowers and crepe paper and multicolor balloons. The pink and white color scheme was carried out in the refreshments also, as pink and white ice cream and cake were served to the guests after Karen opened her gifts.

Those enjoying the afternoon with Miss Keeling were Misses and Helen McKennie, Mary Julia and Debbie George, Miss Lodge, Donalyn Knight, Choo Choo Thomas, Cathy Tucker, Wade Byers and Cecelia and Tommy Stapleton.

Mrs. Wilma Stapleton, Mrs. Tom George, Mrs. Sonny Lodge, Mrs. Donald Knight, Mrs. Charles Thomas, Mrs. Donald Tucker, Mrs. Donald Byers, Mrs. Helen Goode, Mrs. C. P. Ford and Mrs. F. M. Fox, were also present.

Georgia Littleton Observes Birthday With Party Monday

Mrs. Dave Shannon extended with a party Monday afternoon after school honoring her daughter, Georgia Littleton, on her seventh birthday.

Mrs. Shannon carried out the birthday theme in her decorations, using appropriately decorated tablecloth and napkins, and bouquets of spring flowers. The lovely cake was frosted in pink, blue and white.

The young guests were served refreshments of cake, cookies, ice cream and punch, and were given favors of miniature baskets filled with candy.

Linda Daffron won the prize for guessing the beans in a jar, and the children, being allowed to select their own game, played "Drop the handkerchief" and several other children's games.

Assisting Mrs. Shannon were Miss Peggy Price and Mrs. Velma Price, of Orlando, and Mrs. Grant Osburn.

Those invited to be with the honoree were Georgia Littleton, Carla Osburn, Diane Kable, C. C. Hill, Suzi Q. Smith, Pam Tripp, Linda Daffron, Linda Malley, Laney Hay, Tracey Hay, Chris Wilson, and David Littleton.

Wesley Class Plans Christmas Party For December Meet

Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held at their next meeting by the members of the Daughters of Wesley Sunday School Classes, when they met for a business and social session on Tuesday, November 7, at the home of Mrs. J. Brodie Williams, Mrs. J. E. Courler, Mrs. G. W. Valley, Mrs. J. C. Davis, Mrs. Joe Terlap and Mrs. Pearl Lynch.

The hall was decorated beautifully with hibiscus, in various shades, chrysanthemums and greenery.

Mrs. W. F. Raines opened the meeting by having the group sing the class song, followed by the devotional, given by Mrs. D. M. Paul. This was entitled "The Agency in the Garden" and was taken from the picture which hangs in the Baptist Church Sanctuary, the title of which is "Hoffman's Picture". The devotional was closed with the entire group repeating the "Lord's Prayer".

Mrs. W. F. Raines made a donation to the Birthday Bank.

It was decided that there would be an exchange of gifts and Christmas party at the December meeting.

The year books for 1956-57 were given to members.

During the social hour the hostesses served pumpkin pie and coffee.

Those present were Mrs. M. E. Paul, Mrs. Mabel J. Pickens, Mrs. Harry Brown, Mrs. Caroline Hill, Mrs. Elsie Stephan, Mrs. Lida Stall, Mrs. A. B. Stevens, Mrs. J. R. Hawthorne, Mrs. C. W. Synch, Mrs. Joe Terlap, Mrs. Zeb Rutledge, Mrs. R. G. Hickson, Mrs. Clark Leonardy, Mrs. C. J. Meriwether, and Mrs. Brodie Williams.

Also Mrs. S. G. Harriman, Mrs. J. E. Courler, Mrs. G. W. Valley, Mrs. R. F. Robinson, Mrs. L. J. Boyette, Mrs. O. E. White, Mrs. R. A. Futrell, Mrs. P. A. Rowland, Mrs. Albert Hickson, Miss Aline Chapman, Mrs. W. F. Raines, Miss Versa Woodcock and Mrs. C. M. Flowers.

Two Assistant Teachers Elected At Dorcas Meeting

Election of two assistant teachers was held at Tuesday's meeting of the Dorcas Class of the Central Baptist Church, which was held at the home of Mrs. H. E. McSwain.

The meeting was opened with a Scripture reading and prayer by the president, Mrs. Galloway.

Mrs. Irene White and Mrs. G. H. High were elected to be assistant teachers, and plans were completed for the annual Christmas supper to be held at the church.

Mrs. Weaver closed the meeting with prayer, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Those present were Mrs. J. Q. Galloway, Mrs. A. B. Maddox, Mrs. J. W. Parkman, Mrs. J. R. Weaver, Mrs. Joe Daniels, Mrs. R. L. White, Mrs. Fred Yeakle, Mrs. Ralph Hartman, Mrs. O. G. Garden Gate

Lillian E. Tideman, Palm Circle
The Sanford Garden Club of Fla. Federation of Garden Clubs

There is no other state where palms can be so successfully cultivated as in Florida, including many native and imported species varying from the dwarf size of a few feet to a height of one hundred feet.

Palms are easy to grow. They may be planted at any season of the year, but the warm, rainy summer months are to be given preference. They will thrive on just the amount of care given a well-tended lawn. They need to be fertilized three or four times a year, need water weekly, but plenty of water during a dry spell.

Recommended for our section of Florida are:

Fan Palm: The European is a dwarf, slow growing palm; useful as a lawn plant or for grouping. The Livistonia fan palms are also grown as lawn specimens; the most widely planted, is the Chinese fan palm, neat, and graceful, it will grow to 20 feet.

Pinyon Date Palm: Also a dwarf palm, has tiny, soft feathery leaves, slender trunk, grows to 10 feet.

Pindo Palm: Is hardy, has pendulous blue-green leaves; because of its spreading habit, and bush-like appearance, it needs space on the lawn; can grow to a height of 30 feet.

Fish-Tail Palm: A very pretty ornamental palm, like a warm location; its curiously shaped with much divided leaves, will grow to 25 feet.

Traveler's Palm: Has appearance of a huge flat fan, with leaves growing from only two sides of the trunk, is an outstanding lawn specimen; likes a warm protected location.

Senegal Date Palm: Has a smooth trunk, bulging below leaf clusters; feathered-leaved; is grown more as an ornamental, bears fragrant flowers; will grow to 30 feet.

Canary Island Date Palm: A hardy plant, characterized by resemblance to a huge pineapple; graceful feathery-leaved fronds, with a spread up to 60 feet.

Rhaps Palm: Dwarf palm with fine, reed-like canes that form clumps of stolon; satisfactory as a tubbed specimen for patio, or as part of foundation planting.

Queen Palm: Usually called Coccoloba; most popular palm in Central Florida; slender, graceful trunk; bears small golden fruit like tiny coconuts; feathered-leaved; grows up to 40 feet.

Princess Palm: Similar to Royal Palm, but grows only to 20 feet; feathered-leaved; black fruit; good for small front yard planting; excellent wind resistance.

Bago Palm: Stiff, finely feathered leaves; deep shining green; grows to 10 feet.

Yucca Palm: Does well as an urn subject or patio plant, clump growing; needs rich soil and free drainage.

Wesleyan Guild Hears Program On United Nations

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Wynn on Monday evening.

Walter L. Carter conducted the devotional, using as her theme "Our Reasons for Thanksgiving."

Miss Ethel Riser, chairman, presided over the business session when plans for the coming bazaar were completed.

Mrs. Fred Smith, program chairman, presented a program on the United Nations, in which the toll of their principles and aims, and discussed briefly the different divisions of this body and the work of each.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the following members: Miss Mabel Chapman, Mrs. Wilson Carter, Miss Sadie Williams, Mrs. Grady Duncan, Mrs. Burke Steele, Mrs. J. D. Callahan, Mrs. Robert Billmeyer, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. J. R. Hoolahan, Mrs. Walter L. Carter, Mrs. L. M. Swain, Mrs. E. E. Ford, Mrs. M. L. Tillis, Mrs. J. F. Riser, Miss Ethel Riser, Mrs. Porter Lansing, and Mrs. J. P. Hall.

dom from frost; will grow in a protected southern location.

Sabal Palm: Is generally known as the Cabbage Palm; native to Florida; suitable for a large yard; grows to 80 feet.

Saw Palmettos and Scrub Palmettos: Shrub appearance; grow wild; can be used for background; grow to 8 feet.

Palms truly deserve a place in your garden. Most palms are resistant to diseases, insects and droughts, and once they become established, only routine maintenance is required.

The Agricultural Extension Service, at Gainesville, will send you upon request Bulletin 122, Native and Exotic Palms of Florida by Harold Mowry.

Family Reunion In Clause Home Honors Three

A joint birthday celebration, taking the form of a family reunion, was held recently honoring Mr. and Mrs. Alice Clause and Mrs. Walter Trapp.

Those taking part in the celebration, which was held at the Clause home in Willwood, were Mrs. J. G. David, Brenda and Brent David, Mrs. Aileen Taylor, Both and Suzanne Taylor, Mrs. Effie Mielke, and Pam Mielke, of Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trapp, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Lee and Mrs. Mary Larson, of Enterprise; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee, and Sharon and Susan Lee, of Avon Park; and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Moses, Bobby Lee, Cheryl Lee, Clyde Clause, Mrs. Jane Lambert and Cheryl Lambert, of Willwood.

Mrs. Myers presided over the meeting, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Rucker. Mrs. Willie Pippin gave a beautiful devotional, after which routine business was carried out, with reports from general officers being given.

Sick members and absentees were reported on, and members were urged to remember them and visit them.

It was decided that at next month's meeting, which will be on Dec. 4, a Christmas dinner and party would be held at the church.

Mrs. Helen Carter, who is leaving for Texas to make her home, was given a going-away gift by the class, after which Mrs. Myers gave a message on "What Is Your Heart's Desire?"

After the meeting was adjourned, Mrs. Bea Anderson led the group in a "Thanksgiving" game and a Biblical flannel graph game.

Refreshments were served to those present, who were Mrs. Alice Dinsdorf, Mrs. Eva Couss, Mrs. M. V. Echols, Mrs. J. P. Lewis, Mrs. A. J. Walker, Mrs. M. C. Hoffman, Mrs. Willie R. Pippin, Mrs. A. Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN

The Driftwood Circle of the Sanford Garden Club will hold their November meeting at the home of Camille Metzger on Grandview Ave., Monday, November 12 at 9:30 a.m. Lal Gray will be co-hostess. The subject under discussion and demonstration will be Thanksgiving arrangements and centerpiece. Don't forget the flower show school which starts next week, time and place will be prominently announced.

Helen Wilson of Vail-I in Jacksonville is here visiting Spook and John Hook in their Grove Manor home. Paul went off on a lengthy jaunt with the squadron, but Helen expects to join him later in Europe. Planning another trip to Europe is Alice Mills, who hopes to spend Christmas with Ernie. He has already sent her the ticket, and after the children are safely disposed of in Washington with Alice's mother, she will be off. We fervently hope that by that time the current situation will be settled and nothing will interfere with Alice's exciting plans.

Seems as if everyone is on the golf course these days but me. All my cronies are hitting the ball like mad, as I sit at home and take care of the babies. Gets very dull, especially when all the news comes second hand. Isn't Mildred Smith a terrific golfer? It would be just like her to win the Kader tournament after playing for a bare three months. Still think it's ironic after pestering the life out of Dodie, Janie, and Jean to go golf, here I am unable to go myself. Pretty soon the course will be crowded again—now is the best time to play anyway—cool, nice breeze, and so lovely.

Here's another recipe from Jane Miller's collection for the gourmet.

Seminole Red Cross Has Shipped 28 Packages Overseas

The Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross has packed and shipped 28 Christmas packages for men and women in service overseas.

This is a part of the far-reaching Red Cross program known as "Christmas on the Hills." The project was sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Sanford, through the efforts of Mrs. Olga Hunter. The packages were donated by the local Pilot Club, Mrs. Sue Stevenson, president; the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church, Mrs. Helen Pearson, president and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Mary D. Knox is Executive Secretary and Frank Evans, of Lake Mary, is chairman of the Board of Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Fathers Night Will Be Held Tuesday By Jr. High P-TA

All fathers are urgently asked to attend the next meeting of the Junior High School P-TA, which is to be held Tuesday, Nov. 13. This has been designated as Fathers Night, and each father present will be counted as two people when the room count is taken.

W. W. Tyre, representative of the Seminole Chiefs Club, will talk on the proposed Junior High Athletic program, which should be of interest to the fathers.

Chairman, Bill Crabtree, announces that the sale of publications—"Florida Parent Teachers" and "National Parent Teachers"—will be the particular business of the evening.

On Nov. 13, 14 and 15 the president, Mrs. Michael Thomas, and Mrs. Clifford Ables will represent the school at the State Convention in St. Petersburg.

Caeserole of Sea Food Au Gratin

2 lb. shrimp
2 lobster tails
1 cup fresh sliced crabmeat
1 green pepper, diced
2 tbsps. diced pimiento
4 tbsps. butter
2 1/2 cups scalded cream
salt and pepper to taste
3 eggs, separated
3 tbsps. sherry wine

Odds Stack Against Seminoles As Teams' Injury List Expands

The Sanford Seminoles began tapering off today after a rough and tumble week of hard preparation for the Seabreeze Sacrabs. The major emphasis for the week has been developing power for the Seminoles offensive machine and speed for the defensive machine.

The odds have stacked rapidly against the Seminoles in the last few days as the injury list expanded, including the all-around ace, Brantley "Choo-Choo" Schirard. Schirard joined Al Stanley on the concussion list. Schirard's commission is slight, however, and even though he has been absent from the practice field this week, he is slated for action tomorrow night. Murray Nance is still battling his personal plague of injuries. This week he is sidelined with a badly infected tooth that incapacitated him last week. Nance didn't dress out or the up-see-over New Smyrna Beach last week and is still on the doubtful list for tomorrow night.

Bob Little is the newest member of the injury roster. In yesterday's rough and tumble scrimmage he suffered laceration about the face requiring 10 stitches. Doctors say he probably will be out for several days.

The Seminoles gridsters, somewhat recovered from their fast-developing inferiority complex after upsetting New Smyrna Beach last week, are determined to give the Sacrabs, already champs of the East Florida Conference, a shocking surprise. The boys knew what kind of opposition they'll be facing, but have their mind set on being well accounted for in the process.

If the Seminoles make a good showing against Seabreeze, they stand a good chance of ending the season with a bang.

"One thing we're working on this week is stability," head coach Bill Fleming said. "The team rattles easily when the chips are down, and it takes a long time for them to get stabilized again. We've placed a lot of emphasis on that this week, and it looks now like they'll be able to stand up better tomorrow night under pressure."

Last week the Seminoles successfully met the most crucial test of the season. They showed their power by coming from way behind and winning a ball game. This week they face a team with a 6-7 record, and an upset is a hard road to travel. But if the Seminoles make a good showing—a tie or even a close score—they will have done more than five highly rated teams have been able to do.

Tom Brown has been outstanding as a defensive end all week, but

Fifty Football Uniforms Arrive For Jr. High Team

High Carlton, principal of Sanford Junior High, announced this morning the arrival of the 50 football uniforms for the new junior high football program. The complete uniforms, including shoes, were purchased from Hill Implement Co. at a cost of $2,000 and will make the junior high teams among the classiest dressed squads in the area.

The uniforms are of white nylon with royal blue letters, and are topped off with gold helmets. The padding is of a quality to be envied by any school.

With the announcement of the arrival of the uniforms comes a new high in the tense competition between the more than 125 youngsters vying for outfitting.

Carlton said today that the uniforms would be issued to the starting lineups of the four squads early next week, and the teams would definitely make a public appearance before the end of the season. "Just because a youngster doesn't get a uniform doesn't mean that he is through at Junior High football," he said. "Through necessity we can outfit only less than half. Drills will be held as usual for the non-uniformed members, and if they show the desire they can always earn an outfitting."

Stanley Fires JVs To 25-12 Victory

David Stanley fired the Sanford Seminoles JV's to a stunning 25-12 victory over the New Smyrna Beach Baby Barracudas last night in New Smyrna Beach as Cecil Dandridge, Al Collins, and George Houston took turns at scoring chores. Stanley, doing his duties as Seminoles guard, sparked the forward wall as they bottled up the Barracuda ground attack.

The Seminoles JV's got off to a slow start in the first half and had to come from behind for the victory, but in the second half the junior warriors came back strong. Dandridge made two of the Seminoles JV tallies, one a 70 yard punt return. Houston and Collins both tallied one each, Houston powering through the middle for 35 yards to make his score and Collins diving across from five yards out.

The Baby Barracudas capitulated on a first quarter Seminoles mistake to jump to an early lead. Dandridge, mixed up on his down, failed to kick on a fourth down at the Seminoles 20, where the JVs lost the ball and New Smyrna Beach JV's took over for the short scoring. Al Smith made the Barracuda score from two yards out.

In the second quarter the Seminoles sparked a momentary drive as Collins passed to Walter Middleton for a 20 yard pass and run with Nance still on the doubtful list the other end looms as a weak spot. The big decision for the mentoring staff is whether to weaken the linebacker spot tomorrow night and put Eddie Barbour at the other defensive end or put a workhorse at defensive end to clear away interference so that Barbour, the tackling tiger, could get clean shots at the ball runner. Barbour has been working at defensive end this week and looked brilliant.

play that carried the ball to the mid-field stripe. But there the drive began to fizzle, and Dandridge, sensing the situation, got off a beautiful 40 yard quick kick that set the Barracuda JV's deep in their own backyard. The Barracudas failed to move the ball and were forced to kick. The Seminoles received the punt on the New Smyrna 40 yard line and sparked a scoring drive. Collins circled end for 15 yards, Houston ground out an additional 15 yards in two plays, and Dandridge went the final 10 yards on a quarterback sneak.

The first half ended with a 3-5 deadlock.

But in the second half the Seminoles took control of the game. Linvel Risner pounced on a Barracuda fumble on the NSB five yard line to set up the second Seminoles touchdown. On the first play from scrimmage Collins went the five yards around end untouched for the score. On the attempted conversion Collins added his own extra point on a dive through the middle.

In the fourth stanza Collins chilling a Barracuda drive by intercepting a pass on his own 25 yard line and returning it to his 29. Two plays later Houston plowed through the middle for his 35 yard TD jaunt.

The Barracudas were able to muster a scoring aerial attack against the smallest of the Seminoles reserves. Smith passed to Middle for the 35 yard scoring play.

The junior gridsters bounced right back, however, as Dandridge took the return kick on his own 30 and ripped through the middle of the field for 70 yards and the final Seminoles JV score.

Silvers attributed the victory to team effort. "Even the smallest were scrappy enough to stop

Lyman 11 To Battle Undeclared Umatilla

The crying towel still passes from one coach to another at Lyman this week as the injury-riddled Greyhounds are faced with the unpleasant task of playing host to mighty Umatilla, undefeated challenger for the Mid Lakes Conference championship.

Lyman, facing her first season as an independent, has one of the best starting lineups in independent circles in Central Florida—them on the ground," he said. Stanley was ably assisted in the lead by good performances from Ed Thomas, Jim Peterson, Don Carter, Duke Schirard, and Tom Butner. Johnny Yeackle, Houston and Collins were the workhorses for the Dandridge piloted victors.

Panthers' Spirit Up After Winning Homecoming Tilt

After Crooms Academy's successful Homecoming tussle last Friday night against Eustis, head coach Joe Fair said he was "mightily pleased" with his charges' 10-0 victory.

"The boys' spirits hit rock bottom for a couple of weeks, but I think we're on our way up and we have an open week this week to iron out the rest of the problems of the team," Fair said.

The Panthers were under terrific pressure for the first half of the season. They faced the power of colored high school football teams in an attempt to end their last year of probation in the Big 9 Conference successfully. This they did. They routed Melbourne in the season opener, tied Ocala, lost by one touchdown to Jacksonville, tied THE power of the Big 9, Miami, and then as they moved out of the conference for a couple of games they "went to pieces," as Fair put it, after the pressure was off.

"Some of our key players morale went bad and it effected the whole team," one of the players said.

After a week's layoff the pressure will be on the Panthers again as they play host to Daytona, Nov. 15 in Memorial Stadium.

"We're glad to have this lay-off Meadows said. "It will give us a chance to reorganize and work on our weak spots."

"Daytona will be tough," assistant mentor Ed Blackshere said, but they won't be any tougher than Melbourne was. It can find the edge we had for the Miami game we'll upset Daytona. We've got the time to do it in, too."

Newest Buick Yet

1957 BUICK
Now on Display

YOU know all that talk you've been hearing about the 1957 new car models being really new? Well, in the case of the 1957 Buicks it's true—gospel true.

We mean these 1957 Buicks are new in the precise and literal sense. We mean new from the ground up, and from gleaming grille to sassy taillights.

We mean new lowness, new styling, new bodies, new windshields, new controls, new safety-padded instrument panels, new safety steering wheels, new seating, new fabrics, new colors.

We mean new front end, new rear end, new frame, new braking, new steering, new handling, new riding, new roadability—a whole new chassis of greater solidity and safety.

We mean V8 engines new from the crankshaft up—engines that deliver an all-time high in horsepower and compression from their 364-cubic-inch displacement.

And we mean, most of all, an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo®—so instant in the starting range—so utterly smooth and so totally full-range in "Drive"—that your need for "Low" is practically eliminated.

So come take in these low-silhouette, these boldly beautiful, these instantly obedient Buicks for 1957.

Then you'll see why you can't blame us for being so fired up about it all—and how catching this excitement can be.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Army Medics In Germany Keeping Busy

STUTT GART, Germany, (AP)—U. S. Army medics in Germany are keeping busy these days learning to save the lives of atomic battle casualties.

There haven't been any atomic bombs falling and the medics would like to see this happy state of affairs continue, but they're taking no chances. So some of the biggest of all medical maneuvers are being held.

"We think we've made progress," said Col. R. H. Bunshaw, surgeon of the U. S. 7th Army which is headquartered here.

The most ambitious test ever made for atomic medics took place in the Palatinat area of Southwestern Germany last summer.

It was quite a show. There were 2,000 casualties of all types caused by a massive mock enemy attack on two U. S. divisions.

"We were going 12 to 14 hours a day," said Lt. Doris Stemberger of Kane, Pa., one of 80 nurses who took part in the exercises.

Bunshaw said the doctors all were overworked, mainly because a lot of doctors insisted on doing everything themselves.

"They've got to learn to get out of this habit," Bunshaw said.

To help them, the 7th Army is training all its soldiers to handle simple medical procedures themselves.

"The more a soldier can do to take care of himself and his buddy, the better his chance of survival," Bunshaw added.

Doctors worked around the clock, bending over operating tables in simulated operations so realistic that dressings were applied.

Bunshaw said it's nonsense to imagine there would be no survivors of an atomic attack.

"In the immediate area, of course," he said, "there would be almost total annihilation but there are many fringe areas."

He explained that an aerial atomic burst—the kind he said was most probable—would not result in certain radiation death.

"The problem is to keep alive long enough to have your blood cells regenerated," he said, explaining that marginal radiation damage destroys blood cells rapidly but that patients can survive if their blood supply is replenished.

It was to save these marginal casualties that the medics applied all their energy.

CHAPTER 30
JANE LOOKED from Dirk to Val in bewilderment. "You don't mean to say you're going to let this silly nonsense about Mrs. Featherstone interfere with what plans you've made? Or, a slight flush mounted to her pretty cheeks, "am I speaking out of turn?"

"Of course you're speaking out of turn, Jane darling. You always do," Dirk said, smiling. "But Val's reaction to my proposal has little to do with poor Aunt May's death. She's in love with the handsome doctor who'd like to see me hanged."

Jane stared unbelievably at Val. "You don't mean to say that you don't want Dirk? All the women in Fiji were mad about him. He's that sort of dangerous male creature who is masculine and yet who understands women. I know he pretends not to, but with him, his knowledge of them is instinctive. For heaven's sake who is this doctor? Don't tell me he's one of those brutal huns."

Dirk was looking amused. "You can judge for yourself as to his attractions, Jane dear. Here he comes now."

Jane had been speaking, Bruce and the tall, fair-haired girl Val had noticed talking and dancing with him several times on the ship stepped onto the veranda. Obviously Bruce was looking about for a table.

Jane turned her head and then cried sharply, "But that's Cynthia Felton with him. I'd no idea she was coming back so soon."

"She lives here?" Dirk asked.

She wrinkled her small nose. "Few people actually live here—most of them are birds of passage as we are—but Cynthia and her father have been here several years. He's a distinguished scientist and, I gather, is working on tropical diseases in connection with the hospitals at Montego Bay. Her father's a widower and Cynthia and he have a house quite close to us."

There was a vacant table not far from them and the waiter was leading Bruce and Cynthia toward it. As they moved forward, they had to pass by their table, and Jane caught eagerly at Cynthia's arm.

"Why, Cynthia, we had no idea you were on your way home! But welcome, anyway."

The tall, fair-haired girl smiled down at her pleasantly.

"Hello, Jane. I came home on the spur of the moment when I heard that Dad hadn't been well. That's why he wasn't able to meet me. But I've hired a car and I'm going to give Doctor Harridan a lift across the island."

She laughed. "But I've forgotten to introduce you, Bruce, this is Jane and John Carraway, very good friends of ours." Her voice altered slightly, perceptibly, as she added, "All the rest of us know each other. We came out on the same boat."

Bruce acknowledged the introduction to the Carraways and he gave Val and Dirk a faint smile of recognition.

"Well, I'll be seeing you both soon," Cynthia nodded to the Carraways rather quickly and she didn't look again toward Val and Dirk.

But Dirk spoke before Bruce and Cynthia had time to leave them. "I wonder if you would do me a great favor, Miss Felton? I was going to drive with my friends over to Montego Bay this afternoon, and take Miss Allison, but things have happened which you may know about," he gave her a faint smile, "which necessitate my staying in Kingston tonight at my rate. My good friend Jane and John refuse to leave me until the worst of the best is known. But Miss Allison has to report for duty at the hospital tomorrow morning. Would it be asking too much of you to give her a lift?"

Momentarily Cynthia's expression showed that it was certainly asking rather much, but she recovered herself and forced a smile.

"Not at all, Mr. Hanson. I'll be delighted to give Miss Allison a lift. But we shan't be leaving until five o'clock. Could you meet us here in the lounge, Miss Allison?"

Before Val had time to reply, Dirk answered for her. "I'll guarantee that Val's here."

"Then that's all arranged," Cynthia said. Again she gave a forced smile and turned a way with Bruce to follow the waiter to the vacant table.

Val was squirming with embarrassment. "Oh Dirk, how could you? You must have seen they didn't want me. I'd much prefer to go across by a train or a bus."

"You wouldn't if you knew our train and bus services," Jane laughed again.

"But anything would be better—" Val was beginning when Dirk broke in again.

"Where is your sense of humor, Val? Bruce has fixed it so that I can't drive you across. Why shouldn't you drive across with him and that girl?"

"But she didn't like the suggestion, Dirk."

He grinned across at her. "Of course she didn't. You're too dashed sweet looking, Val. But why should I consider her? You're my chief concern."

"I can't understand why you're literally thrusting Val into my arms, Dirk," Jane said. "It doesn't seem like you at all. I've always thought that when you wanted anything for yourself, you'd go all out to get it."

A queer little smile twinkled the corners of Dirk's lips. "Well, put it like this," he said presently. "Bruce is doing his best to put a rope—and my neck, literally speaking. I thought I'd try putting one around him, but a rope of a different sort. But at least I'm hoping the rope will be sufficient strong for him to hang himself with, metaphorically speaking." He spoke bluntly and sternly.

Val raised her head sharply and looked across into his face, and suddenly she felt she was looking into the face of a man who was practically a stranger.

Air Force Agrees To Explore Theory

WASHINGTON (AP)—The air force has agreed to explore a revolutionary theory that a new type of super atomic energy can be released by making atoms extremely cold instead of hot.

The originator of the concept, Navy scientist Robert Leon Carroll, 40, said that he is confident his theory will prove out—and will make possible space flights literally faster than a flash of light.

He said the fuel could be some ordinary and inexpensive material, possibly even common sand.

Carroll theorizes that as an atom gets colder and colder and becomes less active, its electrons gravitate toward the nucleus and at the same time are forced by this construction to move faster and faster.

If the atom becomes cold enough, he believes, the electrons would plung into the nucleus and disintegrate it, releasing the entire energy of the nucleus.

Lake Mary

By VIRGINIA P. ANDERSON

Lake Mary has some pretty proud fishermen among the younger generation. Recently, Butch Donaldson caught a seven pound bass in Lake Mary and Saturday, Freddie Teslo landed one weighing eight and three fourths pounds, taking it from Crystal Lake.

Mrs. Lois Hougaard, who spent the summer with her parents at Calais, Me., has returned to her home here, bringing with her her aunt, Mrs. Ida Mae Woodman of South Bristol, Me. and a friend, Mrs. Helene Lawler of Houlton, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Lally are home again after a short visit with relatives in Lowell, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Coleman have rented the McLaughlin house on Second St. He is attached to NAS, Sanford, where he has been transferred from Jacksonville.

The Halloween Carnival, held at the Lake Mary School, Friday night is reported to have cleared well over $100. It was sponsored by the P-TA, under the leadership of its president, Mrs. J. P. Parker. All committee chairmen and their co-workers are to be congratulated on the success of this traditional affair.

Friends of Miss Dorothy Lee will regret to hear that she has suffered a relapse of the throat infection she had early in September and is a patient at the Seminole Memorial Hospital in Sanford.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Malosh of Lake, Mich. arrived Friday and are settled in their trailer on West Lake Mary Boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Southard of Wellington, O. returned to Lake Mary for the winter, arriving late Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Anderson were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Piper recently. The Pipers spent the summer in Allon Bay, N. H.

Friends of Bobby Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Reeves, will be interested to know that he has returned from a tour of duty with the Army in Germany and has gone back to his civilian position with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Kellong and Mr. and Mrs. George Irish have moved to Tavares. They are settled on Lake Harris where they anticipate a lot of fine fishing.

Friends of Mrs. Vola Werfelman will be sorry to hear of the sudden death of her mother, which occurred in New Jersey Saturday.

L. L. E. Fay who has been serving a tour of duty overseas has returned to his Lake Mary home.

Lake Mary is fairly bursting at the seams, with all available housing filled and various building and remodeling in progress. Levy Harris of Bumpass, Va. is here, making some improvements on his property. Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCormack are building additions to their respective trailers and ground is being cleared on West Lake Mary Boulevard for another trailer. Mrs. C. E. Milled is adding a porch and car port to her home on Crystal Lake Ave.

The Lake Mary Brownie Troop with their leaders, Mrs. Leon Taylor and Mrs. F. H. Dunlap sold Christmas cards in front of the Post Office, Saturday noon. This and the annual cookie sale comprise the Brownie's sole money making projects. The little girls

Radio-TV Highlights

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Someone said the ideal time in history to have lived would be in the Victorian era "with penicillin." But Arch Oboler believes the best time to live would be 10,000 years hence "because you wouldn't have to add any 'with' to it."

Oboler, you may remember, was one of the first and most talented of radio script writers to explore the mysteries of space and future eons. He has examined it in more than 800 radio dramas—but not yet on television.

The first Oboler work to be visible on the home screen is slated for the Jackie Gleason show CBS-TV next Saturday—8 p. m., EST. Not a drama, though nevertheless dramatic, it is entitled "A Prayer For the Atomic Age."

Meanwhile, his first Broadway play will open in Washington Nov. 12. Entitled "Night of the Auk," it stars Claude Rains, Wendell Corey and Christopher Plummer. It is concerned with a time after in their uniforms looked very smart and proved excellent saleswomen.

some tomorrow when space ships are a reality.

"It will be a wonderful time in which to live," said Oboler. "Individuals will participate in life much more than they do today" when so many are merely spectators, suffering from "little's." Then humans will move freely in space, transmitted as easily wherever they want to go as television images are transmitted today."

Oboler said he thought about "Night of the Auk" for five years and then spent two years writing it. His interest now is primarily in the theater, he said. Television drama?

"It's an exciting medium," he said. "The only trouble with it is that a writer meets with so much interference. In television every body becomes a genius. A man

MAN REPORTS BOTH CARS STOLEN IN DIFFERENT CITIES

Ocala (AP)—Byron Craig, phosphate firms executive, reported both his cars stolen in different cities while he was off on a football weekend.

Craig said he left one car in Lake City and the other in the garage of his home here.

Police figured whoever stole the car at Lake City found his address and house key in it and came here to add to the loot.

who once saw a play puts on a Madison Avenue suit and suddenly becomes an expert in drama. It's only accidental when a television play comes out the way the writer wrote it."

THE NEW Pontiac is Completely New from Power to Personality!

Fresh from 100,000 miles of road tests, the '57 Pontiac goes on display tomorrow!

Even a brief once-over of Pontiac's sleek new lines tells you that you're in at the start of a styling revolution. And that glistering sheath conceals a carload of engineering "firsts!"—all polished to watch-work perfection in the toughest test ever given a new car.

This '57 Pontiac pounded the road through 100,000 miles of tests... through it all Pontiac engineers refined and perfected every facet and feature of this great car.

They made Pontiac's big, new power plant even more efficient than its predecessor, the engine that set over fifty new world records and led all eight in miles per gallon! They perfected the new suspension system, new controls and new Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic* to give you the smoothest riding, easiest handling—and—safest—new car ever to hit the road!

See and drive this new '57 Pontiac. Sample in a single mile all that's been proved by 100,000 miles of testing.

*An extra-cost option.

AND THE FIRST CAR AT ANY PRICE WITH...

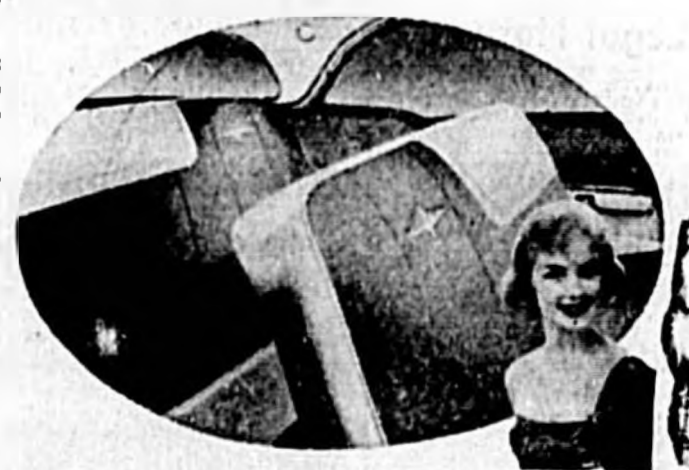

STAR FLIGHT BODY DESIGN—a Pontiac Exclusive—longer and lower than ever before—the year's most distinctive new automotive styling.

NEW INTERIOR STYLING WITH THE "OFF-THE-SHOULDER" LOOK—a fashion "first" for '57—perfectly color-matched with the exterior of your choice.

NEW STRATO-STREAK V-8—270 h.p. in Star Chief and Super Chief, 252 h.p. in the Chieftain—with smoother Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic.

CLOUD-SOFT, LEVEL-LINE RIDE—the ride sensation of the year—a new suspension system based on a big, 124- or 122-inch wheelbase.

SCHOOL DISTRICT AD

WASHINGTON (AP) - The federal government has paid out well over half a billion dollars since 1950 to aid school districts in "generally impacted areas."

The term applies to sectors where school enrollments are swollen by federal activities, such as military installations.

Total spending at the end of the 1955 school year was approximately 500 million dollars, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said.

Florida received $4,083,421.

CONVENTION OPENS

LAKELAND (AP) - The Congressional Medal of Honor society opens its first convention here Friday.

About 100 to 125 of the 216 living holders of the Medal of Honor, highest U.S. military award, are expected to attend the six-day meeting.

Saturday afternoon there will be a parade in near by Tampa and an inspection of MacDill Air Force Base there.

Gov. Collins, Sen. Spessard L. Holland and Rep. James A. Haley are expected to attend.

'DAY OF INFAMY' WAS 15 YEARS AGO

THE BATTLESHIP Arizona, ablaze and sinking, and a newspaper headline recall the Dec. 7, 1941 "Day of Infamy," when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. More than 2,000 U.S. servicemen died as the enemy came in with 100 warplanes and midget subs to cripple eight battleships and many lesser war vessels. At bottom, an aircraft carrier is docked at Pearl Harbor as it appears now. (Intersections)

15 Years Ago 'Day of Infamy'

Pearl Harbor Is Peaceful Place Visited By Tourists

By JIM HECKER
PEARL HARBOR — Where once the battleships were moored row on row, inviting targets for the Japanese planes which smashed them 15 years ago today — a trim little motor launch ties up every morning.

Some 100 tourists walk slowly aboard, subdued, chatting in whispers, awestruck by the scene where history was made and the United States plunged into World War II, on the day that "will live in infamy."

They wear bright aloha shirts and cotton-prim dresses. Many have cameras slung around their necks. The children are along, almost unattractively silent and reserved.

The day is brilliant. The trade winds rustle quietly, much as on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941.

The launch passes a well-kept Navy transport, one of only half a dozen or so ships in the giant harbor.

The transport's radar scope whirrs steadily, scanning the skies. Only a handful of ships in Pearl had radar in 1941, and a radar warning from an Army outpost never reached the fleet.

"There were 84 ships in Pearl Harbor on Sunday, Dec. 7," the sailor on the launch says, rattling through his prepared patter.

The launch makes a wide swing and stops at the beginning of the now-deserted one mile stretch of docks and buoys known as "Battleship Row."

There, in the space of about a mile, seven American battleships were moored when the Japanese struck. Four were sunk. Those afloat were damaged.

Some 2,800 men died, torn to bits in the explosions of bombs, burned to death in the flaming waters of the harbor as oil spilled from stricken ships and caught fire from incendiary bombs, trapped below decks of ships on their way to the bottom.

Huge columns of black smoke poured up and the harbor burned throughout the night of America's first hectic 24 hours at war.

Some of the battleships were refloated to fight on during the Pacific war, but the Japanese attack, with one blow, made obsolete the battleship concept of warfare.

Never again will Pearl Harbor present such a jolly target.

The Pacific Commander, Adm. Felix B. Stump, whose headquarters are atop a hill overlooking the sprawling harbor, says:

"There have been so many changes in warfare in the 15 years since the attack."

"The aircraft carrier has taken over from the battleship. The guided missile vessel may some day take the role of the aircraft carrier."

"Also, we don't concentrate our ships in the harbor like we did then. We keep better dispersed, out to sea. You never see anything like it Dec. 7 any more."

The launch pulls alongside the sunken battleship Utah. Some six feet of the ship's deck sticks from the water at a crazy angle. The deck is concrete covered. The Utah was taken out of service in '31 and used by the Navy as a bombing target.

"You may take photographs here," the sailor says, "but keep the cameras pointed at the port of the Utah you see out of the water."

The cameras click steadily. One man asks another, "How about F11 at 0?" The other says, "That should do it."

"I have color and I don't want to be overexposed," the first man says.

Civic Club Will Sponsor Christmas Lighting Contest

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Altamonte Springs Civic Club held its Dec. meeting and Christmas party Wednesday afternoon at the Community House.

The girls' triple trio from the Lyman High School Glee Club presented a program of Christmas songs, directed by Miss Carolyn Anderson, Seminole County music director. The cane dance, a tap number, was done by Nan Johnson and Jerry McIntosh. Dana Alexander was their accompanist.

Miss Anna Cline, program chairman, made the introductions. Mrs. J. D. Morrison, club president, called a brief business meeting after the program. Announcement was made at this time that

All De Bary Turns Out To See New Post Office

There was excitement in DeBary yesterday. Local residents were even following their mail down the street.

It all came about when the Post Office was moved from its small wood structure in the brand new concrete building on the west of 17 St.

Seems as if all of DeBary turned out for the event, and even though parking space in front of, around and in back of the new Post Office increased many times, every available space was filled.

The new Post Office which will be officially dedicated on Dec. 15 as a huge meeting to include civic organizations, state officials, and Post Office personnel.

Plans are underway for the dedication exercises which will be held in the afternoon.

A modern foyer with space for many times the number of post office boxes now greet the village residents as they call for their mail each day.

Brand new post office furniture including a wide stamp and parcel window, convenient slots for outgoing mail, writing desks, and bulletin board have all been installed.

There's a modern mauve tile and concrete floor, beautiful shrubbery furnished by the De Bary Garden Club, a clean glistening white building, all surrounded by marked parking stalls for motorists.

The post office is set back from the street with access roads on both the north and south.

Postmaster Walter Haul wouldn't stop for a picture of himself and shrugged off the photographer with "I'm too busy".

He was every place at once, getting things in order to take care of the "Christmas rush" and the orderly flow of mail to the De Bary residents and out to their friends and relatives.

Haul seemed to be just as happy in his new surroundings as any one of the De Bary folk who were "packing in" to see their new daily gathering place and mail source.

Of course, the Post Office is just one of the new modern buildings being erected in De Bary to furnish more and better services.

W. G. Miller is in his brand new real estate office next door to the post office.

A laundromat building is nearing completion to furnish an added service DeBaryites have not yet experienced.

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. will soon erect a brand new building for a dial exchange on the corner of 17 St. and Angeles Ave. It is understood that negotiating for property have been completed and work will soon begin on the structure to house the mechanism.

De Bary is growing, not only in the number of residents, but in the commercial establishments and enterprises, not to overlook the services which are being added.

Lake Mary Pioneer Night In February

The 32nd Annual Pioneer Night will be held in Lake Mary on Saturday night Feb. 23. Frank Evans announced yesterday.

"All people who come to Pioneer Night are Patriotic and like to celebrate Washington's Birthday on the 22nd, so we're setting the date now for Feb. 23," Evans said as he made the announcement.

This next year's Pioneer Night will be the biggest in the history of the annual events, Frank Evans said.

"We had some mighty prominent people at our celebration each year and there will be equally prominent citizens at our next one," he commented.

Comes next Feb. 23, he said, we will have old folks from every section of the county as well as those from other counties who enjoy coming to Lake Mary to be with us for an evening filled with entertainment.

"Of course our plans are not complete," Frank Evans shrugged. "But we're going to work right away lining up the best entertainment and making folks aware that the old people have a night all to themselves to really enjoy."

Evans said that the event will take place in the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce Building just as it has many, many times, "and we'll find room for every one of them."

Evans said "We're making the announcement early so that everyone, everywhere, will know that the night has been set aside for "Pioneer Night," and so that old folks can begin making their plans to attend."

"Just as soon as the new 1937 calendar begins coming out," Evans added, "be sure to mark Feb. 23 very plainly for we don't want a single person left out or disappointed."

Evans said "We're making the announcement early so that everyone, everywhere, will know that the night has been set aside for "Pioneer Night," and so that old folks can begin making their plans to attend."

Over 408 To Attend Big Event

The Mayfair Inn opening night celebration is a "complete sell-out" according to reports this morning from the plush New York Giants winter tourist attraction.

Manager Frank Mebane Jr. said this morning that over 408 have made reservations for the big event, but will get underway at 7 o'clock.

"We're going to have the biggest season in the Mayfair Inn's history if opening night is any indication at all of the guests who will begin pouring into Sanford after tomorrow night," said Mebane.

Festivities for opening night at the Mayfair Inn tomorrow will begin with cocktails served at 7 o'clock and will get underway at 9:30.

Opening night at the Mayfair Inn will coincide with the beginning of festivities for the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open which is slated to get underway Tuesday with qualifying rounds.

Many of the golfers have already arrived and will attend the affair.

City and county officials will attend the gala party signaling the opening of the winter season in Sanford and Seminole County and no doubt officials from neighboring communities will also attend the brilliant opening event.

A New York orchestra has been engaged by the Mayfair Inn for tomorrow night's opening event. The orchestra will remain at the Mayfair Inn throughout the season to furnish music for the many events that are scheduled during the season.

"It will be the eighth Annual Opening," commented Manager Mebane, "and by far the biggest and best."

The Mayfair Inn Opening Night social event is the "grand opening" for the winter social season in Sanford, Seminole County, and Central Florida according to past accounts of the yearly party and according to the reservation list already compiled.

Group Concludes Safety Course; Certificates Given

"Safety is our business," could be the summing up of the statement by D. W. Collier as he concluded a 10-hour safety course for supervisors, foremen and key personnel of the City of Sanford this afternoon.

Certificates were awarded the men who have attended the classes two hours each afternoon this week. The certificates certify that the course has been successfully completed.

Collier is a representative of the Florida Industrial Commission, Department of Industrial Safety.

The purpose of this course, he said, "is to train or teach foremen, supervisors, and key personnel the ability to recognize unsafe conditions or acts in order to control accidents."

"In 1935 alone," Collier said, "accidents have cost a total of $12,980,311.10." And he explained just how the cost was affected in each group of accidents. For instance, he said, there were 7 permanent total accidents which cost a total of $135,150 in compensation and $154,652.66 in medical costs.

There were 1,277 permanent partial accidents with compensation costing $1,835,023.68 and medical costs at $742,121.84. Temporary total accidents numbered 26,794 with compensation at $3,339,175.20 and medical costs $3,313,655.68.

There were 131 fatalities with compensation costing $436,968.20 and medical expenses costing $78,036.02. Accidents requiring medical attention only numbered 107,847 with medical costs $2,371,907.83.

In other words, explained Collier, there were 126,160 accidents reported, and the most of them, if not all, could have been prevented.

Teaching a class of supervisors, foremen, and key personnel in no easy task, according to the material lined up in front of Collier as he ended his final hour of the local course. "We use every type of visual education," he said. "There are movies, slides, charts, printed leaflets demon-

Baseball Bigwigs To Watch PGA Open

Baseball bigwigs will be prominent among the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Tournament audience next week, according to Mayfair Inn Manager Frank Mebane Jr.

Already indicating they will be here for the event will be Horan Stopham, head of the New York Giants organization, Carl Hubbell, director of the sprawling New York Giants Farm system, Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox, Freddie Hutchinson, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, and Mayo Smith, manager of the Philadelphia team.

Also indicating that they will be in Sanford for one of Florida's biggest golf events are Bill Hickey, manager of the New York Giants, and Rossey Hyan, general manager of the Minneapolis Millers.

Mario Carfagno, host pro for the PGA Open said yesterday that he is expecting from 250 to 300 professional and amateur golfers in Sanford taking part in the qualifying round on Tuesday.

However, Manager Frank Mebane Jr. said that approximately 120 will tee off in the three day play beginning next Thursday.

Stated for Wednesday will be a clinic with Mayfair Inn Country Club's winter Pro, Porky Oliver taking a prominent part.

'DAY OF INFAMY' WAS 15 YEARS AGO

THE BATTLESHIP Arizona, ablaze and sinking, and a newspaper headline recall the Dec. 7, 1941 "Day of Infamy," when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. More than 2,000 U.S. servicemen died as the enemy came in with 100 warplanes and midget subs to cripple eight battleships and many lesser war vessels. At bottom, an aircraft carrier is docked at Pearl Harbor as it appears now. (Intersections)

15 Years Ago 'Day of Infamy'

Pearl Harbor Is Peaceful Place Visited By Tourists

By JIM HECKER

PEARL HARBOR — Where once the battleships were moored row on row, inviting targets for the Japanese planes which smashed them 15 years ago today — a trim little motor launch ties up every morning.

Some 100 tourists walk slowly aboard, subdued, chatting in whispers, awestruck by the scene where history was made and the United States plunged into World War II, on the day that "will live in infamy."

They wear bright aloha shirts and cotton-print dresses. Many have cameras slung around their necks. The children are along, almost unattractively silent and reserved.

The day is brilliant. The trade winds rustle quietly, much as on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941.

The launch passes a well-kept Navy transport, one of only half a dozen or so ships in the giant harbor.

The transport's radar scope whirrs steadily, scanning the skies. Only a handful of ships in Pearl had radar in 1941, and a radar warning from an Army outpost never reached the fleet.

"There were 84 ships in Pearl Harbor on Sunday, Dec. 7," the sailor on the launch says, rattling through his prepared patter.

The launch makes a wide swing and stops at the beginning of the now-deserted one mile stretch of docks and buoys known as "Battleship Row."

There, in the space of about a mile, seven American battleships were moored when the Japanese struck. Four were sunk. Those afloat were damaged.

Some 2,800 men died, torn to bits in the explosions of bombs, burned to death in the flaming waters of the harbor as oil spilled from stricken ships and caught fire from incendiary bombs, trapped below decks of ships on their way to the bottom.

Huge columns of black smoke poured up and the harbor burned throughout the night of America's first hectic 24 hours at war.

Some of the battleships were refloated to fight on during the Pacific war, but the Japanese attack, with one blow, made obsolete the battleship concept of warfare.

Never again will Pearl Harbor present such a jolly target.

The Pacific Commander, Adm. Felix B. Stump, whose headquarters are atop a hill overlooking the sprawling harbor, says:

"There have been so many changes in warfare in the 15 years since the attack."

"The aircraft carrier has taken over from the battleship. The guided missile vessel may some day take the role of the aircraft carrier."

"Also, we don't concentrate our ships in the harbor like we did then. We keep better dispersed, out to sea. You never see anything like it Dec. 7 any more."

The launch pulls alongside the sunken battleship Utah. Some six feet of the ship's deck sticks from the water at a crazy angle. The deck is concrete covered. The Utah was taken out of service in '31 and used by the Navy as a bombing target.

"You may take photographs here," the sailor says, "but keep the cameras pointed at the port of the Utah you see out of the water."

The cameras click steadily. One man asks another, "How about F11 at 0?" The other says, "That should do it."

"I have color and I don't want to be overexposed," the first man says.

Mayfair Opening Is 'Complete Sellout'

All De Bary Turns Out To See New Post Office

There was excitement in DeBary yesterday.

Local residents were even following their mail down the street. It all came about when the Post Office was moved from its small wood structure in the brand new concrete building on the west of 17.92.

Seems as if all of DeBary turned out for the event, and even though parking space in front of, around and in back of the new Post Office increased many times, every available space was filled.

The new Post Office which will be officially dedicated on Dec. 15 as a huge meeting to include civic organizations, state officials, and Post Office personnel. Plans are underway for the dedication exercises which will be held in the afternoon.

A modern foyer with space for many times the number of post office boxes now greet the village residents as they call for their mail each day.

Brand new post office furniture including a wide stamp and parcel window, convenient slots for outgoing mail, writing desks, and bulletin board have all been installed.

There's a modern mauve tile and concrete floor, beautiful shrubbery furnished by the De Bary Garden Club, a clean glistening white building, all surrounded by marked parking stalls for motorists.

The post office is set back from the street with access roads on both the north and south.

Postmaster Walter Haul wouldn't stop for a picture of himself and shrugged off the photographer with "I'm too busy". Actually, he was every place at once, getting things in order to take care of the "Christmas rush" and the orderly flow of mail to the De Bary residents and out to their friends and relatives. Haul seemed to be just as happy in his new surroundings as any one of the De Bary folk who were "packing in" to see their new daily gathering place and mail source.

Of course, the Post Office is just one of the new modern buildings being erected in De Bary to furnish more and better services.

W. G. Miller is in his brand new real estate office next door to the post office.

A laundromat building is nearing completion to furnish an added service DeBaryites have not yet experienced.

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. will soon erect a brand new building for a dial exchange on the corner of 17.92 and Angeles Ave. It is understood that negotiating for property have been completed and work will soon begin on the structure to house the mechanism.

De Bary is growing, not only in the number of residents, but in the commercial establishments and enterprises, not to overlook the services which are being added.

Lake Mary Pioneer Night In February

The 32nd Annual Pioneer Night will be held in Lake Mary on Saturday night Feb. 23. Frank Evans announced yesterday.

"All people who come to Pioneer Night are Patriotic and like to celebrate Washington's Birthday on the 22nd, so we're setting the date now for Feb. 23," Evans said as he made the announcement.

This next year's Pioneer Night will be the biggest in the history of the annual events, Frank Evans said.

"We had some mighty prominent people at our celebration each year and there will be equally prominent citizens at our next one," he commented.

Comes next Feb. 23, he said, we will have old folks from every section of the county as well as those from other counties who enjoy coming to Lake Mary to be with us for an evening filled with entertainment.

"Of course our plans are not complete," Frank Evans shrugged. "But we're going to work right away lining up the best entertainment and making folks aware that the old people have a night all to themselves to really enjoy."

Evans said that the event will take place in the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce Building just as it has many, many times, "and we'll find room for every one of them."

Evans said "We're making the announcement early so that everyone, everywhere, will know that the night has been set aside for "Pioneer Night," and so that old folks can begin making their plans to attend."

"Just as soon as the new 1937 calendar begins coming out," Evans added, "be sure to mark Feb. 23 very plainly for we don't want a single person left out or disappointed."

Mrs. Iwan Fleischer was chairman of the coffee and headed the list of representatives from each circle with Mrs. Ed Lane and Mrs. L. P. Hagan assisting. Ticket takers were Mrs. Larry Spencer and Mrs. W. H. Stewart. Models were Mrs. Charles Cole, Mrs. W. E. Kirchhoff, Mrs. Fred Ganas, Robert Stone, Mrs. Joe Baker, Mrs. John Morgan and Mrs. H. N. Sayer.

Over 408 To Attend Big Event

The Mayfair Inn opening night celebration is a "complete sellout" according to reports this morning from the plush New York Giants winter tourist attraction.

Manager Frank Mebane Jr. said this morning that over 408 have made reservations for the big event, and will get underway at 7 o'clock.

"We're going to have the biggest season in the Mayfair Inn's history if opening night is any indication at all of the guests who will begin pouring into Sanford after tomorrow night," said Mebane.

Festivities for opening night at the Mayfair Inn tomorrow will begin with cocktails served at 7. Dinner will be served at 8, and dancing will get underway at 9:30.

Opening night at the Mayfair Inn will coincide with the beginning of festivities for the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open which is slated to get underway Tuesday with qualifying rounds.

Many of the golfers have already arrived and will attend the affair.

City and county officials will attend the gala party signaling the opening of the winter season in Sanford and Seminole County and no doubt officials from neighboring communities will also attend the brilliant opening event.

A New York orchestra has been engaged by the Mayfair Inn for tomorrow night's opening event. The orchestra will remain at the Mayfair Inn throughout the season to furnish music for the many events that are scheduled during the season.

"It will be the eighth Annual Opening," commented Manager Mebane, "and by far the biggest and best."

The Mayfair Inn Opening Night social event is the "grand opening" for the winter social season in Sanford, Seminole County, and Central Florida according to past accounts of the yearly party and according to the reservation list already compiled.

Course In 'Excellent Shape'

Baseball Bigwigs To Watch PGA Open

Baseball bigwigs will be prominent among the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Tournament audience next week, according to Mayfair Inn Manager Frank Mebane Jr.

Already indicating they will be here for the event will be Horan Stopham, head of the New York Giants organization, Carl Hubbell, director of the sprawling New York Giants Farm system, Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox, Freddie Hutchinson, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, and Mayo Smith, manager of the Philadelphia team.

Also indicating that they will be in Sanford for one of Florida's biggest golf events are Bill Hines, manager of the New York Giants and Rosay Hyan, general manager of the Minneapolis Millers.

Mario Carfagno, host pro for the PGA Open said yesterday that he is expecting from 250 to 300 professional and amateur golfers in Sanford taking part in the qualifying round on Tuesday.

However, Manager Frank Mebane Jr. said that approximately 120 will tee off in the three day play beginning next Thursday.

There will be other prominent golfers on the clinic panel demonstrating various forms, shots, and styles of play used in some of the biggest golf contests in PGA circuit play.

As many as 20 golfers have already arrived for practice rounds leading up to Tuesday's qualifying event.

Carfagno said yesterday that the 18-hole course is in "excellent shape" and is ready for the tournament. Greenkeepers are continuing their daily rounds of the course putting the fairways and greens in the "pink of condition" for next week's contests.

"We had 4,000 in Sanford for last year's Mayfair Inn $15,000 PGA Open," said Manager Mebane, "and this year we are expecting to more than double the crowds here."

Senator, Mrs. Dirksen Visit DeBary

U. S. Senator Everett Dirksen and Mrs. Dirksen were introduced to DeBary guests at a reception and tea yesterday at the home of Gen. and Mrs. H. P. Newton, Col. and Mrs. Gregory Kessenich as co-hosts.
