At Mrs. Keelor's

Mrs. R. L. Keelor and Miss Keelor entertained at bridge at their suburban home on last Saturday evening. The guests from the city fared hither in a large bus. Owing to the inclemency of the weather many were unable to attend yet enough braved the elements to have several tables of bridge. Light refreshments were served and an evening of genuine enjoyment was accorded to the guests.

The Valentine Party

For several weeks society has been upon the qui vive awaiting the arrival of the evening scheduled for the valentine party at the Sanford House, the date being on Thursday, the 11th.

Each lady was instructed to wear a blue gown and mask and the gentlemen were to wear pink gowns and masks of the same hue. When they had all assembled in the large dining room it was a difficult matter to determine who was who. Stumon's celebrated orchestra was on hand to furnish the music that always starts the feet to moving and as the pink and blue robes mingled on the floor there was many a conjecture to discover the partners. The gowns and hoods made a most complete guise and most of the dancers remained incognito until the time to unmask.

Delicious punch was served and the dance continued until a late hour.

The Misses Stringfellow, Schumpert and Keelor made all the arrangements for the affair and to them the thanks are due for a most delightful evening.

Ralph Stevens reached his eighteenth birthday on Monday last and in honor of the event tendered his friends a whist party.

Refreshments were served and a pleasant evening spent by the young folks.

Billy Beardall secured first prize, a silver-mounted nail file. Martin Raines was awarded the booby prize, a beautiful tin horn.

Those present were Messrs. J. C. and Emery Close, Rowe, Baker, Brady, Adams, Lovell, Tolar, Hill, Biggers, Lawson, Lane, Watson, Peabody, Hamilton, Raines, Woodruff, Beardall, Roumillat, Higgins and Perkins.

Man Dies Suddenly

Billy Connors, a white man employed as a cook at the "City Restaurant," died very suddenly last Saturday night. Connors had just returned from a week's visit to Tampa, where he had been on a drunken spree, suffering from the effects of alcoholism, and had laid down in the rear of Hand's restaurant to sleep. He was found dead by one of his friends and appearances indicate that death had been very sudden. The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Miller and interred Sunday afternoon in Lakeview cemetery.

Connors had no relatives, and few people here knew him intimately. His home is said to be in Pittsburg.

Cream of Celery Soup

The following has been given to THE HERALD for the benefit of all housewives:

Wash one head of celery, cut in small pieces and simmer in one pint of water until perfectly soft. Mash in the same water, add one minced onion, and let cook ten minutes longer, then pour in one pint of scalding milk. Strain, return to saucepan, add one tablespoonful of flour stirred smooth in a little cold milk, one tablespoonful of butter, and salt and pepper to season. Serve hot with crackers. Try it. —BEULAH H.

Monster Strawberries

In the window of J. N. Whitner's real estate office this week was a basket of strawberries that for size and appearance took first premium. They are of the Hefflen variety and were raised by Archie Cameron upon his place east of town. Capt. Dick Marks upon beholding the berries wanted to know whether you had to peel the berries or bore a hole in them in order to eat them. They elicited much comment and were undoubtedly the largest strawberries ever grown anywhere.

Preparing for Brick Paving.

Engineer Ginn and a force of assistants are busy surveying First street, and will prepare plans and specifications at once for the brick paving and the trolley line tracks. The work of paving will start within a few days and First street will present a busy scene. The rails for the street car line are shipped and the trolley officials are prepared to lay the tracks when the paving starts.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING

Miss Minnie C. Croft and H. T. Avant Married Wednesday

Holy Cross Episcopal church was the scene of a quiet wedding on Wednesday at 1:30 when the marriage ceremony of Miss Minnie C. Croft and Mr. H. T. Avant was solemnized by Rev. Dr. B. F. Brown, the rector.

As the peals of Mendelssohn's wedding march performed by Mrs. Fannie Munson at the organ burst forth, the bridal party preceded by Messrs. F. P. Forster and B. F. Whitner proceeded slowly up the aisle to the altar. The bride and groom were followed by the Misses Mettinger, the maids of honor, and the whole party grouped at the altar where the service was performed which made the popular couple man and wife.

The altar and chancel were beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers and while no ostentatious display was sought, the church presented a very pretty scene.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple followed by their many friends left for the station where they took the train for Tampa and points in South Florida.

The bride wore a travelling gown of blue broadcloth with chiffon trimming, hat and gloves to match. Both bride and groom are very popular in Sanford.

Miss Croft has made this city her home for nine years, being identified with the millinery department of J. K. Mettinger's dry goods emporium. Her genial, sunny temperament and charm and grace of manner have won for her a large circle of friends in Sanford. Miss Croft is a native of Maryland but the people of this city claim her as a resident.

Mr. Avant is well known in Florida having for a number of years been engaged in the lumber business in Jacksonville and coming to Sanford about six months ago has become identified with Sanford people and interests at once. He owns some valuable real estate in and around Sanford and upon his return expects to make this city his future home.

The Herald joins a host of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Avant a long and happy life.

New Business Methods.

Reports are current that farmers have taken a tumble to the true situation, and are closing deals for the sale of their crops of celery straight through the season at a fixed price. Handsome margins are being put up, and bank accounts are growing, even while the celery is in the field doing the same thing.

Another Fine Residence

The Pope Contracting Co. are preparing to erect another fine residence on First street, near French avenue for John Meisch. The house will be large and commodious and will greatly enhance the appearance of this section of the city. First street west of the railroad is rapidly becoming popular as a section of fine dwellings.

High Prices For Sanford Lettuce

Sanford lettuce and Sanford celery are gaining a reputation in the markets of the north. The high prices for lettuce early in the season have been overshadowed this week when Sanford lettuce jumped to $3 per crate. This is equally as good a price as the lettuce raised under cover in other sections is bringing and demonstrates that the place to raise good lettuce that will bring good prices is Sanford.

LUCAS PAINT

Used in Uncle Sam's Paint Shop
During the past year the U. S. Navy has consumed 691,000 pounds of Lucas White Paint and 278,700 pounds of LUCAS COLORS, sufficient to produce more than 100,000 gallons of paint, equivalent to 50 carloads of 200,000 gallons each, and which would make a train more than one-half mile long.

In addition to this Uncle Sam has used during the past year more than 25,000 gallons of LUCAS VARNISHES, ENAMELS and other products.
Uncle Sam's preference is not a matter of favor, but of QUALITY and RESULTS.
In Uncle Sam's service, as in everybody else's, LUCAS PRODUCTS have an unbroken record for satisfactory results.

"A Chiel is Among Ye Taking Notes, and Faith, He'll Prent 'Em"—So Says Saunterer.

Special Correspondence to The Herald, Ye Bachelor's Den.

My bachelor's den is a queer little pen. In the midst of a great city's din, O'erlooking the tide that goes ebbing out, And the flow that comes rushing in.

'Tis cheerful and bright, 'tis a home unto me— A quiet and peaceful place, Though it ne'er knew the warmth of a woman's heart, Nor the light of a woman's face.

I sit in the dusk as the sun goes down, And smoke in a dreamful way; And gaze at the paintings that hang on the wall— Of faces and friends far away.

And one is the face of a fair young girl, As bright as the morning skies, Who smiles at me ever with angel's love, From the depths of her bright blue eyes.

She was my first and my only love; Forget her I never can, For her love has followed me all this life And made me a better man.

Her's are the lips I first tenderly kissed, With a love as deep as the sea; And the last lips I kissed as I bade home farewell, Were the lips that are smiling at me.

Ah, mother, my love for you never grew dim, Through the years of my toil and unrest, And I love you today as I did long ago, When you lulled me to sleep on your breast.

¶ The new fire station now has the appearance of a city department with a large light burning all night and the new hose wagon and other apparatus all spick-and-span and standing in readiness to respond to the alarm at any time of the day or night. This new state of affairs makes me wonder how in the world the old department ever assembled, getting into the dark building, falling over the rubbish and wagons that usually blocked the entrance and then managed to reach the fire in time to do anything.

This reminds me that the present council is fully alive to the situation and will do all in their power to give Sanford a good fire department. Chief Hand is also on the job at all times and in a short time I expect to see our large chief galloping to a fire in his own little buckboard over our brick streets and clanging the gong at every jump.

The boys have certainly given excellent service at the fires occurring lately and saved the city thousands of dollars. Such a department as we now possess ought to lower the rates of the fire insurance companies and every dollar expended judiciously upon our department will return to the city one hundred-fold.

¶ The matter of women's dress is an absorbing topic from whatever angle it is viewed. The principal of a leading girls' seminary threatens to put all her scholars in a uniform of neat and modest character if wealthy parents do not refrain from dressing their children so lavishly. In Chicago a short time ago a woman was arrested for earning an honest living as a hod carrier, dressed in mail attire for greater convenience while at work. She was fined, too; that was the outrageous part. The postoffice authorities, so it is stated, made a recent ruling that women employed as mail carriers must wear trousers. What will the poor women do? Must it be either ballots or bullets? The old proverb has it—nulla fere causa est, in qua non femina litem. There are few disputes in life which do not originate with a woman.

¶ 'Tis passing strange how easily a merchant will fall to every fake advertising scheme that comes along and yet will neglect his space in the newspaper or refuse to take space in the paper at all. Aside from the fact that newspaper advertising is the best and that every cent so invested is left at home, the home paper is devoted to the upbuilding of the city and probably gives away more space in a year and more money for advertising the city than any one firm in it.

¶ The stranger with the fake scheme of putting up a little sign here and there and throwing the rest of the stuff in the river, will step into a store and in five minutes get more money than the same merchant would give to the newspaper for advertising in six months.

Is it the gift of gab that wins the money or is a sucker born every minute?

¶ "Did you know," said a wise Sanford housewife, "that you can cure the carelessness of almost any servant under the sun by working on their superstition."

"I thought the modern darkey was too advanced to be superstitious," I replied.

"No, he will never be. It is born with him, and is no more to be erased than the kinks of his hair or the color of his skin. I will tell you some stories to prove this.

"Many years ago I had a very valuable maid, whose only fault was her capacity for breaking things. One day she let fall an excellent hand glass and smashed it into fragments. 'There now,' I said, 'you, or somebody near you is sure to die.' Its an unfailing sign.' She seemed rather awed by the words, and that night she came to me with an ashy face.

"I've done just heard of my sister's death; can I go to her house ma'am?" she said.

"Certainly," I said.

"When did she die?"

"At ten o'clock this morning."

"It was exactly the hour the glass was broken and she saw that I remembered the fact and trembled from head to foot.

"From that hour I determined to throw a halo of superstition over every breakable article that I especially cherished. Whenever a new servant comes, I, in explaining about my china, silver, etc., show her my most valued set.

"That china, has a peculiar history. Whoever breaks it is sure to have some trouble. After it is painted and sent to the kilns to be fired, if one piece is broken; the person who fires that piece dies or loses some one near him." I proceed to relate with a serious countenance the direful accidents attendant upon servants who have broken pieces of this particular set.

"In this way I guard all my most precious glass and china, and," she concluded, "the consequence is I haven't had a valuable piece broken in ten years."

¶ Those of you who have never taken the time to walk out the line of the new Sanford & Everglades Railway have no idea of the great possibilities that this new project will unfold in the near future. This new road, which now extends for some five miles into the heart of a rich farming section, will soon reach Lake Jessup and the new city of Cameron being built by the Howard-Packard Land Co. The road will then lead south into the heart of the Everglades and will open up some of the richest timber lands in Florida. With this phase of it I am not at the present time interested. Suffice to say that when the road reaches its southern terminal it will make millionaires of its promoters. And it is of those same promoters that I would like to say a few words of eulogy. They are home people—of Sanford and for Sanford—a bunch of solid business men who are fully aware of the great opportunities of this section and are not afraid to stake their money and brains in this great work of development. No foreign capital has yet been called upon to finance this railroad. These gentlemen have gone forward with the work of building and developing and gone about it so quietly that few people outside of Sanford have been aware of this great project, and many of our own citizens are ignorant of the fact that a new railroad is being built almost at their very door.

Not only will this railroad be built, but the same coterie of hardy pioneers will build a street car line that will belt the city of Sanford and by the force of its own power and prestige give Sanford an impetus in the forward movement that is bound to place our city in the front rank of Florida cities. This is a few of the remarkable achievements attained by a bunch of Sanford boosters.

Is it any wonder then that as I trod the tracks of the new railroad the other day my heart expanded in gratitude to these gentlemen, who have surmounted all obstacles and in the face of many difficulties have built over five miles of railroad in one month, and with the courage of their convictions will also give Sanford a street railway?

I am glad to number these men among my acquaintances and glad that I have cast my lot among a class of boosters who do things. There is no question about the future of Sanford when her citizenship is made up of such indomitable hustlers. There is no necessity of organizing a boosters' club in Sanford. We already have one, and its membership embraces every citizen of the Celery City.

¶ A gentleman from Jacksonville stated the other day that Sanford is being talked about over the State of Florida everywhere that he has been and that the wonderful developments and improvements and the advertising of our resources has caused the people of other sections to sit up and take notice. The money expended in advertising will always return with compound interest and the new people coming to Sanford every day are ample proof of the gentleman's remarks.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

¶ Chauncy M. Depew does a great deal of talking. Sometimes he says things that are not particularly clever, but at others—and in the majority of cases—he is worthy of attention. He is a great believer in advertising. He holds that all great merchants have achieved success through judicious advertising. "Take two men," he says, "starting in business at the same time. One uses all the money he makes in living well and sometimes even extravagantly. The other invests all the surplus cash that he can lay his hands on in advertising here, there and everywhere that he thinks will attract public notice. What is the result? The man who advertises has crowds flocking to his shop to see the beauties of the advertised goods, and as the public begins to run so they will continue from sheer force of habit. The first shopkeeper will in the meantime be sitting, unthought of and uncared for, agashed at the crowds which daily throng the counters of his competitor and bitterly bewailing the bad luck which has followed his own venture into trade. Yet he has no one to blame but himself."

¶ The new curbing for First street is arriving and being unloaded on the street, and this means that in a few days the brick paving will start and then Sanford will present the appearance in which I have often pictured our fair city in my dreams. With the street railway following hard upon the heels of the paving what more could be desired?

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Items of Interest Concerning Society People.

POINTS PURELY PERSONAL

How Celery City Vanity Fair While Away the Golden Hours—Social Gossip.

Polite society at regular intervals comes in for some very pointed remarks from the ministers and many of the remarks are not amiss, but it does seem that the pulpit is a wee bit too severe on the progressive card party at which the customary prize is played for. We always thought that gambling consisted of a direct bet or wager made by one person with another upon the result of some contest and by which either one party or the other would lose money—a practice made pernicious and odious by the fact that the money lost is oftentimes needed by the loser to pay honest debts, or for the support of a dependent family. Is that the case in playing for a progressive whist prize?

Not at all. The hostess, a member of society, owes an obligation to her friends and invites them to her home to play cards. To add spice to the contest, she offers a prize or two, or as is often the case in Sanford, no mention is made of the prizes before the games. The players win nothing from each other and receive from the hostess what she is able to give. If this is gambling we had our sanction for it very early in our lives, for in our first school days our teachers used to hold up a nice orange and say that it would go to the one who would be best in a spelling contest. We also heard it at Sunday school when our pastor would say that he would give a nice picture to the little boy or girl who would know his or her lesson best. So that really there is no more harm in playing for prizes than there is in the exhibitors at the state fair baking bread or cake or making jellies for prizes offered by the association.

Dance and Chicken Pillau

A merry party left Sanford on Tuesday night in two large wagons filled with hay. They were bound for the home of B. J. Overstreet and upon their arrival they adjourned to the school house and all hands swung into the joyous square dance. To see those Sanford folks "hoeling it down" you would have thought they were devotees of the old time dance. After they had enjoyed themselves to the fullest and were tired enough to stop and rest they were invited to partake of a regular old fashioned chicken pillau especially prepared by Messrs. Shaw and Overstreet and the entire crowd did full justice to this savory dish. At a late hour they piled into the caravans again and rode home in the snow-woe hours. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hand, Mrs. Roumillat, Mrs. Clayton and Mrs. Butt went along to preserve order, although it is reported that Charlie Hand was the biggest little boy on the place and they couldn't keep him from dancing every set.

Among those who were allowed to go with the grown folks were the Misses Clayton, Butt, Wright, McCreary, Bowler, Frank, Symes, Sussex, Hepson, Harris and Abbot and Messrs. Johns, Roberts, Thiigpen, Mende Fox, Nixon and Cecil Butt, Roumillat, Rossetter, Adams, Brady and Frank.

Married at Kissimmee

Joseph Saucer of this city was united in marriage to Miss Hallie Bass at Kissimmee last Sunday at 10 o'clock, Rev. Bunyan Stevens of the Baptist church officiating. The marriage occurred at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bass, in the presence of the family and a few friends.

The bride is one of Kissimmee's fairest daughters, and has a large circle of friends in the community, where she has spent the days of her girlhood, her father being an old and highly respected resident of that section.

The groom has been a resident of Sanford for a number of years, and met his fate while engaged in business in Kissimmee with his mother the past few months. The happy couple arrived in this city last Monday, and will make this their home. Mr. Saucer being engaged in business in the DeMont building.

Attended Charity Ball

Misses Symes, Sussex and Mrs. Wright and Messrs. Thiigpen, Rossetter and Johns attended the Charity Ball at Orlando on Thursday evening. They report a most enjoyable time and that this annual affair eclipsed all former efforts in Orlando social affairs.

Mrs. Munson's Recital

Mrs. Fannie S. Munson announced to her patrons and friends this week the following program to be given in her studio parlors, February 27 at 3 p. m. Admission voluntary. Piano selections from Wagner, Schumann, Chopin, Gurliitt, Mozart, Handel, McHowell and Medneissohn by pupils of Mrs. Munson. Dramatic Reading—Mrs. Lucian Phillips. Songs (tenor)—B. F. Woodcock. Humorous Sketches—Miss Keeler. Violin Solos—Miss Thine.

Miss Myrtle Nipe entertained a number of her friends last Friday evening with a Valentine party. The parlors were beautifully decorated for the occasion with crimson hearts and potted plants, presenting a beautiful appearance. The evening was pleasantly passed with games and social conversation. Delicious refreshments were served and as the guests bade adieu to their fair hostess each one felt the occasion had been one of exceptional pleasure.

The week end dances being given by Miss Gelaine Butt and her dancing class in the City Hall building are proving a great delight to the lovers of terpsichore and are being largely attended.

Lent is approaching and it will soon be up to Sanford society folks to forego the pleasures of dances and card parties. The festivities will resume after Easter and continue until the summer exodus calls our fair daughters and brave sons to the seashore and mountains.

PENNSYLVANIA MEN BUY LANDS

Are Well Pleased With Sanford's Great Prospects

J. Frank Peffer, John Duster, Wm. Yost, Wm. Minnick and G. R. Morrell, all of Trenton, Pa., have been in the city all the week, taking in the sights, and more particularly the property of the Penn-Florida Celery Co. on Lake Jessup, containing 100 acres of as fine celery land as can be found in the celery delta. These gentlemen are officers and stockholders of the company. Mr. Peffer, an attorney of Pittsburg, Pa., has been here several times during the last ten months, and promoted the company. The other gentlemen who came with him are prominent business men, and were amazed at the magnitude and beauty of our celery fields, and still more than that, as are all who come to Sanford, pleased beyond measure with their property, the vastness of the business and the future of the industry. Some of the gentlemen were so well pleased that they have made up their minds to purchase some land for their own individual development, and have been busy for several days examining legations and land. The Penn-Florida Celery Co. is making a contract for preparing twenty acres of their land, and will have the same under irrigation by June first, and ready for next fall's operations. In fact, all these gentlemen are so well pleased that they wrote their families that they must come down every winter and look after their interests, and help to swell the grand chorus of celery delta boosters. Come on, boys, you are welcome, and there is room for all.

Disgruntled Boston Grower

"This is what ruined the northern vegetable growers," remarked a Boston man as he pointed to some fine heads of lettuce on display in J. N. Whitner's real estate office.

"We formerly raised lettuce in our greenhouses and received a fancy price for it, but since Sanford has started shipping this fine lettuce to northern markets we cannot compete with it."

Mr. Whitner endeavored to explain to the gentleman that it would be profitable for him to try raising vegetables in Sanford but he was too mad to even consider the proposition and left the office in a towering rage.

Pre-Cooling Station a Success

The Cunningham pre-cooling system recently established on the Sanford & Everglades railway near the intersection of Beardall and Geneva avenues, has proved a great boon to the shippers of that section, and the small percentage of loss last year by the long haul to town can now be saved.

The promoters of the new railroad will do all in their power to move the celery this season in an expeditious and satisfactory manner, and the pre-cooling station is only one of many improvements to be made in this great project.

Fine Millinery in Sanford

Mrs. M. L. Allen recognizing the fact that many Sanford people were accustomed to buy their fine millinery out of town has opened up a first-class millinery store in the Takachi building near the depot on Commercial street—the room formerly occupied by Murrell & Minshaw. Next week one of the largest stocks of fine millinery ever brought to Orange county will be ready for the inspection of the ladies of Sanford and the prices will be the lowest. See Mrs. Allen's stock first.

Sanford Strawberries Went Forward On Monday

Sanford strawberries are destined to become as famous in a few years as Sanford celery and lettuce. Tried this season as an experiment, they have proved very profitable, and according to several commission men and growers from other fields the Sanford fruit is the best in size and quality that has ever been grown in the South. Several gentlemen from the Tennessee district where strawberries are raised and the best plants are sold, have visited Sanford this winter and are united in the opinion that in this great irrigated district the future berries of the South will be raised, and the best prices will prevail, as the Sanford product will go forward at a time when the other fields are exhausted, and the fields further north have not yet come into bearing.

This week the first strawberries were shipped North from the field grown by S. O. Chase on Beardall avenue, along the line of the new Sanford & Everglades railway. The berries were prime in every respect and brought an excellent price. As The Herald stated some time ago, the Sanford growers this year only tried strawberries as an experiment upon the new lands recently opened for cultivation.

A SANFORD DISPLAY PAYS

Many New People Are Attracted By Sanford Booth

In a talk with Mr. Fielding, the new proprietor of the Wilton hotel we learned that his attention was first attracted to Sanford last year by the display made by this city at the Jacksonville Mid-Winter Fair. He was forcibly impressed by the fact that a city with enough push and energy to have such a display at the fair and the only representative of Orange county, must certainly have some strong claims for recognition, and his attention being attracted to the Celery City he was not long in following his trend of thought. Now that he is fairly located in our midst he is of the opinion that half of Sanford's many advantages have never been made public.

ADVERTISING PAYS.

Sanford Will Have Driving Club

Sanford is fast filling up with people who have a passion for good horseflesh and the horsemen who have long resided here are also purchasing some good stock. Chas. Hand has a good pacing horse and a good trotter. E. E. Brady has one or two good ones. Murrell has one and several other citizens are rehearsing on the country roads with their "dark horses." They will attend the Orlando race meet and try to take away a few prizes. Next fall work will start on a good driving park in Sanford and already quite a neat sum has been subscribed for the same. The driving park, golf links and other features will make the amusement park a very popular place for the next winter season.

High School Musicals

The members of the High School will give in the High School auditorium next Monday, Feb. 22d at 8 p. m. a program consisting of vocal and instrumental music. The object of the entertainment is to raise money to buy books for reference. The admission is 25 cents. All patrons and friends of the school are urged to come and encourage our young people in this work.

Stole the Macaroni Wire

Some miscreant stole the wires upon which the macaroni was growing at the office of Murrell & Minshaw, and now there will be no hollow space in this year's crop. A reward is offered for the return of these wires which were imported at a great expense from Italy.

Celery Going Forward

Sanford celery is moving this week. The largest shippers have not marketed their crop yet, but expect to start cutting next week, and carload lots will then move northward and the sheekles will move southward.

Banks Will Close Monday

Monday, Feb. 22, being Washington's Birthday, and a legal holiday, the banks of Sanford will be closed all day.

Just Received

The largest line of sporting goods ever received in Sanford—guns, rifles, hunting clothing, etc. Harry J. Wilson.

Notice of Application for Tax Deed Under Section B of Chapter 4888, Laws of Florida.

A Budget of Interesting Items From Correspondents

THE EVENTS OF ORANGE COUNTY

Efficient Staff of Reporters Weekly Covers the Territory For The Herald

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS

Special Correspondence to The Herald:
The letter in the last issue of your valuable paper from Hon. Frank Clark, in regard to Sanford's deep water from Palatka to Lake Harney is most interesting to the citizens South Florida, especially Orange county. In conclusion he says that he has bored you enough. Please inform him that the readers of The Herald like to be bored that way, and that they highly appreciate the strenuous efforts he is making in behalf of the citizens tributary to the St. Johns river, the most important waterway of the state of Florida. We are proud of such Congressmen and he should receive the support of every voter in the state regardless of political parties.

This beautiful little village is now in possession of tourists and winter residents and a happier and more contented crowd cannot be found in any winter resort in the state. The newcomers are given the glad hand and at once initiated into the great happy family and they soon feel that it is good to be here, where they can rest and forget the cares and vexations of business life, where good cheer prevails every hour of the day and can enjoy a night's refreshing sleep in this unexcelled climate on earth. The genial proprietors of the hotel, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Johnson, are royal entertainers and spare no efforts to entertain their guests, which is highly appreciated by them.

The Altamonte Improvement Association, of which Mr. C. G. Justice is president and Mr. I. McMichael vice president, assisted by the Ladies Aid Society, of which Mrs. S. M. McIntyre is president. The two associations affiliating are doing a good work in improvements and beautifying this winter resort.

For several days workmen have been employed improving the road through the piney woods to Palm Springs. The road has been pine strawed the entire distance, about three miles. The beautiful tropical scenery about the boiling springs of transparent sulphur water has been the resort for picnic parties for years. With the improved road auto parties visit the springs daily, as it has become a great attraction to tourists.

The Saturday evening hops in the spacious hall at the hotel have become very popular, together with lectures, musicales and card parties during the week. These relieve monotony and ennui, is unknown. —N. H. Fogg.

OVIEDO OCCURRENCES

Special correspondent to The Herald:
A. C. Hollinger, a prominent business man of Washington, D. C., arrived in Oviedo Saturday night on a visit to his sister, Mrs. J. E. Alexander. He is delighted with this section of the State, especially this vicinity, and regrets that he is unable to spend the entire winter here. J. H. Lee, our able and efficient county commissioner, visited Sanford one day last week.

Rev. Rogers filled his regular appointment at the Baptist Church here Sunday, delivering two very able sermons. In the afternoon interesting services were held in the chapel at Lake Charm, and one of our Northern friends occupied the pulpit, favoring an attentive congregation with an interesting discourse.

Miss Anita King returned from DeLand Saturday, where she has been on a short visit to her sisters, who are attending Stetson University.

Dr. Crawford, a young dentist from Orlando spent Sunday here on a visit to friends.

The Lawton Brothers have again entered the mercantile business in their old stand. The store has been newly painted inside and completely renovated, and a large stock of merchandise installed.

APOPKA ITEMS

Special Correspondence to The Herald:
Alfred Eldredge, who has been attending the "Tech" in Atlanta is at home again.

The students of the Apopka High School are to be entertained tonight at the K. of P. hall, by the ladies of the Literary Club.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. T. H. Johnson is thinking of moving to Jacksonville.

Miss Kathleen Mitchell left Tuesday for Jensen, Fla., where her father is engaged as bank receiver.

Miss Wanda Combs has returned from Oxford, Fla., where she has given a series of Medal contests.

Rev. Cate preached his farewell sermon at the Baptist church last Sunday. It was announced that the future services of that church would be held in the Presbyterian church until the new building is completed.

There will be services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning and evening.

LAKE MARY MELANGE

Special Cor. to The Herald.
The weather has moderated and it looks like it will rain.

Mrs. Eliza Brown has returned to her home in Arcadia, after a pleasant visit to her brother, Mr. D. A. Cassidy near Clyde. The cold did very little damage to the gardens.

The gardeners are getting ready to plant Irish potatoes this week.

Miss Florence Lovell returned to Lake Mary after a few days' visit to friends at Longwood.

Mr. A. E. Sjoblom was on the sick list last week, having chills and fever.

WORK OF DRAINAGE COMMISSION

Will Greatly Improve Sanitary Condition of This Section

Engineer Wilbur A. Ginn, acting under the direction of the Sanford Drainage Commission, is pushing the work of engineering as fast as possible. The district contains an area of about 50,000 acres, including the water sheds which have to be taken care of in the main canals. The total length of these ditches will be in the neighborhood of thirty-five miles. As the commission hope to obtain all of the data for a complete report by the end of February, it will be a matter of great importance to land-owners to pause in the midst of their busy season and take a look to their drainage.

The citizens of Sanford and vicinity are deeply interested in and for a systematic drainage, and the public health, convenience and welfare of our district is of vital importance. This sweeping improvement should be well looked into by the general public as well as the individual, and it would be well for a committee of the board of trade and city council to look to the outskirts of our city and see that the system gives us relief from all of the conditions effecting a proper sanitation. The district will be furnished proper drainage at a minimum cost, and the taxes will be levied in a uniform way, compensating in allowance according to benefits, all previous payments made upon the present drainage system.

ORLANDO VS CAMDEN, S. C.

Polo Match to be held on February 22nd and 24th at Orlando

The Camden players will ship their 20 ponies on the 18th, and arrive in Orlando themselves on Saturday evening, the 20th. There will be one of the most interesting events of the season at Orlando, as both teams have some excellent players and a fine lot of polo ponies. The games will start at 3 o'clock p. m. and will be refereed by Mr. Krumbholz of the Kirkwood Hotel. Camden. The games will consist of ten periods of 6 minutes each, with an intermission of 3 minutes between periods and 8 minutes during half time. The colors that will be worn by the Camden men will be white and light blue, by Orlando, scarlet. Mr. W. S. Morris, of the San Juan Hotel, Orlando, will act as official time keeper. The second game will be played Wednesday, February 24th.

Negro Lynched at Lakeland

Jack Wade, the negro who was arrested at Newberry on Thursday by Sheriff Ramsey, Alachua county, and Deputy Sheriff Scott of this (Polk) county, and who left Gainesville Friday in custody of latter en route for the Bartow jail, was taken from the train at Lakeland, Saturday morning and marched out to the home of Miss Newell, his attempted victim, and was positively identified by her as the guilty man. The mob, which was composed of only about twenty-five determined men, then took Wade into the woods a short distance from the Newell home, and after first stringing him up to a limb cut him down before life was extinct and riddled his body with bullets.

Wade neither confessed or denied his guilt.

LETTER FROM GOTHAM

Major Marks Writes of Interesting Events

SUMMARY OF SANFORD AFFAIRS

Writes Interesting Letter About The New Railroad—Other Matters of Interest

To the Editor of The Herald:

From information at hand, I am anticipating the arrival in this city of Senator J. N. Whitner, whose name recalls many of my earlier associations with the interests of Orange county and South Florida. His father contributed largely to the building up of that section, and his uncle, Col. Whitner, was the pioneer of civilization in the southern regions of the State. Both these good men have gone the way of nature, but they have left behind them a beaten track for posterity to follow. As the advance runners of civilization, they have led the way and smoothed the path of succeeding generations to a land of promise. It seems but just and meet that the dignity and honor of popular representation should devolve on their immediate and direct descendant, not simply as the reward of merit due to ancestry, but in recognition of that personal worth which justifies that signal mark of public confidence and approval.

I understand that Senator Whitner's coming to New York is in some manner connected with the building of the railroad from Sanford to the Everglades. Now, any move in this direction from those connected with large enterprises, South or West, can only be construed as a bid for Eastern capital. If so be, I cry: BEWARE! You cannot engage the lion without giving him the lion's share. The lions of Wall street are very exacting in this respect. The Spanish saying which warns the lamb against going to market in quest of wool, for fear of coming back shorn, is a lesson in point.

My views on the subject of the Everglades took form many years ago, when the prospect of reclaiming that extensive tract of splendid agricultural soil seemed projected so far into the future as to take the appearance of a dream. I am speaking of the early eighties, when engaged in the selection of the 4,000,000 acres tract of land acquired in different districts of Florida by the Disston syndicate, J. M. Creamer, city engineer of Philadelphia, was employed by the syndicate to make surveys between Lake Okeechobee and Indian river. His report shows that he found a fall of 22 feet in the short distance of sixteen miles separating Observation island in Lake Okeechobee from Indian river.

It was then my attention first became fixed on that submerged valley requiring but the well directed efforts of man to reward him with the possession of 6,000,000 acres of soil as fertile as the valley of the Nile, and capable of producing more sugar cane, rubber, bananas and other tropical fruits than any other single section of land in the civilized world. The drainage of Lake Okeechobee will easily add 100,000 acres to this vast agricultural domain, besides reclaiming the waste area of Observation island, where the rubber tree now luxuriates in idle growth.

Speaking in the interests not only of Orange county, but also in the interest of the most thickly settled portion of Osceola county as represented by Kiamimsee and the section immediately adjoining, I wish to submit my views as to the location of the road from Sanford to the Everglades which I have reason to believe is the most favorable to the enterprise and to the future development of the Everglades.

These views are submitted with deference to the judgment of those who have traced the road more to the east or Atlantic side of Okeechobee lake over the Alpatokee flats and through the more unsettled parts of Osceola and Brevard counties. They are presented for the impartial consideration of the enterprising men who are back of the undertaking by one who speaks with full knowledge of the subject, and has no personal interest at stake.

First, in order to gauge the situation correctly, it behoves one and all to discard local prejudices and rise above those petty feelings which spring from the rivalry of young and growing communities. The large interests involved are common to South Florida, and not confined to any single locality. Thus any attempt to divert those general interests from their true and legitimate course of development can only redound in the long run to the detriment and prejudice of the main enterprise.

The products of the Everglades must be drawn north to the St. Johns river and thence to Jacksonville to reach the great markets of the East. This can be brought about by running the Everglades railroad from the mouth of Soldiers' creek directly to Orlando, thence south and east to St. Cloud, or the Topolofee lakes, and thence to the mouth of Taylor creek on the bank of Okeechobee lake.

The communities of Sanford, Orlando and St. Cloud are directly concerned with the success of this undertaking, and it is absolutely essential to their interests to obtain and retain complete control and command over this road, in order to compel the flow of traffic north from the Everglades, and prevent its possible divergence to the south on the gulf coast by way of Fort Myers and Punta Rosa. To what good purpose can this road tend, from the viewpoint of Sanford and allied communities, if the vast products of the Everglades are induced to seek an outlet by way of the gulf to New Orleans?

The builders of the road should be the first to derive the benefits arising from the connection with and development of the Everglades, and the progressive elements of Sanford, Orlando, and St. Cloud, should join hands to finance the scheme and secure control of the road. If necessary, Orange county should issue bonds for the full amount required and dispense with Eastern capital. These bonds can be placed right here in New York at a comparatively light discount. The sacrifice involved would be immeasurably less than the loss of traffic which might result from the control of the road by outside capitalists, indifferent to the claims and interests of Orange county. Home financiers of the stamp of Senator Louis Massey can safely and readily bring about this issue.

Reverting again to the proposed tracing of the road from Lake Jessup across the Conloohatchee river, down the St. Johns valley, the line will come in contact at Lake Washington with the divide of the peninsula between the St. Johns and Kiamimsee. On these flats there is high water generally to a depth of six feet. The country traversed is much more thinly settled, and of far lesser promise in the near future than the line advocated above.

I shall make it a point to meet Senator Whitner on his arrival in New York, and to obtain his views, when I expect to have another chapter of interest for The Herald readers in connection with the Everglades.

Floridians in New York do mostly congregate at Churchill hotel on Broadway, near Fourteenth street. 'Tis there I had the pleasure of meeting quite recently an old friend and resident of Sanford, David Caldwell, the merchant tailor, who is here investing in a new line of goods. I remembered him as a man of comparatively slight build, and was much impressed by the noble proportions which he has since assumed. As a living and striking advertisement of the healthfulness of the Sanford climate Dave Caldwell should be voted the thanks of the community.

MURDER MADE EASY

That prolific inventor, Hiram Maxim, who has devised more engines of destruction than any other man of past or present ages, has finally evolved the noiseless gun. What place this improved instrument of slaughter shall take in the armament of civilized nations is yet open to conjecture. Meantime, we need not ponder on the infinite possibilities which this silent weapon affords as a safe and easy auxiliary to murder. Particularly so when considered in combination with smokeless powder. With a noiseless and smokeless gun concealed in his coat pocket the murderer may approach his victim in the open street and quietly dispatch him in the broad light of day, or he may take a snipe shot at him from a house window. If this treacherous weapon is destined to come into use it should be strictly confined to the army and its sale to private individuals forbidden by law under the heaviest penalty. Its manufacture as a pistol or in any pocket form admitting of easy concealment is so replete with danger to society and so full of sinister possibilities as to preclude it entirely. The abortive little monster should be strangled at its birth. If Mr. Maxim would devote his inventive genius to the suppression of noise in the typewriter or sewing machine he will serve the interests of humanity to better purpose.

THE PANAMA CANAL

The seven engineering experts who accompanied Mr. Taft on his tour of inspection over the canal route are confidently expected to return a report favorable to the lock system of construction. It is eminently fitting and proper that they should do this, as they were engaged for no other purpose. Scientific experts are very much like lawyers: they stand ready to argue on either side. Our courts of law have been frequently the scene of many battles royal between scientific experts. It follows, therefore, that the impartial value of expert opinions purchased in the open market should be very largely discounted. The main reasons adduced in favor of the lock system are economy in money and time. These considerations, while of paramount importance in engineering feats performed for commercial ends, fail to impress me when dealing with a national undertaking so vast in scope, and so momentous to our future.

The question naturally arises: Are we not rushing this work too fast?

In seeking to build and finance this gigantic scheme in a few short years—which may mean much to the life of man, but as minutes in the life of a nation—are we not imposing a burden far too heavy for a single generation to bear? The failure of the French was directly attributable to such, and no other cause. In building the Panama canal we are performing a work intended to last as long as this continent will endure. We cannot, therefore, build too solidly. The work should be performed with the greatest care and deliberation, lest in seeking a momentary triumph, we bequeath to posterity an imperfect or unstable structure. The world has lived for the millions of years of its existence up to the present day without the Panama canal. The American nation has grown and thrived without it for the hundred and odd years of its independent existence. A further wait of fifteen or twenty years does not seem incommensurate if the proper performance of the work demands it. We are building more for the future than for the present. To the proposition made on the side of economy in cost of construction, I oppose this question: Who can say, in the long run of ages to follow, where true economy ends and false economy begins? The economy of two or three hundred millions, if in any manner detracting from the perfect achievement of the work or endangering its endurance, seems but a negligible consideration. If the expenditure of so much additional money as will build the canal as it should be built with regard to the claims of posterity and its contest with time is too great for the present generation to bear, then, go slow, and let the coming generation contribute one half to the work. Again, I say the Panama canal is not a commercial venture, and may not be considered as such when its grand destiny is at stake. It is a national enterprise in which universal interests are engaged. It changes the face of nature, and opposes in a reverent sense the forces of the created against the first designs of the Creator. It obliterates an enormous distance by sea between the Atlantic and Pacific shores of the North American continent. Is this a work to be performed hurriedly or cheaply? Useless as they are, would the Pyramids have endured for forty centuries if human patience had not underlain their substantial foundations? Rome was not built in a day. —M. R. MARKS. Fine Record for New Bank The Bank of Winter Garden was organized and opened up for business on January 3, 1908, with a capital of $15,000. The annual meeting of the stockholders was held last Wednesday, and a dividend of eight per cent declared, setting aside over $1,000 to surplus and individual profits. The deposits are $95,500. This is a most remarkable record for a new bank started one year ago, and would hardly be possible in any county less progressive than Orange. CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

A wireless message from the steamship El Norte of the Southern Pacific Steamship Co. brought seven vessels to the aid of the barkentine Matanzas, from Fernandina to Philadelphia, in distress near Diamond shoals. A tug came to the rescue and towed the Matanzas into port.

Miss Bessie M. Phillips and Victor A. Gustafsen of Tampa were married in the show window of a furniture company in that city last week, and as a reward for so doing the company gave them an entire outfit for their home.

The British steamship Nyassa, from Pensacola for Liverpool, was in collision last week off Gravesend with the Austrian steamship Bethori. Neither vessel was damaged to any extent.

The new Florida-Cuba steamship line to ply between Jacksonville and Calbarien, which is midway of the island on the north side. One vessel will run between Jacksonville and Porto Rico.

The schooner Elvira Belt, lumber laden, from Jacksonville for Boston, was lost at sea Feb. 8. The entire crew was saved and landed at Norfolk, Va.

The jury before whom was tried Z. P. Freeman on the charge of embezzlement while he was city collector of Tampa, failed to agree and were discharged.

Conductor Lyle and Motorman Lancaster who were arrested in connection with the fatal accident to Sid Johnson in Tampa several days ago, have been exonerated by the coroner's jury.

W. J. Jones, W. J. Shea, and J. W. Ray, who have been robbing churches and residences in several states, have been arrested in Pensacola, and each sentenced to eight years imprisonment.

On Friday night last week, the postoffice at Daytona was entered by burglars and robbed of considerable cash and a quantity of stamps.

In attempting to jump on a moving switch engine of the A. C. L. railroad at Jacksonville last Friday, Wallace Shore, thirteen years old, slipped and fell and was ground to death beneath the wheels.

Johnnie Edmonson, the thirteen year old son of J. N. Edmonson of Plant City, was accidentally killed while out hunting one day last week.

A white man known as F. H. Cox, living in Port Tampa City, has been arrested charged with the murder of E. E. Johns of Fernandina in 1893. The arrest was made on information furnished by a man who claims to be a Pinkerton detective. Cox claims that he knows nothing about the matter, and that his arrest is purely a case of mistaken identity.

Sam Youngblood, son of former county treasurer R. T. Youngblood of Hillsborough county, was robbed of $1100 last week in Tampa, by three strangers who made his acquaintance, had several drinks, played pool at ten dollars a ball, lost $1100 to him, when they agreed to pay if he could show an equal amount in proof that he was playing fair. He borrowed the money from his brother, returned to his new-found friends, showed it to them, let them count it, when the last of the three had finished counting he clutched the roll of bills tight, made a break across the street, and—Mr. Youngblood was "blamblammed." Two of the "friends" were arrested later and part of the money recovered.

The three masted schooner Coquimbo, from Gulfport, Miss., laden with steel and lumber, went ashore south of Boynton on the East Coast last week. The cargo was to be sold where it was, in hopes to save the vessel.

The S. A. L. railroad depot at Lawley was burned Monday, together with its contents. Cause of fire is not known.

Robert Fleming was shot and instantly killed by Frank Penton in Milton last Sunday. An old grudge was the cause. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Miss Nellie Walker of Mississippi, who was visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank Ragon, in Brooksville, accidentally shot and killed herself, Sunday, while handling a revolver.

Jose Santos Medina, aged 77 years, a cigar maker, committed suicide, Sunday, at his boarding house in Tampa, by taking chloral and morphine. His reason for taking his own life was that he was too old to do much or to enjoy life. He had often told his friends this.

Duncan Grant, a negro who some time ago attempted an assault upon a white girl near Plant City, has been sentenced to twenty years imprisonment.

In a collision between H. M. Crawford on a bicycle, and J. Fullwood in an automobile, in Tampa one day last week, Mr. Crawford was quite seriously injured.

SANFORD'S NEW HOTEL

W. C. Fielding Purchased The Wilton Hotel Last Week

The Wilton Hotel was purchased last week by W. C. Fielding, a competent hotel man and it is now being thoroughly renovated and repaired and many extensive improvements made in the property. The new hotel will be known as the Bye Lo after Joe Emmett's great lullaby song, Mr. Fielding being an intimate friend of that well known actor.

Mr. Fielding is an experienced hotel man having been connected with some of the best hotels in different parts of the country. He is a native of Hartford, Conn., but for the past eight years has been in Florida where he has been with the Aragon, Duval and Windle Hotels in Jacksonville, the Rockledge and Continental Hotels on the East Coast and several other large hotels in different parts of the state.

Mr. Fielding states that he will give the traveling public the best $2.00 a day hotel south of Jacksonville and the best only will be found at the Bye Lo at all times.

Besides being a hotel man, Mr. Fielding is a great booster for the city and while advertising his hotel will see that Sanford is also well advertised.

His family will arrive in the city about March 1st and the new hotel will throw open its doors to the public and prove another strong attraction for Sanford.

Orlando Race Meet

The annual race meeting of the Orlando Driving Association will take place March 9, 10, 11 and 12, and promises to be one of the best ever held in the state. Most of the horses now at the Tampa fair will be shipped to Orlando and take part in the races. Some of our Sanford fast stock will also be entered, and M. M. Smith will star with the old reliable "Banana Boy."

PAVING BRICK ARRIVES

Stone Curbing and Brick Now On The Street

PAVING TO COMMENCE AT ONCE

One of the Greatest Improvements Ever Undertaken by the City of Sanford

The vitrified brick and excellent stone curbing for the paving of First street has arrived and is being hauled into position along the sides of this thoroughfare. The work of paving will start at once, and under the large force of men, the contractors expect to finish at a rapid rate. Our merchants who have been suffering from dust during the dry seasons can now look for relief, as the brick paving will obliterate this vexatious question. The city council at their meeting two weeks ago, unani- mously decided in favor of a sixty-foot- wide street, and this will give Sanford one of the finest thoroughfares in the South. Our main street has long been a blot upon our fair city, and the assurance of brick paving has caused a general feeling of satisfaction.

The question of brick paving for some of the intersecting streets has not yet been decided upon, but it is more than probable that several other streets will be paved with brick while the contractors are on the ground. This street paving means more to the city of Sanford than any other movement that has ever been inaugurated, and signifies that our public spirited citizens and council are fully alive to the best interests of our rapidly growing metropolis. There is more heavy traffic upon the streets of Sanford than any other city of the size in the South; and nothing less than a good brick paving would stand this traffic. The brick is the Augusta brand, and will be laid the narrow way, thus insuring the best of services.

Ready for Business

The Sanford Carriage works is now located in its new building on Oak avenue, opposite the Geo. H. Fernald machine shops. Mr. Underwood is a practical carriage maker and any orders entrusted to him will receive careful and prompt attention. Besides manufacturing buggies, wagons and harness, they are dealers in carriage goods, gasoline engines and roofing. They also do general repair work and horseshoeing, for which their new quarters are well equipped. The business of the public is earnestly solicited and faithful and conscientious business treatment is assured all patrons.
