Police question homicide suspect

Investigators from Altamonte Springs questioned James Blackburn, 30, in North Carolina Friday in connection with the death of 25-year old Jennifer M. Trippett.

Trippett and Blackburn were co-workers at Enzo's on the Lake, a Longwood restaurant. Trippett was found dead on July 18 at 1280 Lost Creek Court. Police have been investigating her death as a homicide. When Trippett was found dead her car was missing.

Police in Hendersonville, N.C. then put out an alert for Blackburn who has relatives about 20 miles away in Arden, N.C. Authorities in Buncombe County said in recent weeks Blackburn had become a suspect in a rash of residential burglaries. He was apprehended Thursday with the help of a resident who spotted him in the woods near Arden.

Altamonte Springs police are expected to push for Blackburn's extradition back to Florida.

Longwood firm bids for Orlando Arena contract

LuLu Enterprises of Longwood, which owns Crickets Restaurant of Orlando and Crickets Nightclub and Cafe in Altamonte Springs, is one of five companies in the running for the five-year concession contract at the Orlando Arena, Florida Citrus Bowl, and Bob Carr Performing Arts Center.

Bids were sent to Orlando city hall and are currently being reviewed by a seven-member board. A recommendation is expected to be forwarded to Orlando city council for a decision by the end of the month.

Joining LuLu as bidders are Ogden Entertainment/Goodings Hospitality Services, a subsidiary of the Apopka supermarket chain partners with one of the largest concessionaires in the country. Ogden of Chicago has operations in a number of arenas around the country; Volume Services America of Stamford, Connecticut; Orlando Food Services Partners; and Jerry's of Central Florida.

The contract could be worth as much as $10 million annually.

Three gear up for Longwood election

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Incumbents in Longwood's three commission district seats up for election this fall confirmed Friday they all intend to seek reelection.

In District 1 Rusty Miles will be seeking his third term. In District 2 Dan Anderson will be seeking his first full term as a board member. Anderson was voted into office this past spring as the result of a special election to fill the term of former commission Ron Sergeant who resigned. Annamarie Vacca will seek reelection in District 4.

All three indicate campaigning and fund raising will begin shortly after Longwood's qualifying period for the Nov. 2 election is completed on Sept. 10.

Miles, who has also served a term as mayor as well as a district commissioner said he expects at least one challenger. He sees key issues in this fall's campaign as integrity in government and keeping a discerning eye on the city's financial posture. "I want to make sure the people of Longwood are heard, listened to, and (their concerns) acted upon, which at times the board has not necessarily been doing," Miles said. "We have to get Longwood back on a progressive track and get away from the good old boy network and the old school of getting things done. It's hurting the city."

Miles said he hopes a full slate of city charter amendments make it to the fall ballot.

"I think the people on the Charter Review Committee came up with some excellent recommendations. The people of Longwood should have the right to vote for them or against them."

The board originally voted to approve placing 13 proposed amendments on the fall ballot, but later voted only to place six of the less controversial measures up for a public vote.

Miles said he plans to start fund raising and "walking" campaign in about See Election, Page 9A

Sanford airport looks to future

New study suggests ways to cut noise for nearby residents

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — If recommendations in a consultant's report to the Sanford Airport Authority are followed, noise levels from aircraft could decrease for residents in Sanford and Lake Mary.

However, an estimated 50 residents on the east side of the airport may face relocation to make way for the extension of two runways.

The draft report recommends steps that can be taken to reduce noise at the Orlando Sanford Airport, including extending two east-west runways farther to the east.

The cost of purchasing properties to the east of the airport if the runways are extended is estimated at $13.3 million.

Soundproofing devices would need to be provided to homes near the eastern extensions at an estimated cost to the airport of $500,000.

The methods to reduce noise in the homes would include capping chimneys, adding insulation, double-paning windows, and adding air conditioning so that windows can remain closed.

The report will come before the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) for approval, and the airport is not obligated to follow the report's recommendations.

"We're not sure if we will implement any of the recommendations in the report," said Victor White, executive director of the Sanford Airport Authority. "These are just options we're going to consider."

The airport has four runways. Officials are considering extending the 4,000 foot main runway by 2,000 to 3,000 feet to the east. A recently constructed 3,500 foot east-west runway may also be extended 2,000 to 3,000 feet to the east, said Jack Dow, director of operations for the airport.

In addition, officials have been discussing an extension of the 6,000 foot north-south runway by 2,000 to 3,000 feet.

"There's been no decision about which we will extend or when it might be extended," Dow said.

Extending the north-south runway would reduce noise levels for Lake Mary residents, particularly in the Chase Grove subdivision.

Lake Mary Deputy Mayor Thom Greene, who is a liaison to the Sanford Airport Authority, said he is concerned that the airport's Instrument Landing See Noise, Page 6A

Pan Am prepares for start date

SANFORD — Pan American Airlines officials have yet to announce when domestic flights will begin out of the Orlando Sanford Airport. Earlier this summer, the airline said flights would start in late-August or September.

Pan Am is continuing to set up its online computer reservation system and to prepare for the start of flights, airport officials said.

"They have established a web-site," said Ray Wise, director of marketing for the airport. "We're looking forward to the service starting."

The airline's service will likely start with flights connecting Sanford to Philadelphia, Pa., Portsmouth, N.H., San Juan and Aguadilla Puerto Rico, according to John Nadolny, senior vice president of Pan Am.

Pan Am officials have discussed establishing service through Sanford to Atlanta, Chicago and other cities in the eastern and midwestern U.S.

Pan Am officials have discussed establishing minihub service through Sanford to Portsmouth, San Juan, Newark, N.J., Atlanta, and Chicago.

The airline will provide the Orlando-Sanford Airport with its first regularly scheduled domestic flight. See Pan Am, Page 6A

Prayers and music for Mandy

19-year-old in coma after car wreck

By Russ White
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Every Saturday night for four years, Mandy Bradshaw helped and encouraged young people at a Northland Community Church program known as L.U.G. - Living Under Grace.

At 19, Mandy is a gifted and gracious woman who aspires to be an elementary school teacher. She is a graduate of Lyman High School who now attends Seminole Community College.

She sings beautifully with the Northland Worship Team. She embraces the young and the elderly. She frequently visits those in nursing homes.

"If ever I met someone who exemplified the Christian spirit - being able to Seize the Moment - that someone is Mandy," Northland Youth and Worship pastor Vernon Rainwater said Friday.

Following an automobile accident on August 3rd, Mandy Bradshaw has been unable to speak. She is at Orlando Regional Medical Center. Her parents are there. Her church friends are there every day. Others are sending worldwide E-mail prayer messages.

Mandy was injured in an accident on State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs when a man, suffering a seizure, drove head-on into the car she was driving. Mandy's friend, Erica Bradshaw, escaped serious injury.

There's a Mandy Update line at Northland Church that her friends call several times a day.

"She is not responding on her own but she is responding when we touch her cheek," said a young man named Rick. "We brought a CD player to her. It is on softly. We believe she can hear the music. Keep praying for her. Please don't slack off. Please don't slack off."

Rick and Pam Bradshaw have been at their daughter's bedside night and day. The two are staying at Hubbard House next to ORMC. "We never imagined Mandy had so many wonderful friends," Pam Bradshaw said Friday.

Best mayor of Sanford needs another term

The best mayor Sanford has ever had is also the most bull-headed and the most arrogant. Perhaps, this is why some don't appreciate what he is doing. His honor, Larry Dale presently presides over a wonderful yet wacky city.

Where but Sanford are there mldges, mullet, Lake Monroe, Ft. Mellon Park and Jean Metta? Where but Sanford is there a zoo and an airport with identity problems? Some will say Sanford's a town without pity - others say it's a town to be pitied.

We're going to get through all this, of course. It's too late to save the celery but time enough to do most of what you promised when you sauntered into City Hall 2 1/2 years ago. Larry, you're the man. Betty Boo is gone. Now it's you. Through and through.

We like it when you say you want to bring prosperity to town. Nothing like some prosperity. Perhaps a waterfront hotel and conference center prosperity. Move 'em in rawhide. Sell City Hall. Build another mall. Give Daryl McLain a call.

It's all going to work out, pal. You just have to give us your word you'll stick around another term or two. No way you can untangle all that needs untangling in the next year and a half. You have to stay the course. You have the mldges checked, already. The SPD is looking good. No more grief with the great, new chief.

Russ White

We're confident you're going to do better at Ft. Mellon Park than Captain Charles Mellon did against the Seminoles. He died in the park. You're better than that. Kick those Save the Park loonies for a loop. It's the city park not theirs. Reclaim it.

Of more importance, is what our Best Mayor Ever can do to protect Crooms Academy and the community against the county School Board. Now, here's something worth protecting. Crooms Academy must stay. Its heritage must be respected. What do you think the airport ought to be called? And the zoo? A lot of us who live or work here love the name Sanford. That's a good name. Orlando isn't so good. If people want thrill rides and theme parks, they can go to Orlando.

Come to Sanford to canoe on the Wekiva or feed peanuts to an elephant named Maude. Come to Sanford to catch mullet and bass. Come to Sanford on the Fourth of July. Come to Sanford and give First Street a try. Stay a night at Higgins House. Buy some shoes from Don Knight. Take a cruise on the Rivership Romance.

What we're trying to tell you, Mayor Dale, is that this wonderful town appreciates what you have done and are trying to do. There is prosperity in Sanford. Prosperity, you see, is not measured in wealth alone. It is also measured by good fortune and success.

It is the good fortune of Sanford to have you as its mayor. You are a success. Just be kind to Jean Metts.

Russ White's column appears Tuesday through Saturday in the Seminole Herald.

Our View

Let it Be

Superintendent Paul Hagerty's plans to turn Crooms Academy into an elementary school are ill-advised and insensitive.

Crooms Academy is too important to the entire community to be victimized by the powers that be at the County School Board.

To change Crooms Academy from the college preparatory school it is today for young people on the verge of adulthood would be a terrible mistake.

Crooms - BY CHOICE - is not an elementary school, and should not be made into one at the whim of School Superintendent Paul Hagerty or of those on the School Board.

Crooms Academy's rich heritage simply cannot be found at any of the county's other high schools. Not at Lake Brantley, Lyman, Oviedo, Winter Springs, Lake Howell, Lake Mary or Seminole.

For too many years, black high school students had no other school than Crooms Academy. Learning from torn and tattered school books - hand-me-downs from Seminole High School, the Crooms students proudly excelled. Many gained college degrees, became attorneys, doctors, successful business men and women. One became a State Chief Justice. Another a longtime principal at Lake Howell High.

This is a very sensitive issue. We would urge county school officials to proceed with caution. To listen and digest what Crooms graduates, parents and the community is saying. If it's not a done deal but merely an option, forget it. Forget it right away.

This is a no win deal. No one wins - the school system nor the people. Why wasn't Sanford Mayor Larry Dale informed? Couldn't this been handled more appropriately, more sensitively?

There are already committees being formed to change the way the way Seminole County schools are run. A group in Sanford would like the residents of the county to pick a School Superintendent. That's the method that had been used until eight years ago when enough voted to allow the School Board to choose its own.

The current outrage over a possible Crooms Academy conversion to elementary school, the School Board's pleas to the County Commissioners for more funds to build schools and the recent Seminole grade fiasco is disturbing to everyone - parents, teachers and young people.

Dunce caps, anyone?

Fann criticizes Tucker column

To the editor:

Cynthia Tucker claims on your Editorial & Opinion page that "NRA arguments wear thin as body count goes up." I would suggest that the Liberal (read Socialist) argument for more gun control is wearing thin for those who support the Bill of Rights.

The Second Amendment right of the people to keep and bear arms is an absolute necessity for free citizens to protect themselves from assailants and tyrants. Remember, the Sheriff of Nottingham had a duty to protect the King's deer, not the lives of his subjects. No sheriff or other law officer since that time has ever had legal duty to protect the lives of citizens in any country. That lady in Heathrow knew that and saved her own life by making sure she was armed when attacked.

Firearms are regulated by government through manufacture to purchase more than any other product on the open market today. Even Cynthia Tucker admits that tighter gun laws would not prevented Mr. Barton from killing nine people in Atlanta. Yet, like a person turning the automobile key over and over until the battery is dead, she wants tighter gun laws. once you realize that the Attorney General has no intention of vigorously enforcing the Brady Laws or any other gun laws, you will understand what Cynthia, et al, really want.

one of these days the time will come when Liberals can truthfully say that none of the gun laws are working (because they haven't been enforced). Then they will say that all firearms must be confiscated to solve all our problems with guns. Then, you and I will be ripe for the tyrants who will surely follow.

Reader thanks police for going beyond their duty

To the editor:

On Monday, August, 2nd my husband and I were traveling east on State Road 46 towards French Avenue. A torrential rain, high winds and hail greeted us.

The light was not working as it swayed dangerously and then we saw a most gratifying sight. Drenched and beaten by the storm stood "Sanford's finest" directing traffic with no protection from the angry elements. I know our police are there to "serve and protect" but that was far beyond his call of duty.

Thank you to all those who serve us each day, you are appreciated.

Humane society has problems

To the editor:

The first questions that came to mind when I read about the most recent financial problems of The Humane Society of Seminole County was "Why would any humane society have a fund-raiser at the Greyhound Park? What animal lover would ever set foot in such a place?"

The next question that comes to mind is "What kind of advertisement..."

It's time for good Christians to speak out against hate

Even Buford O'Neal Furrow thinks he's a madman. He attempted to check himself into a suburban Seattle psychiatric hospital last year but ended up, instead, serving jail time for pulling a knife on the staff.

Given his history of homicidal fantasies — at his earlier arrest, he reportedly talked to police about committing mass murders — there is little doubt the man is mentally unstable. But there is little doubt, either, that hate — a vicious and irrational hatred of racial and ethnic minorities — was the match that ignited his combustible personality.

Furrow, who has been linked to white supremacist groups, proudly admitted to a violent rampage at a Los Angeles Jewish community center, telling investigators that the shootings were "a wake-up call to America to kill Jews," according to published reports. Never mind that he was so much the coward that he shot small children, he still flashed a smile as he was being hauled away in handcuffs, after turning himself in Wednesday to authorities in Las Vegas. (Furrow has also been charged with the murder of postal worker Joseph Ito, targeted, apparently, because he was Filipino-American and worked for the federal government.)

Crazy as Furrow is, crazier still are the pseudo-religious overtones of the hate groups with whom he apparently found companionship and comfort. It's not enough that these groups have adopted a dangerous and perverse world-view that considers Jews and people of color sub-human.

These vile organizations, many of which adopt the warped religious belief system called Christian Identity, also claim to promote and defend Christianity. Their "religion" rests on the notions that Jews are descended from Satan and that people of color are "mud people" without souls. You'd think Christian leaders — especially those on the Christian right — would be all over the airwaves denouncing those claims.

Does that need to be said? Yes, it does, given all the hatred, intolerance and violence carried out in the name of Christianity — from the murders of abortion providers to the gay-bashing pickets at the Casper, Wyo., funeral of gay victim Matthew Shepard last year. The Christian Coalition and its allies have a special responsibility to denounce these distortions of Christianity; unlike its counterparts on the Christian left, the religious right has not distinguished itself with a history of tolerance and inclusion.

Of course, denunciations from legitimate Christian organizations, whether liberal or conservative, would not have discouraged a homicidal lunatic intent on getting his 15 minutes of infamy. Nor would rebukes by Jerry Falwell or Pat Robertson be likely to discourage the likes of Matthew Hale, the Illinois would-be attorney who has organized his own so-called "church" — the World Church of the Creator — to advocate the deportation, perhaps the elimination, of all "inferior, colored races."

Any denunciations of those perversions of Christianity would be merely symbolic, a reassertion of the moral authority of which the Christian church seems bereft these days. But symbols are important.

The Rev. Falwell had time to mount a crusade against Tinky Winky, the purple Teletubby he claimed promoted homosexuality. You'd think he might be moved to crusade against a more obvious target — the fringe haters whose distortions of Christianity seek to defend racist murders. And what of the Rev. Robertson? Between his denunciations of gays and lesbians and his warnings that Orlando, Fla., would be destroyed for hosting gay gatherings, does he have no time for stem public rebukes of (un)Christian Identity?

Furrow may be nuts, but his race-baiting, Christianity-perverting ideology is increasingly finding adherents: who are not nearly as crazy. You'd think more good Christians would be offended.

thing was done for this event?" Neither I nor any of my friends heard about it, or you can be sure there would have been some strong objections. The board members responsible for the $150,000 debt should have been held accountable in some way.

If the present board or the director knew anything about the previous fundraising events, they would have known it was a loser from the word go.

It was tried back in 1983 with Jimmy Crash Cruddick County Rock group and proved to be a total disaster then. At that time, it was the board members and friends who footed the bill for the loss, to the tune of from $2,000 to $5,000 each. No animal funds were touched.

The news article mentions the loss of more than $60,000 in 1997 by a former board member who was both the treasurer and the bookkeeper. Actually no one really knows the full amount of money that was stolen and it appears little has been done to locate her.

One would think that with all the financial problems this shelter has had over the past nine years that it would want to keep the public informed as to what is going on with the money so generously donated, instead of the "It's none of your business" attitude that seems to exist.

If this organization wants to get money coming in it should try getting involved with animal cruelty investigations again. This proved to be an excellent way to get the public's attention and isn't this what a Humane Society is about? Helping to end the suffering of animals as well as trying to find good homes for them. Seminole County has almost doubled in the past 20 years and I have not seen a report of cruelty investigation that has been done by this shelter since 1992. Did the cruelty just go away?

Just about everything that used to bring in money to this organization seems to have disappeared. The "This and That" thrift shop on 427 used to bring in close to $38,000 a year when it was run by volunteers prior to 1992. It was only when the board and the director decided to pay someone to run it that is lost money and was closed. One year a Christmas card mail out brought in almost $30,000. I haven't seen a Christmas card from the shelter in years. In fact it has been a long time since I have received any kind of informative mail from this shelter even though I was considered a "lifetime" member at one time. As were many other friends of mine.

It is my opinion that the Humane Society of Seminole County has become little more than a clearing house for animals. It appears to have no other purpose than to find homes for animals. This is just not good enough for a Humane Society.

Sincerely Jean Sargeant

umental task and a challenge he cannot meet without your support. Medical insurance will only cover a portion of this expensive procedure, and provides only three years of post-transplant medications. He cannot meet this challenge alone.

Our family and the community have begun to organize fundraising events to ease the costs of the transplant. McDonald's, Fazoli's and Albertson's have all offered to donate and hold car washes. Also, a Biker Run is being planned. We are reaching out to the community because Terry needs your help. We can use your ideas, time, creativity, donations, and efforts in any way.

Your financial support is critical to the overall success of Terry's transplant and ultimate cure. Please know that your contributions count. You may send contributions to the National Transplant Assistance Fund.

This fund is not administered by the family but rather by the National Transplant Fund (1-800-642-8399), a non-profit, tax-exempt organization dedicated to providing direct assistance to the transplant community and to

Parent asks board to leave Crooms Academy alone

To the editor:

As a parent of a student attending his fourth and senior year at Crooms Academy I am disturbed and appalled that Dr. Hagerty and the School Board Members are trying to close the school. Dr. Hagerty is quoted as saying, "Crooms is a low-performance school with poor reading and math test scores."

You do the math — Crooms HSCT Scores went from 17 percent in 1996 to 44 percent in 1999. Crooms Academy has the highest increase in percentages in all of Seminole County School District. From this parents' view point there is no reason to close the school down for the reasons given.

27,801 students took the test in the state of Florida. The state average was 47 percent. 505 students took the test in the district and had an average score of 49 percent. Crooms had 36 students take the test and scored 44 percent. That is only 3 percent away from the state scores and 5 percent away from the District scores. Where exactly are we failing?

Most Seminole County residents have never heard of Crooms Academy and those that have are of the opinion that it is a disciplinary school. That couldn't be farther from the truth. Crooms is an Alternative School for At Risk Kids. To qualify to enter the school program you have to have failing grades and/or poor attendance, which would lead the student to be at risk for dropping out. NO disciplinary students are allowed. Crooms is a School of Choice. Parents CHOOSE to place their kids there.

Dr. Hagerty stated that the students would be placed back into their Zone schools. I have to ask myself "Doesn't that defeat the whole purpose?" The school board plans for the zone schools to replace what Crooms offers our kids. Although credit recovery programs have been established in the high schools, it still does not reflect the Crooms Academy philosophy, nor does it have the same effect or outcome. It is strictly for making up credits, not designed for at risk students.

Being involved in the school as a parent you can't help but feel the family appeal and camaraderie of it's students. These kids are not only involved in their academic endeavors, they are involved with each other. They can do this because of the way the school is set up. We have smaller classes so the teachers can have that one-on-one approach that is extremely beneficial to our students. The teachers are some of the most dedicated in this district.

I took my son out of Lakeview Middle School because he was failing in two subjects and had poor attendance. He has not only come to like school and do well academically, but he has been afforded the opportunity to develop leadership skills that will help him in his life choices. I was very proud of him for being accepted into the Hugh O'Brien Leadership Program.

It is common knowledge that the school board has attempted to close Crooms. As a parent I strongly say to them. "Leave Crooms Alone!" There are plenty of other options available to the school board besides closing a school that is desperately needed in this community.

Respectfully,
Cheryl Polk

Wife asks Sanford community to help her husband

To the editor:

Terry Young of Sanford is suffering from end-stage kidney disease and desperately needs the help of his family, friends, and the community. Terry is a loving father and husband who has been suffering with juvenile diabetes since age 11. His organs are slowly failing and his only chance for survival and a cure is a kidney-pancreas transplant.

Terry will be evaluated at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami and is a good candidate for the transplant. However, funding the procedure is a mon-

System, which would allow more planes to take off and land to the east instead of over Lake Mary, has not been completed.

The system is under construction, and Dow estimates that it will be complete within three to four months.

Comments from the public will be included in the final report before it is submitted to the FAA. A public meeting will be held 6 p.m., Sept. 14 at the Sanford Airport Authority's board room. HNTB Corp., has been reviewing the airport's noise standards for more than a year.

The consultant placed noise monitoring equipment at seven different points to measure the airport's average noise level, Dow said.

Other recommendations by the consultant include ensuring that departing aircraft maintain a continuous climb, rather than leveling off at 2,000 feet. Dow said that airport officials have already been moving forward with that recommendation.

"That will reduce noise levels around the community tremendously," Dow said.

A second instrument landing system to enhance aircraft safety is under construction that will be completed in three to four months, Dow said.

Homes to the south of the airport are primarily affected by light aircraft and helicopters. Dow said that airport officials are working on working agreements to ensure that the aircraft ascend to 3,000 to 5,000 feet before reaching residential areas.

tic service. Pan Am will have frequent service from Sanford, with flights leaving from the airport perhaps five to six days per week, Nadolny said.

The airline established its maintenance facility at the Orlando-Sanford Airport in March.

The Orlando-Sanford Airport handled about 1.1 million passengers in 1998. The majority of the passengers were British arriving on charter flights.

Pan Am is owned by Guilford Transportation Industries, a New England railroad operator and owner of paper mills and other industries. This is the third incarnation of Pan Am. The first Pan Am filed for bankruptcy in 1991.

The airline owns eight 727-200 aircraft. Pan Am is looking into purchasing additional aircraft, including several DC-10s. Pan Am currently operates weekly charter services.

Mandy

"The waiting room at the hospital is filled with flowers, messages," Bradshaw said. "The young people made pictures of Pam and have them on their car windows. Apparently, church people all around the world are praying for Mandy's recovery."

"I took a Mozart tape in today," Pam Bradshaw said. "They say Mozart is good for the brain. I'll play it awhile for Mandy and then put the Northland worship tape back in. She sometimes blinks her eyes. They operated on her arm two days ago - and it went fine. She's still in a coma. But we're hopeful she's going to come out soon."

What the Bradshaws know and appreciate the most is that neither Mandy - nor them - are alone. "That is an awesome feeling," Pam Bradshaw said.

The Masonic Lodge #62 had this building built at 212 North Park Avenue in 1924. It was designed by Sanford architect Elton J. Moughton. The photo was taken soon after construction was completed. In the left background is the PICO Building. It was built in 1887 at Oak and Commercial by the Plant Investment Company, a part of Henry Plant's railroad empire. The railroad depot was across the street from where Sun Bank's drive-in windows are now located. The PICO Building functioned as the railroad cafe and hotel. During the 1880s, Henry Plant opened up the Interior of Florida by building railroads from Jacksonville to Tampa. This is one of the pictures that will be in the Sanford Historical Society's 2000 calendar, which will go to the printer this month. It will be available for purchase in September.

Seaside Music Theater present free bandshell concert

The program entails a wrap-up of the 1999 summer season, as well as a preview of the 2000 summer season.

"Children of the Wind," a stirring ballad from this summer's Rags will be performed by Seaside Music Theater nightingale Julia Davidson. "Yankee Boy," also from Rags, will be sung by Dan Cochran and Liz Pierce. "Wanting," the musical portrayal of two falling in love, will be performed by Davidson as Rebecca and Michael Zegarski as Saul.

Feel the rhythm of life as Seaside Music Theater presents numbers from the Coleman and Fields musical Savvy Charity. Jill Slyter as Charity Hope Valentine, Jennifer Swiderski and Susie Roelofez will light up the stage with "There's Gotta Be Something Better Than

This," and then Nick Wuehrmann will melt your heart as he sings "Sweet Charity."

The preview of the 2000 summer season will feature songs both ridiculous and sublime, with tunes from A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, "Comedy Tonite" and "Everybody Ought to Have a Maid." Mark Ison will perform "Lonely House" and Davidson will perform "What Good Will the Moon Be," both from Street Scene.

One of my younger brothers is a law enforcement officer. A pretty good one, too. Vic, 12 years my junior, was recently selected as Brevard County Sheriff's department Deputy of the Year. In family circles we call him "Deputy Dawg."

This worries me a bit because I saw to it that he was dropped on his head several times as a youngster. Now they've given him a gun and a badge. From time-to-time at family reunions we'll share some stories about crime and criminals over a few adult beverages. The more beverages, the funnier the stories get.

Joe DeSantis

But why should Brevard County have a monopoly on stupid human tricks when it comes to criminal activity? Let me share a few of my favorites I've collected from "off the record" discussions with cops and reviewing arrest reports as part of my daily beat. We'll even put these examples to music, complete with artist and suggested theme song.

"You Picked a Fine Time To Deceive Me Lucille" — by Kenny Rogers.

A couple of years ago Vic was working a prostitution sweep when he arrested a sharply attired transvestite who called himself "Lucille." After he got Lucille back to the station house for booking, Lucille insisted on going into a holding cell with female prisoners.

After 20 minutes of trying to patiently explain to Lucille that wasn't going to happen, Vic finally told Lucille that as long as he had male equipment underneath those panty hose and Wonder Bra, he was going to be locked up with men.

Lucille, meet your new cell mate, "Bubba."

"Smoking In the Boy's Room" — by Brownsville Station.

Criminals have a hard time understanding that there is a time and a place for everything. One of my buddies at the Seminole County Sheriff's department tells me of the idiot who lit up a marijuana joint — while in a holding cell, surrounded by cops.

Do not pass go, do not go to the head of the class.

"Up on the Roof," — by James Taylor.

Then there's the story that goes back a few years when the John E. Polk Correctional Facility was under construction. One of the roofers was an ex-con. No problem there, except the guy had an active warrant out for his arrest for violation of probation. His mental elevator obviously did not go to the top floor.

"Signed, Sealed, Delivered, I'm Yours," — by Stevie Wonder.

Guys who hold up liquor stores are not exactly candidates for Rhodes Scholarships.

Maybe a Rogue Scholarship would be more appropriate. About a year ago, in Winter Springs I think, a wacky law breaker pulled an armed robbery at a liquor store. With cash in hand and halfway out the door, he decided he wanted a bottle of booze as well. The clerk had the composure to inform him if he was going to buy liquor, she had to see some ID. He promptly handed over his driver's license — complete with name, address, date of birth.

"She's Got a Ticket to Ride," — by the Beatles.

This one happened just a few weeks ago. Seminole deputies got a call from a cab driver who pulled into a 7-11 because he was having a difficult time with an intoxicated passenger. When deputies arrived they opened the door of the cab to assist. The female passenger promptly threw her purse at them. In a stroke of genius she told the officers not only had she been drinking all night, she was on prescription medication, too. While deputies questioned the caddy, the drunk woman twice tried to stroll out in moving traffic. Deputies twice physically restrained her from harm's way. The second time she thanked them by whacking one of the cops upside the head. Police asked permission to see if she had money in her purse to pay the cab driver. She said yes and they fished out a $10 bill for a $7.25 fare. She didn't even tip the guy before being hauled off to the pokey.

And finally, "Poppa's Got a Brand New Bag" — by James Brown.

Just two weeks ago Paul D. Gillis attempted one bank robbery in Sanford, and a day later successfully hit another. Mr. Gillis was recently set loose by Florida's really, really, stupid early release program after serving eight years for a laundry list of felonies. Mr. Gillis failed to grasp the concept of a successful withdrawal his first time around. He presented a teller at Sun Trust Bank a hold up note telling her to put cash in his bag. One small problem. Mr. Gillis forgot his bag. He left empty handed but provided security cameras a nice black and white glossy photo suitable for framing. A few days later police got a tip he boarded a Greyhound bus in Daytona Beach headed for Boston. Hours later police cut his ride short, nabbing him when the bus made a fuel and passenger stop in Jacksonville.

OK, Mr. Gillis, back to the drawing board on your way back to Starke.

Lesson number one-no self respecting bank robber ever forgets his cash bag.

Lesson number two-no self respecting bank robber trusts public transportation as a means to a get-away.

Maybe he should have waited for Light Rail to come.

Front Porch program could boost Sanford's economy

Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sanford officials are waiting to hear from the State concerning an application to be named a Front Porch community.

The Sanford officials are hoping to be one of 20 communities receiving funding through a new state program called Front Porch Florida. The program's goals include improving schools, reducing crime, and increasing economic opportunities.

The program's goals also include providing affordable housing opportunities and fostering strong families and communities.

If Sanford is selected as one of the cities to participate in the program, officials are looking into concentrating program funding on the Goldsboro, Georgetown and Historic District areas of the city.

This year, state officials plan on naming the first three communities participating in the program. By 2002, the state hopes to have 20 cities participating. Sanford officials are hoping to be one of the first three cities to participate.

Residents of communities participating in the program would work together in committees to develop solutions to their problems. Teachers, police officers, and others throughout the community would be involved in the program.

The state's newly created Office of Urban Opportunity will manage $5.2 million for Front Porch incentive programs. It would serve as a "civic switchboard" to connect communities in the program with federal and state funding, other agencies and departments, private resources, and non-profit organizations.

The state will target $1.6 million in economic development grants to certain communities in the program.

The state's urban brownfields program will be expanded by $1 million to encourage cleanup and development of partially contaminated properties.

A job bonus program will provide $700,000 to communities in the program for a tax refund program to enhance job creation incentives. There will be $100,000 in state money for a mentoring program.

A low income rental housing tax credit program will include $400,000 to develop a state program to provide a corporate income tax credit for private developers who build or rehabilitate low income rental housing in communities participating in the program.

There will be $300,000 in funding for an urban homesteading program in which the state or city takes an inventory of foreclosed or abandoned properties with single family homes on them, turning the properties over to qualified families for a five-year homestead period.

During the homestead period, the family will pay a fair market rent and invest in making the home liveable. After five years, if all obligations are met, the family will own the home.

two weeks. He also cited developing a five-year plan outlining provisions for future city financing as a viable platform. In District 2 Dan Anderson will be seeking a full two-year term after finishing the term of Sergeant who left office. Anderson said he expects another challenge from Longwood business woman Judy Putz who he defeated in the special election this past spring. "I certainly will run," he said. Anderson said he sees fiscal responsibility and ensuring Longwood taxpayers get the most bang for their buck as key campaign issues. "I want to continue to work with the city's residents and business community to provide good service to them," said Anderson. He also favors a comprehensive examination of the city's sewer system and getting its logistics "down on paper." "We have to continue to examine our streams of revenue and what projects the people of the city want done," Anderson said. "We held the millage rate for the past seven years and we'll be facing decisions on whether people want money back in the form of lower taxes or if they want projects completed." Anderson said he has received two distinct reactions from people considering a petition drive underway to force 13 charter amendments onto the fall ballot. "There's been two distinct responses. Some people I've talked to think it's stupid to put 13 amendments on the ballot and they won't vote for any of them. Others want a chance to vote. The fact that a petition drive is under way is healthy. It shows me that a democratic system is at work and I support that system while I don't necessarily support all of the amendments.

Electors residing in precincts 14, 28, 33, 46, 47, 53, 58, 72, 113, and 114 will cast ballots on Tuesday, November 2 from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Longwood City Commission Chambers located at 175 West Warren Avenue.

In seeking a full term Anderson says he wants to bring a measure of reason to the board, sometimes missing in meetings that have become contentious and argumentative between the board and some residents. "I don't like to jump to conclusions. In trying to be open minded I think its counter productive to stick to your guns and refuse to back down if information and input leads to a better decision." Like Miles, Anderson said he expects to begin fund raising and campaigning shortly after the qualifying period has arrived.

Commissioner Annamarie Vacca is tossing her hat into the ring, seeking a third term in District 4.

"I feel there's a necessity to keep a balance on the board," she said. Vacca indicated she sees the city's continued road paving projects, city parks, and street improvements as major campaign issues.

"We are behind a lot of cities in those areas by city administrator John Drago has us on the right path," she said.

Vacca also said she felt the charter amendment issue would likely be a factor in this fall's race.

"I believe the commission was within its rights to cut back on the number of charter amendments to go on the ballot, but I also strongly believe the people of Longwood have as much intelligence, if not more, than the commission in deciding what they might approve or disapprove about the charter."

Vacca said she and her husband have both signed the petition papers circulating around the city to force all 13 proposed amendments onto the November 2 ballot.

Bates says it's high time to go to bat for the county

By Russ White
Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - On Friday the 13th, Dudley Bates said, yes. He's entered the 2000 District 3 Seminole County Commission race. He will not seek a fifth term as Mayor of Altamonte Springs.

Admirers tried to get Bates to run for the county commission four years ago, but he declined that opportunity.

On Friday, Bates said that he appreciated the support then - and now - from citizens, home owner association presidents and business leaders. Before he could take his vision and experience to the commission, Bates said, "I wanted first to complete what I started for the citizens of Altamonte Springs.

"The timing is right...My energy is best put to where change is needed now," he said. "The people of Seminole County deserve better than the incumbent's (Dick Van Der Weide's) performance."

Bates, 57, helped shape the prosperity of the county's largest city (more than 40,000) as mayor. Widely respected for his leadership, he went unopposed in the last three elections. Previously, he was a city commissioner. Bates is also the Orlando General Manager for a national property management firm, Koger Equity, Inc.

Political insiders expect Bates to be a formidable opponent to Van Der Wiede, who has served two terms and has built a $60,000 war chest for his third campaign. Bates is expected to get huge support not only in his city but from each of the seven cities in the county.

Altamonte Springs residents received tax breaks for the past seven years as the city continued its well-planned growth and through stable fiscal management. "It is widely known that the City of Altamonte Springs is the county's best-run government," said one county government leader. The city's residents gave their government a 90 percent approval rating in a recent survey.

"I will bring my proven leadership skills, ethics and integrity to the County Commission," said Bates, who came to Seminole County with his wife, Judy, in 1973. The Bates have been married 30 years and have sons, Jason (27) and Adam (24). Mayor Bates is an Auburn University graduate.

Before leaving on vacation, Van Der Wiede said he expected two - perhaps more - challengers in the District 3 race. Four years ago, Van Der Wiede was unopposed.

Longwood board faces light agenda

By Joe DeSantis

LONGWOOD - Longwood city commissioners face a relatively light agenda Monday, August 16, compared to the last several weeks.

The board is expected to approve matching funds in the amount of $1,506 to compliment $13,554 the city will receive from the Local Law Enforcement Block Grant program. One small change in grant application procedures for this year is that the application requirements must be processed on line.

Commissioners are also expected to approve partial payment of $2,700 to Seminole County to complete Longwood's 10 percent down payment for a widening project on County Road 427.

The Purchasing Division of the Financial Services Department will also recommend to commissioners a list of surplus city property to be approved for auction to the general public under the Seminole County auctioneer contract. The majority of the surplus equipment is comprised of computers, monitors and accessory equipment. Three police vehicles dated 1990, 1994, and 1985 are also on the auction list for consideration.

Board members will also make recommendations on the approval of $27,774 to Orlando Paving Inc., for the resurfacing of Hanging Vine Court, Foggy Brook Place, and West Marvin Avenue. Action on Ordinance 98-1492, which amends the Fiscal Year 98/99 Budget is also expected.

One thorny issue commissioners will have to deal with involves a law suit filed against the city last week on behalf of five property owners along Warren Avenue. The plaintiffs contend the closing of Warren Avenue for the city's Fall Arts & Crafts festival sponsored by the Central Florida Society for Historic Preservation, denies them access to their property, violates their civil rights, and denies them compensation. The suit also contends the city illegally entered into an agreement with the private, not for-profit Society.

Attempts by city officials to work out a compromise agreement failed in June and July, leading to the August 6 complaint filed in Seminole County Circuit Court.

The suit against Longwood asks for temporary and permanent injunctive relief from the closing of Warren Avenue for the two-day festival, $15,000 in damages plus attorney fees and court costs.

Traditional image of hunting quickly changing with women becoming 'leaders of the pack'

By G.J. Bagl
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

TUCSON, AZ. - It oozes testosterone. Loud macho voices surround its campfires, boasting unbelievable feats, big guns, and dangerous exploits.

Since man crawled from the primordial ooze, hunting has been a rugged, exclusively male realm, a place where an occasional female was considered a barely tolerated - though entertaining - quirk of nature.

That stereotypical middle-aged man whose five o'clock shadow belays an early morning vigil for his prey, is quickly becoming a thing of the past though. While the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service reports that overall hunting license sales have declined annually since 1993, the number of female hunters has risen by 15 percent from 1989 to 1997.

With a total of 14.9 million hunting licenses sold in 1997 - 2,018,000 to women - that five o'clock shadow is quickly being replaced by nail polish and mascara.

Whether pursuing elk or polar bear in remote regions of the world, or at the helm of the nation's foremost sportsmen's rights organization, women are becoming hunting's most prominent players.

The Congressional Sportsmen's Foundation, which serves as the voice of hunters and fishermen on Capitol Hill, is a prime example.

The mission of the Congressional Sportsmen's Foundation is to ensure that sportsmen have a strong voice in decisions that affect the outdoors," explains Cindy Marlenee, chairman of the prestigious organization. "The ... Foundation serves this purpose by effectively educating and communicating with Congressional Sportsmen's Caucus members (the largest bipartisan caucus in Washington, D.C.), state and federal agencies and established wildlife conservation groups."

Marlenee, who is married to former Montana congressman Rod Marlenee, is a veteran of D.C.'s often harsh political climate.

Bad weather's nothing new for her though, as she's also an avid hunter, an avocation she first discovered after her husband had his 30-06 modified to fit her.

"I've been out with him on every hunting trip since," she said.

Nebraska's Gloria Erickson, who served on the Executive Committee of Safari Club International, a Tucson-based non-profit conservation organization, said spending her youth on a farm near Hastings, Nebraska, made hunting and fishing a part of her lifestyle.

Then, when she moved away to teach school in Wyoming - and school was closed for opening day of elk season - it wasn't long until as an adult she was out in pursuit of the sport her older brothers and father eagerly shared.

Erickson's selection as the 1999 Budweiser Outdoorsman of the Year emphasizes her prowess both with a rifle, and as one of the directors

UCF volleyball picked to finish third in TAAC

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - The University of Central Florida volleyball team was selected to finish third in the 1999 Trans America Athletic Conference Preseason Volleyball Coaches Poll.

The Golden Knights, who had won the conference championship the previous six years, finished 7-15 in 1998 and were beaten in the semifinals of the TAAC Tournament by eventual champion Florida Atlantic.

FAU received the nod from the coaches to finish first in the 1999 regular-season standings, followed by Georgia State.

However, the coaches were split as to who would win the 1999 TAAC Championship. With four votes each, FAU and Georgia State are expected to battle in the title match.

UCF, which begins the 1999 season under the tutelage of new head coach Meg Fitzgerald, returns nine players from last year's team including the Oviedo High School duo of Stephanie Noiseux (Winter Springs), the team leader in kills and Lisa Liljenquist (Chuluota), the leader in service aces and digs, and Piper Morgan (Loveland, Ohio), the leader in blocks.

Campbell University was the coaches pick to finish fourth this season, followed by Jacksonville University, Troy State University, Jacksonville State University, Stetson University, Samford University and Mercer University.

The conference drops divisional play and goes to a full nine-game round robin conference schedule this season.

The top six teams, based on winning percentage, will advance to the 1999 TAAC Tournament at Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton November 19th and 20th.

The TAAC Champion will then advance to the NCAA Tournament via the TAAC's automatic bid.

1. Florida Atlantic; 2. Georgia State; 3. UCF; 4. Campbell; 5. Jacksonville; 6. Troy State; 7. Jacksonville State; 8. Stetson; 9. Samford; 10. Mercer.

Gould grabs win in Bomber Mania event at Speedworld

By Jon Harney
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

BITHLO - The Bombers made the headline act last Friday night with their 50-lap Bomber Mania special at Orlando Speedworld.

Rich Clouser set fast time in the #8 Oldsmobile Cutlass and started on the pole.

Seventeen cars took the green and there was plenty of paint trading and fender bending.

Number 0 Mark Scherer had the car to beat for the first 30 laps until mechanical woes got the better of him.

Mark had plenty of company in the pits as better than half of the field was eliminated due to attrition.

David Gould, who had second fastest time, had to start in the rear due to a post-qualifying fire change, but made the most of the cautions and attrition to outrun the field and take the checkers.

Clouser made a charge at the end but wound up second. Third went to Bradley Johnson, fourth to Charles Fry, and fifth to Jeff Schaffer.

This time, all cars passed post-race technical inspection.

Shane Sawyer made his debut in the Late Model Division a successful one as he led all 25 laps to take the feature. The best race was for second with Steve Dorer besting Bill Pratt at the line. David Hart and Eric Defendall rounded out the top 5.

The twin 50-lappers last weekend took their toll on the Limited Late Model division.

Only four cars took the green for the heat and feature. Fortunately all four cars were quality cars and the race ran without cautions.

At the line it was Clermont's Mike Murphy taking the checkered slightly ahead of Rusty Ebersole. Kenny Cntes finished third and Ostren's Bobby Sears was fourth.

The Modified feature was a runaway for Skip Honaker as he completely dominated the field. This was his first win in his new Modified.

The rest of the top five consisted of David Hartin, Gary English, Art Kunzeman, and Shain Held.

The Sportsman division did not run a feature due to low car count.

Mini-Stock produced some fine racing action as the cars

Dale Jarrett widened his points lead in the NASCAR Winston Cup standings by dominating the Brickyard 400 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway last Saturday, his second in the prestigious race.

The City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Fall League organizational meeting and Spring Awards Ceremony will be held on Thursday, August 26th at 6 p.m. at the Downtown Youth Center on the first floor of Sanford City Hall on the lakefront.

The Fall League's are expected to begin the week of September 13th and no more than six teams will be allowed in any of the league's so the seasons can be finished by the Thanksgiving holiday.

Following this week's games, a drawing was held and Sanford Central Baptist Church and Westview Baptist Church will square off in a semifinal matchup at 7 p.m. this coming Monday at the Lake Mary Sports Complex on Rantoul Lane across from Mayfair Country Club between Country Club Road and CR 46-A.

The winner of that game will stay around to challenge the Knights of Columbus for the championship at around 8 p.m.

The three teams split their two regular season meetings with each other.

The Knights of Columbus got off to a slow start this season, dropping their season-opening game to Westview Baptist Church, 15-13, and then dropping a 12-9 decision to Sanford Central Baptist Church to see their record fall to 3-2.

But since May 24th, the team has not lost a game and really only been challenged once, when it had to come back from a 5-3 deficit in the fifth inning, capping the comeback with two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to edge Sanford Central Baptist Church, 8-5.

Westview Baptist Church opened the season like a house on fire, winning its first six games to finish the first half of the season unbeaten.

But the second half of the campaign opened with them dropping a 18-5 decision to the Knights of Columbus and then falling two weeks later, 7-1, to Sanford Central Baptist Church.

But since that loss on July 12th, Westview Baptist Church has won three straight games.

Sanford Central Baptist Church has been the most consistent team all season, winning its first three games before getting swamped, 25-5, by Westview Baptist Church on May 17th, and then winning six straight decisions before losing the heart-breaker to the Knights of Columbus on August 2nd.

of an internationally active conservation organization.

Erickson was only the second woman, in 55 years, to be selected for the Outdoorsman of the Year honors - a contest whose male finalists traditionally outnumber women by six-to-one.

Not all women are lucky enough to have a family willing or able to teach them about hunting and fishing though - one reason why Dr. Christine Thomas, founder of Becoming an Outdoors Woman, was Outdoorsman of the Year before Erickson.

Thomas, who is a professor of resource management at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point College of Natural Resources, established the program to teach women many of those outdoor skills that traditionally attracted men to the sporting life - skills that include hunting and fishing.

What started as a novel idea quickly spread across the nation.

Today nearly every state holds at least one Becoming an Outdoors Woman program annually.

As more and more women are attracted to hunting, virtually every one of the sport's firearm, apparel and accessory companies have redesigned their lines hoping to capture a share of this growing market.

The recently introduced Irlene Mandrell Real-tree Accents Premier Collection - camouflage endorsed by the avid bird-hunting singer of Mandrell Sisters fame - speaks volumes about the sport's evolution.

No longer is hunting an exclusively male realm.

More and more husbands and wives, fathers and daughters, and even mothers and daughters have discovered the sport's pure, simple pleasure, one regardless of the result, and despite our hectic day-to-day lives, always yields quiet, quality time together.

What could be more natural?

Summer Vacation

By Russ White
 Staff Writer

What did you do this summer? Did you travel to some dreamland? Did you visit loved ones? Was it your best summer ever?

Serena Fisher says her summer surely was the best. Fisher, who teaches at the Seminole County Student Museum in Sanford, accompanied her husband, Hugh, on a motor boat trip to Abacos in the Bahamas.

"We've wanted to do this for some time," Fisher said. "My husband is a longtime sailor who recently bought a 27-foot motorboat. One of his friends told him, 'It's About Time.' So that's why we named the boat, 'It's About Time.'"

The Fishers were part of a 17-boat flotilla that took the three-hour trip from Lake Worth Inlet to Abacos. "The water was beautiful," Serena Fisher said. "The weather was wonderful. We rented motor scooters to tour Marsh Harbor. We did some snorkeling."

The trip rejuvenated Serena Fisher for her duties at the Student Museum. She said she looks forward to the visits beginning Monday by boys and girls from Hamilton Elementary School.

Wild & Woolly at Wolfys

Where you there when the band fell into Lake Monroe?

Amy Carriero, 27, is a single mother of two, taking legal studies at Seminole Community College and working evenings at Wolfys Restaurant on the Sanford waterfront. She's met a lot of people and seen some strange things at Wolfys. She was not there the night owner Frank Wolfe and a visiting band fell off a pier and into Lake Monroe. She told Russ White and Joe DeSantis that she wishes she had seen that. And she told a lot more.

Q. OK, the boss and the band fell into Lake Monroe. Was anyone injured? Did the gators go for them. Did the band play on?

Amy: No one was injured. The gators must have been sleeping. And the band - wet as the guys were - played on. I'm told that they came back inside and played as if nothing had happened. I guess everyone had a good laugh.
 Q. Who comes to Wolfys?

Amy: We get young people and we get the more mature folks, too. Locals and tourists. The locals come in at 5 almost every night. One couple - Bob and Lori - eat here every night. The singles mingle at the bar. We also get plenty of 'cheaters.' Some of the brag about being out without the wife. Many of the tourists want to know about the alligators. They don't believe it when we tell them 15-footers come right up to the restaurant. Our bar is like the Cheers bar on TV - not the Cheers bar in Lake Mary.

Q. Amy, how did all those dollar bills get up on the ceiling? How many of them are up there, anyway?

Amy: I bet we have $400 up there. Wolfy says we can have them if we find a way to climb to them. No one's thought much about it. The trick to getting them to stick? You take a dollar and you stick a tack in the middle. Then you take a quarter and you put the quarter over the tack and then you fold the dollar bill around it. Then, you throw it as hard as you can at the ceiling until it sticks.

Q. OK. Seen anybody in sports bras this year?
 Amy: Sure, everywhere. What's the big fuss? Women wear them all the time. I see them jogging or working out. Ever since that soccer girl showed hers, it's become quite the deal. Now, I'd have been surprised if a woman showed up in public wearing a Victoria Secret's Wonder Bra. That would be something.

Q. Will Sanford ever be a real hoot?

Amy: Eventually. Right now, Wolfys is the hot spot. If anyone wants anymore fun than they get at Wolfys, they'll need to drive 20 miles. When the convention center gets built - and I hope it does - things will live up. I don't know how long that's going to be. It'll be when the GreeneWay is extended. It's still a neat town just as it is. We need to improve the town's reputation. But Hey, you can take your kids to Fun World or the zoo.

Q. Are you sticking with the Magic?

Amy: Can't see myself buying a ticket to watch the team they have now. I'm glad Penny (Hardaway) is gone. He was such a whiner. I wish they had kept Nick (Anderson). They seem to be a bunch of nobodies.

Q. You work for Wolfy now. Will your next boss be State Attorney Norm Wolfinger?

Amy: I'd like that. Like that very much. I prefer to work in a state attorney's office than for a private law firm. I have a way to go, of course.

WIN AT BRIDGE

To fool one way or another

Theodore Hook, an English novelist and wit who died in 1841, claimed, "The greater the fool, the better the dancer." I must agree with that, because my effort to learn some ballroom dancing last year left my wife with several bruised toes.
At the bridge table, though, there are times when you need to fool an opponent. You mislead him about your true holding, and if he buys the bluff, you will make a defeatable contract.
In this deal, you reach the good six spades. Yet, first, West leads a diamond; then, when you cash the ace-king of spades, you learn that West has a trump trick. How would you continue?
Two clubs is strong, artificial and forcing. North's raise to three spades promises some values. With four or more trumps and nothing else, he would jump to four spades. With other really bad hands, he would rebid two no-trump, the so-called double nega-

You must discard both of dummy's diamond losers before West can ruff in to cash the diamond queen. And as West has only a doubleton heart, you appear to have no chance.
Well, there are two approaches. Cash the ace-king of hearts, then lead the jack, trying to look like a man who is about to ruff a loser in the dummy. Alternatively, play a club to dummy's ace, followed by a heart to the queen, feigning the heart finesse. When you continue with the ace and jack of hearts, a careless West won't ruff. Of course, he should trump in because he can see how to defeat the contract. Also, without the heart king, you wouldn't have bid so much.

Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Lee Campbell

Diane R. Warren, Randall Campbell exchange vows

Diane Renee Warren and Randall Lee Campbell, both of Plugerville, Texas, exchanged wedding vows June 5, at 7 p.m., in the Dover Room of the Double Tree Hotel at Austin, Texas. Pastor Kent Boulton performed the traditional ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of JoAnn and Kevin Lykins of Sanford and Ray and Chris Smith of Austin. The bridegroom is the son of Pat and Ken Holder of Plugerville.

Given in marriage by Ray Smith, the bride chose for her vows a short-sleeved formal white lace and silk gown with layered ruffles in the back. A pearl headpiece held her tiered veil of imported illusion and she wore a pearl necklace to match the headpiece. The bride carried an arm bouquet of red and white roses.

Peggy Jean McGowan attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a black lace ankle-length gown complemented with a pearl necklace and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Bridesmaids were: Nanette Campbell, Brandy Dickson and Elisabeth Evans. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Richard Campbell served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were: Robert Campbell and Ryan Campbell and groomsmen were: Richard Campbell Jr., Ken Holder and Rick Rinestone.

Flower girls were Stephanie Warren and Toni Smith and the ring bearer was Eric Warren.

Following the wedding, the reception was held at the Double Tree Hotel.

The newlyweds plan a delayed wedding trip to the Bahamas. They are making their home in Plugerville where the bride is employed as a rental manager and the bridegroom is a self contractor for home services.

Three centuries of life New birth adds five generations to family

If Polly Schoolcraft lives to see the millennium roll around, the former missionary will have lived in three centuries. Not too many have reached this historic milestone.

A new addition has been added to Polly's family this year, the birth of a great great granddaughter who was born on Feb. 12, the birthday of her great great grandfather, Polly's husband.

Little Erin Morgan Merrell is the daughter of Christina and Franklin Merrell of Alabama; the great granddaughter of Helen Hall, Old Town; and granddaughter of Renee Glasco of Horton, Ala., representing five generations.

Polly Schoolcraft has been a resident of The Florida Living facility in Apopka for several years. On her 100th birthday last Sept. 12, she was honored there with a big birthday party.

Polly and her late husband, Deward, are leaving quite a legacy to their family. They were married in Texas in 1917 and became missionaries to Haiti in the early 1950s. At that time, they built their home on Riverview Avenue in Sanford in order to have a place in the states where they could return. The couple spent many fulfilling years touring and giving lectures on the needs of impoverished Haiti.

According to daughter Helen Hall, Polly, a frail and fragile fraternal twin and one of 11 children, nearly died at birth. Two years later, her mother gave birth to a set of identical twins. Today, all of Polly's siblings are gone, leaving her as the sole survivor.

Polly and Deward are the parents of six children: Mildred Bea Ryle of Denver, Col.; Helen Hall, formerly of Blountsville, Ala., now of Old Town; Betty Young, Altamonte Springs, whose husband, Don, is from Sanford; Edward B. Schoolcraft, Waverly, Kan.; Deward Schoolcraft Jr. who met with an accidental death at age 18; and Carol Schoolcraft, also a missionary who died of cancer at age 47.

While Polly's husband was constructing a building for a school in Haiti, he fell and injured his head which resulted in his death and burial in his beloved Haiti. Polly and daughter Carol continued to work in Haiti until Carol's death in 1988.

On Polly's 100th birthday last year, daughter Helen Hall said "Mother's heart is excellent for a woman her age. She is very alert and sound, and very spry and happy."

Recently Helen, age 76, said, "My mother's health is still very good. Fact is, she has far less arthritis than I have."

The family is looking forward to celebrating a touch of three centuries with their truly grand mom.

June McFadden is ready to get back to her job with the school board after an exciting summer. The former Grand Royal Matron of the Grand Court of Florida Order of the Amaranth enjoys every minute she spends with Amaranth members, staunch supporters of diabetes and the Youth Masonic Home.

In May, June attended the Grand Court in Tampa as Grand Commissioner of Appeals. Her daughter, Honor Lady Sharon Smith was in-

Pastor Marvin Scott delivered the message. He spoke of love, real love, unconditional love and told the audience of what love does in action and how to express and show real love. He said, "Love is expressed from the heart. We must have Christian love. Love looks beyond our faults and shortcomings."

Daughter Ruler Sylvia Bodison presented and honored daughters who have been called for the 1999 term. They are: Bernice Poole, Juanita Papino, Ernestine Williams and Betty Freddie.

Daughter Margaret S. Jackson was the recipient of the coveted Daughter of the Year 1999-2000 award. She was honored with the title for outstanding service to the temple above and beyond the call of duty.

Girl Scouts schedule Roundup, attend Miracle game on Aug. 4

Girl Scout Roundup is the Girl Scouts annual recruitment night. Stardust Service Unit in Lake Mary has already scheduled this night. Roundup for Lake Mary Elementary School will be at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 17 in the cafeteria. Roundup for Wilson Elementary will be Monday, Aug. 23. And Roundup for Heathrow Elementary will be Tuesday, Sept. 7. If you know that you cannot attend on the night your school is having Roundup, you can go to one of the other schools.

Because turnout is lower at the middle and high school, no Roundups are scheduled for Greenwood Lakes Middle School or Lake Mary High School. However, if you have a girl at either of those schools who is interested in joining Girl Scouts, for Greenwood, you can call Peggy Wolfe at 327-8267.

Girl Scouts is open to all school age girls. Kindergarten age girls are Daisies. Brownies are typically first through third grade, Juniors are fourth through sixth grade, Cadettes are seventh through ninth and Seniors are tenth through twelfth. (Some years can overlap). Girls do many activities together as a troop. For instance, many places, such as the Central Florida Zoo and both Universal Studios Parks, offer special programs just for the Girl Scouts. The girls also participate in Service Unit activities with other troops. Last year, twenty-five of the troops in Lake Mary went to Wekiwa State Park to camp together. Their theme was the 1920's. The girls participated in activities from a 1920's Girl Scout handbook. Every spring, Stardust holds their own Olympics for the girls to get the chance to compete with other girls their own age.

MARY ROWELL
Lake Mary
Correspondent

Why would you want your daughter to become a Girl Scout? Girl Scouts learn independence and self sufficiency. They learn about service to the community. For every 100 girls who join scouting, four will earn the Girl Scout Gold Award, 12 will have their first contact with a place of worship, five will earn their religious award, one will enter the clergy, 18 will develop hobbies that will be used during their adult life, eight will enter a career that they discovered through Girl Scouting, 17 will become Girl Scout volunteers, one will use her Girl Scouting skills to save a life, and one will use her Girl Scouting skills to save her own life.

GIRL SCOUT NIGHT WITH THE MIRACLE
For some girls from Lake Mary, attending Girl Scout Night at the Miracle game on Aug. 4, was their first chance to attend a professional sports game. And the girls were thrilled that it was to see Orlando's first women's basketball team. Girls from Troops 148, 194, 262, 441 and 458 were able to attend a special pre-game clinic with the Orlando Miracle camp staff before the game started. They practiced dribbling and shooting and got some special tips on handling the ball. The girls also got a special Orlando Miracle Girl Scout Patch. After the clinic, Head Coach Carolyn Peck came out and talked with the girls.

There is a difference between the WNBA and the NBA. The games are divided into two 14 minute halves. In the men's, the shot clock is set for 24 seconds and in the women's, it's 30. The Lake Mary girls cheered for the Miracle players throughout the whole game. There were a few times when the Cleveland Rockets got ahead, but the Miracle always took the lead back. The girls cheered their loudest when the Miracle won the game.

stalled as Historian, and Sharon's husband, Sir Knight Dean Smith, was installed Deputy Grand Royal Patron. After the Grand Court came the Supreme Council Order of the Amaranth in Louisville, Ky. June said, "This was a special week for me as I was asked to be Supreme Truth pro tem. What an honor! The very first time I ever took part in taking a Supreme floor office was the year I was Grand Royal Patron I was a page to the Supreme Royal Matron." Another honor and surprise came when June realized with whom she was serving a station - Phyllis Fox of Canada, mother of celebrity actor Michael J. Fox. "I have always loved to watch him (Fox) on TV's 'Spin City.'" June said, "He is so funny." At the Supreme Council, June was installed as Deputy Supreme Royal Matron and Phyllis Fox was elected to Supreme Commissioner of Appeals. June said, "Phyllis will come back from Canada next year to be with us in Georgia. We are looking forward to her return. What memories!"

ACTS PRESENTS 'LIVIN' IT UP'
ACTS (Answering the Call to Serve), a musical group of the First United Methodist Church will present "Livin' It Up," on Sunday, Aug. 22, at 6:30 p.m., in the First United Methodist Church, 419 S. Park Ave., Sanford. The public is welcome. According to Lori Hartscock, the church administrative assistant, "Livin' It Up" is a collection of songs and sketches enhanced by scripture reading. Lori said, "The production is actually a musical Bible study designed to help you understand how you, as believers, can Live It Up. As believers, we have rights, responsibilities, requirements and promises."

Summer

Frequently, she dresses in clothing worn when the museum was indeed a Sanford school house. Fisher shares stories about the school and about what the students of yesteryear were taught.

She might also have a story about her vacation in case anyone asked.

Sliding into splendor

Paul H. Pirkle, 86, came up with a splendid summertime activity this year. As usual, he tended the lawn and tinkered with bird houses at his Longwood home. He also had a fine time presenting his own slide shows.

Through the years, Pirkle had used his photography skills taking pictures on countless journeys to Alaska and many other states. He would show the pictures to family.

This summer, he produced a 30-minute slide show on the beauty of North America and another on "Old Orlando." He entertained those at the Broadway Methodist Church of Orlando with the slides and also visited several other churches.

"This is my way of helping people that appreciate seeing nice things in God's creation," Pirkle said.

A Nifty Fifty

Turning 50, Sheila Kramer of Lake Mary knew she needed to get away for a summer holiday. Her husband, Michael, agreed. She chose to take a trip to New York and New England to visit her high school and college friends.

"I went to New York City first," Kramer said. "Then, I went by Amtrak to Wallingford, Conn. My high girl friends were in New York. My University of Bridgeport friends were in Wallingford and in Boston."

Kramer said her college roommate, Dr. Julie Wood, is a Harvard professor. "This was my first trip to Harvard Square and it was incredible," Kramer said. "I visited with Julie and her husband."

"The two-week trip sure made turning 50 a lot easier. It made me feel younger than ever."

Oh Canada

It's become a routine each summer for Audrey Ogden of Sanford to take a trip to her native Canada. She not only gets to visit with her mom, 85-year-old Audrey Wilkinson of Windsor.

The two Audreys drove the Trans Canada Highway 401 to scenic Kingston, Ontario to attend a retired Naval Officers Reunion. They had dinner at the Royal Military College which overlooks Lake Ontario.

"Last year we went to Victoria Island, British Columbia," Ogden said. "Next year we're planning to be in Edmonton, Alberta."

As good as the Canadian holiday was, Odgen is all the more excited about her daughter's wedding today (Saturday) at All Souls Catholic Church in Sanford. Kelly Ogden, a recent graduate of the University of Florida, is marrying Frank Hahnel, III.

A former president of the Sanford Optimist Club, Audrey Ogden and her ex-Navy husband David, have a penchant of making every occasion a good one - be it in winter, spring, summer or fall.

Music & Medicine
For Karen Nunez, 18, Summer

1999 has been a magic carpet ride. She performed as a flutist with the Florida Symphony Youth Orchestra in Munich, Salzburg, Vienna and Prague.

Valedictorian of her class at Seminole High School, Nunez had a 4.2 grade average and was wooed by Rice, Duke, Vanderbilt, Johns Hopkins and Florida universities. She chose Rice and will begin pre-med studies there next week.

Seven years ago when Nunez came to Central Florida from her native, Peru, she did not speak English - making her scholastic successes all the more spectacular. "I am very grateful to my mother and father for their support and encouragement," Nunez said. "It will be difficult being away from them when I go to Houston for college. My wonderful summer is only the start of the most amazing year of my life."
