A Gamblers' War

Miami is a funny place. In a normal year crime goes unmolested throughout the winter months. It makes little difference who happens to be sheriff or chief of police, law violators just about have their own way during January, February, and March as long as any winter visitors remain, and then in the Spring come the annual cleanup drives with the same regularity as the clearance sales of the merchants.

But something seems to have gone wrong this winter. The cleanup drive is getting off to a premature start. January was scarcely here, tourists had just begun to arrive, when the chief of police began his raids on the innumerable gambling dens which infest the city. Twenty-two arrests were made the first night and a vast number of roulette wheels and other apparatus were seized.

Judging from the comments in the Miami Daily News, we gather that the police chief has neither the support of the public safety director under whose direct supervision the chief is supposed to be, or the governing authorities of the city. At the present time an effort is being made by the commission in the courts to have the chief removed.

It is indicated that perhaps the reason for the upheaval in the orderly and systematic administration of crime in Miami is due in large measure to the legalization of one particular form of gambling. The institution of the pari-mutuel system of betting at the horse and dog races was contemplated to eliminate other forms of gambling, but strangely enough it has not done so.

With the opening of the horse track in Coral Gables a vast horde of professional gamblers and rackets of all types descended upon Miami. Some of them, of course, patronize the race track but most of them have either opened their own establishments somewhere in the city or spent their time playing at the bootleg apparatus. To such an extent has this been done that the legalized gambling at Tropical Park is suffering from poor business and the revenues which the state expected to derive through its split on the gambling receipts are not materializing.

The roulette and dice gamblers apparently see no reason why pari-mutuel gambling should be permitted under the law and their particular form of gambling should be abolished. They insist upon operating. In this position they apparently have the support of the city authorities with the exception of the police chief. The legally operated racetrack meanwhile is threatened with heavy financial losses, and inevitable bankruptcy unless something is done, on account of the severe competition of the illegal gambling operators.

At the same time the life of the police chief has been threatened unless he stops his drive against the bootleg gamblers and a guard is being maintained over the plant of the Daily News which has exposed the unlawful gambling.

Evidently there is no compromise with vice

Keeping Your Balance

Every time some person suddenly becomes heir to a vast sum of money or wins a sweepstake prize and calmly announces that he is going to keep his job at the mill or at the bank, people start to talk. "I know what I'd do if I had all that money," they say. They get a vicarious thrill out of deciding what they would do with the money. And the calm person who receives the big bequest or prize and sticks at work is talked about for days.

These days people think when we come into money that we should do something unusual. We would be expected to announce a trip around the world, purchase of a specially built motor car, acquisition of a castle on the Rhine or the like. At least most of our friends would have that feeling. And if we told them we would put the money into some good security or a bank they would tell their friends something was wrong with our heads.

A balance is a great thing to keep. It's a fine thing to keep in a bank and also a fine thing to retain in one's own mind. Suppose you earned $40 a week on Monday and had a job in a factory. If at noon Tuesday you were told you had inherited a half million dollars, ordinarily speaking you would be the same person on Wednesday that you had been on Monday. Your bank balance might be bigger. But how would your mental balance be? Can you figure out any good reason why, beyond uttering a few cheers and receiving a few hearty handshakes you should be any different on Wednesday?

A wise man knows how to handle money. Often he makes it talk more pointedly than a fool makes his money scream. You can gain money, and you can lose gold, but if you retain your balance the world will always look like a pretty good place to you, rich or poor.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

The recital given recently in the auditorium of the High School by some of the pupils of the school and Mrs. Fannie S. Munson's piano students, under the auspices of the School Improvement Association and the South Park committee was a delightful success in the pleasure afforded the audience by the charming manner in which the young performers rendered their selections on the program. Those taking part on the program were: the Misses Essie Purdon, Lucie Chappell, Margaret Davis, Margaret Coffey, Joie Stinson, Maud Alice Wagner, Eleanor Herrig, Ada Wagner, Clarence Mahoney and Edward Schutt.

Fifty thousand new settlers in Florida during 1932 is the prediction made by the heads of 300 colony organizations, according to figures gathered by J. D. Ramsey, who is representing Florida at the National Land Show being held in Chicago. Every good organization interviewed reports tremendous business and a class of buyers considered above the average and calculated to benefit the state. An effort is being made to send to the state only those financially equipped to do the improvement work on small farms.

Validity Of Arsenic Law Upheld By Court

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 7. — (A.P.)—The state supreme court today upheld the validity of the Florida law which prohibits the use of arsenic or any of its derivatives on bearing citrus trees. The court, however, expressly declined to pass on whether the use of fertilizer containing arsenic as a well treatment constituted a violation of law and whether the act will be held under the construction. The court suggested the feature of the case might be cured by the passage of a legislative act prohibiting the manufacture and sale of fertilizer.

GOVERNMENT ECONOMY IN 1932

FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

Quite a number of Florida municipalities and counties are providing evidence of intention to limit the economy in government administration during the year now beginning, and as has not been practiced in the past. In a number of present instances, the practice of economy in the administration of public affairs is compulsory. The limit of public spending has been reached, and as also has the ability of the people to pay taxes, that have mounted higher and higher in practically every year in the past decade. Public debts have been piled up in such an enormous extent as to be a source of worry not only to public officials but, more particularly, to the taxpayers. Where to get the money with which to pay these debts, while at the same time providing sufficient funds with which to carry on local government, has been and continues to be more than a taxing problem.

The situation above referred to is more than serious. Happily, it is not so serious as to produce feelings of hopelessness. This is indicated by the fact that ways and means are being found for overcoming present financial conditions and for the avoidance of similar situations in the future. Frugality of economy, it is being found, is the one way out of these difficulties, and that is the plan that is being adopted wherever there is serious intent and desire to improve financial conditions and at the same time release from bondage the taxpayers who are suffering because of the constant and increasing drain on their private resources.

Day after day reports are published in the newspapers telling of efforts that are being made by governing bodies, state, city and county, to bring relief to the taxpayers. Public expenditures are being reduced to a minimum where the desire is strongest to lighten the burden of taxes. Where this desire is not strong, relieving efforts fail to accomplish very much along the line indicated. Public officials, in many instances, have given themselves so thoroughly to hog-winking the people that they find

BANKRUPT CHICAGO

Chicago is in a grim situation. With its income virtually cut off for several years, it is bankrupt, and there is no prospect that it can be reorganized in the near future.

The taxpayers have struck against the high assessments and rates, and have fought the legality of the methods taken. Chicago is experiencing what other communities and the nation may experience on a large scale unless officials, local and national, curtail expenditures and reduce taxes. The people are revolting at last.

The troubles of Chicago were increased by the decision of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki holding that the assessment rolls for 1924 and 1925 were fraudulent and invalid, largely on the ground that personal property had escaped its share of the burden. The judge declared that for years the board of assessors "intentionally and deliberately removed hundreds of millions of dollars of taxable personal property from the assessment rolls of the county. The violence of fraud swept into court like a blizzard that blocked every avenue of escape."

The fight has been carried on by an association of real estate taxpayers. The decision means that $145,000,000 in back taxes cannot be collected until a successful appeal can be obtained. Chicago's employees may again have to go without their pay. Even the city hall may be closed. Yet the city of Chicago feels no wealthy it offered $100,000 to get the Republican national convention, and it is spending millions

WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS ITS REGULAR BUSINESS MEET AND LUNCHEON

With over 70 members and guests in attendance, the monthly luncheon and business meeting of the Woman's Club of Sanford was held on Wednesday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock in the club rooms on Oak Avenue with the members of the Woman's Civic Committee of the Chamber of Commerce as honor guests and Mrs. A. M. Phillips and Mrs. H. M. Papworth in charge of the luncheon.

Immediately after the arrival of the guests luncheon was served in four courses from long tables which were decorated with vases of lavender and golden-colored flowers and ferns. Other luncheon appointments were designed in lavender and gold.

Main speakers during the meeting were: Mrs. E. L. Schumacher, of Euclid, vice-president of the seventh district of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, of which the Woman's Club is a member; Mrs. Henry Wight, chairman of the Woman's Civic Committee of the Chamber of Commerce; and Karl J. Lehmann, secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. W. T. Langley, as president of the club, presided during the business session. She announced that as part of the club activities for January it would cater for the state supper to be given at the Mayfair Hotel on Jan. 18. In her talk she reported that three new members have been taken in the club.

Mrs. C. H. Mason, chairman of the Literature Department, announced that the January meeting of that department will be devoted to a study of international relations. The Music Department, Mrs. J. E. Baker, chairman, will give its annual musical evening this month with Mrs. J. A. Tack in charge of the program.

As chairman of the Social Department, Mrs. S. D. Highleyman informed the club that in place of its annual ball the department will give an informal bridge dinner and dance on Tuesday, Jan. 12, at 7:00 o'clock at the club house to which all members of the club and their escorts are invited to attend. It was then announced that the contract bridge classes with Mrs. R. A. Newman in charge will continue to be held every Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Langley then introduced Mrs. Schumacher who expressed her appreciation of the excellent work done by the Sanford club and the inspiration this work has been to the clubs in this district. She assured the members of her esteem of the work being done under the present administration.

In behalf of the Civic Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Wight spoke of the continued service along civic lines rendered to the community by the club since its beginning. She reminded those present that the Sanford Woman's Club was the mother of nine well-developed and independent organizations now functioning for the welfare of the community. She added that it was in the Woman's Club building that the P. T. A., the luncheonists of the city schools, the domestic science equipment of the schools, the Garden Club, the Order of the Rose, the Red Cross, the County Federation of Women's Clubs, and lastly, the Woman's Civic Committee, were organized.

Mrs. Langley introduced Mr. Lehmann whose talk was based on the encouraging outlook for Seminole County. He urged the members to know Florida and the county and community in which they live. He said, "Many people are down on the very thing they are not up on, and it behooves every Floridian to be up on Florida facts so that fever will be down on conditions." Mr. Lehmann beseeched the guests to know their state, believe in their state and serve their state, stating that service is a kind of rent due the place one occupies in a community. He closed his talk with a plea that the members have more Florida sand in their shoes and more sunshine in their hearts.

During the social period various contests were enjoyed by the guests and Mrs. W. F. McTeer was awarded a prize. Gladioli and ferns were used to adorn the social rooms at the church where the meeting took place.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Ina Deater. Those present were: Mrs. Deaton Johnson, Mrs. George W. Hoff, Mrs. A. C. Williams, Mrs. R. E. Bourfroy, Mrs. L. B. Miss Marie Hamby Is Honored On Birthday

Miss Marie Hamby celebrated her nineteenth birthday anniversary Tuesday evening with a party given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hamby, West First Street, Red and Green, the holiday colors, predominated in the floral decorations used about the rooms where the guests were entertained.

Following the games enjoyed during the evening a salad course was served from the refreshment table which was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with a four-tiered birthday cake. Assisting the hostess were: Mrs. J. T. Griffin, Mrs. G. Elliott and Mrs. H. T. Glass.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bates, the Misses Virginia Griffith, Ruth Dickerson, Clara Casson, Althea Cooper, Margaret Taylor, Alva Stafford, Ruth Gibson, M. Foster, Maxine Glass, Hester Hamby, and Cecil Fuller, Ora Hyatt, Chester Estes, Clarence Peckham, Robert Cameron, Arnold Cleveland, Irvin Lorenzen, Ray Mosher, Clayton Walker, J. T. Griffin, Earle Cane, and Johnny Blaine, of Deland.

Of interest in a wide circle of friends of a former resident of this city, will be the announcement that at a recent meeting of the Low Myers Woman's Community Club, Mrs. Deane Turner was elected to serve as president of that organization during the coming year.

Abraham Lincoln earned his first dollar transporting some trunks on a river, barge to a steamer.

Bridge Party Given At Housholder Home

Developing a red and green color scheme were the quantities of azaleas, roses and gladioli used to adorn the living rooms of the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Housholder, 112 West Seventeenth Street, when they entertained the members of the Evening Bridge Club with a bridge party on Tuesday evening.

The tables and other party appointments, further accentuated the chosen color motif.

After several progressive bridge high score games for the ladies, a filing as part of Lubson's bridge rules, went to Mrs. P. E. Roundhill, while high score prize for the men, Leon Tanker hiefs was given to R. A. Newman.

A salad course was served late in the evening. Those invited were: Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Pugh-ton, Mr. J. M. D. Frasher, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Roundhill and Judge and Mrs. Wallace W. Wright.

She studied art but paints only her own furniture now. Helen is Hollywood's best bridge player. She loves to climb mountains... where even the goats have to wear skid chains. Watch for her new EXOPATHE picture "PANAMA FLO." Helen's smoked LUCKIES for two years... and there was no price tag on her statement... LUCKY STRIKE is grateful!

"Certainly I am on the LUCKY list. Last summer, while camping in the high Sierras, I hiked six miles to get my supply of LUCKY STRIKES. I swore off harsh irritants when the talkies first started—and I've smoked LUCKY STRIKES ever since. And that improved Cellophane wrapper of yours—with the little tab for easy opening—is a gem."
