TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

The measure of civilization is shown by the place women occupy in respect and honor.

Senator McCarthy should read what happened in Cuba the other day when the President's son made some disparaging remarks about a college professor.

Jim Powell of the Tampa Tribune picks six men as major candidates in Florida's coming gubernatorial campaign.

The talk by Eugene Bovis at the Rotary Club Monday on "Voice of America" programs illustrates the difficulties of selling the American way of life to Europeans.

One of the finest things which Governor Warren has done since he got to be governor was his appointment the other day of Mrs. Alfred I. duPont of Jacksonville to the State Board of Control.

In the States' Rights cause built rather than helped by use of the Confederate flag in connection with it?

Five, but who can stop it since it has started? It is a most interesting movement, even though it is now being opposed by many.

Treaty For Germany

Now that a separate peace with Japan has been successfully carried to the point of legislative ratification, the next project in view for the Big Three Western Powers appears to be a separate treaty for West Germany.

There are basic differences between the Japanese and German situations. There was little wrong to be found in going ahead with a Japanese treaty without Russia, as long as Moscow failed to co-operate, because Russia took no part in the actual fighting of the long war against Japan.

With Germany, on the other hand, Russia did have a major role in the fighting, and was recognized as an active partner. Even so, its position is different from that of the other Allies.

Probably the most troublesome point of difference is that an effective treaty cannot be made with the whole of Germany without Russian co-operation, because of the division between East and West Germany.

Decline Of The Cigar

Tobacco growers in the Connecticut River Valley staged a Tobacco Festival this year in an attempt to stimulate the sale of cigars.

There was a time when cigars played a much more important role in the smoking habits of the world than they do today. Cigars in all shapes and sizes were selected by men with the same concern for looks and quality that they exercised in buying a hat.

Cigars had a way of becoming trademarks for some great men, and in a way helped to express their personalities. One thinks of the long black cigars smoked by Ulysses S. Grant and more recently the inevitable stogies which were so much a symbol of the embattled Winston Churchill.

Cigarettes may have replaced cigars to a great extent but they have not captured the public imagination as the cigar did. Thomas Riley Marshall attained lasting recollection by merely remarking that what this country needed was a good five-cent cigar.

Collections Of Art

Many Americans got their first notion of the beauty of Japanese gardens and art objects from the Adolph Bernheimer estate on the outskirts of Los Angeles.

After 1944, when Bernheimer died, the gardens were no longer on display. Landslides began to wreck it, and finally the art objects were placed in storage.

The island of Mackinac, Michigan, for years had the smaller but lovely Tootle Japanese gardens. It is surprising that more well-to-do Americans have not adopted some such method of beautifying their estates and sharing the beauty with visitors.

Blast Kills 13

One of the dead at the scene was listed as Henry Lamb, 43, Alton, a pipefitter foreman. The bodies recovered at the scene were badly charred.

M. G. McMillen, 41, Wood River, Ill., an operator first class at the cracking plant; F. G. Plummer, 27, Grafton, Ill., a boiler-maker's helper, and R. B. Ryan, 28, Caseyville, Ill., boiler-maker's foreman.

The other charred bodies removed from the blast were identified as those of: Foreman, Cortland W. King, New Douglas, Ill.

A flash fire following the explosion shot flames more than 50 feet into the air. It was quickly smothered by company fire-fighters, but the intense heat hung on keeping rescue workers from probing deep into the debris.

Cause of the explosion—the second major mishap at the refinery in less than a month—was not definitely determined. A company spokesman said a number of things may have caused it, including a pocket of gas or static electricity. A company official said damage might exceed $100,000.

On Aug. 25 a fire event at the refinery started a gas storage tank which cost $150,000.

Normally 10 to 15 men are in the refinery, but approximately 200 men were in the plant at the time of the explosion.

Sanford, Sept. 17 (AP)—A gas explosion at a refinery here Tuesday killed 13 men and injured 10.

ANCHORS AWEIGH!

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Before the atom bomb could be made, scientists working in the laboratories had to find a way to split the atom. It took them years. Their work is called basic research.

Once science found a way, American industry was able to make use of the discovery by manufacturing the bomb. This practical use in basic research is called applied science.

Basic research cuts across the whole field of science: chemistry, physics, biology, geology. It paved the way not only for the atom bomb, radar and the proximity fuse, but for advances in medicine, food, and industrial developments that raised our living standards.

Before the war this country led in applied science. Europe was ahead of us in basic research. But Europe lost this leadership in the war which destroyed laboratories and killed scientists.

Thus the U. S., with its vast resources, had and still has a chance to lead in basic research. National survival may depend on progress in this field. Russia is working at it.

But there's a hitch in how much of this basic research can be carried on. Most of it, and most of the training of young scientists in basic research, is done in university laboratories.

There's a limit to the funds the universities can put into the research and the development of young scientists. A lot more could be done with the help of government money.

For five years leading scientists and educators urged the government to help out. And in May 1950, Congress approved the idea by creating the National Science Foundation.

It does no basic research on its own. Its job is to promote basic research, not applied science. Its job is to be done in two ways:

1. Help develop young scientists by giving fellowships to graduate students for study and research in the various scientific fields.

2. Provide government funds for research which otherwise could not be done. For example: A university scientist, might be on the trail of some improvement in nutrition but could not continue without government money with which he could hire a staff of assistants.

Congress said the National Science Foundation should have a director—and a staff of scientists and business administrators to run the foundation—and a 24-man board of directors made up of scientists and educators.

The director, appointed by President Truman, is Dr. Alan T. Waterman, physicist and formerly chief scientist for the Office of Naval Research. The board of directors is headed by Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University.

For its first year, just to get started, Congress gave the foundation $225,000. Now the foundation has worked out its program and in this next year it plans, besides help to various universities, to grant 2,000 fellowships.

To cover the expenses for this next year, the foundation asked Congress for $14,000,000, of which $8,000,000 would be for direct support of research, $6,000,000 for fellowships, and most of the remaining $1,000,000 for running the business of the foundation.

But when the house voted on this, it voted no money at all for research and fellowships and approved only about one-third of what the foundation itself asked to keep in business, or about $300,000.

The foundation's program may still be saved if the Senate—which hasn't acted yet—takes a strong stand in its favor. There are some indications that it will. A number of scientific groups are urging the Senate to do so.

Escaped Convicts

Self was wearing an Air Force sergeant's jacket when arrested, the officer continued, and had identification cards with Clem's name on them.

At DeFuniak Springs, the Air Force men told of being stopped by two gunmen who threw a log in front of their car, forced them to drive into a woods, held them captive eight hours, then drove off with their car.

Patrolman Hudson at Selma credited an alert filling station attendant with giving the alarm that resulted in the capture of the two fugitives.

Country Club Scene Of Luncheon Meeting

The regular monthly luncheon of the Air Group wives was highlighted today with a fashion show presented through the cooperation of The Yarnell Company and Ivey's Shoe Store. The luncheon was held at 12:30 o'clock at the Seminole Country Club, CAG No. 3. Staff wives were hostesses for the luncheon with the short business session being conducted by Mrs. W. E. Madden.

Decorations in the club house were of Fall greens, hibiscus blossoms and bright berries. Centering the speaker's table was a small doll dress model, carrying out the fashion theme while smart clothing accessories were ingeniously used as decorations on the smaller tables throughout the room. Prior to the presentation of the fashions a poem was read by Mrs. Glenn Ferris. Mrs. J. W. Conger acted as narrator for the fashion show and also served as an attractive model. Other models were Mrs. S. Yanochik, Mrs. G. L. Moffett, Mrs. William Whelan, Mrs. A. F. Barber, Mrs. E. M. Coppola, Mrs. H. N. Key and Mrs. Joseph Whittlesey.

One of the favorite dresses shown during the afternoon was worn by Mrs. Moffett. A Carlyle gown, it was fashioned of two shades of orchid, the velvet skirt a tulle darker than the Jersey top. Aqua stones accented the belt and she wore a Brewster collar hat of orchid with black suede opera pumps by Naturalizer.

With the Chinese effect being achieved in so many of the fashions this season, the cordle style duster worn by Mrs. Whelan received its share of applause. The duster was black, shot with gold and featured a Mandarin neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her slipper was black satin by Daniel Green.

A Carlyle frock was again modeled, this time by Mrs. Conger, and was an afternoon gown. Tallahassee to enter Florida State University. He was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Powell who also visited other points in West Florida.

of black crepe. Its main feature was a bib embroidered with rhinestones and silver thread. Her accessories were black including black suede pumps by Jacqueline. With thoughts of cooler weather in mind the honey beige hot air ballooning Nardis suit modeled by Mrs. Whittlesey proved to be popular. Her accessories were brown and Naturalizer shoes of soft brown calf with a saucy bow were worn.

Mrs. Barber was attractive in a perky suit of smoke grey tulle with top of Venetian lace shibbled with rhinestones. The dress featured a bolero jacket with three-quarter length sleeves and black suede opera pumps. Predominating in the colors being shown this season is violet which was carried out in the corduroy suit worn by Mrs. Kopala. She wore a matching Brewster belt and gloves. Her shoes were styled by Natural Bridge of green suede trimmed with loggane tan calf. A Carlyle fashion was presented by Mrs. Yanochik and was of dark grey tulle featuring according plaited ruffle trimming. A large pink rose was at the waistline and Tim Trudl had designed her black suede stiletto pumps.

One of the most attractive of the outfits worn by the models was the three piece getting ensemble worn by Mrs. H. N. Key. It consisted of a staidis hooded tooth checked skirt, a tucked white long sleeved blouse and a Janzen velvet sweater of a bright orange.

Second Place In American League At Stake Today

BOSTON, Sept. 18—(AP)—Second place in the American League is at stake today when the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians open a two-game series.

At the moment, the Sox are a game and a half behind the Indians. A triumph today would give the Sox a .613 percentage against .612 for Cleveland and put them in the runner-up spot behind the Yankees.

Manager Steve O'Neill chose Bill Wright to open the crucial series for the Sox while Mike Garcia is scheduled to do today's pitching for Cleveland.

Freshman manager Al Lopez measures the Indians' chances for the pennant strictly on the outcome of their two-day stand here.

"If we take these two from the Sox, we'll win it," he said. The Indians come to Boston after dropping a 2-1 decision to the Yankees yesterday on a ninth-inning squeeze bunt by Phil Rizuto.

"After dropping that tough one in New York," said Lopez, "you'd think the boys would be all broken up, but that's not the case."

Lopez reasons this is the make-or-buy because a double victory could put his club in a most advantageous position while the Sox and Yankees are killing each other off in eight games they must still play against each other.

Stan Musial Holds League Batting Lead

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Stan Musial of St. Louis is on his way to a fifth National League batting title, with a .367 average.

With only 13 games left, it seems impossible for anyone to top the Cardinal slugger.

Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia has the best chance. He's hitting .346—21 points behind Musial.

Musial, in 141 games, had 195 hits in 532 at bats. He lost nine points of his lead last week to Ashburn, who leads all batters with 206 hits.

Ashburn, however, is far from the league record of most hits in one season. In 1920, George Sisler hit safely 257 times.

Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson slipped two points during the week but retained his third-place position with a .336 mark.

All figures include games of Sunday, Sept. 16.

Rounding out the top ten were: Roy Campanella, Brooklyn, .325; Johnny Wyrostek, Cincinnati, and Monte Irvin, New York, .313; Alvin Bark, New York, and Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh, .312; Carl Furillo, Brooklyn, .305; and Harry Lowrey, St. Louis, .303.

Stan Musial Holds League Batting Lead

CHICAGO, Sept. 18—(AP)—Philadelphia's Ferris Fain picked up nine percentage points during the week to boost his batting average to .341 for the widest lead in the American league hitting race in a month.

Falling 19 points behind in second place was George Kell of Detroit with .322. In other averages compared through Sunday's games, Chicago's Minnie Minoso had .321 and Boston's Ted Williams .319. A week ago Kell, Minoso and Williams were tied for second place.

Completing the Top Ten batting list were Gil Coan, Washington, .316; Johnny Pesky, Boston, and Gil McDougald, New York, with .311 each; Larry Doby, Cleveland, .312; Bob Avila, Cleveland, .309; and Nellie Fox, Chicago, .305.

Dom DiMaggio of Boston scored six runs to take over the lead in that department with 138 and he also continues ahead in hits with 182. Gus Zernial of Philadelphia has led in the strikeout category with 181.

Dodger's Campanella Says Don't Worry About Giants Catching Us

CHICAGO, Sept. 18—(AP)—Just before the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers took the field yesterday for their season finale against the Chicago Cubs, husky Roy Campanella, frisky as a colt, chuckled—

"Don't worry about those New York Giants catching us—we're real seven games ahead of them. Those seven more they lost than we have are gone forever." Actually, the Dodgers now lead by four games.

Today, Campanella—rated as perhaps the best catcher in baseball—was resting in a Chicago hospital after an accidental beating by the Cubs' Turk Lown. The Dodgers felt as though they also had received a collective black-jacking. Roy's condition was pronounced fair, but when he will return to the Brooklyn lineup was questionable.

Without Campanella, the Dodgers, who play the Cardinals at St. Louis tonight, conceivably could back away from the National League pennant which the Giants alone believe they, themselves, might somehow snatch.

The Brooks have 13 games left, the Giants nine.

The husky nergo's absence was felt immediately yesterday as the Dodgers blew a 3-0 lead and lost to the Cubs 5-3. Big Don Newcombe, who had whipped the Cubs four times previously this season without defeat, apparently missed the behind-the-plate generalship of Campanella, who was felled in the second inning.

In the seventh, Newcombe, after allowing only two hits to that point, was slammed for a double, Hank Sauer's 20th homer and another two-lagger. Don escaped defeat as reliever Clyde King served a two-run homer to ex-Dodger Gene Hermanski to get saddle with the loss.

The doctors at Illinois Masonic Hospital had a tough time convincing Campanella he got a severe knock on the nockin.

Preliminary X-rays failed to disclose any fracture, but Campanella, now battling .325 and with 37 home runs, had bleeding from his ear as well as lacerations on his ear surface. He also had a swollen left jaw.

Campanella has worn a protective pad sewed into the lining of his cap since he was hit in the head by a nitch thrown by Bill Werle of Pittsburgh two years ago. However, Lown's high inside pitch struck just below the cap.

A commercial fishing boat recently harpooned two giant tuna fish and sighted another in Lang Island Sound.

Stan Musial Holds League Batting Lead

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Stan Musial of St. Louis is on his way to a fifth National League batting title, with a .367 average.

With only 13 games left, it seems impossible for anyone to top the Cardinal slugger.

Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia has the best chance. He's hitting .346—21 points behind Musial.

Musial, in 141 games, had 195 hits in 532 at bats. He lost nine points of his lead last week to Ashburn, who leads all batters with 206 hits.

Ashburn, however, is far from the league record of most hits in one season. In 1920, George Sisler hit safely 257 times.

Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson slipped two points during the week but retained his third-place position with a .336 mark.

All figures include games of Sunday, Sept. 16.

Rounding out the top ten were: Roy Campanella, Brooklyn, .325; Johnny Wyrostek, Cincinnati, and Monte Irvin, New York, .313; Alvin Bark, New York, and Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh, .312; Carl Furillo, Brooklyn, .305; and Harry Lowrey, St. Louis, .303.

Plantation Estates

Two more couples who have moved into their new homes at Plantation Estates...

Among the people who took to the hills this summer and are expected back soon are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Payne and Mr. and Mrs. W. Poyntelle Kemper...

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Fanning celebrated their 34th anniversary last month with a party for a number of their friends...

Louis Bernard has been visiting his family in Canada for the past three weeks. We at the plantation miss him particularly because of his green thumb...

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner spent a few weeks in the north but Frank could not accompany her this year as the pressure of business here has been too great...

Among the folks who went North for a visit and all expressed their eagerness to get back were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gould, Mr. Leonard Hatfield, and Mr. Bill O'Hara...

Mr. Sal Dilorian has taken himself off on a three months vacation to South America, which he richly deserves as he has given his all to Plantation Estates for the last three years...

Four truly is going to take a three days' vacation down at Florida Beach but will be back by Friday. The summer is drawing to a close and it seems an appropriate time to sum up the activities of our new little community...

Three years ago on June 15, 1948 we hailed the arrival of our first family, Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Mathiesen and their daughter Liddy. Since that time we have received better than 200 families here.

We have had our acute growing pains, like everything born in this world, some sadness from the illness and passing of a few of our beloved citizens and a few births, the last of which was little Carmelita, new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Gurechatti...

We have a jewelry store, post office, a big new grocery store, a post office, coffee shop, two gas stations and two metal units. This coming week we hope to see the opening of our combination ice cream parlor and hardware shop.

All in all I think we are entitled to get out of our rompers and into our best pair of happy pants. We are surprised and happy to say that we are looking at the beautiful remains of what we were much old.

direct conditions that could lead to resumption of the talks. A headquarters release made it clear that Ridgway had stressed in his message the Communist responsibility to say when the truce talks will be resumed.

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 18—(AP)—An Allied armored force with infantry support launched a surprise attack on the dormant Western front at dawn today. It was stopped by firmly dug-in Reds.

The Allied doughboys and tank crews fought all day in the mud and a steady drizzle in their unsuccessful effort to gain a hill mass west of Chorwon. Chorwon is the southwestern point of the Red's old Iron Triangle front.

The Reds held grimly in bunkers and trenches on the hill mass. Communist mortar and artillery fire, anti-tank guns and mines helped check the Allied thrust.

About 400 to 500 Red troops were dug in on the hills as the tank column surged up a road in a surprise attack on the Communist line from the south at the same time.

They reached a spot only a few yards from the crest of one hill but were forced back by enemy fire and the slippery condition of the hillside.

American and South African fighter pilots hurled fire bombs on the height in an effort to dislodge the Reds. Heavy Allied artillery and mortar fire was poured on the Communist foxholes.

Then the doughboys tried again. They met with no better luck as the Chinese defenders rushed in replacements from nearby hilltop positions.

Torn Piece Of Nylon Leads To Murder Suspect

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Alfred J. Peters, 49, of Bushnell, Fla., was booked on a homicide charge last night because a torn piece of a woman's nylon stocking linked him with the beating death of an unidentified woman, police reported.

According to Detective Captain Frederick Jansen, Peters, who lived at 110 West 54th Street while employed as a cook here, was brought to the city yesterday after waiving extradition in Bushnell.

Peters admitted beating an unidentified woman about 60 years old in his fourth floor apartment here on Sept. 8 after the couple had been drinking, according to Mr. Jansen, District Attorney Carl Grebow.

The woman's body was found on a third floor landing. An autopsy revealed she died after a beating. Detective James Markley learned that Peters had left his apartment the morning the woman was found.

In the apartment detectives found a number of beer cans and a party's stocking. In an ash can outside the apartment house Detective Markley found a matching piece of stocking. In the carton police said, were torn bits of letters and envelopes addressed to Peters in Bushnell. The detective requested Florida police to supply pictures of Peters.

With pictures from Florida, Markley began a search for a "Mr. Cowan" who had lived in the suspect's apartment. The detective said he learned from tenants in the apartment house who were shown pictures that Peters was "Mr. Cowan."

Meanwhile, Peters had moved to an apartment at 410 West 23rd Street, where his wife in Florida notified him that the local police had inquired about him, Markley said. Believing he was sought on a local matter, Peters went to his home in Bushnell where he was arrested as a fugitive last Saturday.

Markley went to Florida and returned here yesterday by plane with Peters.

School Board Helps On Recreation Deal

Thomas Stringer, city director of recreation, said today he has received fine cooperation from the Seminole County School Board in carrying out the recreation program this summer.

"The School Board furnished us with four full time workers for one month during the summer," he declared.

Mrs. F. C. Winn, physical education teacher, ran the playground at Seminole High School for one month, he said.

"The School Board also furnished us with two colored playground directors and one supervisor. These workers were voluntarily furnished by the Board to cooperate in the city recreation program," said Mr. Stringer.

HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Sept. 18—(AP)—Hollywood was blinking this week at the news that Bette Davis was playing a six-part in a picture. But don't jump to conclusions. Her career is in a good shape as it ever has been in the two decades she has been in Hollywood. She has taken a short but important part in "Phone Call for a Stranger" as a matter of principle.

I found her sharing a dressing room with the star of the picture, man named Gary Merrill. They explained that the picture is an episodic one in which Merrill looks up four companions in a plane crash. Miss Davis (or Mrs. Merrill, if you prefer) is one of them. "Everyone was hesitant about offering me the role," she explained. "Actually I loved the part when I read Gary's script. When they finally suggested that I do it, I grabbed at the chance."

"I think it would be a good thing if stars did that now and then. Ever since I started free-lancing, I realized how few good starring roles there are. I'm idle for one entire year between 'All About Eve' and the picture I just made in England. I don't mind getting a six-month vacation, but I like to work. A year off is too much."

"It would be a good thing if we got rid of the 'star system' of Hollywood which requires that an actor's role must be big and fat. No wonder the English pictures are so much better acted than ours! It's because the finest performers there are not afraid to take smaller roles as long as they are good ones. You see such good actors as Robert Morley playing a leading role in one picture and then doing a character part in another."

Contrary to some movie queens, Bette said she has never been concerned about the size of her roles. "I did the part of the woman in 'Watch on the Rhine' (which won Paul Lucas an Oscar)." She cited. "The role was nothing, and people said I was crazy to do it. But I wanted to because I thought the story was important."

"And I played the secretary in 'The Man Who Came to Dinner,' a relatively minor role. I felt it would be good for me to be in a comedy."

"The Merrills are at their Malibu home to stay for awhile, they hope. After their trip to England and shuttling back and forth between the East and here, they claim they "can't bear the sight of an open suitcase."

"No special ceremony was arranged from the Times' one hundredth anniversary because the management decided that it would not be fitting in a period when there is international sorrow and distress."

Wouldn't you feel you're missing something big unless you tried it out? There is such a car. Its name is Buick. It has big soft coil springs on every wheel. It has a Fireball Engine.
