BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

RELIEVE AND LIVE! Jesus said, 'I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live.'

EVEN IN 1941

(From Kaldidograph) This year when Spring comes there will be still the rose and dogwood tree, the sweet from passion of young grass.

And if the world recall or cry from terrors in its earth and sky, yet for a while the heart will ache with will to live more than to die.

For life is life, through pain and pain, though never Evil shall be slain, and April will renew our faith with every dew that spans the rain.

And though our farmer-souls in bone and flesh are sick of what we've grown, when Spring comes we shall plant the seed of the Unknown.

NAT C. HUNNICUTT

Wouldn't it be a good joke on the Nazis if they actually lost the battle of the Balkans?

Congratulations on the 75th birthday to the Ocala Banner, Florida's oldest newspaper.

They say that the war is having its influence upon the flower bonnets. Perhaps that's what gives them that shell-shaped look.

The news broadcasts from Switzerland are reported as very interesting to the Germans. The first thing they know they are losing is to have a three front war on their hands.

The chamber of commerce wants to know what to do during the coming year. And with what?—Fort Myers News Press. It seems to be a fairly common complaint.

Senator Pepper tells the members convention they are our best line of defense against aggression. We've come a long way from the bankers' wars daily being shot full of holes.

Now that the British have won the Balkans out of East Africa, President Roosevelt has named the Red Sea to American waters. We only hope that Admiral Leahy hasn't arrived there before American ships.

In the last ten days the Russians have signed friendship pacts with both the Yugoslavs and the Greeks while one with the Chinese is only a few days older. It is interesting to note that the Japanese have been very lately signing friendship pacts with the Germans and beginning to wonder what is happening in the East.

The Japanese premier assures the press of his peaceful intentions in the Pacific. All it wants is to get out a little bit, get more business, and wipe out the British in the East. If Uncle Sam understands that, there's no reason why we shouldn't be able to deal with the Japanese.

Costly Delay

It is too bad that the sale of Seminole County's bonds for the proposed hospital failed to materialize Saturday afternoon because the delay in advertising the bonds a second time and beginning the actual construction may prove costly to the taxpayers, some of whom unfortunately and short-sightedly are opposing the project.

The cost of building materials, due to the defense program and the enormous construction of army camps, naval and air bases and defense factories and housing projects throughout the entire country, is going up rapidly, and every delay in the local hospital project, no matter how brief, will see an increase in the cost of the materials which go into it. The change in original estimates may even be so great as to necessitate a complete revision of the entire project.

Should this become necessary we hope that the responsible authorities will take the necessary steps to build a larger hospital than the one at present contemplated. There has been so much obstruction in connection with this project which was approved by the people in a vote of about ten to one that while we are at it we had better make the hospital big enough to last a good many years to come.

As a matter of fact a 88-bed hospital actually isn't large enough for a community of this size. We could have one serious accident, one local catastrophe, a single epidemic that would fill every bed in the proposed hospital even if there were no one else there at all. Even the normal needs of a town of ten thousand people, a county of twenty-three thousand, cannot be adequately met by a hospital of 88 beds.

Of course if only the taxpayers are going to use this hospital, if only the better fed one-third of our people have access to its facilities when they get sick, a 88-bed hospital might prove sufficiently large. The trouble is that hundreds of people in Seminole County are giving birth to children, are suffering from tuberculosis, or are being sat on up by other diseases in their own homes, when they ought to be confined to a hospital.

Humanitarian instincts alone should compel the people of Seminole County to build this hospital now and build it big enough to benefit all the people of this community. But if it takes self-interest to bring action, it should not be forgotten that sick men are a bigger drag on the economic life of a city than a hospital in which to make them well. Consideration for our fellow beings as well as the progress of our community dictate prompt action on this hospital project.

As long as the Legislature is in session a new local bill should be introduced empowering the County Commissioners to bond this County to the extent of $200,000 to build a new and better hospital in case the present project falls down. It would be necessary to hold another bond election but we have no fear as to how the people will vote on such a project.

Nor do we have any doubt as to the ability of the County to sell the bonds at par if the two mill limitation feature is lifted. This can be done. It should be done while the Legislature is in session. Let no one doubt that the people demand it.

Small Voices

Although it is fairly clear to most Americans that the ultimate objective of the German militarists is world domination, small voices among us continue to say that what happens in Africa or the Mediterranean is no concern of ours while German successes in overrunning other countries in the Balkans should convince us that we ought to make the best deal we can with Mr. Hitler.

There is an ominous pattern in the reiterated failure of the American people to catch up with the swift move of events," says the New York Herald Tribune. "In August, 1939, they listened gladly to those wishful thinkers who said 'Germany will never dare start a new war.' During the winter months of inaction they wrote the contest off as a 'phony' war—and thus saved themselves the embarrassment of facing ugly facts. When the first rumors came that Holland and Belgium might be invaded they soaced themselves with the words 'Germany would never do that.' 'As Denmark and Norway fell, and the war was brought to our very shores by the fate of Greenland, they chorused louder than ever: 'This is not our war.' When Holland and Belgium were crushed and France fell they heartened gladly to those who said that it made no difference which side won. And now, as Germany is battering against the last bastions on the European Continent and is within reach of Africa, these same people say that Africa is a long way from us, and that what happens in the Balkans does not concern America.

All this while, with the ruthlessness of the inexorable, war has been marching closer to the Western World day by day. We are not referring to those acts implicit in the policy of aid for Britain nor are we speaking of such acts of President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull as their offer of help to Yugoslavia and Greece and their denunciation of Germany's invasion as "barbaric." Rather are we referring to the world-conquering changes which are implicit in Germany's virtual annexation of all of Europe west of Russia, and in the undeniable evidences that Hitler's aim is nothing short of world domination.

British Hurl Back Nazi Army Forces; Get Reinforcement

Interior. Instead of the curving front through Koritsa, below the Yugoslav frontier to the vicinity of Mount Olympus above Larissa on the Aegean a new secondary line probably would last about 300 miles from that one-fourth of Albania conquered by Hellenic troops.

The secondary line, it is believed, would be far shorter, running possibly from Janina, east of Corfu, across the rugged Pindus Mountains and to Larissa. The mounting threat of Germany's berserker North African forces to Alexandria and the Suez Canal and the announced withdrawal of British troops are new defense lines in Greece.

News that the Germans had rushed more than 400 miles in the past seven days and to Sarn, within Egypt's forced realistic watchers of the situation to visualize a decisive African battle at the very gates of Alexandria, seat of Britain's Mediterranean naval power.

In the drive towards self-sufficiency the WPA farm has furnished the school lunchrooms with vegetables and fruits while 2244 quarts of foodstuffs have been canned for the school.

Canning is done in the county training kitchen during the summer under the supervision of Mrs. Rara Andrews, home demonstration agent, and Mrs. B. A. Howard, kitchen manager.

The County's potentialities as a strategic point in the event of invasion is pointed out in the report. Besides three railroads coming into Sanford the city is connected with the outside world through the St. Johns River. An emergency plane landing could be developed here and storage for gas and oil could be provided in case of attack at the cases at Jacksonville, Miami and the Banana River.

The CAA course conducted through the sponsorship of the American Legion and Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of R. E. Kipp, was attended by 26 boys and five completed the course to obtain their private pilot licenses.

As a result of the class, the report states, "one boy has been recommended for an advanced flying course, another entered the service at one of the flying fields and one entered the army service at the cadet school at Lakeland."

In the defense classes directed by Alex Johnson, 35 young men have received training in motor mechanics, with 16 receiving certificates indicating they have completed work in a subject in the eight-week training period.

Negroes have had an opportunity to learn repair and care of motor vehicles, woodwork, welding hot and cold metal, and simple electricity at special classes conducted at Crook's Academy, under the direction of A. L. James. Equipment costing $300.00 was bought and given to the school.

Organizations in the county are working in line with defense problems are the Sanford Women's Club, the Daughters of the Revolution, the People's Trade Association, the Elks Lodge, the Home Demonstration Club and the Red Cross.

Film Will Show How FBI Agents Combat Sabotage

"The F. B. I.—1941," the March of Time's forthcoming film story of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, has been scheduled for showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theater. Manager Charles Morrison announced today.

Entirely different from all previous pictures dealing with the FBI, this March of Time film is not a G-Man story. Mr. Morrison revealed. Instead, the film will show how the FBI's agents are today giving Americans internal security by concentrating on the prevention of espionage and sabotage in industrial plants now working on defense orders.

The film will also take moviegoers inside the headquarters of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, where expert laboratory technicians test and analyze thousands of scraps of evidence to insure themselves of victory when they bring public enemies into court for trial.

"The importance and timeliness of March of Time's FBI film is self-evident," Mr. Morrison pointed out, "particularly to those who remember the Black Tom explosion and other famous instances of sabotage during the period of American rearmament 25 years ago."

"In the midst of the current national defense program, the American people are once more concerned over the menace of sabotage in their vital industrial plants, and for this reason alone will welcome March of Time's

Baseball Season Opens With High Hopes Of Big Year

NEW YORK, Apr. 15.—(AP)—Major League baseball opened the 1941 season today with its fingers crossed.

President Roosevelt actually touched off the fireworks Monday when he tossed his high hard one to start the New York Yankees and Washington Senators off on the annual one-game "preview" in the national capital.

Tomorrow all 16 teams swing into action, before an expected total of about 27,000 fans, and the general impression is that they will have a good year in which to show anything can happen—and probably will.

In these, the Cincinnati Reds are favored to come up with their third straight National League flag, while the result "strains" the Yankees and the Cleveland Indians, under the new leadership of Roger Beckenbaugh, figure to fight it out for the junior circuit championship.
