Bitter Weather Cloaks Most Of U. S.

United Press International Fresh snow swept out of the Southland and the Northeast today. Weathermen forecast no major break in the bitter weather cloak of the nation.

The brunt of the Eastern storm moved out into the Atlantic Ocean Sunday night, but deposited moderate snowfall amounts along its flanks from northern New Jersey to southern New England.

Earlier, the storm slammed into Dixie, dumping six inches of snow at Richmond, Va. It left one to four inches from northern South Carolina to southeastern New England.

As the cold snap stretched well into its second week, readings plunged to zero or below as far south as Fayetteville, Ark. during the night and sub-freezing temperatures ranged through Georgia and northern Florida.

Weather Pattern Reversed However, a warming trend in the northern plains created a reversal of the usual weather pattern. Great Falls and Cutbank, Mont., each recorded 33-degree readings at midnight, while along the Gulf streams of Mobile, Ala., and New Orleans shivered in 29 and 33-degree temperatures, respectively.

The Southland's cold wave was felt during the night from Texas to northern Florida, where at least five deaths have been attributed to the icy temperatures. Oswego, N. Y., was pelted with four inches of snow Sunday morning, boosting the total that has fallen in that snow-crippled city to the last eight days to 43 inches.

Oswego Digs Out Skies cleared during the afternoon, and highway crews made the most of the reprieve to clear Oswego of snow and a foot and one-half layer of ice in the streets.

"It looks like we're pulling out of it," an official said. No snow was predicted for the city today. About an inch of snow fell in Chicago, bringing the accumulation to 11 inches in the past week. Temperatures fell below zero during the night for the sixth day of the zero or sub-zero readings in the city this month.

Congeniality Warmed Visitors To Sanford

Sanford had a big success story last weekend. Successful events included the sixth annual bombing derby at the Sanford Naval Air Station, open house for the public at the station, Navy Appreciation Day in Ft. Mellon Park, the annual Mayfair Inn Open golf tournament, the Elks Charity Ball and a number of parties for visiting dignitaries.

It was a big weekend. Visitors were in Sanford from just about every state in the U. S. Pretty weather Saturday and Sunday combined with the congeniality of Sanford residents to make it a pleasant visit for Navy, aircraft and sports figures.

Local leaders took advantage of the opportunity to make new friends, for themselves and Sanford. Visitors left here impressed by the sincere hospitality shown them. Each visitor was invited to return to Sanford, for another visit or permanently.

Officials of Douglas Aircraft Co., manufacturers of planes used at the Naval Air Station and high-ranking Navy officials were complimentary to the base and Sanford for the spirit of cooperation between the two.

U. S. Rep. A. Sydney Herlong of Leesburg lauded Sanford's adoption of the Navy; Navy officials praised the efficiency of NAS.

But, perhaps, the best summation of Sanford came from the golfers who participated in the fourth annual Mayfair tournament.

Chick Harbert, a veteran of some 20 years on the professional circuit, told about 2,500 spectators at the end of the tournament:

"Sanford has always been wonderful to us. We always look forward to our tournament here. The interest you have shown in the tournament, the warm reception that you have given us speak well for this community. We hope to see you next year, and for many years to come."

This is the very best in public relations. This is the type of feeling we hope all of our visitors take with them.

Just A Sittin' Duck

He was just a sittin' duck, but all of those people who tried to help him didn't know that.

The story began when someone called the police department in Richmond, Va., and reported that a duck was stuck in a pond.

Police, firemen and members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals went to the small, ice-bound lake to see what they could do about the fowl.

After much consultation, the firemen decided the fowl was out of their jurisdiction. After more consultation, a crew broke the ice and started rowing toward the duck.

Just as his rescuers arrived, the duck took off, much to the dismay of those who had tried to help.

That duck was a real foul, bringing all of those people out into the cold. However, the duck was minding his own business and probably was amused, if he could understand what was going on around him.

Housing Loans Up In Sanford Area

The Farmers Home Administration office in Sanford reported increased activity during the past month on farm housing, due to loan processing and inspection of farm buildings under construction.

Part-time, as well as full-time farmers, now are eligible for loans on construction, alteration or repair of essential farm buildings.

Many of these have already applied for loans, according to Curtis J. Green, Sanford FIA supervisor.

Green stated that most of the loans now are being made for construction of three-bedroom farm dwellings. The average loan is for $10,000 with a 20-year mortgage.

The Sanford FIA office controls the program in Flagler, Volusia, Seminole, Orange and Brevard Counties. The office is located in the Sanford Atlantic Bank Building, Room 417.

California's annual rainfall ranges from 110 inches in the redwood belt in the northwest corner of the state to two inches or less in the desert valley region of the southwest.

LIVING HIGH ON THE HOG

Washington Calling

BY WILLIAM H. WHITE

WASHINGTON — Countless minds of a steel-trap keenness on figures, endless critical labels bulging with formidable fiscal lore, are worrying frantically about the government's budget, which is to be discussed next month in all its terrifying bulk.

This correspondent has always least backslap in honor from any implied obligation even to understand, much less to report upon, any kind of budget — Federal, state, county, city or personal. He never met a payroll. Worse yet, as a small businessman in the writing trade he has trouble deciding at the end of the month which pants pocket owned the other pants pocket, and how much.

All the same, it is conceivable that even the most ignorant in this field can occasionally stumble upon some idea that might be of help to the sturdy characters who are trying so wistfully to reduce Federal spending.

Such a modest proposal is here offered, and by unanimous consent it will hereafter be known simply as Plan A. Plan A involves a policy of austerity so Spartan that even the most conservative economists might well quail from the enormous sacrifice involved.

Plan A would sweep through the Federal bureaucracy at the cost not simply of many heads but also at the less measurable but grievous cost of the self-esteem of many other heads that would be left.

For Plan A would entail nothing less than the cruel and immediate discharge of the thousands — sometimes it seems it really must be millions — of young women who answer the telephone of the male Federal bureaucrats.

And in such wholesale firings the outstanding symbols of status for these males would be lost and gone.

No one inexperienced in the technique of getting a Federal official on the telephone — personally in his personal voice — can readily imagine what a vast industry Washington telephone answering has become. One rings up the department of so and so and asks for John Jones, who is a fairly important gent there.

The First Answerer replies in a throaty whisper which may or may not be in Greek or Hindustani. What she is says or Hindustani language, is that she will transfer you to "information" she knows perfectly well what Jones's extension is; he has had the same one for the six years she has been on the job. But she is not going to let down the side by disclosing such classified matters to mere strangers from the outside.

There is a peculiar half-buzzing, half-ringing noise for a while and then a voice comes on from the young woman who is in charge of the information end of the telephone. This is the Second Answerer. The Second Answerer is willing to give you Jones's extension number. She then rings back the First Answerer to divulge this secret.

The First Answerer, with the air of having done her full duty against an interloper to no avail, reluctantly then rings Jones's extension. You have the good feeling that now you are about some free on this thing. But this notion is all vanity. For when there is at long last actually a response from

Holtzclaw Sings For Rotary Club

Richard Holtzclaw, well-known operatic star, sang several selections for the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday at the Sanford Civic Center.

Holtzclaw chose "Old Man River," "Without a Song," and brought down the house with "Shortenin' Bread". In appreciation of the singer's annual appearance before the club, members gave him a standing ovation.

Rotarians will hear the Rev. Robert Spear next week as he expounds on the modern man's approach to the Christmas Story. Members will join in the singing of favorite Christmas carols at the conclusion of the inspirational message.

Fred Othman Says

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON — In my hot little hand is a book (I'm not telling how I got it) entitled: "Information for Representatives-Elect to the 86th Congress." Causes this taxpayer to raise an eyebrow.

The document, as prepared by Ralph Roberts, Clerk of the House, lists all the pleasant things a Congressman can expect from his Uncle Sam. It also indicates he'll be in serious trouble if he tries to swipe, say, a typewriter, or a leather couch. Let's consider the happy items first:

On January 3, next, the statesman can start collecting their wages at the rate of $22,500 a year. They also can deduct from their income tax returns up to $3,000 spent for living expenses here and that's only the beginning. For each regular session of Congress they can come to the capital and go home at Federal expense, figured at the rate of 20 cents a mile. If they'll kindly turn in three samples of their signatures, they can send through the mail free an official business letter weighing up to four ounces each. Every session every Congressman can have $1,200 to buy stationery "or other supplies" at the official store.

Each member gets $400 a session for airmail and special delivery stamps. He can talk 6,000 minutes on the long-distance telephone and charge the bill to Uncle. He also can send 40,000 words — enough for a short novel — by telegraph anywhere in the United States or its possessions.

He can have two offices back in his home district and the government will foot the bill up to $1,200. He can collect $350 a quarter for the expenses of these offices. He can join the Civil Service retirement system upon payment of 7½ percent of his wages. This entitled him to a pension and his widow to death benefits. He automatically is covered for $20,000 in group life insurance. If he's under 65 years old; $3,000 if he's older than that. He gets a quota of free Congressional directories.

He also gets free 68 copies of that lively daily, the Congressional Record, which will be mailed to whomever he designates. For himself he receives copies of the record at home, at his office and also under his seat in the chamber.

Each member can hire clerks with salaries at the basic rate to talking $17,500 a year. Actually, under a series of raises, the wages of a Congressman's helpers can run in about twice that amount. Author Roberts includes some examples:

Say a Congressman hires a clerk for $5,000 a year. To this wage must be added 11 different raises and her actual salary turns out to be $10,941.81. A committee clerk hired at $380 a year really gets $18,418.14.

All offices of Congressmen are fully furnished and completely equipped, according to author Roberts, and nothing shall be removed. The Clerk, namely, author Roberts, will have an inventory and if he finds anything missing, he is authorized to take steps. If the Congressman cares to bring in some of his own stuff, to make the place look homey, fair enough, but the government will not repair it free. This includes picture frames. If they fall apart,

Physicians have long known that mental attitude often affects sickness. When people are sick, treatment can be more effective if the patient has complete confidence in the ability of the physician to accomplish a cure.

Never have any doubts about the ability of a physician to help you. Gone are the days when little was known about the causes of sickness. Medicines now can be depended upon to accomplish a desired result. When you walk into a physician's office leave all doubts outside, for your trouble will soon be gone.

Christmas Dinner Is Scheduled

Plans were completed for the annual Christmas Dinner of the Anna Miller Circle at a meeting of the group last week.

This dinner is the main social event of the year. It will be held in the E.B.'s Club Annex with husbands invited. There will be a gift exchange.

Mrs. Christine Blankenship presided over the meeting. Mrs. Bobbie Carruthers stated that a letter of thanks has been sent to Al Lang.

Mr. Lang presented the circle with a gift in memory of his wife, Martha, who died recently. Members will make cookies for the open house to be held at the USO on Christmas Day.

A committee headed by Mrs. Dorothy Via was responsible for purchasing and wrapping Christmas gifts for each child in the Harry Anna Crispel Children's Home. The gifts will be delivered this week by several members of the circle.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Jan. 13.

Ixora Circle Women Display Decorations

One of the most entertaining and helpful programs of the Ixora Garden Circle year was enjoyed on Friday morning by members who met at the home of Mrs. W. V. Roberts on Seminole Boulevard.

Assisting Mrs. Roberts were Mrs. G. D. Bishop Jr. and Mrs. Donald Jones.

Sparkling and unusual decorations displayed at the meeting gave inspiration and impetus toward Christmas decorating in the home.

The construction of these decorations was explained by Mrs. A. J. Bracken, Mrs. Vann Parker, Mrs. A. J. Pleva, Mrs. Wight Kirtley, Mrs. Joe Baker, Mrs. Al Doudney, Mrs. Frank Donahoe, and Mrs. Harry Lee Sr.

An appropriate poem read by Mrs. Lee opened the program. Package decorations, miniature Christmas trees, table arrangements, and door decorations were displayed and explained.

Among the attractive packages was one wrapped in gold foil, gold ribbon, and accented with brown pine cones. Another package was wrapped in white and decorated with pink shells. Children's packages were displayed as well as a short leaf pine tree with multi-colored Christmas balls. A pine candle decorated with emerald backed stars, forming a tree, caused much comment.

A lovely table arrangement was formed by a crescent-shaped palm frond, blue balls, and glittering silvered Magnolia leaves. Adding a gracious note was an arrangement of white chrysanthemums centered with a Madonna. An interesting display was a brassy suiter filled with colored water upon which floated a burning candle.

Prior to the business meeting coffee and small doughnuts were served. Mrs. Wight Kirtley, vice chairman, conducted the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. W. H. Meriwether. She welcomed Mrs. Gordon Stanley into the circle. The group voted on a by-laws resolution regarding the changing of the amount of annual dues.

Mrs. Cleveland, Horticulture chairman, gave tips on methods of preparing for cold weather. She suggested heavy watering, light fertilizing and mulching.

Mrs. Peck was presented with a gift by the members. The hostesses also presented the members with a gift, after which a delicious luncheon was served at Papineau's restaurant.

Marilyn Calhoun Feted At Tea Held At Fleming Home Saturday

Lovely Christmas decorations set the background for a tea given for Miss Marilyn Calhoun, bride-elect, Saturday afternoon by Mrs. W. G. Fleming. Mrs. Arthur Beckwith Jr. greeted guests at the door. In the receiving line were Mrs. Fleming, Miss Calhoun, Mrs. J. A. Calhoun, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. E. C. Hansen, Belleview, mother of the bridesmaid.

A pretty picture was created by the mantle, which was banked with white magnolias. In the center was a scene including a Madonna and child boss. Tall Christmas candles stood at either end. The dining room table was covered with a white cut work cloth.

The centerpiece was created of white magnolia leaves with red poinsettias. Delicate white Christmas trees added to the scene. Coffee was served from a silver coffee service; other guests were served sandwiches, punch from a crystal punch bowl. Those who honored were: Mrs. R. I. Beard, Mrs. Arthur Beckwith, Mrs. W. H. St. James, Miss Viola Smith, Belleview, cake, nuts, and sandwiches completed the course.

The honoree was presented with a place-setting in her chosen china pattern.

Others assisting were: Mrs. W. B. Gunter, Mrs. D. H. Anderson, Mrs. Charles Calhoun, Mrs. J. T. Harris, Mrs. Wendell Hart, Miss Sojka Monforton, Miss Rachel Bentley, Miss Marilyn Calhoun, and Mrs. T. R. Moyer.

About 15 guests called.

Sorority Has Party Saturday

Members of Gamma Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and their husbands enjoyed an egg-nog party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Robertson Saturday night.

The Robertson home was attractive in its Christmas decorations. A large Christmas tree brushed the ceiling in one corner of the room. A gold miniature tree in the Florida room caused much comment. Red poinsettias created a gay centerpiece on the dining room table. The buffet held twin candelabra decorated in silver and blue with burning white tapers.

Fruit cake and salted nuts were served with the egg-nog. Mrs. Ed Peterson poured. Members of the sorority exchanged Beta buddy gifts.

Those who called at the Robertson home between 8 and 9 p. m. attended the Elk's Charity Ball afterwards.

Mrs. Peck, chairman, opened the meeting with the members praying the Lord's Prayer and Mrs. Peck reading a poem "A Garden for Circles".

A recommendation was read for increasing the dues.

Mrs. Ray Peck will be at the Salvation Army kettles Monday the 15th.

The members of the circle will trim the tree in the children's ward in the hospital.

Roll call was answered by the seventeen members present, responding with a botanical name of plants and trees and description of same.

Mrs. Cleveland, Horticulture chairman, gave tips on methods of preparing for cold weather. She suggested heavy watering, light fertilizing and mulching.

Mrs. Peck was presented with a gift by the members. The hostesses also presented the members with a gift, after which a delicious luncheon was served at Papineau's restaurant.

Rose Circle Has Meeting

Rose Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. B. B. Crumley on Friday, December 12th. Mrs. Don Atwood was co-hostess.

The house was beautiful with Christmas decorations. Gleaming candles on the refreshment table added color to the lovely display of Christmas cookies, candies, and coffee.

After a short business meeting Miss Wilma Magill presented a wonderful Christmas program emphasizing friendship, faith and hope. She described the Christmas rituals at Old Salem and distributed some of the traditional ginger cookies and hand-dipped holly wax candles made there each year especially for the Christmas festivities.

The program ended with the lighting of the candles, one from the other, in appropriate background music finishing with candles held high and a "toast" in contained love, friendship, faith and hope.

An exchange of Christmas gifts followed.

Frisco Fans Worst In U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Move over, Boston, Mass., and Columbus, Ohio, and the rest of the belligerent sports cities.

Let San Francisco take over as the most intolerant sports town in the nation.

The city by the Golden Gate, since noted for having the most fair-minded sports people in the world, now has developed a band of vicious, blood-thirsty, name-calling "fans" who won't take "no" for an answer from authorities.

Just the facts:
—Herman Franks, very competent third base coach for the San Francisco Giants during the 1958 campaign, resigned under the constant booing and abuse given him by the fans because rookie runners wouldn't heed his instructions and were thrown out going for home.

—Frankie Albert quit as coach of the Forty Niner football team because he didn't want his family to have to stand the abuse from the so-called fans who blamed him for every defect in the 1958 machine.

—Two National League umpires, Ken Burkhardt and Vince Delmore, were beaten up by an enraged fan as they went to dinner at a North Beach restaurant last year.

—In 1956, police had to put in riot calls twice at Seals Stadium because fans streamed out of the seats to attack an umpire. One woman was injured in one of these attacks during which the umpire swung his mask to protect himself. The woman sued the Seals management, of all things, and won!

—At Stanford this year a near riot broke out between students of Stanford and Southern California rooters after the game, with hundreds swinging fists at the same time.

—At Kezar Stadium on Sunday, many hundreds of fans battled police after San Francisco had defeated Baltimore. There were bloody noses bumped heads and other injuries before order was restored.

Tear Up Seats
—A few years back, students at University of California, tore up the plank seats when their team failed to win the big game against Stanford.

—Little Johnny Longden, one of the greatest jockies of all time, was roughly booed the other day when he made his comeback — at the age of 68 — after being out with a broken leg. The fans expressed their dislike for Johnny because he doesn't bring home a winner every time he goes up on a horse.

—Willie Maya, one of the most exciting baseball players of the current era, is booed by San Francisco fans whenever he goes into a slump. One of the great natural hitters of all time, Willie got the cat-calls last summer several times because he left runners stranded on base.

—Bad manners? A break-down in authority? It's hard to figure what the fans expect. They have developed an intolerance for anything but winners. Every day, in every game, every year.

Statistics Prove Ford, Turley Best
CHICAGO (UPI)—Catey Stengel said all year long that Whitey Ford and Bob Turley were the two best pitchers in the circuit, and the American League made it official today.

Ford, the canny, left-handed curve-baller of the Yankees' pitching staff, turned in a 2.01 earned run average that was certified as best in the league, while the right-handed Turley compiled the league's highest percentage, .350, by winning 21 games and losing only seven.

Sidelined with a sore elbow for part of the season, the 31-year-old Ford still managed to fashion a 14.7 record and lead the league with seven shutouts. His 567 won-loss percentage was second only to Turley's.

No one could touch Ford in the E.R.A. department. Southpaw Billy Pierce of the White Sox (17-11) was second with 2.58; lefthander Jack Harshbarger of the Orioles (12-15) third with 2.99; righthander Frank Lary of the Tigers (16-15) fourth with 2.91, and southpaw Billy O'Dell of the Orioles (14-11) fifth with 2.97.

Turley, who went on to win two World Series games against Milwaukee, was sixth in earned runs with 2.98 and his six shutouts placed him right behind Ford in that category. Bullet Bob was the league's only 20-game winner and he would up in a tie with Pierce and Lary for the most complete games. Each pitched 19.

Kentucky Escapes Repeat Of History

United Press International
The Kentucky Wildcats collided head-on with basketball history Monday night, and only by a prime effort kept it from repeating itself.

Bosox Trade Klaus For Fleet Busby

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Red Sox, long known as one of the most reluctant traders of the American League, completed their third trade in less than two weeks when they dealt spare shortstop Billy Klaus to the Baltimore Orioles in return for outfielder Jim Busby Monday night.

The straight player trade brought the pitcher-turned Red Sox their fifth outfielder to battle for the center field spot left vacant Dec. 2 when the outspoken Jimmy Piersall was traded to the Cleveland Indians.

In return for Piersall Boston acquired veteran first baseman Vic Worix and rookie outfielder Gary Geiger. In another Dec. 2 transaction, the Red Sox traded spare catcher Lou Berberet to the Detroit Tigers for righthanded pitcher Herb Motzer.

Along with Busby and Geiger, the other Red Sox center field aspirants will be Gene Stephens, Marty Kough and Bill Renne. Ted Williams, of course, will be in left, while American League MVP Jackie Jensen will patrol right field.

Cincinnati Hikes Lead In Cage Poll

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oscar Robertson-led Cincinnati widened its lead over Kansas State today in the United Press International ratings as the college basketball powers began the flurry of pre-holiday activity that is bound to re-align the top 10 teams.

Tulane contained dangerous Rice center Tom Rohnkille, but the Owls used accuracy and ball control to trip up the Greenies. Tulane center Vic Klinker, one of the SEC's better scorers this year, was high man for the night with 20 points. Rohnkille had 14, his lowest of the season.

Miss Bittersweet Runs In Feature At Track Tonight

Dog racing fans will be watching popular Miss Bittersweet tonight when she goes to the post in Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club's featured ninth race in her first appearance since 1956, when the brindle miss figured in 15 quinelas.

Tomorrow, many will return for the season's first matinee card. The afternoon of thrills will start at 2 p. m., launching a winter of matinees slated for each Wednesday and Saturday.

The matinee feature tomorrow will be headlined by Cri Tears and Golden Empress, two fast bounds who barely missed landing berths in the inaugural Handicap.

Hobby Son will be pushing Miss Bittersweet for top honors tonight, along with six other speedsters. Hobby Son posted a fiery 31.34 over the five-sixteenth-mile distance in schooling tests, fastest time of any of the featured starters.

Rounding out the feature field will be Smoke Trail, Mixed Grade, Fable Juriat, Blue Cheddar, Meanwhile and Golden Glider.

Fire Alarm Delay Cited At Inquest

CHICAGO (UPI)—A delayed fire alarm "definitely" contributed to the tragic toll of 92 dead in the Our Lady of the Angels school fire, according to Chicago Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn, testifying Monday at an inquest into the disaster, also said the person who called in the alarm gave the wrong address, costing further precious time.

'Strippers' Nude, Kids Goggle-Eyed, Parents Get Irate

TOKYO (UPI)—Irate parents complained today that a Tokyo grammar school auditorium was used last week to stage an election campaign strip tease show while 100 of their youngsters looked on goggle-eyed.

The strippers cavorted at the Tanaka Primary school last Wednesday night in a show that featured Dr. Ryutaro Asuma, Liberal-Democratic candidate for governor of Tokyo, as its main speaker.

The embarrassed Asuma said he left immediately after he gave his speech and had no idea strippers were a part of the show that followed. He said someone else planned the program and that he was simply invited to give a little speech.

The children were attracted by posters splashed on telephone poles promising "an erotic nude show" and "snake and dancing strippers."

The children apparently went to see the snakes but stayed to stare at the dancers. Admission was free.

Teachers said they knew nothing about the strip show until one boy stood up in his classroom and described what he had seen on the stage.

"I was a little embarrassed," he told his teacher, "but it was great fun."

U. S. Army Ends 'Rides For Cough'

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The U. S. Army has stopped flying German children to high altitudes in attempts to cure whooping cough.

An Army medical spokesman said Monday "there is no scientific basis for the belief that flying children up to altitudes of 15,000 to 20,000 feet will permanently cure them of whooping cough." Such flights may prolong the illness, the spokesman said.

Oswego Isn't 'Dreaming Of White...'

United Press International OSWEGO, N.Y. (UPI)—No one here here is dreaming of a white Christmas.

With nearly a season's worth of snow already on the ground all the melodic sentimentality in the world would have a hard time getting anyone to wish for any more. The 45-inches of snow began falling on Dec. 7.

For a while it brought normal life to a standstill in this northern New York community. And although normalcy is slowly returning it will be a long time before any one will forget this particular December 7 and its aftermath.

The snow, piled into huge drifts by winds and packed into solid walls 15 feet high by plows, brought hardship and some danger to the 23,000 residents of this community at the southeastern head of Lake Ontario. But no real crisis developed.

Little Car Travel—Despite the tons of snow which fell between Sunday and Thursday, all but the sick or elderly managed to get in and out of their homes with little trouble. Food and supplies were available. It was just a little more difficult than usual to get them.

Until the end of the week, for example, there was virtually no passenger car travel. But anyone who wanted food could get it by trudging waist-deep through the snow to the city's main business area.

Tavern-Business Good—A tavernowner reported that at the height of the snow-siege, "business was twice as good as any warm summer day." He attributed his good fortune to the fact that his was one of the few establishments in the area which kept a path open from the street, where pedestrians found it easier going than on the walks to his door.

Although many industries were shuttered, along with all schools in the city, the snow provided work for many. Police and firemen were kept busy directing emergency service for 18 to 20 hours a day. And the regional unemployment office channeled jobless workers to snow shoveling chores at $2 an hour.

Snark Fired, Set For 'Round Trip'—CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—An Air Force crew launched an intercontinental Snark missile early today to start a flight of about 3,000 miles down the Atlantic tracking range and back.

The Snark, the nation's only combat-ready ocean-hopping missile, was to return and land on its skills here harring any down-range mishaps. No announcement was expected on the return.

Although more than 60 Snarks have been fired, the air-breathing weapon is undergoing continued research and development tests. Today's launching, however, was a training mission for some of the troops who would fire the Snark in anger if necessary.

Blasting off at about 5 a. m. into an overcast sky, the Snark dropped its two solid-fuel boosters with a familiar flash of flame. Then its powerful turbojet engine powered it on its way. The roundtrip, airplane-like flight was expected to take about nine hours.

The Snark is actually a pilotless bomber capable of carrying a hydrogen warhead in its nose cone. It is guided throughout its subsonic flight while the Atlas ICBM is controlled only while its engines are burning.

Police, Red Cross and civil defense personnel were kept busy bringing supplies to people who could not get out for them. While many neighborhood grocery stores had to close because of a lack of deliveries, supermarkets in the downtown section operated as usual.

Deaths—LOS ALTOS, Calif. (UPI)—Funeral services were held today for Bertrand Silen, 38, retired radio station owner and manager who was National Broadcasting Company war correspondent in the Philippines when the war with Japan broke out.

Deaths—LONDON (UPI)—Sir Arthur Jarratt, 64, managing director for British Lion Films Ltd., died here Sunday.

Deaths—KHEINS, Switzerland (UPI)—Rudolf Roessler, 62, the famous "Lucy" of a war-time spy service that gave the Allies amazingly accurate information about German plans, died last Friday at his home here, it was disclosed Monday.

Deaths—NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Virginia Gillette White, 71, widow of Thomas J. White, former general manager of the Hearst organization, died at St. Luke's Hospital Monday after a brief illness. White died in 1918.

East Gets Break, Citrus Endangered

United Press International A warming trend surging out of the plains today promised at least a temporary break in a record December cold wave gripping the East.

The warmer weather, boosting readings an average of 10 to 15 degrees in its path, was expected to reach into the East today, although it may arrive too late to prevent damage to northern Florida's citrus and vegetable crops.

Quotable Quotes

United Press International MOSCOW—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, attacking ex-patriot Russian leaders:

"Everyone can now see the shameful debacle of this despicable group of wretched splitters exposed and routed by the central committee and swept aside by the party and people."

CHICAGO—Chicago Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn, on fire prevention:

"No one wants to spend money on fire prevention, not only in Chicago but in the rest of the country. It seems Americans have to have something like this (the recent Chicago school fire) to make them realize the problem."

EL CAJON, Calif.—Carl Eder, 16, on the slaying of a mother and her four children:

"I did it, I just flipped my lid."

FOSTON, Minn.—Maurice O. Nelson, an active supporter of Odin Langen, on charges that he wrote the "Coya, come home" letter believed to have led to the defeat of Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn.) by Langen:

"Mrs. Knutson's charges are ridiculous and simply are not true. She ought to have the good sense to accept her defeat graciously."

Student Ambushed By Angry Husband—BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—An angry husband shot and killed a student in a physics laboratory at the University of California early today because he was "messing around with my wife."

The victim, Wolfgang Ludwig Marx, died of three wounds from a .22 automatic fired by John W. Hampton, 31, of Berkeley, according to a university spokesman. Hampton is a UC graduate.

The slaying took place early today in Leconte Hall, where the physics laboratory is located. Hampton told campus police that Marx, a German-born junior student, had been "running around" with his wife. Determined to seek vengeance, Hampton armed himself with the gun and started looking for Marx.

Marx was hit twice in the heart and once in the head. He was dead before a doctor from the campus hospital arrived.

Hampton ran from the building. Janitors who heard the shots caught a glimpse of a man with a brown sports jacket, but were otherwise unable to identify him.

About three quarters of an hour later, campus police found Hampton in the building, searching for the pistol he had dropped.

freighters to return to their winter berths before the Soo Locks closed at midnight, officially ending the 1938 shipping season.

In Chicago, which is heading for its coldest December on record, the weather bureau warned the warming trend was expected to be short lived. A 30-day outlook predicted more below-normal temperatures for the eastern half of the nation.

Atlanta had an early morning reading of 25 degrees while Kansas City in the warmer belt recorded a 27-degree temperature at the same time.

The intense cold in the Southland reached into northern Florida for the second night, threatening to frost crops in the area.

Snow flurries swirled across the Great Lakes region during the night and into parts of the Ohio Valley and New England, with the heaviest snow falling in western New York.

The weather bureau at Buffalo, N.Y., warned of a 3-to-10-inch snow accumulation in the area with poor visibility due to blowing and drifting snow. Speed limits were cut from 60 to 35 miles an hour on the New York Thruway south of Buffalo in the Pennsylvania border and in the Niagara and Tonawanda sections.

Scattered flurries swept the Great Lakes. An accumulation of two inches was expected today at Detroit.

In the northern Great Lakes, where readings again skidded below the zero mark, Coast Guard ice breakers cleared a path for
