VDTs Enhance Productivity, But Are Boring

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Video display terminals have helped increase productivity drastically, but it warns that the computer screens are locking workers into "dead-end, boring jobs," a new study says.

By 1990, as many as 40 million workers in the United States may use VDTs on a daily basis, according to the report released Sunday by the Bureau of National Affairs, a private publisher of research studies.

Many employers argue VDTs can lead to economic salvation by increasing productivity up to 500 percent, lowering labor costs, upgrading employment status and improving earning power.

However, BNA said that employee groups say VDTs can lead to workplace enslavement by locking workers into "dead-end, boring jobs and unfairly monitoring performance."

Other highlights of the report, titled "VDTs in the Workplace: A Study on the Effects on Employment", include:

—Numerous studies indicate that work on VDTs can lead to musculo-skeletal, vision and stress problems.

—Scientific studies have not confirmed fears that VDTs emit harmful amounts of radiation.

Run For Liberty

Kindergarten and first grade pupils at Wilson Elementary School, Paola, run 220-yard laps Friday during the "Run for Liberty" to raise funds for the restoration of the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island. Approximately 150 school children obtained pledges from sponsors for each lap they ran. Principal Terry Rabun, who ran 47 laps, was sponsored by the teachers. Fourth grader Deon Edge with 19 laps was the pupil with the most laps. The Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation is promoting the run in schools nationally. The amount of money raised during Friday's run has not been determined.

Should Water Be Fluoridated?

County Customers Will Be Polled On December Bills

Seminole County officials are preparing to take a poll of the county water system's 7,000 to 8,000 customers to see if they would like to have their water fluoridated.

On customers' December water bills will be a question asking whether they want their water fluoridated. The bill/questionnaires will be returned to the county utility office for tabulation.

The county-owned utility system's steering committee, headed by Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, authorized the query at its meeting Friday.

For those who aren't well informed on the issue, Ken Hooper, acting county administrator and environmental services director, said facts about water fluoridation, prepared by the county's Health and Human Services Director Dr. George Deju, will be available at the county utilities office.

Noting that fluoridation is a very emotional subject, Dr. Deju said he is "about 95 percent" in favor of the action. He pointed out that the county's health department already provides fluoridation for 5,000 to 6,000 elementary school children on a regular basis upon request.

"Most experts recommend fluoridation" to prevent tooth decay, he said.

He added that the state will provide funds for equipment and costs of operation for the first two years fluoride is injected into the water supply.

After the first two years' operation, the county utility system would have to pick up the costs of fluoridating the water supply. There are no estimates available of those costs.

The county provides water for unincorporated areas plus some sections of Casselberry and Lake Mary.

Commissioner Barbara Christensen, a member of the utility steering committee, said that before the county begins any fluoridation program, if it ultimately does, a public hearing on the matter will be held first.

County Must Make Up Its Mind

Report Says Options Are Administrator Or Secretary

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The long-awaited report on a study of Seminole County government says the county commission should make up its mind whether it wants a county administrator or an executive secretary and criticizes county department heads for their "tunnel vision" to protect their own turf.

Calling criticisms of county government management "opportunities" to upgrade, a study conducted by a consulting firm hired by the county seven months ago says 16 problem areas exist including "an overextended span of control of the county administrator."

The study, commissioned in late April at a cost not to exceed $50,000, was released Friday after being submitted by the Public Administration Service of McLean, Va.

It urges that the county administrator's authority be strengthened and that the incumbent (T. Duncan Rose III, who served his last day on the job last Friday) "use additional techniques for communication, coordination and cooperation."

The report recommends that the commission decide "whether it desires a county administrator to function with those duties and powers necessary to operate effectively" or "just wants a coordinator or facilitator such as an executive secretary or assistant in the old county commission form of government."

Also recommended is that the county have at least one and possibly two deputy county administrators.

The report recommended that Rose implement new techniques through "leadership, clarification of the department heads' areas of authority and responsibility and the use of job descriptions to lay out coordination responsibility."

But, the department heads also came in for their share of criticism as well. It said tunnel vision that could be characterized as an "attitude of turf protection" exists with department heads as well as an "attitude of we vs. they pertaining to line or staff relationships."

Other criticisms are:

- "Less than desirable or poor coordination and cooperation between departments."
- "Lack of effective central administrative direction."

- "Emphasis on technology to reduce or hold the line on staffing and the failure of technology to deliver or be delivered."

- "An organizational scheme in which staff agencies report to the county administrator and operating agencies to the assistant county administrator." The report notes, however, this is a moot point since the assistant county administrator position is not filled. (County Budget Director Eleanor Anderson is now acting as assistant county administrator.)

"A possible lack of commitment to making the current or any organizational scheme or design work."

- "Overall organizational shortcomings."

- "Unclear accountability for actions and decisions."

- "A lack of supportive management."
- "Need for coordination of staff departments but not directly by the county administrator."

- "Operating department heads lacking a direct superior-subordinate relationship with the county administrator."

- "Improperly defined role of the county administrator in relation to the board of county commissioners."

It was this last point which led in large part to Rose's decision to resign. He complained about staffers bypassing him and going straight to commissioners. Commissioners, in turn, criticized Rose for delegating too much work, and a lack of strong leadership and well-defined chain of command.

Rose survived a move by Commissioner Chairman Sandra Glenn to oust him in July.

The Dirty Rats! They're Poisoning The Mars Bars

LONDON (UPI) — Shopkeepers removed Mars candy bars from shelves across Britain today to check for evidence of rat poisoning that militant animal lovers claimed they planted to protest medical experiments on monkeys.

Scotland Yard said suspect candy bars turned up in six cities during the weekend, but there was no evidence of poisoning despite warnings by the radical Animal Liberation Front that it had spiked samples of the nation's best-selling candy.

The wrapper of each suspect bar was marked with a cross in ball-point ink, and each contained a warning.

But, the department heads also came in for their share of criticism as well. It said tunnel vision that could be characterized as an "attitude of turf protection" exists with department

Khadafy Plotting To Kill World Leaders?

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — President Hoeni Mubarak has accused Libya's Moammar Khadafy of financing hit squads to kill Arab and West European leaders, including British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and French President Francois Mitterrand.

Mubarak's remarks came Sunday, 24 hours after Egyptian security authorities disclosed they had foiled the Libyan leadership into believing a four-man hit squad had assassinated former Libyan Prime Minister Abdel Hamid El-Bakoush, a Khadafy opponent.

The interior minister said one of four people arrested in the attempt on El-Bakoush's life last week also planned to hijack one of Egypt's 40 U.S.-made F-16 jet fighter-bombers to Libya. The Libyan armed forces are predominantly Soviet equipped.

Khadafy, who was in Malta on an official visit Sunday, made no reference to the incident in a surprise appearance at a political rally, instead denouncing the United States and NATO and calling President Reagan "mad, mad."

Mubarak Sunday accused Khadafy of financing death squads with orders to kill Thatcher, Mitterrand, West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and leaders from Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, the United Arab Emirates and Pakistan.

He also accused Khadafy of involvement in the assassination of Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. Asked in what way, he replied, "By financing some organizations to commit all these crimes."

The Libyan government was tricked into believing El-Bakoush, prime minister of Libya in 1967-68, was dead by sending fake pictures showing him splattered with blood to the Libyan Embassy in Malta.

Pickets Seek Change At Fatal RR Crossing

By Deane Jordan

"If there had been a light here, David would have stopped. He was a good driver." It was simple enough to a girl picketing at a Sanford railroad crossing where her friend and two teenagers were killed when their truck collided with a train Nov. 2.

The girl, Tray Irwin, 17, plus a dozen or so placard-toting friends demonstrated at the Silver Lake Drive railroad crossing Saturday and Sunday. They were there to show their anger about the lightless crossing and collect signatures on a petition to have flashing signal lights installed there.

Their mutual friends, David R. Raiston, 21, Chris Kolb, 15, and Timothy Yates, 17, all of Altamonte Springs, died at the crossing after their El Camino was rammed as it crossed the unaligned tracks. The trio were returning from a day at New Smyrna Beach and took Silver Lake Drive, an often-used shortcut around Sanford for beachgoers.

Dawn Hugg, 17, of 572 Tulane Drive, Altamonte Springs, survived the 4:53 p.m. crash when she was thrown clear as the locomotive shoved the vehicle along the rails. She was treated at South Seminole Medical Center, Longwood, and released after a few days.

According to a Florida Highway Patrol report, the vehicle's driver, Raiston, was

A Good Weekend For Local Athletes

Sanford's athletes competed in two state meets and a basketball tournament over the weekend and came away with some pretty impressive showings.

- In basketball, Coach Bill Payne's Seminole Community College Raiders won their fourth straight game en route to the championship of the Raider Tournament. SCC's Linny Grace, Slim Johnson, Greg "Skywalker" Bates and Kenny Edwards were named to the all-tournament team.
- In cross country,

Seminole High School's girls' team finished a surprising 10th in the state meet. Freshmen sensations Shownda Martin and Dorchelle Webster led the way. Billy Penick, a Seminole junior, led the boys team with a 10th place individual finish.

- In swimming, Seminole High's Chuck Burgess shook off a nagging cold to finish 5th in the 200 individual medley at the state meet in Fort Lauderdale.

Arrest Expected Soon in Beating Death Of 4-Month-Old Girl

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (UPI) — Police today awaited an autopsy report they say could provide evidence to solve the bludgeoning death of a 4-month-old girl who was apparently kidnapped from her home while her parents slept.

"The medical examiner's report is going to tell us an awful lot," Lt. Norman Moreau said Sunday. He said the time of the baby's death was "critical" to the investigation.

The report, from state Medical Examiner Arthur Burns, was due today or Tuesday.

The badly beaten body of Jerri Ann Richard was found Thursday dumped in an alley behind a brick factory, half a block from the second-floor apartment where she was reported missing by her parents Nov. 11.

Moreau had said late Saturday that an arrest might come during the weekend, but said Sunday no arrest would be made until the autopsy report was turned over to police.

About 25 residents, outraged by the killing, held a candlelight march Sunday night.

"What happened to Jerri Ann was tragic not only for Jerri Ann and her family, but for everybody in Rhode Island with children," said march organizer Margaret Taccone.

Victim Remembers Jonestown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The daughter of a California congressman slain by followers of the Rev. Jim Jones says cults are attracting more people than ever and that a tragedy similar to the mass suicides in Guyana six years ago today could occur again.

Patricia Ryan, daughter of Rep. Leo Ryan, led a memorial service Sunday commemorating the killing of her father and the deaths of more than 900 residents of the People's Temple colony known as Jonestown.

"We cannot afford to forget what happened in Jonestown," Ryan told about 25 people who gathered outside the Capitol for the service. "We are here to make sure something like this never happens again. And we are also here because it can." Ryan and four other Americans were killed in November 1978 at the Port Kaituma Airport near Jonestown as they prepared to return home from an investigation of the cult's jungle camp because of reports from Ryan's San Francisco constituents that some family members were being held against their will.

The slayings were followed by the murder-suicides of 913 cult members, whom Jones ordered to drink a deadly poison. Jones, who established the cult in San Francisco before moving it to Guyana, also killed himself.

Pastor's Replacement 'Creamed'

CLAIRTON, Pa. (UPI) — Supporters of a jailed activist minister turned away his replacement in a spray of shaving cream so his wife could deliver his "First Sermon from Prison."

Nadine Roth fought back tears Sunday as she read the sermon her husband wrote in his tiny cell in the Allegheny County Jail, where he is serving a 90-day sentence for contempt of court.

In the message, the Rev. D. Douglas Roth asked for God's help in his battle against several large corporations.

Roth was fired as pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church by his synod for his involvement with the Denominational Ministry Strategy and the Network to Save the Mon-Ohio Valley, two activist groups that use disruptive tactics to call attention to the unemployed.

Fear Subsides On Nightclub Strip After Arrest Of Murder Suspect

TAMPA (UPI) — The arrest of an unemployed medical worker charged with murdering nine women has eased fears in the Tampa nightclub strip where some of the victims worked but the prospect of violent death still haunts the district.

"Any car you get in could be some freak that wants to kill you or severely hurt you," one woman who identified herself as a prostitute told the Sunday Tampa Tribune.

Robert J. Long, 31, an out-of-work radiology technician, was charged Friday with murdering nine women, two of them dancers in a North Nebraska Avenue nightclub and two with arrest records for prostitution. The arrest ended a six-month pall of fear over the district.

Schoolboy Shot During Bus Ride

MIAMI (UPI) — A schoolboy who was shot in the head while trying to get away from a rowdy football crowd that took over a public bus has died at the age of 14.

Learnon Williams was shot in the right temple Friday night after he jumped from a window in a Metro Transit Authority bus to escape the crowd.

A spokeswoman at Jackson Memorial Hospital said the boy, an eighth-grader at Allapattah Junior High School, died at 11:10 a.m. Sunday. He was shot at 10:40 p.m. Friday and underwent surgery early Saturday.

Mystery Surrounds Cause Of Crash

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A Florida Highway Patrol investigation continued today into an eight vehicle pileup on the Sunshine State Parkway in Osceola County Saturday that killed a Vero Beach woman.

Published reports, which troopers were unavailable to confirm today, said the crash may have been caused by a Winter Springs man slammed on the brakes of his 1979 Datsun in heavy fog and smoke.

The Datsun was reportedly hit from behind by a tractor-trailer which set off a chain reaction crash. The car was reportedly driven by Jeff S. Morley, 24, of 889 Sterling Drive, Winter Springs, but Duty Officer Shelia Thornton of the Highway Patrol said she could not confirm that.

When the driver of the Datsun hit his brakes, the driver of the tractor-trailer tried to stop but couldn't keep from hitting the car, Ms. Thornton said. Another semi struck the first truck knocked it across the highway causing it to block both northbound lanes of the highway.

Gwenivere Kelly, 26, of Vero Beach, was killed in the 2:21 a.m. accident when the 1979 Oldsmobile she was riding in was sandwiched between two other trailer trucks that became a part of the pileup.

A car towing a boat crashed into the first trailer truck and a following pickup truck stopped before becoming a part of the pileup. But the car Ms. Kelly was in hit the truck from behind and then continued into the rear of the third tractor-trailer, Ms. Thornton said.

The pickup truck and the car were hit from behind by a fourth trailer truck as the survivors from those two vehicles, including three companions of Ms. Kelly, were fleeing the vehicles.

More than a dozen persons remained hospitalized following the crash. Nineteen persons, not counting Ms. Kelly, were injured in the accident. All were treated at hospitals, but some were released, Ms. Thornton said.

The accident occurred in the northbound lanes of the highway about 20 miles south of Kissimmee, Ms. Thornton said.

Since the pileup, signs with flashing lights have been put up to warn motorists of the fog and troopers have increased their patrol in the area. The signs were not up at the time of the accident because there had been no fog in the area Friday night and officials were not aware that a pasture in that area had been burning Friday.

Charge It! Consumers To Go On Massive Holiday Spree

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — A new consumer confidence survey predicts that Florida retailers will do well this Christmas season as Florida residents are more optimistic than the nation as a whole about their personal finances.

The monthly Florida Consumer Confidence Index, released for the first time Sunday by the University of Florida Bureau of Economic and Business Research, bodes well for retailers, survey director Lucin Dunn said.

The Florida results are based on an October survey of 500 adults.

Dunn said the high level of confidence means that shoppers in Florida will be more likely to buy big ticket items for themselves and holiday gifts for others than people elsewhere.

The survey gave Florida a consumer confidence index number of 104.1. On the same scale, which compares optimism to that recorded in 1983, the national index is 96.3, Dunn said. The national survey is conducted by the University of Michigan.

The optimism may be a function of Floridians' anticipation of the winter tourist season and relates to feelings that Florida has "got it good" compared to other parts of the country, Dunn said.

When asked what they think about the economic outlook for the nation in the next

Deputies Hog-Tie Kicking Woman In Bar Incident

A Longwood woman who fought with deputies trying to arrest her at a Fern Park bar had to be hog-tied after handcuffs and leg irons couldn't keep her from trying to kick out the windows of a sheriff's patrol car.

A deputy was called to Fern Park Station, Fernwood Boulevard, at about 12:10 a.m. today. He spotted the suspect who was reportedly refusing bouncer Dan Burke's orders to leave because she was being violent, abusive and was screaming and cursing, a sheriff's report said.

The deputy was unable to calm the woman and she continued to make a scene. She said she wasn't going to jail and would resist arrest if the officer tried to charge her, the report said.

When the deputy tried to handcuff her, she reportedly began hitting him in the chest and on his body with her flats. He called on bystander Thomas Sanders, 19, of Orlando, to assist in the arrest and a second deputy arrived to join in the struggle, the report said.

The woman reportedly fought with the three men and kicked Sanders and tried to bite him. They eventually handcuffed her and placed her in a patrol car, where she began kicking the windows, the report said. She was placed in leg irons, but continued to kick the windows and had to be hog tied by the officers before being transported to jail.

Leslie Daniels, 19, of 111 Cove Lake Drive, was arrested at 1:24 a.m. today. She was charged with battery to a police officer and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

According to a Sanford police report, the officer saw a man sitting in a car at 1506 W. 13th St., pushing a powdery material with a razor blade on a mirror. The incident occurred at 11:20 p.m. Friday. When the officer shined his light on the subject, the man dropped the items but picked them up and continued to arrange the substance. Meanwhile, an unidentified man who was leaning against the suspect's car fled after he failed to get the suspect's attention.

The officer took the material from the suspect and arrested him.

Being held in lieu of bond Saturday was Harvey Timothy William, 40, of 1802 Lincoln Ave., Sanford.

one prisoner held Chastain.

Arrested in the jail Friday and charged with battery are Rodney White, 18, of 1703 W. 14th St., Sanford, Lester Clyde Bagley, 26, of Williams Street, Sanford, Terrance Rodger Marlon, 19, of 1202 Oleander Drive, Sanford, and Vincent McGriff, 19, of Rt. 2, Box 3-M, Sanford.

The men were being held in lieu of $8,000 bonds each.

Man Pleads No Contest In Cocaine Case

An Altamonte Springs man who pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to trafficking cocaine faces a mandatory 3-year sentence and $50,000 fine.

Michael C. Flanigan, 21, of 1030 North St., entered the plea Thursday before Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis who set sentencing for Jan. 16. Flanigan must serve at least 3 years and could be sentenced up to 4½ years. He must also pay a mandatory $50,000 fine.

According to court records, Flanigan and two co-defendants were arrested May 29 after undercover agents with a search warrant found four to five ounces of cocaine worth $7,000 in Flanigan's home. The co-defendants are awaiting disposition of their cases.

Agents reported buying cocaine from a woman at the house on May 17 and May 26. They were at her home making another deal just prior to the arrests.

While the woman was in the living room negotiating with the agents, Flanigan was in a bedroom measuring a quantity of cocaine, a sheriff's report said.

Flanigan reportedly noticed backup officers in the area and tried to warn the woman and another suspect, deputies reported.

Awaiting disposition of their cases are Betty Revel Lowermill, 27, of the same address, charged with trafficking cocaine, and Daniel Lon Stealey, 22, of Tampa, charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Panel Urges FDA To Remove 5,000 Unapproved Drugs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional panel warns there are about 5,000 drugs on the market without required federal approval that may expose the public to unknown dangers.

The House Government Operations Committee, in a report released Wednesday, urged the Food and Drug Administration to seek voluntary removal of the drugs, pending reviews to determine safety and efficacy.

It also recommended that the FDA require manufacturers and distributors to promptly inform the agency of any serious adverse reactions associated with the drugs.

Rep. Ted Weiss, D-N.Y., a member of the panel, charged that the "FDA has repeatedly disregarded its responsibility for removing from the market new drugs that it has not approved as safe and effective."

The committee said the FDA's failure to enforce new drug approval requirements signaled to pharmaceutical manufacturers and distributors that they could avoid FDA scrutiny.

From 1971 to 1976, it said, the FDA received annual reports of an average of 161 unapproved new drugs. From 1977 to 1983, the average soared to 534.

The FDA, criticized last spring for failing to move against an unapproved vitamin E solution, E-Ferol, until after it was linked to the deaths of 12 infants, rejected the panel's stinging assessment on the safety of drugs.

"We feel drugs on the market are safe," Bill Grigg, an FDA spokesman, said in response to the study. "Deficiencies in FDA's Regulation of Unapproved New Drugs: The case of E-Ferol."

The committee criticized the FDA for permitting variations of old drugs, like E-Ferol, for the past 20 years without a strict review of the medication's composition and manufacturer.

"Until FDA has reviewed the safety of all changes in composition or method of administration of a 'new drug,' as well as the quality of the manufacturer, it has no basis for concluding it is safe for the intended use," the panel said.

Grigg noted that the FDA in September announced it was tightening its handling of such drugs — including a requirement that manufacturers and distributors inform it of any reports of adverse reactions.

The committee's report was based on a study by the panel's Intergovernmental Relations and Human Resources subcommittee, led by Weiss. Last May, the subcommittee held a hearing on the FDA's handling of E-Ferol.

E-Ferol was recalled by its distributor, O'Neal, Jones, Feldman Pharmaceutical Co. of Maryland Heights, Mo., last spring after the vitamin solution was linked to the death of 12 premature infants.

The FDA has since associated E-Ferol with 26 additional deaths.

Neither the drug's distributor or manufacturer, Carter-Glogau Laboratories of Glendale, Ariz., sought the required FDA approval.

And FDA employees, making what agency officials later acknowledged was a mistake, permitted the drug to be sold. The FDA took no action until it was advised by other federal agencies of the infant deaths.

Cluttering The Crime Computer

The FBI is now putting together a computerized central file on suspected white-collar criminals that will make it possible for any law enforcement agency in the nation to find out if a suspect is also being sought elsewhere by another agency.

It's a valuable tool that, if used properly, could be helpful in tracking down swindlers.

Unfortunately, the bureau is pushing ahead in a manner that's too broad and invites abuse.

The Economic Crime Index will contain, in addition to such vital data as name, address, age, Social Security number and the like, information about any warrants, arrests and convictions or other disposition of charges against a suspect.

But it also will include what in the trade is called "raw information," which may include unsubstantiated allegations of criminal activity or intent, even gossip or other information that may reflect on a person's character but is without any legal validity.

With that kind of content, such an index could be used to deny credit or a job, and could be the basis for surveillance and harassment of an innocent person.

So far, Attorney General William French Smith hasn't decided whether to adopt the ECI system as it was developed and make it part of the FBI's National Crime Information Center data bank, which contains criminal histories and information about wanted persons.

All of the material in the NCIC is already on the public record, whereas the inclusion of raw, unverified data in the ECI would take the concept of centrally storing information about criminal suspects dangerously beyond that.

The FBI opens thousands of cases every year, many of which never lead to arrest, indictment, prosecution or conviction.

The new index would incorporate such information and, unless restrictive guidelines are drawn, it would remain a permanent part of an individual's file.

The potential for abuse is great, partly owing to the inclination of all bureaucracies never to discard information, however incorrect or outdated it may be. (A related problem is that local police agencies often fail to feed information about the disposition of cases into the NCIC system, so that it is not rare for individuals to be arrested on warrants that are no longer valid.)

This problem could be averted if the Justice Department were to limit the new index to information dealing with official actions against a suspect.

Whether this will happen depends largely on how the attorney general decides to interpret the law that allows the FBI to keep "records" in the NCIC computer.

If that interpretation is to include raw data with no legal validity, it may become necessary for Congress to act to restrain the Justice Department.

In any event, the FBI would do well to heed the request of Rep. Don Edwards, a California Democrat who heads the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Civil and Constitutional Rights, and delay introduction of the index at least until congressional hearings are held early next year to determine what safeguards might be needed.

OPEC's Slow Death

Almost forgotten amid the political bedlam of late October was the struggle for survival of the infamous Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC). On October 31, OPEC finished a three day meeting in Geneva by announcing that 11 of 13 member countries would cut back oil production by a total of 1.5 million barrels per day.

This unhappiness among the oil producers is in response to price cuts in Britain, Norway, and Nigeria, relative latecomers to the worldwide oil pricing binge that began with the 1973 Arab oil embargo. They found it necessary to reduce prices in order to keep their customers.

Certain technical factors are involved in the current turmoil over oil prices. Until recently, the "light" grades of crude oil, which are used to make gasoline, commanded the best prices. In response to price incentives, refiners upgraded their facilities and equipment to handle lower-priced "heavy" oil. The British, Norwegians, and Nigerians, happily pumping light crude, found themselves suddenly in a declining market.

In response to the price cuts, two things have happened: first, OPEC continues its hopeless course of reducing production in order to store up prices. Second, five major U.S. oil companies lowered their crude oil prices. Phillips Petroleum and Diamond Shamrock led with $1 per barrel cuts. By way of interest, Phillips' earnings for the first nine months of 1984 were up 35 percent. Diamond Shamrock's income more than doubled. Earnings for Exxon, Shell, Pennzoil, and Standard of Indiana were also up.

More than enough has been written about the slow death of OPEC thanks to the silent functioning of the law of supply and demand. However, the economic hardships endured by Americans and others in the wake of the OPEC price piracy of the late seventies has been ascribed to inflation "caused" by the rise in oil prices. The real reason of that era is more complicated. The inflation actually resulted from expansionary fiscal and monetary policies that in effect devalued the dollar in order to make more of them available to pay for oil. That's why oil prices went from about $15 per barrel in 1974, to more than $30 by 1979. The oil, of course, was no more critical five years ago than ten — in fact, it was less critical, with the onset of conservation, alternative sources of energy, and increased worldwide production.

The inflation engendered by those policies affected much more than oil. It wrecked our economy by 1980, and helped drive President Carter from office.

Today, OPEC resorts to quotas to prop up prices, which it needs to pay for its members' gleaming new cities, armies, and arsenals. But without the complexity of the U.S. government, oil prices will continue to fall, and inflation with them.

JACK ANDERSON

U.S. Hurt By Inept Ambassador

WASHINGTON — Presidents have been rewarding political allies with ambassadorships practically since the birth of the republic — to the occasional embarrassment of the United States, but only rarely with any serious harm to the nation's foreign policy.

A political appointee's ignorance of his duties is usually outweighed by the diplomatic skill of his professional underlings, and his easy access to the president can compensate for a wealth of irritating incompetence.

But something went wrong with the traditional safeguards when Joseph Werner Reed set out on the road to Morocco in 1981.

The result was a strategic disaster for the Reagan administration: the astonishing union of a supposedly staunch U.S. ally, Morocco, with the virulently anti-American dictatorship of Libya.

It would be unfair to lay the Morocco-Libyan rapprochement solely on Reed's door. The CIA is still trying to figure out what happened, and the agency will have some hard questions to answer before outraged congressional committees.

But Reed can certainly bear a large share of the blame for the White House's failure to learn what was in the works until it was too late for anything but hand-wringing. Though the Libyans had been courting King Hassan of Morocco for over a year, Reed was so blithely confident of his close friendship with Hassan that he discounted evidence that the king might not be completely loyal to the United States.

It was a measure of Reed's detachment that he was vacationing in Maine when Morocco's "friendship treaty" with Libya was announced. Old hands in Foggy Bottom and on Capitol Hill weren't surprised that Reed was, literally, so far out of it.

Reed has admitted, in conversations with irate members of Congress, that his old buddy Hassan informed him of the treaty with Libya only an hour before the monarch announced it to the rest of the world. For years the ambassador had assured anyone within earshot that he had "unprecedented" access to Hassan and his inner circle.

Reed's behavior as ambassador was based on his sublime confidence that his close relationship to Hassan ensured continuing U.S.-Moroccan solidarity. Reed once had the sentry boxes outside his Rabat residence painted red, white and blue, and named the house Villa America. When the Moroccan prime minister had tea with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in Washington, Reed unfurled a large banner to welcome him.

In fact, Reed suffered from a severe case of "clientitis" — a malady not unknown in the Foreign Service. He sang Hassan's praises to Congress and the White House. He helped engineer an intelligence-sharing agreement with Morocco that gave Hassan information that U.S. spy satellites had picked up on the Polisario rebels in the disputed western Sahara war. This agreement and several others are now under review; the White House is understandably leery of sharing intelligence with Qaddafi.

For all his claimed intimacy with the Moroccan, Reed is often ridiculed by them, State Department sources told my associate Lucette Lagnado. And this opinion was shared by Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., who referred to Reed after a 1982 visit to Morocco as "a 14-karat nitwit."

An ambassador is supposed to be the president's eyes and ears, as well as the mouthpiece for an administration's views. Once again, an American president has been hamstrung by having an unprofessional ambassador in a sensitive foreign embassy.

Footnote: A spokesman at the U.S. Embassy in Rabat said that "Morocco is a sovereign country" and has no obligation to discuss its business "even with its good friends."

Last Campaign Vital

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The last campaign of 1984 is still being waged. On Nov. 28, the Senate's Republicans will meet to choose their new leadership and prepare for the new Senate session, which begins in January.

The meeting will center on the election of a new majority leader to replace Howard Baker, who is retiring.

Five senators are actively campaigning for the job: Kansas' Bob Dole, Indiana's Richard Lugar, Alaska's Ted Stevens, Idaho's James McClure and New Mexico's Pete Domenici. This contest's outcome probably will have a significant effect on how the Senate operates during the next two years.

The new GOP majority will be two members smaller than it was in the last Congress. It also will be under a great deal of pressure to fulfill the mandate that the Reagan administration has claimed as a result of the president's near-sweeping victory. In addition, 21 members of the GOP majority will stand for re-election in 1986 (a 22nd, Arizona's Barry Goldwater, has announced his plans to retire).

Although all five current candidates for the top GOP Senate job are running hard, several are said to have significant reservations.

Dole is probably the favorite, but some close advisers are warning him not to accept the post. Dole makes no secret of the fact that he'd love to be the GOP's 1988 presidential nominee. The same is true of Baker, who did not run for re-election this year so that he could devote all of his time to making the 1988 presidential run.

Baker felt that the majority leader's job was too time-consuming, but Dole feels that he needs the job as a platform for his presidential bid. Some advisers say Baker was right and that Dole would hurt his presidential chances if he got the top Senate job.

In addition, if Dole were to become majority leader, he would give up his chairmanship of the Finance Committee — perhaps the most critical committee in the Senate these days. The next in line for that chairmanship would be Oregon's Bob Packwood, a moderate, who has never been considered much of a supporter of Reagan's economic program. Some key Republicans are telling Dole that he would help himself much more if he stayed put and used his Finance chairmanship to help the president.

The senator with the hardest choice is North Carolina's newly re-elected Jesse Helms. With Charles Percy's defeat in Illinois, Helms is next in line to head the Foreign Relations Committee — something that he, the Reagan administration and his conservative backers badly want. The administration is pressuring Helms to take the Foreign Relations post, since, if he doesn't, the committee might end up being chaired by the very moderate Charles Mathias of Maryland. Mathias is considered very unfriendly to the administration's foreign policy, especially in Central America.

However, to take Foreign Relations, Helms must relinquish the chairmanship of the Agriculture Committee and his role of chief defender of the tobacco and peanut-crop support programs — a role of prime importance to North Carolina.

If Helms does move to Foreign Relations, Lugar — who has opposed both tobacco and peanut support — would be in line to take over Agriculture. During his bitter re-election battle, Helms repeatedly promised that he would protect the tobacco industry by staying at Agriculture.

One byzantine solution being proposed would have Helms and other conservative support Lugar for the post of majority leader. Helms could then take the Foreign Relations chairmanship and, with Lugar out of the way, the Agriculture chairmanship would go to Mississippi's Thad Cochran, who is considered to be a friend of tobacco.

ROBERT WALTERS

Where The GOP Thrives

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (NEA) — Although Rep. Tom Vandergriff, D-Texas, won election to his first term in the House two years ago by a razor-thin margin, he was supposed to have less difficulty being re-elected this year.

In the 1982 election, Vandergriff was victorious by only 434 votes — the narrowest margin recorded in any congressional district in the country — but in 1983 the Democratic-dominated Texas legislature altered the district's boundaries to make it more hospitable to the congressman.

Nevertheless, Vandergriff was defeated this year by Republican challenger Richard Arme, an economics professor whose campaign speeches sometimes sounded like classroom lectures and who never before had sought any public office.

The contest here in Texas's 26th Congressional District is worth noting because it provides a valuable case study in the geography and demography of this year's elections.

The Republicans fared better in the South in general and in two states in particular — Texas and North Carolina — than anywhere else in the country. Fully half of the GOP's nationwide net gain in the House — 7 of 14 seats — was achieved in those two states.

Here in the Lone Star State, Republicans retained a Senate seat that earlier in the year was believed to be in danger, captured four previously Democratic House seats and increased their share of seats in the Texas House of Representatives from 37 to 53.

The incumbent Democratic congressmen toppled included:

— Vandergriff, in a district that reaches north to Denton and includes the burgeoning suburbs between Dallas and Fort Worth as well as the suburbs south of Fort Worth.

— Rep. Bill Patman, in a district that spans almost 150 miles of the Gulf coast, stretching from north of Corpus Christi to south of Galveston.

— Rep. Jack Hightower, in a district that includes most of the Texas Panhandle and reaches east to Wichita Falls.

In the Tarheel State, Republicans captured the governorship from the Democrats, retained a Senate seat that was the object of a bitter political struggle, and unseated three incumbent Democratic members of the House.

The House seats that switched from Democratic to Republican are located in districts that include Raleigh, Chapel Hill, Greensboro, High Point and Asheville.

Even more striking were the GOP gains in the North Carolina legislature. The party's strength doubled in the Senate, where it rose from 6 to 12, and more than doubled in the House, where it climbed from 16 to 37.

Lady 'Noles Run To 10th

Top-Ranked Lake Howell A Disappointing 4th Place

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
DELAND — If it was possible, Seminole coach Ted Tombros would like next year to start tomorrow. The Lady Seminoles capped off their greatest season ever with a 10th place finish in the 4A State Meet Saturday at the DeLand Airport.

"Finishing in the top 10 was super," Tombros said. "We accomplished our stated goal and I think we justified being ranked in the top 10 earlier in the season."

Led by top 20 finishes by freshmen Shownda Martin and Dorchelle Webster, the Lady Tribe finished with a team score of 223 and beat a pair of teams, Coral Gables and Northwest Miami, that had been ranked ahead of it.

Martin just missed First Team All-State (top 10) as she came in 11th with a fine time of 11:56.9. Webster came through with an 18th place performance and a time of 12:14.9.

"Those two young ladies ran super races, they've been consistent all season long," Tombros said. "To make Second Team All-State as freshmen is a great accomplishment."

Completing Seminole's top five Saturday were junior Debbie Coleman (49th at 13:01), senior Katrina Walker (81st at 13:49) and sophomore Jennifer Roberts (84th at 13:52). Also running for the Tribe were seniors Glenda Bass (101st at 14:46) and Lisa Grant (110th at 15:47).

"The state meet is different than any other meet," Tombros said. "Being in the state meet for the first time, the girls responded well. I just hate to see the season end we've had so many successes and very few failures. We've laid another block in the foundation and I'm really looking forward to next season."

In the team race Saturday, Tampa Leto's "Long Red Row" ran its best race of the season to win the girls state championship while previously top-ranked Lake Howell finished a disappointing fourth.

"Anything can happen on any given day," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontree said. "It just wasn't meant to be for us. Life's not always fair."

Even without its second runner, Kim Huffman who was out with an ankle injury, Leto had enough firepower to win as it finished with a team score of 120 compared to 135 for Orange Park, 143 for Gainesville Buchholz and 146 for Lake Howell.

Winter Park's Kim Bovis went out fast and never lost the lead en route to the individual title and an impressive time of 11:16.8, the best time of the day for any girls meet, on the slow DeLand Airport course.

Leto had three runners in before Lake Howell's second Saturday and four in before the Hawks' third. Leading the way for the Long Red Row was senior Nancy Guffey who finished 10th with a time of 11:56.1.

Lake Howell's number one runner, sophomore Lisa Samocki, ran an outstanding race but the Lady Hawks' pack was too far back to pull out the win. Samocki finished sixth in the two-mile race with a time of 11:40. The top 10 individuals make up the All-State First Team.

Lake Howell's Amy Ertel, left, and Nancy Nystrom make their way through the finishing chute. The Lady Hawks' pack was without attack as they finished fourth in the state meet after being ranked first going into the competition.

next finisher, sophomore Martha Fonseca, came in 32nd with a time of 12:42. Mary Fonseca, Martha's twin sister, was next for the Lady Hawks as she came in 38th at 12:48. Completing the Hawks' top five were junior Amy Ertel (44th at 12:55.8) and senior Nancy Nystrom (45th at 13:56).

Also running for the Lady Hawks were sophomore Belinda LaSeur (53rd at 13:04) and senior Michelle Spearman (58th at 13:09).

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots finished 15th out of 16 teams, but just making the state meet was the highlight of the season for the Patriots.

"You can look at it two ways," Lake Brantley coach Jim Marshall said. "You beat one team in the meet or 120 teams who didn't make the state meet. I like to look at it the second way."

Michelle Herbst, a sophomore, was the Lady Patriots' top finisher Saturday as she came in 54th with a time of 13:06.

A pair of seniors, Joanne Hayward and Kim Lubenow, concluded their outstanding careers by competing in their

Relaxed Rams Get 4th; Penick Is 10th

By Chris Fister

DELAND — Lake Mary's Rams found it hard to withstand the pressure in the district and region meets as they chased frontrunner Winter Park. The Rams didn't perform well at all in those two meets.

Going into the 4A State Meet, the pressure was off the Rams. Largo and Tampa Leto were the top two teams and literally untouchable. So Lake Mary went out in a relaxed mood Saturday and ran an impressive race in finishing fourth in the state at the DeLand Airport.

The fourth place finish, coming in the Rams first state meet, is the highest ever by a Seminole County boys team. Lake Mary also beat Winter Park for the first time.

"I knew we had a shot at it," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said. "The guys ran as a pack and the first three really stuck together. The pressure was off this week. We were underdogs. The guys wanted it and went out and did it."

Tampa Leto took the team title, giving the Long Red Row a sweep of the 4A crowns with a team score of 60 compared to 82 for Largo. Gainesville Buchholz was third at 156 and Lake Mary and Miami Columbus tied at 204. But Lake Mary's sixth runner, freshman Eric Peterson, was ahead of Columbus' to give the Rams fourth place.

Lake Mary didn't have a top 20 finisher, but the Rams ran as a pack and that enabled them to finish fourth. Ken Rohr, a junior, led the way with a 29th place finish and a time of 16:12 and senior Bobby Howard stuck right with Rohr as he came in 31st at 16:15. Matt Palumbo, also a senior, finished in 42nd position with a time of 16:23.6. Completing the Rams' top five were seniors Jim Shepherd (59th at 16:48) and Harold Pitts (81st at 17:05).

Peterson, the decisive runner in breaking the tie, came in 85th at 17:11. He beat out Columbus' sixth runner by seven places.

"Jim (Shepherd) came from way behind," McGee said. "He passed at least 20 guys in the last mile. And Eric hasn't run a bad race all year," McGee said.

"I tried to keep the guys relaxed this week," McGee added. "We took it easy and tried to keep our minds off the race."

Seminole High's boys team finished 16th out of 16 teams but the Tribe was a long shot just to make it into the state meet. "No one expected us to even be here," coach Ted Tombros said. "The guys ran a great race at regionals in order to get to state and I think they were let down a little at the meet."

Seminole's Billy Penick was the early leader in the individual race Saturday but he couldn't keep up the pace and fell back to 15th on the third mile. But the junior standout came back to take 10th place with a time of 15:47 and earn a spot on the All-State First Team.

Jacksonville Terry Parker's Mike Clerc came on strong to win the three-mile race with a time of 15:05. Satellite's Bill Hibbard, who Penick had beaten twice before, was the top individual out of Region 3 as he came in fourth with a time of 15:27.

"He (Penick) went out to the lead in the first mile and thought Clerc would get with him," Tombros said. "But Clerc laid back and waited until the second mile to pass him. When the pack caught Billy, it took him a while to respond."

"He was 15th with three-quarters of a mile to go and he handled himself well to come back and finish 10th."

Following Penick in Seminole's top five Saturday were sophomore Larry Cosby (51st at 16:36), junior Kelly

SCC's 'Giant-Sized' Attack Cuts Down Indian River

Artis Johnson Sparks Raiders To Tournament Title

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Nobody likes a giant. Especially when that giant isn't jolly and doesn't let you play in his yard.

Seminole Community College's Raiders ran into a giant Saturday night in Kenny Roper. And every time the Raiders would journey into Roper's yard (the foul line and in), the 7-1 Indian River freshman would await them away with his long, right-handed eraser.

Then Roper made a mistake. He opened his mouth. After one such block, he needed SCC's Linny Grace. After that, an armed guard couldn't keep the Raiders out of Roper's yard as they took it to the big fellow one play after another, breaking open a tight game for a 79-69 victory over Indian River's Pioneers.

"You can't be afraid of him," said Grace about the Indian River tower. "You just have to keep taking it to him. That's what we should have done in the first half, but we couldn't get people in the right place to kick it out and run."

But the kick and run rolled in the second half as SCC picked up its third straight victory against no losses and the championship of the third annual Raider Tournament before 450 satisfied fans. The Raiders look for number four Tuesday night at home against Lake Sumter at 7:30. Wednesday, they go to Winter Park to play the Rollins junior varsity at 5 p.m. before taking a Thanksgiving break.

SCC coach Bill Payne was giving thanks Saturday, especially since it was the first time his club had been tested this year after blowouts over the alumni and Brevard.

"It's different game when you have to go around a 7-1 kid," said Payne. "No doubt about it, the kids were leery. We backed off and took some shots we shouldn't have."

Payne said he had the broom out Saturday morning in hopes of sweeping away the 7-1 advantage. "We practiced with the broom, but it didn't help," he said. "Someone holding the broom isn't like the real thing. Roper is a heckuva player."

But eight Davids showed that one Goliath could be handled. Grace, flashing his silk-like baseline prowess, tossed in 23 points and handed out seven assists. Greg "Skywalker" Bates went up in the rafters for 13 points and 13 rebounds and one crowd-lifting dunk. Artis Johnson, a 6-1 sophomore, jumped off the bench for nine points and a great floor game.

"We had great contributions by everybody again," said Payne. "Art (Johnson) came off the bench and did a great job. He's such a strong rebounder. A smart coach would play him more but he's such an in-between size."

Size looked to be a big factor in the early going. Indian River, which lost for the first time in three outings, hurried to a 14-4 lead as Roper hit six points, the last two on a slam dunk, before Payne could call a time out.

The Raiders then beat a path to the offensive boards as Kenny Edwards tapped in a rebound, Grace did the same after a missed free throw and Bates went above the rim for a sky tip to close the gap to 18-13.

Payne then substituted Artis Johnson and Mike Landell and called for the press. It resulted in a steal by Slim Johnson and two over turnovers but the Raiders couldn't capitalize and still trailed, 22-19.

Finally, SCC started to run. Bates grabbed a rebound, whipped to Mike Tolbert who hit a full-speed Brent Baird on the left side. Baird, a Sanford sophomore, faked Roper up on the left side and reversed the layup for a bucket while drawing the foul. He missed the free throw but Tolbert slipped inside to tip in the miss for SCC's first lead, 23-22.

It started a string in which the Raiders outscored the visitors, 12-8, to take a 31-30 first-half edge. Included were a fadeaway jumper by Bates and another sky tip. Grace pushed the lead to three on a soft roll but Roper dunked with seconds left for the one-point margin.

49ers' Ho-Hum Performance Is Too Much For Bumbling Bucs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For the first time in the franchise's history, San Francisco 49ers fans have become more worried about the point spread than if their team is going to win the game.

On Sunday, the 49ers put in a ho-hum performance to defeat the Tampa Bay Bucs, 24-17, running their season mark to 11-1. The victory clinched the team a guaranteed wild card playoff spot and put them in the driver's seat in the NFC West. San Francisco merely has to win one of its last four games, or a Los Angeles loss in one of its last four games, to clinch the 49ers third divisional title in four years.

However, in the game's dying moments, the 49ers faithful booed when Joe Montana fell on the ball at the Tampa Bay 4-yard line.

Pro Football

The 49ers have had great success in three of the last four years. In 1981, they went 13-3 in the regular season and breezed through the playoff on the way to the Super Bowl title.

In 1982, they fell to a lowly 3-8 in the strike-shortened season. Then last year, they rebounded again going 10-6 and falling just short of the Super Bowl as they lost to the Washington Redskins in the NFC Championship game.

Over the past four years, San Francisco is 47-17.

In comparison, the four years before they were 15-47.

On Sunday, a man who suffered through those four miserable years from 1977-1980 came back to Candlestick Park. Steve DeBerg, now the quarterback for Tampa Bay, again walked the sidelines of Candlestick and nearly came away with a victory.

The eight-year veteran completed 26 of 41 attempts for 316 yards and two touchdowns. It was his first 300-yard passing day as a Buc.

"I figured that Steve would have good day," said Montana, a former DeBerg backup.

Gators Win SEC — Can They Keep It?

United Press International
The Florida Gators have won their first Southeastern Conference football championship, but have to wait to see if they'll be allowed to keep it.

The 8th-ranked Gators won the SEC race for the first time in the league's 52-year history when Saturday's 25-17 victory at Kentucky gave them a 5-0-1 conference record.

However, the Gators are in the process of going on NCAA probation and although they have stalled that process until at least January by an appeal, the SEC Executive Committee meets Tuesday in Birmingham, Ala., to decide whether to bar Florida from claiming the championship and the Sugar Bowl berth that goes with it.

The Gators figure they're the champs regardless of what happens Tuesday. "We won it," said Florida nose guard Tim Newton. "They can't take it from us. In their minds and hearts, people know Florida won the '84 championship."

Hopkins, Mollen Say Quickness Can Offset Size

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

The way Marty Hopkins and Brett Mollen see it — Winter Park's offensive line can't be that much better than Apopka's. Lake Mary's two junior defensive standouts will get a first-hand look Friday night at Showalter Field.

The Rams, winners of the Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 titles, take on Winter Park, winners of the Metro Conference and District 4A-10 titles, in the Region 4A-5 football championship. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

"I think we can beat them," said Mollen, who turned in yet another outstanding performance in Friday's victory over Oviedo. "I know that they're huge but our (defensive) linemen are pretty quick, too."

Mollen, a linebacker, and Hopkins, one of the those quick linemen at tackle, said they figure the war may be won in the trenches where Lake Mary has been tough all year.

"We'll be ready for them," added Hopkins. "We faced a real big line against Apopka and still found the holes."

Hopkins found a couple holes Friday night. He sacked Oviedo quarterback John Morrow for a nine-yard loss on one play and helped prevent the sophomore into three interceptions. Mollen returned one interception for a TD while linebacker Don Meyer and defensive back Kirk Pritchard latched onto the other two.

The Lake Mary defensive line, comprised of Hopkins and John Rogers at the tackles, Darrin Washington at nose guard and ends Mike Graham or Walt White and Todd Nedrow has come of age in the past few games.

"The unsung heroes, that's our defensive line," said Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson.

That defense has four shutouts — Lyman, Bishop Moore, Apopka and Seminole — to its credit. It gave up 14 points to Spruce Creek, 13 points to Lake Deland, Lake Howell and Oviedo and 12 points to Mainland. That's just 69 points in 10 games.

Winter Park, which outlasted Apopka in a spectacular battle in last year's region showdown, has more going for it than its usual 250-pounders on the offensive line. Tailback Elroy Harris ran for three TDs in Friday's romp over Lake Howell in just one half.

If you use Lake Howell as a yardstick, Friday's game shouldn't be close. Winter Park bombarded the Hawks, 49-14, while Lake Howell handed Lake Mary its only loss, 10-7.

There are extenuating circumstances, however. Lake Mary was 4-0 entering the Lake Howell game and took the Hawks for granted. It cost the Rams a perfect regular season since they won the other nine games. Winter Park, which lost its opener to Lakeland (21-14) and then won nine straight, demolished a Lake Howell team which had been ravaged by injury. The Hawks were missing nine starters.

Winter Park, coached by Larry Gergley, started the season slowly, then put it together offensively and defensively. After the opening loss, the Wildcats trimmed Colonial, 16-9. Next, they ripped a weak Evans team, 41-9. There was nothing weak about the next opponent, though. Putting together its best showing of the year, Winter Park blanked 3A power Titusville, 24-0.

The Wildcats finished off their Metro schedule with victories over respected West Orange (21-0), hapless Boone (48-6), hopeless Edgewater (35-3), powerful Jones (32-22) and improving Oak Ridge (37-12). That's 96 points in 10 games or 9.6 per outing.

It must be pointed out, though, that many of Winter Park's game were tucked away early and second-teamers gave up the points while Rams had just one or two easy wins. "We're 9-1 and we had to fight for every one of those damn wins but Bishop Moore," said Nelson. "Damn right, it will be a fight Friday."

Uwe von Schamann hooked a 44-yard field goal to the left in the closing seconds Sunday which could have beaten the San Diego Chargers.

College Football

Whatever happens, Galen Hall, former offensive coordinator who took over when Charley Pell was canned after the third game because of the NCAA charges, has gone from interim to fulltime head coach of the Gators.

"It wasn't a tough choice," said Florida president Marshall Crieser. "Galen made the choice for us. It was the way he handled himself — with class."

Mississippi State helped Florida win the conference race by upsetting 12th-ranked Louisiana State, 16-14. Before Saturday, LSU, which tied Florida, 21-21, in early September, was tied with the Gators at the top of the league standings.

If the SEC bars Florida from the title, defending champion Auburn will be favored to take its place. The 19th-ranked Tigers, who play Alabama Dec. 1, beat 16th-ranked Georgia, 21-12, Saturday night to hike their conference record to 4-1.

"Depending on what decision is made at the conference level," said Auburn coach Pat Dye, "we'd be happy to represent the conference if the Sugar Bowl should invite us."

In other southeast action Saturday, Alabama, mired in its first losing season in 27 years, beat Cincinnati, 29-7; Tennessee trounced Ole Miss, 41-17; Vanderbilt was upset by Virginia Tech, 23-3; No. 2 South Carolina was upset, 38-21, by Navy; No. 18 Florida State used Rosey Snipes instead of injured Greg Allen to beat Southern Conference champion Tennessee-Chattanooga, 37-0; Tulane beat Memphis State, 14-9; and Southern Mississippi beat Louisville, 34-25. No. 17 Miami had an open date.

This week, with many teams having open dates, the schedule has Kentucky at Tennessee, Tulane at LSU, Ole Miss-Mississippi State at Jackson, and Boston College at Miami.

Kentucky gave Florida more than the Gators bargained for, even having a chance to tie before a procedure call wiped out a Wildcats' touchdown pass with 1:23 to play. Adrian White intercepted in the Florida end zone on the next play.

"All I thought was hold on," said White. "Then, I realized, that was the ball game."

Kicker Bobby Raymond accounted for 19 of Florida's points as he tied a conference record by kicking six field goals.

"We did this for all the other Florida teams that never won the SEC," said Gators linebacker Alonzo Johnson. "Before we came up here (to Lexington, Ky.) some former players told us we had to win because they had come so close and couldn't do it."

Artie Crosby kicked his third second-half field goal with 1:15 left to enable Mississippi State to beat LSU for the fifth straight year.

Fouts, McGee Hand Miami 1st Loss In Overtime, 34-28

United Press International

It was overtime, and the last person the Miami Dolphins wanted to see on the other side of the line of scrimmage was Dan Fouts.

In the 1981 playoffs, the San Diego quarterback passed for 433 yards in a memorable 41-38 overtime victory over Miami. Sunday, the bearded veteran came back to haunt the Dolphins, ending their bid for an undefeated season by rallying the Chargers to a 34-28 triumph.

Rookie Buford McGee's 25-yard touchdown burst with 3:17 gone in the extra period handed Miami its first loss after 11 straight victories, but it was Fouts who brought San Diego back from a two-touchdown deficit to tie in the final minute of regulation.

"You've got to hand it to Fouts," said Dolphins coach Don Shula. "He is one hell of a quarterback and he knows what he has to do to win."

Once the premier passer in the NFL, Fouts completed 37-of-55 passes for 371 yards in a shootout with his opponent Dan Marino, who hit 27-of-39 for 338 yards for the Dolphins.

Miami went untouched the first nine games of the season but showed signs of weakening the last two weeks despite narrow victories over the Jets and Eagles.

"We let this one get away and all of us are upset about it," said Shula, whose team missed a chance to clinch the AFC East. "I thought we were ready to play a good game. We haven't played a good one in three weeks."

Bills 14, Cowboys 3

At Buffalo, N.Y., rookie Greg Bell rushed for 208 yards — including an 89-yard TD scamper on the first play from scrimmage — to spark the Bills to their first victory. The loss dropped Dallas, 7-5, into a three-way tie for first place in the NFC East with Washington and the Giants.

Eagles 16, Redskins 10

At Philadelphia, rookie Andre Waters returned a kickoff 89 yards for a touchdown and Paul McFadden kicked three field goals for the Eagles, 5-6-1. Philadelphia forced six turnovers, including two fumbles by the usually surcharged John Riggins.

Giants 16, Cardinals 10

At East Rutherford, N.J., Ali Haji-Sheikh kicked three third-quarter field goals and the Giants capitalized on six Cardinal turnovers. New York held All-Pro wide receiver Roy Green to just one reception and picked off four Neil Lomax passes.

Burgess Settles For 5th Place; Jangvall Wins

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High swimmer Chuck Burgess said it would probably take a 1:47 to win his event — the 200 individual medley — in the 4A State Meet.

Burgess had the third fastest time in the preliminaries, 1:59.08, but couldn't top it in the finals as he turned in a 1:59.58 and finished fifth Saturday at the Swimming Hall of Fame Pool in Fort Lauderdale.

Burgess broke to an early lead during the fly and backstroke portions of the race and held a narrow lead at the halfway point, but the rest of the field moved ahead in the later stages, according to Seminole coach Donalyn Knight.

"Chuck was bothered by a cold and he might have already peaked in Friday's meet," said Knight. "But his breaststroke is not as good as his other strokes and that's when the others caught him."

"It was still his second-best time ever and one of the highest places ever for Seminole in a state meet."

Tom Harris of Riverview sailed to an impressive time of 1:58.58 to win the 200 IM. Lyman's Charlie Rose, who lost to Burgess in the district meet, finished fourth in the 200 IM with a time of 1:59.35. Rose came back later in the meet to take third place in the 100 backstroke with a time of 54.88.

The most impressive performance turned in by a Seminole County performer in the 4A meet was by Lake Brantley's Henrik Jangvall. The 6-2 foreign exchange student from Sweden took first place in the 500 freestyle with a time of 4:34.11 and second in the 200 free with a 1:41.67 clocking.

Lake Mary's Scott Wise came through with a fourth place finish in the 100 butterfly with a time of 53.11. Perennial powerhouse Winter Park won both the boys and girls titles at the 4A State Meet.

In the 3A State Meet, also at Fort Lauderdale, Oviedo's Andy Gill churned to an impressive time of 50.77, nearly four seconds ahead of the second place finisher, to easily win the 100 backstroke. Gill also took second place in the 100 freestyle with a time of 48.84.

Quick Lady Raiders Open With Edison

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Lacking in size and experience, Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders will depend on quickness and defense as they open the 1984 season Tuesday night at 5 against Edison Community College at the SCC Health Center. There is no charge for admission.

SCC, which features a number of former Seminole County high school players, has just two players returning from last year's team and the Lady Raiders' tallest player is 5-11.

"We have a challenge ahead of us," SCC coach Heana Gallagher said. "There has been a lot of enthusiasm in practice and I expect an exciting year."

SCC's two returning sophomores, Juana Coletti and Pam Lee, will be the team leaders. Coletti, a 5-11 forward-center out of Clearwater Central Catholic, averaged eight points per game last season and led the team in rebounding with nine per game. Lee, a 5-8 guard from St. Petersburg Gibbs, averaged over 10 points per game last season.

"I expect a lot of leadership from Juana (Coletti) and Pam (Lee)," Gallagher said.

The only other sophomore on the team, 5-8 guard Karen Bolin, played softball at SCC last season but not

J.C. Basketball

The remaining spots on the SCC roster are taken up by freshmen. Three freshmen will be in the starting lineup for the Lady Raiders including Tammy Johnson, Vikki McMurrer and Kim Lemon, who join Coletti and Lee.

Johnson, a 5-8 guard from Lake Howell High, sat out last year but Gallagher convinced her to come out for the 1984 season. McMurrer was one of the leading rebounders and scorers in the county her senior year at Lyman.

"She's very strong inside and has a good outside shot," Gallagher said of McMurrer.

Lemon, a 5-10 forward from Lyman High, sat out the last half of the 1983-84 season with academic problems but she was one of the county's top rebounders and scorers in the first half of the year.

"She has a lot of ability," Gallagher said of Lemon. "She's a strong rebounder and a real hustler."

Other freshmen who will see plenty of action this season include Elizabeth Dietrich, Raysha Roberts, Andrea Johnson and Ann Hopson.

Dietrich, a 5-9 forward out of Lake Howell High, is a tough player inside and was also one of the top free throw shooters in the county last season. "I expect some strong, physical play from Elizabeth," Gallagher said. "She also has a nice outside shot and is an excellent free throw shooter."

Roberts, a 5-8 forward, played on the DeLand High team last season that won the 4A state championship. Roberts is coming off knee surgery in the off season but Gallagher expects her to be an important player off the bench.

Johnson, a 5-5 guard from Lake Mary High, is not afraid to battle with the bigger players. "She's very aggressive," Gallagher said of Johnson. "She'll have a chance to play a lot of minutes this season."

Hopson, a 5-4 freshman from Edison Tech in New York City, will be the backup point guard.

patience and really matured as an athlete. She made a fantastic comeback."

Katie Sams, a sophomore, finished in the top three in the state for the second year in a row. She was second last year, without Politowicz in the race, and finished third Saturday with a time of 12:34.1.

Becky Baakin, also a sophomore, gave the Lady Saints three runners in the top 10 as she came in 10th with a time of 13:12.3.

But Lakeland Christian came up with four runners in the top 11 and its fifth runner came in ahead of Trinity's to sew up first place.

Completing Trinity Prep's top five Saturday were Stacy Johnson and Beth Sheffey. Johnson, only an eighth-grader, came in 23rd with a time of 13:41 and Sheffey, the only senior on the team, finished 31st at 13:51.4. Also running for the Lady Saints was Laura Barrett who finished 38th at 14:20.9.

"The whole team has been a pleasure to work with this year," Wharton said. "We've got most of the team coming back next year and that's what makes it exciting."

In the 1A boys meet, Fort Lauderdale Westminster Academy claimed the title while Trinity Prep finished seventh.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

LaBonte Confirms Suspicions, Earns NASCAR Championship

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — For young Kim LaBonte, the end of the 1984 NASCAR Grand National season confirmed all of her best suspicions about her husband.
"As far as I'm concerned, Terry has always been a champion," she said of her racing hubby. "This just made it official."
LaBonte, 28, finished third in Sunday's NASCAR 500 at Riverside International Raceway, but only needed to finish eighth in the final event of the season to become the youngest driver since Richard Petty in 1964 to become the national champion.
Geoff Bodine won the race when the Chevrolet of front-runner Bobby Allison blew a tire less than four laps from the finish.
The race was delayed nearly three hours by rain and was completed in almost total darkness.
LaBonte won his first major NASCAR championship by 65 points over Harry Gant, who finished eighth in the race. Bill Elliott, the only other driver beside Gant with a chance to overhaul LaBonte, finished fourth.

Winnipeg Captures Grey Cup

EDMONTON, Alberta (UPI) — The armchair quarterbacks who said the Winnipeg Blue Bombers had no chance to lose the 1984 Grey Cup were right. But they got a scare.
On a frozen field before a record Commonwealth Stadium crowd of 60,081 Sunday, Winnipeg overcame a first-quarter surge by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats to win 47-17 and capture their first Grey Cup in 23 years.
The Ticats roared into a 14-0 lead early in the second quarter held a 17-3 margin.

Illinois Stops Tisdale, Sooners

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Illinois Coach Lou Henson had three objectives when he sent his players onto the court against Oklahoma and Wayman Tisdale, the two-time All-America forward.
"We had to rebound. We had to defend them, particularly against the running game. We had to move the ball for the high percentage shot," said Henson.
"We did all extremely well," he said after Illinois shellacked Oklahoma, 81-64, Sunday in the sixth annual Tip-Off Classic, the opening game of the college basketball season.
Leading the Fighting Illini's attack was George Montgomery, who limited Tisdale to 19 while scoring 17 points and 10 rebounds of his own. He was named the game's MVP.

Lendl Takes European Tourney

ANTWERP, Belgium (UPI) — Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia collected $200,000 with a straight-sets victory over Sweden's Anders Jarryd Sunday but the biggest prize may be yet to come.
Lendl strolled to a 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 victory over Jarryd to capture the European Champions' Tennis Championship for the second time. If he wins this tournament again before 1991, he will walk away with one of the most spectacular trophies the game has to offer.
Lendl got a second leg on the "Antwerp Diamonds" Cup, a piece of art the size of a tennis racquet made of gold and 1,400 diamonds, worth an estimated $700,000. The glittering racquet goes to the player who wins the ECC three times between 1982 and 1991.

"Our outside shooting really hurt us," said Indian River coach Mike Leatherwood about Phil Drew's 0-9 effort. "But Seminole did a nice job. Their pressure defense was the difference."
SCC applied the defensive screws five minutes into the second half as Baird came up with two steals and Slim Johnson one which resulted in baskets. Slim feed Grace for a three-point play and the next time Grace came down the floor, Roper waved him in and opened his mouth.
Grace tried to shut it with a drive to the hoop on which Roper fouled him. The two exchanged words and were separated. Grace then converted both free throws for a 47-44 edge.
Artis Johnson followed with the big steal and drove in for the layup to put SCC in control, 49-44. "We had worked in practice on denying the pass to the middle and to the wing," lead. The run was directly related to Roper's absence as he Roper missed two minutes when he drew his fourth foul.

"When Kenny got his fourth foul, he had to be more careful," said Leatherwood about his center. "Seminole took advantage of it."
The Pioneers, though, didn't fold their covered wagon yet. After Grace hit another baseline from a spread offense for a nine-point lead, Drew and Roper each knocked down two free throws to pull within three.
Artis Johnson, however, combined with Grace and Tolbert to it away. First, Grace hit Artis on the break for a reverse layup. Tolbert then stole the ball and scored. Artis followed with a baseline jumper just over Roper's outstretched hand for a 68-59 bulge with 3:20 to play.
"It's about time," was how Art is summed up his performance. "The way I looked at it, he (Roper) was just another person my size. It was just like playing on the playground. We wanted to run them so the big man couldn't get back on defense."

SCC rebounded IR, 40-36. Bates' 13 was followed by Slim Johnson with 10. Slim also blocked two shots. Tolbert had a fine all-around game with 10 points, five rebounds, two assists and four steals.
Roper led all scorers with 21 points and eight boards and nine blocks. He blocked 14 against Valencia Friday night. Beffy Mike Bethel, an all-stater at Stuart Martin County, finished with 14 points and 10 boards. Terrance Gadsden, who led South Fork to the Oviedo Christmas Tournament title and a place at the state tournament last year, added eight points.
In the consolation game, former Oviedo standout Mike Schwab helped Brevard to a narrow 83-81 victory.
RAIDER RAP — As might be expected, SCC dominated the 10-member all-tournament team picked by the media and the coaches. Grace, Slim Johnson, Edwards and Bates were the Raiders. Roper, Bethel and Gadsden were named from Indian River. Moses Gordon was the lone Valencia choice while Mike Saunders and Mike Mays were tapped from Brevard.

'Mediocre' Watson Wins Again

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) — Despite a mediocre final round, Tom Watson played well enough in the early going to join some of golf's greats in winning the Australian Open golf championship Sunday at the Royal Melbourne Course.
Watson joins such illustrious company as Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, Arnold Palmer and Bill Rogers with his first Australian Open victory.
"I have wanted to win the Australian Open at Royal Melbourne for many years, and now I can say I have done it," Watson said.
The year's biggest money winner shot a par 73 to pocket the winner's check of $36,000 with a 7-under four-round total of 281, one stroke ahead of Australian Stanton, who closed with a 69.
In the final round, Watson looked in danger of losing the championship — even after firing a 67 in the first round. He faltered on the fourth hole with a double bogey, but two birdies on the back nine kept him in front.
Describing his final round as "mediocre" and giving his putting a rating of 4 on a 1-10 scale, Watson readily conceded he was not banking on a challenge from the reborn Stanton. Ten years ago, Stanton was the glamour boy of Australian golf before trying his luck on the American circuit.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Terrorists Massacre 17 Anti-Cocaine Agents

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Drug-trafficking terrorists massacred at least 17 Peruvian workers for a U.S.-financed program to wipe out the coca plant, the main ingredient in cocaine, at their jungle campsite, police said.

"This was an attempt to discourage the drug eradication program," President Fernando Belaunde said Sunday, calling the victims heroes.

Police said about 50 gunmen, believed to be members of a band of Colombian cocaine traffickers, burst into the Coca Reduction Organization's camp near Monzon, about 200 miles north of Lima, Saturday and opened fire with automatic weapons.

Although police in Tingo Maria, about 40 miles from Monzon, said 17 people were killed, Belaunde said three other men working in the program as topographers also died.

Police said three workers were critically wounded and seven escaped injury by hiding during the attack.

The $30 million anti-coca project is being focused in the area along the Huallaga River, where most of the nation's illegal coca is grown. Peru produces nearly half the world's coca.

Marcos Undergoes Surgery

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — A former information minister today reported that President Ferdinand Marcos secretly underwent major surgery last week, and a high-ranking government official confirmed he had been hospitalized.

Francisco Tatad wrote in the financial daily Business Day that Marcos, 67, reportedly entered the Capital Kidney Center around midnight Tuesday and later underwent either a kidney or heart operation.

A government official, who asked to remain anonymous, confirmed Marcos had been hospitalized but was in no danger of dying.

The palace had no comment to repeated requests for information.

Long rumored to be suffering from a kidney ailment, Marcos has not been seen in public since Tuesday when he met for 90 minutes with visiting Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., who told reporters the following day Marcos had looked well.

Marcos' powerful wife, Imelda, also has not been seen in public for several days.

Burton Died A Rich Man

LONDON (UPI) — Actor Richard Burton, who friends believed had died penniless, left the bulk of an estate worth more than $4 million to his widow and fifth wife, Sally Burton, a newspaper reported.

Under Swiss law, the contents of wills are kept secret unless released by the family. Burton, 58, died three months ago in Switzerland of a brain hemorrhage.

The Sunday Mirror newspaper, quoting estate auditors, said Sunday that Burton left wife Sally, 38, the bulk of money and property worth $4.58 million.

The newspaper said the estate, scattered over three countries, included more than $2 million in a Bermuda bank, $1 million in property, nearly $100,000 in investments, some $380,000 in artworks and personal effects and $20,000 in residual payments from old films.

Burton's four brothers and three sisters in Wales each received $15,000 and bequests were also made to his three daughters, Maria, Kate and Jessica, the paper said.

Visas Reportedly Denied Because Activists Would Not Be Muzzled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials of the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation said the State Department offered to give visas to four Salvadoran human rights advocates if the foundation "could guarantee their silence" while visiting the United States to receive an award.

The visas were denied when the foundation refused to cancel a speaking tour by the four women, said Patricia Dertan, a member of the foundation award committee.

The four Salvadoran women are part of a group scheduled to receive a $30,000 foundation award this week as representatives of the Committee of Mothers and Relatives of Prisoners, Disappeared Persons and Politically Assassinated Persons of El Salvador.

State Department spokeswoman Sandra McCarty said Saturday four committee members were found ineligible for visas under an act prohibiting issuance of visas "to people who advocate the use of violence."

"The decision was based on the applicants' personal

Reagan Still Shooting For Balanced Budget

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — President Reagan, on vacation for the week while his advisers try to thrash out next year's spending plan, is still striving for a balanced budget by the end of his second term, a spokesman says.

Although there are reports that some of Reagan's economic advisers have given up on balancing the budget by the end of the president's second term, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Sunday that the administration is still committed to balancing the budget by 1989, when Reagan leaves office.

"Our target is to reduce the deficit as far as we can, as fast as we can. Our goal is to balance the budget," Fitzwater said.

Reagan, who spent a second straight weekend at his mountaintop California ranch, was portrayed as detached from the wrangling over the budget that is occurring among top advisers in Washington.

"He is reading and rejuvenating himself for the second term," Fitzwater said.

Reagan was prevented from his usual early morning horseback ride Sunday by rain, but later started work on an underground sprinkler system for a pasture adjacent to the ranch house.

Fitzwater said Reagan, who will stay at his 688-acre ranch until next Sunday, "is getting ready for the budget struggle with Congress." A first set of specific options will be presented to him on his return to Washington.

The Washington Post reported Sunday that the administration is looking at a record $1 trillion budget proposal for fiscal 1986 and has settled on cutting the $200 billion deficit in half by 1989 instead of going for a balanced budget. Fitzwater, however, said there may be as many as 40 people making proposals, and the Post article was based on only one of them.

The Post said that even trying to reduce the annual deficit by half, to about $100 billion, would require deep cuts in social programs already slashed in the first term because Reagan has ruled out tax increases and deep cuts in his military spending program.

One area the administration is considering cutting, a New York Times report said Sunday, is in Medicaid payments to some states where health-care costs are considered high. Medicaid is the government health care program for the poor.

The proposal is part of a broader welfare reform and budget-cutting plan unofficially modeled after a study by the Heritage Foundation, a conservative think tank with close ties to the White House. Copies of the report were said to have been circulated within the White House, but Fitzwater said the document has "no official standing."

Administration officials previously were reported to be considering a proposal for fundamental changes in government payments to doctors under Medicare, one of several major benefit programs targeted for possible cuts in the fiscal 1986 budget now being prepared.

exceeding the 35 mph speed limit while westbound on Silver Lake Drive and did not see an approaching northbound train. His car was traveling about 50 mph and the six-car train 29 mph, the report said. After impact, it took the train about 300 feet to slide to a halt, its last car near the mangled truck a few feet from the crossing.

Homicide investigator W.W. Wolf today said one of victims had been drinking but he would not identify which one until after he turned his report over to the State Attorney's Office.

"The picketing is not going to help the kids, but it will help several others," said Dottie Hall, a friend of the family and mother of one of the girls demonstrating.

Mrs. Hall was enthusiastic about the young protesters and their determination to bring about a change at the crossing.

"I think it is fantastic, the way they are involved. They have spent a lot of time at this and now they are angry. They want to do something about it," she said.

The young people, from teenagers to young adults, agreed that they were there to prod officials into action with the signatures and publicity. They were also critical about how slow change can occur.

"What if it had been the mayor's car that was hit or a commissioner's. They would have been here really quick," said Chris Pope, 24, of Altamonte Springs.

"I think they would have looked into it a little faster," he said. "We just don't want to see it happen again."

James Blevin, 23, of Pine Hills, said the signature petition will be given to an attorney representing one of the victim's family and presented to the county commission.

"All three of them (the victims) were close friends to all of us. We want lights put, at least flashing lights, and a stop sign," he said.

He said most of the people who stopped at the crossing over the weekend signed the petition. Two of the protesters were collecting signatures door to door in the neighborhood.

According to a state transportation official, the crossing is one of 5,200 in Florida that is on a priority list to have signals installed.

The crossing was 726th on the list and was not scheduled for "signalization" until late 1985 or 1986. Light installation will probably be moved up because of the accident, according to Dick Russell of the Florida Department of Transportation.

It may be improved next year, he said.

Russell also said it is the presence of trees and undergrowth at the crossing that makes it hazardous.

But foliage was not the cause of the fatal accident, he said. A southbound train, however, would not become visible to the driver of a westbound vehicle until it were 27 feet from the crossing, he said.

A title search and county commission minutes would have to be checked to determine who is responsible for the view-blocking vegetation, according to Paul Magnan, civil engineer in charge of water management. Seaboard Railroad officials maintain it is the county's responsibility to remove the trees and bushes blocking the view at the tracks.

Several of the picketers said the accident has affected how they drive.

"Believe me," said David Dixon, 18, of Altamonte Springs. "I will stop at train tracks and I will drive slow."

Surgery Often Only Way To Get Rid Of Fibroids

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have fibroid tumors in the uterus. They are causing irregular periods. I'm 48. My family doctor wants to put me on male hormones, but my gynecologist said absolutely not.

with a herpes virus eight years prior to this, could it remain dormant that long? More than anything else, I would like to know if he will have a problem with herpes in the future. Is there some way one could get completely over it even if it is only herpes I?

Is surgery needed to remove fibroids or will a diet shrink them? What effects will a fibroid tumor have on the bladder and bowels?

DEAR READER — Perhaps you will be less concerned if you realize that from 30 to 90 percent of the population has antibodies proving that they have had herpes I. These antibodies develop early in life because herpes I can be transmitted by kissing. Someone in the 30 to 90 percent of the population that has herpes antibodies may kiss a baby or young child, and the infection follows. Of course, it is more Fibroids often decrease in size during menopause, when female hormones decrease.

If by regular periods you really mean you have a bleeding problem, then you may need to have the fibroids removed surgically. Even small fibroids, if strategically located in the uterus, can cause severe bleeding.

Small fibroids may be removed without removing the uterus. That may be the best choice for a young woman who still wants to have children. A hysterectomy may be the best choice for a woman who has finished having children.

You will want to read about fibroids in The Health Letter 14-12, Hysterectomy, Cystocele and Rectocele, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There is no diet that will eliminate fibroids. Surgery is the only suitable choice if fibroids have to be eliminated. The symptoms they cause depend on the size and location of the tumors. Small ones usually don't cause problems, except those that cause bleeding. Rather large ones may cause pressure on the bladder and bowels. Some can become truly huge and the pressure may become a significant medical factor.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What would cause a 12-year-old to get a fever blister on the upper lip? No one else in the family has ever had one. If he had contact

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
The Fall North American Championships in San Diego are in full swing today, with the finals of the Life Master Men's and Women's Pairs taking place. The results of those two prestigious events will not be known until late tonight. Whoever wins will surely be able to tell of an occasional ridiculous contract brought in by good luck. But don't forget good bridge. For an example of both, look at the current deal.

Since North and South were using the negative double, North's double showed enough values to be able to respond and four cards in the heart suit. South was aggressive to bid three no-trump, since a jump to two no-trump would have been adequate. Stammering North might now have contented himself with six diamonds, but tried for all the marbles with six no-trump. The club 10 was a good opening shot. East won the king and returned a spade. Declarer won the spade ace, played the club queen to dummy's ace and continued with the diamond jack. East covered with the queen, and declarer won the ace as West showed out. Declarer now played a heart to the jack (holding his breath a little here), cashed the club jack on which he pitched a small spade, and proceeded to run the diamonds. Eventually poor West had to dump the spade king or let a heart go. Either way declarer had 12 tricks.

What if East had not covered the jack of diamonds with the queen? I imagine South would have had a bad score, and we would be looking at a different bridge hand.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
NOVEMBER 20, 1984

Projects that you conceive or originate could work out fortunately for you this coming year. When you think you have a good idea, get it to people who have pipelines to the marketplace.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) An old, unresolved family problem may be resurrected again today. It won't help matters if you still refuse to alter your past position. Want to find out to whom you're best suited romantically? Send for your matchmaker set by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Reveals compatibilities for all signs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Make your imagination work for you today, not against you. Try to envision yourself a winner, instead of seeing yourself coming out on the short end.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be on guard this evening so a dispute does not ensue with a pal over something material. Place friendship notches above worldly goods.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Evaluate your objectives and goals wisely today or you might waste a lot of time and effort struggling for something you may not need or want.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Friends may find you a trifle difficult to get along with today because of your reluctance to reveal what's really disturbing you. Be forthright.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be doubly careful if you have to conduct financial matters later in the day. If you're less alert, your chances for costly mistakes increase.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Have faith in your own abilities today but by the same token, don't underestimate your competition. Poor judgment could turn a winning situation into a losing one.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Confrontations can be avoided today if you're not too critical of others or try to remake them in your own mold. Let each express his individuality.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't allow yourself to be pressured by others today to abandon or lower your standards for their selfish purposes. Abide by your ideals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A failure to cooperate with one who has been supportive in the past could jeopardize this relationship or perhaps even sever it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Keep a close eye on co-workers today who are using dangerous tools or materials. Be sure that they are taking sensible safety measures at all times.

From The Oven

Baking Today A Far Cry From Yesteryear's Obsolete Techniques

Memories, like copper, develop their own patina. Yesteryear's home baking is fondly remembered, yet the hard work is conveniently forgotten.

For grandmother, making cookies was a test of both patience and strength. Before electric mixers, homemakers creamed sugar and eggs together by hand for up to an hour. Both hand mixing and rug beating helped women build up their arms for lifting 100-pound bags of flour. In those days, flour bags were considered a convenience for the 196-pound drums they replaced!

In the good old days, good bread was more a matter of having a knack than of having a recipe. Just determining the temperature was a trick. Granted the wood stove was a step up from baking in a fireplace, but neither had a gauge. Sprinkling drops of water on a hot stove or holding a hand near the flame were two common ways to test temperature.

Another technique was to place a spoonful of flour in the oven for one minute. If the flour browned evenly, the oven was ready for baking bread. If the flour scorched, the heat had to be reduced by a tedious system of opening and closing the damper. The same method was used to regulate the heat in these temperamental contraptions.

Lucky for us, products have improved.

Not so long ago, homemakers had to grow and culture yeast. Today, pre-measured packets of quick-rising yeast are available in a convenient whole wheat blend for all-purpose baking.

Lucky for us, techniques have changed.

Bread making no longer is done entirely by hand. Electric mixers are used for beating. This all-important process develops gluten, the bread's framework. Kneading, one of the key steps to a good loaf of bread, can now be done with a food processor.

At one time, bread took all afternoon to raise. First, the dough had to double in bulk twice in the bowl. Then the loaves had to raise one more time. Rising took as long as four hours, assuming the kitchen was toasty warm. Now the same amount of dough can be proofed in a microwave oven in about a half hour.

About the only thing that hasn't changed over the years is the good, old-fashioned flavor. Lucky for us.

Today's home baking is many times easier. Ranges have replaced the wood stove. Flour is available in sturdy, convenient five- and ten-pound bags. Ninety-five percent of the bread we eat now comes prepacked from commercial bakeries. Still, nothing can ever compare to the aroma of whole wheat loaves as they come fresh from the oven.

GIANT FROSTED MOLASSES COOKIES

- 2 cups Gold Medal whole wheat blend flour
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
- 1/4 cup light molasses
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda

Frosting (below)
Heat oven to 375°. Mix all ingredients except frosting in large bowl thoroughly. Drop dough by scant 1/4 cupfuls about 3 inches apart onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Flatten to 1/4-inch thickness with bottom of glass dipped in sugar. Bake until almost no indentation remains when touched, 10-12 minutes.

Immediately remove from cookie sheet; cool on wire rack. Spread with frosting, and if desired, sprinkle with coarsely chopped pecans. 14 cookies.

Frosting: Mix 1 1/2 cups powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon light molasses and 4-5 teaspoons water until smooth and of desired consistency.

ZUCCHINI-NUT BREAD

- 1 1/2 cups Gold Medal whole wheat blend flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup shredded zucchini
- 1/2 cup raisins, if desired
- 1/4 cup coarsely chopped nuts
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
- 2 eggs

Nut Crunch Topping (below)
Heat oven to 350°. Grease bottom only of loaf pan, 8 1/2x4 1/2x2 1/4 or 9x5x3 inches. Beat all ingredients except Nut Crunch Topping in large bowl on low speed, scraping bowl constantly, 30 seconds. Beat on medium speed, scraping bowl frequently, 45 seconds. Pour into pan. Sprinkle with Nut Crunch Topping.

Bake until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, 55-80 minutes. (If topping browns too quickly, cover loosely with aluminum foil during last 15 minutes of baking.) Cool 10 minutes; loosen sides of loaf from pan. Remove from pan; cool completely before slicing. Wrap tightly and store at room temperature up to 4 days, or refrigerate up to 10 days. 1 loaf.

Nut Crunch Topping: Mix 1/2 cup packed brown sugar, 1/2 chopped nuts and 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon.

Zucchini-Nut Muffins: Grease bottoms only of medium muffin cups, 2 1/4x1 1/4 inches. Fill cups about 3/4 full; sprinkle with Nut Crunch Topping. Bake until tops spring back when touched lightly, 22-25 minutes. Serve warm. About 15 muffins.

Note: Refrigerate remaining muffin batter while first pan of muffins is baking. Just before baking, fill cool muffin cups and sprinkle with Nut Crunch Topping.

CHOCOLATE CRUNCH-TOPPED CAKE

- 2 cups Gold Medal whole wheat blend flour
- 1 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 cup milk
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 3 eggs
- Chocolate Crunch Topping (below)

Heat oven to 350°. Grease and flour rectangular pan, 13x9x2 inches. Beat all ingredients except Chocolate Crunch Topping in large bowl on low speed, scraping bowl constantly, 30 seconds. Beat on high speed, scraping bowl occasionally, 3 minutes. Pour into pan. Sprinkle with Chocolate Crunch Topping. Bake until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, 35-40 minutes.

Chocolate Crunch Topping: Mix 1/2 cup chopped pecans, 1/4 cup packed brown sugar and 1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate chips.

'Fatal Vision' Called Accurate; MacDonald Protests

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Despite charges by convicted triple murderer Dr. Jeffrey MacDonald that the television show "Fatal Vision" will hinder his attempts for a new trial, the mother of MacDonald's slain wife says the show is accurate.

The two-part mini-series, which began Sunday, is based on Joe McGinniss' book about the 1970 murders of MacDonald's pregnant wife, Colette, and his two young daughters and MacDonald's subsequent conviction.

Mildred Kassab said she and her husband, Freddy, had seen the film several times before its broadcast.

"We were assured it would be done in good taste — no bodies or anything, and there aren't,"

she said. "I think it's exceptionally well-done. A few things have been changed, but they had to for the movie. But the evidence and everything is exactly right."

"My own pictures in my mind are so much worse than anything I could be shown," Kassab said. "I was familiar with the house and I know what happened there. I was shown some pictures in court."

"There wasn't going to be anything they could put on television that could be worse than that."

The New York couple believed their son-in-law was innocent when Army investigators first suspected MacDonald of the murders at his Fort Bragg home. But the Kassabs said they eventually became convinced of his guilt and led the fight to have the former Green Beret indicted.

MacDonald was sentenced in 1979 to three consecutive life terms, which he is serving at a federal prison in Bastrop, Texas.

"This kind of thing either gets you in the head or in the body," Mildred Kassab said. "But it's what we wanted to do. It's what we had to do."

MacDonald's attorneys, who are seeking another trial for their client, failed in an attempt to get NBC to delay airing "Fatal Vision." In an interview last week with USA Today, MacDonald said he had read the script, which he called

"terrible — a novel masquerading as non-fiction, extremely inaccurate at best."

"How can I ever get a fair trial?" MacDonald said.

U.S. District Judge Franklin Dupree will hear final arguments Jan. 14 in MacDonald's motion for a new trial.

MacDonald, who is receiving a percentage of the profits from the book and the movie, has steadfastly maintained his innocence. He claims he was bound and stabbed 17 times by four intruders, who invaded his home and attacked his family, chanting "Acid is groovy. Kill the pigs."

Bishops' Letter Focuses Attention On Plight Of Poor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Roman Catholic bishops have unveiled the first draft of their controversial pastoral letter on the economy and underscored their intent to remain a key player in public policy debates on a host of issues.

In what may have been a watershed meeting last week of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, the nearly 300 prelates responded warmly to the first draft of the controversial pastoral on the economy as well as to the affirmation that the church would not play "single-issue" politics but press a wide spectrum of "life" issues ranging from abortion and capital punishment to peace and poverty.

At the same time, however, Bishop James Malone of Youngstown, Ohio, president of the bishops' conference, acknowledged intense criticism of the pastoral from conservative "free enterprise" Catholics and said the church faces a major task in building a constituency for the poor.

"In the general public, there is not a constituency that is interested in the poor," Malone said.

"There is a need to create a public opinion that cares."

But, he added, "what we're talking about in the pastoral is the quality of people's lives."

The pastoral, 112-pages of text and 24 of notes and additional material, outlines a biblical vision of the dignity of each human and then calls for an economic system that assures that dignity.

And, it argues, systems are morally measured by how they affect the poor.

"The fulfillment of the basic needs of the poor, in this nation and in the rest of the global community, is of the highest priority," it said.

To meet those needs, the draft calls for extending the principles of political democracy to the economy — "a new American experiment" — but conservatives, who believe unfettered free enterprise will trickle down benefits to the poor, and the notion of economic democracy spelled out by the bishops to be socialist.

While the document is expected to be extensively rewritten in response to bishops' written comments, the first round of discussion drew enthusiastic response from a dozen prelates.

Left Behind

This broken down state Department of Transportation mower has been sitting by state Road 46 near Upsala Road west of Sanford for so long that it is being overgrown with the weeds it was designed to cut. A previous effort to load the mower on a transport to take it to the Cocoa maintenance shop failed, according to Steve Nunnery of the sub-maintenance office in Oviedo, but he is expecting workers to come back for it any day now. "They have their troubles there, too," he said.

Jury In Murder Trial Won't See 'Fatal Vision'

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) — The jury in the murder trial of a man accused of the ax-slayings of his family is hearing the case at night to ensure they won't be influenced by the television program "Fatal Vision."

Winnebago County Illinois Judge Richard Banner ordered the unusual night sessions Sunday and tonight so the jury would not be able to watch the mini-series.

The movie is about Jeffrey MacDonald, a former Green Beret doctor convicted of killing his pregnant wife and two children with a club, an ice pick and a knife. MacDonald, who blamed drug-crazed burglars for the deaths in their home near Fort Bragg, N.C., in 1970, is serving three consecutive life sentences in a federal prison at Bastrop, Texas, and is appealing his case.

In the case in Illinois, David Hendricks has been on trial for eight weeks on charges of killing his wife and three children with an ax.

Court sessions were scheduled from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m. EST Sunday and 2:30 p.m. until 11 p.m. tonight to make it impossible for jurors to watch the two-night screening of "Fatal Vision."

Witnesses called by the defense Sunday night testified about what they described as the loving relationship Hendricks had with his family.

Prosecutors charge Hendricks killed Susan, 30, Rebekkah, 9, Benjamin, 7, and Grace, 5, because of conflicts over his fundamentalist Christian beliefs and his desire for other women.

Their bodies were found in the Hendricks' Bloomington home Nov. 7, 1983. Hendricks said his wife went to a baby shower, so he took the children out for dinner, then tucked them in bed and waited for his wife to come home.

When she returned, Hendricks said, he left for a business trip to Wisconsin. Hendricks, 30, was questioned by police after the bodies were found, and arrested nearly one month later.

Defense attorney John Long said Saturday that lawyers for both sides did not want jurors influenced by the telecast, even though the cases are not identical.

Archbishop Attacks Military For State Of Siege

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The head of Chile's Roman Catholic Church denounced the military regime for creating a "climate of oppression" in the most sweeping criticism from the church since a state of siege was declared Nov. 8.

Archbishop Juan Francisco Fresno Sunday said the crackdown on dissent was a "serious setback for peace and understanding" and called on Chilean Catholics to fast and pray Friday.

"The country is under state of siege. The bishops of Chile have been strongly criticized and our authority placed in doubt by the government. One of my vicars has been barred from returning to the country. The poor are suffering economic hardships. There is a climate of oppression and tension," Fresno said.

In a pastoral letter read in Santiago churches, he also warned members of President Augusto Pinochet's military government they could be excommunicated if they continue to undermine the authority of the church and blame it for the country's political crisis.

In most parish churches around Santiago, congregations stood and applauded after hearing the pastoral message. But as Fresno read his letter during midday mass in the Santiago Cathedral, 40 government sympathizers walked out, shouting, "Keep the church out of politics" and demonstrated on the steps outside.

In Vatican City, Pope John Paul II prayed for a return to normalcy in Chile.

"In memory of the noble traditions of democratic life and Christian obligation, by which is marked its history, I pray that serenity, concord and peace might be able to return to the country, as it is in the common aspirations of all its citizens," he said.

In his eight-page letter, Fresno criticized press censorship, mass raids on shanty towns and hundreds of arrests by the government since the state of siege declaration.

Fresno also denounced the government's decision to bar the head of the church's human rights organization, Spanish Jesuit Ignacio Gutierrez, from returning to the country from Europe.

Pinochet two weeks ago placed Chile under state of siege for the first time since 1978 to counter mounting protests and violence against his 11-year-old military government.

The state of siege suspends habeas corpus and allows the government to censor the press, open mail and restrict freedom of assembly.

At least 800 shanty dwellers and leftist opponents have been arrested in the past two weeks and many have been confined to a prison camp in the extreme north of Chile.

Outbreak Of AIDS Sparks Attacks On Gays

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Homosexuals in Sydney are being attacked by members of a "violent element" that blames them for a nationwide outbreak of the often-fatal disease AIDS, authorities said today.

State health officials attended a conference on AIDS Sunday in Melbourne to discuss how to handle the crisis, which erupted about a week ago when the supply in the nation's only blood bank was discovered to be contaminated.

In Sydney, where a majority of Australia's homosexuals live, officials said fear of the disease has spread to dangerous levels, with homosexuals being attacked by people who blame them for the crisis.

"A violent element has already beaten up some of the gay community," said Terry Goulden, director of Sydney's Gay Counseling Service. "This element is preparing to take out their hostility on gays, who feel they are solely responsible."

"There are many employers threatening their gay staff with the sack and gays being ostracized by fellow employees."

Goulden said today he fears the situation will get worse in the coming days and warned of more attacks on homosexuals.

Authorities said at least 18 people — including two Queensland newborns who died — have had transfusions with the AIDS-tainted blood.

Officials suspect a 27-year-old AIDS victim from Queensland who donated blood contaminated the supply in the blood bank run by the Red Cross.

Doctors around the world are researching the cause and a possible cure for AIDS — Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, a disease that robs the body of its immunity and leaves it susceptible to often-deadly diseases.

Medical experts suspect the condition is transferred through blood products. A majority of the cases have been found in homosexuals, with hemophiliacs also a high-risk group. In the last year, nine of 26 known AIDS victims in Australia have died.

The situation has so worried Australian authorities that they have warned homosexuals not to donate blood.

Study: Fewer Killings Follow Reports Of Murder Sentences

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — News reports of sentences imposed on convicted murderers lead to a short-term decrease in killings, a published report says.

The study, by two University of California sociologists, also found that media coverage of prizefights, where violence against an individual is rewarded, leads to an increase in murder rates in the following days.

The study, published in the current issue of the University of Pennsylvania's Journal of Communication, was conducted by David Phillips and John Hensley.

Using homicide data from the National Center for Health Statistics for 1973-1979, the researchers examined the timing of more than 140,000 murders, most involving white killers and white victims.

"Four days after a person is sentenced to life imprisonment or to death or is executed for committing murder, there is a significant decrease of 3.32 percent in homicides of white victims," they said.

The researchers called the finding "the first clear evidence that publicized punishments have a short-term deterrent."

They added, "At the present, we have no evidence that life sentences have a significantly weaker deterrent effect than death sentences or executions. This tends to weaken one argument in favor of capital punishment."

The researchers also examined the impact of media coverage of prizefights.

"The prizefight ... is at the opposite end of a continuum from a successfully prosecuted murder trial, which heavily punishes one person for inflicting physical violence on another," they wrote. "On the third day after a heavyweight prizefight, the number of homicides rises significantly, by an average of 3.54 percent," the study found. "With respect to verdicts of innocent, the number of homicides does not fluctuate significantly in either direction on the day of or just after an acquittal," they said.

Terrell Bell

'Education Budget Should Be Spared Cuts'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring that education is "just as important as national defense," departing Education Secretary Terrell Bell wants a fiscal 1986 budget of $17.9 billion — the same as this year — despite President Reagan's calls for cuts in federal spending.

While the White House is likely to reduce his figure, Bell predicted in an interview that since Congress has the final say there will be no decrease in federal money for education.

"What I'd like to see is at least level funding," Bell told United Press International in a weekend telephone interview from his home in Salt Lake City.

"There are some areas that could use more resources, but given the deficit, if it stays at $17.9 (billion), that will be pretty darn good," he said.

"I know the president faces a terrible burden of this deficit," Bell said. "But we're going to be sending the wrong signal to all those trying to turn education around if we don't come up with the right proposal."

"Education is just as important as national defense. It is just as critical to our future," he said.

Budget director David Stockman told Reagan last week the federal deficit for this fiscal year is headed for $210 billion — a much higher figure than earlier projections.

Reagan proposed cuts in money for education during his three years in office, but each time Congress refused. The resulting increases did not keep pace with inflation, however.

Last February, Reagan proposed his first increase in the department's budget — $15.5 billion, a 1 percent rise over the year before. Congress kicked up the number to $17.9 billion.

Bell, 63, a former high school teacher and principal, announced his resignation as education secretary on Nov. 8, becoming the first member of Reagan's Cabinet to decline a second term.

When Bell joined the Cabinet, he had a mandate to help the president abolish the Education Department. But, by spurring education reform, he strengthened it.
